(INCLUDING THE LONDON COLISEUM, LTD.).

RE APPLICATIONS FOR ENGAGEMENTS

All applications by either Artists or their Agents must be made to the Head Office.

Lowest terms must be stated, and distinction made between salaries required for larger and smaller towns.

Vacant dates should be stated. If a list of existing bookings be sent, it will render selection easier.

Artists employing Agents should accredit one only at one time, as the friction arising when several Agents are employed at the same time, all expecting the one booking to go through each of them, often renders it expedient to avoid that booking altogether rather than give undeserved offence to several Agents.

New Acts seeking engagements, or turns not rebooked (possibly because they have played a series of dates without introducing new business), will facilitate matters by having their acts seen by our District Managers. Their Districts and Postal Addresses are as follows:—

MANCHESTER, LIVERPOOL, AND DISTRICT.
MR. ALAN W. YOUNG,
Empire Theatre, Liverpool.

EDINBURGH, GLASGOW, NEWCASTLE, AND DISTRICT.
MR. S. GETHING,
Empire Theatre, Glasgow.

LEEDS, SHEFFIELD, HULL, BRADFORD, AND DISTRICT.
MR. T. GERALD MORTON,
Empire Palace, Leeds.

BIRMINGHAM, NOTTINGHAM, LEICESTER AND DISTRICT.
MR. HATTON WHARTON,
Empire Theatre, Nottingham.

SOUTH WALES DISTRICT.
MR. W. LEA,
Empire Theatre, Cardiff.

LONDON DISTRICT.
MR. WILLIAM COLLINS,
The Empire, Shepherd's Bush, W.

N.B.—Mr. OSWALD STOLL or Mr. FRANK ALLEN can be seen by appointment on all matters arising out of the above, and for the discussion of entirely new Numbers.

All Artists or Agents who communicate with our District Representatives must have made definite applications, in accordance with above directions, to the Head Office, at the same time, or just previously.

No. 1113. BLACK BEAUTY.

A gentleman leaves his house for a ride in the country, mounted on his favourite horse. He passes through some very fine scenery. While riding through a lovely wood, he is suddenly attacked by two tramps, who have been lying in wait for him in the undergrowth. The sharpness of the attack overpowers the man. He is dragged from his horse and relieved of all his valuables. The two plunderers leave their victim in a semi-conscious state. The injured man, upon reason gradually returning, calls his companion to him, and with a knowledge of the animal's wonderful powers tells him to return home for aid. Black Beauty, with almost human understanding, races back to the house, and taking the handle in his mouth pulls the bell. His mistress coming outside views with dismay the riderless horse, and quickly mounting allows him to take her to where his master lies. Dismounting, she soon realises her husband cannot possibly be moved without assistance. She takes from his pocket pencil and paper, scribbles a short note, asking for help to be sent immediately, and attaches the note to the steed's saddle. Then talking to the animal, she instructs him where and how to go, and the intelligent creature dashes off. Tearing along he goes to the Police Office, walks into the courtyard, gains an entrance, and the Inspector on duty soon discovers the note. He quickly grasps the situation, and calling a constable explains what is required. A stretcher is obtained, and following in the horse's steps they are soon brought to the scene. Lifting the poor man carefully on to the stretcher they take him home.

Length 475 feet. Price £11 7s. 6d.

(Metres, 144·80.)

"THE PROSPECTORS." A Drama of the Western Goldfields.

No. 1851. Copyright 1906 by the Vitagraph Company of America.

DESCRIPTION.

Two men are seen approaching a miner's shanty; they are in appearance typical Western "bad men." Halting their pack horses they summon the occupant of the shanty, a young prospector who has recently located a rich vein of metal and needs experienced men to work it. He kisses his wife and children and mounting his horse starts out on the quest for wealth.

Under the direction of their young leader the miners are seen toiling in the excavation. Suddenly a shout of triumph and exultation marks the discovery of a rich metal-bearing lode—they have made "a lucky strike." The claim is staked out and they commence mining operations. Already the two confederates are beginning to plot treachery.

After weeks of arduous toil the three miners are just about to break camp and the gold is shared equally among them. They stretch out around the fire and go to sleep, each with a bag of precious gold in his belt. The two conspirators only feign sleep, and robbing their comrade of his gold dust are just making their escape, when their theft is discovered and they mortally wound their victim.

The young prospector regains consciousness and staggering to his horse manages to reach his cottage. An affecting scene follows, and after telling his wife of the treachery of his partners, he breathes his last in her arms. She takes his gun from the holster and swears to be revenged on his murderers.

The two guilty miners are seen gambling in a lonely hut. One of them, a card sharp, as well as robber and murderer, has won all his partner's gold and now offers to play for his "gun." This being agreed the sharper again wins, but is this time detected cheating. A furious "gun fight" follows and the one who lost is killed. His partner goes off with the gold.

Two Years Later—Vengeance.—The prospector's young wife has opened a Western saloon to support herself and children. She rules the roystering cowboys that frequent her place with a rod of iron, and when one refuses to pay he finds a .44-calibre "shooting iron" pointing at his head and is very glad to "cough up."

A tenderfoot visits the saloon and the boys have lots of fun with him. He is glad to escape with his life. The saloon is now empty—a blear-eyed and unkempt looking miner staggers in, and after several drinks falls into a drunken doze. The young woman watches him like a cat watches a mouse; stealthily she draws near, and lifting the broad brim of his hat recognizes the murderer of her husband.

He awakes to find himself held up, and the determined woman tells him his moments are numbered. By a subterfuge he wrests the revolver from her. Just at this moment the little boy enters, and seeing his mother in danger picks up a bottle, and with one blow fells the miner. As he staggers to his feet again and endeavours to pull his gun the young widow shoots him down, thus revenging her husband's death.

It is a Bret Harte novel in moving pictures, breathing the wild spirit and free atmosphere of the Western mining regions.

Photography wonderful, scenery superb, action thrilling. Length 775 feet.

AUTUMN TOURS.

WE ARE NOW VERY BUSY CLEANING DRESSES FOR AUTUMN TOURS,
but have plenty of room, and, like Oliver Twist WE ASK FOR MORE.

We are also very busy Cleaning and Renovating Tableaux Curtains and Draperies from London and Country Theatres and Music Halls.

We still hold the field as Cleaners and Dyers to the Theatrical and Music Hall Professions. This fact is clearly proved by the unsolicited testimonials we are continually receiving.

Professional work takes precedence over all other orders,

THE ERA ANNUAL, 1906.
"The Era" Annual, 1906, is welcome as containing carefully compiled lists of the pieces produced during the past year in London, the suburbs, and the provinces, in Paris, and in Berlin. The rest of it is curious and entertaining reading. There is the almanack with its "memorabilia of theatrical events occurrences, &c." There are besides a score of stories and other articles contributed by theatricals a very good one being Miss Louie Freear's set of verses, "'Boy Bob' at Sea," which has humour, feeling, and swing. The book contains many theatrical portraits. As a book of reference the Annual is of great use and value, and while some of its contents doubtless appeal more keenly to the professional than to the outsider, any thoughtful person may derive from its study much amusement and no little insight into the conditions, the magnitude, and the complexity of the English theatre of to-day.—Morning Post, Jan. 22.

THE ERA ANNUAL, 1906.
"The Era" Annual is published from the offices of the old-established organ of the theatrical profession, 5, Tavistock-street, W.C. As usual, it is a carefully-compiled record of notable events of the year 1905. A pleasing feature is the selection of short stories, after recounting strange experiences, by "stars" of the dramatic and music-hall professions, these being in every case accompanied by photographs of the writers.—Newcastle Daily Journal, Jan. 27, 1906.

PROVINCIAL THEATRICALS.

(FROM OUR OWN CORRESPONDENTS.)

ABERDEEN.—HER MAJESTY'S THEATRE.—Managing-Director, Mr. Robert Arthur; Acting-Manager, Mr. H. C. Cavanah, C.A.—Sapho occupies the boards here. Miss Annie Bell plays powerfully in the title-part, and Mr. Sydney Arnold gives a good account of himself as Jean Gausin. Mr. G. P. Lester and Mr. George Antley make excellent appearances as Father Legrand and Cesaire le Fenat respectively, and all the other members of the company play capably.

PALACE THEATRE.—Managing-Directors, Messrs. Rosen and Bliss; Resident-Manager, Mr. Walter Gilbert.—Miss Annie Pierce with marvellous fidelity reproduces the mannerisms of a variety of other artists. Mr. Sid Cotterell and company appear in a highly amusing sketch, The Substitute. Messrs. Brady and Johnson are keenly appreciated; and Mersano's deft juggling feats are followed with interest. Other successful turns are those of Mr. R. C. Macgill, the popular Scottish comedian; Miss Marie Ross, a charming serio and dancer; Mr. Fred Tenby, a highly original comedian; Mr. Charles Lestree, an exceedingly smart juggler; Miss Annie Langley, a bright comedienne and graceful dancer; and Pearce and Ward, a couple of entertaining vocalists, patterers, and boxers.

ABERTILLERY. — THEATRE METROPOLE.—Lessees, Messrs. Arthur Carlton and Sam Duckworth; General and Resident Manager, Mr. Geo. W. Ventoin.—The above theatre re-opened this week with Mr. Edward Ranier and his No. 1 Mascot Vaudeville and Sketch Co., including Mr. Preston Holmes, musical expert. Miss Kitty Mayfair, comedienne and dancer, is much appreciated, as also is Mr. George Pauldon, actor vocalist; Messrs. Maynard and France, in their clever act, A Perfect Lady, deservedly score. Miss Alice Maud and Co. in Let to Two, cause much mirth; Kelbo, comedian, is clever, and the Two Willows are expert dancers. Frazellia, the marvellous aerial gymnast, is a fresh favourite. Of the two sketches, The Bank Robbery and His Majesty's Coastguards, the former deserves special mention, round upon round of applause greeting the fall of the curtain. The latter is pretty and well played.

ACCRINGTON. — HIPPODROME. — Proprietors, Messrs. Willmot, Vandy, Potter, and Weisker.—Miss Ellas is top of the bill here this week, and gives a daring performance with forest-bred lions. The three Temples render some operatic numbers with taste. Mr. Charles F. Best gives an amusing show as MacBunker the Mountebank. The Redferns are particularly smart, and fairly bring down the house; Spencer and Marks are also very good. The whole is concluded by the Hippo Bioscope.

PRINCE'S THEATRE.—Proprietor, Mr. J. B. Ormerod; Acting-Manager, Mr. J. E. Barnes.—Mr. Edward Marris's No. 1 company opened here on Monday with Somebody's Sweetheart. The piece is full of interest, and was played by an excellent company, including Mr. W. H. Kirby, who as Martin Blabbs is the life and soul of the play. Mr. E. H. Bertram is very good as Stanton Ashleigh, as are Mr. J. Templar Ellis and Mr. Leslie Martin in their respective parts. Miss Cordelia Knight must be complimented for her artistic performance of Zora the Gipsy.

ALDERSHOT.—ROYAL.—Lessee and Manager, Mr. Clarence Sounes; Acting-Manager, Mr. G. Williams. After more than a year's absence The New Barmaid, with many additional attractive features, is forming a highly appreciated bill of fare here. One or two changes are noticeable in Mr. C. Edwardes's company, but without any detrimental effect. Mr. Leslie Austin as Lovebury acts cleverly, uses a fine baritone voice with good results, and looks after the staging. Mr. Chas. Adeson is a host in himself as Bertie, his display of humour and his original patter keeping all highly amused. Mr. Alexander Loftus repeats former successes here with his talented portrayal of William White, his endeavours on this occasion again meeting with the appreciation deserved. Mr. W. E. Chewd (Mons. Bonsor) and Mr. J. Grant (Colonel) are both worthy of comment. Miss Violet Osmund is vivacious and clever as Dora, and her hard work helps materially to the success. Miss Amy Preston is a charming Ethel Joy; Miss Maude Nichols, as Brenda, is acceptable; and Miss Winifred Preston is an engaging Lady Moulton. Comedy celebrities are introduced during the final act by Messrs. Chas. Adeson, Frank Collins, Alex. Loftus, W. Chewd, Misses Emily Preston, W. Vyner, Grafton; and dances are given by the Star Trio and Miss Violet Preston and Mr. Chewd.

ASHTON-UNDER-LYNE.—THEATRE ROYAL. — Sole Owner and Manager, Mr. Chas. Revill; Acting-Manager, Mr. Armstrong Fairbairn. — An Unwedded Wife is the attractive title of the stirring drama being presented at the Theatre Royal this week by a capable company. The drama is new, and is very well mounted, new scenery having been specially painted for the production. Miss Ethel Van Praagh ably portrays the part of Marion, the discarded wife; Mr. E. St. Clair Forbes plays the villain, Philip Blackstone, with the requisite coolness and outward show of vigour and determination; Mr. Reginald Payne as the wrongly-accused hero, Frank Armstrong, brings to bear an adequate display of force and vigour in his fierce fight for right and justice; Miss Violet Wilson is a patient and amiable heroine as Elsie Langham; and the child, Reggie, is intelligently played by Miss Ella Gillette. The humorous element, which is somewhat overdone, is in the hands of Miss Amy Coralli, Mr. Fred C. Imbert, and Mr. Harry Towuley, as a trio of circus artists. Mr. Logan Darra gives an impressive impersonation of the convict father of the heroine, who has suffered for the wrongdoing of others. Other characters are ably presented by Messrs. Henry Nesbitt, E. Finlay, Eyre, Young, and Grove.

EMPIRE HIPPODROME.—Proprietors, Messrs. W. H. Broadhead and Sons; Manager, Mr. W. B. Broadhead; Acting-Manager, Mr. Percy B. Broadhead; Resident Acting-Manager, Mr. W. Leech.—The company here this week includes Earle and Melville, who patter and dance well; Ward and Davis in a duologue, Wanted, a Typist, which is very funny; the Cosmans, whose dialogue amuses; Le Diabolo, who loops the "Devil's Wheel," and is as daring and clever as ever; the Dixon Girls, who give a pretty turn; the Five Cumberlands, who furnish a rare combination of cycling and acrobatic skill. An artistic feature of the programme is the musical sketch Heart Strings, in which Mr. H. A. Crane and others successfully appear.

ATTERCLIFFE.—THEATRE ROYAL, LIMITED.—Managing-Director, Mr. Frank Macnaughten.—"Picture entertainments" still continue to be the attraction here, and are being well patronised, especially by the juvenile portion of the community.

PALACE THEATRE OF VARIETIES.—Proprietor, Mr. T. Allan Edwardes; Acting-Manager, Mr. J. Lacy Lyne; Assistant-Manager, Mr. S. H. Laycock.—Fresh from the hands of the decorator, this popular house presented a pleasing appearance on the evening of Bank Holiday, when it re-opened its doors for the season, and huge audiences frequently testified their appreciation of the liberal "bill of fare" provided. Premier place on the programme was provided by the Brown and Kelly Combination, in a mirth-provoking sketch, entitled The Butler Knows; the Four Louberts (three gentlemen and a lady) go through a pleasing, clever, and laughable acrobatic absurdity; Mr. Nat Watkins is a successful comedian; Mr. E. C. Clayton contributed an admirable selection of pictures by the Palace Attergraph; laughter and applause greeted Cavern and Cave (lady and gentleman) in their sketch An Early Morning Dip; Professor Jackson, ventriloquist, was heartily received; Wee Jessie, juvenile comedienne and dancer; and the Carney Brothers, character vocalists, also largely contributed to the general success.

AYR.—NEW GAIETY THEATRE.—Managing-Director, Mr. R. C. Buchanan; Acting-Manager, Mr. Harry W. Day.—A welcome visit of Mr. R. A. P. Williams's company in Les Cloches de Corneville was made on Monday evening, and the time-honoured melodies of the opera were much appreciated. Germaine was charmingly portrayed by Miss Kathleen Emmett; Mabel Spencer did well as Christophe; and the Serpolette of Miss Adeline Harvey was exceedingly clever. Mr. Michael Kemble made an admirable Gaspard; and was well supported by Mr. Percy Watson as the Marquis; Mr. G. E. Hall as the Bailie; and Mr. Richard Martin as Gobo. The other members of the company played their respective parts well, and the result was a most enjoyable production.

Town Hall.—Mr. J. M. Hamilton and his concert company occupied the Town Hall on Saturday night, when the house was packed. Mr. Hamilton delighted his hearers with his delightful singing; Miss McNab, soprano, made a fine impression; Miss Bell, serio-comic, made her first appearance before an Ayr audience; Messrs. Chorley and Connor in their comic patter and duets caused much amusement; and Mr. A. J. Gamble, with his newest songs and business, was clever and entertaining. The "Collier Conjurer," Mr. William Menzies, bids fair to make a name for himself in that line.

Low Green Pierrots.—Mr. Ernest Hampton and his refined pierrot concert party are still commanding large audiences; Mr. F. H. Dundas is decidedly popular with his clever budget of songs; Messrs. Kent and Giddings are still to the fore; Mr. Chas. Champney and Mr. Joe McCulloch sing some clever duets, &c.; Messrs. Hayes and Sherwin are responsible for the musical department; while "Our Ernie" is a host in himself.

BACUP.—New Court Theatre. — Lessee and Manager, Mr. Frank Denman-Wood; Acting-Manager, Mr. Richard Nightingale.—This theatre reopened its doors on Saturday evening, when Miss Florence Baines' company paid a welcome return visit for seven nights, with the new farce, entitled Miss Lancashire, Limited. Miss Baines as Mary Ellen Thompson is the centre of attraction, and she kept her audience in the best of humour, her singing being also much enjoyed; Miss Annie Mitchell is a charming Eva Lancashire; Mr. R. C. Hicks as Herbert Fox, the lawyer, gives an admirable delineation of the character; Mr. David Donaldson handles the part of John Higgings with skill and effect; Mr. Robert Turley submits a good rendering of Harry; and Miss Maurice Johnstone as Bertha is a ladylike representative of the part. Mr. Will Casey as William Henry Thompson gives a natural and unforced rendering of the part, and is ably assisted by Miss Pattie Groves, who, as Bridget Thompson, gives a lifelike performance; and Moses Goldberg finds a clever exponent in Mr. Burt Burton. Mr. Walter Hicks, as Grant the butler, is amusing.

BARNSLEY.—Theatre Royal.—Manager, Mr. A. C. Mitchell.—This theatre re-opened for the season on Monday, after a six weeks' vacation, with Messrs. Stillwell and Teulon's drama, The Branded Woman. Miss Zana St. George as Genevieve Larouche, in the titular rôle, displays remarkable dramatic power; Mr. James Stillwell's portrayal of Philip Maurice stamps him as a resourceful and clever actor; Mr. Paul E. Teulon is successful as Louis Duroc; Dick Brown is humorously played by Mr. Harry Liddle. Amongst other members of the company who deserve mention are Mr. Herbert Bentone as Zarka, Miss Violet Barley-Clarke as Rudolph, and Miss Kathrine Barnett as Marie.

Public Hall.—Manager, Mr. G. E. Hoey.—Mr. Jasper Redfern is again delighting his Barnsley patrons with a capital vaudeville and bioscope entertainment.

BATH.—Theatre Royal.—Lessee and Manager, Mr. Egbert Lewis; Acting-Manager, Mr. Lewis A. Long.—On Monday the theatre reopened for a special week, when the drama The Sin of her Childhood was the attraction. During the recess the pit of the theatre has been entirely re-seated with the latest modern tip-up seats, the work having been carried out by the well-known Birmingham firm of Messrs. Dean and Co. Presented by Mr. J. A. Campbell's company, the piece secured an enthusiastic reception from a large holiday audience. Miss Florence Creagh acts sympathetically as Mary Haysel; her villainous brother Stephen being portrayed in emphatic fashion by Mr. Austin Milroy. Miss Jennie Douglas Hicks carefully avoids overdoing the drink addicted Maria Haysel. Captain Thornton is given a suitable military bearing by Mr. Frederick Lloyd, and Mr. E. E. Clive, as the youthful vicar, the Rev. Alan Grey, is commendable. The comedy element is largely in the hands of Mr. Hugh Brady as Barney O'Reilly, who receives assistance from Miss Annie Gibbs as Eliza Muggins. Little Ivy Rochfort cleverly doubles the parts of Little Mary and Eric Dugdale; and Little Dot Moss supplies specialities with songs, dances, and banjo solos, and gains numerous encores

Palace Theatre.—Proprietor, Mr. Frank Macnaghten; Manager, Mr. Chas. Schubert.—The reopening week of the autumn season has been attended by good business. His Birthday is excellently played by Mr. and Mrs. Royston-Dene and two associates; and a farcical duo, entitled Getting Even, is smartly rattled through, to the accompaniment of continuous laughter by Sinclair and Whiteford. Herbert la Martine, vocalist, eccentric dancer, and bâton manipulator; Vandinoff, lightning painter; and the Donatos, one-legged acrobati clowns, renew former successes. The illustrated songs given by Edna Knollys are very popular; Burnetti, character musician and mimic, displays his talents to advantage; Vera Mayne, comedienne, is a favourite; and Raymond's Bio-tableaux, as usual, winds up the programme with interesting and comic subjects. The capital orchestra is now under Mr. J. Andrews, who has succeeded Mr. Rattray in this important position. The management have provided newly-painted sets and cloths, which are much admired.

BEDFORD.—The Royal County Theatre.—Lessee and Manager, Mr. E. Graham-Falcon; Acting-Manager, Mr. Walter R. Wilson.—This theatre opened on Monday evening with A Girl's Cross Roads. Mr. Charles Franmore makes an admirable John Meadows, and Mr. Wilson Gunning cleverly depicts Jack Livingstone. Mr. Gerald Jordan impersonates Cuthbert Lumley with vigour. Mr. Fred Ingram supplies rare humour as Toby. Miss Beanmont Collins capably undertakes the trying rôle of Barbara Wade, and Nellie Meadows is in the capable hands of Miss N. Meade.

BELFAST.—Theatre Royal.—Managing-Director, Mr. Fred W. Warden; Acting-Manager, Mr. James M. McCann.—This theatre re-opened for the season on Monday. During the recess the ground floor has been re-arranged, and now consists of stalls, pit-stalls, and pit, instead of parterre, as formerly. A complete and elaborate system of heating has been installed, and other improvements have been effected. The piece for the re-opening week is East Lynne, presented by Mr. H. Armitage and Arthur Leigh's company. In the dual rôle of Lady Isabel and Madame Vine, Miss Julie Kennard, a clever emotional actress, furnishes a convincing interpretation, her acting in the last scene being worthy of the highest praise. Mr. Alfred Beaumont is in every sense capable as Archibald Carlyle; and the villainy of Francis Levison is realistically portrayed by Mr. Eric Mayne. A clever child actress, Miss Jessie Bayes, deserves credit for her impersonation of Little Willie; and the rôle of the good-hearted Cornelia Carlyle is capitally portrayed by Miss Ethel Hardacre. Mr. E. Massingham gives efficient impersonation of Richard Hare; and Mr. C. C. Grattan is an admirable Justice Hare. The humour of the piece is in the safe hands of Mr. Alfred Tate, who creates roars of laughter in his impersonation of P.C. Bullock. Other rôles are commendably sustained by Miss Kathleen Bryan, Miss Ethel Saville, Miss Ida Heron, Miss B. Carroun, Miss E. Frith, Miss E. Rae, and Mr. Spencer Goodwin.

Palace Theatre of Varieties.—Managing-Director, Mr. Fred W. Warden; General-Manager, Mr. J. De Freece; Resident-Manager, Mr. Geo. Harris.—Madame Ada Colley is the star here, and has created quite a furore with her delightful vocalism; Mr. Edward Cranston, supported by his company, appears to the utmost advantage in the Irish racing sketch, Terry; or, True to his Trust, the various rôles being ably sustained by Mr. Cranston, Miss Josephine Preece, and Mr. Harry McClelland. Mr. Leo Dryden has been enthusiastically received in his capital songs; and a hit of no small magnitude has been made by the Pasquali Bros., head to head balancers and tumblers, their feats being quite amazing. Miss Alice Maydue is a charming comedienne, with good songs; and others here are the Ongars; Mr. Fred Hallam, comedian; Natalia and Diana, gymnasts; and the attractive Palace pictures.

Empire Theatre of Varieties, Ltd.—General-Manager, Mr. Frank Allen; Acting-Manager, Mr. John A. Walker.—The Boisset Troupe again head the bill, and this week produce with great success their screaming pantomime The Evening Party. Mr. J. A. Wilson, the clever Black Oracle, introduces his famous performing dog Towser, whose tricks are quite amazing. Mr. George Formby, one of the driollest of comedians, creates much amusement with his funny songs; and Ike Scott and Son, comedians and dancers, have made a big hit with The Officer and the Raw Recruit. The Empire Bioscope introduces a new set of pictures; and others appearing are Toner, the Belfast newsboy mimic; Miss Frances Manners, a delightful vocalist; Culpitt, comedy conjurer; and Miss Vi Raynor, comedienne and dancer.

New Alhambra Theatre of Varieties. — General-Manager, Mr. Henry T. Downs.—The Alhambra Dramatic Company is this week producing What Women Suffer, by Mr. H. Brandon, which met with a capital reception. Mr. Herbert Cecil's able impersonation of Herbert Standish reflects much credit on that clever actor; and a winning and graceful interpretation of Edith Coventry is furnished by that accomplished actress, Miss Nina Blake-Adams. Mr. John Burton acquits himself with distinction as Squire Norton; and Mr. Cyril Grier, in the dual rôle of Wilfred Coventry and John Coventry, is very successful throughout. Miss Lina Nazeby appears as Nance Meredith, and acts well; and Mr. J. F. Pearce skilfully impersonates John Meredith. Mr. W. G. Wesley as Obadiah Shakespeare, and Mr. H. Arnold Allen as Tod Potts, evoke much amusement. Other rôles are capitally sustained by Miss Effie Macintosh, a charming Marion Thomas; Little Rosie; and Messrs. A Edwards, J. M. William, and Q. James.

BILSTON.—Theatre Royal.—Lessee, Mr. H. Battersby; Manageress, Miss Battersby.—The re-opening of this house took place on Monday with Little and Darcy's drama, The Shadow of a Crime. Miss Rosie May played Winifred Maud with much spirit, and Miss Dorothy Ridell made a sweet Miss Bullington. Harry had a manly exponent in Mr. Stephen Crossley. The villainous work of Ralph Esmond was successfully carried out by Mr. Robert Forder. Mr. Wm. Matthews looked and acted as a fierce Jim Murdock. Tom Brown and his wife and Sarah the maid had the lively services of Mr. E. W. Avery, Miss May Rosine, and Miss Bertha St. Ruth. Miss Ina Grant was excellent as Loyale Norman.

Al-Fresco, Pavilion. — Proprietor, Mr. H. Battersby.—As the baritone vocalist Mr. E. C. Husbands has succeeded Mr. Tom Griffiths. The latest atttractions are the Cedrics in their comedy act; Victor's Troupe of performing dogs; and Bioscope pictures.

BIRKENHEAD.—New Theatre Royal.—Lessee, Mr. W. W. Kelly; Acting-Manager, Mr. Charles Pell.—Advantage has been taken of a brief recess to add to the embellishments and decorations of this already elegantly appointed theatre, which reopened on Bank Holiday with H. Armitage and Arthur Leigh's company in Leah Kleschna. The title-rôle is represented by Miss Bessie Rignold, who gives a skilful rendering of a difficult part. Mr. William F. Grant as Paul Sylvane is a great success, playing the character with incisiveness and effect, and Mr. Paul Belmore displays much power and ability as Kleschna; Mr. Campbell Goldsmidt is well suited as Schramm; Mr. Hamilton Deane makes the most of his opportunities as Raoul; Valentin is well impersonated by Mr. Roland Daniel; and other parts are without exception in competent hands. Crowded houses have been the rule during the engagement.

Argyle Theatre of Varieties.—Manager, Mr. D. J. Clarke.—A capital company includes Mr. Mike Whallen, a clever comedian and raconteur, who meets with his usual big receptions; Miss Daisy Jerome, the little American girl, who has become a great favourite; and Mr. Tom Edwards, a versatile and expert ventriloquist; the Sisters Terry, in their delightful entertainment, are a prominent attraction; and excellent turns are also furnished by Mr. Frank Seeley, comedian; Miss Gertrude Gitana, vocalist and dancer; Jack and Evelyn, variety artists; Miss Leoni Dixon, soubrette; O'Connor and Brady, comedians; and Brown's Royal Bioscope.

BISHOP AUCKLAND. — Eden Theatre. — Lessees, Messrs. R. Addison, Ltd.; Managing-Director, Mr. R. Addison; Acting-Manager and Secretary, Mr. John Huntley. — After the usual summer vacation this popular place of amusement re-opened on Monday with a capital variety entertainment, which was witnessed by a large audience. The programme included the following artists: The Marvellous Pardoes, in their wonderfully clever gymnastic and contortionist performance, introducing "The Human Skipping Rope"; the Brothers Hannaway, comedians and clog dancers; Miss Violet Rivers, eccentric male impersonator; Miss Lottie Holland, whose illustrated songs are highly appreciated by all who have the pleasure of hearing her; Bert Gordon, Tyrolean vocalist and Milan pipe player; Teddy Vokes, comedian; Miss Elsie Kedwards, singer and dancer; and Tom Hulme, comedian, who possesses quite an inexhaustible supply of patter. The cinematograph pictures of recent events add to the credit of the entertainment, which includes the scena On the Sands at Brighton, and the sketch The Doctor's Assistant.

BLACKBURN.—New Prince's Theatre.—Proprietor, Mr. E. H. Page. The attraction this week is Mr. Ernest R. Abbott's powerful company in The Wife's Triumph and Sapho, the latter being played on Wednesday and Thursday. In the former piece Mr. Ernest Abbott is seen to advantage as Frank Wilton, a bank cashier, and Miss Ada Abbott makes a sympathetic heroine. The company gave a capital rendering of Sapho, Mr. and Miss Abbott again taking the leading parts.

Palace Theatre.—Proprietor, Mr. Frank Macnaghten; Manager, Mr. Will Murray.—In a remarkably good programme Ancelotti takes honours with his thought-reading dog, "Pilu," which gives ample demonstration of its cleverness. The other turns are Tate and Tate, comedy trampolin acrobats; Frank Cumminger, clever sand dancer; Arthur Slater, the whistling man in white; Burg, Haud, and Wise, in Ye Brown Cow Inn; Ringling Trio, in an absurdity. A Manager's Lunch; Lilly Lena, comedienne; and W. H. Sloan, the American comedian, who is assisted by Miss Florence Gerald and Miss Kitty Hamilton, in the comedy sketch, The Plumber. Raymond's Bio-tableaux also show some excellent pictures.

BLACKPOOL.—Her Majesty's Opera House.—General-Manager, Mr. J. R. Huddlestone. — Miss Ellaline Terriss and Mr. Seymour Hicks have this week made their initial bow to a Blackpool audience in The Catch of the Season. The welcome which is nightly accorded these popular artists must be most gratifying, and the theatre is literally packed at every performance. They are ably supported by Mr. Laurence Caird, as Lord Dundreary; Mr. Julian Cross, as Sir John Crystal; Mr. Alfred Lloyd, as William Gibson; Master Louis Victor, who scores quite an extraordinary success as Bucket; Miss Florence Lloyd, a really delightful Lady Caterham; Miss Belle Napier, as Lady Crystal; Miss Margaret Fraser, as Sophia Bedford; Miss Maudi Darrell, as Honoria Bedford; and Miss Ivy St. Hellier, a very clever vocalist, who appears as Miss Caw. The dancing and singing of the Gibson Girls the Society Girls, and the Lucille Girls, are pleasing features of one of the successes of Blackpool's season.

Grand Theatre. — Owner and Manager, Mr. T. Sergenson.—The Spring Chicken, played by Mr. George Edwardes' company, is the dainty fare which Mr. Sergenson has provided for his patrons this week. The first honours are carried off by Mr. George Gregory as Mr. Girdle, and by Miss Irene Verona as Mrs. Girdle. Both artists are well and favourably known in Blackpool, and their efforts this week meet with the most cordial approval. Mr. John Brabourne works hard as Gustave Babori; Mr. Fred Leslie, jun., plays Boniface with fair success; Mr. Frank Hector is the Baron Papouche; and Mr. Henry Adnes does the best he can with Felix; Rosalie finds a pleasing representative in Miss Gertrude Glyn; Miss Nancy Langtyre gives satisfaction as Baroness Papouche; Miss Gertrude Gilliam is suited in the part of Dulcie Babori; whilst Miss Nellie Lonnen as Emmy Lou and Mr. William Spray as Stephen Henry work well together, both as singers and dancers. The dresses and scenery are quite up to the Edwardes standard, which is saying a great deal. Mr. W. Hesseltine is in charge of the company.

Palace.—General-Manager, Mr. G. Harrop; Acting-Manager, Mr. Fred Waller.—Le Roy, Talma, and Bosco still top the bill here, and their feats of mystery remain unsolved; Rosina Casselli, who contributes a clever turn with her performing dogs, also keeps her place in the programme. The newcomers this week include Albert Le Fre, in his novel mélange, "That's what we see in the Halls"; the Four Juggling Geraldos, the Boccaccio Minstrels, Oliver Conroy, comedian; Howard and Harris, in their diverting sketch, The Adventures of a Happy Tramp; Mabel La Blanche, burlesque artist; and Vanola, the clever American foot juggler. Vernon's Imperial Bioscope enjoys a permanent home here.

Hippodrome. — Lessees, Messrs. Whitehead and Ramsden; General Manager, Mr. T. P. Duignan.—An entirely new programme is provided here this week. The place of honour is nightly accorded to May Edouin and Fred Edwards, in their amusing sketch entitled A Bachelor's Dream. Alf Gibson, the stand-still comedian, is also a favourite turn; Charles Mildare, a clever imitator of singing birds; Cribb and Cribb, comedians; W. G. Webber, vocalist; Constance Mori, comedienne and dancer; Billy Farrell, comedian; Ethel Dove, comedy artist; Barney Vox, ventriloquist; and Kitty Beresford, comedienne, are also in the bill.

Winter Gardens Pavilion. — General-Manager, Mr. J. R. Huddlestone.— In Sunny Spain; or The Troubles of a Tourist, the new spectacular ballet, by Messrs. J. R. Sims and Charles Fletcher, is still played here to crowded houses twice daily. The remainder of the programme is occupied by Horace Goldin, in his wonderful conjuring feats; Dr. Jules Anglo's Tableaux Vivants; the Doretty Musical Quartette; the Belegruer Family of acrobats; Mlle. Lopezina, in a clever trapeze act; the Scala Girls, vocalists and dancers; and the Castillian Serenaders.

Tower Circus.—General-Manager, Mr. G. H. Harrop. — The new-comers here this week are Jack Higgins, the jumper; and the Brothers Artois, bar performers. The Kellinos, acrobats; Walter Belloni, juggler; Keen and Waller, novel eccentrics; Paul Conchas, in his military pastimes act; Klein Family, musical cyclists; the Novellos, in their spectacular equilibristic act, Europe in India; August and September, comedians; and the Famous Finneys, in a swimming exhibition, are retained.

BLYTH.—Theatre Royal.—Lessee and Manager, Mr. A. C. Moody.—The above theatre was re-opened for the season on Bank Holiday. During the vacation the energetic lessee had the theatre thoroughly renovated, and the installation of the electric light has greatly improved the appearance of the auditorium. For the opening Messrs. Garside and Knowles' company presented for the first time an interesting drama entitled The London Fireman, which had an enthusiastic reception from a large audience. In the leading rôles, Mr. J. Forbes-Knowles and Mr. Edward L. Garside are prominent throughout the performance; Mr. William Burgess as Abel Fortnum does well; and Mr. Harry Momber as Nixey Stinger gives a fine piece of character-acting. Miss Florence M. Daley as Grace Curtis plays with much feeling; and the Ida Curtis of Miss Nellie Shirley is a most successful impersonation, which won warm applause. Miss Nellie Garside as Polly Bramble gives a charming performance; and Miss Nellie Waddington is much in evidence as Countess Fleming; excellent support being rendered by the remaining members of the company. Good staging and mounting add much to the success of one of the best dramatic works that has visited here for some time.

Tudor's Circus.—Proprietor, Mr. Wm Tudor.—Mr. R. Sylvester presented on Monday a fine display of animated pictures, which drew a crowded house. Mr. Sylvester has also a good variety company.

BOURNEMOUTH.—Theatre Royal and Opera House.—Sole Proprietors, David Allen and Son; Sole Lessee, Mr. Mouillot; Manager, Rowland Stewart. — The Cingalee, played by Mr. George Dance's excellent company, is the holiday attraction this week. Miss Georgina Middleton is a charming Nanoya, and deserved the applause she received. The Boobhamba of Mr. H. Le Maistre caught on exceedingly well, and Mr. Cyril Dane as Harry Vereker made quite a hit. The other parts were capably filled, and the chorus was remarkably good.

BRADFORD.—Theatre Royal.—Lessee, Mr. John Hart; General Manager, Mr. T. F. Doyle; Acting-Manager, Mr. J. Richardson.—During the summer vacation the theatre has been renovated, and it now presents a very bright and charming appearance. Mr. Jerrold Robertshaw, supported by a fine company, appeared at the reopening on Monday night in F. Kinsey Peile's comedy, The Adventurer. Mr. Robertshaw presented a fine character study of the reckless hero, Michel le Grand. Mr. Harry Ashford was good as the stubborn country squire, Peter Nugent, and as his erring son Harold Mr. L. Race Dunrobin acted conscientiously and with feeling. The William Percival of Mr. Percival Stevens was a strong and convincing effort. The comedy element was well sustained by Mr. E. M. Robson as Le Grand's supposed secretary, Tobias, and by Mr. Harvey Long as the Jew money-lender, Samuel Stein. With easy composure and grace Miss Naomi Neilson assumed the part of Maria Nugent, and there was a subtle charm in Miss Marie Löhr's acting as the gentle and confiding Lillian Nugent. The rest of the cast was excellent. Mr. Peile's dramatic one-act play, The Mummer's Wife, preceded the comedy, and in this Mr. Robertshaw was most effective as the strolling player Raymond, and Miss Phyllis Relph added greatly to her reputation by a fine dramatic effort as his unfortunate wife Bianca. Mr. L. Race Dunrobin played Theodor with great power, and Mr. Haines was very fine as Quelch.

Prince's Theatre.—Lessee and Manager, Mr. Francis Laidler; Acting-Manager, Mr. N. Hepworth.—Mr. Frank Bateman's company, in the drama No Wedding Bells for Her, presents a strong holiday attraction here. In the exacting rôle of Lola Delaspierre Miss Lizzie Montague wins distinction. Doris Fane, another part which calls for dramatic skill for its interpretation, has an able exponent in Miss Louie Adair. Miss Ethel Lawrence is good as the Japanese Geisha. Mr. Louis Garton is effective as the forsaken husband, Montague Blair. In the rôle of the Rev. Frank Hatherleigh Mr. Stuart Lomath is admirable. Mr. E. E. Lewis acts well as the lover of Doris, Harold Travelyn. Dick Delver, the detective, has a good exponent in Mr. T. W. Ford. Incidents connected with the Russo-Japanese war are ingeniously interwoven, there is some effective scenery, and the piece, which is presented here for the first time, has had an excellent reception.

The Empire.—Moss Empires, Ltd.—Resident Manager, Mr. Percival Craig.—Rachel Lowe, who tops an excellent programme here this week, submits in telling style some quite original songs. Harrigan and Holt, in a familiar type of comedy, are humorous, and a very fine banjo performance, which is submitted by the Howard Brothers in a style quite their own, earns well-merited applause. J. W. Rowley, buoyant, bright, and humorous as ever in song and patter, is on a welcome return visit. Arthur Gill is a humorous songster. The Little Georgia Magnet, Annie Abbott, after a long absence, is also here again, perplexing her audience with her experiments as a "passive resister" of force. Maffe Weston, comedienne, sings and dances with skill. In their sketch, The Professor and Pupil, Ross and Grayson are most entertaining. Binns and Binns blend capital comedy and good music admirably, and there are some new and interesting films shown by the American Bioscope.

Palace Theatre.—Lessee, Mr. Frank Macnaghten; Resident Manager, Mr. H. C. Arnold, jun.—The holiday attraction here is strong. The Four Burnells, in a golfing scena, provide a popular and acceptable item. A clever equilibristic and juggling entertainment by Claver and Piccolo finds favour. Applause greets the songs by Mlle. De Rose, the lady baritone. In an acrobatic hunting absurdity, The Meet, Keith and Merson are diverting. J. H. Hawtrey is an actor-vocalist of merit. Enthusiastic applause greets the wonderful jumping feats of the Wynfords. Charles Sloman's comedy is of an acceptable quality. The Davis and Gledhill Trio, roller experts, are distinctly clever in a cycle and motor-paced sensation. Star v. Evening News, and there are some fine films exhibited by Raymond's Bio-tableaux.

St. George's Hall.—Manager, Mr. S. Carter.—The New Century Company's Animated Pictures continue to be an attraction here.

Al Fresco Pavilion.—Tomps and Wells, who introduce a good musical comedy turn, are a welcome acquisition to the company this week.

BRIDLINGTON.—Royal Victoria Theatre.—Manager, Mr. Charles Palmer.—Mr. E. Lockwood's company opened here on Monday in Sergeant Brue. The company is a strong one, Mr. J. Harold Carson, as the Sergeant, giving a realistic rendering to the part; Mr. Albert James, as Crookie Scrubbs, is excellently fitted, his songs being capitally rendered; Michael Brue is well enacted by Mr. Robert Selby; and Mr. Frank Laceby scores as Mr. Crank; Miss Reydon Dallas is charming as Lady Bickenhall; Miss Florence Spurgeon is quite at home in her part of Aurora Brue; and Miss Dora Taylor is a smart Daisy. For the end of the week we have Mr. F. R. Benson's company in The Merchant of Venice, The School for Scandal, &c.

Spa Theatre.—Manager and Secretary, Mr. Henry Hague.—The United English Opera Company occupy the boards at this well-appointed theatre the first half of the week, under the direction of Mr. F. S. Gilbert. On Monday night that popular opera Maritana was given, with Miss Elsa May in the title-rôle, and a finished and talented representation of the part was presented by this clever artist. Miss Clairette Florence as Lazarillo was admirable, and Miss Kate White was an excellent Marchioness. Mr. F. S. Gilbert gave a fine rendering of the part of Don Cæsar, his splendid voice being agreeably heard; Mr. F. Sheridan was a capital King; Mr. H. Blagrave as the Marquis, Mr. J. Kneall Campbell as Don Jose, Mr. James Knox as Captain of the Guard, and Mr. F. Featherstone as the Alcade, were all capital exponents of their parts. On Tuesday the attraction was The Bohemian Girl, and on Wednesday Faust was given. For the remainder of the week we have Mr. Grant Allen's company in The New Boy.

Royal Prince's Parade.—Manager, Mr. Charles Palmer.—Those wonderful little people the Pigmies have been amusing the visitors to the Grand Pavilion. The Flockton-Foster entertainers contribute attractive programmes, and the Loyal Dominion Animated Picture Company show the latest pictures. In the Floral Pavilion the programmes given by Herr Sigmund Winternitz's Royal Viennese Orchestra prove very pleasing to crowded audiences, and that favourite vocalist, Miss Annie Bartle, is gaining fresh laurels by her finely-rendered songs.

New Spa and Gardens.—General Manager and Secretary, Mr. Henry Hague.—A big programme is provided for the patrons of the Spa during the holidays. Herr S. Warm's orchestra is giving special musical programmes, which are a source of great enjoyment to large audiences. Miss Margaret Cooper, a special favourite here, never fails to secure unbounded applause for her charming "Songs at the Piano." The Misses Aileen and Doris Woods are paying a welcome return visit, their duets proving a great treat, and their dances being cleverly executed.

The Palace.—Manager, Mr. A. Hubner.—A big holiday programme here includes clever sketches by the Monckton, A Woman's Curiosity and The Lady Dentist; Cyrus and Maud, with their performing donkey, are a couple of smart musical eccentrics; the Shamrocks, in songs and dances, and Will Douglas, the Yorkshire humorist, and a magical turn by Sphinx and Sphinx, all go well. Empress, a lady who does some clever handcuff and other feats, and the animated pictures are always good.

Summer Gardens. — Lessees, Messrs. Beanland, Bath, and Danton; Manager, Mr. Charles Beanland. —Attractive programmes are provided at this popular resort by the sea, and crowded audiences are delighted at the many amusing items of the Pierrots, and the laughable sketches by the company, the various characters by Messrs. Beanland, Bath, Danton, Coda, and Hyam being played with capital effect.

BRIGHTON.—Theatre Royal.—Lessee and Manager, Mr. H. Cecil Beryl; Assistant-Manager, Mr. Harcourt M. Beryl.—Mr. George Edwardes's company is here this week with A Girl on the Stage, which is beautifully dressed and mounted. Mr. Lennox Pawle gives a finished impersonation of the Earl of Sanctobury; Miss Queenie Leighton achieves great success as Molly Montrose; Miss Fanny Dango and Miss Valli Valli as the Earl's daughters merit praise; Mr. John Humphries is very humorous as Shingle; Mr. J. Robert Hale scores heavily as Lord Congess; Mr. Nelson Keys is a mirthful Ethelbert; Mr. Colin Coop acquits himself admirably as Alderman Briggs, and the remaining characters are satisfactorily represented.

Grand Theatre.—Managing-Director, Mr. Ernest Carpenter.—Messrs. John B. Shinton and Alexander Greenwood's company opened here on Monday with The Price of Her Soul. Mr. Shinton gave a manly and popular impersonation of Lord Rolf Mandeville, V.C., and Miss Ada M. Ryder submitted a charming and refined enactment of the Countess Inez Steinmeitz. Miss Mona Gray was powerfully effective as Olga Lavonitz; Mr. Annesley Hely was forcible as the villainous Major Skoboloff; and able portrayals were furnished by Mr. Fred White as Zouroff, Mr. Archie Gear as General Lanovitz, and Mr. Murray Yorke as Captain Petroski. The light comedy element was capitally sustained by Mr. Will Percy as Pat Murphy; Miss Tina Frank as Polly Perkins; Miss Ada Arnott as Lady Jemima Fraser, "Pork Pie Queen"; and Mr. Geo. Marriott, jun., as the Hon. Algy Fraser.

Alhambra.—Managing-Director, Mr. J. L. Graydon; General-Manager, Mr. Ernest Lepard.—There is a first-class company here this week. Eugénie Fougère, the accomplished chanteuse Parisienne, is enthusiastically received, and achieves distinct success; the Alaskas submit a clever comedy acrobatic entertainment; Edie Rivers is a pleasing singer and graceful dancer; Little Ganty is a very droll comedian; the Sprees are highly effective in their vocal scena Twickenham Ferry; Stuart and Rose are capital comedy artists; the Four Madcaps contribute a very smart dancing act; Freeman and Tench evoke hearty laughter with their duologue A Broken Honeymoon; and the Alhambrascope pictures are very interesting.

Hippodrome Theatre of Varieties.—Proprietors, Messrs. Barrasford and Smith; Managing-Director, Mr. Thomas Barrasford.—A varied and highly attractive programme is sustained here this week. Pauline Zaro, a dainty comedienne and nimble dancer, is well received; Ronald Bayne and Evelyn Hope submit a Napoleonic episode, entitled An Emperor's Divorce, in good styls; Billie Burford is a winsome vocal comedienne; the Harvey Boys win hearty applause in their boxing act, The London Messenger Boys; Fanny Dent and Harry Dent, in their refined comedy sketch, Mary and the Squire, achieve conspicuous success; the Five Olracs, acrobatic comedians, are very smart and clever; Johnny Danvers, vocal comedian and dancer, gains enthusiastic applause for his songs and dancing; Tschernoff gives a unique entertainment with ponies, dogs, and pigeons; Frank Danby, supported by W. J. Manning, Walter Nugent, Ethel Bryant, Esme Edwardes, and Edward Russon, appears in a musical absurdity, entitled The Chauffeur, which is admirably represented and warmly appreciated. The performance concludes with a capital series of Barrascope pictures.

West Pier.—Secretary and Entertainment-Manager, Mr. A. D. Norman. Miss Emma Hutchison and Mr. Percy Hutchison's company is here this week with The Freedom of Suzanne. Miss Mabel Love as Suzanne Trevor acts with much charm; and Mr. Percy Hutchison gives a very fine impersonation of Suzanne's husband. Miss Violet Ley is a bright Lady Isabel Bury; Mr. F. G. Thurstans makes a capital Fitzroy Harding; and able support is also given by Mrs. P. Turner, Miss Dorothy Lart, Miss Annie Stalman, Miss Charlotte Mead, Mr. Patrick Quill, Mr. F. Hill, Mr. Townsend Whitling, Mr. Richard Neville, Mr. J. E. Watson, and Mr. Bruce Smith.

New Palace Pier Theatre.—Mr. H. Bernhardt's company is here this week with My Peggy. Miss Atholie Robertson is highly successful as Peggy; Mr. Charles Bligh's James Purvis, and Miss Molly Paget's Evelyn Morris are well played; while Mr. Douglas Vigors as Lord Brooklyn merits warm praise. Mr. Chris Walker (under whose direction the play is produced) submits an excellent representation of the Earl of Truro; and Peggy's spinster aunts find capital exponents in Miss Nellie Clarence and Miss Una Gilbert.

Aquarium.—Lessee and Manager, Mr. J. J. Sallmayer; Acting-Manager, Mr. Henry de Groot.—The Modoc Minstrels are re-engaged here this week, and win hearty applause for the excellent manner in which they sustain their varied and attractive programmes.

Devil's Dyke.—Proprietress, Mrs. M. Barrasford. The attraction here on Bank Holiday was a baby show in the Café Chantant for three prizes offered by tradesmen of the district and three handsome awards presented by the proprietors of Nestle's Swiss Milk.

BRISTOL.—Theatre Royal.—Managing-Director, Mr. Ernest Carpenter; Resident-Manager, Mr. W. F. Crowe.—Mr. Frederick Melville's company is here with the popular drama, Between Two Women, which is staged with much taste and liberality, and excellently played. The Two Women, Violet Thornton and Carmen de Savereaux, have exceptionally clever exponents in Miss Molly Malone and Miss Winifred Pearson; Mr. Godfrey Tearle acts really well in a quiet and incisive style as the Rev. Philip Carton; Mr. Watkin Wynne displays considerable dignity as the Earl of Millard; Mr. Stephen Langton is effective as Harry Millard; Mr. Walter Thornton and Mr. Roland Yorke both do well in the unpopular parts of James Durwood and Major Strangeways; Miss Lulu Rowes is sufficiently pathetic as the Blind Boy; and Miss Winifred Graham displays genuine comedy as Polly Popp.

Prince's Theatre.—Proprietor and Manager, Mr. James Macready Chute.—There was a large attendance here on Monday evening when The Fascinating Mr. Vanderveldt was played for the first time in Bristol. Mr. Arthur Bourchier's company is an exceptionally good one, and the play is staged in a liberal and effective manner. Miss Gladys Mason presents a pleasing study of Lady Clarice Howland; she displays much vivacity, and is charmingly expressive. Mr. Reginald Dance acts cleverly as Mr. Vanderveldt; Mr. H. Lawrence Leyton is convincing as Colonel Rayner; and the parts of the Marchioness of Hendingby, Lady Clementina Derborough, Aggie Coles, and Miss Pelling, are taken in excellent style by Miss Mary Weigall, Miss May Brooke, Miss Eve Titheradge, and Miss Agnes Gunn. The remaining characters are all carefully performed by other members of the company. The intresting one-act play, The Drums of Oude, opens the performance, being capitally played by Miss Gladys Mason, Mr. Reginald Dance, Mr. Edward Coutts, Mr. F. Vernon Travers, Mr. Walter Armstrong, Mr. George Percy, and Mr. George A. Seager.

Palace.—Resident Manager, Mr. Horace Livermore; Secretary and Treasurer, Mr. F. V. Welchman.—The Albert and Edmunds' comedy Troupe head the programme with their absurdity, The Little Charwoman. Bijou Russell, coon singer and sand dancer, presents a pleasing and attractive turn, and others obtaining appreciation are Charles Lillburn, comedian; Warterberm Brothers, double foot jugglers; Fred Villiers, comedian; Allsop and Bekwith in their comedy act, I'm Coming Upstairs; Herbert Clifton, vocal mimic. The performance concludes with animated pictures.

Empire.—Proprietor, Mr. B. Pearce Lucas; Resident-Manager, Mr. Sid Macaire.—Here we have Wal Pink's Workmen in the amusing absurdity Repairs; Ross and Lewis, American speciality comedians, are amusing; Dora Lyric, comedienne, presents a pleasing turn; and other artists obtaining appreciation are Evelyn Taylor, coon vocalist; The Fayes, speciality artistes; Fred Keeton, eccentric comedian; Tom Parker, comedian; The Four Aces, comedy acrobats, and Gus Barra, musical motorist. The performance concludes with a good selection of animated pictures.

Zoological Gardens.—Superintendent, Captain Villiers.—There was a great attendance here on Monday, probably a record number passing through the turnstiles. The variety entertainment provided by Mr. Tom Wood, of Upper Euston, Bristol, included Linton and Tera, wire performers; Vere and Royal, vocalists, dancers, etc.; Rabbits and his mechanical donkey; The Two Clarkes in a novel performance on the rolling globe; Marie Iverson, serio and dancer; Kelvin with his would-be actors; Ashley and Knight, in a knockabout bicycle act; Mantel and Oval, acrobats and contortionists. Mr. G. Walker acted as accompanist, Mr. Tom Weymouth's excellent band played selections, and for dancing there was the usual country fair, and Messrs. W. and I. Wilder, of Birmingham, supplied effective fireworks. The attendance continued to be good on Tuesday and Wednesday.

BROMLEY. — Lyric Theatre.—Lessee, Mr. Arthur Carlton; Resident-Manager, Mr. H. Strong. —The holiday attraction here is Mr. Charles Harrington's company in The Sailors of the King, and crowded houses have been the rule. An excellent company has been engaged to interpret the piece, headed by Mr. C. Harrington, who gives a fine performance of Admiral Drake; Mr. Frank Stephens supplies a breezy and realistic interpretation of Dick Dr sents a rendition that is marked by a skilful and painstaking training, and his performance is a triumph from beginning to end. The character of his son, Jefferson, is no less successfully represented by Mr. Stephen Wentworth. Miss Elspeth Dudgeon is conspicuously good as Mrs. Ryder.

KING'S THEATRE.—Managing-Director, Mr. Samuel James; Acting-Manager, Mr. A. C. Duncan.—Under the Russian Flag has been presented here by Mr. Jack Haddon's company. The cast includes that talented artist, Miss Marie Rayner whose representation of Luka Marischka is a fine piece of work. Capital interpretations are those of Michael (Mr. Edward Avinal) and Ivan (Mr. Cecil Melton). Captain Demetrius has an admirable exponent in Mr. Jack Haddon; and the General Romanoff of Mr. Geo. Herbert is excellent. Miss Elaine Vanburgh is a charming Vera Vassiloff; and Miss Violet Lytton creditably submits the rôle of Ogarita.

EMPIRE.—Managing-Director, Mr. Oswald Stoll.—The Cardiff Empire has been more popular than ever this holiday, owing to the excellent programme presented. Herbert Lloyd, the diamond king, heads the list with his amusing and clever burlesque on vaudeville; Big Ben Brown and Little George Le Clerq are still irresistible in their comic sketch Black Justice; Simms and Simms give a first-class mixture of gag and melody; Spot, "the enchanted coon" adds to the fun in his laughable travesty, "The cake-walk craze"; Bernar's Fantoches provide an ingenious "puppet" show; and Techow's cats display their clever training in a pretty performance. Helene and Emilon do marvellous feats on the trapeze; and the Glenroy Troupe present a delightful turn as International dancers. Edie King is worthy of much praise for her pleasing vocalism and dancing. The American Bioscope completes the entertainment.

CARLISLE.—THE PALACE.—Proprietors, The Palace Theatre, Carlisle, Ltd.; Managing-Director, Signor Rino Pepi; Acting-Manager, Mr. A. E. Nicholls.—Miss Ella Shields proves herself to be an accomplished artiste, and well worthy of the position she occupies on the bill; her singing of coon songs provokes great enthusiasm. Rex Fox makes a big hit with his exceedingly clever wire act. The Kyasyas do some remarkable weight-lifting by teeth and hair, and are much appreciated. Bertha Winder is an exceedingly clever dancer, and has scored an emphatic success. H. Pauson, illusionist, provides an excellent turn. Grant and Smith have a funny act, which is applauded. Miss Nellie Farrell, comedienne, and the Popiscope, complete the company.

CARLISLE H.M. THEATRE.—Lessees, Executors of R. S. McKim; Manager, Mr. Stanley Rogers; Acting-Manager, Mr. Frank Stanley.—A large audience assembled on Monday night to see Messrs. Livesey and Hardy's company in The Days of Cromwell. The piece was well staged, and admirably interpreted by an excellent company. Interest centred in Mr. Henry Belding, who had many opportunities in the character-part of Ironhand of displaying his ability to advantage. His grip of the part was effective and artistic. The other characters were ably impersonated, and the whole performance met with much appreciation.

CHATHAM. — THEATRE ROYAL. — Proprietors, Messrs. C. and L. B. Barnard; Acting-Manager, Mr. Lionel Barnard; Secretary, Mr. Geo. G. Ridley.—The holiday attraction here is Florodora, presented by one of Mr. J. Bannister Howard's companies. Mr. Daley Cooper's Tweedlepunch is the hit of the evening, and his efforts are creditably seconded by Miss Violet Grazia as Dolores. Miss Nellie Bowman is a lively little Augela, and scores in My Starlight Queen. Mr. Jos. R. Tate is stage manager, and finds time to give a hearty rendering of the part of Cyrus Gilfain; Mr. R. Courtier Dutton is excellent as Frank Abercoed; Miss Edith Housely proves a popular Lady Holyrood, and the rôle of Capt. Arthur Donegal is in the safe hands of Mr. Harold Perry. The musical director is Mr. B. J. Paterson.

GAIETY THEATRE OF VARIETIES.—Proprietor, Capt. H. E. Davis; Manager, Mr. Frank E. Donne.—Here we have Lily Esplin, serio and low comedy songster; Fred Bronte, actor-vocalist; Rosa Loader in The Slavey at the Piano; Duncan and Godfrey, who gain approbation for their coster romance, Me and 'Er; J. Beeson, with Alice, Where Art Thou? and Anchored; the Bros. Ashley in comedy boxing sketch, Next, Please; and pictures by the Edisonograph. Special mention must be made of the smart piccanninies introduced by Belle Davis.

BARNARD'S PALACE OF VARIETIES.—Sole Proprietor, Mr. L. B. Barnard.—After a brief absence Mr. Leonard Mortimer's company is heading Mr. Barnard's holiday programme here, this week's production being the weird sensation, Spectres. George Collins, comedian, is excellent, and the bill includes Tom Lowen, comedian; Nash and Noel, comedians and dancers; Frank and Free, comedy artists; Marie Keen, with a women's suffrage ditty; and pictures by Lacey's Erascope.

CHELTENHAM.—OPERA HOUSE.—General-Manager, Mr. H. Oswald Redford.—The season was opened on Monday by Mr. J. Bannister Howard's excellent company in Oliver Twist. Mr. Stanley Drewitt as Fagin gave a remarkable performance; Mr. James Skea presented a distinctly artistic conception of Bill Sikes; Miss Edith Anton Laing was an excellent Nancy; Mr. Charlie Clark proved a veritable Artful Dodger; Miss Dorothy Marsdin gave a clever study of Oliver; and the other parts were all in excellent hands.

MONTPELLIER PAVILION.—Manager, Mr. Alfred W. Newton.—The Royal Pavilion Pierrots are a popular attraction this week. Miss Belle Thomas is a gifted comedienne; Mr. James Watson and Mr. Charles Neary are genuinely humorous; Mr. George Lomax has an excellent baritone voice; Mr. Charlie Rogers once again brings down the house with his banjo solos; and Mr. Walter Randall, an accomplished pianist, completes a talented sextette.

CHESTERFIELD.—THEATRE ROYAL, LIMITED.—Managing-Director, Mr. Frank Macnaghten; Resident-Manager, Mr. Richard Ralli.—The holiday attraction here is Mr. H. F. Housden and company, who pays a first visit with the domestic drama A Woman's Past. Mr. J. Myrow-Howard makes an effective David Heath; Mr. David Phillips is a capable Frank Delauney; Mr. H. F. Housden (the author) gives a capital portrayal of the part of Clement Harper; and Mr. Clifton Earle does justice to the rôle of Uriah Craven. Miss Dorothy Wallace is pleasing as Bessie; Miss Doris Cameron is excellent as Dorothy Heath; Miss Mabel Northam is a vivacious Kate; and Miss Irene Carrington gives a clever representation of Clara Darrell.

CHORLEY.—GRAND THEATRE.—Proprietor and Manager, Mr. G. T. Santé; Acting-Manager, Mr. A. Hemmingway.—This theatre was re-opened on Bank Holiday. During the vacation many improvements have been effected, and the building has been thoroughly cleaned and re-decorated throughout. The panels of ceiling and proscenium &c., have been filled in with richly-painted frescoes by Mr. Frank Murdock. No Cross, No Crown, played by Miss Rose Faith's company, was chosen for the opening week, and, despite the warm weather, a good house assembled. Miss Rose Faith as Clare gave a powerful rendering; and Miss Gwen Stewart as Mistress Grey, Mr. W. Carriden as Sir Francis Luttrell, Mr. H. Chapman as Professor Nebb, Mr. Herbert De Ville as Austin Blake, Mr. C. George as Rawson Haines, and Miss Ethel Ewer as Doris Luttrell, were all satisfactory in their respective rôles.

CLACTON-ON-SEA. — PALACE-BY-THE-SEA. — Proprietors, Palace, Clacton-on-Sea, Ltd.—Another good variety show is to be recorded here this week. Jane Temple, comedienne; Arthur Albert, comedian; and the Celtic Trio, are all smart artists, and give a good show. Franco Piper, in his great banjo act, is clever and entertaining; Miss Beatrice Willey, a dainty vocalist; and the Mannons, in their laughable absurdity, Uncle Yank, go to make up an excellent show.

WESTCLIFF GARDENS. — Messrs. Graham, Russell, and Bentley are this week assisted by Miss Alice Braunstein, who is well known and well liked at these concerts; Mr. Walter Clyde, who sings a good song in fine style; and Mr. Owen Clark, a smart conjurer and ventriloquist; Mr. Fred Wildon, with his musical instruments and racy stories, help towards a most enjoyable evening.

OPERETTA HOUSE. — Lessee, Mr. C. Macdona; Manager, Mr. T. H. Rhodes.—The first three days of this week has seen Mr. Chas. Macdona's Country Girl company playing to good houses. From a company of capable artists one might mention Misses Eileen Guilbert, Vera Vizard, and Florence Burdette, and Messrs. J. Mansell, Stringer, and Bernard Vaughan. On Thursday and Friday Mr. Arthur Bourchier's company was seen in The Walls of Jericho.

PIER PAVILION.—Mr. Digby Dent, manager for Messrs. Ashton, has a good variety show here this week. The following artists make up a good programme: Miss Molly Seymour, comedienne; Mr. Sidney Jarvis, baritone; Mr. Arthur Kennedy, Scotch comedian; and Miss Beatrice Beresford, a pleasing singer, with a mezzo-soprano voice; Mr. Wm. Gourlay, the human scarecrow, is here, and going down well; Mr. Chas. Minor has been to no little trouble with his midgets; and Mr. Nelson Hardy, in a ventriloquial act, is smart.

BANDSTAND CONCERTS.—In addition to Mr. Sainton's fine band, which is deservedly very popular, Miss Gertrude Shrimpton, who has a fine soprano voice, is here. The Welsh Glee Singers are also pleasing everyone by their fine rendering of part songs.

COLCHESTER.—THEATRE ROYAL.—Sole Proprietor, Mr. Charles Macdona; Resident-Manager, Mr. F. C. Upton.—Considerable improvements have been effected in this house, among which may be mentioned the addition of a commodious lounge for the habitués of the dress circle, and more exits. The reopening took place on the 2nd inst., the attraction being Mr. Charles Vernay's company in The Coal King. The Bank Holiday fare was Mr. Charles Macdona's own company in The Three Little Maids. The feature of the piece was the attractive singing by the three maids, played by Miss Mabel Kerridge, Miss Bessie Walters, and Miss Edith Colley, and a really fine dudish study by Mr. J. Herbert Willis, as Lord Cheyne, a part he played with unmistakable cleverness. Miss May Wright danced with great success in the rôle of Gretchen, and, together with Cupid (Mr. Joseph Edwards), infused a considerable amount of humour into the performance. Miss K. Graham Beck was nicely placed as Lady St. Mallory, and her three protégées were ably represented by Miss Mollie Tremaine, Miss C. Sargent, and Miss Daisy Goldsack. Mr. Walter Bosco looked a worthy representative of the Church, whilst the parts of Brian Molyneaux and M. de L'Orme were efficiently undertaken by Mr. Lawrence Tessier and Mr. Herbert Ranson respectively.

HIPPODROME. — Joint-Proprietors, Mr. Fredk. Mouillot and Mr. Walter de Frece; General-Manager, Ben de Frece.—Ben Hur heads this week's holiday bill, and Mr. Ben de Frece has arranged a competition in connection with the strong man's entertainment, which is most attractive. Bosanquet, with his illuminated speciality scena, is accorded a good reception nightly. Rose Hamilton hits the popular taste, and is greatly applauded, the card-manipulating of Henry Hilton is wonderfully smart, Winnifred Preece has a refined manner, and sings some capital songs, and Fred Arthur is a cosmopolitan mimic of considerable ability.

CORK.—OPERA HOUSE.—Manager, Mr. John Horgan.—Poole's Myriorama and Variety Company opened a week's engagement here on Monday last. The entertainment is varied and original. The excellent variety troupe includes Mlle. Juanita de Olvera, with a collection of beautifully-trained cockatoos; Selby, eccentric musical clown; the Veronas, lady dancers and vocalists; McAshell, a comic talking conjurer; May Fench, character vocalist; Felix Somers, facial king, who figures in character of celebrities past and present; and the Paulasto Troupe, grotesque acrobats. Nat Abott, guide and raconteur, is most refreshing and humorous.

CREWE.—LYCEUM THEATRE.—Lessee and Manager, Mr. Henry Taylor.—During the summer recess this popular house has been cleaned and decorated throughout, and presented a particularly bright appearance at the opening of the regular season on Monday. The artistic decorations, especially the chaste and exceedingly tasteful design on the ceiling, are the work of Messrs. Alfred Wyatt and Son. The company selected for the first three nights was Mr. James Hare's, who gave an excellent rendering of A Destroyer of Men, which a characteristic holiday audience received with rapt attention and unstinted applause. Miss Irene Clifford gave a powerful and finished portrayal of Olga Mischla, and Miss Minnie Walsh as Vida Ravel acted with great care and thought. Miss Alice Buckland was well suited as Nina Pattakake; Mr. Harold B. Lewis sustained the difficult part of Count Starevitch with distinction; and Mr. Hill Cremer was satisfactorily placed as Paul Starevitch. Mr. James Hare did excellent work as Karl Mischla; and Mr. Arthur West gave a creditable rendition of Michael Mischla. Mr. Frank Orchard was good as Fedor Strellitzke; and Mr. Freddie Bentley was amusing as Coco Tatchoski. Mr. Charles Macdona's company in Three Little Maids is announced for the remainder of the week.

CROYDON.—THEATRE ROYAL.—Managing-Director, Mr. Samuel James; Acting-Manager, Mr. Chas. Herrick. — Mr. Samuel James's company, in It's Never Too Late to Mend, is proving attractive here. Mr. Beresford Whitcombe as Tom Robinson plays with distinction; Mr. William Heilbronn as George Fielding is excellent; Mr. Edwin Wilde as the Rev. Francis Eden deserves praise; Mr. James Hay as Peter Crawley is very good; Mr. James Ford earns distinction as Isaac Levi; Mr. Geo. Claremont is very convincing as Mr. Hawes; Mr. Jackson Hayes as Mr. Meadows displays talent; Mr. Johnnie Leoni capably fills the rôle of Jacky; Mr. Foster well represents Mr. Merton; and Mr. Osmond Fairfax is well cast as William Fielding. Miss Hettie Graham as Josephs is well received; Miss Maude Ethelda is commendable as Mary; and Miss May Saker capably enacts Susan Merton.

GRAND THEATRE.—Manager, Mr. Lawson Lambert.—This theatre reopened on Saturday with Mr. George Stephenson's company in Kitty Grey. An augmented orchestra admirably renders the pretty music, the scenery calls for special praise, and the chorus is quite up to the mark. Miss Hilda Guiver's charming voice and excellent method stand her in good stead in the title-rôle; and Miss Marie West is particularly fascinating and agreeable as Lady Binfield. Mr. Leslie Steward makes a buoyant and mirthful Lord Plantagenet; Mr. Lauri Lisle is a whimsical and amusing King of Illyria; and Mr. George Rowland is quite satisfactory as Sir John Binfield. Miss Nellie Lauraine is an interesting Mrs. Bright; Miss Gertrude Page is a brilliant Saidie de Poulson; and the smaller rôles are all in capable hands.

EMPIRE PALACE OF VARIETIES. — Proprietor, Mr. Walter Gibbons; Manager, Mr. Eustace H. Jay.—The entertainment here is up to the usual high standard. Miss May Mars, in her song-scena, "In the Shadow of the Pyramids," brings down the house; Lieut. Travis, the man of many voices, gives an accomplished ventriloquial performance; Huline and Le May, musical clowns, are exceptionally clever and original; D'Arc's marionettes, in their representations of well-known variety stars, are well managed; Bert Coote's "Yankee Doodle Girls" are decidedly picturesque in their songs and dances; Kioto is a dexterous and daring Japanese equilibrist; Harry Wenburn is a very funny comedian; Lily Seville sings her songs in a very fascinating way; the Valdos are quaint acrobats; and Grey and Welford give a smart comedy boxing turn.

DARLINGTON.—THEATRE ROYAL AND HIPPODROME.—Licensee and Manager, Mr. James Bell.—A company of more than usual interest is here this week. The Enchanted Iona, a sketch in which Mr. Charles Frazer takes the principal part, is greatly appreciated. Mr. J. Hughes, baritone vocalist, is well received; the Sisters Volbecque, character duettists, are distinctly successful; Little Rose Pink, in song and dance, is fascinating; Welda and Wynne are very clever in their juggling and dancing; Doyle and Gibson win well merited applause; Harry Marlow and May Manton appear in a laughable sketch, Other People's Babies; and the Bellograph shows some fine pictures.

DARWEN.—THEATRE ROYAL.—Lessee, Mr. A. M. Loader; Acting-Manager, Mr. F. J. Robinson.—Mr. E. Oswald Brook's company is the attraction here this week in the sensational drama, entitled The Trail of the Serpent. Mr. A. Campbell-Kelly gives a powerful display in the rôle of Gerald Kingston; Mr. H. P. Kenn made an excellent Sir Gerald. For the heavy rôle of Ralph Hammond, Mr. Wilford Cheetham deserves much praise. Mr. Booth Conway was good as Gipsy Jake, as was also Mr. Geo. Harris as Chucks. Miss Marie Barrett made an excellent heroine, and Miss Nan Cameron well suited the part of Rachael. The comedy element was ably supplied by Miss Gladys Newcombe, and Mr. Vincent Kelway as William Higgins, and Rose Wilson respectively.

DERBY.—GRAND THEATRE.—Sole Proprietor, Mr. T. Allan Edwardes; Acting-Manager, Mr. Chas. Denley; Assistant Manager, Mr. Albert Orton.—Several alterations and improvements have been carried out during the recess which cannot fail to be greatly appreciated. The dress circle has been re-arranged, and is now entirely screened, thus preventing draughts. The side circles have been extended and may now be booked, and great improvements have also been effected in the pit, where the entire seating has been upholstered. The opening attraction on Monday was the drama The Prodigal Parson, presented by Messrs. Alfred Northway and W. V. Garrod's company. Mr. Garrod cleverly enacted the Rev. Tom Godley, and is capably and creditably seconded by Miss Bertha Kingston, as the long-suffering wife. A villain of superhuman rascality is Enoch Jaggins, a part well and judiciously handled by Mr. A. Northway. Ben Jaggins is efficiently accounted for by Mr. Wm. Hayward; and as Ned Kettlepin Mr. Walter Vincent is to be commended. The comedy element is supplied by Mr. Thos. Ashton (Phil Drive) and Miss Lydia Hart (Gretchen). The child part is adequately sustained by Miss Gladys Canover. The vaudeville introduced in Act 2 is an agreeable diversion.

PALACE.—Lessee and Manager, Mr. J. A. Edwardes; Acting-Manager, Mr. Herbert Taylor.—After having been closed for a month, during which time it has been thoroughly cleaned and re-decorated, this popular house was opened to the public on Monday night with a capital holiday programme, which was enjoyed by two well-filled houses. There is also a considerable amount of new scenery. An amusing farcical sketch, ycleept Kiss Your Father; or, The Irish Doctor, may be regarded as the pièce de résistance of this week's bill. It is well mounted, and capitally performed. Mr. Lennon Meadows is highly entertaining as Felix O'Callaghan, and the other characters are capably sustained by Mr. Lewis Leslie, Mr. J. W. Wilkinson, Mr. W. Dunlop, Miss Ada Tilley, and Miss L. Leslie. Wild, Willie, and West (the Three Bounding Navvies) provide a diverting turn, and introduce much that is clever in the acrobatic and tumbling line; Mint and Mart are clever paper manipulators; Mme. Beaumont is a pleasing burlesque actress, and sings very acceptably; Sandes and Vincent appear in a comedy act, and prove themselves expert contortionists; the Harrison Bros. are capable comedians and dancers; and another good comedian is Mark Merry. The Palace Bioscope presents a striking series of pictures.

DONCASTER. — GRAND THEATRE AND EMPIRE. — Managing-Director, Mr. J. W. Chapman. — This theatre, which was re-opened on Monday evening, has been redecorated during the recess, and upon its improved appearance the managing-director was warmly complimented. The comedy, entitled The Little Bread-Winner, was the attraction. Lord William Dorrington was played in a praiseworthy and artistic manner by Mr. Eugene Santley; Mr. Matthew Boulton scored with a skilful rendering of Richard Lawrence; and Mr. Alfred Maurice, in the rôle of Joseph Prior, was especially successful. Mr. Allen Charles's rôle, that of Charles Prior, gave many opportunities; Miss Mary Fulton as Margaret Daventry won universal admiration; Miss Jenny Bostock was quaintly humorous as Bridget O'Flanaghan; and Miss N. Thorne-Hallam's Kate Charry was excellent. The title-rôle was brightly acted by Little Emmie Thomas. Miss Kitty Melville and Miss Lissa Young as Ruth Cherry and Baby Trot respectively also do well.

DOUGLAS.—GRAND THEATRE, LTD.—Managing-Director, Mr. Alfred Hemming; Acting-Manager, Mr. T. R. Wood.—The Earl and the Girl is a sure draw in Douglas; Mr. William Greet's company has scored with the public, local and otherwise. Mr. Alfred Donohoe's Jim Cheese is clever, the ladies of the company can sing and dance, the scenery is excellent, and the dresses beautiful. The Zanzibar Girls deserve sincere recognition, and gain it.

GAIETY THEATRE, LTD.—Secretary and Manager, Mr. Charles Fox, jun.; Acting-Manager, Mr. George Gray. — The engagement of Mr. Lewis Waller and Miss Evelyn Millard, with Sir Conan Doyle's play, Brigadier Gerard, has proved a great success. The audiences have been most enthusiastic. Miss Evelyn Millard's Comtesse de Roquelare was entirely delightful; the Brigadier Gerard of Mr. Lewis Waller has all the flamboyant qualities of the picturesque hero of romance; Mr. A. E. George as Napoleon reproduced the last doys of the Corsican ogre with distinct artistic merit; Mr. Edward O'Neil's Talleyrand was remindful of piquant memoirs and remembered epigrams; Miss Helen Leyton's Agnes was sincere. The scenery and mounting of the play were admirable.

THE PALACE, LTD.—Secretary and Manager, Mr. Charles Fox, jun.; Acting-Manager, Mr. Arthur Brittain.—The attendance at the Palace this week, despite the numerous attractions at present in Douglas, must have pleased the management. Mr. Ernest Shand has the comedian's gift—he is really funny, his songs are witty, his patter smart. The Sisters Grey, duettists, gain applause; the Leo Cleos are experts on the horizontal bar; Ted and May Hopkins possess humour; Mr. Carter Livesey and Miss Lillian Roseberry contribute a good sketch, called The Would-be Actors; the Gerettes, lady trapeze artists, are graceful and daring; Mr. A. J. Ribla, a comic juggler, displays unusual dexterity, with a personality entirely his own. Then there are Mr. Harry Woods' orchestra, the fine ball-room, and Vernon's Bioscope.

DERBY CASTLE, LTD.—Manager and Secretary, Mr. Charles Fox, jun.; Acting-Manager, Mr. A. J. Kelly.—It may be said, and truly, that this week Derby Castle is Vesta Tilley and Vesta Tilley is Derby Castle. She has been a supreme success. The place is crowded, but the other turns are all good. Miss Cissie Curlette cleverly imitates the various denizens of a farmyard; there is also Morimuro, who comes from the flowery land, and is a clever illusionist; Viviana, the dancing girl, dances herself into the hearts of all those who watch her graceful poses; a clever little playlet, written by Mr. Frederick Maxwell, is admirably acted by Mr. Esmond and Miss Evelyn. There are also at Derby Castle many other attractions—side shows, picture galleries, and a full licence.

In addition, to add to the gaiety of thousands of visitors, there are Mr. F. J. Connor's Hippodrome, Mr. Frederick Buxton's Tea Village and Pierrots, Mr. Charles Dare's Minstrels on the Head; also Mr. Charles Elderton's variety programme at the New Empire, with two shows nightly, and his Toreador Minstrels at Onchan Bay.

DOVER.—THEATRE ROYAL.—Proprietors, The Dover Theatres, Ltd.; Chairman of Directors, Mr. B. Carter; Managing-Director, Mr. Fred C. Dew.—No more popular attraction for the holidays could have been found than Alfred Sutro's clever play, The Walls of Jericho. Mr. Herbert Bunston is an ideal Jack Frobisher, and he well deserves the hearty applause accorded him. A capital portrait of that rough diamond, Hankey Bannister, well thought out and admirably acted, is contributed by Mr. George A. Brandram; Mr. Cyril Baleine meets with a gratifying reception as the foppish Marquis of Steventon, whose son, Lord Drayton, is played with success by Mr. Alexander Cassey. Mr. Sydney Hamilton as Harry Dallas succeeds in hitting off the insincerity of the character with excellent effect, and Mr. E. F. Meads plays with skill as Bertram Hannaford; and Mr. Harry Pemberton is a good Lord Marchmont. Among the lady artists Miss Florence Jackson as Lady Frobisher easily secures first honours. Miss Molly Carton, pretty, girlish, and unaffected, is a delightful exponent of Lady Lucy, and Miss Lydia Busch is a sweet and sympathetic Lady Westerby. Miss Edith Cuthbert as Miss Morington, and Miss Rita Milman as the Duchess of Skye, each adds a character sketch of valuable assistance, while Miss Evelyn Maxwell is a debonair and graceful Lady Parchester. On Thursday night Mr. Charles Macdona's company opened with The Gay Parisienne. Miss Evelyn Hughes dances into popularity as Julie Bonbon and Miss Madge Soutter is the quaintest of quaint little slaveys as Ruth; Miss Holford Beringer is a successful Mrs. Honeycombe, and Miss Ethel Irving a charming Norah. Among the host of fun-makers Mr. T. Gideon Warren is first and foremost as Major Fossdyke, Mr. Will Harman coming next with his amusing portrayal of Ebenezer Honeycombe; Mr. Bertram Zardi plays Amos Dingle, and causes much hilarity; Mr. Edgar Ashwyn is a gallant Tom Everleigh; Mr. Dutton Nicholls a typical stage American; and Mr. J. Fitz-James a good Hans. Some well harmonised quartettes are rendered by the Imperial Glee Singers, Messrs. Ashwyn, Jones, Rose, and Fitz-James.

THE PIER PAVILION.—Lessees, The Dover Theatres, Ltd.—Managing-Director, Mr. Fred C. Dew.—The Roman Singers are drawing crowded houses this week with their original miniature comic opera. Mr. Harold Payne has a good tenor voice, which he uses to advantage, and much amusement has been caused by the humorous songs, exceedingly well sung, of Mr. Broughton Black. Miss Dorothy Carter's songs at the piano are popular items, and Miss Ella Lorraine's contributions are received with rapturous applause. Mr. Lindon Wyatt has a genuine fund of humour, and convulses the house with his hilarious Irish stories and capital imitations. The Dover Corporation Band plays every morning from 11 to 1, and are under the control of Mr. George Bryer. Miss Minnie Johnson still gives her daily exhibitions of fancy and ornamental swimming, as well as her unique performance in the crystal tank.

EMPIRE PALACE.—Proprietors, The Empire Palace Co.; Manager, Mr. B. H. Harland; Secretary, Mr. Chas. R. Standfield.—The three Sisters Graham top the bill, and give a bright and vivacious performance. Miss Daisy Rhyl, comedienne, is most successful, as is also Fred Collins, with humorous songs. The Maynards, duettists and dancers, are exceptionally clever artists; Louie Leybourne is a graceful dancer and good vocalist; and Pat Carey is humorous in his clever and amusing Irish act.

DUBLIN.—THEATRE ROYAL.—Managing-Director, Mr. Mouillot; Resident-Manager, Mr. George Parrington.—A large audience assembled here on Monday evening to welcome a return visit of Mr. W. Greet's company in The Sign of the Cross. Mr. Frank E. Petley gives a most able interpretation of Marcus Superbus, and the rôle of Stephanus is depicted in an artistic manner by Miss Effie Dane. The part of Nero finds a capital exponent in Mr. C. Yorke, and Miss Marie Leonhard supplies a fine study of the rôle of Mercia. Messrs. Frank Wood and Harry Jones as Glabiro and Philodemus are both acceptable in their respective parts, and Miss Cissie Carlton is highly amusing as Dacia. Mr. Walter Fleet, as Favius, and Mr. George Stanton as Titus sustain their parts excellently, and Miss Jessica Thore is exceedingly good as Ancaria. The minor parts are well filled.

GAIETY THEATRE.—Sole Representative and patentee, Mrs. Michael Gunn; General-Manager, Mr. Charles Hyland.—Mr. Charles MacDona's principal company is presenting here this week Mr. Hopkinson, which is attracting large audiences nightly. Mr. Frank Stanmore is mirth-provoking in the rôle of Samuel Hopkinson, and the Duchess is capitally rendered by Miss Alison Alexander. Mr. Arnold Lucy ably sustains the part of the Duke of Braceborough, and Miss Gladys Jesson acts well as Lady Tyra Egglesby. Mr. Shirley Lea capably fills the character of the Earl of Addleton, and Miss Kathleen M. Romsey gives a good rendering of Eliza Gibbs. Mr. Reginald Dane as Lord Cawthorpe, Mr. C. M. Heslop as the Hon. Otho Dursingham, Mr. George McCloskie as Mr. Smethurst, Mr. Vincent Galley as Parbury, and Mr. J. G. Lowther as Blisset are also satisfactory in their respective rôles. The curtain-raiser, The Snowstorm, precedes, and is well received.

QUEEN'S THEATRE.—Lessee and Manager Mr. J. W Whitbread; Acting-Manager, Mr. John M. Dawson.—Mr. Junius Booth and company are appearing here this week in a version of Dumas' celebrated story, Monte Cristo. Mr. Junius Booth sustains with power the rôle of Edmond Dantes and Miss Emma Robberds leaves nothing to be desired as La Carconte. Mr. Walter Martin's conception of Abbé Faria is a praiseworthy one, and Miss Doris White is capital in the rôle of Sophie Danglars. Mr. Walter Huron effectively portrays the part of M. Villefort, and Mercedes is well played by Miss Clare Elstob. Mr. J. W. Braithwaite acts with judgment the rôle of Caderousse, and Mr. E. H. Templeton does good work as M. Noirtier.

PAVILION, KINGSDOWN. — Manager, Mr. C. Irvine Bacon.—The John Ridding Opera Company commenced a week's engagement here on Monday, when The Waterman was presented at the afternoon performance, and in the evening The Daughter of the Regiment was produced before a large and appreciative audience. The artists engaged include Mr. John Ridding, Mr. Charles Le Suer, Mr. Frank Mullings, Mr. Glendo, Mr. Fisher, and the Misses Kitty Brownlees, Winifred Knightley, and Jessie Dennis, who all acquit themselves admirably in their respective parts.

EMPIRE. — General-Manager, Mr. Frank Allen; Acting-Manager and Secretary, Mr. George H. March.—The patrons of this establishment are well catered for here this week, the chief item being John Leopold and Company in The House Boat, which causes plenty of laughter from start to finish. Another popular turn is that of Brett and Orford, in their military monologues, and some excellent songs are rendered in a finished style by Miss Mona MacDonald. Marba and Verity, acrobatic dancers, score a success, as do also the Two Madges, duettists and dancers, and Tom Collins, a vocal comedian of much merit. Fred Burton's novel musical act is highly acceptable, and Miss Millie Payne is a comedienne who has a host of admirers. The Empire pictures are interesting.

TIVOLI.—General-Manager, Mr. Charles M. Jones; Secretary, Mr. H. A. Murphy.—Excellent houses greeted the company here on Monday evening. Bennett and Martell provide much fun in their nautical absurdity, The Shipwreckers, and the Avolos score a brilliant success in their acrobatic and gymnastic act. Professor McCann, with his well-trained troupe of terriers, repeats his former success. Mat Wilkinson and company supply a lively sketch entitled The Registry Office, and Captain Lamar's Tennessee Guards give a clever exhibition of lightning drill. Sandy and Carl, speciality comedians, are well received, as is also Zenora, head balancer, and Joe Oliver is a smart comedian. Violet Beatrice is a pleasing comedienne, and the Bioscope shows a series of up-to-date films.

WORLD'S FAIR AND MUSIC HALL.—Proprietor, Mr. C. A. James.—The following artists are appearing here:—Nellie Hustler, serio and dancer; Little Dandy, character comedian; L'Homme, miniature and giant; Mike Harvey, Irish comedian and dancer; Van Gelder, conjurer.

SAMUELS' EXHIBITION PALACE.—Proprietor, Mr. S. Samuels.—The company engaged here includes:—Lead and Lead, comedy artists; Mabel Welfore, comedienne and dancer; Harry Balfour, eccentric comedian; Brothers Bailey, musical grotesques.

DUDLEY.—OPERA HOUSE.—Proprietor and Manager, Mr. J. Maurice Clement; Acting-Manager, Mr. J. W. Tilley.—Miss Ada Wallis's company opened on Monday in the musical comedy-drama, Sweet Marie. Miss Wallis scores as Marie Denver, and Mr. T. C. McQuire (the author) ably depicts Lord Tofton; and other well-played parts are John Bush by Mr. Tom Mayne, Alfred Bush by Mr. Ernest Brame, and Mr. Harry Drew supplies the comedy element as Tom Bush. Miss Nellie Carton plays capably as Lady Violet; as does also Miss Ethel Raymond as Lady Augusta.

EMPIRE.—Managing-Director, Mr. Fred H. Anderson.—A good programme here is headed by C. Wordley, Hulse, and company, in a dramatic scena of a highly sensational type, called The Fight in the Forge; Miss Lily Gaston is a good male impersonator, and exceedingly clever dancer; Leon and Leoni supply a capital turn of mirth and music; and Rose Tilley is a versatile comedienne of no mean order.

EASTBOURNE.—DEVONSHIRE PARK THEATRE.—Managing Director, Mr. A. Standen Triggs.—During the first half of the week Mr. Robert Courtneige's company appeared here in The Blue Moon. Miss Clarise Lockstone, with sympathetic voice and dainty manner, is an admirable Chandra Nil; Miss Ethel Callanan is a pretty, attractive Evelyn Ormsby, who sings most effectively; Miss Florence Imeson is a particularly happy maid Millicent, she is all gaiety and brightness; Miss Kathleen Carteret is a smart and imposing Lady Brabisham; Miss Louie Lochner is an expressive Oma; Mr. Alfred Clark revels in the part of Major Callabone, and his work is some of the most successful of the evening; Mr. Alec Fraser, in manner, voice, and appearance, is a pleasing Jack Ormsby; Mr. A. Wykes Ashdowne is a genial Bobbie Scott, and gives his "Burmah" song in capital style; Mr. Thomas Holding is a picturesque and impressive Prince of Kharikar; and Mr. Alfred Beers and Mr. Reginald Switz as Moolraj and Private Taylor, share the honours as principal laughter-makers, and each in his own individual and clever manner is highly successful. The augmented orchestra and tuneful chorus is under the command of Mr. Carlton Mason. Messrs. Silvanus Dauncey and Leveaux's company completes the week's performances here with The Walls of Jericho.

PIER PAVILION.—Manager, Mr. George Hayes.—In securing Mr. Frank Curzon's company in The White Chrysanthemum, an excellent holiday bill has been provided, and crowded and enthusiastic audiences have been the rule. Mr. Horace Mills as Chippy in his own genuinely funny way, extracts all the fun from the part and keeps the house in roars of laughter; Mr. O. E. Lennon works hard and very ably as Sin Chong, and his songs and dances are loudly re-demanded; Mr. F. Pope Stamper is an interesting, animated, and handsome Reggie, who sings in excellent style; Mr. W. H. Rawlins is a cheery and hearty Admiral Armitage; and Mr. Harry Paulton does excellent duty as Private Perks; Miss Gladys Elvey is pretty and attractive in face, voice, and figure, and she is a most successful Sybil; Miss Kate Vesey as Cornelia gives a delightfully pleasing performance, and she is an accomplished dancer; Miss Daisy Le Hay is a restrained and effective Betty Kenyon; and many other sweet-voiced ladies make up a large and able company. Mr. George Dance's company is billed to appear here during the latter part of the week in The Spring Chicken. Under the courteous management of Mr. Walter H. Hook a capitally arranged and interesting show of the St. Louis animated pictures is given. A very effective novelty is the introduction of the chronophone and the pictures are well up-to-date.

THE HIPPODROME.—Managing Director, Mr. Sidney W. Winter; General-Manager, Mr. Harry Day; Resident-Manager, Mr. Walter Smith.—The Warsaw Brothers cleverly combine fun and music, and contribute a popular turn; My Fancy is a wonderfully agile and expert dancer, and she is quickly a favourite; Miss Rosie Lloyd, too, returns to again triumph in her songs, which find much favour; Messrs. Grey and Parry contribute a most acceptable turn, they introduce a novel scene and some really clever acrobatic feats and smart fun; Messrs. Daley and Collins are a couple of amusing comedians; Miss Linda Wasey is a pretty and attractive comedienne whose songs are well given and well received; and Mr. George Prince is a successful laughter-maker.

THE FLORAL HALL.—Managing Director, Mr. A. Standen Triggs.—Mr. Norfolk Megone has commenced his season here with the Devonshire Park Grand Orchestra, of which he is again the musical director and conductor. The orchestra is again a fine one, and the attendances have been very good. The special vocalist for the week is Miss Mabel Braine. On Thursday the second symphony concert was given, when Miss Grace Triggs appeared as the solo violinist.

ECCLES.—LYCEUM THEATRE.—Lessees, Messrs. Wardle and Potasch; Manager, Mr. P. Potasch.—A special attraction is supplied this week in Mr. Frank Bertram's company in The Breed of the Treshams. Mr. H. Tripp Edgar plays the part of Lieut. Reresby (the Rat) in first-class style. Viscount Dorsington is ably undertaken by Mr. Oswald Lingard. Mr. Richard A. Greene gives a clever representation of Colonel the Hon. Clement Hungerford; the Colonel Bagshaw of Mr. Alec. Flood is a clever character sketch; and Mr. George Jackson as Lieut. Willoughby is all that could be desired. The part of Batty is in the hands of Miss Celestine Bertram, and not a little of the success of the play is due to this lady's efforts. Mi on Monday and scored a great success; Mr. Rosie Ashton met with a good reception; Mr. Charles Pond, raconteur and humorist, gives an interesting turn. On Friday, Miss Evie Greene and Concert Party were billed to appear. The Sabots are here another week, and the Imperial Austrian Band renders well-arranged programmes.

Leas Pavilion.—Manager, Mr. A. Sitter.—The concerts here are very well attended. The artists this week include Miss Marion Battishill, contralto, and Mr. Maurice Garland, ventriloquist and conjuror.

Town Hall.—Lessee, Mr. E. J. Chadwick.—A capital entertainment is being provided here this week by Jury's Bioscope showing a choice selection of pictures.

Bathing Establishment Grounds. — Cardow's Cadets are still very popular. Mr. Charles Cardow has been appearing this week, and is an excellent comedian; Mr. Arthur Hill excels as a ventriloquist, and Mr. George Ellis keeps the audience in good humour.

GAINSBOROUGH.—King's Theatre.—Proprietors, The Arthur Carlton Theatres, Ltd.; Resident-Manager, Mr. Robert Kirk.—Miss Dinah Morris and her troupe of Southern Belles are here this week in a variety entertainment, and a musical comedy entitled The Lost Coon. Miss Morris contributes some pleasing coon songs and dances. Master Sidney Norrie is a clever dancer; the Franklin Troupe of Russian vocalists and whirlwind dancers give a clever exposition of the style of dancing associated with similar troupes; the rest of the company consist of the Australian Troubadours; Hy. Gole, eccentric comedian; Warming and Goldheart; Miss Lillie Vanderbilt; Miss Molly Gwyne; and Miss Bessie Coburn, serio.

GATESHEAD.—King's Theatre.—Lessee, Mr. M. S. Hammond; General-Manager, Mr. Joe May.—The place of honour here is occupied by George Leyton, who is warmly applauded for his "Boys of the Chelsea School" scena. He is assisted by twenty-four local boys and by James Passmore, Gateshead's Crimean veteran, to whom will be given the week's proceeds of the sale of Mr. Leyton's songs. Michael Nolan, the prince of Irish comedians, pleases immensely; and Newhouse and Ward, with their excellent comedy and trick cycling, are big favourites. An old favourite here, Ada Fawn, has a very warm welcome; Raglus, an eccentric ball-manipulator, makes a hit; and Smiler Lee is a droll comedian, with an original style. Mabel Sinclair, lady ventriloquist, receives well-merited applause; Elton and Edwin, banjoists, give an excellent turn; and Hans and Lux are a pair of exceedingly funny knockabouts.

Queen's Theatre.—Proprietors, Messrs. Bolam and Bacon; General-Manager, Mr. Sidney Bacon; Acting-Manager, Mr. Stephen Smith.—Texas Hattie, an intrepid young tight-rope artist, is here; Ted Young is a favourite with his amusing patter and songs; Ada Twibell, magnificently costumed, sings two ditties in taking style, and wins much applause; Joe Gold and Dorothy Sterling do a pleasing act, entitled The Welsh Girl and the Artist; George Goldburn, comedian; the Tiger Lily, coon artist; and Downey's pictures complete the entertainment.

Metropole Theatre.—Lessees, Messrs. Bolam and Bacon; General-Manager, Mr. Sidney Bacon; Acting-Manager, Mr. Thomas France.—Mr. Bulmer's capable company is presenting Sentenced for Life here. Mr. Ernest Vaughan is responsible for a praiseworthy portrayal of Paul Derrick; and Mr. Edward E. Louis is well suited to the part of Roy Stillwell. Mr. Morris Maud plays Martin Orris with force; and Mr. James F. Firth is a humorous McGentle. Messrs. Arthur Heand and Reg. Oldroyd are successful as Sharkey and Toby respectively. Miss Madge Douglas makes an excellent Adele Gray; and Miss May Neilson is highly successful as Kate Rennell.

GLOUCESTER.—Palace.—Messrs. C. W. and J. R. Poole opened the old Theatre Royal under the above name to a large Bank Holiday audience. The company appearing included Lotto, Lilo, and Otto, marvellous cyclists; Ada Cerito, comedienne; Wyndham and Kitty, wire artists, etc.; Jimmy Shields, one-leg comedian; Sisters Stratton, duettists and dancers; Rosie Lemaire, descriptive vocalist; Dowton and Steeley, vocalists and speciality dancer; the Eugenes, musical act; the Fordyces, comedy act; and the Bioscope.

GREAT YARMOUTH.—Royal Aquarium.—Proprietor and Manager, Mr. J. W. Nightingale.—Mr. Geo. Musgrave's company, with the American musical comedy, The Prince of Pilsen, is paying a return visit here. As the Prince, Mr. J. B. Fox both sings and acts admirably; Mr. Martin Adeson, as Hans Wagner, proves himself an exceedingly clever comedian; Lieut. Tom Wagner is well represented by Mr. G. Villiers Arnold; Mr. Laurence Wesley is amusing as the Earl of Shrimpton; Cook's Courier is capitally enacted by Mr. Madison Rich; Miss Millicent Marsden acts brightly, sings effectively, and dresses handsomely as Mrs. Madison Crockes, and Edith Adms, Sidome, Nellie Wagner, and Jimmie are admirably portrayed by Miss Adele Roze, Miss Nell Emerald, Miss Isa Bowman, and Miss Meg Hamylton.

Theatre Royal.—Proprietor and Manager, Mr. J. W. Nightingale.—Mr. Arthur Bourchier's company is paying a welcome return visit with the successful play, The Walls of Jericho. Mr. A. E. Anson gives a vigorous and earnest rendition of the rôle of Jack Frobisher, and Miss May Taverner is artistic and effective as Lady Alethea. They are well supported by Mr. Alfred S. Barber as Hankey Bannister, Mr. Cecil Warde as the Marquis of Steventon, Mr. Leslie Rea as Lord Drayton, Mr. A. W. Tyrer as Harry Dallas, Miss Marguerite Cellier as Lady Westerby, Miss Lilian Rogers as Miss Mornington, and Miss Leonora Thomas as the Duchess of Skye.

Britannia Pier Pavilion. — Managing-Director, Mr. J. W. Nightingale; Acting-Manager, Mr. Edward Gray.—Miss Billie Barlow is the particular star for the week, and her songs win many encores. Oakdene gives an amusing ventriloquial sketch; Agnes Molteno sings pleasingly, the Sisters Cora are successful as duettists and dancers, A. G. Spry gains many a laugh as a comedian, and W. L. Cockburn, baritone, sings effectively. Madame H. E. Angles's Ladies' Pompadour Band plays selections daily.

Wellington Pier Pavilion. — Proprietors, Great Yarmouth Corporation; Manager, Mr. Harry Tunbridge.—The holiday programme is a very acceptable one, and much appreciated by large audiences. The performance of Mysterious Lilith is most perplexing; Little Dande proves himself a capital comedian; Oswald Williams gives an exceptionally good turn as magician and shadowgraphist; Musical Silvo wins plenty of applause as a musical glass player; Hallam and Stanton contribute an enjoyable musical comedy sketch; Carson Hicks, singer and rag-time dancer; Adele de Frece, comedienne; Mabel Hind, in a Japanese scena; and R. A. Speedwell, in his unique sensation, are received with favour.

The Hippodrome.—Proprietor, Mr. Geo. Gilbert.—Pride of place this week must be given to the Achmed Ibrahim Troupe of real Bedouin Arabs, who give a remarkable turn as tumblers, Moorish gun spinners, and human pyramid builders; to Bonnie Goodwin and her Apollo piccaninnies, who submit an enjoyable programme of song and dance; and to Capt. Maxwell Gruber and his well-trained elephant, horse, and pony. Other artists appearing are the Three Cyclos, comedy bicyclists; Yelding, the English jockey; Cordite and Buffalo, lasso throwers and rope spinners; and Handy Andy and Rabbit, clowns. The great water pantomime, The Walrus Hunt, still continues to amuse.

Chappell's Promenade Concerts.—One of the leading attractions of the week is Capt. Devereux and his troupe of dog comedians, who give a capital turn. The Bowery Boys, in a laughable sketch, called Mixed, cause shouts of laughter; the Bros. Hannaway, cross talkers and dancers, continue their success; J. H. Crew, the jovial eccentric, has become quite a favourite; Cylo and Rochelle, comedian and soubrette, maintain their popularity; Ernest d'Almaine's songs are well received; Leslie Reed's quaintly sung ditties win loud applause; Bernard and Weston, the "Argumentative Gents," are amusing; Harry Barker proves himself a versatile artist; and other participants in a lengthy programme work their hardest to please.

GRIMSBY.—Prince of Wales's Theatre.—Managing-Director, Mr. J. H. Curry; Assistant-Manager, Mr. S. Tolfree.—A popular holiday attraction is provided in the drama, The Village Blacksmith. Mr. Sam Livesey presents a picturesque figure as the smith, John Strong, and his acting is marked by natural force. The strongly-contrasting character of Captain Leo is equally well portrayed by Mr. Joseph Carter; and the wrestling match between the smith and the captain is one of the features of the play. Miss Maggie Edwardes accomplishes good work as Kate Strong; and others worthy of commendation are Miss Cassie Le Grande as Ruth Parkins, Mr. Thos. E. Marshall as Jeremiah Parkins, Mrs. T. C. Livesey as Sal Parkins, and Miss Bertha Hanbury as Harry Strong; whilst Mr. George V. Campbell causes much amusement as Billy Twigg.

The Palace.—Managing-Director, Mr. T. A. Edwardes; Resident-Manager, Mr. T. W. Moyes; Assistant-Manager, Mr. A. V. Allton.—The Palace reopened on Bank Holiday, after being closed for renovation. Florrie Gallimore has lost none of her attractive powers, and delighted audiences have listened to her charming songs each evening. A very smart triple bar act is performed by Vermette and Dionne, some of their feats being of a distinctly original order. Other excellent acrobatic turns are given by Sibb and Sibb, on the trapeze; and the Brothers Lavelle, tumblers; Godfrey furnishes a display of modern magic, introducing a very good speciality; and a capital musical entertainment is contributed by the Bodina Trio. Josie Delaine's song speciality is appreciated; and Walter Stanley's songs are amusing.

The Empire, Cleethorpes.—Proprietor, Mr. J. Carter-White; Manager, Mr. Wm. Baker.—The stories related by Cliff Ryland have proved very diverting; Miss Clara Victor's song speciality, "Operatic Rehearsals," cause much pleasure, Miss Victor's vocal powers being greatly admired. A good musical turn is given by Henderson, a blind artist, who displays the possibilities of the English concertina as a solo instrument. Carl Howard gives a capital conjuring act; and Carl Vernon also shows considerable skill in this line. The Sisters Kilner give a clever acrobatic dance; and the remainder of the programme is contributed by Frank Coyle, a comedian who proves very popular; Violet Gerald, comedienne and dancer; and Lily Foy, comedienne.

GUERNSEY.—St. Julian's Hall.—Lessee, Mr. C. Robt. Perkins.—On Bank Holiday, Messrs. H. and F. Poole's Myriorama opened here, under the able guidance of Mr. Fred Poole. Some smart variety business is introduced, including the performances of Houston, Chinese Magician; the Snow Family; Learto; Harry Dowsett; and George French Troupe, acrobatic cyclists.

HALIFAX.—Palace Theatre, Ltd.—Sole Lessee and Manager, Mr. Frank Macnaghten; Manager, Mr. Ed. Harrison.—An amusing comedian, with some very funny gags, is T. B. Fayme, who occupies a principal place here. Songs with more than ordinary interest help successfully to make Gracie Moore a popular artist; Joe Almasio; Narow Brothers, and the clever Zampas comprise a good programme.

Theatre Royal, Ltd.—Managing-Director, Mr. Wm. Robinson; General-Manager, Mr. Otto C. Culling.—A capital holiday programme is headed here this week by the Lyons Trio in an exceptionally mirth-provoking fantasy, The Waiter, Parson, and the Lady, which keeps one and all in exuberant spirits; Les Rubens are great singers, and win hearty plaudits from admirers; some very graceful and symmetrical posing is exhibited by a female executant of the Atlas and Vulcana Trio, while the weight-lifting experiments of the stronger sex are well done; a couple of capable artists are Hughes and Elliott, whose coon delineations and dancing are both bright and clever; Drawee, assisted by a fun-maker and a negro, together with a wonderfully-trained donkey, juggles, and creates uproarious laughter; Florence and Lilian are delightful instrumentalists; while Jno. Ross is deserving of praise as a vocalist of ability. A daring gymnastic performance by the Three Renards is also included in a very enjoyable entertainment.

Grand Theatre, Ltd.—Managing-Director, Mr. Wm. Robinson; Manager, Mr. S. Winks.—During the summer vacation this playhouse has been very artistically decorated, with a brilliant extra installation of fairy electric fittings; while the prolapsus seating has been effectively remodelled, which makes the Grand one of the prettiest of theatres. Auguste Van Biene and company opened here on Monday with The Broken Melody. Mr. Van Biene was seen at his best as Paul Borinski, and his inspiring 'cello playing took the audience by storm; Miss Lena Burnleigh is still leading lady, and played with her accustomed charm as Mabel; Miss Rosemary Lees portrayed with fidelity the rôle of the Duchess. Relief was found from the heavier passages of the plot by Mr. T. P. Haynes, who presented a very humorous study of the theatrical agent; while the General Ivanoff of Mr. H. Ludlow was impressively conceived. Mr. Chas. Morgan as Dixon, Mr. W. Behr as Beauford, and Mr. Archie Selwyn as Richard Spinnaker, appeared successfully, together with Miss Margherita Gordon, who interpreted the character of Mrs. Dixon in a commendable manner.

HANLEY.—Royal, Limited.—Managing-Director, Mr. Chas. Elphinstone; Manager, Mr. Douglas Elphinstone.—Young Mr. Elphinstone, who entered upon his career as manager on Monday, has the good wishes of all, and, coming of a theatrical stock, should be in every respect an ideal manager. The Great Awakening was presented by Miss Maud Hildyard and company, and the drama is thoroughly enjoyed by good houses. As Lola Miss Hildyard scores a triumphant success, her portrayal of the adventuress being in every respect excellent. Mr. Charles Vivian as James Selby acts with much skill, and is most successful; Sir Henry Merton finds a highly capable exponent in Mr. Bernard Copping; Guy Rogan is admirably enacted by Mr. C. E. Linney; Mr. Herbert Evelyn does well as Captain Lambert; Billy Brass is in the capable hands of Mr. Willie Scott; Mr. Chas. Trevor is good as Richard Wilson; Miss Doris Digby acts capitally as Molly Merton; and Miss Isa Bellington is good as Selina Worts. Mr. Tracey Barrow, Mr. Godfrey Sheldon, Mr. F. Cole, Mr. Walter Newell, and Mr. Edwin Gordon all do well.

Grand.—Managing-Director, Mr. Chas. Elphinstone; Manager, Mr. Alfred Edwardes.—A capital holiday programme is presented. At the head of the bill is Kelly and Gilette, whose acrobatic business is excellent; G. W. Hunter is distinctly successful in his songs and stories; Miss Carlotta Levey scores in her well-rendered items; Mr. Edward E. Ford, in his facial entertainment, is first-class; Miss Effie White dances admirably, her fire and kaleidoscopic items being very clever; the Mezzettis, in the funny gymnastic turn The New Recruit, are excellent; Miss Gwennie Hasto sings and dances delightfully; and the Urbanora presents several fine animated pictures.

HARROGATE.—Grand Opera House.—Managing-Director, Mr. William Peacock; Acting-Manager, Mr. C. Fielding Smith.—The holiday attraction is Mr. Geo. Dance's Little Michus company. Mr. W. Everard is a manly Gaston Riguad, and sings well; Mr. Leon Simkin is an amusing Pierre Michu, and is well supported by Miss Florence Hylton as Madame Michu; Mr. Harcourt makes the most of what little he has to do as Aristide Vert; Mr. Gilbert Child's as Bagnolet is excellent throughout; Mr. Foster Courtenay is very amusing as General des Ifs, his lines being greeted with roars of laughter; the little Michus are played by Misses Alice Coverick and Ethel Bryant, who are both to be commended for their excellent performance; Mlle. Marjorie as Mlle. St. Cyr is a clever dancer. The orchestra is under the bâton of Mr. Otto Manns.

HARTLEPOOL. — Empress. — Proprietors Messrs. Councillor Everton and J. W. Cragg.—The holiday bill is headed by the Holloways, acrobatic wire artists, whose performance is applauded to the echo. The Sisters Morgan, on this, their first visit, make a favourable impression; Bessie Willow is also upon her first trial before an Empress audience, and the verdict is favourable; Tom Lloyd, the popular exponent of eccentric comedy, is just as well taken with as ever; the fun introduced into A Tramp's Picnic by the Breton Troupe is absolutely irresistible, and is provoking roars of laughter; and others on the bill whose efforts are entirely successful, are Fred Horsfall, the double-voiced mimic; the Falcons, clever and humorous in hand-balancing; and the Bioscope, in a change of pictures.

HASTINGS.—Pavilion Theatre.—Manager, Mr. Elvey Thomas.—A return visit from Mr. A. B. Tapping and company in Masks and Faces has been welcomed here this week. Triplet is depicted by Mr. Tapping in a very convincing manner; Miss Alice Farleigh gives a charming portrayal of Peg Woffington; Mabel Vane is played by Miss Clarissa Selwynne with pleasing ingenuousness; the two town rakes have excellent exponents in Mr. Baliol Holloway as Sir Charles Pomander and Mr. Hubert Harben as Ernest Vane. The gavotte in the second act is an attractive feature; and the stage management is excellent. Good assistance is given by Miss Bella Moore, Kitty; Mrs. Lloyd Townrow, Mrs. Triplet; Miss Winnie Tapping, Roxalana; Messrs. G. C. Murray, Collie Cibber; Philip Gordon, Quin; Pat Alexander, Snarl; Eugene Wellesley, Soaper; and J. Bouchier, James Burdock.

Gaiety Theatre.—Manager, Mr. H. W. Rowland; Resident Acting-Manager, Mr. Charles E. Scutt.—Mr. George Dance's principal company is appearing here this week in the comic opera entitled Veronique. Miss Rita Leonhardt in the title-rôle is quite an ideal representative, and shines equally as actress, singer, and dancer; Agatha (Madame Coquenard) is played with exquisite grace and finish by Miss Agnes Tandy; Miss Neste Laurel is delightfully natural as Denise; Miss Edith Devonshire plays the character of Ermerance in a graceful and effective manner. The part of Florestan de Vallencourt, by Mr. Douglas Phillips, deserves high commendation; Mr. T. Seymour is highly amusing as the bailiff, Mons. Loustot; Mr. Scott Callen as the groom Seraphim does the part ample justice; a mirth-provoking representative of Mons. Coquenard is seen in Mr. Ellis Holland.

Hippodrome Theatre of Varieties.—Resident and General-Manager, Mr. Albert Mathams.—A special holiday programme has completely filled the theatre this week. A pleasing vocalist, Miss Louise Zetland, opens the performance; the king of mimics, Eno, gives some clever sketches of musical artists; the Knick-Knacks are smart in their dancing; the blind musician, Mons. Slippere, goes through some remarkable performances on the piano, and is an excellent baritone vocalist; Queenie Lawrence, serio, gives two songs successfully; Mr. Lloyd Morgan is a remarkably clever topical vocalist; an extra turn is given by Miss Girty Grace, whose singing has met with great approval; Fred Karno's company of pantomimists appear in the amusing extravaganza entitled The Dandy Thieves; the films on the bioscope are unusually attractive.

Beach Concert Pavilion.—Manager, Mr. Geo. Blackmore.—There is a change this week in the personnel of Wallis Arthur's company. The newcomers are Mr. Bert Meredith, comedian and banjoist, and Mr. Harry King, comedian. Miss Ada Gaskill (contralto) and Miss Winnie Harbor (comedienne) remain to charm and amuse, and are cleverly accompanied by Mr. Geo. F. Swaine.

Hastings Pier Pavilion.—Pier-Master, Mr. R. Turner; Entertainment-Manager, Mr. J. D. Hunter.—The English Light Opera Company is here this week. The operatic selections are Faust, Il Trovatore, and The Marriage of Figaro. In the first-named opera Mr. F. J. Hargrave takes the titular character, his renderings being much appreciated. Equally successful is Mr. Arthur Winckworth as Mephistopheles. They are associated with Mr. Charles Victor, a fine tenor, as Wagner; Siebel is embodied by Miss Nancy Rossiter; and Martha by Miss Newman. The part of Marguerita is impersonated alternately by Miss Marie Tittens and Miss Elizabeth Burgess. On Tuesday Mr. George Robey, the popular comedian, appeared at the Pier Pavilion. His character songs are extremely laughable, while his patter is quite irresistible. The programme also consisted of a bright and sparkling comedietta entitled The Fatal Bag, in which the popular local favourites, Mr. J. D. Hunter, Miss Eva Bailey, and Miss Blanche Bailey, took part. Mr. Bert Forss gave a short selection of character sketches, and the pleasing vocalist Miss Winifred Dixon also sang.

HAWICK.—Thistle Theatre, Common Haugh.—Proprietor, Leland Jones.—Mr. Leland Jones is paying a visit to this town with his portable theatre, and large audiences are witnessing the performances nightly. On Monday evening East Lynne was staged, when all the members of the company acquitted themselves in a creditable manner.

HUDDERSFIELD.—Theatre Royal.—Proprietors and Managers Messrs. Milton Bode and Edward Compton; Resident-Manager, Mr. W. J. Andrews.—This theatre reopened for the season on Monday afternoon with a performance of The Way of the World. Miss Sidney Crowe in the part of Adela de la Roche does some fine acting, and wins the applause of the house; Mr. Herbert Skardon plays Cecil Montague in straightforward, manly fashion. Good support is also given by Mr. Victor Gordon as Capt. Slade, Mr. Clarence Temple as Matthew Malyon, Miss Violet Ingram as Marion Fanshaw, Miss Marie Fontaine as Kate Montague, and Miss Violette Vivienne as Polly Bell. Mr. Augustus Hammond as Bluff and Mr. Frank Stanley as Ned urovide humorous interludes.

Hippodrome.—Proprietors, The Northern Theatres Co., Ltd.; Resident-Manager, Mr. N. M. Robinson.—The star turn here this week is Staley's novelty transformation company, in their clever quick-change act. The instantaneous change from cooper's shop to a modern drawing-room and back again, in conjunction with a very pleasant musical and dancing turn, brings down the house. The company also includes Harry Bent in a series of well-studied imitations of leading variety stars; Miss Carlotta Lunn, comedienne; Great Scott, in his particularly skilful juggling performance whilst balancing on a high ladder; Regan and Ryan, comedians and dancers; Miss Maud Esmond, burlesque artist; Mark Leslie, coon impersonator; and Nadji, a clever and graceful contortionist. The Hippodrome pictures on the biograph are admired.

HULL. — Theatre Royal.—Sole Lessee, Mr. W. Morton; Resident-Director, Mr. W. F. Morton.—Our Flat, presented by Mr. Chas. Steuart's company, is just the sort of piece to please a popular Bank Holiday audience. The Nathaniel Glover of Mr. W. E. Shine was worthy this comedian's best efforts; Miss Pollie Emery was a capital Arabella; Mr. C. Steuart was able to give a natural reading of the rôle of Reginald Sylvester. That capable artist Miss Daisy Atherton was excellently placed as the wife of the dramatist.

Grand Theatre and Opera House.—Mr. John Hart, Managing-Director; Local Manager, Mr. Wynn Miller.—The autumn season at this popular playhouse was inaugurated on Monday by an effective representation of Sunday by Mr. Louis Calvert's company. Miss Emelie Polini displays sufficient originality in her work to render the representation different from that of her immediate and talented predecessor; none the less, it is pleasing and successful. Towser, David, Lively, and Jacky, the quaint quartette, find every characteristic forcibly painted by Messrs. Wm. Lockhart, Sidney Rennef, T. Norman Walter, and Mr. Arthur Vezin; while there is much distinctive merit in Miss Muriel Pope's work as the Nun. Miss M'Aimée Murray is an effective Mrs. Naresby; Mr. Leonard Pagden is a very desirable Col. Brinthorpe.

Alexandra Theatre.—Proprietors, Mortons, Ltd.; Mr. Geo. Morton, General-Manager.—A strong and striking drama is No Man's Land, just the sort of play to catch on with a Bank Holiday crowd. A real triumph in stage realism is reached in the typhoon scene, the rain descending with full force; and again, the rescue from real water at the end arouses the enthusiasm of the audience to the highest pitch. As the heroine, Miss Ida Millais has a rôle that she is able to fill with much artistic skill. Heroic to a degree was Mr. Henry Herne, who as Harry Oaklands had a part for which he was well suited. Mrs. Mallalieu as Mrs. Poodle and Miss M. Kildare as Bessie hit off their rôles with success.

The Hippodrome.—Lessee, Mr. Alfred Graham; Resident-Manager, Mr. Tom Lunn.—F. V. St. Clair, who tops the bill here, sings some popular successes; James Willard appears in an amusing farcical sketch entitled The Little Wonder. A welcome reappearance is that of the Zaros, in an acrobatic and tumbling act; N. C. Bostock and Arthur Boyne are two amusing comedians; Florence Deighton, a refined double-voiced vocalist, and Nellie Ellienne, descriptive vocalist, complete an excellent bill.

ILKESTON.—Theatre Royal.—Licensee and Manager, Mr. L. F. A. Rogers.—The Blind Foundling is the attraction here, played by Messrs. Chas. H. Phelps and Harry Tilbury's company. As Gerald Dalton Mr. Chas. H. Phelps achieves success, and Miss Mabel Hall in the title-rôle deserves high commendation. Miss Amy Dalby plays feelingly as Viola Waterford, and Mr. Frank Harvey is a capital representative of the Curate of Elsingham. Mr. Bernard Webb appears to advantage as Jasper Waterford. Comic relief is cleverly provided by Mr. Harry Tilbury as Dick Dobbins, and Miss Millie Doris as Winnie Dobbins, Mr. Alfred G. Fry as Mark Redman, and Miss Belle Tilbury as Isabel are effective.

IPSWICH.—Lyceum Theatre.—Manager, Mr. Leonard Grey.—This theatre, after being closed for some weeks, was reopened under new management on Bank Holiday with A Wrecker of Men, the work of Mr. Charles Mills, and produced by a company under the author's direction. The melodrama was well received, the title-rôle being powerfully played by Miss Amy Ellam, whose acting throughout showed her to be an accomplished actress. Miss Cissie Podmore, as the long-suffering heroine, was pathetic and earnest; Miss Beatrice Reynolds played an amusing part, that of Vavasole Slopper; while Miss Gwendoline Talbot deserves a word of praise for her rendering of the character of Marion Isaacs. The chief of the male parts, Jem Murley, received due justice at the hands of Mr. J. O. Stewart, and Mr. Miller Noble was effective as an Egyptian villain. Other characters were well sustained by Messrs. Holland Day, Lancelot Usher, William Anderson, and John Soden. The mounting of the piece was satisfactory.

Hippodrome.—Proprietor, Mr. E. H. Bostock.—A capital programme was provided here for the Bank Holiday week, the star item being a sketch called The Musical Slavey, in which Frank and Jen Latona gave a most humorous performance. Other turns included the Franco Midgets, a pair of eccentric youthful jugglers; "Astarte," a sensational aerial performance of an hypnotic character; Andie Burns, a "broken-down millionaire"; the Kashma Brothers, a couple of exceptionally clever acrobats; Russell Carr, an amusing ventriloquist; and Millie Howell, a pleasing comedienne. Special mention should be made of the cycling performances of Daunton Shaw troupe, who certainly gave a wonderful and unique display of difficult feats of riding, which created great applause. Pictures are also included in the bill.

JERSEY.—Opera House.—Lessee, Mr. C. Robert Perkins.—Mr. L. H. Mounier's company, Lyrique Française, with artists from the leading Parisian theatres, is appearing here for a short season in French opera-bouffe. On Bank Holiday Planquette's evergreen Les Cloches de Corneville was given, the leading part of Serpolette being undertaken by Mlle. Prevost, of the Gaieté Theatre, whose racy acting and fine voice proved the success of the evening. Mlle. Deschamps sang sweetly as Germanie; M. Robert caused roars of laughter as Le Bailli; M. Moizard was an amusing Grenicheux, and rendered his melodious numbers in a voice of excellent timbre; M. Poirier acquitted himself admirably as Le Marquis; and it would be difficult to overrate the acting of M. Laclaverie as Gaspard. La Mascotte is also billed for this week.

Springfield Grounds.—Mr. Victor Stevens and his Premier Pierrots are giving an excellent show here. Miss Locker's songs are much appreciated; Mr. George Neilson gains numerous encores; Mr. Arthur Tomlin tells funny stories; Mr. Will Pettitt is a first-rate banjoist; Miss Alice Brooks gains much favour by her dainty dancing; and Mr. Victor Stevens is as amusing as ever.

Oddfellows' Hall.—Messrs. Gale and Polden opened here on Monday night with their series of animated pictures illustrating "Life in the King's Service." The entertainment is interspersed with a good variety entertainment.

Triangle Park.—The White Coons, old Jersey favourites, are paying a visit here. Miss Jessie Jolly wins flattering encores; Mr. Allan Thomas sings effectively; Miss Carie Tabbs supplies some attractive numbers; Mr. Johnny Osborn sings in pleasing style; and Mr. A. E. Nickolds is an efficient mandolinist.

KENDAL. — St. George's Hall.—Mr. Herbert Barr's company opened the local season here on Monday with that stirring drama Life. Mr. Barr as Jack Lockhart and Miss Dorothy Oswald as Beartice Ferrars earn rounds of applause; and altogether the company is an excellent one. The merry songs of Miss Maudie Vincent, and her vivacity in rendering them, lend pleasing variety.

KETTERING.—Avenue Theatre. — Proprietor, Mr. Frank Payne.—Messrs. Granville and Thorne's company are here with Napoleon the Great. The character of Napoleon is powerfully portrayed by Mr. Hugh Montgomery, and Mr. Phil Harper appears to advantage as Colonel Mouron. The scheming Colonel Lavarennes is forcibly enacted by Mr. Hy. Earlsmere, and Mr. F. M. Thorne is responsible for some genuine comedy as Pierre. Miss Maud Russell plays Mlle. Marbœuf in talented manner, and Miss Marie Harcourt is pleasing as Marcelle Choupin.

KING'S LYNN.—New Royal Theatre.—Lessees, J. Bannister Howard, Ltd.; Business-Manager, Herr B. Pareezer.—The theatre has opened this week for the season with a well-staged presentation of The Eternal City by Mr. J. Bannister Howard's company. Good audiences have witnessed the play, which is forcibly enacted by an admirable company. As Baron Bonelli, Mr. D. Lewin Mannering repeats his former successes in that part, and in the capable company that supports him are Miss Sara de Groot as Donna Roma, Mr. Henry Deas as David Rossi, and Mr. J. Fortesque as Pope Pius.

LANCASTER.—Athenæum.—Proprietor, Mr. H. Wilkinson; Lessee & Manager, Mr. S. Rogers.—The Athenæum opened on Monday under new management with Mr. Charles Carte's company in A Noble Brother. Mr. Carte, who impersonates Jerry, the tramp, is chiefly responsible for the success attained; he is ably assisted by Miss Doris Brookes, who gives a clever characterisation of Nana Leigh. Miss Alice Ballard is good as Mrs. Leigh, and Rosie Rapid has in Miss Rosie Conroy a clever interpreter. Mr. Howard Thorne as Colonel Richard Leigh plays well. Mr. Frank Lyndon portrays Henry Travers successfully, and Jack Elsworth is nicely embodied by Mr. Arthur A. Tomlin. The scenery and staging are admirable.

Hippodrome.—Proprietors, Messrs. Porter and Fergusson.—Another capital bill of fare is being put before the patrons of this establishment. Miss Flo Velma, comedienne, is exceedingly smart, and has a good reception; The Wheelers, acrobatic comedy cyclists, win great favour, and Miss Gracie Graham, comedienne, sings nicely; Penistone, lady illusionist, baffles her audience, and the Walleys, comedy jugglers, bring down the house. The Sisters Lytton, duettists; Newham and Latimer, burlesque artistes; and Walter Payne's animated pictures complete the entertainment.

LEEDS.—Grand Theatre.—Managing Director, Mr. John Hart; General Manager, Mr. Edward Cadman. — After a prolonged summer recess, during which an attractive scheme of decoration has been effected, this premier theatre opened on Monday to a good holiday audience, with the evergreen farce, Charley's Aunt. Mr. Stanley Cooke is still associated with the piece as the ubiquitous lady from Brazil, and his clever work arouses the same intense merriment as of yore. Mr. Walter Beaumont achieves good success as Spettigue; Jack Chesney and Charley Wykeham are cleverly played by Mr. H. Lynn and Mr. R. B. Mason respectively; whilst Miss Lena McNaughton, Miss Marion Ripley, and Miss Kitty Carew are very charming in the leading female parts. The curtain raiser, Fourchette and Co., is also by Mr. Brandon Thomas.

Theatre Royal. — Proprietor, Mr. Frank Macnaghten; General Manager, Mr. R. Ernest Liston.—Mr. F. Wyberd Clive brings a strong company to the Royal with the drama, The Conscript. Mr. Harry Cullenford and Miss Lilian Ross have the leading parts, and both display conspicuous ability in the presentation of them, whilst other prominent rôles are capably handled by Mr. Walter Steele, Mr. Chas. E. Johnston, Mr. F. Bellwood, Miss Connie Meadows, and Miss Violet Carlyle.

Queen's Theatre.—Lessees, Messrs. Dottridge and Longden; General Manager, Mr. C. H. Longden; Acting-Manager, Mr. Chas. Bush.—The powerful drama, A City of Sin, is a strong holiday attraction at this suburban theatre, Messrs. Dottridge and Longden's company giving an excellent presentment. Mr. C. H. Longden is in the cast as Zip Barzon, and his clever work in this arduous rôle is vociferously applauded. Mr. Conrad Heywood merits high praise for his personation of the hunted man, Paul Torraine. Mr. H. W. Hatchman, in the role of detective, displays ability, and a convincing portrayal of Bertrand goes to the credit of Mr. W. H. Burton. Miss Edith Wallis presents the part of Alice Bertrand with charm and grace; the wronged woman, Ilma, is effectively played by Miss Jenny Weston, whilst Mr. Wilfred Grahame and Mr. Val W. Gully are also responsible for good work.

Empire Palace.—Moss' Empires, Ltd.; District-Manager, Mr. T. Gerald Morton; Resident-Manager, Mr. Alex. Galley.—Casey's Court—a vastly amusing episode, with Bob King leading some 30 midget mimes in uproarious comedy—is the star attraction in a strong holiday programme. T. E. Dunville, the eccentric, is submitting new items to the manifest amusement of his audience. Jas. H. Jee performs remarkable feats on the slack wire; there are three charming lady artistes in song and dance—Esta Stella, Daisy Dormer, and Myra Stansfield—and the efforts of each are warmly applauded. Grais' Baboons go through an intelligent performance, which rouses great interest. Lord, Murray, and Lord are seen in a clever and novel gymnastic turn; a musical speciality by the Althoffs is pleasing and humorous, and Will Poluski, jun., comedian, also subscribes his quota to a good bill.

New Hippodrome. — Proprietor, Mr. Thos. Barrasford; General Managers, Mr. Chas. Weldon and Mr. Claude Shayler.—At great expense the old Tivoli has been transformed into a luxurious hall of amusement, up to date in every particular. Various structural improvements have been effected, and the decorator and upholsterer have combined with lavish hand to effect the maximum of comfort and luxury for the 3,000 people for whom there is now seating accommodation. The opening this week under its new name—the New Hippodrome—has been a most auspicious one, great crowds of eager pleasure-seekers having besieged the hall twice a night, and a typical Barrasfordian programme has been provided for their delectation. A prominent item is Joe Peterman's musical extravaganza, King Ikey, in which a clever company prove very amusing. De Biere, the magician, is at the bottom of the bill with a mystifying entertainment. Marton Conway and Fred Carey are a couple of exceedingly smart comedians, and each is having a good week. The comedy turn submitted by Hayman and Franklin is well received, and other popular entertainers include Zarmo, a clever comedy juggler, the Four Athos, novelty acrobats, Harry Brown, comedian, and Maud Prenton, comedienne.

City Varieties.—Proprietor, Mr. F. W. Wood; General-Manager, Mr. J. C. Whiteman; Acting-Manager, Mr. S. Jones.—A distinct novelty has been secured for the holiday week here, the exhibition of the wonderful phenomenon, Dou-Ban, the mechanical brain, arousing intense interest. The Three Richards score with a smart comedy speciality. The Howards are doing their well-known musical speciality with success. A mystifying act by The Davenports is much enjoyed; and other pleasing contributors include T. C. Callaghan, comedian; Lily Morris, comedienne; Cullen, Cluley, and Carthy, in comedy specialty; H. R. Friscari, hat manipulator; Henry A. Moore, actor-vocalist and expert mimic.

LEICESTER.—Royal Opera House.—Proprietors, Messrs. Milton Bode and Edward Compton; General and Business Manager, Mr. Henry Dundas.—A descriptive report of the reopening of this theatre will be found in another column.

Theatre Royal.—Sole Lessees and Managers, Messrs. Milton Bode and Edward Compton; Business-Manager, Mr. E. R. Beaumont.—After being closed for one week, this popular house re-opened for the season on Monday evening, the attraction provided being Mr. Harry Foxwell's company in the drama An Abandoned Woman, which is played, staged, and dressed in a most commendable style. Miss Georgette Thierry displays high histrionic power as Ninon Malvoism; Mr. Bernard J. Lieli does exceedingly well as Phillipe Malvoism; Mr. Wolston Foster makes an excellent impression as Captain Herbert Seaton; Mrs. Harry Foxwell is very good as Eleanor Dean; Mr. Harry Foxwell gives a most amusing portrayal of Paddy Boyle; and both Mr. Darcy Kelway as Sammy Sharp and Miss Lily Beverley as Sally Sloper are capital aids in mirth-provoking characters.

Palace Theatre, Ltd. — Managing-Director, Mr. Oswald Stoll; District-Manager, Mr. Hatton Wharton; Acting-Manager, Mr. George Andrews.—The great att

Miss Kate Hallam was tender and sympathetic as Sylvia Beech; Mr. J. Hooker made the most of the unscrupulous Walter Beech; Mr. Edward Van Biene was a well-finished type of French adventurer; the Sir Dobson Wilde of Mr. Harwood Roberts left nothing to complain about; and others worthy of notice were Mr. Imm Salph as Old Joe, Miss Elsie May as Master Beech, and Miss Nellie Birchenough in the part of Betty Black.

LYRIC THEATRE OF VARIETIES.—Sole Lessee and Manager, Mr. Henry C. Arnold; Directors of Entertainments, Messrs. T. Barrasford and F. Willmot; Acting-Manager, Mr. Fred Coles.—The Six Brothers Luck head the bill here, and evoke roars of laughter and loud applause in the sketch The Demon of the Cellar; Hayes and Suits, in their dancing and singing, are clever and artistic; the Musical Keiths are excellent; Harry Rogerson is a comedian of merit; Dale and O'Malley are amusing patterists; and other artists who add much to the evening's enjoyment are Pravio, Harry Taft, Mulvey and Miriam, and Craig Campbell.

STAR THEATRE. — Proprietor and Manager, Mr. Harris Fineberg.—Miss Lillian Beszant's company has held the stage here this week with An Actor's Romance, a play which has always found acceptance each time it visits the Star. It was well put on and well acted. As Dotty Dillingham Miss Beszant showed considerable histrionic ability; Mr. E. Eardley-Howard made a fine Harold Davenport; in the rôle of Robert Livingstone Mr. Cecil Fowler was seen to advantage; Mr. Harry Agar-Lyons ably undertook the character of Jack Woodford; Mr. Percy Warlow proved a humorous Ikey Isaacs; Miss Beatrice Hone played carefully as Louise Davenport; and other acceptable artists were Miss Florence Nelson (Florence Hastings), Miss Marion Ryder (Phyllis Davenport), and Mr. Harry Wren (Charley Cummins).

QUEEN'S THEATRE.—Proprietor, Mr. Lingford Carson; Manager, Mr. Fred L. Arthur.—Mr. Frank Ayrton's company has been here this week with The Power of Gold, which has proved a good draw. Mr. Charles Whitlock displayed considerable ability as Hadji Zambrá; Mr. Richard Oliver was an excellent Paul Judson; Mr. Albert Sefton afforded the fullest satisfaction as Mark Harley; a deal of humour came from Mr. W. Victor as Peter Maguire; Mr. Frank Ayrton with his Sammy Smudge and Miss Madge Seymour in the character of Norah Donnelly kept things lively; Miss Lilla Wilde made a stately Lady Brandon; and Little Prudence gave satisfaction as Paddy Blake, his singing being appreciated.

THE EMPIRE.—Proprietors, Moss' Empires, Ltd.—This place opened on Monday with the system of two houses per night. Top of the bill was Bransby Williams, in his wonderful character studies; Percy Honori and company gave a pleasing entertainment entitled Concordia, in the course of which that artist went through several clever quick changes, while his efforts on the accordion were much appreciated; J. W. Rickaby proved as humorous as ever; some charming music was contributed by Signor and Madame Borelli; a clever acrobatic turn, Fun on a Pole, came from Conn and Conrad; and others in the list were Les Bastiens, acrobats on horseback; Hector Grant, Scotch comedian; the Caselli Sisters, duettists and dancers; and the Classicum quartet, in a Venetian love scena.

ROYAL HIPPODROME. — Managing-Director, Mr. Thomas Barrasford.—Lempriere Pringle, J. C. Piddock, and company are here this week with their musical episode, The Romany King, which has been richly enjoyed; as Hebrew comedians the Lowenwirth Bros. caused great laughter; some remarkable conjuring work was provided by Prince Kuroko, his hoop trick especially being witnessed with astonishment; Katie Marsh had a pretty entertainment. "Grave and Gay"; the Shelleys were a particularly good comedy duo; endless laughter followed the antics of Nelson and Thomas in On the Ra-Ta; Sammy Shields, the Scotch swell comedian, had a deal of humorous talk; Joe Reichen's performing dogs were a good turn; the Lurins presented a neat extravaganza, Cinderella; and the programme also contained the names of Mountford and Walsh, society entertainers; and Raie Walters, the fisher girl.

NEW PARTHENON. — Proprietor, Mr. Edwin W Smith.—Top of the bill here this week is Fred Curran, a favourite comedian in Liverpool, who is heard to advantage in his latest smart songs; Alice Baptiste sings and dances in good style; Renson and Waite (Johnnie and Rose) have a high-class vaudeville entertainment; some excellent coon specialities are provided by Gracie Bard; Tom E. Cliffe shines as a comedian and dancer; and George Fletcher, character actor, sings several taking songs.

ROYAL PALACE OF VARIETIES.—Manager, Mr. M Montgomery; Acting-Manager, Mr. Frank O'Toole. —The sketch A Woman's Redemption, from the pen of Cyril Austen-Leigh, has been given here this week by the "Royal" stock company. Mr. Percy Boucher provided most of the fun with his Claudius; a capital Farmer Griffiths came from Mr. Cecil Ravenswood; Miss Florence Palmer was delightful as Mary Griffiths; Miss Sybil Hammersley helped considerably with the comedy in the part of Sally; and other characters well presented were Mr. Lowe (Mr. E. D. Allen), Bernard Sutcliffe (Mr. Sidney Grant), Jem Lee (Mr. Harry Thresham), Rev. John Ganthony (Mr. Robert Wilton), Harris (Mr. Leo Montgomery), and Ruth (Miss Beryl Ravenswood).

PARK PALACE, LTD.—Managing-Director, Mr. Walter de Frece; Director of Entertainments, Mr. Fred Willmot.—Principal here this week are the Alberto troupe, a company of remarkable head, hand, and wire equilibrists; J. H. Atkinson is good as a comedian and dancer; Mollie Doon has several catchy songs; Luigo's Sextette Serenaders present a very attractive scena, Naples by Night; the popular Smith and Johnson, coloured duettists, prove as acceptable as ever; and some smart juggling comes from Halma.

WESTMINSTER.—Lessee, Mr. Fred E. Weisker; Acting-Manager, Mr. G. Montgomery.—This hall has come under new management this week. Top of the bill are Verno and Voyce, the singing comedians, with their latest successes, including "The cause of peace" and "The Newsboy"; Nellie Gannon, a favourite vocalist and dancer, had a cordial reception; the work of Walker and Lake as comedians and patterers was loudly applauded; Will Vay's Juveniles, with their comedy scena, Life in the Slums, proved an excellent turn; Harry Wright was a smart extemporaneous comedian; as a comedienne Peggy Fame made herself popular; and the illustrated ballads by the Lovelaces were much appreciated.

OLYMPIA, LTD.—Manager, Mr. A. W. Young.—A particularly strong bill is given here this week. At the top is Cinquevalli, with his wonderful juggling. Another big line is that of Willie Edouin, who has made his first appearance on the provincial music-hall stage. His several character studies were much appreciated. The Four Lecussons, with Chris Lecusson, remain another week to delight people with their expert horsemanship; Jacques Inaudi, the lightning calculator, astonishes his auditors; Howard and St. Clair present a smart sketch of wit and humour; Fred Elton causes much merriment with his scena, On Board an Ocean Liner; and others in the bill are Kitty Wager, comedienne; and Poplar, comedian.

ROSCOMMON.—Lessee, Mr. Fred Willmot.—This music-hall, which has been closed for some time, was opened on Monday by Mr. Fred Willmot, who has transferred his interests from the Haymarket. The bill for the launching of the new venture was an acceptable one. Foremost was Billy Williams, "the man in the velvet suit," who had some capital songs and patter; the Sisters Marion showed much talent as juvenile duettists and vocalists; Fields and Lewis created great laughter with their burlesque work; Joe Conway was a good turn as a comedian; Percy M. Stevenson and company had a stirring sketch, Face to Face; the Bioscope showed some pretty pictures; and Lilly Vane, burlesque actress and dancer, also appeared.

LLANELLY.—ROYALTY THEATRE.—Proprietor and Manager, Mr. Z. Andrews; Resident Manageress, Miss Alice Rochefort.—This house re-opened for the autumn and winter season on Monday, when Mr. G. A. Harvey's company gave The Sorrows of Satan in good style, Mr. Harvey ably undertaking the part of Prince Lucio. Mr. W. G. Reynolds was good as Lord Eltor, and Miss E. Murray as Mavis Clare was also excellent.

LOWESTOFT. — MARINA. — Managing-Director, Mr. E. A. Smith.—A hearty reception was accorded The Blue Moon on its first appearance here. The scenery and dressing are especially praiseworthy, and a very capable chorus render efficiently the various charming melodies. The company responsible for the performance is Mr. Mouillot's, under the management of Mr. Gordon Starkey and Mr. F. Leslie Moreton. In the title-rôle Mlle. Marguerite Naudin gives a finished performance, and acts and sings throughout in a delightful manner. Miss Mary Glenbrane (Lady Brabasham) and Miss Dorma Morgan (Evelyn Ormsby) are both well placed, and the principal comedy parts are safely entrusted to Mr. Chas. Stephenson as Private Charlie Taylor, and Miss May Aubrey as Millicent Leroy, whose efforts are warmly applauded. Mr. Ainslie Burton is responsible for an amusing assumption as Moolraj, a professed magician; and Mr. Arthur Radcliff as Capt. Jack Ormsby renders several vocal numbers in a pleasing style; and another fine piece of acting is that of Mr. Victor Wallace as Major Callabone. Mr. Pennington Fuch is very commendable as the Prince of Kharikar. It should be mentioned that since last season the management of this popular playhouse have carried out several alterations and improvements for the comfort and convenience of their numerous clientèle, the most notable perhaps being the erection of several high-speed electric exhaust fans, which are much appreciated by visitors and others.

THE HIPPODROME.—Mr. Geo. Gilbert.—A capital holiday programme is provided here this week, the "turns" comprising Miss Marie San Toi and her London company, in a musical scena, A Japanese Tea Garden; Miss Florrie Humel, equestrienne; Prince, juggler; Bros. Huxter, American acrobats; Sterling and Love, musical act; Lilian, trick cyclist; James Humel, English jockey; Miss Iona, equestrienne; and the clowns, Little Bishop, Shadow, and Algie.

OLYMPIAN GARDENS AND SPARROW'S NEST PARK.—On Bank Holiday Mr. Paul Mill gave another illuminated fête at the Sparrow's Nest, thousands of visitors and residents participating in the general attractions. The whole concluded with a display of fireworks.

SOUTH PIER.—Under the auspices of the Lowestoft Town Regatta and Amusements Committee, a confetti carnival was held on Bank Holiday. The pier was beautifully illuminated by thousands of coloured electric lights.

MACCLESFIELD. — ROYAL. — Proprietor and Manager, Mr. W. K. Gatley.—This popular playhouse re-opened on Monday evening, looking very spick-and-span after the redecoration and renovation it has been subjected to during the close season. The attraction was the drama A Rogue's Daughter, ably presented by a first-class company under the control of Messrs. Chas. Berisford and W. H. Moore. Mr. Roy Gordon is well cast as Sir George Mynard; Mr. Frank V. Fenn acts with great energy the part of Frank Tyler; Mr. Richard Ferris gives a good portrayal of Colonel Ferris; Mr. Eric Hargreaves is very funny as Christopher Crummles; and Mr. A. Hall-Menzies is very diverting as Ercules. Mr. Robert W. Lynn as Isaacs is good; Miss Marie Menzies as Lady Mynard, Miss Becky Elliston as Priscilla Jenkins, and Miss Madge Devereux as Letty Grey are equally successful. Miss Florence Gomer as Dicky is appreciated.

MAIDSTONE.—HIPPODROME.—Lessee and Manager, Mr. S. Baskerville.—The following are appearing here for the re-opening week: Miss Gipsy Woolf and her Six Sunbeams, in their popular and clever scena Fun in a Forest; the Albano troupe are clever instrumentalists; Miss Marie Blyth charms all with her fine contralto voice; the Ten Dixie Girls are on a popular return visit; the Lulaine Darrell trio of gymnasts combine clean comedy with clever work on the trapeze and rings; Li-chang-hi is a smart Chinese illusionist; and Frank Terry, comedian, and the bioscope, complete the bill.

MANCHESTER. — PRINCE'S THEATRE.—Proprietors, the United Theatre Co., Ltd.; Acting-Manager, Mr. George Lee.—The reopening of this theatre was signalised on Monday by the staging of Paolo and Francesca, in which the Manchester public had an opportunity of seeing Mr. H. B. Irving in a rôle by which he might be judged as an actor of tragic potentialities. Mr. Irving's interpretation added distinctly to the dramatic force of the play, his impersonation of Giovanni being always full of intense feeling and personality. His efforts were assisted in excellent fashion by Miss Dorothea Baird, who gave a very ingenious and touching rendering of Francesca; and by Mr. Harcourt Williams, whose Paolo was a restrained, studious, and sympathetic piece of work. One of the best characters in the play is that of Lucrezia, enacted with womanly insight by Miss Maud Milton, who succeeded admirably in trying passages, and brought home forcibly to the audience one of the profoundest sentiments of the play. Among minor impersonations, Miss Ada Mellon as Angela, and Miss Elaine Inescort as Nita, acted with tact and skill; and the whole performance was a distinct and memorable success.

ROYAL OSBORNE THEATRE.—Manager, Mr. W. B. Broadhead; Acting-Manager, Mr. P. B. Broadhead.—Messrs. Little and Darcy's company are here this week in The Executioner's Daughter, a neat and smooth sensational drama, which was greatly appreciated by Monday's audience. Miss Nelly Hewitt plays the title-rôle with distinct power, and is ably supported by Mr. Stanley Radcliffe as the executioner, Monsieur Roche; Mr. Juan De Alberti, who has big opportunities as Marius, the thief and gambler; Mr. Geoffrey Chote, a clever exponent of Vivian Ormonde; Miss Evelyn Robson, as the unspeakable Felice; Mr. W. Ruddle Brown, as Paul Lovel; Mr. W. S. Stevenson, as Kretch, a very clever impersonation; and Miss Marie Ada Browning, as the cripple, Christina. A strong vein of humour is introduced by Mr. Willie Hicks as Tom Holmes, and Miss Billy Moody as Sally King. The guillotine act is especially strong.

METROPOLE THEATRE.—Manager, Mr. W. B. Broadhead; Acting-Manager, Mr. P. B. Broadhead. — An excellent programme here this week is headed by a farcical comedietta entitled The Barmaids, presented by Hulo Hodgson, Harry Lowther, and company. Next in order of prominence is Sibson's Vaudeville Circus, a capital show, while the Bonnettis, in a comedy speciality act, do exceedingly well. Other enjoyable turns are Wallace Whitney, character comedian; Bernard Katz, the Hebrew basso; Beattie Foster, clever low comedienne; Harley and Hardon, eccentric dancers. Billie Burns, the Pit Boy; and Calile and Walker, accomplished comedy artists.

ST. JAMES'S THEATRE.—Lessee, Mr. R. Flanagan; Acting-Manager, Mr. Gus. Flanagan.—Messrs. Armadale and Warren's company are here this week in the well-known sensational drama The Face at the Window. Mr. Lionel D'Aragon gives a powerful interpretation of the Chevalier Lucio Delgado, the "wolf"; and a very effective rendering of Marie de Brisson is submitted by Miss Eugene Magnus. Among the remainder of a powerful cast, Miss M. Leslie Cudd is distinctly clever as Barbette, and Mr. C. Alan Hineson is a lively Peter Pottleberry. The staging of the play is entirely satisfactory.

GRAND JUNCTION THEATRE.—Manager, Mr. W. B Broadhead; Acting-Manager, Mr. P. B. Broadhead. —An entertaining play here this week is A Woman's Revenge, played admirably by a company which includes Mr. Henry L. Osmond in the part of Frank Drummond, and Miss Winifred Chalmers in the corresponding heroic rôle of Mary Lonsdale. Besides these, clever performances are given by Mr. Harry Cooke, as Dick Chilton; Miss Mabel Tremere, as Lottie Bromley—Dick's wife; Mr. Dunlop Stewart, as Grimwade, the solicitor; Mr. Alexander Hairland, as the villainous Overstone; and little Ivy Rochfort, as Mary Drummond's child; and the whole play, well staged and well acted from beginning to end, forms an enjoyable entertainment.

QUEEN'S THEATRE.—Manager, Mr. R. Flanagan; Acting-Manager, Mr. W. Berry.—An old favourite, The Streets of London, is presented here this week by Mr. Eade Montefiore's company. An excellent interpretation is given, Mr. William Rokeby being particularly successful as Badger, and Miss M. Kynnersley, contributing a smart performance as Alida Bloodgood. Heroic parts are well portrayed by Mr. John Richter and Miss Edyth Goodall, and others who distinguish themselves are Mr. Riddell Robinson as Gideon Bloodgood, and Miss Marian Armitage as Dan Puffy.

PALACE.—General-Manager, Mr. Walter De Frece; Secretary, Mr. Peter Watson; Acting-Manager, Mr. Nelson Barry.—Fred. Karno's speechless comedians in Jail Birds, are the attraction here this week, and, as usual, cause no end of laughter. Another good turn is that of Kelly and Ashby, the American acrobatic grotesques, in their well-known act; De Marce's animals are wonderfully well trained; the Sivronis are very smart comedy artists; Maud Vera is a pleasing comedienne and dancer; Charles Williams, the Scotch Nigger, is a first-rate big boot dancer; Arthur Croxton, comedian, raconteur, and mimic, is well received; the Marconis present a marvellous electric act; Joe Mac is a clever burlesque dancer; and Harry Haytor, comedian, amuses with song and dance. The Palace pictures are good.

EMPIRE.—Managing-Director, Mr. Oswald Stoll; Acting-Manager, Mr. H. Hall.—The big turn here this week is provided by John Lawson and company in Humanity, the well-known and popular sensational episode. George C. Doughty and company add a smart sketch, called Captain Cupid; Margaret Ashton, comedienne, sings with spirit and accomplishment; Alix Lukos gives his scena, Pictures in the Fire, in excellent style; the Jees contribute a fine comedy and musical act; the Barowsky Trio are seen in a brisk and clever acrobatic performance; E. J. Sheldon gives an agreeable comedy turn; a wonderful exhibition of bird training is offered by Rose Nayron and Clyde Phillips; and a nice turn is added by Nancy St. John, comedienne and dancer. The pictures, depicting "A Naval Nursery," are especially interesting.

HIPPODROME. — Managing-Director Mr. Oswald Stoll; Acting-Manager, Mr. E. P. Morgan.—A novel turn here this week is the riding of a live turtle, in the Hippodrome lake, by the famous Louis de Rougemont. Toledo and Price are among the neatest of contortionists, their feats being distinctly new, and performed in a graceful manner. Another first-rate item is that of the Four Figaros, whose international songs and dances, in characteristic costumes, are distinctly pleasing. Will Cornish provides a delightful turn with his silver bells and chimes; Lady Julia, "the ape with a human brain," is cleverly trained; J. P. Ling makes a hit in his mimetic monologue; Deane, Tribune and company, in a smart absurdity, are responsible for considerable laughter; and Claude Ginnett and company present an episode in the late Zulu war, entitled Rorke's Drift. Mr. Foy, assisted by the choir, sings in fine style "The Dear Homeland," to pictures; and Bennett's "Come live with me," is nicely rendered by the choir. The American Bioscope show Daring Cavalry Manœuvres.

TIVOLI. — Managing-Director, Mr. Chas. A Wilkes; Acting-Manager, Mr. Arthur B. Wilkes.—Vesta Victoria, the Queen of Comedy, fresh from her American triumphs, is the bright particular star here this week, and meets with a deserved big reception; Callan entertains with song, story, and dance; Ada Parker, a clever juvenile coon singer and dancer, is well received; A. E. Clifford, vocalist, sings in a pleasing manner; the Silvinis Trio, and the Two Manzanaris are exceedingly clever gymnasts; Mlle. Sylvesto appears in a speciality act; and Will Lytton is a capital dancer. Raymond's Vivagraph, as usual, is good. Violet Belrose, comedienne, did not appear on the occasion of our visit.

KING'S, LONGSIGHT.—Manager, Mr. W. B. Broadhead; Acting-Manager, Mr. P. B. Broadhead. — Mr. and Mrs. F. G. Kimberley's company is here this week in the domestic drama, Two Little Drummer Boys, and a good performance, twice nightly, is given. Mr. Beresford Lovett figures admirably as the hero, and Mr. Archie Helsby is seen to advantage as Captain George Darrell. Miss Kathleen Magee portrays the part of Margaret Rivers in a clever manner; and very pleasing is Miss Mildred Eversleigh as the General's daughter. The two little drummer boys are nicely played by Miss Margaret Hazel and Miss English; and others who are prominent are Mr. Edward Bikker as the General, Mr. J. Magrath as Quiney, Mr. Harry Lyndon as Timothy, and Miss Edie Macklin as Molly. The scenery is good.

QUEEN'S PARK HIPPODROME.—Manager, Mr. W. B Broadhead; Acting-Manager, Mr. P. B. Broadhead —Some clever turns are seen here this week, chief amongst them being the Schiavonis Troupe, in a marvellous and unique acrobatic performance; and Mason and Bart, in a daring gymnastic display. Mike Cray, eccentric comedy juggler, and his dog Dooley, are very funny; and the Firnans, in their sketch, In the Fire Station, are also vastly amusing. Lack and Ford, the indiarubber man and the twister, are good; the Elgars are deservedly applauded for their rendering of Irish melodies; the Rupertos are smart equilibrists; Lillian Hodge, ballad vocalist, sings sweetly; and Jim Alston, comedian, is much appreciated. The Bioscope pictures are interesting.

HIPPODROME, HULME. — Manager, Mr. W. B Broadhead; Acting-Manager, Mr. P. B. Broadhead.—The Pichels head the bill here this week in a highly finished Risley display, and are loudly applauded. Tom Kelso and company, in a comic adsurdity, entitled The Silly Servant, cause much laughter; and Edwards and Espinosa provide a clever musical item with violin and banjo. The Frantz Family present a humorous acrobatic turn; and Will Freedo, comedian, executes some very neat dancing. Good turns are also contributed by Mary Glenn, vocalist; Anna Kenwick, comedienne and dancer; the Sisters Valli, musicians and top boot dancers; and the Bioscope pictures.

RUSHOLME PAVILION. — Proprietor, Mr. Harry Leslie; Acting-Manager, Mr. Charles North.—A big attraction here this week is Mr. Charles Parker's famous Three K.'s, under the able direction of Mr. H. Flockton-Foster, the new songs, sketches, and concerted pieces being greatly appreciated.

MARGATE.—THEATRE ROYAL.—Exclusive-Manager, Mr. Edward Michael; Business-Manager, Mr. A. Austin-Leigh.—Mr. Pinero's new play, His House in Order, was the holiday attraction here, and as performed for the three nights by the company specially selected by Mr. George Alexander, it left nothing to be desired. Mr. Frank Fantin played admirably as Hilary Jones, bringing out with good effect the varying phases of the complex rôle; Miss Auriol Lee did well as Nina, sustaining with natural breezy touches the impulsive girl, and in the third act shows with forcefulness the nature of the woman possessed with a spirit of revenge, but the spirit of gentleness and forgiveness as well, displayed in the last act. Mr. Cyril Harcourt was exceedingly good as the cold and impassive Filmer Jones, playing the character with admirable restraint. Miss Doris Champion played prettily as Derek Jesson, and Mr. Adam Alexander was all that could be wished for as the old humbug Sir Daniel Ridgelay. Mr. George Silver's Pryce Ridgeley was another good character sketch. Very good also was Mr. Charles Tyrell as Major Maurewards, whilst Miss Audrey Campbell was quite the frigid and implacable Geraldine Ridgeley. Mrs. Kemmis was starchy and severe as Ladv Ridgeley, and Mlle. Juliette Milo gave a most interesting Mlle. Thomé. For the remainder of the week The Earl and the Girl is announced.

THE HIPPODROME.—Sole Proprietors, Messrs. F. Mouillot and W. de Frece; General-Manager, Mr. J. de Frece; Resident-Manager, Mr. C. F. Bawtree.—Holiday business has been done here this week. Amy Sullivan, comedienne, has had a flattering reception, and a most enthusiastic welcome has greeted Mr. W. H. Downs, the Australian coloured vocalist. Arthur Reece is very popular as a vocal comedian; the Sisters Bartholomew are pleasing duettists and dancers; and Clemart, ventriloquist, is most amusing and heartily applauded. The applause which signalises the appearance of Mr. Harry Randall indicates at once his popularity, and with so many holiday-makers at each house his welcome was immense. The Reed-Oetzmann troupe, pantomimists, in their absurdity On Tour in the Tyrol keep the audience in roars of laughter.

HALL-BY-THE-SEA.—Sole Proprietor, "Lord" George Sanger; General-Manager, Mr. Chas. Evans.—Large and highly delighted audiences have crowded this popular place of entertainment at both performances each day. Flo Wood, burlesque actress, is a success with her songs, and Martinette and Wallis, gentlemen of colour, appear in a novel instrumental performance, exhibiting considerable proficiency as players on several instruments. Tony Spring is amusing as "The Jumping Comedy Ragman," his feats being smartly done; the Wedburns elicit a good deal of applause for their amusing patter, whilst as instrumentalists and vocalists they are capital; a very mystifying performance is given by Carl Rosine, his hoop trick being particularly clever; Lillian Doreen sings well, and the Cleveland Burlesque company present a very merry and meritorious turn, which comprises dancing, tumbling, and comedy juggling.

MERTHYR TYDFIL.—THEATRE ROYAL AND OPERA HOUSE.—Sole Proprietor and Manager, Mr. Will Smithson. — The Mysteries of the Thames opened here on Bank Holiday to a full house. The company is under the direction of Mr. F. Brooke Warren, and includes Miss Gwynne Warren, who gives a realistic performance of Flash Nell. Mr. Andrew Money is a manly hero; Mr. F. Brooke Warren plays admirably as Captain Denbigh; and the part of Kate Brandon is well sustained by Miss Nellie Ramsay.

TEMPERANCE HALL.—Manager, Mr. Israel Price.—The company engaged here this week includes Kyoto, Japanese entertainer; Nellie Belmore, comedienne and dancer; Walter Levalle, coster comedian; Francis and Francis, knockabouts; and May Geraldine, vocalist. The Biograph pictures make up a good programme.

MEXBOROUGH.—PRINCE OF WALES'S THEATRE. —Manager, Mr. W. H. Melton.—The Bank Holiday attraction here was provided by Messrs. Beaudyn and Livesey's company in the drama A Beautiful Fiend. Mr. Montagu Beaudyn gives an artistic rendering of Ivan Paulovitch; the rôle of the villainous Count Karateff is cleverly impersonated by Mr. Tom Robertson; Mr. Albert Wray is a capable Sergius Strogoff; Miss V. St. Lawrence, in the title rôle, brings much histrionic ability to bear on the part; the Nadine Karateff of Miss Irene Munro is a cultured and sympathetic study; Mr. Hy. Oates finds plenty of scope for comedy in the character of Christopher Crackles; and Miss Blanche Hill is entertaining as Patty Woodlands.

MIDDLESBROUGH. — THEATRE ROYAL.—Proprietor and Manager, Mr. Chas. Imeson.—Mr. Eugene Stafford's company is this week presenting here the well-known comedy The Private Secretary. Mr. Donald Price-Evans as the Rev. Robert Spalding creates roars of laughter, and a word of commendation is due to Mr. W. T. Elworthy as Mr. Marsland; Mr. James Hussey is excellent as Harry Marsland; and Mr. W. Hargreaves is a decided success as Mr. Cattermole. Mrs. Alfred Davis as Miss Ashford imbues the part with all the humour and charm that it is possible to put into it; Miss Dora Gray as Edith Marsland leaves nothing to be desired; and Miss Beth Elliot does well as Eva Webster; Miss Cecily Wade as Mrs. Stead is exceedingly pleasing and vivacious, and adds in no small measure to the evening's enjoyment.

OPERA HOUSE.—Managing-Director, Mr. Robert Arthur; Manager, Mr. W. K. Chatto.—The Lights of London is this week being played here by Mr. Herbert Hollister's company. The scenery is delightful and the acting of the first order. Mr. Montague Lane as Harold Armytage has a thorough grasp of the part, and his assumption is entirely satisfactory. Mr. Herbert Lewis does full justice to the part of Jarvis, and Mr. Skeffington has an excellent representative in Mr. H. W. Forster; Little Iva Wallace is good as Joey, a street arab; and for the rôle of Hetty Preene, a clever representative is found in Miss Constance Davey. Miss Hilda Wollard infuses much sweetness into the part of Annie, and Miss Mary Rose does well as Janet, the servant.

EMPIRE.—Managing-Director, Mr. John Brill; Manager, Mr. Charles G. Rembges.—An excellent programme is being submitted here this week, and good houses are the rule. Nat Clifford heads the bill, and he creates roars of laughter with his songs and sayings, as does Tennyson and Wallis with their song, "You can't take it with you when you die." Elsie Earle is successful in her scena, Love against Gold; and Harry Anderson is an excellent vocalist. Mr. Fred Callane's comedy trio, in their sketch The Ladies' School, are amusing and George French is an excellent comedian. The other turns are provided by Winnie Denson, the Banjo Quartette, and the Bio.

OXFORD PALACE.—Proprietor and Director, Mr. Alfred Graham; Manager, Mr. R. L. Griffiths.—The management have this week arranged an excellent programme, which meets with the appreciation it deserves. No one can witness the performance of the Rooney Brothers, London's lazy coalmen, without laughing; and Rumbo Austin, with his comical troupe of navvies, causes much amusement; and the Brothers Zampah provide a clever acrobatic turn. Will Letters is an excellent comedian, and Clarice Raynor sings well. The other turns are provided by Wenie Clements, the Crown Trio, and the Bio.

MORECAMBE. — ROYALTY THEATRE AND OPERA HOUSE. — Sole Lessee, Lieut. Julian Malvern; General-Manager, Mr. C. M. Julian.—Mr. J. Bannister Howard's company in Florodora has been appearing here, and the piece has been acceptably played.

WINTER GARDENS.—General Manager, Mr. Tom Atkinson.—The Seven Savonas and the Cycling Elliotts have proved the leading attractions here. The Vandykes in their sketch Nicodemus have been a draw; and in the bill there have also been included Carl Lynn, animal mimic; the Brooklands, good dancers; Mlle. Renee, saxophonist; Wyndham and Walters, harmonising duettists; Radford and Valentine, juggling jesters; and the Brothers Obo, laughing duettists.

ALHAMBRA PALACE.—Manager, Alderman John Gardner.—Rousby's electrical show, Around Paris, is most cleverly worked here, and beautiful effects are obtained. In the bill are Diamond and Beatrice, harp and saxophone; Lotte de Abbey, impersonator; Bensby Evans's company in the clever sketch Sally's Dilemma; Will Walton, comedian; Jimson's novelty sketch, The Burglar's Surprise; Adams and Ward, smart and clever comedy acrobats; and Ferris and Famley, patter merchants.

CENTRAL PIER.—Manager, Mr. E. Hill.—Belrose and De Vellin have been fulfilling a most successful engagement here, and their duets have been a great feature of the programme. Mimi and Bartlett have a "screamer" in The Lost Collar Stud, and the Ramlos are tremendously funny. Doody and Wright have raised a plentiful crop of laughs at each show; the Two Neros have a good balancing act; Maude Clifton, soubrette; Clarke's Nippers; the Two Cellos, musical entertainers; and Maud Holmes, contralto, are also here.

MOTHERWELL. — NEW CENTURY THEATRE.— Managing-Director, Mr. R. C. Buchanan; Resident-Manager, Mr. Reginald Grant.—The theatre re-opened for the season on Monday, Mr. G. W. Whitehead's company appearing in a series of Irish dramas. Willy Rully was chosen for the opening night, and in the title-rôle Mr. Robert Faulkener was distinctly successful; Miss Cecilia Dare being a sweet and sympathetic Helen Folliard. The villainous Whitecraft was ably played by Mr. Henry Forrest; and the choleric old father by Mr. James Clarke. As the Red Rapparee Mr. James Daly is pre-eminently good. The humorous element is ably sustained by Mr. James O'Brien and Miss Monica Kelly. Mention should also be made of Miss Madeline Hurst as Mary Mahon, and of Mr. Ion Ireland as the Sheriff.

NEWCASTLE-UPON-TYNE.—TYNE THEATRE.— Managing Director, Mr. F. W. Wyndham; Business Manager, Mr. F. C. Sutcliffe.—After being closed for the summer vacation, the Tyne was reopened on Monday night with Mr. C. P. Levilly's company in the ever-popular comic opera La Poupée. Miss Stella Gastelle was again delightfully entertaining as Alesia, and sang with much charm. A new Hilarius in Mr. W. H. Powell has the difficult task of following in the footsteps of Mr. Eric Thorne, but Mr. Powell comes through the ordeal with flying colours, and is to be complimented on a richly humorous impersonation. Mr. Manfred Russell uses his pleasing voice to advantage as Launcelot; the Father Maxime of Mr. Frederick Hobbs is a typical picture of a monk, and his singing meets with warm appreciation. Mr. Fred Seymour is seen at his best as Loremois; and Mr. William Griffin is highly diverting as Baron Chanterelle. Miss Avis Grahame is a buxom and good-natured Madame Hilarius; and Miss Kitty Cavendish is quite a natural and boy-like Henri. A word of praise is due to the chorus, who do excellent work under the bâton of Mr. Henry Rushworth.

THEATRE ROYAL.—Managing Director, Mr. Robert Arthur; Resident Manager, Mr. F. Teale Lingham.—The favourite musical comedy Sergeant Brue is paying a visit here this week, and is presented by an excellent all-round company, under the direction of Messrs. E. Lockwood and R. Crossman. The title-rôle is now played by Mr. Arthur Reynolds, who invests the part of the metropolitan "bobby" with rare humour. Mr. Charles McLagan presents a quaint impersonation of the criminal Crookie Scrubbs, and is throughout successful. Mr. E. Percy Rogers glides with ease through the part of Michael Brue, and also sings with much acceptance. Mr. Harry Soutar is quietly effective as Matthew Habisham; and Mr. Cecil Burt does exceedingly well as Mr. Crank. Miss Mary Hay, looking a veritable picture, is a graceful and refined Aurora Brue; and Miss Hebe Bliss gives the utmost satisfaction as Lady Bickenhall. Others worthy of notice are Mr. Cecil Hood, Mr. Ernest Mozar, Miss Marion Hargrave, and Miss Mabel Keith. The chorus is a strong one, and is under the able direction of Mr. Norman Latham.

PALACE THEATRE.—Managing Director, Mr. T. W. Rowe; Business Manager, Mr. E. B. Clark.—Mr. Lingford Carson's company is appearing here this week in a thrilling drama, entitled The Power of the Cross. In the weird and mysterious rôle of Baron Curzola, Mr. Hartwell J. Kirby acts the part in a skilful manner; Mr. Richard E. Nugent is a buoyant and jovial exponent of Timothy O'Dowd; Mr. Edwin Beverley is responsible for a praiseworthy portrayal of Gerald Fairfax; and Mr. Royce Carleton does fairly well as Leslie Fairfax. Mr. L. F. Tenaur's rendering of Benjamin Hawke lacks nothing of the callousness and cruelty of the conventional villain; and Mr. A. J. Murray as David Kingsley does all that the part requires. A stately and magnificent type of womanhood is Miss Cissie St. Elmo, and her rendition of Rita Lascelles, an adventuress, leaves nothing to be desired. The rôle of Blanche Kingsley is sympathetically portrayed by Miss May Grayce; Miss Stanley Burt as Margaret Seaton gives an intelligent interpretation to the part, and Miss Etta Turner is sufficiently humorous as Dolly Gray.

GRAND THEATRE.—General-Manager, Mr. Sidney Bacon.—Despite frequent visits here, the popular drama entitled The 10.30 Down Express, managed to fill the Byker house to its utmost capacity on Monday night. Mr. Horace Stanley's company is responsible for the production. Mr. Stanley himself again keeps the fun going merrily as Sam Wagstaff, and his love-making with Peggy Potts allows Miss Kate Kilpack, who assumes the latter part, ample opportunities to display clever comedy talent. The other characters are all well handled, and mention must also be made of the excellent scenic effects.

EMPIRE THEATRE.—Proprietors, Messrs. The Moss Empires, Ltd.; Resident Director, Mr. Richard Thornton.—The premier position in this week's programme is worthily assigned to G. H. Chirgwin, "he of the white eye," whose entertainment, always bright and refreshing, has been received with hearty approval. Those merry musical jesters, Alexander and Hughes, are again much in evidence, their "bar act" being particularly funny. It is quite a long period since we had the pleasure of listening to Peggy Pryde, and this charming lady has lost none of her cleverness. A comedian who is always on the move is Josh Dixon, and this quaint comedian is decidedly funny in song and dance. Alburtus and Bartram, as comedy club jugglers, are in a class by themselves; and the Devona Sisters, in a graceful trapeze act, give ample proof of their skill. Will English, the real coon, creates much diversion with his funny walking skits. Goodfellow and Gregson score a gratifying success as comedy duettists; and Johnny Gilmore secures attention as a comedian. "Rescued in Mid Air" is a novel picture depicted by the Bioscope.

PAVILION THEATRE.—Managing-Director, Mr. Thos. Barrasford; Manager, Mr. Will H. Boardman.—Large and appreciative audiences have laughed themselves hoarse this week at the screamingly funny tabloid comedy entitled Where's the Count? presented by Arthur Roberts and company. As Joe Muggins Mr. Roberts has a part that suits him to a nicety, and he receives admirable support from Messrs. Stanley Damerell, Geo. P. Poison, Harry Huddlestone, and the Misses Jessie Burgwitz and Ruby Celeste. A very clever and daring stage-flying trapeze act is submitted by the Three Rainats; mirth of the wholesome sort is found in abundance in the comedy sketch, The Hunt, presented by Terry and Bentley; Geo. Adams, the New Zealand baritone, has a host of admirers, and receives unstinted applause; Frank Halter and Marie Ray as the Hebrew character-comedian and singing soubrette are an amusing and versatile couple; the Henriques provide a speciality of much excellence; Williams and Warden, Irish cross-talk comedians, score

Willmer is seen to great advantage; Miss M. Douglas does well as Cecil Jelf; Miss Mary Moffat makes the most of Cecil Blunt; and Miss Kitty Russell is clever as Shrove Tuesday. The Almo Trio are also loudly applauded for their clever performance.

Central Palace.—Lessee and Manager, Mr. Wm. Mould.—The Four Herberts, the Californian farmers, top the bill here, and have made a great success; Miss Emmie Milstead and Mr. Joe Bell, with The Belle of Arizona, are enthusiastically greeted; Miss Emmie Ames, in her scena, 'Neath the Shadow of Big Ben, is very popular; Messrs. Carney and Armstrong, musical comedians, are smart; Miss Florrie Simms, comedienne, is clever; Mr. Harry Bancroft, actor-vocalist, goes well; and the Bio-Photoscope is, as usual, interesting.

NORTHWICH. — Pierrot Pavilion.—Proprietors, the Royal Pierrots Co. — A programme of variety has been provided for the holiday week. Miss Queenie Palmer sings some acceptable numbers; Miss Lily West, who was an established favourite here last season, had a flattering reception on her re-appearance; Mr. Fred Corbett has been a great success; Mr. Charlie Bayman has a quaintly humorous style of his own; Messrs. Stevens and Stevens give a clever turn of dancing and high kicking; and Mr. Glanmore Jones is singing as sweetly as of yore.

NORWICH.—Theatre Royal.—Sole Manager, Mr. Fred Morgan.—This place of entertainment opened for the season on Monday last, when Mr. Charles Macdona's powerful company gave an excellent all-round representation of The Toreador to a well-filled house. Mr. Sydney Greenville makes an excellent Conajolo, both his acting and singing being greatly successful. Mr. Ralph Lynn is good as Sir Archibald Slackett, and Mr. Geo. Austin is equally so as Augustus Trail. Mr. Walter Champney as Sammy Gigg creates no end of amusement. Mr. Henry Arthur is successful as Governor of Villaya, and Mr. Harold Batt, both in singing and dancing won much applause. Mr. Arthur Penborer shows great activity as the Bandmaster, and Mr. Chas. W. Anson as Rinaldo. Mr. Daniel Maston as Moreno, and Mr. Harry Playfair as Mr. Probitt all deserve praise. Miss Leah Howard is very pleasing as Susan, and deserves every commendation for her efforts. A compliment must also be given to Miss Eliza Earle as Dora Selby, and Miss Nina Carlton is praiseworthy as Donna Teresa, receiving a double encore for her song. Miss A. Chambers, Miss Winifred Downing, Miss Florence Wood, Miss Edith Mason, Miss Mabel Funston, Miss Alice Sands, and Miss May Lewis are all good in their respective parts.

Hippodrome.—Proprietors, Messrs. E. H. Bostock and F. W. Fitt; Manager, Mr. F. W. Fitt.—An excellent holiday programme is provided this week. Mr. George Mozart obtains immense applause for his songs and patter; A-Ba-Be's picture postcard Album is a very pretty turn, and well deserves its favourable reception; the Five Bogannies as the Lunatic Bakers are also clever in their acrobatic performance; La Tostia is very entertaining as a mandoliniste and pianiste; and Bert Byrne is funny as a comique. The Sisters Dorreli are pleasing duettists and dancers, and the New Macs are good knockabouts. Guy Rider as a vocalist and silhouist is also well received, and the Hippodrome Bioscope show some entertaining pictures.

NOTTINGHAM.—Theatre Royal.—Mnnaging-Director, Mr. Robt. Arthur; Acting-Manager, Mr Howard Finney.—For the re-opening attraction after the usual summer vacation, Walter Melville's drama, The Female Swindler, occupies the boards, and has attracted large holiday audiences. Mr. Tom H. Taylor's company presents it, and the artists are thoroughly competent. Miss Grace E. Leslie has peculiarly the necessary tenderness and fire by turns to portray her Valrey, and is ably assisted by Mr. Joseph Millane, who acts the part of Jack Coulson admirably. Mr. Wilford Cheetham as Geoffrey Warden gives a capital impersonation of a thorough-paced villain, and the Jew Mike stein is excellently outlined by Mr. John Beaton The part of Harold Travers is entrusted to Mr Guy P. Ellis, and his work is of the best. Very sweet and charming appears the character of May Andrews as played by Miss Florrie Kelsey, and the rôle of her guardian, James Oliver, is well taken care of by Mr. A. Kenyon Gray. Mr. Henry Wright as Billy Binks, and Miss Mary Dawson as Mary Ann Mee supply the comedy element, and their efforts result in shouts of laughter and applause.

Grand Theatre.—Manager, Mr. Chas. P. Cooke.—Mr. T. Edward Ward's company, touring with Her Fatal Fast, is here this week, and proves an excellent attraction. A successful emotional drama well-staged and well-played, it has everything to recommend it to holiday crowds. The adaptability of Miss Ward is well displayed in the principal rôle of Honor Symes, and she seizes and retains the sympathy of the audience with consummate ease. Miss Adeline Raby has plenty of scope for her talents in the double part of Bella de Lara and Ruth Fernside, while Miss Kate Newman, Miss Effie Spalding, and Miss Gertie Reid are thoroughly at home in their respective characters. Great praise is due to Little Audrey Sutherland for her efforts in the child part. Mr. George M. Newall gives a manly characterisation as Mark Desmond, and Mr. Victor Rowland does thoroughly well as Leonard Fernside, whilst Mr. Wilson Coleman realises the rôle of Gilbert Fernside to its full extent. Mr. T. Edward Ward scores as Nobbs, and Mr. Claude Paget will few opportunities shows great cleverness as an actor. Mr. Edward Sidney as Dicky Bird completes a very good company.

King's Theatre.—Proprietor, Mr. Frank Macnaghten; Manager, Mr. Edgar O. Waller.—For the eighth successive week this theatre is occupied by the Royal Animated Picture company's entertainment of picture-song and story, under the direction of Mr. Matt. Raymond.

Empire Theatre of Varieties.—Managing-Director, Mr. Oswald Stoll; Acting-Manager, Mr. Chas. H. Bowmaker.—One of Herbert Darnley's laughable creations, The Skirmishers, occupies first place on the bill this week, and is presented by a strong company of comedians, who cause considerable laughter and merriment. The Max Wesselys troupe of comic jugglers are always welcome visitors. Leonard and Francis are a funny pair, and amongst eccentric acrobats the Tupps undoubtedly hold a high place. As a first-class comedian, J. W. Hall is hard to beat, and the Sisters Iris quickly sing and dance themselves into favour. James Heron is an exceptionally good singer of serio-comic songs, and the Tally Ho Trio can congratulate themselves upon hitting the taste of their admirers to a nicety. A good series of Biograph pictures, of which the principal is "Rescued in Mid Air," complete a very attractive programme.

NUNEATON.—Prince of Wales Theatre and Entertainment Co., Ltd.—Managing-Director Mr. A. F. Cross; Acting-Manager, Mr. Walter J. R. Bryan.—There was the usual large and appreciative holiday audience on Monday night, when the theatre re-opened with When London Sleeps, presented by Mr. Lester Collingwood's company. Mr. C. P. Wentworth makes an excellent Capt. Rodney Hayes; Mr. Louis Norman gives a good interpretation of David Engleheart; as Queenie Carrutners Miss Mabel Scudamore plays with effect; Miss Maude Yorke as Hilda Carode is good. Plenty of fun is supplied by Mr. D'Arcy Kilway as Sammy Blythe, and Mr. Frank Howard as the Hon. Bertie Broomhead. The piece is well staged.

OLDHAM. — Colosseum Theatre. — General-Manager, Mr. W. Eastwood.—After being closed for the summer vacation, during which the theatre has been cleaned, it was re-opened on Monday evening with Miss Evelyn Moore's company in a new play entitled The Crimson Club. Mr. Clifford Wright impersonates the hero, Richard Fenton, in a capable manner, and Mr. Sydney Bland is also good as the Hon. Herbert Selby. Mr. Fred G. Kay plays the part of Sir Philip Garside, the villain; and he is ably supported by Miss Florence Delmar as Julia Marsden. Miss Sydney Barrasford is a charming heroine, Muriel Lockwood. As Esther Craddock Miss Millie Hasting has not much to do, but she does it well; while Miss Kitty Elliott, along with Mr. Percy Shaw, as Sophonisba and Adolphus, provide the comedy. Mr. J. Franklin Heywood as Silas Craddock, Mr. C. Nugent as Sir Richard Steel, and Mr. Will Shaw as Sir Charles Lockwood, complete the list of principals, the remaining minor parts being filled by Messrs. Walters, Wayton, Daniell, Nevill, Wayte, Rolls, and Redstone.

Empire Theatre.—Manager, Mr. E. Dottridge; Asistant-Manager, Mr. J. Hulme.—Variety again holds the boards this week, at the top of the bill being the Japanese wrestler Yukio Tani. Lambert and Hands, duettists, have had a capital reception; the Two Leslies (Rosie and Dot) give some smart songs and dances, and France and Stewart appear in a humorous sketch with good effect. The Leanders, mandoline and guitar trio, also do well, and Dan Kirton, clog dancer, is well received. M. and Mme. Henris have a good show in their equilibristic and gymnastic act. Among other artists on the bill are Miss Nora Hamilton, vocalist; Minnie Dawn, comedienne; Ada Clare, in a charming act; Rosie Lennard, comedienne; the Izons, in a startling novelty; and George White, eccentric comedian.

OXFORD.—Empire Theatre.—Lessee and Manager, Mr. Albany Ward; Acting-Manager, Mr. H. G. P. Wells.—This theatre is open for another two weeks, and on Monday Mr. Henry S. Dacre's company commenced a week's engagement here with The Prince of Sinners. As Nat Jacobs Mr. Henry S. Dacre was natural and realistic; Mr. Edward Percy gave a manly rendering of Henry Denby; and Mr. Henry Leslie portrayed Stephen Deveral in careful style. Mr. Walter Murton was admirably suited as Sir Harold Armitage; and Mr. Scott Phillips made a success of Walter Thorneycroft. Miss Ida Phillips sustained Kate Denby with considerable power; and Miss Polly Carew made a charming Laura Armitage. Little Dolly Murch was excellent as Arthur Armitage.

New Theatre.—Managing-Director, Mr. T. Lucas, J.P.; Acting-Manager, Mr. C. C. Dorrill.—Mr. and Mrs. H. B. Levy and J. E. Cardwell opened here on Bank Holiday with the juvenile musical comedy company, in the fairy spectacle, Beauty and the Beast. As Silver Star Miss May Gibson won golden opinions, and sang in excellent style; as also did Miss Dolly Dodds, who made a captivating Beauty. Miss Kitty Trewhitt was delightful as Prince Charming; and Miss Daisy Fielder was effective as Will Scarlett. Miss Isa Gibson made the most of Maid Marion; and Miss Edie Camm was well suited as Tommy Tucker. The Brothers Armstrong worked well, and made considerable fun as Dressalinda and Marrigolda; and Messrs. Adams and Sloan were very amusing as Flip and Flop. Master Fred Bentley gave a successful interpretation of Baron Hardup; and Will Orston did well as the Beast. Undoubtedly the favourite of the evening was the small comedian, Wee George Wood, as Pip, whose recitations and songs were received with unbounded applause. Miss Edie Camm is a clever bâton swinger; and dances were given by the Marguerita Quartette.

PAISLEY.—Paisley Theatre.—Sole Proprietor and Manager, Mr. J. H. Savile.—A strong attraction here this week is Mr. Thomas McKenzie's company, in Mrs. Gorringe's Necklace. Mr. Yorke Stephens distinguishes himself by his finished and artistic portraiture of Captain Mowbray; Colonel Jardine is depicted in realistic fashion by Mr. Maitland Dicker; a sound and capable embodiment of Lieut. David Cairn is furnished by Mr. W. Brisco Owen; Mr. Reginald Walter is smart and painstaking in his assumption of Jernigan; and Mr. Lawrence J. White cleverly portrays Charles. Miss Frances Vine assumes the rôle of Mrs. Gorringe in a charming manner, and plays delightfully; Mrs. Jardine is finely interpreted by Miss Ethel Royal, who acts with natural ease and abandon; Miss May Saker is to be complimented on a finished and thoroughly sympathetic assumption of Isabel Kirke; Miss Mabel Melba as Vicky Jardine is winsome and vivacious; and Miss Isabel Fladgate is good as Miss Potts. Uncle Joseph, in which Mr. Lawrence J. White, Mr. Edgar Stevenson, and Miss Isabel Fladgate appear with considerable success, serves as a curtain-raiser.

PENZANCE.—St. John's Hall.—Blue Bell in Fairyland was the holiday attraction here. Mr. Graham Falcon produced the piece in a complete and finished manner. Miss Lily Exton was well suited in the part of Bluebell, and Mr. Lawrence Emery made the most of his opportunities as Dicky. Mr. Herbert Clark and Mr. Will L. Clement as Will and Wont were very funny. Some clever dancing was introduced by Miss Haidee Fitch, and the chorus and ballet added considerably to the success. The musical direction was in the hands of Mr. Herbert Simpson, and the duties of stage management were carried out effectively by Mr. Herbert Clark.

PERTH.—Theatre Royal.—Sole Lessee and Manager, Mr. J. H. Savile; Acting Manager, Mr. Frank Aldridge.—The theatre was re-opened here on Monday with the farcical comedy, The Night of the Party. An amusing impersonation of Mr. Crosbie is given by Mr. Sebastian Smith, the audience according him throughout the hearty applause he deservedly merits. Miss Evelyn Howard also evinces a talent beyond the ordinary in her clever portrayal of Lady Hampshire; Miss Maud Linden is quite a success in the rôle of the vivacious Paulina, and the Misses Lena Graham, Stanley Ronalds, Marion Lewis, and Gertrude Manners are successfully placed as Mrs. Young, Gipsy Vandelier, Nannie Portland, and Baby Hastings respectively. Mr. Frank S. Denton sustains the arduous rôle of Mr. Frank Frayne in a manner which marks his possession of exceptional talent; Mr Aidan Lovett makes an ideal elderly Sir Charles Hampshire; Mr. Douglas Munro's Mr. Flambert is clever and effective; as also are Mr. A. Patrick as Mr. Roundle, and Mr. Ernest Rivarz as the amusing Mr. Bogle; Mr. Edmund H. Sayers is seen to advantage in Alderman Kargon, and Messrs. Charles F. Bruce, Charles Wilson, Abbey, A. E. James, and Samuel Plinge are advantageously placed in their respective parts of Alec. Montressor, Horace Clonge, Mr. McRoth, Boy at Hadstine Hall, and Captain Bleary.

PLYMOUTH.—Theatre Royal.—Lessee and Manager, Mr. C. F. Williams; Acting-Manager, Mr. J. Langdon Lee.—The Royal re-opened on Monday after the summer vacation, and the vagaries of Mr. James Welch in The New Clown were immensely enjoyed. Mr. Welch, as Lord Cyril Garston, made fine use of the opportunities afforded by this exceptionally humorous part; Mr. G. H. Snazelle was an ideal circus proprietor, throwing himself heart and soul into his work; Miss Audrey Ford made a fascinating Rose; Mr. Charles Hanbury was excellent as Captain Jack Trent, and Mr. A. Brown was a fine "strong man." Other members of the capable cast are Messrs. Lamb, L. Herbert, C. James, and the Misses Helena Millias and Alexander.

Palace of Varieties.—Owners, County Theatres and Hotels, Ltd.; Manager, Mr. J. Field.—Mr. R. A. Roberts, in his well-known sketch Dick Turpin, makes a hit here by his marvellous quick-change acting. Datas, the man with the remarkable memory, holds his audience spell-bound while giving dates of bygone events with never-failing accuracy. Kahmand Kahn mystify beholders by some mysterious necromancy; Will Musgrove has a couple of songs with "catchy" refrains, and Ruby Ashton is a finished comedienne. Others contributing to the entertainment are Pete and Juno (coloured comedians), Victor Travers (eccentric), and Vernon's Pictures.

Grand Theatre.—Lessee, Mr. C. F. Williams; Manager, Mr. Ernest Grant.—Mr. Percy Williams's company presents Mr. Lingford Carson's Drama of Life here. Mr. Edward Lloyd as Harry Beech, a banker, gives a studiously accurate representation of a difficult part; Mr. Johnny McElroy is distinctly good as Sir Dobson White; Mr. Henry Compton makes an ideal Count de Foi, and Miss Ethel Kay as Sylvia Beech has no small share in the successful presentation of the piece.

Pier and Pavilion.—The Smart Set Entertainers are drawing crowded houses here. The company includes Messrs. Walter George, Arthur Court, and the Misses Hilda Light, Georgie Martin, Ethel Wilford, and Lena Hutchings.

Metropole Theatre.—Manager, Mr. Mitchell.—Mr. Harry Bedford's company is presenting Gipsy Jack here. Mr. Bedford earns hearty applause for his very capable acting as the hero, and is well supported by Miss Ada Antley as Nan. Miss B. Bedford makes an excellent May Harvey. Other members of a very creditable company are Messrs. David Curtis and Robert Gilbert.

PORTSMOUTH.—Theatre Royal.—Licensee and Manager, Mr. J. W. Boughton; Acting-Manager, Mr. Armstrong Bell.—The comic opera The Little Michus is being presented here by Mr. George Edwardes's well-selected company. The Little Michus are charmingly played by Miss Iris Hoey as Blanche Marie and Miss Thelma Raye as Marie Blanche; Madame Michu as portrayed by Miss Florence Parfrey is a brisk and telling performance. Of the General Des Ifs of Mr. Eric Thorne it would be difficult to speak too highly; Mr. Jack Cannot as Bagnolet ably seconds Mr. Thorne; Mr. George Miller as Pierre Michu plays genuine comedy; Gaston Riguad is undertaken by Mr. Tailleur Andrews in capital style; Aristide Vert is impersonated by Mr. Leonard Mackay with conspicuous success.

Prince's Theatre.—Licensee and Manager, Mr. J. W. Boughton; Acting-Manager, Mr. T. E. Agate.—Mr. Carr Loates and company are here for the week with the musical comedy drama At the World's Mercy. Mr. W. G. Irving is distinctly good as Captain Frank Manley; Moris Glodstein is cleverly played by Mr. Carr Loates; and Mr. Arthur S. Read is very creditable as Jabez Barber. The comic element is much in evidence, and in Act 2 a capital variety entertainment is given in which Miss Molly Bee, Mr. H. Evan Gibbon, Little Daisy, Mr. Leo Rodway, and others, meet with considerable success.

Empire Palace.—Secretary, Mr. W. Pratt.—The management of this hall have provided an excellent bill of fare for the holidays, and on Monday night there was a very crowded house to welcome the ever-popular queen of comedy, Miss Marie Lloyd, who was in her happiest vein, and gave four of her most successful songs, to the huge delight of the audience. The pleasing trio, Dolly, Agnes, and Maud, the factory nightingales, were much liked, and scored greatly; Chas. Ulrick, the barrel and banka wonder, is a clever exponent of the art of balancing with the feet while lying on his back; Kittie Rayburn, a smart character comedienne, had a flattering reception for her catchy and tuneful songs; Dale and Vale, speciality artists, gave a capital exhibition of pedestal dancing; Alexandra Edwin, a capable vocalist, was heard to advantage; the Two Bees, in their Indian scena, did well, and met with unstinted applause; the Three Rosslyn Girls, in song and dance; Stan Aubrey, eccentric leg-mania comedian; and Payne's Bio-Photoscope, with some popular pictures, completed a capital programme.

PRESTON.—Royal Hippodrome.—Proprietors, Messrs. W. H. Broadhead and Sons; Resident Acting-Manager, Mr. E. J. Linsdell.—First place in this week's bill is given to Stanley's Urchins, who provide a refined harmony, comedy, and dancing act; Frederica's Toy Terriers are very clever and amusing; Mlle. Du Roche has an excellent voice, and her songs evoke loud applause; H. O. Wills is a really funny comedian; Wallace Muirhead, "the singing boiler-maker," pleases the audience greatly; the Three Panamas are clever acrobats. Other good turns are provided by Johnson and Pelham, in a comedy pot-pourri act; Little Elsie, juvenile vocalist and dancer; and Leon and Williams, comedians.

Theatre Royal.—Manager, Mr. Stephen Pritt.—Monsieur Beaucaire and A Soldier of Fortune, admirably presented on alternate nights by Mr. Norman MacCowan's company, are the attractions here this week, and a hearty reception has been accorded to both plays. As M. Beaucaire, Mr. MacCowan gives a fine performance, interpreting the varied moods of the character very effectively; to Miss Violet Sterne generous praise is due for her artistic and very pleasing portrayal of Lady Mary Carlisle; the sinister rôle of the Duke of Winterset is ably filled by Mr. Murray Hathorn; Mr. J. C. Taylor is an earnest and manly Major Molyneux; and Mr. P. Ramsey Forman a thoroughly uncompromising Captain Badger. Mr. Robert Entwistle cleverly assumes the pompous manner of Beau Nash; Mr. Hans Schlasinger acquits himself well as the Marquis de Mirepoix and François; Miss Annie Windsor is seen to advantage as Lucy Rellerton; and Miss C. Howard Medley commendably sustains the part of Lady Relletron. Handsome costumes and picturesque scenry are praiseworthy features of both productions.

RADCLIFFE. — Grand Opera House. — Sole Owner and Manager, Mr. Geo. T. Sante; Acting-Manager, Mr. Jas. Boothman.—This theatre had a cosy, bright, and comfortable appearance when re-opened for the season on Monday night. Mr. Harry Starr's company is playing Carl, the Clockmaker. Mr. Starr fills various characters, and is successful in all, his excellent singing being a pleasing feature of the performance. As Farky Nabbs, an amateur detective, Mr. Wm. Miller is very humorous, and Mr. F. W. Graham is another humorist who is seen to advantage. Mr. Edwin Frith makes a good villain; Mr. W. Hee efficiently plays the part of a Nihilist; Miss Madge Blundell is a graceful heroine; and Misses C. Crossley and K. Norris impersonate minor parts well.

RAMSGATE.—Amphitheatre.—Proprietor, Lord George Sanger; Lessee, Mr. Henry Bowman.—During the first three days of the week the boards of this house were occupied by Mr. William Greet's well-chosen company in The Earl and the Girl. Large audiences welcoming the return visit of this capital production. Mr. William Cromwell, in the rôle of Jim Cheese, the dog trainer, was in splendid fettle, and made a great hit; while Miss Gertrude Simpson was equally successful in the character of Miss Elphin Haye, the American heiress. As Richard Wargrave, the real Earl of Stoke, Mr. Robert Hyett acted and sang in admirable fashion; and the same remark applies to Miss Florence Wix, who made a capital 'Liza Shoddame, Jim's sweetheart. All the other characters were in capable hands. The chorus and orchestra, augmented for the occasion, contributed largely to the success of the production. For the last three nights the attraction at the Amphitheatre was The White Chrysanthemum, produced by Mr. Frank Curzon's principal company, which includes Mr. Horace Mills, Mr. W. H. Rawlins, and Miss Sybil Cunningham.

Royal Victoria Theatre and Pavilion.—Proprietors, Ramsgate Corporation; Sole Lessee, Mr. Jules Richeux.—Two Little Vagabonds, played in capital fashion by Hardie and Von Leer's company, has constituted a popular attraction at "the Pav." this week. Miss Evelyn Shaw is a big success as Marion Thornton; and Mr. Norman A. Overton plays in capable and effective style the character of George Thornton. Miss Dorothy Hart and Miss Josie Beltram, with grace and skill, impersonate the parts of Dick and Wally (the "two little vagabonds") respectively; Miss Violet Agnew handles the rôle of Barabara Scarth in excellent fashion; Mr. E. Stidwell portrays Capt. Darville admirably; and good work is contributed by Mr. Gordon K. Bull (Bill Muggins), Miss Kathleen O'Connor (Biddy), and by the remainder of the company. The play has been doing good business.

RAWTENSTALL.—Grand Theatre. — Lessee and Manager, Mr. Arthur De Frece; General-Manager, Mr. George Dickinson.—This theatre re-opened under new management on Monday evening, when Mr. Andrew Melville's company appeared in Driven from Home, which was well presented. Miss Frances Ruttledge, in the dual part of Laura Raybrook and Walter the Younger, was a distinct success, her portrayal being very powerful and artistic. Miss Evelyn Marrable made an excellent Margaret, and Miss Florence Trevoir an acceptable Barbara Ashdown. Mr. Felix Pitt as Anthony Raybrook was very good, whilst as Jabez Thomas, his servant, Mr. Harry Cornwall gave a dignified and natural portrayal. Mr. James Allen as Geoffrey Waring was clever as the villain, and made the most of his opportunities, and Mr. Alick Macmillan as John Anderson was an early favourite with his humorous interpretation of the character. Mr. Percy Dawsone gave a neat representation of Willie the Outcast.

RHYL.—Queen's Palace.—General-Manager, Mr Howard Lees.—A good holiday programme is provided for the patrons of this house. The Andos Family, foot balancers, perform a number of clever feats with a wonderful grace and ease; the Maisanos, novel entertainers, combine good instrumental work with their comedy; Attilla, the heavy-weight lifter, displays his remarkable strength in various exploits; Edward Davies has a capital voice, and sings his songs in good style; the Sisters Brookes, clever vocalists and dancers; and Tom Moore, comedian, contribute good turns.

Pier Pavilion.—Lessees, Messrs. Adeler and Sutton; Manager, Mr. Jack Macdermott.—Old and new favourites supply a strong and varied programme this week. Wee Mona, juvenile comedienne, tops the bill, and her songs and dances are greatly enjoyed; Marriott Edgar introduces both originality and humour into his songs; Jack Hughes remains another week, his vocal contributions being always appreciated; Bert Weston sings a budget of catchy songs; Jack Macdermott never fails to evoke hearty applause for his well selected songs; Forshaw Kershaw is successful as solo pianist and reciter.

E. H. Williams' Merrie Men are drawing great crowds, and deservedly so, for the programme is one of agreeable variety.

ROCHDALE.—New Theatre Royal, Ltd.—Managing-Director, Mr. W. Robinson; General-Manager, Mr. Otto C. Culling; Resident-Manager, Mr. J. Hague.—The re-opening was inaugurated by Her One Great Sin, the interest of which was maintained throughout. Mr. Sam Arthur as the honest Reuben Warhurst is seen to great advantage; Mr. J. Leicester Jackson cleverly portrays the part of Arnold Thorahill; some genuine humour is infused into the rôle of Jerry Jumble by Mr. Fred Hodson; Miss Nellie Lambert is effective as Nancy Winpenny; and Miss Blanche St. Albans acts with power as Grace Warhurst.

Empire Theatre of Varieties.—Proprietor and Manager, Mr. Thos. Hargreaves; Acting-Manager, Mr. F. Hargreaves.—Another good company is engaged for this week. Bishop and Hanlon are a highly-diverting pair of comedians; Flo Hilton is a popular male impersonator; Marlo, juggler; the Elvie Comedy Trio; Jim Hegarty, comedian, dancer, and whistler; the Five Casino Girls, brass instrumentalists; and the Empire Bioscope complete a most enjoyable programme.

ROTHERHAM.—Theatre Royal, Ltd.—Managing-Director, Mr. F. Macnaghten; Resident-Manager, Mr. Holbery Hardy.—Mrs. Morton Powell and company are here this week with When All Is Dark, a strong moral play. Mr. Cecil Austin-Lee is an excellent Rev. Basil Gorke, and Mr. George H. Pitt gives a strong portrayal of the part of Constantine Schwabe. Mr. Henry Heller is highly successful as Rev. Mr. Byars, and Mr. Francis Cairns scores as Lucifer; Sir Robert Llewellyn is capably enacted by Mr. Bryce Methven; and Mr. G. Rammell scores as Harold Spence. Mr. W. M. Wilson is deserving of mention as Hon. Charlie Gadfly; and Mr. Charles Clayton does well as Mr. Ommaney; Mr. D. M. Stormont has a capital part as Ionides; and Mr. Ritchie Bell is a sprightly Alphonse. Mrs. Morton Powell gives a pleasing representation of Helena Bryass; and Miss Bessie Ellis as Gracie Goldeye has a very suitable part. Miss Laura Walker as Gertrude Hunt gives a highly-finished representation of a most difficult part.

RUGBY.—Theatre Royal.—Managing-Director, Mr. A. F. Cross; Acting-Manager, Mr. Drew Mackintosh.—Mr. F. B. Wouife and company are appearing this week with Lady Godiva, Jane Snore, and Nell Gwynne. On Monday night, before a large and appreciative audience, Lady Godiva was presented, and gave much satisfaction. Mr. F. W. Wouife as Tom o' Coventry is an actor of exceptional merit, and his powerful and artistic rendering could not well be improved; Miss Ethel Grimes as Lady Godiva gives an artistic and impressive impersonation; as Lady Aldwyth Miss Catherine Brook is excellent; Miss Edith Lorraine as Elfrida acquits herself creditably; Mr. R. S. Innes thoroughly looks the part of Leofric, Earl of Mercia, and acts exceedingly well; Mr. Howard Barlow, in the rôle of Algar, Earl of Northumbria, gives a very successful exposition of a difficult character; Mr. Ernest Hamilton as Unwolfson proves himself an actor of ability; and as Robin Shackleton Mr. Bob Anderson wins much applause. Mr. G. Edward Dunstan as Edgar the Nameless gives an excellent impersonation.

RYDE.—Theatre Royal.—Lessees and Managers, J. Bannister Howard, Ltd.—Mr. E. Lockwood and Mr. R. Crossman's company have been here on a three days' visit with the musical comedy Sergeant Brue, which has attracted good audiences nightly. In the title-rôle, Mr. E. Russell gave an entertaining display; and Miss Kitty Dale acted successfuly the part of Aurora Brue. Miss Constance Berkley performed brightly as Daisy; and Miss Aileen Macdonald was a charming Mabel Widget. Mr. J. H. Goldsworthy's presentation of Michael Brue was a meritorious one; and the characters of Crookie Scrubbs and Mr. Crank, as presented by Messrs. T. A. Shale and Henry Chichester, were the cause of much merriment. Lady Bickenhall was very successfully impersonated by Miss Lily Lingard, whose graceful performance was greatly appreciated.

Pier Pavilion.—Lessee, Mr. J. Herbert Jay; Manager, Mr. F. T. Studd.—The programmes provided by the management during the past week have come up to the high standard maintained in the past. The principal portion has been borne by the ever-popular Stanford Quartette, whose return to the town has met with due success. The Ladies' Grosvenor Orchestra give a talented performance twice daily from the band stand, and their efforts have gained general admiration.

SALFORD.—Prince of Wales.—Proprietor and Manager, Mr. E. B. Goulden; Acting Manager, Mr. Harold Goulden.—A Warning to Women is a strong holiday attraction, and the leading part of Dr. Marcus Dread is taken by Mr. C. Watson Mill, the author, who plays with much force. Miss Rosalind Tate makes an impression as Moira Kennion; as Shaun Mr. Algernon Syms acts the constant friend cleverly; Mr. Henry Rutland makes a good study of Squire Kennion; Mr. N. C. Slaughter is an amusing Lord Eversleigh; Mr. V. W. Carlyle a manly Fergus McNaughton; Miss Emmie Barton is a charming Sheila Kennion; and Myles O'More a pleasing character in the hands of Miss Edith Rutland. Miss Ellen Beverley as Molly O'More, Miss Daisy Beaumont as Balrice, Miss Marie Moore as Hildred, Mr. Norman D. Cannon as Rev. Emmanuel Wallace, Mr. Henry P. Kennedy as Mike McQuade, and Mr. W. Pallister Adcock as Ferdinand de Joules give adequate support.

Regent Theatre of Varieties, Ltd.—Managing-Director, Mr. W. Turner; Manager, Mr. Herbert Raymond; Secretary, Mr. J. C. Patterson. — As usual, the drolleries of Harry Weldon, a great favourite here, keep the house in roas; A Concert Rehearsal, by Lady Mansel and her juveniles, is a clever performance, which is much appreciated. The excellent programme also includes Geoffreys and Benson, in comedy sketch, Spoofed; Frank Crisp, baritone comedian; Lillie Lassah, comedienne and dancer; the Haverleys, American song illustrators; Childie Stuart, comedienne; the Loves, duettists and dancers; Mlle. Sara's living pictures; and the Two Eltons, triple horizontal bar comedians; Chas. Rowen, eccentric comedian; and Sill and Sillcott, in sketch, Left Luggage, also appeared, and gave much satisfaction.

Royal Hippodrome.—Manager, Mr. W. B. Broadhead; Acting-Manager, Mr. Percy B. Broadhead; Resident Acting-Manager, Mr. C. H. Wentworth.—A capital entertainment is provided this week. A smart performance is given by the Tokios, the famous Japs; Carl Mysto, a handcuff king, gives a clever exhibition of prison-breaking; George Young, a blind collier boy, with a good voice, is also well received. Other clever turns include Jessie Jukes, juvenile comedienne and dancer; the Three Coopers, descriptive vocalists; Bill Bailey, comic vocalist; Permane's Bears; the Three Sisters Thurman, vocalists and instrumentalists; and George Edney, character actor-vocalist.

SALISBURY.—County Hall.—Proprietor, Mr. Arthur Whitehead; Business-Manager, Mr. T. Brinsmead.—Miss Emily Huby's company in The Price of Pleasure formed the holiday attraction here. Mr. Howell Webb as Sir James Featherstone was extremely good; as Gilbert d'Armand Mr. Bertram Ross gave an excellent interpretation; Mr. D. Vere made an amusing Tatters; and Miss Emily Huby as Biddy Flanagan scored a success; Miss Mara Collings deserved praise as Alice Rivers. The remaining characters were well cast.

Victoria Park.—Director of Entertainments, Mr. F. D'Alton Tebby; Manageress, Miss Jessie D'Alton.—A good programme is again presented here. Miss Beattie Witham proves a smart comedienne; Miss Ramsdale sings with good effect; Mr. Skidmore fairly takes the audience by storm with his quaint vocalism; Mr. Tom Walton and Mr. William Dyar do good work.

SCARBOROUGH.—Spa Theatre.—Proprietors, The Cliff Bridge Co.; Manager, Mr. Fras. Goodricke.—Miss Emma Hutchison and Mr. Pery Hutchison's company is here this week with Public Opinion. Miss Lilias Earle as Lady Diana Calderhaw renders her part with spirit and vivacity. As Viscount Pomley Mr. Douglas Greet acts very capably. Mr. Percy Marshall takes the part of Wibsey very cleverly. Mr. Fred Lewis as the Hon. Mr. Justice Mulley acts capably. As Lord Percy Kilgom Mr. Ashton Pearce is well received. Mr. C. J. Barber is quite at home in the rôle of Jowers, and as Sir Babbington Mulley Mr. Douglas Hamilton is deservedly well received.

Londesborough Theatre.—Proprietors, Messrs. Waddington and Son; Manager, Mr. J. T. Carpenter.—Mr. Wm. Greet's company in The Earl and the Girl is paying a third visit here. The part of Jim Cheese is in the able hands of Mr. Wm. Stephens, who causes roars of laughter by his comical antics. Mr. Will Hindson as Downham is an old Scarborough favourite, and has a part that he fills exactly. Mr. Arthur Harold as Dick Wargrave finds much favour. Miss Jennie Richards as Liza Shoddam displays originality, and as Elphin Haye Miss Frances Earle is all that could be desired. Miss Beatrice Anderson as Mrs. Shimmering Black acts with much energy.

The Hippodrome.—Proprietor, Mr. George Zalva.—"Billy," the famous horse, is here this week, and can do almost anything but talk. The Ohmys are still here with an entire change of programme and clever equestrian tricks. The feature of the performance is Selkirk's Juvenile Spectacle, entitled Bonnie Scotland. The children who take part have undoubtedly been trained by excellent tutors. Frank Hartley is a capable boy juggler. Yetta shows remarkable agility on the tight rope. Pietro, who makes his first appearance in England as a contortionist, gives an excellent performance.

Theatre Royal.—Proprietress, Mrs. Henry Mayhew; Manager, Mr. Fred P. Morgan.—Mr. Fred Benton has a powerful company here this week in The French Spy. Miss Gertrude Evans as Countess Andre acts to perfection. Miss A. Harrison Tate is a tragic Olga. Mr. Rd. Fulton is admirably suited as Capt. Sommers, and Mr. Max Coutts is successful as Count Romanoff.

People's Palace and Aquarium.—Managing-Director, Mr. Wm. Morgan; Secretary and Manager, Mr. Walter Kitchingman.—The vocalist for the week is Mr. Wilfred Hudson, who has a powerful and well-trained tenor voice. The Zerbinis Troupe of seven, in their musical scena, The Enchanted Glen, gave an excellent and up to date turn. The Sisters Allen are international dancers, who put a good deal of spirit into their work, and dance well. Takio imitates with wonderful ability. M. Edgar is very clever on the trapeze. Le Brun and Irene are artistic jugglers, and are well received. Leo Lester's comedy pantomime, Sports, contributes a lively turn. The Lizzette Troupe of tumblers are here for another week. Miss Molly Auguarde sings tuneful songs. Elsie Rubina is still retained on the bill. Lily Andrews shows much ability in coon songs. Mlle. Ameda is an efficient contortionist and juggler. Vernon's Imperial Bioscope has an entirely new set of pictures, and Mlle. Levante's Orchestra of Ladies increases in popularity daily.

Olympia, Foresnore Road.—Proprietors, People's Palace and Aquarium; Managing Director, Mr. Wm. Morgan; Secretary and Manager, Mr. Walter Kitchingman.—The Pygmies are paying a return visit here, and are attracting a great deal of attention. Mr. W. Hoffman, who was with Stanley in Africa, is the lecturer, and carries out his part of the work very creditably.

SHEFFIELD.—Lyceum Theatre. — Managing-Director, Mr. John Hart; General-Manager and Treasurer, Mr. J. E. B. Beaumont.—Cleaned and entirely redecorated, the Lyceum presented a bright and artistic apparance on Monday when The Silver King was acted to a large and delighted house by Mr. Austin Melford's specially-selected company. That old Sheffield favourite, Mr. Edward J. George, was cordially welcomed on making his entrance as Jaikes, and his acting was full of the old humour and genial characteristics; Mr. Fred Davis acted with great dramatic power and s

NEW ENGLISH AND FOREIGN PLAYS.

In order to assist managers and others in the selection of pieces for production and adaptation, we are publishing from time to time synopses of likely English and Continental plays, so that dramatic speculators may judge for themselves of the suitability of the plots for their purpose. Authors wishing for this publicity should forward synopses to "Playwrights," care of The Era, from whom further particulars can be obtained.

"CUMBERLAND '61."

Play in Four Acts,
by Franklin Fyles.
Copyright. All rights reserved.

This play deals with incidents occurring during the American War between North and South. The question of heredity will be found treated in connection with the character of Dirk Kansett, the son of Colonel Leslie Murdoch by an Indian wife. We find a large party assembled at the Colonel's residence at the West Point Military Academy. Amongst them are a widow, Mrs. Victor, and Pink, her daughter; John Lennox, an idle New Yorker, whose son, Dolph, is a cadet; the Colonel; Alice Ainsley, daughter of a Cumberland mountaineer, educated by the Colonel, who wishes to marry her; Gordon Grayne, a cadet lieutenant, in love with Alice, and others. There is a deadly feud between the Graynes and the Ainsleys, owing to a dispute over the diversion of a mountain stream. Many lives have been sacrified, usually on, or near a certain bridge over a deep mountain ravine (where, too, the scene of the action in the third act is laid); the last victim of the feud was Benner Ainsley—Alice's father's brother. The course of the American-Veronese love story is anything but smooth, at first, that is. Visitors arrive from the Academy. Dolph, like many a youth, fancies that he loves the widow, while he is really devoted to Pink. The mother, while fond of the son, finds the father worthy of more serious consideration. He, too, appears soon. Colonel Leslie Murdoch is a thoroughly selfish, unprincipled, and intemperate man of the world, but a clever soldier and a strict disciplinarian. His son, Dirk Kansett, is "ragged" and "hazed" by the fellow cadets. The strain of Indian blood in his veins causes him to be treated as if he were a mulatto, and they drive him almost to despair by singing negro songs "at" him. He appeals to his father, who bids him, coldly and sternly, return to his duties as a cadet in the Academy. Dirk reminds him that his mother was an Apache Princess, the daughter of a chief, married by the ceremonies of her people. He tells his father that he knows the true story of his parentage, and that his weak, gentle mother died when a white libertine broke her heart. Murdoch replies that he intends to drive Dirk from West Point, and the latter threaten exposure. The father tells him that he cannot prove his story; the son's Indian blood is roused, and he vows vengeance for his mother's wrongs and sufferings. Alice hears their conversation, and is aghast at the prospect of her future life as the wife of such a man. He knew that her father was a poor, rough Cumberland mountaineer, unable to afford to educate his beautiful child of the mountains; pleased with her childish beauty, he consented to Murdoch's defraying the expenses of bringing her up, with a view of marrying her, but her father and daughter regret bitterly the bargain, when seen in the true light of its development. When her old boy-lover, Gordon Grayne, arrives, Alice, who has made a confidante of Pink, tries to avoid him. He has his commission, and is ordered to join General Sherman's forces for immediate service in the Cumberland district—his old home. Alice and he discuss old scenes and memories; they are Juliet and Romeo still, in defiance of feuds and the trend of events. The Colonel's sympathies are with the Southern cause: Gordon Grayne's with the North. The latter begs the former to influence Alice's father to end the feud, telling him of his love for Alice, but Murdoch tells him of his impending marriage with her in the pretty little church on the Knoll, close to her home, adding, with cutting sarcasm, that if Gordon will carry a flag of truce and can obtain leave of absence, he may regard himself as invited to the wedding. The lad is deeply offended, and, knowing Alice's wishes, resolves to save her. Her father arrives, and his honest, homely ways and dialect contrast with the purer speech and culture of his affectionate daughter. She tells him that she detests the Colonel, who means the bargain to be carried out, and this leads to the mention of Gordon Grayne's name. Benner Ainsley asks Murdoch to release Alice, but the reply is that she would be free to marry Gordon; thus using the feud to further his own egoism. This is the third skein in the thread of the plot. Dirk has to be acknowledged by his father, the feud must end, Alice and Gordon are to make a happy marriage, and all these things are brought about in a series of picturesque scenes. The Colonel's marriage is actually celebrated, but it is never consummated, as Murdoch is shot during an attack by the enemy. He had signed a paper, at Dirk's instigation, tricked Dirk out of its possession, and it is found on his father's dead body. Gordon Grayne saves Benner Ainsley's life at the bridge, instead of taking it, thus ending the feud, and removing all obstacles to a happy marriage with Gordon for Alice. Dolph and his father pair off with Pink and her mother.

"THE AUSTRIAN DANCER."

Play, in Four Acts, by Margaret Mayo.

This is a play dealing with the period of disturbances between Austria and Italy in 1848, the scenes being laid in or near Milan. Nearly all of those engaged or employed at the Theatre Royal, Milan, are Patriots, and sworn members of a league and conspiracy to expel the Austrians from Italy, and restore freedom from the Austrian yoke to their country. The Archduke Adolph of Austria is the hereditary Duke of Rustenburg, and Viceroy of Italy. His grandson and heir-presumptive is Flavio, whose cousin, Count Otto von Lutzen, is next heir and present aspirant to the Dukedom of Rustenburg. The Countess Stephanie von Eifelstein is the greatly-neglected betrothed of Flavio. Betti, the "Austrian dancer," is a world-famed star. We find the whole personnel of the Theatre Royal rehearsing while awaiting her arrival for her first appearance before an impatient Milanese audience; Carlos, dancing-master and Patriot, directing the rehearsal at the theatre, of which Verbio is the director. Von Lutzen tells him that the Archduke and Flavio intend to witness Betti's première, and to pass through the green-room to the Royal box, in order to avoid a public arrival. Captain Falkenstein is in Lutzen's confidence in all matters, gallant or otherwise, connected with Flavio. Nissa, Fidelia, and a host of other dancers are all curious to see Betti, whose fame and extravagant tastes have already preceded her. The Countess Stephanie is already seated in her box, but consents to come to the green-room for a talk with Von Lutzen. We find, very soon, that the two are deeply attached to each other; but she is true to Flavio, who is suspected of Italian sympathies and of plotting against Austria, following in the footsteps of his renegade father, Virdi Rinaldo; his mother, the daughter of an Austrian Archduke, having fled to the arms of Virdi Rinaldo, an Italian, half-rebel, half-brigand. Should Von Lutzen be able to prove Flavio to be a traitor to Austria his succession to the Dukedom and his marriage with Stephanie seem certain to result. He thinks Flavio devoted so much to Italy that he would prefer an Italian peasant girl to Stephanie herself, whom Von Lutzen tells of his desire to bring home to Flavio the proofs of treachery. The Archduke and Flavio arrive at the theatre privately, to avoid a hostile reception at the hands of the infuriated Italian populace. From ensuing conversations, it is easy to see that Italy's misfortunes have roused Flavio's strongest pity. In a talk with Carlos, he is told the story of his father's death while leading his forces against the Archduke's, his grandfather's, during the battle of Sandri. Virdi Rinaldo fought bravely to the last; but the Austrians were reinforced, and Carlos shows Flavio the knife, with a crucifix attached to it, with which Rinaldo stabbed himself, but not before he had made the infant Flavio lisp a vow of revenge upon the cross and the knife—and a vow, too, never to make peace with the Austrians. Carlos tells Flavio that secret preparations for an Italian rising are complete, and that the knife will be sent to him, in a few days' time, as the signal for him to answer his dead father's call to throw in his lot with the insurgents. Flavio promises to obey the summons. When Betti arrives she is full of whims, fancies, and fads, and pretends to be too ill to dance. After a long delay and much fuss, she consents to appear, after having expressed a wish to leave the excitements of theatrical life for good and all, and to retire to a peaceful life in the country. Meanwhile, she has seen Flavio, and fallen violently in love with him; and she confides her rustic longings to him. Falkenstein overhears this, and makes use of it, in consultation with Von Lutzen, to further their plans against Flavio. Von Lutzen tells Betti that he wishes to save his cousin from the results of his political follies, and that he is anxious to discover whether they are of a really serious nature. Flavio is to leave, on the following day, for Castle Veccio, at the foot of which is old Urban, the Archduke's head gardener's flower-clad cottage. Betti consents to disguise herself as an Italian peasant girl, and pretend to be old Urban's niece, with the view of extracting incriminating confessions from Flavio; and she is led to believe that it is all for Flavio's welfare. This comedy of make-believe proceeds apace, and most of the principals concerned meet again, near the Archduke's country seat, at Castle Veccio. After much reluctance, Betti is persuaded to do without her maid and a number of pet animals, and she and Flavio meet, without his recognising her. Von Lutzen had already obtained possession of the knife and crucifix by a lucky accident: they have passed into Betti's care, and she lets Flavio see them. He asks eagerly for the "message" and the "summons," but she is unable to explain his impatience, fully, to herself. However, she gives him the knife and the crucifix, returning his ardent embraces. A week later, the Patriots from the Milan Theatre Royal assemble at Castle Veccio. An Italian rising has been decided upon, to begin in the neighbourhood. Old Urban has already arrested an Italian spy, disguised as a wandering minstrel. His message—intercepted—is for Flavio to join the insurgents at the Caponi ruins, near at hand: the spy being, evidently, Carlos. The meeting is fixed for noon. Old Urban, who is the willing tool of Von Lutzen and his party, is told to tell his "niece" (Betti) to give Flavio the message, the others waiting to watch its effect upon their "suspect." Urban, most innocently, tells Betti that Von Lutzen would inherit all should anything happen to Flavio. This explains Von Lutzen's plot to her, and, as she loves Flavio by this time, she resolves to save him. Orders have been given for the man found wearing the disguise taken from Carlos to be shot down, as he was evidently carrying it for someone else to adopt. Von Lutzen gives the disguise and the message to Betti, knowing that she will give them to Flavio, who will go with them to the south gate, where he will be shot by Von Lutzen's soldiers. Betti pretends to agree. It had been arranged for her to ride, with Stephanie, to the Caponi ruin at noon. In an interview with Flavio, their newly-found love impels her to tell him of Von Lutzen's plot and of her part in it. He forgives her for her duplicity. Noon approaches; Flavio is anxious to join his men. Stephanie arrives; the two horses are brought. The plans of the conspirators from the theatre have been discovered at the castle, and there are signs already of a disturbance. Carlos warns Flavio against Betti as a tool of Von Lutzen's. This time he believes it, and, furious against her, he rushes off to join his men. To save him, Betti dons the disguise, mounts one of the horses, and disappears, ahead of Stephanie, in the direction of the south gate. Three months later we are back in the green-room at the Milan theatre. A festival performance is arranged, to celebrate the Italians' victory. Flavio, now a general, is the hero of the hour. Betti's exploit is known, but her identity with the "Phantom Saviour" of the Italian forces is not known to anyone. She arrives, ragged and travel-stained, at the theatre, to find herself supplanted by the other members of the ballet. Flavio arrives in the green-room. He has heard how his life was saved, but does not know that it was saved by Betti, and, distrusting her still, he greets her coldly and cruelly. His entrance in the theatre is greeted with loud acclamations. Stephanie tells Flavio the story of Betti's heroism. The other ballet-dancers jeer at Betti, calling her the "Austrian spy." Flavio, however, believes Stephanie, and Betti is restored to his loving arms at last.

"A CHILD OF POVERTY."

Sensational Drama in Four Acts, by Frank L. Bixly.

In this play a child, Gertie, has been kidnapped, but has fallen into good hands, as she is found and adopted by Albert Rufus, and is adored by all the members of his family and household, and especially by his schoolboy son Willie. Gertie's father has offered a reward of $25,000 for her recovery. A "gentleman" villain tries to steal Gertie again from Albert Rufus; he appears to have had already shady transactions with Pietro, an Italian villain, who is also trying to steal Gertie again and obtain the whole reward for himself. The little girl is stolen by Pietro and carried off. Singleton, the "gentleman" villain, witnesses the abduction, which he tries to hinder by shooting Pietro; but he misses his aim, and the shot kills Albert Rufus. The rest of the play deals with the chase—half over the American continent—of the two miscreants by most of the other characters in the play. There are several attempted murders, the brave lad Willie being always to the fore in all dangers, and enjoying apparently a charmed life in the midst of repeatedly occurring hair's-breadth escapes from what appears unavoidable death or disaster. He is the leading spirit in this chase, which involves his father's murder and almost his own, and a dangerous journey to the mountains near Ouray, Colerado, where the whole pursuing party are nearly blown to pieces by a dynamite explosion, engineered by the two villains Singleton and Pietro; his capture by the villains, who try to hurl him down a mountain gorge at Emigrant Gulch, Colorado, falling down themselves in an ensuing struggle; Willie's nearly being burnt to death by the lightning setting fire to the mining hut which shelters Gertie, during his daring successful rescue of the child; and other adventures. The villains die of their injuries at the mountain gorge. Willie discovers that the rich mines visited during the chase are his own property, willed to him by his father, and he lives to restore Gertie to the arms of her distracted parents, and in due time to make her his wife.

THE STAGE IN THE 18th CENTURY.

With the death of Barry in 1777, the retirement of Garrick the year before, Mrs. Cibber and Mrs. Woffington dead, Mrs. Pritchard and Mrs. Clive in retirement—says Mr. H. B. Irving in an article with the above title in the Fortnightly—a generation of great players had passed from the stage. But in 1782 the glory of the theatre was revived by the first appearance of Mrs. Siddons as Isabella in the Fatal Marriage at Drury Lane. It was not her first appearance in London. Garrick had engaged her seven years before; but she had not been cast for parts that suited her; her genius was yet unmatured, and Garrick had failed to detect even the promise of it. Now she astonished and electrified her audience by the power of her declamation, the intensity of her passion. In 1785 she reached the zenith of her greatness by her performance of Lady Macbeth. The year before, old Mrs. Clive, then over seventy years of age, had come up from her retirement at Twickenham to see the new actress who had so taken the town by storm. She was eagerly asked what she thought of her; her reply is a truly delightful criticism: "Think!" she said, "why, I think it's all truth and daylight!" The year after Mrs. Siddons's appearance as Isabella, her brother, John Kemble, had made a distinct success at Drury Lane as Hamlet; it was the beginning of a career honourable and distinguished. The Kembles were the first great players who had sprung from the itinerant ranks of their calling. Their father, Roger, had been a strolling player, and many were the hardships that John Kemble and his brother Stephen would relate of their own strolling days. The adversity of their early lives had given the Kembles—John and Mrs. Siddons—strong and resolute characters; they were honourable, upright, worthy people, with all their rather Crummles-like solemnity, players who supported the dignity and independence of their calling. Their history lies to a great extent in the nineteenth century. The school of acting they introduced had neither the fire and vivacity of that of Garrick nor the fierceness and intensity of that of Kean and George Frederick Cooke. With some allowance for the prejudice of an actress whom Mrs. Siddons eclipsed, Mrs. Barry's account of the Kemble style of acting has some truth in it. "The Garrick school," she said, "was all rapidity and passion; while the Kemble school is so full of paw and pause, that, at first, the performers thinking their new competitors had either lost their cues or forgotten their parts, used frequently to prompt them." That solemn pause, which in theatrical history has become associated with the name of Macready, would seem to have had its origin with the Kembles. But the genius of Mrs. Siddons, the undoubted power of John Kemble in all that was eloquent and dignified in tragedy, these must not be confounded with, or judged by, the mannerisms which their admirers or pupils copied and converted into a habit of acting that had all the faults but none of the genius of the originals. No actor or actress has ever left so unmistakable an impress on those who saw them, won such an unanimous tribute of praise from the most diverse critics as Mrs. Siddons; in tragedy she is supreme in the history of our English theatre. "Of actors," said Lord Byron, "Cooke was the most natural, Kemble the most supernatural, Kean the medium between the two. But Mrs. Siddons was worth them all put together." We are apt to think to-day that there was something mechanical, stagey, rather unnatural, about even Mrs. Siddons, with all her greatness. Those who would correct such an impression may refer to Charles Young, the actor's, account of her entrance as Volumnia in Coriolanus, in the scene of her son's triumph. Most actresses had been content to follow the procession with the conventional stately steps of the tragedy queen; but Mrs. Siddons recollected she was the proud mother of a proud son: "Instead of dropping each foot at equi-distance in cadence subservient to the orchestra, deaf to the guidance of her woman's ear, with head erect and hands pressed firmly to her bosom, as if to repress by manual force its triumphant swellings, she towered above all around her, and almost reeled across the stage, her very soul, as it were, dilating and rioting in its exultations, until her action lost all grace and yet became so true to nature, so picturesque, and so descriptive, that pit and gallery sprang to their feet, electrified by the transcendent execution of the conception." Few written criticisms can give any real picture of a great piece of acting; this one comes very near to it. We catch a glimpse of the power and originality, the "truth and daylight," as Mrs. Clive called it, of Mrs. Siddons's acting; we see her doing a daring and difficult thing that mght well have been absurd or vulgar but for the genius of the artist.

Mrs. Siddons, though a woman, could not escape the penalty of success in these days any more than Garrick. No sooner had she won her great triumph in London than scurrilous attacks were made on her private character and that of her brother. Her morality being unassailable, Mrs. Siddons was attacked and caricatured as an ungenerous, grasping woman, whose only desire as an artist was to get money, who was deaf to all prayers of suffering or distress, who would even suffer her relatives to starve or subsist on public charity, sooner than give them a shilling of her great earnings. She and her brother were falsely accused of neglecting their aged father, and refusing assistance to their most eccentric sister, Mrs. Curtis. Mrs. Siddons may not have been as liberal with her money as some of her fellow-artists, but we must always remember that she was the mother of five children and supported her husband. Even if there had been any truth in the charges of meanness levelled against her, they were no concern of the public; but that is a later view. At the end of the eighteenth century, in the very zenith of her success, such libellous statements were sufficient to persuade an audience at Drury Lane Theatre to greet Mrs. Siddons with yells and hoots of disapprobation, and to compel her to address them in her defence. The actor was just as exposed at the end of the century as in the time of Garrick to the slander of some malicious penman or the brutality of an audience. But John Kemble was manfully indifferent to such things, far more resolute in withstanding them than David Garrick. Kemble, with all his affectation of Roman dignity and solemn speech, had a nice sense of humour and a stout heart. It was a happy omen for the theatre when, towards the close of the century, John Kemble became manager of Drury Lane. Though he could not succeed in averting the ruin brought about by Sheridan's disreputable administration, he preserved the stage itself from many of the ill-effects of the patentee's unscrupulous extravagance. In 1802, weary of Sheridan, he took a share in the management of Covent Garden Theatre, and throughout the fifteen years that he governed its affairs, upheld those high traditions of theatrical administration, the legacy of Colley Cibber and David Garrick.

The traditions handed down to their successors by these eighteenth-century actors are worthy of the beautiful art they so faithfully pursued. The pure art of acting, unassisted by the collaboration of other arts, received in them its highest expression. The intention of all the arts, says Sir Joshua Reynolds—and he includes the art of the actor among them—is to supply the natural imperfection of things; they are addressed not to the gross senses, but to the desires of the mind, to that spark of divinity which we have within, impatient of being circumscribed and pent up by the world that is about us; painting and acting are as far removed from the vulgar idea of imitation as the refined civilised state in whch we live is removed from a gross state of nature. I believe that the conditions of the eighteenth-century theatre were peculiarly favourable to the realisation by the actor of these, the highest possibilities of his art, that he had to make a single, an individual appeal to the imaginations, the emotions of his audience which taxed to the full all the resources of art, of temperament, of intelligence that he possessed.

And to follow his art in this eighteenth century, the would-be player had to be prepared to face difficulties and disadvantages which to-day have disappeared. I have in these papers been obliged to confine myself to the London stage; we have seen that there the actor had to endure much that was odious, that he was exposed on occasions to treatment which to-day is regarded by all sensible people as a relic of Puritan barbarism. But the ambitious actor who began his career as a strolling player had to endure, if we may accept the reminiscences of John Kemble, such humiliation, ignominy, actual suffering, as only a great devotion to his work could have determined a man of ordinary sensitiveness to go through. Towards the end of the century, however, a great improvement in these conditions took place. Instead of booths and barns, the provincial actor began to find in the more considerable towns theatres ready to receive him. Within a period of ten years, theatres were patented at Edinburgh, Bath, Norwich, York, Hull, Liverpool, Manchester, Chester, and Bristol, and at the end of the century we find the London "stars," Kemble, Mrs. Siddons, and others, for the first time making tours to the chief provincial centres. The theatre was becoming more and more a part of the life of the people, and, unprotected, unassisted by the State, more and more at the mercy of popular taste. No art that is left to the mercy of popular taste, that has to fight for its existence, can escape some measure of corruption. In the case of every other theatre in Europe, of every other art in England save theatrical art, this truth has been realised. It is the art of the actor that has suffered most in the course of the struggle; long runs, constant performances, no reasonable man will deny, are baneful to the artist. Perhaps some persons in this country may be found who will say that the art of the actor is not worthy of protection or encouragement; there are persons to whom it gives quite exceptional delight to call violinists "fiddlers," writers "ink-slingers," painters "daubers," and actors "mummers." They are the Philistines, and belong to all centuries. We see them at their fell work in the eighteenth as well as the nineteenth and twentieth centuries. But an impartial study of the history of this eighteenth-century theatre proves to us conclusively that, under propitious conditions, England is a soil as favourable to the production of fine actors as any other, and that the traditions of the English stage are as deserving as those of any other theatre of fostering care and preservation. That any esteem approaching the conditions of our eighteenth-century theatres could ever be reproduced in our own time may be a vain, a delusive hope; and we shall be perhaps forced to content ourselves with looking back with longing and regret to the splendid vitality, the zealous emulation, the spacious record of those great and palmy days of the English actors.

MISS DOT STEPHENS' SAD CASE.

Miss Doris Stephens, best known in the professional world as Dot Stephens, a very clever vocalist and dancer, met with a terrible accident late on the Saturday night of June 30. She had fulfilled an engagement at H.M. Theatre of Variéties at Walsall, and left the same night to go to Glasgow, where she was to have appeared the following week. On reaching Wolverhampton she had to wait some time to join the midnight mail on the London and North-Western line, and there met some professional friends. She went to the Hippodrome, Wolverhampton, and was afterwards accompanied to the High Level Station by a gentleman, who secured her a seat in a second-class compartment, and saw that the door on the platform side was properly fastened before the train started. On arrival at Stafford the door on the offside was found to be open and the compartment empty. There was a quantity of luggage on the racks and seats, and as there appeared to have been an accident a light engine was at once despatched up the line to search the track. On reaching Fordhouses, about three miles from Wolverhampton, the unfortunate young lady was found lying in the six foot way in an unconscious state, and terribly injured. She was conveyed to the Wolverhampton station, and thence to the General Hospital. She was found to be seriously lacerated about the head and body. On Sunday afternoon she had recovered consciousness, but had no recollection of how the accident occurred. It is supposed that she was under the impression that she was travelling in a corridor car, and on opening the door fell to the ground. Asked how she could account for the accident, Miss Stephens remarked, "The railway carriage was stuffy, and I went to open the window. After that I recollect nothing more till I regained consciousness in the hospital."

Miss Stephens was a clever vocalist, dancer, and actress, and first appeared with Mr. Bannister Howard as the Salvation Army lass in The Belle of New York, remaining with the company three years. She then joined Mr. George Dance for the part of Mrs. Pineapple in A Chinese Honeymoon and afterwards Mr. C. P. Levilly, understudying Miss Stella Gastelle as Alesia in La Poupée, a part she subsequently played, and was to resume in the autumn in Mr Herbert Ralland's company, lately on tour.

It is intended to purchase an annuity for Miss Stephens, whose terrible misfortune has already excited the greatest commiseration.

So sad a case has rarely, if ever, been brought before the dramatic and musical profession, whose record abounds in deeds of charity. The name of Miss Stephens is now to be added to the already full scroll of benevolent actions.

All subscriptions will be duly acknowledged in these columns. Subscriptions may be sent to Mr. J. Bannister Howard, Hon. Treasurer, 3, Bedford-street, Strand, W.C.; to the "Dot Stephens Fund," at the Capital and Counties Bank, King-street, Covent Garden; or to the Assistant Hon. Treasurer, Mr. F. H. Pedgrift, The Era Office, 5, Tavistock-street, W.C.

CONSIDERABLE improvement has recently been made in the ventilating arrangements of Queen's Hall so that the comfort of both smokers and non-smokers will be increased. The opening promenade concert will be given on Saturday next.

CHURCH AND STAGE.

The Rev. J. Cartmel-Robinson, vicar of St. Michael and All Angels', Bedford Park, is strong in his defence of the drama.

"I have always said," he remarks, "that the drama was the best and highest form of literature. No one can read the tragedies of Æschylus, Sophocles, Euripides, and later of men like our own Shakespeare, without feeling that the school of the humanities is somehow more truthfully represented there than in any other form of literature. And so I remember in the old parish whence I came, in the slums of the East End, it was my pleasure and privilege to reopen a theatre which, with its stock company—the best kind of company, I think—produced melodrama of the good old kind, not always quite true, making our friend 'Thomas Atkins' rather a swaggerer, who put the flag round him and died the death of a hero, whereas he is not like that, but a very prosaic person, with few ideals, who works for his wage and goes through the world with his mouth shut, and least of all a braggart among the soldiers of the nations.

"When one comes to deal with the relation between the Church and the theatre, one must at once confess that the relationship is better now than perhaps it has been at any former time. There was a period in England when the theatre, and all forms of art, and æstheticism, in every shape and form, were regarded as bad, when it was a sin to love anything that was fair and beautiful. By what process men arrived at this lamentable conclusion I don't know, because if God made things beautiful, and gave us a seeing eye, then it was natural we should love the best when we saw it, and it would have been a mere mockery if God had made beautiful things on the earth and we had not had any faculty within ourselves by which we could appreciate them. And, therefore, Puritanism did make a mistake in its day and generation. I have a respect for Puritanism as representing the sterner side of life, so necessary for everybody; but one must confess it has very serious limitations, and one of the worst things it did for our religion was to dehumanise it. The religious people of to-day, not only in this dear mother Church of ours, but also among the Nonconformist churches—that is to say, among all those whose progenitors were the iconoclasts of a former age—are beginning to appreciate the ritual of worship, and to appreciate art. There are some, of course, in every parish who object to a theatre, especially in their own neighbourhood, who nevertheless think it legitimate to go to one when they come to London on business. But there are also some who have a real rooted objection, and we ought to be willing to consider such an objection. There is such a thing as a conscientious objection, but when we plead for the conscience we ought to realise that God needs an enlightened conscience. If it were not so, then the Anarchist, who throws bombs at kings and governors, and kills women and little children, because he did it conscientiously would do it legitimately. It must be enlightened, and not merely the prejudice of a person with no real acquaintance with the theatre, the drama, or the actor, except, perhaps, what they have gathered from the enemies of the dramatic art. To say that the theatre is an evil place is a base assumption, a hypothesis which they have not proved. The question is not whether there is any evil in the theatre, but if it is inherent and a necessary part of the theatre. If it were, of centre, theatres should be closed forthwith by the law of the land. But evil is not more inherent in the theatre than it is in the church or chapel.

"The functions of the stage, I suppose, are chiefly to entertain, recreate, and educate. I do of set purpose occasionally go to the theatre when life sets into the ruts and seems to lose its expansiveness and rebound and I feel the horizon is narrowing around me a bit and the colour of it is getting grey. Yes, I go to the theatre at such times for recreation, and I may say I nearly always find it. The life of the average man is somewhat hard and colourless, and our occupations, from the highest to the lowest, are not always what we would like, and recreation is necessary. What are we to do? We are to choose some form of recreation, I think, which shall at once be really recreative and renew the life within us, and we find that in the theatre—at least, I do. I should not advise anyone to go there who has no hope of finding it, or thinks it to be unclean. But the theatre, as an educative medium, I hold to be one of the best institutions in the land. We get there what we cannot get anywhere else—certainly not in the pulpit. The plays of Bernard Shaw—I think he wants some understanding, as Wagner in his music dramas—are amongst some of the best sermons I have ever heard. If 'the proper study of mankind is man,' I am certain one gets it at the hands of the playwright and through the impersonation of the actor better than one can anywhere else. Vice and meanness and sins of all kinds are rebuked. Very often I notice those sins which are the sins of the respectable man outwardly, and which do not pass for sins with the average well-to-do citizen; sins for which he is seldom or never rebuked from the pulpit. Such sins, I say, are treated by the dramatist in a most effective way, and in the hands of a clever actor show us ourselves as no other can. Of course, there are some plays we ought not to go to at all, and there are others we ought to be careful about sending our children to. Of the problem play we can have too much. It may be necessary for the student, but I fancy that when you have it in excess, to say the least it is morbid and unhealthy. The same may be said of 'realistic' plays. It is a good thing to have a drain and a coal-hole, and to know that they are all right—if not, to make them right—but one does not want to live down there in the darkness or among the evil smells continually.

"I have seen in the musical dramas of Wagner some magnificent spiritual truth, Lohengrin, Parsifal, indeed, all of them are full of finest inspiration. They have touched me as no sermon ever did. We cannot wipe out the dramatic instinct; it is inherent-born with us, and only dies when we die. Therefore, let us see to it that we encourage only what is wise and good and true, for we should not reform the theatre by staying away from it. The Church knew the dramatic instinct and nature, and in the Middle Ages prepared those wonderful plays which were the forerunners of the great plays of the immortal man, 'the bard of Avon'—our own Shakespeare. He himself said, 'The world's a stage, and men and women merely players.' We have our exits and our entrances. We pass through the great world-drama until we come to the end, and then the curtain rings down, and the house of life is empty."

WE regret to hear that Mr. Will Simpson, comedian and clown, late of Drury Lane Theatre, is lying in the Stanley Hospital, Liverpool, having to undergo an operation.

MISS IVY MILLAIS, late of Mr. Wm. Greet's Sign of the Cross company, has been engaged by Mr. Albert Wyndham for Prince Arthur in his provincial tour, having made a distinct success in his King John sketch.

THE New Theatre, Aberdare, was reopened on Monday, after the recent renovation, with Mr. Whitmore Ledger and Miss Hettie Jeffries and a strong cast in The Curate. Miss Jeffries is exceedingly good in the part of Dick the Trumpeter. The same may be said of Mr. Whitmore Ledger as the Russian spy. Others of the company include Mr. Geoffrey Broughton as the curate, Messrs. Frank Stuart, Alfred Horton, Misses Winifred Stuart, Annie Stuart, and Msis Agnes d'Aragon.

LONDON & SUBURBAN THEATRES.

THE MARLBOROUGH.

On Monday, Aug. 6,
the Drama, in Five Acts, by Theo. Cremer,
entitled
"THE FATAL WEDDING."

The Fatal Wedding, the Bank Holiday attraction at the Marlborough, was first played in London at the Princess's Theatre on Aug. 25, 1902, and commended itself to popular favour as an excellent example of modern melodrama. Of American origin, and strongly flavoured with sensational incidents, the piece abounds in broadly-contrasted characters, and the author has also supplied the comic relief with a liberal hand. The plot turns upon the estrangement of a husband and wife, brought about by an unscrupulous man about town and an adventuress of the usual stage type. Howard Wilson is led to believe that his wife Mabel has been unfaithful to him, and, upon somewhat flimsy evidence, brings an action for divorce and gains a verdict. The unhappy mother is forbidden to see her two children, but with the assistance of a couple of faithful servants, takes them away with her. Then the sympathy of the audience is aroused by the sight of Mabel Wilson in a poorly-furnished attic in a New York tenement, endeavouring to earn a livelihood for herself and children by means of needlework. The boy is seriously ill, and the agent of the landlord threatens ejectment unless the overdue rent is paid. The villain and the adventuress pay a visit to the attic, and the last-mentioned makes an attempt to poison Mabel, whose little girl, quite by accident, drops the wineglass containing the deadly draught, and so saves her mother. It is in this obscure retreat that Howard Wilson discovers his wife and children, and takes means to have the invalid boy and the girl restored to their luxurious home. Of course there is the usual happy ending, while due punishment for their sins overtakes the bad characters in the piece.

Mr. Wilson Howard portrays with due care and distinction the part of Howard Wilson; and Mr. Guy Hastings is quite successful in his embodiment of Robert Curtis, his acting being particularly good in the later scenes, when the villain shows evidence of deterioration as the result of excessive drinking. Miss Katherine Clarke, without any tendency to exaggerate, displays natural feeling as the heroine Mabel Wilson; and Miss Leah Marlborough excellently embodies the scheming adventuress Cora Williams. Very popular characters are Toto, a French butler, and Bridget, a cook, who befriend the unfortunate heroine, these two rôles being played with much spirit and a true sense of humour by Mr. Edward Morgan and Miss Blanche Stanley. Mr. Walter Westwood must also be complimented on his capital rendering of the stolid German, Peter Schwartz; and Mr. Jack Waring wins favour as O'Reilly, a good-hearted policeman. Miss Madge McCalla plays in charming style the part of Jessie, the "little mother," who helps her mother, and says rude things to the wicked adventuress. Mr. Arthur Law Raynor does well as the Rev. Dr. Lanceford; other parts being assigned to Miss Florrie Lucas, Master Jack Crisp, Master Percy Franklin, and Miss Ethel Perry. The third act is greatly brightened by the songs and dances given by a number of children headed by Miss Dolly McCalla, who, assisted by the chorus, successfully gives "Yankee Doodle Dandy" and "Cariboo," an Indian coon song and dance. Master Walter Aubrey scores with a neat step-dance; Miss Ivy Westaby sings "Absence makes the heart grow fonder"; Miss Madge McCalla, the dainty "little mother," gives "Honey, won't you stop teasing me?"; and Miss Winnie Crisp, a clever juvenile toe-dancer, gives the descriptive song, "A picnic for two." Mr. Bert Coote is responsible for the production and arrangement; and the scenery gives complete satisfaction.

KING'S THEATRE, HAMMERSMITH.

On Saturday, August 4, the Drama, by George R. Sims and Arthur Shirley,
entitled
"TWO LITTLE VAGABONDS."

The King's reopened its doors for the autumn season on Saturday evening with this eminently celebrated Princess's play. The audience on Monday evening—a thorough Bank Holiday one—enjoyed to the utmost the exciting and pathetic incidents of the play. The company is judiciously selected, and in consequence the story of the play moves easily along. Mr. W. D. Fazan is an excellent and manly George Thornton, and Captain Darville is a capable impersonation in the hands of Mr. Henry Watson. The John Scarth of Mr. Edmund Cuthbert is of merit, and Mr. Jack Royal as Leeson, the soldier servant, acts satisfactorily. Mr. John F. Traynor makes a sturdy and amusing villain, Bill Mullins, alias "The Gaffer," and his confederates, Dido Bunce and The Cough Drop, find exceedingly clever representatives in Mr. Ernest K. Nelson and Mr. Fred Archer. Hargitt, the landlord of the Chequers, is ably played by Mr. Marston Moor, and the Joe Gargoyle of Mr. Hugh Holliman is keenly relished. Miss Grace Heywood enlists the warmest sympathy of the audience by her really fine acting of the much-wronged wife, Marion Thornton, and her success is most emphatic. Miss F. Russell Spiers is a pleasant Barbara Scarth, and Miss Muriel Clay's rendering of Nurse Randall deserves praise. Miss Marie Pritchard proves herself an actress of exceptional merit, and earns much applause by her bright picture of the villain's wife, Biddy Mullins. Of course, the chief interest centres in the sayings and doings of the "two little vagabonds," Dick and Wally, played by Miss May Hart and Miss Margaret Nybloc. Their bearing is boy-like, and the acting of both is very pathetic, bringing tears to the eyes of many hardened playgoers. It is a pleasure to say that their success was immediate and absolutely well deserved. The scenery was of a high order, and the music of Mr. Clarence C. Corri in good taste.

THE SHAKESPEARE.

On Monday, Aug. 6,
the Drama, in Five Acts, by Theo Cremer,
entitled
"THE FATAL WEDDING."

Like the good wine that needs no bush, The Fatal Wedding requires no recommendation to playgoers, whose interests it has served worthily and well for many years past. As a result, the popular parts of the well-appointed house at Clapham Junction have this week been crowded, and the elegant auditorium has resounded with cheers intermingled with shouts of laughter. The production is that of Mr. Bert Coote, whose name is an assurance of excellence, and the play has been set with striking elaboration and care, the scene of the Fifth-avenue Church, in which the title of the piece is realised, being very impressive. Another important scene is that of the richly-furnished drawing-room, in which a number of New York "slum" children take part in various specialities. Songs and dances are supplied in this scene by Master E. Frisby, Miss Ethel Priss, Master J. Grice, a diminutive clog-dancer, Miss Nora and Essie Herbert, and Miss Margaret Perry, who is responsible with assistants for an Indian love-scena, in which the romance of rival red men is depicted. Another contributor to the speciality entertainment is Miss Marjorie Lawrence, the impersonator of Daisy. The dainty little lady won great popularity in the Shakespeare pantomime this Christmas, and her welcome was most cordial. She portrays the "little mother" of the play with constant vivacity and no little dramatic skill, and her artless roguery and winning way make her a general favourite. Mr. Ernest Owttrim, an actor of sterling ability, has the part of Howard Wilson, and enacts the varied phases of the difficult character with rare judgment, his clear and distinct enunciation proving again invaluable in the stirring lines he has to deliver. Mabel Wilson, the hapless wife, is portrayed with great emotional power by Miss Madge Haines, whose wifely devotion and maternal affection are very affecting. A sound and well-studied impersonation of the Rev. Dr. Lanceford is given by Mr. Somers Bellamy, whose appearance and manner are quite in accord with the character of the estimable clergyman, his elocutionary accomplishments being also agreeably evident. Mr. Herbert Humber reveals the despicable qualities of the evil-minded Robert Curtis; and the relentless Cora Williams is strongly portrayed by Miss Gertrude Harrison, whose stylish appearance and refined manner serve to intensify the spite and malevolence of the rôle. Miss Maud Locker supplies a humorous performance of the buxom Bridget, and to her credit must be placed a large share of the merriment which arises during the evening. A large producer of mirth is also found in Toto, the French butler, as played by Mr. C. H. Hughes; Mr. George Waring as the policeman O'Reilly adds appreciably to the joviality of the evening; and the kindly Peter Schwartz is impersonated with zest and animation by Mr. Cyril Melton. Master E. Hicking is a natural exponent of Jessie's little brother Frank; and Miss Grace Essex, Miss Hettie Kelly, and Master J. Barclay are also associated with small parts as friends of the "little mother."

THE CAMDEN.

On Monday, Aug. 6,
the Drama entitled
"A FIGHT FOR MILLIONS."

After being closed for a few weeks, this theatre opened on Bank Holiday for the autumn season. The large audiences on Monday found a play which suited their tastes admirably, for, in the American drama, A Fight for Millions, there is every kind of sensational incident, from the wreck of a train in a tunnel to the escape of the hero in a submarine, the latter scene being capitally staged. There are introduced several musical numbers. One song especially, "Pal of mine," has a very pretty refrain, and is well sung by Mr. Robert Perris, who makes his appearance as Dudley, the scheming adventurer of the story, and plays the part with much skill. Mr. John C. Carlyle gives a finished and straightforward embodiment of Tom Manley; it is a natural and easy piece of acting, and is much applauded. Helen Dudley, the deserted wife, is portrayed in a pathetic manner by Miss Elma C. Turner; and the little child Madge is charmingly played by Miss Doris Howe. As the tramp, Willie Neverwork, Mr. Harry Howe makes the most of his opportunities, and is decidedly amusing; his laughing song is quite a feature of the entertainment. Mr. George Beresford does well as Hudson Rivers; and Miss Nora King is good as Mrs. Rivers. Miss Eva Purcell is seen to advantage as Pearl Rivers; and Miss Lottie Pearce is very bright as Mag Brady, and scores with her song and dance. Solomon Moses is ably and humorously embodied by Mr. Karl H. Edwards; and Mr. N. Conway is good as Hobbs, the butler. The other characters are well filled. The play is well mounted, and the production is under the management of Mr. Robert Perris.

THE PAVILION.

On Monday, Aug. 6,
the Play by Tomashevsky, with Last Act by John Jackson, entitled
"CAPTAIN DREYFUS."

When the history of France for the present generation is written, the story of Captain Dreyfus will occupy an important position in its pages. The narrative of the prisoner of Devil's Island, the intrigue of people in high places, the unflinching courage of the victim reads like a chapter from Dumas, and, told baldly with a close adherence to facts, becomes a story of thrilling interest—a story of one of the greatest fights for justice ever recorded. Upon the events in this celebrated case a play has been written by Tomashevsky, and since the recent necessary reparation to the gallant major an original last act by John Jackson has been successfully introduced into the piece, which on Monday evening was received with enthusiasm by an audience which packed the house from floor to ceiling. That the Yiddish patrons of the Pavilion continue to give unqualified support to the enterprising management is fully evidenced by the large crowds at each performance, and Mr. Donald Munro, the general-manager, together with the business-manager, Mr. Cecil Paget, and Mr. Fred Brown, the acting-manager, are to be warmly congratulated on the exceptional talent they engage with such excellent results. As Alfred Dreyfus, Mr. M. D. Waxman gave a capable and well-balanced impersonation, which was marked by earnestness and a painstaking appreciation of the requirements of the part; and Mr. Gusofsky as Colonel Picard acquitted himself in a manner that left nothing to be desired; while Mr. Streng made a competent General Briset. Mr. J. Fineberg proved himself an actor of unquestionable ability, and gave a capital delineation of the villainous Esterhazi; and the assuasive artistic style of Mr. J. Scherman was eminently suited as the scheming Colonel Henry. Mr. Rosenfield presented a forcible rendition of Pati de Clam; and Mr. Isaacowitz deserves praise for his acting as De Mange and Caveniak. Lucy Dreyfus was played with tenderness and feeling by Mme. R. Waxman; and Mme. F. Waxman as the Princess of Meternik displayed much judgment, and gave suitable point to the sentiment expressed in many of her lines. Mr. Zeidel was a satisfactory Procurator; and the unusual experience of a musical director enacting a character was found in Professor F. Staub, who infused much vigour and dignity into and delivered with good elocutionary effect the speech of the advocate Monard in the last act. The scenery, mounting, and dresses were in the best possible taste, while the stage-management was excellent. The week's programme includes The Seder Night, Alexander, Medea, Ahasuerus, and Meturef and King Lear.

THE STANDARD.

On Monday, Aug. 6,
the Drama, in Four Acts, entitled
"THE BELLS OF HASLEMERE."

The excellent representation of The Bells of Haslemere, given by the Standard Theatre stock company, is this week crowding the house to excess. On Monday, at both performances, the audience was large and enthusiastic, and the share of applause allotted to each artist as he or she appeared afterwards proved to have been well deserved. Once again the favourite actor, Mr. Ashley Page, holds a prominent position in the cast, and as the hero, Frank Beresford, he contributes a performance of sterling value. Next on the list of honours comes Miss Marion Denvil as Evelyn Brookfield. She sweetly acts the part of the loving, confiding, and trusting sweetheart of Beresford, and plays throughout with marked skill. Mr. Alfred Harding as John Silkstone imbues the part with all the brutality and hard-heartedness we expect to find in a character of this kind. Support comes from Mr. Chas. A. Chandler as Captain Vere and Mr. John Sargent as Joseph Thorndyke. A word of praise is due to both of these gentlemen for their excellent and lifelike delineations. Mr. F. L. Lawrence plays with manly bearing as Matthew Brookfield; and hearty laughter is the result of the untiring efforts of Mr. Johnny Chippendale as Reuben Armstrong. He keeps the ball of fun successfully rolling with the able assistance of Miss Mattie Everett as Dorothy Tremble. A characteristic sketch of Patrick Desmond, an Irish settler in America, is supplied by Mr. Frank Woodville; and Mr. Tom Taylor is well placed and very successful as Captain Salem. Toby, a negro, Seth Thomas, and Abe Jeffs have satisfactory impersonators in Mr. D. J. Hennessy, Mr. Richard Cameron, and Mr. Harry James respectively; and Mr. Chas. Edwards is all that can be desired as Inspector Quick. Miss Georgie de Lara plays with pathos and feeling as Mary Northcote; and Miss Maggie Byron acts with decided charm the rôle of Norah Desmond. The scenery and effects employed in this drama go a long way towards making the production what it is—a complete success. Mr. H. A. Chappell, Mr. Melville's energetic and courteous acting-manager, is once more back at his post, after a well-deserved rest from his arduous duties.

GRAND, WOOLWICH.

On Monday, Aug. 6,
the Play in Four Acts,
by A. Conan Doyle, entitled
"BRIGADIER GERARD."

In booking Mr. Lewis Waller's company in Brigadier Gerard Mr. Clarence Sounes is to be congratulated on securing a stirring, romantic play, which should appeal alike to popular as to more sophisticated audiences. That all sections of the large audience assembled on Monday night were thoroughly pleased with their entertainment was, at any rate, very obvious from the hearty applause, which was continuous throughout the evening. The company, which starts its tour this week, has been carefully selected and well rehearsed, and the play is mounted and staged with unusual elaboration. Mr. Loring Fernie is particularly well cast as Gerard, giving an excellent rendering of the hot-headed and none too clear-witted Hussar, who is, nevertheless, cleverly shown to be quite as brave and by no means such a fool as his own accounts of himself would indicate. Miss Beatrice Lindley is also well suited as the Comtesse de Roquelaure, her impassioned appeal to the Emperor and her prettily rendered love scene with Gerard showing her, perhaps, at her best. As Talleyrand, Mr. George Mallett submits a clever character-sketch, excellent in conception and in execution. Mr. Arthur Somers plays the Emperor on safe, if somewhat traditional, lines; Mr. Elliott Ball acts Major Olivier with the necessary swagger and braggadocio; Mr. Penn Hamilton makes a decided hit as D'Albert, the secret service agent; and Mr. James Crowe plays the secretary with a decided touch of humour. The smaller parts are all capably handled, worthy of special mention being the clever Agnes of Miss Gertrude Beatie, and the amusing Papilette of Mr. Arthur Bowyer.

GRAND THEATRE, ISLINGTON.

On Monday, Aug. 6,
the Drama, in Four Acts, by F. S. Jennings,
entitled
"AS GOOD AS GOLD."

Mr. Samuel James wisely selected this new drama, from the pen of his able lieutenant at the Lyric Opera House, Hammersmith, the engagement being the initial one of the long provincial tour for which it is booked. The production has been well patronised by large and enthusiastic audiences. The drama itself was very fully noticed in our columns on its original production at Hammersmith, and it is only necessary to call attention to the very adroit manner in which Mr. Jennings has utilised his experience in melodrama-writing in constructing the many excellent situations that occur in the progress of the play. Mr. James has spared no expense in the mounting, everything being on a very elaborate scale. A very competent company has been engaged for the tour, Mr. H. H. Barrington as Mark Williams giving a capital performance of great merit, particularly in the second act. Mr. Leonard Lawrence as Jack Stanton acts with force and manliness, and leaves nothing to be desired; Mr. Lewis Gilbert enacts the heavy rôle with ease and distinction; Mr. Norman Hall as Spanker is a comedian of resource and ability, and deserves congratulations for a really funny performance; Mr. J. Thorpe Tracy as Nias submitted a humorous study; as did Mr. E. Tressner in the small part of a butler. Mr. Fred May was seen to advantage in the small rôle of Simpson; Mr. Eric was very commendable as Captain James; Miss Marie McAuley as Kate D'Arville gave an excellent performance in the heavy rôle; Miss Gertrude Bonser was sympathetic as Nora Williams; Miss Florence Lovell portrayed Mrs. Nias in an amusing style; and Miss Ella Seton supplied a bright performance as the maid. Miss Irene Ross as the boy gave a clever and altogether admirable study; and lesser parts were all in good hands. The drama was cordially received.

THE TERRISS.

On Monday, Aug. 6,
the Romantic Play, by William P. Sheen,
entitled
"THE TEMPTRESS."

After being closed for two months, this popular South London house opened on Bank Holiday to a very large audience, who gave a deservedly cordial welcome to The Temptress. The piece is full of exciting incidents and ingeniously contrived situations, while the author has not forgotten the necessity of providing a due amount of the comic element. Mr. Roy Redgrave presents a capital rendering of the soldier hero Philip Welford, his physical advantages lending additional success to the rôle. Miss Olga Andre is fascinating, and plays with much success as the adventuress Stella Lady Fordyce, the female temptress, who lures her victims to their ruin. That sterling actor, Mr. Frank Lister, plays with much effect as the lion tamer Pedro Gonzales, the foreign accent being well sustained throughout. Mr. Lister is seen to much advantage in his scene in the third act, when he is blinded with vitriol by the Temptress. Miss Daisy Murch is a sweet and gentle Marion Fordyce; and Miss Eva Dare is bright and amusing as Rhoda Brown, a young wife addicted to flirting, Mr. George Villiers obtaining many a laugh as her jealous old husband. Mr. Jack Denton helps the fun of the play very materially as Francis FitzFluke. Mr. Wingold Lawrence soon becomes a popular favourite as the manly young East End parson Austin Dale; and Mr. J. C. Aubrey submits a powerful rendering of the utterly unscrupulous Lucas Denbigh. Mr. Herbert Woodin extracts a good deal of fun out of the part of the little circus clown Bob Tanner; and Mr. Edwin J. Arthur is good as the villain's accomplice Caleb Blake. Madge Denbigh, the oppressed wife of the villain, is capitally played by Miss Marion Turner and Mr. H. C. Cooper makes the most of his opportunities as Sir Oswald Fordyce. The scenery and effects are quite up to the mark. Special music has been composed for the production by Mr. Ben Barrow. Mr. Will T. Taylor, the courteous acting-manager, is still here to welcome his numerous patrons.

PRINCE'S, POPLAR.

On Monday, Aug. 6,
the American Drama, in Four Acts, by Joseph Arthur, entitled
"THE STILL ALARM."

The Still Alarm is proving a great attraction at this theatre, and is interpreted by an excellent all-round company controlled by Matthew H. Glenville and Fred Osmond. As the hero, Jack Manley, Mr. Glenville makes an ideal fireman, strong and resolute in will and manner. He is a tender chivalrous lover, and his performance could scarcely be bettered. Mr. George Arthur as John Bird, the villain of the piece, earns the execrations of the audience by his diabolical plots to wreck the happiness of Jack Manley and his sweetheart. Mr. Tom Beasley as Willie Manley is bright and cheery, and Mr. Fred Osmond, as the drunken old reprobate, Doc Wilber, is exceedingly clever in his delineation of the part. Mr. J. Sutton Pateman as Franklyn Fordham gives a careful rendering of the old merchant, and as Joe Nozzle, Mr. T. Varney provokes great amusement by his antics at the fire station. As Mrs. Manley, Miss Mabel Veriton is successful on her portrayal of the character, and Miss Hettie Zillwood as Carrie Wilber, is bright and clever. Her rendering of "Maid of Hindostan" is received with much applause. As the heroine, Elinor Fordham, Miss Maud Warburton is excellent. She brings to her work a graceful and charming manner, and firmly establishes herself a favourite with the audience. All the smaller parts are capably acted, and some glees and part songs are excellently rendered by the Lyric Comedy Four, who further participate in the piece as firemen. No notice of this play would be complete without reference to the admirably trained horses "Pegasus" and "Bucephalus." Mr. Herbert Leonard continues to act in his usual courteous manner as business-manager, and the incidental music is well rendered under the direction of Mr. Stephen E. Blythe.

THE LYRIC, HAMMERSMITH.

On Monday, Aug. 6,
the Drama, by Mark Melford, entitled
"FLYING FROM JUSTICE."

Mr. F. S. Jennings, the popular manager of this theatre, has made a wise choice in placing Flying from Justice before the Hammersmith public this week. Mr. Arthur Bawtree and Miss Minnie Grey undertake the leading parts of John Lacaney and Mildred Parkes effectively. To Mr. Fred Morgan as Haldane Gully a word of congratulation is certainly due; Mr. J. P. Dryden as Major Parkes, Mr. Geo. K. Askly as Tanner, and Mr. A. P. Kaye as Woodruff are successful; Mr. J. E. Manning makes a decided hit as Jim Kimber; as Charles Bearing Mr. Bert Morley is well placed; a highly-entertaining embodiment is that of Winnie Bradley by Miss Nellie Fletcher, who shows her genuine ability; Miss Nellie Gilmore is much appreciated in the part of Mrs. Bearing.

DALSTON THEATRE.

On Monday, Aug. 6,
the Drama, by Lilian Clare Cassidy, entitled
"IN HOLY (!) RUSSIA."

The Dalston Theatre reopened its doors on Monday evening after the summer recess. The first programme after the vacation is provided by Mr. J. Rice Cassidy's company, in the drama with the significant title, In Holy (!) Russia. Mrs. J. Rice Cassidy sustains the part of Renee Rubinoff, who has escaped from Siberia, and her trials and troubles are followed with breathless interest. Sir Harry Beresford finds a suitable representative is Mr. Frank Copeland. The Tsar of Russia is impersonated by Mr. Robert Cockcroft; Count Gregori Petrolski (the people's friend) is vigorously portrayed by Mr. Horace Butler; Mr. Terence Nerrey is Captain of the Russian Guard; Mr. Arthur Stratton introduces humorous effect into the character of Colonel Richard Forrest; and Mr. J. Rice Cassidy also aids materially as Micky Nolan, servant to Colonel Forrest, in some of the lighter scenes in the play. Miss Annie Dudley is Mrs. Richard Forrest, and Miss Mavis Lee Anderson gives a startling portrayal of a woman police-spy.

THE CROWN, PECKHAM.

On Monday, August 6,
the Drama, by E. Hill-Mitchelson, entitled
"DEATH OR GLORY BOYS."

The attraction at this popular house for the Bank Holiday week is the above stirring and picturesque military drama. It is excellently rendered by Mr. G. M. East's company, which includes in its cast of characters several well-known names. Mr. Henry Renouf, an old Peckham favourite, makes a manly and stalwart soldier hero as Jack Malden, and his fine voice gives great effect to the character. Mr. Charles Langley is a gallant Colonel Furgeson, and supplies an excellent portrait of the kindly old soldier. Miss Kathleen Russell looks very handsome as Nina Furgeson, and exhibits much emotion and sincerity in the part. Mr. Horace Hunter gives a clever and polished rendering of the rôle of the villain, Captain Glynn Ferrers, and his accomplice Carr is done full justice to by Mr. E. H. Brooks. Miss Ida Phillips is satisfactory as Edith Malden. Mr. Edward Coleman gets a large share of the favour of the audience as the trusty friend of the hero, Nat Wilks, who is at first a farm servant and afterwards enlists in the 17th Lancers. Sam, a yokel, becomes in the hands of Mr. Paul Peters a capital sketch of bucolic stupidity, and Miss Agnes Paulton is very pretty and piquant as Janet, Nat Wilks's sweetheart. Mr. Arthur Eldred is capital as "the fool of the regiment," Lieutenant Duff, and Mr. Charles Edwards gives a clever sketch as Sergeant Brim. The scenery and effects are quite adequate, and the whole production is very favourably received.

ELEPHANT AND CASTLE.

On Monday, August 6th,
the Drama, in Five Acts, by Frederick Melville,
entitled
"HER FORBIDDEN MARRIAGE."

Mr. Frederick Melville's company, in what is aptly billed as a whirlwind drama of surprises, Her Forbidden Marriage, fills the programme here this week. Drama and comedy well intermingled evidently pleased the large holiday-making audience which assembled on Monday, for they were loud in their laughter and unstinting in their applause. Mr. Henry Lonsdale as George Maddison plays the hero in a right manly fashion, and acts with an earnestness which carries distinction. As Sir George Lancaster Mr. Eric Campbell portrays the easily led old man with much skill. The audience are roused to a high pitch of resentment by the villainy of Charles Devereau and Lady Lucretia Lancaster, played by Mr. Louis Hector and Miss Octavia Noel. These parts are, indeed, in safe hands. Miss Barbara Gott as the Mother Superior is responsible for a fine reading of the part, her elocution in many long passages being excellent. Miss Minnie Westgate makes a pretty pathetic figure as Lucy, the ward of Sir George Lancaster, and by her unaffected acting completely charms the audience. Comedy in large measures, and of, indeed, a good kind is furnished by Mr. Fred de Vere and Miss Jennie Danvers as Timothy Tuttutt and Patty Lovejoy. Mr. Philip Renouf as Joe Lambkin, an old rustic, also causes much merriment. Mr. R. Vivian makes a good parson as the Rev. Mr. Dean. Mr. Leonard Maxwell is successful as Geoffrey Broughton, who aids in the villainy, and John William, a clerk, is ably played by Mr. Henry Milton. Little Lucy, as the daughter of the heroine, is very natural. Other characters are safe in the hands of Messrs. Louis Brown, W. Brooks, George Elsworthy, and Harry Norris. Great care is noticeable in the mounting and effects of the piece. Mr. S. A. Atkin is general-manager for Mr. Frederick Melville.

THE CORONET.

On Monday, August 8th,
in Four Acts, by G. R. Sims and Wilson Barrett,
"THE GOLDEN LADDER."

The pretty Coronet Theatre reopened after the vacation with typical Bank-holiday fare in the shape of the successful melodrama, The Golden Ladder. There is a ring of sterling worth about this piece, and all admire the pluck of the young missionary as much as they deplore the misfortunes that continually assail him. As this remarkably fine specimen of muscular Christianity—yclept Frank Thornhill—Mr. William Clayton does remarkably well, his fine presence and robust manner imbuing his performance with just the virile strength and sympathetic personality required. He speaks his lines, too, uncommonly well. Miss Mary Austin is very sweet as the persecuted heroine Lilian Grant; Mr. J. Milne Taylor and Mr. Vivian Edmunds are effectively villainous as the rascally cashier Michael Severn and the Greek adventurer M. Peranza; Mr. Fred Acton imparts strength and character to the part of Jim Dixon, and Mr. Joseph Rowlands and Miss Nellie Graham earn hearty commendation by their excellent performances as Mr. and Mrs. Samuel Peckaby, a couple of characters such as Mr. George R. Sims loves to put on the stage—poor but honest, and generous and large-hearted to a degree. Mr. Eric Thompson is good as the revengeful Malagasy servant Rao, and the rest of the large cast do ample justice to their tasks, Mr. T. C. Grenville, Mr. W. Chambers, Mr. Frank Martin, and Misses Winifred Acton, Mabel Gamont, and Fanny Williams especially deserving commendation. The scenery and mounting are excellent.

BRIXTON THEATRE.

On Monday, Aug. 6,
the Play, in Five Acts, by Wilson Barrett,
entitled
"THE MANXMAN."

Mr. Cross must be congratulated upon the excellent manner in which he has produced The Manxman; the company is a thoroughly capable one, and the mounting and dresses leave nothing to be desired. The character of Pete is undertaken by Mr. Cross, who gives a fine study of the warm-hearted Manxman. His performance in the fourth act is rewarded with abundance of applause, and the curtain has to be raised several times before he is allowed to depart. Miss Winnie Watersford gives Mr. Cross ample support by her performance of Kate Cregeen, which is well and consistently played. The character of the hypocritical Cæsar Cregan is well represented by Mr. James Dillon. Phillip Christian is well embodied by Mr. Frank Liston. Mr. Dudley Stuart makes the most of his opportunities as Ross Christian. Mr. Graham Winsford gives a good character study of the kind-hearted Doctor Mylcreest. Mr. Edward Cartell and Mr. Richard Hutton revel in their respective characters of Monty Missitt and Professor Mawley. Miss Mona Spearing is very good as Miss Christian, and brings a minor character into importance. Miss Dorothy Duncan causes a considerable amount of amusement by her humorous impersonation of Nancy. The smaller but indispensable characters of Tom the postman and John the constable are creditably undertaken by Messrs. J. Morgan and W. Horgan.

THE WEST LONDON.

On Monday, August 6,
the Drama, in Five Acts, by Sutton Vane,
entitled
"IN SIGHT OF ST. PAUL'S."

Mr. Arthur Carlton's company is here this week on a return visit with the realistic drama In Sight of St. Paul's. As Captain Gridston, Mr. George D. Daiper plays with energy and force, his conception of the character being most lifelike. Mr. F. B. G. Richardson is well suited in the part of Harry Chichester, jun.; Mr. Ernest R. Allen is convincing as Tom Chichester; Mr. Herbert Sydney is responsible for a clever character study of Blidstein; Mr. Arthur Armfield plays with intelligence as Mr. H. Chichester, sen.; Mr. Geo. Slack's demeanour is excellent as Detective Clarkson; and Mr. Edward Valentine is responsible for a powerful portrayal of the unfortunate Fretley Burside. The important rôle of Cynthia Dell is sustained with forceful ability by Miss Lallah Davis, who is an actress of experience and resource; and Miss Constance Bellamy impersonates Aileen Millar in an easy and natural manner that can hardly be improved upon; Miss Amy Randolph as the Throstle is worthy of mention; Miss Jennie Hackness does well as Beatrice Moreland; and Miss F. Valentine does full justice to the maid-servant Rose. The play is mounted and staged in an effective way, and the acting all round is excellent.

BROADWAY THEATRE.

This theatre, which has now passed into the hands of Mr. Louis Calvert, reopened on Monday evening, when Mr. Giffard addressed the audience in the following terms:—"In the name of the new lessee, Mr. Louis Calvert, I have the privilege of bidding you welcome, and of introducing myself and Mr. Walter, his lieutenants, who will be managers of this theatre; and we are here to look after your interests and suit your convenience, which I assure you we shall do to the utmost of our power. We have already made one or two small innovations, such as a ladies' drawing-room on the circle floor. Here ladies will be able to retire and read the papers, to chat, and to write if they wish. Mr. Calvert is going to exert his influence to bring you the pick of West End productions, so that the Broadway Theatre will be second to no other suburban house."

Mr. Giffard was very warmly greeted, and retired amidst enthusiastic applause. The attraction this week is a return visit of the ever-welcome Silver King, presented by Messrs. G. M. Polini and Austin Melford's company. It is admirably acted throughout. Mr. Melford repeats his well-known rendering of Wilfred Denver, of which it is sufficient to say that it, if possible, improves with time. Mr. Charles Baird is very good indeed as the Spider; Mr. Tom Paulton gives an admirable study of Daniel Jaikes; Henry Corket is played in just the right spirit by Mr. Claude Vernon; the Eliah Coombe of Mr. Henry Osman is a capital character-sketch; the same remark applies to the Cripps of Mr. Charles H. Fenton; Mr. Allen Jeayes gives an earnest and manly rendering of Geoffrey Ware; Mr. Arthur H. Rooke is good as Samuel Baxter; as is Mr. Charles Birch in the part of Frank Selwyn; the Mr. Parkyn of Mr. Percy Store is a clever impersonation. Miss Victoria Addison is a charming Nellie Denver—powerful, and yet sympathetic; Miss Viola Holland plays Olive Skinner very pleasingly. The remaining rôles are all excellently sustained.

On the 5th inst. the employees of Messrs. H. and M. Rayne, the theatrical stores, Waterloo-road, S.E., held their tenth annual outing. The large party left Waterloo for Reading at 9.35. On arrival at Reading the visitors walked down to Caversham Lock, and boarded the commodious and well-appointed steam launch Queen of England. At midday an excellent luncheon was partaken of, and later on tea was served. A visit was paid to Monkey Island. During the trip a vocal and instrumental concert was given, many really capital turns being supplied. Among those contributing to the programme were Miss Daisy Fisher, Miss Kate Fisher, Mr. Stanley Knapman, Master Rayne, Mr. Holt, and others. Mr. O'Dell proved an efficient accompanist. On reaching Windsor, the party went to the Royal Oak Hotel, where Mr. T. Aves, in an eloquent speech, proposed a vote of thanks to the firm. Mr. Rayne, in acknowledging the vote of thanks, referred to the kindly feelings existing between the employees and the firm, and said as long as it was in his power he would do his best to see that their pleasant relations continued. He concluded by proposing a vote of thanks to the committee, to which Mr. Hopwood suitably responded. The toast of "The Visitors" was acknowledged by Mr. W. Wright, who for many years held a responsible position with Messrs. Rayne; and a vote of thanks was passed to the hon. secretary, Mr. J. H. Wright, to Mr. Ives, and to Messrs. Smith, who had kindly supplied the printing and the covers of the very tasteful menu and programme booklet. The arrangements made reflected high credit on Miss Lottie Phillips, Miss May Jackson (whose absence through illness was regretted), Mr. Fred Fry, and Mr. Joe Reed, who formed the committee, and on Mr. J. H. Wright, the hon. secretary.

SALARIES IN THE FIFTIES.

David Evans	1	10	0
Charles Adams	1	5	0
H. Barton	0	12	0
George Melville	3	3	0

What an interesting flood of reminiscence flows through the above list. Here we have our Madge Robertson (Mrs. Kendal) as a toddling mite, appearing in the witch's cauldron as one of the apparitions, and lisping the words, "Be bloody, bold, and resolute," &c.; and Fred, her brother, playing Fleance. Mr. and Mrs. Robertson's salaries are, through some omission of the business-manager, not recorded. Then come George Melville (grandfather of the present authors and managers)—a first-class all-round leading tragedian of his day; Harry Barton, afterwards a celebrated low comedian; Charles Adams, the prompter, of whom it is related that, being out of a situation during the summer vacation, he took an engagement as a funeral assistant, and, when the cemetery was reached, knocked at the door of the hearse, and called "Beginners, please!" David Evans, afterwards a well-known leading man; George Ellis, who was to be Charles Kean's righthand man in his glorious Shakespearean revivals at the Princess Theatre, London; Edwin Shepherd, now the well-known impersonator of old men, whom I met one day last week, as ever was, in the pink of condition; Henry Sinclair, leading gentleman at Drury Lane; John Chute, late acting-manager for John Coleman; George Rignold, now the celebrated Australian manager; Arthur Wood, still with us, I am pleased to say; poor George Chapman, for many years musical conductor at Bristol; Thaddeus Wells, a first-rate light comedian; Paul Pietro, a well-known clown; and John Rouse and his wife will be remembered by many yet living as a talented and versatile couple. Edward Pritchard gave a good account of himself as a tragedian in the sixties.

What really admirable schools for acting were these same theatres of Bristol, Edinburgh, Manchester, Plymouth, &c., where the novitiate had to play anything and everything—aye, and give a good account of himself, or receive his notice—light comedy, low comedy, old men, juvenile men, and character parts of all degrees, until he finally gravitated into a line of business, not tutored, and taught, and drilled for the stage.

"Salaries were small," you will say. Yes; I own that, but they were paid punctually and regularly. The bogus manager was unknown; there were no long railway journeys on the seventh day, for Sunday was a thing of rest and recuperation; no landlady harpy, with her expensive apartments and family to be kept by the travelling actors, who lived, and moved, and had their beings midst the beauties of Clifton, and studied their parts breathing the ozone of the health-giving downs of the West Countree, and it was from finishing schools like these we gained our Irvings, Barretts, Bancrofts, and Kendals. Where are such academies to be found nowadays? And echo answers—hibernically—"Can't say, I'm sure!"

AMUSEMENTS IN BIRMINGHAM.

(FROM OUR OWN CORRESPONDENT.)

THEATRE ROYAL.—Managing Director, Mr. Tom B. Davis; Acting-Manager, Mr. Philip Rodway.—A Royal Divorce continues its extraordinary fascination here, and as a "Royal" holiday attraction probably holds the record. Miss Edith Cole is again the idol of all with her beautiful and touching embodiment of the Empress Josephine; Mr. Fred Victor presents a well-night perfect picture of the Emperor Napoleon, and acts with consummate finish; Mr. F. Joynsen-Powell handles the rôle of Talleyrand in a most masterly style; Mr. Graham Woods acts with fine bearing and elocution in the part of the Marquis de Beaumont; and Mr. St. George Frere as General Angereau; Mr. Arthur Preston as Marshall Murat; and Mr. Dennis Bryan in a droll conception of the innkeeper, Grimaud, render invaluable aid. Miss Agnes Imlay acts with fitting emphasis as Marie Louise; and Miss Clara Russell as Stephanie de Beauharnais, Miss Helena Meadows as Mother Lomas, Miss Loyale Frere as the Governess, Miss Violet Hudson as Blanche d'Hervas, and Miss Doris Watts as the little King of Rome are also successful.

PRINCE OF WALES'S THEATRE.—Lessees, Messrs. Rodgers, Limited; Manager, Mr. J. F. Graham; Acting-Manager, Mr. Henry Johnston.—What the Butler Saw has proved a piquant attraction this holiday week. Mr. Lionel Rignold as Pink, the butler, has an excellent method of stirring up fun; Miss Ada Blanche lends rare charm and vivacity to the rôle of Mrs. Barrington; Mr. Charles Fawcett as the peccant husband plays a most diverting part, and scores indubitably; Mr. George Ascott adds hugely to the mirth as the fiery-tempered General Dunlop; Mr. Reddick Anderson is well employed and appreciated as Sir Charles Foden; Mr. Louis Lingard gives a clever and humorous delineation of the Jew, Weinstein; Miss Jennie Wigney acts with true lover-like feeling as Nora; Miss Dorothy Garth yields clever comic support as Maria; Miss Marie Daltra gives the necessary quaint characteristics to the rôle of Miss Foden.

ALEXANDRA THEATRE.—Proprietor and Manager, Mr. Lester Collingwood.—A Mother's Love has kindled the utmost enthusiasm among the patrons of this theatre, which is crowded nightly. The company is provided by the part-author of the piece, Mr. Fred L. Connynghame, who, as Matt Ruddock, proves himself a humorist of the first order. Mr. Arthur Mervyn renders a capital portrayal of the character of Paul Wingate; Mr. Geo. Child acts in a finished manner as Geoffrey Mannering; Mr. Robert W. Lynn supports the comedy element in smart style as Joe Jackson; Miss Rosa Mervyn succeeds to admiration as Winnie Wingate; Miss Shirley Dalton acts charmingly as Eilaine Mervin; Miss Dorothy Monkhouse as Mary Smart assists ably in the comedy scenes; and Mr. S. Clifton as Ralph Mervin and Miss Bertha Christobel as the child, Marjorie, are very successful.

METROPOLE THEATRE.—Proprietor and Manager, Mr. Andrew Melville; Acting-Manager, Mr. J. Hindle Taylor.—The Girl Who Lost Her Character has won large audiences here with Mr. Douglas Bruce's company. Miss Evelyn Clyde as the betrayed girl, Molly Vernon, acts with desirable fervour and pathos, kindling the utmost enthusiasm; Mr. Frank Adair cleverly depicts the pitiless nature of Geoffrey Caversham; Miss Lydia Mannington does exceedingly well in the rôle of Marian Franklyn; Miss Ethel Bracewell is most acceptable as Rose Seymour; Mr. Edwin J. Collins as the Rev. Robert Everton invests the rôle with due dignity; Mr. C. W. Standing wins much favour with his manly impersonation of the hero, Jack England; and Mr. George Mitchell as James Sutton gives able support. The humour of the play is adequately sustained by Mr. Geo. H. Asquin as Dick Punch; Mr. John Wilson as Purvis; and Miss Midge Meynard as Lucy Vere.

CARLTON THEATRE, SALTLEY.—Owner and Manager, Mr. Arthur Carlton; Resident-Manager, Mr. James Alexander.—The Sins of a City has been played here with much success by Miss Winifred Maude's company, under the direction of Mr. Victor du Cane, who shines in his cleverly acted rôle of Isaac Levi. Miss Winifred Maude both looks and acts the part of Seaweed with charming expression, and holds the audience completely in her thrall; Mr. William Vane is popular in his robust and artistic exposition of the honest lover's rôle, Sandy McDonald; Mr. Leonard Harrison commands sympathy in his powerfully acted part of Donald McIvor; Mr. Maurice Drew differentiates the rôles of the twin brothers Woodleigh in a clever manner; Mr. James Carson as the unscrupulous lover, Ralph Blackwater, is in the highest degree successful; and Miss Jenny Hackett as Midge, Miss Ethel Tinsley as Lesbia, and Miss Jessie Mason as Jenny are also highly successful. The Stowaway is announced for the latter half of the week.

THEATRE ROYAL, ASTON.—Lessee, Mr. Charles Barnard; General-Manager, Mr. E. Hewitson; Acting-Manager, Mr. Frank Whittles.—For Better or Worse, the new and already popular drama by William P. Sheen, is here for the first time. The rôles are well distributed, and the specialities vouchsafed by Miss Jenny Hallworth as Melinda Little, Miss A. Harcourt as Dolly Delaney, and Mr. Willie Black as Horatio Ranter, are most acceptable. The more serious parts are taken by Mr. George Edwin Clive as Capt. Frank Hilliard, Mr. Scott Leighton as Major Gerald Crawford, Mr. Owen Redmond as Lieut. Hector Dalrymple, Mr. Carthage Caldcleugh as Ned Earnshaw, Mr. Fred Garrett, as David Heathcote, and Miss Marriott Watson as Olive Heathcote, the merchant's daughter.

"MELVILLE'S NOTES."

Pompeii, Italy.

A few notes en route to Australia to play the Harry Rickards Circuit may be of interest to your readers. "Motogirl," the famous mechanical doll who has been engaged for six months on the above circuit, concluded her engagement at Carlsbad, Austria, and journeyed to Marseilles, to join the steamer Oroya, bound for the Antipodes. After leaving Marseilles, the first port of interest to visitors was Naples, where the good ship Oroya remained fourteen hours waiting the mails from London via Rome. This gave everyone an opportunity to visit the several points of interest; numerous guides visited the ship, and the company split up into several parties for the purpose of convenience in getting about while ashore.

The first move on landing was to engage a carriage in which to drive to the buried cities of Pompeii and Herculaneum. This place we reached after an hour of the hottest ride it has been my lot to have experienced since Mexico. However, we had a chance to observe the characteristics of the country, which resemble very strongly those of Portugal, Spain, and even of Mexico and Cuba, particularly in the forms and designs of many of the buildings.

On reaching the city of Pompeii (after having seen en route many macaroni factories at work), we first of all had lunch at the hotel. To enable you to do this in comfort, an attendant armed with a long stick, to which is attached long strips of coloured paper, continually and adroitly attacks the thousands of flies that surround the tables.

After these preliminaries, the visitors are conducted to the ruined city of Pompeii, which is certainly worth a visit, not only from a spirit of curiosity, but from a highly educational point of view, being a perfect refresher to those who studied Roman history in their younger days, for the guides (although the biggest extortionists I have had the pleasure of meeting) are well posted on every subject relating to the fall of Pompeii.

A visit to the three ruined towns—Bosco de Corse, Ottaino, and Somma—that were utterly destroyed in the last eruption of Vesuvius was our next point of interest. The lava in some parts is still smoking and burning; in proof of this our guide lighted his cigarette from it, and the ground was also so hot under foot that it was not pleasant to walk on. A visit to the National Museum was an instructive trip. Among various interesting objects was a statue of Venus made 97 years after the birth of Christ. This was so constructed that, by a tube passing from the interior of the head, through the body, and down to a platform on which it stood, the priests were enabled to delude people into the belief that the head could talk. So we see that talking heads were many years ago thought of, although they were of a crude description.

An examination of the copy of the original bust of Nero showed how faithfully the character was studied in the recent splendid representation by Beerbohm Tree in London.

A visit to the "Eldorado," a very pretty summer theatre built on the seashore, ended our evening's sight seeing. The Geisha was being produced by a capable company, the tenor singer being especially good. Notwithstanding a very hot night, the theatre was crowded, and the audience exceedingly demonstrative. A peculiarity with them is their not waiting for a singer to completely finish the last verse of his song before they begin to applaud, and shouts of "Bis, bis," "Decapo, decapo," are heard from all parts of the house.

On our return to the ship we discovered our entertaining guide had charged us just three pounds too much; and one of the passengers on coming on board the tender lying at the docks, unfortunately stepped off in mistake into space between the landing and a lighter, striking in his descent his jaw, and fracturing it; he is at present in a serious condition.

Port Said, Egypt.

Arrived at the above port very early in the morning, and all the passengers hastened on shore to see the sights. This is a most interesting place, and full of curiosity is everyone to pay visits and carry away relics of every description. The guides are surrounding us, and it is the greatest difficulty to get away from them.

FREDERIC MELVILLE.

MESSRS. H. AND M. RAYNE, of 115-119, Waterloo-road, S.E., and 49, Charing Cross-road, have taken over the stock and goodwill of Bourots' theatrical hat factory, late of Oakley-street, S.E.

CHAT WITH MR. ALFRED WOODS.

(BY OUR OWN COMMISSIONER.)

Mr. Alfred Woods, the well-known Australian actor-manager, who is at the present in England, arranging a tour of a new romantic drama, is a native of Sydney. "My career," says Mr. Wood, "began when I joined Mr. Charles Warner, who was then playing at the Theatre Royal, Melbourne. The position I then took up was assistant stage-manager, and that was my first introduction to things theatrical in an important way. In September, 1889, we went on tour through the colonies, opening in Tasmania, and travelling through New Zealand, and back again to the Theatre Royal, Melbourne, where Charles Warner produced for the first time in Australia A Man's Shadow. After I had been with Mr. Warner for five months, I was appointed his general stage-manager, in which capacity I remained with him for upwards of a year. Finishing with Mr. Warner, I joined Miss Jennie Lee, of Jo fame, and toured Australia with her as her stage-director, and taking several important characters. My next move was with Mr. Edmund Thorne, producing for the first time in Australia The Three Musketeers, subsequently touring with it through the colonies. After touring with various other managements, I made my initial success as an actor in a peculiar character-part, Warrigal, in Rolf Boldrewood's Robbery Under Arms. Warrigal, as you may be aware, is an Australian aboriginal, and, in order to study the race, I went out every day to the camp at Sanssouci, some miles from Sydney, and made myself conversant with their methods, customs, and speech. In 1893 I became lessee and manager with Mr. Harold Ashton of the Theatre Royal, Sydney, where we ran a stock company for upwards of a year. After another tour of the colonies with our own company, I played a season under the management of the recently-deceased Hon. George Coppin, at the Theatre Royal, Melbourne; then for a few years on tour through the colonies with my own répertoire of plays, and in September, 1895, succeeded Mr. George Rignold as lessee and manager of Her Majesty's Theatre, Sydney, which I held for three years. It was there that I produced my first pantomime, Robinson Crusoe, which established a record run in Australia of twenty consecutive weeks. From there I toured New Zealand, returning to Sydney, opening under the management of the Messrs. MacMahon at the Lyceum

MR. ALFRED WOODS AS DAN MYLREA IN "THE DEEMSTER."

Theatre, as joint-star with Miss Maud Williamson, and together we appeared for seven years. After a successful season here, I opened at the Princess Theatre, Melbourne, and produced for the first time on any stage an original Biblical play, called Barabbas. Seasons followed in Adelaide, Perth, Brisbane, and other big cities, and in April of last year I left Auckland for San Francisco, which was my first trip away from home. I opened in 'Frisco a fortnight after arrival at the Grand Opera House, starring as Pete Quilliam in Hall Caine's The Manxman. After taking it through the States, I opened and created, at the Garrick Theatre, New York, in the original production of Mrs. Humphrey Ward's The Marriage of William Ashe, the rôle of the clergyman, a character I played in the American capital until I left for England, arriving here at the end of April."

Almost immediately Mr. Woods joined forces with Mr. Charles Cartwright in David Copperfield, playing the part of Ham. Mr. Woods is at present busily engaged in booking and arranging a tour for Miss Marie de Campi, the charming American actress whom he is supporting in the romantic costume drama, The King's Mistress. Mr. Wood's part in this piece will be that of a breezy, picturesque, swashbuckling cavalier."

Mr. Woods, who has played a wide range of parts, from Hamlet to Wilfred Denver in The Silver King, tells us that the part of Captain Maurice D'Alroy in The King's Mistress should prove as popular with the English as those in which he has been so big a favourite in Australia.

DURING the vacation the Theatre Royal, Huddersfield, has been very thoroughly cleaned and beautified, and now looks very smart in its new dress. An alteration has been made which will be highly appreciated. A staircase leading from the stalls to the dress circle has been put in at each side of the house, this enabling patrons to pass from one part to the other without going outside.

IN commemoration of having acted as manager of the Royal Court Theatre, Warrington, for twenty-five years, Mr. Joseph Potter is to be accorded a complimentary benefit on the 25th inst. A monster programme has been arranged by Mr. Fred J. Reece.

REOPENING OF THE LEICESTER ROYAL OPERA HOUSE.

(FROM OUR OWN CORRESPONDENT.)

The above theatre was reopened to the public on Monday evening, after undergoing extensive alterations and redecoration. The Opera House, which was first opened on September 6, 1877, was built for the late Mr. Elliot Galer, who came from the old "Royal," to take possession, being followed by Lieut.-Colonel J. A. Winstanley as proprietor. A short time ago the property was purchased by Messrs. Milton Bode and Edward Compton, whose names were a guarantee that everything would be done, both before and behind the curtain, for the comfort of their patrons and the artists.

On Saturday afternoon last the leading citizens of the town, with a large number of county gentry, were shown through the building by Mr. Henry Dundas, the courteous business manager. The orchestra, augmented to twenty-five, under the direction of Herr J. Th. Klee, played selections during the afternoon.

The decorations, which have been carried out by Mr. Harry Childs, of Reading, is in the Renaissance style, the colours in the auditorium being cream and gold. The artistic panels over the boxes, which are extremely handsome, bear the names of Irving, Kean, Siddons, Mathews, Garrick, and Macready. The dome has had special attention paid to it, the colours being turquoise blue and cream and gold; and when lit up by the new electric brackets it evoked great admiration. The corridors and staircases present a bright and inviting appearance, being richly carpeted, with the addition of handsome portière curtains. The whole of the decorations here have been carried out in red and white, and a large number of new pictures have been hung on the walls. The saloon bar for the dress circle and stalls has now only one entrance, the door facing the entrance to the dress circle having been removed. Handsome new furniture has been added, and the plain windows, which faced a blank wall opposite, have been taken out and new ones substituted, with the monogram of Bode and Compton artistically worked in.

The proscenium has been entirely rebuilt, an 18in. wall being taken through the roof four feet, and everything possible has been done for the safety of the audience. The arch is exceedingly handsome, and bears at the top the inscription, "All the World's a Stage." The fire-proof asbestos curtain can be lowered by machinery, which can be worked as far away from the stage as the hall-keeper's office. New iron doors leading from the auditorium to the stage have also been put in. At the request of a member of the Watch Committee, who was loud in approbation of the pains taken by Messrs. Milton Bode and Edward Compton for their safety, Mr. Dundas appeared before the guests, and after a few explanatory words lowered and raised the curtain several times.

An entirely new electric installation throughout has been added, Mr. J. W. Cane and assistants, from Mr. Milton Bode's headquarters, being responsible for this work. Two new rows of pit stalls have been introduced, the whole of the upholstering and new seating having been carried out in the style for which Messrs. R. Dean and Sons, of Birmingham, are so famous. Praise should be accorded to Mr. William Lockwood, F.R.I.B.A., Chester, under whose personal direction the whole of the operations have been carried out. Mr. Henry Dundas, the business-manager for the proprietors, was assiduous in his attention to Messrs. Bode and Compton's guests.

A capital holiday attraction is the engagement of Mr. Charles F. Cooke's capable company in the Adelphi drama, The Trumpet Call. Mr. Charles F. Cooke is conspicuously successful in the part of Sergeant-Major Milligan; Mr. Leonard Yorke is very good as Cuthbert Cuthbertson; and Mr. John Dennys as Richard Featherstone does well. Popular and amusing portrayals are given by Mr. Joe Bracewell as Professor Ginnifer and Mr. Freddie Bentley as Tommy Dutton. Excellent embodiments are also supplied by Miss Doris Gilham as Astrea, Miss Elsie Evelyn Hill as Constance, Miss Helena Digby as Mrs. Wicklow, Miss Marion Armitage as Lavinia Ginnifer, and Little Nellie Lomas as Little Cuthbert. The drama is suitably staged, and was well received by the audience on Monday.

THEATRICAL PATENTS.

The following abridged description is specially drawn for The Era by Messrs. Hughes and Young, Patent Agents, 55-56, Chancery-lane, London, W.C., who will give advice and assistance free to our readers on all matters relating to the patenting of inventions.

976. Theatres. Circuses, &c. Patentee, J. C. Boswell, Oadby, near Leicester. Consists of a suitably braced wheel, mounted upon an inclined shaft carried by a carriage, and provided with seats adapted to carry performers who fall off, as the wheel rotates, in order to amuse the spectators. The carriage is provided with a shaft, and a handlebar or whipple-tree attachment, by means of which it is drawn around a preferably circular course, its motion being restrained by an adjustable pivoted bar. The axles of the wheels of the carriage are arranged in radical alignment with the pivot of the bar. The wheel bears on the ground at its underside, so that, as the carriage moves along, the wheel also rotates on its shaft in planes inclined to the horizontal. The underside of the wheel is covered with an iron band, which prevents wear of the wheel. Handles are provided on the spokes of the wheel, so that the riders can remain on the seats until the wheel attains a certain velocity.

DRAMATIC AND MUSICAL LAW.

BY A. A. STRONG, LL.B. (LOND.), SOLICITOR.

Your book will, I am sure, be a valuable aid to all managers and actors.—The late SIR HENRY IRVING.

Mr. Strong states the whole case very clearly.—Illustrated London News.

Should be found very useful.—Pelican.

Should prove perfectly invaluable.—Weekly Sun.

Contains in a handy compass and in a clear style the law relating to theatres and music halls. The book is well up to date.—Law Times.

Furnishes useful information.—Daily News.

The work succeeds in making plain the thorny legal path that every manager and artist must tread, and by a timely consultation of its pages they may avoid much misapprehension and trouble.—Star.

MR. SYDNEY TOLFREE, who has been for six years assistant-manager at the Prince of Wales Theatre, Grimsby, and has also held the position of acting-manager and secretary in connection with Curry's Tivoli, Ltd., Grimsby, is about to sever his connection with these establishments. He has entered into partnership in a new entertainment combination, and will shortly commence a tour of the country with an exhibition of up-to-date animated pictures. Mr. Tolfree's many friends in Grimsby, whilst regretting his departure, heartily wish him success in his new venture.

MR. AND MRS. TENCH (late of the Salisbury Hotel) are now proprietors of the Stock Exchange Hotel, Manchester, off Cross-street. It is an old-established English and German fully-licensed restaurant, and quite up to date. Miss Lily Burnand, who has been much pleased with the hotel, wishes to make its merits known for the benefit of other professionals visiting Manchester.

Mr. John Power's new play, For Wife and Home, which was produced at the Queen's Theatre, Manchester, on the 3rd inst., is frankly illustrative of the bitter struggle that is for ever going on between vice and virtue on the stage. It has some clever and sensational "curtains," and when the comedy element has been strengthened will provide a very acceptable addition to current melodrama.

The situation is outlined in the first act, while Miladi St. Pierre, Countess of Arne, lies dying in her boudoir, to the accompaniment of a tremendous thunderstorm. She is concerned about the loss of her first child, Roland, who was taken from her twenty years ago to make way for the child of a second marriage. Round Roland's neck, however, was hidden a locket containing a certain number, without which, by some legal process, the inheritance of the estates of Arne cannot be obtained; and this is all in Roland's favour. But the half-brother, Henri, is at hand, with a particularly sinister accomplice, Gaspard Lebarge, who, in addition to many questionable experiences and attainments, is equipped with a hypnotic gift, and this satanic personage, to prevent further disclosures of the missing heir, hastens the death of the mother by poison. It is not easy at first to understand the connection between Henri and Lebarge, but this is made clear at a later moment by the latter's confession that Henri is his son, and therefore not of the legal line of Arne. This precious couple are now intent upon the finding of Roland, the acquisition of the locket containing the means of access to a will establishing the true heir's right, and the uncompromising murder of the man who stands in their way. For this purpose Henri endeavours to enlist the help of Celeste le Grande, his cast-off mistress, and daughter of the very man who had picked up Roland in his infancy. But Celeste is now in love with Roland, and it is jealousy of Roland's love for her blind sister Rosette rather than Henri's persuasion and promises which induces her to participate in the plot. On Roland's appearance, a quarrel is speedily arranged. Henri and Lebarge depart for swords, while Celeste obtains Roland's pistols secretly and gives them into Henri's hands. A trifling sentimental interlude between Celeste and her father provides the dramatic upshot. In a leaning attitude, his shoulders covered by Roland's coat, the father is mistaken for his adopted son by the cowardly Henri, who shoots him from behind. Roland is, of course, the first to appear after Henri's hasty withdrawal, and it is he (equally of course) who is arrested for the murder, on what appears to be irrefutable circumstantial evidence.

From this point the drama becomes one of heroic circumvention and endurance, in spite of the unabated efforts of Henri and Lebarge to attain a speedy end. On Roland's vehement protestations of his innocence, he is taken from prison (where he is married by a priest to Rosette) to a "trial by touch" in the chapel mortuary of St. Mary's. This is an interesting, but a rather ghastly, ceremony, for Jean le Grande lies in a real coffin, swathed in graveclothes, with all the appearance of a corpse. From this superstitious ordeal Roland promises to emerge a free man; but it happens that Henri (accompanied by his satellite Lebarge) is the examining magistrate, and at a propitious moment for the deed, he knocks Roland insensible by a blow on the head, and is assisted by Lebarge to put him in the place of the dead man in the coffin. This is done (though we are not clear what becomes of the corpse of Jean le Grande), and there is every probability that Roland will be buried alive, and speedily. But the scheme is defeated by the appearance of Rosette, who, after groping her way to the coffin, recovers her sight by the shock of feeling the supposed dead man rise up. On a hint from her, the officiating priest, the Abbé Latouche, causes the coffin to be conveyed into his private apartment, whence Roland, who has resumed his place under the shroud for the purpose, duly makes his escape. Among the later exploits of the plotters is the murder of the Abbé Latouche, while Roland is far away, under another name, fighting in the wars. Another notable incident is the impersonation of the Abbé Latouche by Roland on his return, by which Henri, thinking the apparition supernatural, is impelled to confess his crime upon the Abbé. This is leading onward to the close, which occurs, dramatically enough, by the death of Henri, the arrest of Lebarge, and the triumphant restoration of Roland to his rights, and the vindication of his heroic attitude "for wife and home."

Allowing for the almost inevitable first-night lapses, the acting was, on the whole, very satisfactory. Mr. John Power, the author, as Gaspard Lebarge has provided himself with a part which gives him, however, not so many opportunities to shine as his obvious talents deserve. Nevertheless, he sustained the attitude of the ex-convict and hypnotist, who might have figured much less effectively in other hands, with a weird and suggestive dignity. As Henri St. Pierri, the villainous natural son of Lebarge, Mr. T. A. Ellis showed himself well fitted for the rôle, being obviously well practised in the demeanour and intonation which are characteristic of the refined stage scoundrel. A good part is that of Celeste le Grande, played by Miss Marie Lyons. It is that of the erring daughter who is reclaimed from evil, first by a tender word from her father, and afterwards by the forgiving kindness of her sister Rosette, for whose blindness and gentle nature she had shown no sympathy. Miss Lyons showed every indication of ability to make the most of her chances when the players settled down, and realised the character with smartness and intelligence. As Rosette, Miss Clara Reid displayed remarkable tact and accomplishment, though she was handicapped by an assumption of blindness which, intended for effect in the chapel scene and other exigencies of the plot, might be advantageously dispensed with. Her voice, movements, and appearance were pleasing and sympathetic, and her impersonation was one of the successes of the evening. Considerable credit is due also to Mr. Francis Everard for a bold and manly depiction of Roland St. Pierre—a hero conceived on the lines demanded by audiences which like to hear fine sentiments appropriately declaimed at the right dramatic moment. Mention should also be made of Mr. A. Deane Meade's delineation of the Abbé Latouche, which was a careful and effective piece of work. It is not possible to say much in favour of the comedy element, the conception of which is rather weak; but Mr. George T. Greig made a vigorous attempt to get some fun out of his opportunities as Picard Picole, succeeding best as the braggart soldier from the wars; while Miss Edith Leslie as Lizette rendered all possible assistance. Others who did well were Miss Clark Andrews as the Countess of Arne, and Mr. George Porteous as Jean le Grande.

THEATRICAL GOSSIP.

Sir Charles Wyndham, whose friendship with Sir Henry Irving synchronised with that of Mr. J. L. Toole, was unable to attend the funeral of the late comedian, being away at Marienbad. The message sent by Sir Charles was a heartfelt one, and ran as follows:—"Please convey to Mr. Toole's relatives my great grief at the severance of a close friendship, thirty-nine years old, and, at the same time, my grateful sense of relief that his unparalleled sufferings are over. My heart is too full for further words."

Among the many stories now being told to illustrate "Johnnie" Toole's love of practical joking there is one that has a touch of poetic prettiness. Mr. Toole had invited Mr. and Mrs. E. S. Willard to dine with him one evening, and had particularly urged them to "come early, before it gets dark." Mr. Willard was, however, unable to get there before candle-light, and, on welcoming him, Toole, pretending to be slightly annoyed, said:—"Dear me, I wanted you to choose the fruit for dinner, and now it is so dark that we cannot make a nice selection—and I have the very finest fruit garden in England. But, come along; we'll take a candle, and do the best we can." He lighted a candle, took up a large fruit-basket, and led the way into the garden, still keeping up a testy manner, which Willard met with good-humoured apologies, and the declaration that the proper time to gather fruit was when it was too dark to notice imperfections.

Toole held the light to a tree. "There," said he, "look at those oranges. You can't find the like of them growing anywhere else on this blessed island. What do you think of them? Pick one. Fine, eh?" It was a cherry tree, from the branches of which depended many oranges of the finest Californian variety. "Any kind of fruit you want. See here. What do you think of these pears?" He held the light to a lilac bush heavily freighted with pears. From rose bushes he gathered apples, picked a few lemons from a plum tree, and, having filled his basket, covered the top with a layer of strawberries from a row of hollyhocks. "I think this will do for dinner," he said, turning towards the house; but suddenly stopping, he asked: "How would you like a peach or two? There may be some ripe on the wall. Let's try." From the ivy against the house he secured half-a-dozen peaches, as luscious as any hothouse product. Entering the house, he said: "Follow my example. Grow your own fruit, Willard. It is the only way to get round the rascally shop-keepers, who simply skin you alive." And throughout the dinner Toole soberly descanted on the superior advantages of home-grown fruit, and subsequently he sent Willard a small basket of "Samples of my garden nectarines."

Reference to Mr. Toole was made on Sunday afternoon in the course of an address by the Rev. Edward Husband, Vicar of St. Michael's, Folkestone. The speaker described the late comedian as a man of wonderful talent and genius. Grown up men and women, he said, cherished his name as a household word, and remembered the hours of happiness and merriment he used to give them. Mr. Toole was one of the most generous, kind-hearted, and upright of men, and although the majority of his gifts were distributed in private, his charities to the poor and needy year by year were something untold.

Mr. Martin Harvey, who has been seeking health and rest at Minehead, and has gained much benefit from his sojourn in that charming resort in the Bristol Channel, commences rehearsals within the next few days for a lengthy tour, which begins on Monday week at the Opera House, Buxton. Mr. Harvey, Miss de Silva, and their company then proceed to Llandudno, where they will appear at the Grand Theatre on the 23rd, 24th, and 25th inst. Mr. Frank B. O'Neill is still Mr. Martin Harvey's business manager, whilst the veteran H. J. Loveday controls the stage.

Mr. Arthur Bourchier will have the distinction of starting the new dramatic season, having decided to produce Mr. W. J. Locke's play, The Morals of Marcus, at the Garrick Theatre on Wednesday, the 29th inst. Mr. Bourchier has engaged Miss Lillah M'Carthy for the part of Judith, and Miss Alexandra Carlisle for that of Carlotta. The production will also witness the return to the stage of Miss Sadie Jerome, and the cast will likewise include Miss Helen Rous, Miss Marianne Caldwell, Mr. Aubrey Smith, Mr. Julian L'Estrange, Mr. C. V. France, Mr. Wilfred Forster, and Mr. Sydney Valentine, who is assisting Mr. Bourchier in the production of the play.

Mr. Charles Frohman, by altering the date of the production of Toddles at the Duke of York's to Thursday, August 30, will avoid a triple clash of first nights. The full cast of the new piece will consist of Messrs. Cyril Maude, Kenneth Douglas, Charles Maude, Allen Thomas, Ivo Dawson, and Alfred Bishop, and Misses Gertrude Kingston, Lottie Venne, Alice Crawford, Helen Ferrers, and Nancy Price.

Two notable productions are underlined for the following Saturday, September 1, when Miss Ellen Terry begins in The Winter's Tale at His Majesty's, and Aladdin is to be brought out at the Gaiety. The succeeding Monday, September 3, is set apart for Mrs. Temple's Telegram, at the Waldorf, and the next day witnesses the début of Tristram and Iseult at the Adelphi. The cast of Mrs. Temple's Telegram will include Mr. William Morris, Mr. W. Cheesman, Mr. Rudge Harding, Mr. Frank Collins, and Miss Constance Hyem.

Mr. James Carew, who is to be Miss Ellen Terry's leading man during her American tour, hails from Chicago, where he won great popularity as an actor. Miss Maxine Elliott brought him to London with her last Clyde Fitch play, and since then he has sustained minor rôles in The Little Stranger at the Criterion, and in Mr. Shaw's plays at the Court. It was doubtless during her association with the latter house that Miss Terry became aware of Mr. Carew's dramatic abilities, and decided to assign to him the important position which he is shortly to occupy.

Royal assent was given to the Musical Copyright Bill in the House of Lords on Saturday, and the Measure now takes its place on the Statute Book. Its provisions furnish ample protection to the work of song-writers and composers, and the wrongs which they have so long endured may now be considered at an end. Congratulations are due to those who have fought so determinedly for their rights for years past, and to the influential promoters of the Bill in both Houses of Parliament the sincerest thanks are offered.

Mr. Albany Ward, the lessee of the Empire, Oxford, who has been arbitrarily deprived of his licence for that theatre, has obtained a rule nisi in the High Court. It is essential that such a case should not be allowed to drop, and Mr. Ward deserves the support of all in his efforts to obtain a more favourable hearing.

Miss Olga Nethersole is endeavouring to induce the famous French poet-dramatist, Edmond Rostand, the author of Cyrano de Bergerac and L'Aiglon, to write a play for her especial use. Miss Nethersole has the advantage of being a close personal friend of Rostand's. They have met frequently during Miss Nethersole's stay this summer at Biarritz, where she has rented the beautiful villa of the Marquise de Montbrison. As is well known, Monsieur Rostand lives in the closest seclusion in his castle in the Pyrenees, which is only a few miles from Biarritz.

Among those staying at Marienbad are Sir Charles Wyndham, Mr. and Mrs. Tree, Mr. Charles Hawtrey, Miss Mary Moore, Mdlle. Yvette Guilbert Saharet, the German tenor, Werner Alberti, Mr. Ernest Mayer, and the famous Berlin impresario, Adolph Sliwinski.

Mr. Seymour Hicks' penchant for playwriting has lately been indulged by the concoction of a musical comedy, upon which the title of The Pet of the Public is likely to be conferred. The lyrics will be by Mr. C. H. Taylor, and the music by Mr. Herbert E. Haines. The first home of the new piece will probably be the Hicks Theatre in Shaftesbury Avenue.

The Actors' Church Union is forging ahead very nicely, and new members are constantly being enrolled. During the month of July the Union was strengthened by the addition to its ranks of such well-known artists as Mme. Fanny Moody, Mr. Charles Manners, Mr. W. M. Chapman-Huston (manager of the Moody-Manners Opera Company), Miss Violet Hedda, Miss Sybil North, and Miss Winifred Vyvyan. The Rev. Donald Hole, the honorary secretary of the Union, has been very energetic in furthering its objects, and communications may be addressed to him at 20, Woodview-gardens, Highgate, N.

"Peter's Mother," a comedy by Mrs .Henry De La Pasture, acquired some time since by Mr. Otho Stuart, is to be the next novelty at Wyndham's, where it will be produced about the middle of September. The services of Miss Marion Terry have been secured for the chief part, one of emotional tenderness in which her great gifts as an actress will be worthily employed. The story is that of a mother who, on the death of her husband, devotes herself to her son's welfare, her second marriage, however, exercising considerable influence over the subsequent interest of the play.

Mr. Toole, as is well known, had a wonderfully extensive collection of theatrical mementoes and curios. It has been stated that some of these will shortly be put up for auction, and if that rumour prove to be correct, the sale of these relics will most certainly see a repetition of the scenes at the Irving auction, which took place last December. In the deceased comedian's museum of curiosities, pictures, engravings, photographs, letters, and other articles which Toole regarded, with an affectionate eye, as "household gods," are represented the arts, the literature, the drama, and the history of the last half of the nineteenth century.

A picture, by De Conti, of the old Theatre Royal, Edinburgh, which shows a couple of men bearing posters inscribed, "J. L. Toole as the Artful Dodger, to-night," reminded one that in the same room in the pretty house at Maida-vale were two china wine-coolers which at one time belonged to Charles Dickens. Another memento of the immortal novelist takes the form of a handsome carved oak-framed mirror standing ten feet high.

On one of the walls of the chamber wherein stood the coffin and the scores of beautiful wreaths last week is a small frame containing a telegram which is now of pathetic interest. It is dated July 22, 1902, Brighton, and is from His Majesty's yacht, Cowes: "I am commanded by the King to congratulate you on the jubilee of your appearance on the London stage." That will surely be kept in the family, whether other relics are sold or not.

A recollection of the deep affection which existed between two men is rapidly borne to one's mind on glancing at a framed picture postcard of Irving as Vanderdecken, the cardboard made precious by the words, "My dear love, my dear friend.—H. I.," in the great tragedian's handwriting. Passing from dramatic to naval characters, mention should be made of an interesting autograph letter written by Lord Nelson to Lady Hamilton a few days before the battle of Copenhagen. It is dated from the battleship St. George, March 31, 1801, and contains the significant sentence, "Now we are sure of fighting, I am sent for; when it was a joke I was kept in the background."

What a multitude of pictures and prints Mr. Toole has left behind him! In the deceased comedian's picture gallery are to be found all the famous old-time players and their contemporaries in politics, art, science, and literature. In this collection are Garrick and Kean as Richard III., the "Infant Roscius," Macready, Lemaitre, Fawcett, Kemble, Mme. Vestris, Dickens, Thackeray, Mrs. Liston, Henry Irving (an engraving after Ernest Moore), John Reeve, Buckstone, Mrs. Alfred Mellon, Lal. Brough, and a host of others. Then we must not forget Mr. Weedon Grossmith's portrait of Frank Toole, the son whose early death "J. L." deplored with all the feeling of a devoted father.

Mr. J. Bannister Howard has, by arrangement with H. A. Saintsbury, secured the rights in George Warren's dramatic version of Edgar Wallace's successful novel, "The Four Just Men," and will send it on tour this autumn with a company supporting Mr. H. A. Saintsbury, who will "produce" the drama and play the part of George Manfred, the leader of the Four. It will be remembered that the mystery around which the novel is written—the murder of the Foreign Secretary, Sir Philip Ramon—was left unexplained, and prizes to the extent of £500 were offered for the solution, which will appear shortly in the form of a diagram in the Daily Mail, together with the names of the prize-winners, simultaneously with the publication of a second edition of the book.

"The New Barmaid" has been doing excellent business at Aldershot this week, and, strangely enough, the Wednesday night's receipts were bigger than those of the August Bank Holiday. This is most unusual, and shows what favourable reports were spread by early visitors to Mr. Clarence Sounes' popular theatre.

The lady members of The New Barmaid company appeared in the cricket field in opposition to the Aldershot Athletic Club on Thursday, when an exciting match was played. The gentlemen were armed with broomsticks, and played left-handed, with the result that they were beaten by their fair opponents by 18 runs. The "New Barmaids" achieved the total of 102, of which 20 were extras, and the rest of the score was as follows:—Miss W. Preston 18, Miss E. Preston 19, Miss Prairie 0, Miss Grafton 0, Miss A. Preston 9, Miss Short 0, Miss Goddard 0, Miss Grey 3, Miss Nicholls 4, Miss Delamere 8, Miss Hawthorne 10, and Miss Maynard 11. The proceeds of the match were devoted to the funds of the Aldershot Hospital.

Mr. John W. Deverell, who has lately been understudying Mr. James Welch during his season at Terry's, and who played Cyril Garston in The New Clown during Mr. Welch's indisposition, has been engaged by Mr. Clyde Meynell to produce and play in The Little Stranger, in Australia. Mr. Deverell sails for Australia on the P. and O. Mongolia on Aug. 17.

Mr. Howard Cochran's company, including Miss Aïda Jenoure, start their tour of The Marriage of Kitty at Blackburn on Aug. 20, Miss Jenoure playing Kitty. This specially selected company includes other well-known artists—Miss Betty Castle, Miss Helen Kay Robertson, Mr. Cecil Wilford, and Mr. Howard Cochran. All the scenery and properties from the Duke of York's Theatre are carried, and, with such a strong cast, suggests a most successful tour.

Miss Mabel Love has made a remarkable success in The Freedom of Suzanne, with which Miss Emma Hutchison and Mr. Percy Hutchison opened their third season at the West Pier, Brighton, on Monday, playing to enormous business. All the front was made into stalls, and in spite of the terribly hot weather, the audiences averaged 1500 at each performance. For the three remaining weeks of their season will be presented Cousin Kate and On the Love Path, Miss Annie Hughes in A Country Mouse, A Bit of Old Chelsea, and the last week Public Opinion, with Miss Hutchison in the cast.

Of making new theatres there is no end. The latest is a house to be erected in Hampton-road, Twickenham, capable of holding 2000 persons. Mr. A. Parry Fielder is the architect; and a syndicate has been formed to carry out the work when the plans have received approval.

Mr. Russell Rosse's company, which includes Messrs. Charles Groves, David James, and Robert Minster in A Pair of Spectacles, will be the attraction at the Kennington Theatre next week.

The tour of Messrs. Claude Askew and Edward Knoblauch's powerful play, The Shulamite, starts at Plymouth on the 20th inst. Miss Lena Ashwell will appear in her original part of Deborah Krillet during the first four weeks, after which she sails for New York to fulfil a twenty weeks' engagement with the Messrs. Shubert in the same character, supported by an American company. After Miss Ashwell's departure, the part of Deborah will be sustained by Miss Evelyn D'Alroy. The company, under the direction of Mr. William Greet, will also include Mr. Charles Weir, Mr. T. W. Lovell, Mr. Reynolds Denniston, Miss Mary Griffiths, Miss Marcelle Hudson, and Mr. Henry de Solla, who is to fill the responsible position of stage manager.

The new route viâ Fishguard and Rosslare should prove of special service to companies visiting Cork, where Mr. John Horgan, the manager of the Opera House, is making a spirited bid for patronage in the forthcoming season. The bookings comprise all the best companies, and include Mr. Martin Harvey and Mr. Edward Terry, while such popular attractions as Floradora, Veronique, Public Opinion, the Moody-Manners A Company, His House in Order, the D'Oyly Carte répertoire company, Mollentrave on Women, and other leading combinations also figure in the list.

Messrs. Alfred Northway and W. V. Garrod's revival of The Prodigal Parson has proved so successful that they have secured a further lease of the play, and will extend their tour until the end of next year. Practically every drama-theatre of repute in the kingdom will be visited, the bookings including five weeks each in Manchester and Birmingham. The autumn of 1907 is almost entirely confined to re-bookings. Messrs. David Allen and Sons are at present engaged on some new full-colour pictorial posters, the scenery is being repainted and added to, and electric lighting effects introduced in the Carnival scene. The same management have a new play in preparation, and will probably send out another company shortly.

News from New York reports the wedding of Miss Fay Templeton with Mr. William Patterson, the Pittsburg millionaire. Miss Templeton has been for several years one of the most popular comediennes on the American stage.

The beautifully decorated and re-seated Theatre Royal, Edinburgh, was re-opened after a four months' closure on Monday last with Mr. Wentworth Croke's Christian company. It has now commenced its seventh year of tour, and starts out with a fresh plant of printing and new scenery and dresses, the former by Mr. Ernest Howard. This is the sixth visit of the piece to Edinburgh, and it has broken all records for August, both of the piece and the theatre. Miss Grace Chalmers, a native of Edinburgh, continues to play Glory Quayle with striking success.

Mr. Wentworth Croke having arranged all his autumn tours, has left London for a brief holiday on the Continent, and will visit Antwerp, Bremen, Bruges, Ghent, and Ostend in search of talent.

Mr. William B. Ashcroft's many friends will regret to learn he is lying seriously ill at White Rose Cottage, Lancing, where he was spending a short holiday in company with Mrs. Ashcroft prior to returning to town for rehearsals with Mr. and Mrs. Kendal. The engagement has had to be cancelled.

Mr. G. H. Snazelle is touring The New Clown with a strong company, including Miss Helena Millais, who is playing Rosie, Mr. Snazelle repeating his impersonation of Mr. Dixon. Mr. Welch has carefully rehearsed the company so that everything has been done to secure the success of the tour. Ping-Pong, the celebrated donkey, is travelling as a member of the company.

Miss Daisy Halling, who has just concluded an engagement in Mr. Ernest Carpenter's stock season at the Grand Theatre, Brighton, is now playing Madam Sanson in Messrs. Pitt and Halling's new version of £1000 Reward, which bids fair to realise the most sanguine expectations. Owing to this arrangement, Miss Halling was unable to accept Mr. Carpenter's offer to resume her original part of the Spider in the autumn tour of The Spider and the Fly.

Mr. and Mrs. Vernon Cowper, now touring the Continent, met with an alarming accident in Paris last week. They had just started in a friend's automobile on a journey to Versailles when the car skidded on the tram-lines in the Avenue du Main, breaking the left front wheel, and plunged violently into the curb. The vehicle turned completely over on the top of its occupants, an electric tramcar pulling up within a yard of them. Medical aid was obtained, and Mrs. Cowper was found to be suffering from severe contusions to the head and body, from which she has now nearly recovered. Mr. Cowper had both legs badly crushed by the car, besides being bruised by the fall, and was obliged to keep his bed for a week, when he hoped to be able to continue his tour. The car was a complete wreck.

Patrons of the Queen's Theatre, Leeds, will next week have the opportunity of seeing Mr. Allan Wilkie, supported by a strong company, in a round of Shakespearean and standard plays. Mr. Wilkie has an enviable reputation, having done excellent work under the banner of Mr. Beerbohm Tree, Miss Julia Neilson, and Mr. Fred Terry, and Mr. F. R. Benson, both in London and the provinces. He has now reached the third year of tour with his own company, and he is supported by Mr. G. Alexander Marsh, and Miss Carrie Baillie, who for a long time played the leads with the late Osmond Tearle company and by Miss Iné Cameron. His répertoire will include such popular attractions as The Merchant of Venice, Hamlet, The Corsican Brothers, Robert Macaire The Lady of Lyons, The Ticket-of-Leave Man, David Garrick, and The Bells, the two last-mentioned plays being given on Friday night, the occasion of Mr. Wilkie's benefit.

Miss Louisa Jephcott, the amiable lady secretary at the Alexandra Theatre, Birmingham, relinquishes to-day that position in which throughout Mr. Lester Collingwood's régime she distinguished herself by her apt business-like ways and sunny disposition. Miss Jephcott, who is leaving solely on account of home duties and family ties, will take away with her the good wishes of all professional visitors to the theatre.

The usual weekly meeting of the Council of the Actors' Association was held on Tuesday last. There were present:—Mr. M. R. Morand (in the chair), Misses Carlotta Addison, Kate Bishop, Kate Phillips, and Saba Raleigh; Messrs. Cecil Barth, Acton Bond, Burton Cooke, Brandon Thomas, and Spencer Trevor; and Charles Cruikshanks (secretary). A claim by a non-member against a member of the Association, for arrears of salary, &c., was considered, and the secretary was directed to write to the member upon the subject, and ask for an explanation.

Mr. Cruikshanks reported that he had received letters from Sir Squire Bancroft, and Messrs. George Alexander, Arthur Bourchier, John Hare, H. B. Irving, A. W. Pinero, and Edward Terry in reply to his letter to them on the subject of the proposed "Irving memorial." All those gentlemen were in favour of the suggestions made, that the matter should have attention without delay; and Mr. Cruikshanks was directed to communicate with Sir Squire Bancroft and Sir Charles Wyndham on the subject, and arrange, if possible, with the former to attend the next Council meeting, so that the matter might be fully discussed, and the date of meeting for settlement of necessary details, fixed.

The secretary reported the receipt of two complaints from defrauded landladies, and was directed to file the particulars. The secretary stated that the persons against whom the complaints were made were not members of the Actors' Association. Mr. Cecil Barth brought forward "a scheme for reading new plays, introduced by members, with a view to production, if considered of sufficient merit"; but as the attendance was not very large, it was suggested that the matter should be placed on the agenda for next week. Mr. Barth agreed to this course being adopted. In connection with the work of the Agency Department, it was agreed, upon proposition of Mr. Cecil Barth, seconded by Miss Kate Bishop, that in the agency report submitted to the Council from time to time, the names of the artists engaged be entered. The secretary received instructions to arrange the writing-room, on the second floor, as a "silent room," and to carry out the necessary details in that connection. The report of the Finance and General Purposes Committee was given. A former member was reinstated. Aubrey Mallalieu, Frederick Castleman, Florence Watson, and Florence Farr were nominated for election.

The Finance and General Purposes Committee held a meeting last Tuesday. There were present Mr. Acton Bond (chairman), Mr. Cecil Raleigh, Messrs. M. R. Morand, and Charles Cruikshanks (secretary). The minutes of the last meeting having been read and confirmed, the secretary reported the present position of the list of members with regard to the payment of subscriptions for the current year; and matters having been discussed in connection with a proposed outlay which the committee did not favour, it was ultimately agreed that a recommendation should be made to the Council that the question involved should be abandoned.

Mr. Lester Collingwood, the popular proprietor of the Alexandra Theatre, Birmingham, has once again successfully launched the favourite drama When London Sleeps on an autumn tour, which opened on Monday evening at Nuneaton to a big house. The play has the advantage of a powerful cast of well-known artists, and is admirably staged and dressed. The management is in the capable hands of Mr. F. Bernardo.

Mr. Walter Emden, J.P., the well-known West-End architect, who has now retired, has presented his business to his four principal assistants, namely, Mr. S. H. Egan, Mr. W. S. Emden, Mr. A. J. Croughton, and Mr. T. C. Ovenston, who will now carry on the firm at the same address under the name of Messrs. Emden, Egan, and Co.

The dates for the autumn tour of Servais Le Roy's new mystical play, to include Le Roy, Talma, and Bosco, the world's monarchs of magic, have now been settled. Offers for the novelty were so numerous that the tour could have been filled three times over. A good story of Le Roy's ready wit is just now going the round. It seems that recently, while the turn of Le Roy, Talma, and Bosco, was in progress, and geese, ducks, fowls, pigeons, &c., were being produced from nowhere, a wag in the gallery shouted out, "Can't you produce a jackass?" Whereupon Le Roy replied, with cutting politeness, "It will afford me much pleasure to introduce a jackass to the audience if you will step on to the stage."

The Mozart Festival at Munich is creating great enthusiasm. The performances are given in the Residenz Theatre, and are mounted with the most elaborate attention to detail. Don Giovanni was the opening piece on Aug. 2, and was played as originally devised, in two acts, the whole of the eight scenes being presented by means of a revolving platform.

Preparations are now in active progress for the production of The Bondman at Drury Lane. Mr. Hall Caine read the play on Wednesday to Mr. Arthur Collins and the company engaged to perform in it, which includes Mr. Patrick Campbell, Mr. Henry Neville, Mr. Frank Cooper, Mr. James Fernandez, Mr. Henry Ainley, Mr. Lionel Brough, and other popular players.

Mr. and Mrs. Kendal start their tour on the 27th inst. at the Grand Theatre, Llandudno. Blackpool, Harrogate and Buxton, Eastbourne and Folkestone, the Marlborough Theatre, Holloway, Manchester, Southport, Liverpool, Newcastle, Dundee, Glasgow, Edinburgh, Birmingham, and Middlesbrough, are amongst the other towns that will have the privilege of a visit from the accomplished artists.

The proprietors of the Brixton Theatre have decided that on and after October 22 the theatre shall be run as a music hall on the two-houses-a-night system, under the management of Mr. Walter Gibbons, and will in future be known as the Brixton Hippodrome.

MM. Emile Bergerat and Georges Duval the well-known Parisian dramatists, are spending their holidays in an out-of-the-way corner in Brittany, and are putting the finishing touches to a three-act comedy that bears the unlovely title of L'Oncle Pig. It may be incidentally remarked here that M. Georges Duval—a great admirer of English literature—is writing a volume, "Londres au temps de Shakespeare," wherein he will give Parisians an exact reconstruction of London at the time of the great English poet.

"At Cripple Creek," which has beaten all records for the holiday week at Wigan, will, on Monday, pay a return visit within four months to Hanley. Miss Ida Molesworth and Mr. Mark Blow have also Under Two Flags and A Sailor's Sweetheart on the road in the autumn, "Flags" paying its sixth visit to Brighton this month.

Active preparations are made at the Porte Saint Martin, Paris, for the production of Cinderella. Rehearsals are in full swing, and the management are glad to have the benefit of Mr. Arthur Collins' experience. The French translation is by M. Herbel; and it is more than probable that the work will prove a thorough success. The principal rôles have been entrusted to Mlle. Arlette Dorgère, Mlle. Jeanne Petit, M. Mayal, and M. Morton, all of them excellent artists.

Mr. Lingford Carson resumed the reins of management at the Queen's Theatre, Keighley, last Monday, after a well-earned rest at Douglas. The Queen's Theatre, Liverpool, is also under his management; and in addition to sending out three dramatic companies in the autumn, great interest is centred in his pantomime production of The Babes in the Wood. With the exception of one or two dates, a capital tour has been booked, and a number of excellent artists engaged. The scenery and dresses will excel anything hitherto seen at Keighley.

Mr. Norman V. Norman, with Miss Beatrice Wilson and his principal company, is this week giving a series of pastoral plays at Southsea, under the auspices of the newly-formed Entertainment Committee, in which the Mayor of Portsmouth (Sir George Gosens) and the principal members of the Council are financially interested. The various plays have been elaborately mounted and produced, and the house is packed each evening, even standing room being at a premium. The Mayor, Aldermen, and Town Council attended the performance officially on Friday, every seat for this night being booked in advance.

Mr. F. Lumsden Hare sails to-day for New York as leading man with Mr. Charles Frohman to open in The House of Mirth, by Clyde Fitch. Miss Fay Davis will be the leading lady of the company.

Mr. Frank J. Arlton, the cousin and boon companion for eighteen years of the late J. L. Toole, desires us, on behalf of himself and the other members of the family, to tender thanks for "the very many tokens of sympathy, respect, and love to my dear old Governor." Mr. Arlton adds that it was impossible to ask all who wished to attend the funeral, and it was equally impossible for him to write to all who had made kindly enquiries. Mr. Arlton deserves the gratitude of all for his great courtesy and assistance at the funeral of Mr. Toole last week. We are pleased to state that Mr. Arlton, who was completely broken down after the death of his companion of many years, and was compelled to leave London for a few days, is now much improved in health.

The protection afforded by the new Copyright Bill has already resulted in a number of new publications of importance, which had been held back for fear of piracy; and chief among these is a delightful solo, entitled "Vespers," which Mr. Van Biene is playing with great success in The Broken Melody. It is published by Reeder and Walsh, and is the first work of its class to be included in the popular sixpenny edition. Its composer is Edward van Biene, a son of the famous 'cellist, and general-manager for Mr. Lingford Carson's Drama of Life company.

At the Lyceum, Edinburgh, the holiday attraction has been Mr. Charles Carey's successful musical comedy After the Ball. This piece is now played in two acts instead of three, and several new numbers have been introduced. The excellent cast includes Miss Queenie Finnis, who recently made a success in The Blue Moon at the Lyric, and later still in Castles in Spain. Mr. Percy Baverstock now appears as Colonel Joseph Menit, and in his several numbers with Miss M. Sadie makes one of the many hits scored in the piece. The Ball was reproduced by Mr. H. Buckstone Clair, who still appears as the jovial Don who, at the critical moment, fails to remember his own name.

An interesting bowling match took place in the Heaton Park, Newcastle-on-Tyne, on Wednesday afternoon, between the members of the Sentenced for Life and The 10.30 Down Express companies, resulting in an easy victory for the latter. The scores were:—R. G. Elder 5, Edwin Clark 6, G. Beverley 4, total 15; Edward E. Louis 3½, Jamcs Firth 2½, B. Bass 1, total 7.

Miss Amy Willard, the clever little brunette whose success as Paulina in The Night of the Party at the Avenue Theatre will be remembered, has just concluded two years' engagement under George Musgrove's management, supporting Australia's star, Nellie Stewart, in Sweet Nell of Old Drury and repertory. Miss Willard has visited every theatrical town in Australasia, as well as in America, and escaped the earthquake in San Francisco by only four days. She is now spending her vacation cruising on Lake Michigan.

Mr. Blake Adams opened as Capt. James Barley in Beauty and the Barge at the King's Theatre, Glasgow, on Monday, when the piece was received with all its old favour. The occasion marked Mr. Adams' 297th appearance in the part.

Miss Marianne Caldwell has been engaged by Mr. Bourchier for the part of Antoinette in the Morals of Marcus, with which piece the Garrick Theatre is to reopen.

The news from Cardiff that The Lion and the Mouse has been received there with undoubted signs of approval is reassuring. The cold reception accorded to the play in London was inexplicable to a good many, but it was the American "atmosphere" apparently that did not appeal to the British audiences. Mr. Walter Maxwell, who secured the provincial rights from Mr. Frohman, set to work to Anglicise the play, and has succeeded in retaining all the strength of the piece while clothing his characters in home-spun garments. Miss Christine Silver and Mr. Leslie Carter have received five curtain calls at the end of the big scene in the third act, and four at the conclusion. Mr. Robert Redford, the lessee and manager of the Theatre Royal, and admittedly one of the best judges of the public's wants in the country, has re-booked the play for his new theatre in October, 1907. The first suburban production will take place at the King's, Hammersmith, on Aug. 27, and it will be interesting to see whether the Cardiff reception will be repeated.

Mr. Bannister Howard has decided to open the Castle Theatre, Richmond, with Sergeant Brue on Aug. 27, instead of the 30th. With the exception of this engagement, and Monday, Tuesday, and Wednesday, Sept. 3, 4, 5, when Miss Annie Hughes will appear in A Country Mouse, the theatre will be opened every Thursday, Friday, and Saturday, with a matinée on the last-mentioned day.

Miss Ellen Terry has accepted from Miss Ina Rozant, the authoress of "An Actor's Pilgrimage"—a one-volume novel which has just been published by T. Seeley Clark—the dedication of the book, which is a lively, amusing, and faithful description of an actress's life on tour in the provinces. Many writers who choose to depict theatrical life in their stories find it necessary to lay on the colour thickly, and to exaggerate wildly for the sake of effect. Thus a lurid, and often false, view of stage life is presented to the non-professional reader, and evokes the scorn and ridicule of the professional one. Miss Rozant has not found it necessary to be repellant or "realistic" in order to be interesting, and she has written a bright, humorous, and always readable little book, which is so light and cheerful as to be exactly suited for perusal on a sea-washed beach or in the shade of a spreading tree.

Messrs. Lionel Glenister and Wood-Ingram, who have secured the sole rights of All-of-a-Sudden Peggy from Mr. Charles Frohman, have booked an excellent tour, which will start on Sept. 17. Already a long list of bookings has been made; and a first-class company will appear in the play, which was so successful at the Duke of York's Theatre.

Everybody knows that in Egypt the cat is regarded as a sacred animal, and that in ancient times, at all events, the punishment of death awaited anyone who killed a number of the feline race. To quote from a book on the history of Egypt, "Such was the reverence which the Egyptians had for these animals, that in an extreme famine they chose to eat one another rather than feed upon these imagined deities." Mr. Frederick Fenn, the author of the comic opera produced at the New Theatre on Thursday night, has gone to ancient Egypt for his story, and evolved an ingenious plot out of the quaint custom of cat worship. Prince Anhotep, Lord of the Upper Nile and Ruler of Philæ, has come to the Court of King Amasis at Memphis in order to marry his daughter, the Princess, who, strangely enough, bears the same name as her father; but this was a whim of that rather eccentric ruler. The wedding is about to be solemnised when something happens that upsets all the nuptial arrangements. The prince's slumbers being disturbed by the howling of a cat under his window, he throws a brick at the sacred animal and kills it, for this one has not the proverbial nine lives. He confesses his crime to the princess; but believing that no one saw him commit the deed, he does not regard the incident very seriously. He has, however, reckoned without Ptolemy, the wily court embalmer, who discovers on the Prince's dress a clue to the murderer in the form of bloodstains and pieces of fur. Taxed with the crime by the High Priest, Nebenchari by name, he admits that "quite thoughtlessly" he dropped a brick upon the Royal mouser. The cat murderer is sentenced to death amidst the execrations of the excited crowd who surround him. Of course, the sentence is not carried into effect; and in the second act, through the intercession of the Princess, the culprit is allowed a State trial, which is conducted on a decidedly humorous basis. Bribed witnesses give evidence against him, and eventually the original sentence is upheld; but, thereupon Cheiro, a poor scribe who is deeply in love with the Princess, resolves to sacrifice himself, and declares that he killed the cat. In the end, his life, as well as that of the Prince, is spared. When a sacred cat is killed somebody has to die, and this condition is complied with by the death of Ptolemy, who, trying an evidently risky experiment with his new patent embalming chamber, himself falls a victim to the "patent vapours."

The new production is much nearer akin to Gilbertian comic opera than it is to modern musical comedy. The plot and much of the dialogue are in the manner of Mr. Gilbert. As an instance, we may quote the remark of Amasis: "There was a man who once told the High Priest a joke. Of course, he had to leave the country, but the girl he was going to marry went with him. Wasn't it splendid of her?" Then, again, the King's speech: I do not yet see how we can let him off. Besides, a man once found guilty can never be found innocent. It would make our Courts ridiculous. The individual often has to suffer for the State. To set him free after he has confessed to the crime would practically amount to calling him a liar, which would be worse than death. But I have great hopes that we may be able to execute you as well." This is essentially Gilbertian in tone, and delivered in Mr. Rutland Barrington's crisply humorous manner, these and similar remarks were effective and certainly refreshing after a surfeit of the dialogue of musical comedy. The first act is undoubtedly the stronger of the two. The second act would be greatly improved by judicious compression. Mr. Faraday's music was found to be bright and tuneful, several of the songs being admirable specimens of charming melody.

Miss Ruth Vincent as the Princess Amasis had a flattering reception on making her first entrance, and her performance of the part was quite in accordance with the best traditions of comic opera. She quickly gained an encore by her delightful rendering of a song, "Little Princess, look up!" A little later a duet with Amasis was also greeted with loud applause. In the second act Miss Vincent again scored with some very pretty solos. Mr. Roland Cunningham played the part of Prince Anhotep in a robust style that proved effective, and he also sang well. Mr. Whitworth Mitton, who comes from the concert platform, appeared as Cheiro, and his singing proved to be one of the musical treats of the evening. He promises to do extremely well with increased experience as an actor. Mr. Norman Salmond was a grim, dignified High Priest, and made good use of his fine voice. Mr. Herbert Ross was an amusing Ptolemy, the court embalmer. Mr. Lauri de Frece, though suffering from a cold, was quaint and funny as Sebak, keeper of the crocodiles. Mr. Frank Perfitt was a commanding Captain of the King's Guard; and Mr. G. Mackarness rendered good service as Zopyrus, a wine merchant. Mr. Rutland Barrington, who only appears in the second act, played the rôle of the Pharaoh of Egypt in that quietly droll style which has so often proved effective in comic opera, and, of course, he had a popular ditty, in which references to motor-cars, the County Council, and Chicago were made. His reception was quite enthusiastic. Miss Madge Vincent was a captivating Natis, the Princess's maid, and sang very sweetly, and minor rôles were well sustained by Mr. Leonard Calvert and Mr. F. Aubrey Millward. The new production was adequately staged, and at the fall of the curtain, in response to the loud and prolonged applause, Mr. Louis Calvert announced that neither the author nor the composer was in the house.

Mr. Ferris and Mr. Matthews deserve to be congratulated, as they have been, upon having produced a play very powerful in its interest, and exceptionally rich in the language in which the story is clothed. This is the pre-eminent feature of A Beggar on Horseback, and entitles it to rank with some of the best efforts of dramatic authors.

The new production has to do with the plots and counterplots of the time when James of Scotland and William of Orange were striving to reach the throne of England, and the picture that is presented of that troublous period is one that may be of interest, even to the student of Jacobite affairs. Introduced into these plots and counterplots, and, indeed, predominating over them, is the loves of two people, an English lady of title and a street-singer in a Spanish town. The play opens on a terrace in the town of Sabastian in Spain, where a young and beautiful English noblewoman is residing with her friends, some of whom are interested in the prospects of the Prince of Orange, whilst others are equally devoted to the cause of James of Scotland. Lady Mary Dudley, the young English noblewoman referred to, is affianced to the Duke of Staines, a staunch adherent of the Prince of Orange, although their love is not as whole-hearted as it ought to be; and it is at Sebastian that she hears the street-singer, Marley, who exerts such a powerful influence upon her subsequent fortunes. Marley is really a nobleman himself, though fallen on evil days, and when he sees the beautiful Englishwoman, he straightway falls in love with her, though he dare not in his then condition declare his affection. Anxious to serve her, he falls an easy prey to the scheming Sir Richard Wentworth, who, in love with the lady himself, and thinking the chances of James of Scotland are better than those of his master, the Prince of Orange, induces the street-singer to proceed to England to personate the Duke of Staines at a momentous meeting which the Duke himself cannot attend, through having been attacked by a hireling of the opposite party. Marley, bearing a strong resemblance to the Duke of Staines, accepts the situation lightly, fortified by the belief that the deception will benefit Lady Mary, and will save her brother, Lord Harry Dudley, who is in a position of great danger. And so, at a ball at the Duke of Staines' town house in London, we find Marley masquerading as the Duke, and deceiving everybody, even Lady Mary, who, believing that he is the Duke, comes to like him because he so much resembles the street-singer in the Spanish town. One of the ladies in the Duke of Staines' town house, however, recognises in the so-called Duke a former lover whose respect she had forfeited, and, failing to reawaken affection in him, she discloses to his enemy, Lord Petridge, a double-dealing Minister of the Prince of Orange, the place where the adherents of James of Scotland were to meet and mature their plans, and where Marley, as the supposed Duke of Staines, was to appear and offer them the encouragement of his rank and power. The meeting-place was the tap-room of the Star Inn, at Covent Garden, and when Petridge and the supposed Duke got there, they found an excited mob of Jacobites waiting for light and leading. The entrance of a young flower-seller, Nita, a street companion of Marley's, who had also come to love him, arouses the suspicion of the conspirators, who, taking her in her disguise for a spy, decide to kill her. To save her, Marley discloses his own personality and the deception he had played, and Petridge manages to assuage their anger by the specious excuse that, though the real Duke of Staines may appear afterwards, he will never be able to prove to his master, the Prince of Orange, that he was not the same man who attended the meeting of his enemies. After this there is a return to Sebastian by the principal characters in the play. Petridge produces documentary proof that Lady Mary is bound to marry the Duke of Staines. Marley, knowing that the Duke is now, without his help, lost, resolves to proceed to England to save him, for the sake of the woman he loves. And so we get to the last act at Whitehall in England, where we find William of Orange on the throne, and trying to find the false and the true amongst the powerful courtiers around him. The Duke of Staines is under sentence of death for, as the King supposed, conspiring with his enemies. Lord Petridge, who engineered the conspiracy, is still a trusted Minister. Marley appears, and discloses the part he was induced to play by Petridge, who, discovered, is banished from the country, and the King, as a reward for the honesty and honour of Marley, consents to his marriage with Lady Mary.

It is impossible to speak in terms of too high praise of the way in which this story is presented on the stage. The authors have got together a most capable company, every one of which, even those in subordinate rôles portrayed their parts with skill and discretion. Chief amongst them was Mr. Frank Cooper, who played the dual rôle of Marley and the Duke of Staines with great distinction. Whether as the gallant soldier, ready at any moment to draw his sword, or as the lover, full of tender devotion for the woman he loved. Mr. Cooper was most impressive, and never lost touch with the audience, who followed him with increasing interest, until, in the last act, an impressive scene, he overcame all his enemies. Mr. Cooper Cliffe was also a great success as the scheming and traitorous Lord Petridge. He succeeded, by his art, in clothing his villainies with such a specious covering of finesse and polished respectability, that even the onlookers might well have been deceived by them. Mr. Edward Ferris, one of the authors, made a most impressive though brief appearance in the play as the Prince of Orange, and ably depicted the perplexities of that well-meaning monarch surrounded by false friends. Mr. Ernest Leicester gave a good account of himself as Sir Richard Wentworth; and Mr. Herbert J. Bentley was successful in the part of the headstrong and impulsive Lord Harry Dudley. The Captain Lorraine of Mr. H. Asheton Tonge was also a most creditable performance. Amongst the ladies in the cast a special word of praise is due to Miss May Chevalier, for her impersonation of the part of Lady Mary Dudley. One could not but be impressed with the earnestness with which she played her part, and that she succeeded was amply evidenced by the manner in which her efforts were received by the audience. A pretty and touching picture of the flower girl, Nita, was given by Miss Irma Foldi, and Miss Violet Cooper made a sympathetic Lavinia Wentworth. Special pains were taken to see that the play should be well presented, both in the matter of scenery and of costumes, etc., all of which were above reproach.

The play was produced by Mr. Ferris, Mr. Clive Ross acting as stage-manager and Mr. Charles Brereton as assistant stage-manager.

"A KNIGHT ERRANT."

Produced at the Grand Theatre, Falkirk, on the 6th inst.

Duke de Cabreau .....Mr. Frederick Park
Marguerite .....Miss Erine Douglas
Count de Lutier .....Mr. Harold Chapin
Helen Ferrier .....Mrs. Alice Chapin
Captain Perdre .....Mr. Harry Welchman
Colonel Daubeterre ..Mr. Malcolm J. Cumming
Madame Floubert .....Miss Paula Fernan
Fenchette .....Miss Elsie Chapin

What is described as a new comic opera, and entitled A Knight Errant, was produced for the first time in public on Monday at the Grand Theatre, Falkirk. The period of the story is the reign of Louis XV., and the complications arise out of the escape of a young lady from her convent school and the cavalier disguise she adopts to hide her identity. There is another young lady in the same school, and the attentions paid to her by one Captain Perdre, who is completely infatuated by her charms, imperil his freedom. To avoid arrest he attires himself in the dress of a young lady and masquerades as the escaped girl, and wins the affections of the giddy old Count de Lautier and the Duke de Cabreau. This double masquerading leads to many funny situations. The piece is founded on an old costume play, and the setting and dressing are effective, pretty, and picturesque. It is presented in two acts, the first being laid in the courtyard of the White Hart, Verdun, and the second in a room in the White Hart. It is constructed more on the lines of a musical farce than of a comic opera. A Knight Errant certainly possesses qualities which should make it a success. The lyrics are by A. and H. Chapin, both of whom appear in the cast, and the dialogue is quaint, piquant, and entertaining. The music is by Mr. Frank Corrie, and is very agreeable and appropriate. The choruses are bright and sparkling, and the songs are sprightly and tuneful. Mr. Harry Welchman, the Captain Perdre, has a fine figure and a capital baritone voice. His acting of the part is a great success, and he imparts a happy abandon to his rendering. His singing of "The Wandering Knight" and "The Slap-dash Man" is heartily received, as is also that pretty item, "The Rosebud." Mr. Harold Chapin undertakes the part of the Count with rare intelligence, and his song, "I'm on a strange and awful quest," proves a hit. Mr. Frederick Park deserves a special word of praise for his interpretation of the difficult part of the Duke. His acting is clever, and his singing of the number, "I am the Duke," is effective. "Am I wrong?" is an attractive ditty. As Colonel D'Aubeterre, the lover of the young lady who escapes from the convent school, Mr. Malcolm J. Cumming invests the part with the necessary passion, and is quite successful. Mrs. Alice Chapin appears as Helen Ferrier, the damsel who flies from the convent. Her conception of the part is excellent, and she wears the disguise of the cavalier very becomingly. Miss Eirene Douglas makes a winsome Marguerite. She possesses a very pleasing voice, and her singing of "The Ambitious Plant" is clever. Miss Paula Fernan as Mme. Flaubert is very successful, and especially smart is Miss Elsie Chapin as Fanchette. Miss Alice Chapin and company have every reason to be proud of their first public appearance in A Knight Errant. Mr. Corrie, the musical conductor and business-manager, and the authors are deserving of congratulation.

CONTINENTAL ENGAGEMENTS.

TO THE EDITOR OF THE ERA

SIR,—I shall be very much obliged if you will kindly find room for the following warning in your columns.

Not infrequently troupes of English artistes, musicians, etc., are engaged to perform on the Continent. Many of these are well acquainted with the towns and places where they are to perform, while, on the other hand, a large number have never been abroad and are totally unacquainted with foreign languages, yet sign contracts in the language of the country where they are engaged to perform, and are, as a rule, ignorant of the conditions of what they sign.

It would avoid much trouble and misunderstanding if the members of such companies would, before entering into an engagement, write to the British Consular Officer or the British Chaplain at the place where they desire to fulfil an engagement, and inquire as to the reputation of the place where they are to perform and as to facilities for obtaining decent and respectable lodgings. Above all they should insist on having a duly legalised English translation of the contract, if they are unable to understand its terms in a foreign language.

Yours faithfully,
WALTER R. HEARN,
H.M.'s Consul-General.

The winner of the international shorthand speed competition at Baltimore, U.S.A., was Mr. Sidney H. Godfrey, who attained the remarkable record of 250 words per minute. Of his achievement he writes: "The pen used by me was a 'Swan' Fountain Pen, purchased six years ago, and which has been in constant use ever since. It has never failed me, even when writing at the rate of 250 words per minute." This is another remarkable testimony to the qualities of the "Swan" Pen, which is one of the best investments our readers can make. A fully illustrated catalogue is to be had on application to Mabie, Todd, and Bard, 79-80, High Holborn.

The Handel Festival at Berlin will begin on October 25, and continue over the three following days, the programme including Israel in Egypt, Belsazar, the Ode to Cæcilie, and a selection of instrumental works. There will also be a matinée of chamber-music and songs. Professors Siegried Ochs, Joseph Joachim, and Georg Schumann will conduct, and the choral and orchestral duties will be performed by members of the Royal Academy, the Philharmonic, and the Singacademy choir.

Mme. Melba drew an enormous audience to the Winter Gardens symphony concert at Blackpool on Sunday, Mr. Landon Ronald conducting. In consequence of the crowd obstructing the traffic, it was found necessary to open the doors three hours before the advertised time of the concert. Many distinguished visitors were present, and among the celebrities of the theatrical world were Lady and Sir Edward Moss and Mr. Frank Allen. Mme. Melba sang with her usual brilliant success, and was presented with a magnificent floral tribute by Lady Moss.

Comfort in seating is one of the most important problems which presents itself to the mind of the astute manager who wishes to attract the public. Messrs. Howard and Wyndham, Limited, have fully borne this in mind in the elegant refurnishing and redecoration of the Theatre Royal, Edinburgh. No less than 600 patent automatic tip-up seats, from the noted chair expert, H. Lazarus, have been added to the attractions of this well-managed house.

Everything from a railway engine to a balloon has been utilised by Mr. Arthur Shirley for the purposes of melodrama, and his latest sensation which he has provided in conjunction with Mr. Sutton Vane, another prolific dramatist, consists of a steam launch going at full speed along the river Thames. For the rest of the piece such practised playwrights may be trusted to provide engrossing material, and the audience at Kennington on Monday gave themselves up to the keenest enjoyment of the exciting web of infamy woven by the villains of the piece. The "Spider" of the cast is of the subtlest order, and the gentle fly the most unsuspicious, and as the result of their conflict some effective situations have been furnished. The play is rich in comedy episodes supplied by characters who are bound up more closely than usual with progress of the story.

A bright beginning is made in the first act, when a scene of domestic happiness is presented in the little Yorkshire village of Undercliffe, where dwell Cyril Girdlestone and Edith, his young bride, the daughter of the local minister. The first inharmonious note is sounded by the arrival of Cyril's half-brother Welby, whose beetling brows and lowering countenance proclaim his sinister intention. Welby is aware of Cyril's marriage some time previously to a certain Stella Gray, who has since been reported dead. Cyril becomes heir to his father's fortune, and Welby demands half the legacy as the price of his silence. Cyril indignantly refuses, and bids him do his worst, whereupon his half-brother produces the first Mrs. Girdlestone alive and well. Prosecution for bigamy looms in the distance, but Edith, realising Cyril's danger, declares that she had gone through no marriage with him, but was only his mistress.

Driven from the village in disgrace, Edith, with her new-born baby, takes up her quarters in lodgings in London, where she ekes out a miserable existence by her needle. Her poverty is shared by her father and by a faithful domestic named Molly Blake, who has won the esteem of Remus Roe, an eccentric individual known as "Soft Roe," while his twin-brother Romulus rejoices in the sobriquet of "Hard Roe." Remus is, in reality, the husband of Stella, from whom he has fled in dismay at the power of her evil eye. Cyril Girdlestone has meanwhile been abducted by Welby and Stella, and confined in a darkened cell in an old moat house at Finchley, where he has become half-demented under the influence of a drug administered by his captors. Cyril's cell is hidden by folding doors which open upon a spring at the side being pressed. Edith visits the place to bring some work which she has just finished, and feeling faint touches the spring in order to summon the servant, and the opening doors reveal the prostrate form of her husband. Stella comes in for the purpose of compelling Cyril to sign away his fortune, but Edith intervenes. Welby hastens to his colleague's assistance, and husband and wife are in imminent danger when David Strong, a sailor from Edith's native village, arrives to the rescue.

A voyage to South Africa is prescribed for Cyril, who fully provides for Edith and their child during his absence. News of the return of the boat arrives, and Stella receives a note from the purser of the vessel stating that Cyril has met with an accident and lies seriously ill on board. Edith hurries off with her child, but presently finds herself in the power of Stella, who meets her, disguised as a nurse, at a public-house now owned by Remus Roe, who subsequently reveals to Cyril his relationship to the unscrupulous adventuress. Stella gets Edith into a small boat on the Thames, and purposes to sink her and the child as soon as they reach mid-stream, but Edith clings to a buoy and is rescued by her husband, who has boarded a police steam launch and overtakes the boat, while Remus Roe plunges into the water and saves the child.

The whole family is caught in the web in the last act, when the resourceful Stella manages once again to get Cyril and his wife and child into her clutches, and immures her in a secret apartment with a movable roof in the moat house. She expresses her intention of killing all the lot, when Welby appears, and thrusting Stella into the fatal apartment proceeds himself to do the killing. He presses a button and the ceiling begins to descend, but when it is half-way down David Strong and the twin brothers arrive opportunely, and enable all the victims to escape with the exception of Stella, who is left behind to be crushed by the descending ceiling.

The authors could scarcely have been better served than they were by the artists engaged in the performance. Mr. Stanley Gordon was a refined but none the less energetic exponent of Cyril Girdlestone. Vigorous and buoyant in the earlier episodes, he rendered the poignant scene of his incarceration in the dark cell with moving pathos, and was also powerfully effective in the stirring lines he had to deliver. A remarkable performance of the hearty seaman, David Strong, was given by Mr. Frederick Ross, who bore himself nobly, and employed a wonderful voice in the rendering of dialogue which made an invariable mark. The delicacy and grace of Miss Nina Vaughton had pleasing prominence in the part of Edith McAllister. She delivered herself with striking emphasis of her passionate avowal of her alleged dishonour and subsequent scenes also served to display her powers of emotion. To Miss Amy Venimore also must commendation be awarded. No more ungrateful part could be imagined than that of Stella Gray, but Miss Venimore, while assuming a fascinating appearance, made the repulsiveness of her actions stand out with unmitigated effect. A worthy associate was found in Mr. Ellis J. Preston, who presented the rascality of Welby Girdlestone in subdued yet impressive colours. His evil deeds peeped out from his eyes, and the intensity of his acting well bore out his appearance. Comedians of quite an original kind were found in the brothers Roe, as impersonated by Mr. Fred Terriss and Mr. Charles A. Preece, who won genuine and hearty laughter. The former adopted a burlesque tragic air as Romulus, and looked quite Dickensian, while Mr. Preece presented in a truly comic manner the absurdities of Remus, who falls in love but is prevented from declaring his affection by the thought that his wife Stella still exists. Miss Lucy Murray made a blithe servant-maid, and shared largely in the prevailing merriment as Molly Blake, and Miss Ada Palmer was a ludicrous lodging-house keeper, a part into which she afterwards managed to infuse a little pathos. Mr. H. C. Lansley, as a hale and venerable clergyman, won general esteem, and the part of a mud-lark was realistically represented by Miss Katie Wilson. The scenery is skilfully painted by Mr. David Young and well set, the representation of the river Thames at night with the barges moored about and the arrival of the steam-launch being extremely well done.

Judging by an omen, the play which was presented to Londoners for the first time on Monday at the Fulham Theatre, ought to have a successful career. During the production of The Great Wilderness a cat appeared behind the footlights in one of the scenes, frisked about for a while in the centre of the stage, and, after a general look round, finally returned to the wings. But the piece deserves to succeed on its merits, and not only by a "stroke of luck."

The ten scenes of Mr. Alexander-Dallas's play are not lacking in incident. We have scarcely recovered from one exciting episode when we are brought face to face with another. Sir Vivian Ashley, an English nobleman, is on a visit to America for the purpose of discovering the murderer of his brother, who was done to death by white men, although an attempt had been made to put the crime to the account of some Indians. Sir Vivian has the assistance in the work of detection of Royal Keene, a U.S. Army scout. The murderer is Lascelle La Mort, a renegade, who, learning of the nature of the quest upon which Sir Vivian and Keene have set out, attempts to accomplish the death of the latter by conspiracy with an Indian chief, Red Heart. But Red Heart will have none of it, and several endeavours to get Keene out of the way for ever are frustrated, mainly by the aid of a pretty Indian girl. Thus in the Indian village Keene is bound to a tree by the orders of La Mort, whose intention is to shoot him there and then, but he is released by the friendly natives. In the second act the scheming and treacherous renegade is at the mansion of one Ronald Granville, a mine owner, of St. Louis, whose cousin he is. Granville, thanks to his amiable relative, is in debt, and has mortgaged his mine for a large sum of money. La Mort is conspiring with Moses Moloch, a Hebrew moneylender, and Judge Tremain, a rascally lawyer, to secure Granville's daughter, Louise, for his wife. Moloch offers to let his loan to Granville stand over if the latter will consent to his daughter's marriage to a certain estimable person of the Jew's acquaintance; if not, the money will be called in, and the mine owner will be ruined. Louise, however, finds a sufficient amount to pay off the mortgages on the mine and return the loans, and once more the ends of villainy are defeated. It is here that Keene appears disguised as the English nobleman, and there is a desperate struggle between him and La Mort, the latter escaping. In the third act we are taken to Sunrise Saloon, Denver. Here a motley gathering of men assemble at the drinking bar, play cards, and quarrel among themselves The comedy element is well attended in this scene, for Michael Maloney, an Irish settler, amuses the "bhoys" with his dancing and singing of Scots and Irish favourites while Hans Krott, another comedy character, renders a Dutch song and dances a national jig in splendid style. Keene sits down at one of the tables and plays cards. Tremain and Moloch are here, too, and La Mort turns up wearing a red mask. His identity is made known, whereupon shooting irons come into requisition, and a little later La Mort seizes Louise Granville and vanishes. Everyone sets out in pursuit, and in the final scene, "the celebrated Black Canyon," Keene encounters the murderer, and rescues the white girl. A duel is then arranged between the two men. The scout would have been perfectly justified in shooting La Mort at sight, but he prefers to follow a more honourable course. They stand a few paces from each other, back to back; La Mort fires before the given signal, but the Indian girl, Wild Rose, aims at him with fatal effect.

The Great Wilderness is capitally mounted and staged, and the story is full of sensational adventures and startling incidents. Messrs. W. Alexander-Dallas and Hubert Carson have engaged a good all-round company. Mr. Leonard Williams, as the dashing and manly scout, Royal Keene, acts in vigorous fashion, and the part could scarcely be better played. Mr. Edward Leroy, as Lascelle La Mort, is one of the most energetic villains we have ever seen; his wicked doings on the stage are performed with that cool sangfroid and frank boldness which are characteristic of the Western American adventurer. Mr. Robert A. Earle gives a laughable impersonation of Michael Maloney, and supplies some admirable comic singing and smart dancing. Mr. Jim Woods is capital as Hans Krott, a Dutch saloon keeper. His "English made in Holland" is distinctly good, and his Dutch rendering of a song most praiseworthy. Miss Blanche Leroy is agreeable and ladylike as Louise Granville, and a couple of very engaging Indian girls are Miss Kitty McPherson, who plays Star Eye, and Miss Hazel Dent as Wild Rose. Mr. C. M. Davidson is gentlemanly and dignified as Sir Vivian Ashley, and Mr. Walter Clarke is to be commended for his portrayal of a satirical Jewish moneylender, Moses Moloch. A particularly pleasing study of a high-minded, honest, and scrupulous Indian chief is furnished by Mr. Theodore Hill as Red Heart, and a good word can also be said for Mr. Douglas Howard as the scheming lawyer. During the progress of the piece solo dances are executed in exquisite style by Miss Evie Leyton, and the special music by Mr. Louis Gray provides a delightful accompaniment. Mr. Frederic C. Garton is the able acting-manager of the company, and Messrs. Theodore Hill and C. M. Davidson share the duties of stage-managership. The Great Wilderness should certainly find warm favour with popular audiences.

Mr. and Mrs. Chalmers Mackay, who have been spending their vacation on the Continent (visiting Switzerland, Paris, etc.), and in the Emerald Isle, commence their autumn tour on Monday at the Metropole Theatre, Glasgow, with The Wearin' o' the Green. This popular Irish musical play is now in its eleventh year of tour, and is rebooked at all the principal theatres without a vacant date.

Mr. Chas. Cardon appeared with his cadet party at Folkestone on Wednesday, having run over from Southsea, where he has been showing previously. He received a cordial welcome from a fashionable audience.

At St. Michael's Church, Dover-road, Folkestone, on Sunday afternoon last, at the 237th monthly afternoon for the people, the "Dead March from Saul" was played on the great orchestral organ in memory of the late Mr. J. L. Toole.

Messrs. Barnes and Weston, the well-known writers for the variety stage, have received many congratulations on the great good done by their song, "Boys of the Chelsea School."

FIFTY YEARS OF THE DRAMA—1850-1900.

(COPYRIGHT.)

In these columns it is proposed to give a strictly alphabetical arrangement of the titles of plays produced during the last fifty years. It will be the most complete list ever published, and should prove invaluable to authors desiring to discover whether a certain title has ever been used, and when. To members of the dramatic profession it will be useful in determining the dates of plays in which they have achieved successes. Our readers are politely requested to advise us of any omission or inaccuracy which they may notice.

This list as soon as complete will be published in cheap book form.

PROVINCIAL THEATRICALS.

SEAHAM HARBOUR.—New Theatre Royal.—Proprietor and Manager, Mr. A. C. Harrison.—Mr. T. Arthur Jones's company is here this week with Life's Sweetest Sins. Mr. Jones's portrayal of Captain Harold Marston stands out prominently; Mr. Oswald Douglas, the heavy lead, is an effective Doctor Colbrooke, whose confederates, Kimberley Coutts and Rev. Edward Grey are characters smartly acted by Mr. Robert Sawin and Mr. Clem. Horlock. Mr. Edgar Morgan as Bob Tanner is a successful comedian; Martin is humorously sketched by Mr. Bertram Lee; Doreen Rivers is played with admirable taste by Miss Marie Daventry; Miss Elsie Walton is a dainty Bess Grayson; and Miss Mary Ainslie is successful as Fay Colbrooke.

SOUTHEND-ON-SEA.—Pier Hill Bandstand. Lessee and Manager, Mr. H. E. Angless.—This extremely popular place of attraction is more than ever sought after, where excellent fare is provided by Mr. Ballard Brown, who has a capital lot of entertainers. These include Mr. J. W. Bowie, a tenor of ability; Mr. Arthur Thomas, a capital humorist; Mr. Arthur Edwards, humorist and dancer; Mr. Victor Marmont, a good solo pianist; and Miss Patie McCarthy, who delights with a capital selection of songs. Mr. Ballard Brown, too, takes part, his baritone renderings being of the best.

Alfresco Theatre of Varieties, Royal Terrace.—Lessee, Mr. H. E. Angless; Manager, Professor Vincent.—An exceptional programme is being submitted here, and one which is evidently a great draw to the holiday crowds. So well patronised are these entertainments that extra seating accommodation has been necessary. Professor Golding, the well-known ventriloquist, gains great popularity; and Mons. Le Clair's high diving dog, "Spot," causes quite a sensation. Mr. Chas. E. Ellis and Miss Marie Laurence are entertaining; whilst Mr. W. Banks is a good tenor vocalist. The Bijou Orchestra, under Mr. H. Syme, is undoubtedly an attraction in itself.

SOUTH SHIELDS.—Theatre Royal.—Lessees and Managers, Messrs. J. and F. Coulson. — Mr. George Kirk and Miss Mary Neil's company is occupying the boards this week with Judy; or, The Fatal Hand. Mr. George Kirk in the part of Grip the detective, displays controlled force, making the part stand out effectively; Miss Florrie Groves, in the title-rôle, hits off the child of the street in good style; the dual rôle of Alice the victim and Polly the coster is cleverly delineated by Miss Mary Neil. Able representations of Duburg the viper, and Blake the wretch, are given by Mr. Charles A. Leicester and Miss Ada Roscoe. The comedy parts have good exponents in Mr. Tyrone Power as Giddles the showman, and Mr. J. Tilly Dillsen as Jim the coster. The mounting and scenery are good.

Empire Palace Theatre.—Proprietor, Mr. Richard Thornton; General-Manager, Mr. Frank Allen; Resident-Manager, Mr. Geo. F. Thompson.—At the top of the bill is Harriett Vernon, the lilac girl, whose finished style and singing creates an excellent impression; C. H. Unthan, the armless wonder, is an accomplished player on the violin and cornet, also being an expert card player and rifle shot; Rezene and Robini, trapeze artists, provide excellent comedy; and Jack Wood, the Lancashire pitman, possesses a powerful tenor voice. Chas. J. Johnson, coloured comedian and dancer, does well. The other items include Rosie Bartlett, charming comedienne; George Reeves, resourceful comedian; Ina Lorrimer, comedienne and expert dancer; and the American Bioscope.

Tivoli. — Lessees and Managers, Councillor J. K. Hall and Mr. Joseph Sweeney.—The Universal Living Pictures are still attracting large audiences here. Jack Crawley, American comedian and raconteur, obtains an enthusiastic reception; Professor Dewhill, conjurer and illusionist, succeeds in mystifying the audience; Lottie Lonsdale, vocalist and top-boot dancer, is a prominent feature. A "Baby Show" competition is being held this week

SPENNYMOOR.—Cambridge Theatre.—Lessee, Mr. H. Thomas.—The late J. K. Murray's drama, The Luck of Life, forms the holiday attraction at this theatre, which opened its doors on Monday night for the first time since Whitsuntide. Mr. Reginald H. Adair's company presented the piece. Miss Nita Langford and Miss Marie Clavering, two very accomplished artists, fill the important rôles of Rene Bazilovitz and Countess Vlame with conspicuous ability. Miss Adelaide Clare as Vivienne D'Artois presents an admirable sketch of a woman of the world; Miss Dorothy Huggett as Laura North submits a really pleasing performance. The trio of Nihilists, Michael Bazilovitz, Count Petroff, and Ivan Polowski, are capably handled by Messrs. Harry Lloyd, Henry Loraine, and Charles Belcliffe. Mr. Wilton Marsh acquits himself with great credit as George Stanhope, and the like may be said of Mr. Polson Turner, who impersonates the Hindoo Bahadur. Mr. Harry T. Butler's efforts to amuse as Simon Stanley are highly successful.

STALYBRIDGE.—Grand Hippodrome.—Lessee and Manager, Frank Mundill; Acting-Manager, J. Dunford Oswald.—Chevalier Cliquot, sword swallower, heads the bill here this week, and gives a clever performance. Tom Hague, whistler and bird imitator, is above the average. Bugler Carr goes through a balancing performance with dexterity, and Lillie le Breton is a graceful trapeze performer.

ST. ANNE'S.—Public Hall Theatre.—Lessee, Mr. F. Carlton.—Brandon Thomas' company is here in Charley's Aunt. As Lord Fancourt Babberley Mr. Edmund Baker quite convulsed the audience with his representation, especially in the scenes with Sir Francis Chesney, aptly portrayed by Mr. Frederick Tyrell. As the two "grads," Jack Chesney and Charles Wykeham, Mr. Sidney Lynn and Mr. Basil Lynn were excellent; Mr. William Allison was well placed as Stephen Spettigue; Miss Boyne and Miss Margaret Morean were sprightly and captivating as the "guests," Miss Amy Spettigue and Miss Kitty Verdun; whilst Miss Katherine Vereker made a good Donna Lucia D'Alvadorez; Miss Mary Mallalieu as Ela Delahey; and Mr. Fred Morland as Brasset, a scout, were praiseworthy.

ST. HELENS. — Theatre Royal and Opera House.—Proprietors, the St. Helens Theatre, Ltd.; General-Manager, Mr. McLeod Loader. — After undergoing a thorough cleaning and renovation this theatre re-opened on Monday for the season, when Mr. Frank Lindo's company appeared in the domestic drama, Home, Sweet Home. The company is an exceedingly good one, special praise being due to Mr. F. Lindo (Stephen), Miss Marion Wakeford (Joan), Miss Daisy Rochefort (Dora), Miss May Rochefort (Sybil), and Messrs. D. L. Doyle (David), F. Myles Hodgson (Lucas), Sid Bryant (the Hon. Percy), George Overs (Dick), and Captain Gerald Gambier (Duke of Ancaster). The piece was excellently staged.

Hippodrome. — Proprietors, Messrs. Barrasford, Will Sley, and Fred Wilmot; Resident-Manager, Mr. A. V. Carnell.—The programme here this week is headed by the Milton Ray's company of comedians in the laughter-provoking episode, The Cruise of the Calabar, which is thoroughly enjoyed. Miss Edie Gray and her White Coons score a big success as vocalists. Others in the bill include Percy Hannan, young American baritone; Rappo and Ella, equilibrists and acrobats; Boden and Bell, juvenile vocalists and dancers; and the Sunbeam Trio, vocalists. The Bioscope is also an attraction.

STOCKPORT.—Theatre Royal and Opera House.—Sole Owner and Manager, Mr. Charles Revill; Acting-Manager, Mr. Wm. Revill.—The Grip of Iron is once again providing the attraction here, and giving evident pleasure to large audiences. Messrs. E. H. Knight and Geo. Denham's company includes Mr. Fred Powell, who gives a powerful impersonation of his old character Jagon; Mr. Geo. Denham as Loustelot the Smiler is distinctly amusing; and Mr. T. Renaud Lockwood as Alphonse de Coucou is exceedingly good. Mr. A. G. Polson Turner as Lorentz de Ribas acts with ability; and Mr. Wallace Curnock capably fills the character of Paul Blanchard. Cora Simmonet is meritoriously played by Miss Rosabel Dodd; and Miss Muriel Inglis is praiseworthy as Sophie Blanchard.

Empire. — Proprietors, the Stockport Empire Theatre Co., Ltd.; Acting-Manager, Mr. W. Black.—W. J. Churchill (Uncle Willie) is amusing large audiences here this week, and among others contributing to the entertainment are the Mohamed Ben Mohamed Troupe of Soussa Arabs, who command enthusiastic applause for their clever acrobatic feats; Charles Stevens, an entertaining character vocalist; the Ferganas, expert hand-balancers; Pattie Bella, a pleasing vocalist; La Bella Nello, a lady contortionist and hand-balancer of much ability; Gena Manon, a delightful soprano vocalist; and George Barron, an eccentric comedian, meet with success.

ANSWERS TO CORRESPONDENTS.

A. Williams.—One Shade Deeper, three-act drama, by C. Verner, produced at the Effingham Theatre on Feb. 16, 1863. Cast:—Dr. Nicholi, Mr. Charles Verner; Leonard, Mr. Charles Morton; Mr. Mowbray, Mr. J. Russell; Jacob, Mr. Coreno; Clara, Miss Jane Coveney; Nourka, Mrs. William Lingard (Miss M. Foster); Brenta, Mrs. Murray; Hannah, Miss C. Clifton.

Juno. — (1) At the revival of Cymbeline at the Queen's, in Long-acre, in April, 1872, Miss Henrietta Hodson played Imogen, the late John Ryder Iachimo, and George Rignold Posthumus. This play was chosen as the result of a "Shakespearean ballot," and by a majority of 569 votes. It ran a fortnight, and then several extra performances were given. (2) It was revived by Sir Henry Irving at the Lyceum in 1896, running from the end of September till the middle of December.

W. K.—You are mistaken. The play was first produced at the Gaiety Theatre.

R. O.—We cannot say. A music-hall sketch would not be included in our list of plays. You might reasonably ask to be furnished with the exact date and place of production.

F. J.—Mr. Forbes-Robertson's first London performance of The Light that Failed was at the Lyric on Feb. 7, 1903. The play was transferred to the New Theatre on April 20, the same year.

E. Butler.—As Count Orloff in the revival of Diplomacy at the Garrick Theatre in the year 1893, Lady (then Mrs.) Bancroft appearing as Lady Henry Fairfax.

W. Saunders.—White to S. French, theatrical publisher, Southampton-street, Strand, London.

Mr. Arthur C. Forde writes:—I notice in last week's Era you say in answer to a correspondent ("Hart") that you can discover no record of a pantomime called Rats of Rats' Castle having been produced at the Adelphi. I saw, when a child, at that theatre a pantomime called Cats' Castle; or, Harlequin and the King of the Rats, which is probably the one referred to. I cannot give the exact date, but I think it must be about sixty-five years ago—certainly more than sixty.

In reference to the above, we have also received the following note from Mr. Mark A. Kinghorne:—A lurid melodrama, entitled The Rats of Rats' Castle, or, Bobby, the Baby, was played at the Bower Saloon, also at the Grecian Theatre about 1866. At the latter Rayner, Grant, John Manning, and, I think, Miss Pettifer were in the cast.

BIRTHS, MARRIAGES, & DEATHS.

The charge for inserting in "The Era" an announcement of a Birth or Death or an "In Memoriam" notice, not exceeding twenty-four words, is One Shilling and Sixpence, every additional word One Penny.

Dunne-Lindsay—Mellor.—Aug. 2, at St. Peter's Church, Horsham, Surrey, by the Rev. F. W. Fagan, Vicar, Charles Dunne-Lindsay, Barrister-at-Law, Advocate of High Court, United Provinces, India, to Marion, youngest daughter of the late T. Randolph Mellor, C.E., formerly of Clifton, Dalkey, co. Dublin.

DEATHS.

Cockburn.—At Royal Infirmary, Edinburgh, on 26th inst., Lizzie Dyer, beloved wife of Peter Cockburn, vocalist, late Mr. Durward Lely's "Rob Roy" Co.; also Theatres Royal and Empire. Loved by all who knew her. 2, Baxter's-place, Edinburgh.

Toole.—July 30, at Brighton, John Lawrence Toole, aged 76.

In Memoriam.

Larkin.—In loving memory of dear Aunt Sophie Larkin, Aug. 10, 1903. — Rhoda and Herbert Shelley.

For Sympathy

Presentation.—Mr. Richard Nugent, the clever comedian, who during the variety season has appeared with great success in Mr. Geo. De Gray's sketches at the Queen's Theatre, Keighley, was the delighted recipient of a handsome travelling bag from a number of Keighley boys known as the "Syndicate." The presentation was made at the Cycling Club on the 3rd inst. by Mr. Albert Barlow, the local representative of The Era, and a large gathering of club members assembled to give a hearty send off to Mr. Nugent, who is engaged by Mr. Lingford Carson as principal comedian in The Power of the Cross. The proceedings closed with the singing of "He's a jolly good fellow" and "Auld Lang Syne."

HOW TO KEEP COOL.

We strongly recommend all who suffer from the prevailing heat to add a few drops of Condy's Fluid to the Daily Bath or Foot Bath.

A Condy's Fluid Bath imparts a delightful sensation of Coolness, Freshness, and Purity. It invigorates the body and braces the nerves. The Cooling, Strengthening, and Bracing effects are Simply Magical, they are so very lasting.

Sold by all Chemists, 1/- 8oz., 20oz. 2/- Caution.—Insist on having "Condy's Fluid."

DRAMATIC AND MUSICAL LAW.

BY A. A. STRONG, LL.B. (LOND.), SOLICITOR.

Your book will, I am sure, be a valuable aid to all managers and actors.—The late Sir Henry Irving.

Mr. Strong states the whole case very clearly.—Illustrated London News.

Should be found very useful.—Pelican.

Should prove perfectly invaluable.—Weekly Sun.

Contains in a handy compass and in a clear style the law relating to theatres and music halls. The book is well up to date.—Law Times.

Furnishes useful information.—Daily News.

The work succeeds in making plain the thorny legal path that every manager and artist must tread, and by a timely consultation of its pages they may avoid much misapprehension and trouble.—Star.

Mr. A. A. Strong has compiled an exceedingly useful volume dealing carefully, intelligently, and fully with the law bearing upon things theatrical. As a book of reference this excellent digest will be found invaluable.—The Era.

Mr. Reginald Grant, late of the King's Theatre, Cardiff, and the Grand, Plymouth, has been appointed resident-manager at the New Century Theatre, Motherwell.

BROWN'S BRONCHIAL TROCHES.

For Sustaining the Voice.
Invaluable for ACTORS and SINGERS.
Indispensable for PUBLIC SPEAKERS.

Gentlemen,—For sudden affections of the Bronchial Organs I use and most cheerfully recommend "Brown's Troches." They are regarded as most eligible, convenient and indispensable by numerous artists of my acquaintance, BOTH IN EUROPE AND AMERICA. They seem to act specially on the organs of the voice, and produce a clear enunciation.—Yours truly (Signed), Marie Roze Mapleson.

THE ERA ANNUAL, 1906.
The thirty-ninth issue of "The Era" Annual has just appeared, and once more it supplies a useful record of the theatrical year. An editorial note reminds us that among the contributors to the first number, that of 1868, were E. L. Blanchard (its editor), Charles Mathews, T. W. Robertson, Andrew Halliday, H. J. Byron, Watts Phillips, and Dion Boucicault—a brilliant band indeed. The contributors to the present isue are almost exclusively actors rather than literary men, but upon the whole they make a very fair show; while the lists of plays produced in London and the provinces, and in Paris and Berlin during the twelve months under review are distinctly useful. There are a number of photographs including an exceedingly fine one of the late Sir Henry Irving.—Pall Mall Gazette, Jan. 22.

THE ERA ANNUAL, 1906.
"The Era" Annual appears once more in its familiar binding, a compendium of information and amusement for all who are interested in theatrical affairs. In the calendar will be found an array of anniversary dates, some recent, some recalling memories of old times and actors and actresses long passed away. The summary of new plays produced during the past year is admirably done, its value being increased by the alphabetical list which is appended. Well-known actors and actresses contribute stories in accordance with a custom justified by its success.—Daily Telegraph, Jan. 18, 1906.

SATURDAY, AUGUST 11, 1906.

THE EMPIRE (OXFORD) CASE.

The recent refusal of the Oxford magistrates to renew the licence of the Empire Theatre, Oxford, draws attention to the extraordinary power possessed by provincial Benches of suppressing, at one stroke, the business of a respectable and meritorious purveyor of amusement. The invested capital of any manager in the country is obviously at the mercy of the local magistrates; and the fact that the power is so seldom abused must not blind us to the fact of its existence. Mr. ALBANY WARD, the licensee of the Oxford Empire, seems to have been a model manager from the justices' point of view. He had held the licence of the Empire for six years, and during the whole of that time there was no complaint against him as to the way in which the house was carried on. When the justices demanded structural alterations Mr. WARD called in an architect, who reported that some of the "improvements" suggested by the Bench would have been a source of danger to the public; but the non-objectionable alterations were made at considerable cost, with many additions of Mr. WARD'S own origination. A fireproof curtain was put in when required by the justices, and in every way Mr. WARD appears to have endeavoured to meet the demands of the authorities.

On the 6th of June last he applied, in due course, for the renewal of his licence. There was no opposition, but the magistrates, after retiring to consult, returned to court "quite unanimous" that the renewal of the licence should be refused. They, however, granted a temporary licence, to extend to the date of holding the Quarter Sessions on July 28 last.

The appeal to the Quarter Sessions failed, it should be noticed, on a point of law. Section 20 of the Theatre Act of 1843 says: "It shall be lawful for any person who shall feel himself aggrieved by an order of the justices of the peace to appeal therefrom to the next sessions of the peace." The Recorder ruled that the refusal of the magistrates to renew Mr. WARD'S licence did not amount to an "order" within the meaning of the section; and he saw no provision in the Act which enabled the aggrieved person to appeal against the refusal of the magistrates to grant a licence.

This condition of things is a very serious one for provincial managers as a body. If nothing can be done to alter the decision of the Oxford magistrates it comes to this—that local Benches hold a despotic power of financial life or death over every manager in the provinces. They have simply to refuse to renew a licence. They need not, it appears, give any reason for so doing, except their will and pleasure.

Mr. WARD'S case is the more extraordinary because there was no reason or excuse offered for the course taken. Generally, when a licence is refused, some fault of omission or commission is urged against the manager. In this instance he appears to be so blameless that no case could be made out against him.

We cannot shut our eyes to the fact that, as the law stands at present and as it is administered, the power of the local Benches is despotic. It was decided in the case of ex parte Harrington in 1888 that the justices had power to refuse a licence to a theatre. This is, we believe, the only decision which can be regarded as a precedent as to the refusal of a licence. There is no precedent at all regarding the refusal to renew. But, as Mr. ALBERT STRONG, the well-known authority on theatrical law, points out, the matter has been fought by the publicans, who secured, in the important case of Sharpe v. Wakefield, a very valuable decision of the Lord Chancellor as to the kind of "discretion" which must be exercised by justices in granting an excise licence to a public-house. The Lord Chancellor defined "discretion" to mean that something was to be done "according to the rules of reason and justice, not according to private opinion, or abitrary and fanciful." But no such rule has even been laid down in the case of refusal to licence a theatre; and the so far successful action taken by the justices in Mr. WARD'S case makes the position of the provincial manager still more dangerous. For it is evident that by simply refusing to renew the licence of a theatre and making no "order" for its closing the justices may evade even the appeal to Quarter Sessions. The justices have simply to decline to make any order at all, and then the letter of the law can be referred to as making the appeal to Quarter Sessions null and void.

It is true, as Mr. STRONG points out, that the word "discretion" does not occur in 6 and 7 Vict., and that, by the wording of the Act, the justices appear to have no power to refuse to grant a licence, or to close a theatre without the sworn testimony of two persons that a riot or breach of the rules has taken place in the house. But what is the use of the manager having the best of the argument when the Bench is practically answerable to no authority for its actions? Counsel appear and make statements showing that "according to the rules of reason and justice" a manager's licence ought to be renewed. The justices cannot "shut him up," but they do what is practically much more effective—they shut up the manager's theatre. The manager gets his bark, but the Bench most certainly gets its bite, and we are all aware which matters the most.

We should like to know what the large number of people who have been in the habit for the last six years of coming to the Oxford Empire from the immediate neighbourhood and villages in the vicinity think of the matter. How do they relish being deprived at a stroke of their customary recreation? Have they not the spirit to resent the action of the justices by some demonstration? In a provincial community a good deal may be done by agitation and "ventilating" a question.

With regard to the legal course to be taken, Mr. STRONG is of opinion that the matter is essentially one for the Theatrical Proprietors' Association to take up. If the decision of the Oxford justices is to stand, it will affect theatrical property all over the country, for no theatrical licence will be worth more than a year's purchase. The case is so novel and important that there is hope that a mandamus may be granted. In any case, the point should be fought by the profession on principle with all possible vigour and energy.

A MEMORIAL tablet was erected on Thursday on No. 31, Baker-street, where Lord Lytton was born. An examination of directories and of the records in the possession of the London County Council, under whose direction the tablet was placed, shows that the number of the house has not been altered since the date of the distinguished writer's birth, and the owner has informed the Council that, save for the conversion of the ground floor into a shop, the premises have not undergone any substantial alteration.

MR. HICKMAN-SMITH'S fashionable al fresco concerts have recommenced at the New Pavilion, Whitstable, and a strong party, consisting of Miss Edith Broad, Miss Marie Westcott, Messrs. Cadwaladr, Reg Ewen, and Hickman-Smith, give delightful concerts to large audiences.

"A SOLDIER'S HONOUR," a domestic military drama by Mrs. F. G. Kimberley, was produced for copyright purposes at the King's Theatre, Longsight, Manchester, on Wednesday.

THE MOODY-MANNERS OPERA COMPANY.

Mascagni's Cavalleria Rusticana, followed by Leoncavallo's Pagliacci, were given at the matinée on Wednesday afternoon. In the first opera Mr. Wilson Pembroke appeared with great success in the part of Turridu, his efforts being most ably seconded by Mr. Marshall Vincent as Alfio; while Miss Toni Seiter left no doubt as to her ability as an actress in the character of the unhappy Santuzza. The Lola of Miss Ethel Cadman and the Lucia of Miss Arnold were alike excellent, and the chorus sang the Easter Hymn very finely. The orchestra also gave a capital rendering of the popular Intermezzo.

In Leoncavallo's tragic opera Mr. Charles Carter made a great impression by his intense singing and acting as Canio, and Mr. William Dever displayed no little humour in the part of the revengeful Tonio, being also entirely successful in his singing of the famous Dorologue. Miss Ethel Cadman made a charming and picturesque Nedda, acting and singing in quite the right spirit, her duet with Silvio, capitally enacted by Mr. Lewys James, being one of the chief successes of the afternoon. The small part of Beppe was cleverly undertaken by Mr. V. Brodo, and the intelligent and animated chorus added greatly to the realistic effect. Mr. Harrison Frewim, who conducted both operas, kept his forces well in hand, never overpowering the vocalists. There was a large audience in spite of the hot weather.

On Wednesday evening Wagner's opera, Tannhäuser, was given, the attendance being so large that money was turned away at the doors. The performance of Tannhäuser was as fine as on the first night it was heard, Mr. Joseph O'Mara displaying his great vocal powers to the finest advantage in the character of the hero, while Madame Fanny Moody made a graceful and pathetic Elizabeth, her singing and acting in the Hall of Song being most impressive. Mr. Charles Magrath again was a stately and dignified Hermann, and the part of Wolfram, this time played by Mr. Lewys James, was beautifully sung. Miss Lucy Lever as Venus and Miss M. Wilcocks as a young Shepherd ably performed their duties; and the characters of Biterolf, Henrich der Schrieber, Reinmar, and Walther were cleverly filled by Mr. Marshall Vincent, Mr. Tattersall, Mr. H. Brindle, and Mr. R. Brookes. The chorus were, as usual, excellent, and Herr Eckhold conducted with care and discretion.

Donizetti's Lucia di Lammermoor was given at the Lyric on Thursday night, Aug. 2. It is a pity that such melodious music as Donizetti's should be wedded to a libretto that is almost a libel on Sir Walter Scott's beautiful and pathetic story; but the motto of the Moody-Manners company evidently is what is worth doing, is worth doing well, and the same care and attention to detail was given to Lucia as to other and more important operas. The cast on Thursday night was excellent. Mme. De Vere sang the music of Lucy Ashton with fine dramatic feeling, gaining a veritable triumph for her acting and singing in the mad scene. There was, indeed, so much "method in her madness," and such brilliant singing of the great scena, that the storm of applause and hearty encore were thoroughly well deserved. Mr. Wilson Pembroke also did full justice to the somewhat stagey part of Edgar. His fervent singing and acting in the contract scene were extremely effective, and he shared in the honours with Mme. De Vere in the old-fashioned but nevertheless charming duets. Mr. William Dever made an excellent Sir Henry Ashton; and Mr. Charles Magrath as Bide the Bent had to repeat his solo in the second act. Mr. Seth Hughes sang the music of Arthur Bucklaw pleasingly, but he has still something to learn as an actor. The minor parts of Norman and Alice were well filled by Mr. Charles Moppett and Miss Rigby; and Signor Sapio's untiring efforts secured so fine a performance of the famous sextette by the vocalists and orchestra that, after the inevitable encore, he was called on, and shared in the abundant applause. The chorus also deserved praise. They acted with intelligence, and did not stand in a stolid row while poor Lucy Ashton went musically mad. The opera was well mounted, and we hope will shortly be repeated, as there are many opera-goers, old and young, who would gladly hear so fine a performance of a work that used to charm and delight a former generation.

Faust was given at the matinée on Saturday, and attracted a large audience. Owing to the indisposition of Mme. Fanny Moody, the part of Marguerite was undertaken by Mme. De Vere with successful results, notwithstanding her hard work in Lucia and The Huguenots. Mr. Wilson Pembroke made an effective Faust; and Mr. Charles Manners repeated his clever impersonation of Mephistopheles; while Mr. Marshall Vincent was of great service in the character of Valentine. Signor Sapio was the conductor. In the evening, Balfe's popular opera, The Bohemian Girl, was heard for the first time this season. Although this opera is considerably over sixty years old, it still attracts a large number who love melody for its own sake without desiring any higher form of musical art. The cast included Miss Ethel Cadman, who as Arline proved very attractive, being encored in her solo, "I dreamt that I dwelt in marble halls," a compliment that was also awarded to Mr. Lewys James for his singing of "The heart bowed down." Mr. Seth Hughes was an entirely acceptable Thaddeus; and Mr. H. Bailey played the character of Florestine with no little humour; while Mr. Charles Manners, in spite of his exertions as Mephistopheles in the afternoon, made a most striking and picturesque figure of Devilshoof, his comic business greatly delighting the house. The old opera went remarkably well under the conductorship of Herr Eckhold, and hearty praise may be given to the intelligent chorus.

A PAIR of boots has led to the arrest of the manager of a theatrical touring company in Paris. The gentleman in question needed a new pair of boots, but business had been bad and he had not the wherewithal to purchase them, so he hit upon the ingenious expedient of ordering two pairs from different makers. On the arrival of the boots he found fault with the left and right of the respective pairs, and returned them, with the intimation that he would pay when they had been altered to suit. Left in possession of the odd pair, he put them on and immediately decamped, leaving his company in the lurch. A subscription had to be raised to send the unfortunate company home.

MISS EDNA MAY is credited with the distinction of having designed a bathing costume that will remove for ever a reproach under which our seaside resorts have long lain. She has commissioned a famous London house to create—that is the only word—a bathing dress that will rival in elegance the costumes of the most stylish continental spas. The colour, we learn, is to be pale blue, and the design is said to be of the most elegant character. The stage has long held the reputation of giving the lead to dress in society, but it seems to be quite a new departure for it to set the fashion on the seashore.

"THE FREEDOM OF SUZANNE," which opened at the Empire, Southend, on Monday week last, July 30th, and is this week appearing at the West Pier, Brighton, has for its able and courteous business manager, Mr. H. Chiswell Billing, Mr. Perkins being at present business-manager of the Public Opinion company, under the Emma and Percy Hutchison régime. The Freedom of Suzanne is doing big business.

THE DRAMA IN PARIS.

(FROM OUR OWN CORRESPONDENT.)

PARIS, THURSDAY, AUG. 9.—M. Albert Carré, manager of the Opera Comique, has not yet decided who is to replace M. Luigini whose death we announced last week. The two candidates for the post of chef d'orchestra at that theatre are MM. Pierné and Marty, both well-known composers. As to M. Alexandre Georges, he declined to come forward.

M. ERNEST REYER, who has just been nominated Grand Cross of the Legion of Honour, is the fourth composer on whom this distinction has been bestowed. The first to receive it was Verdi, after the première in Paris of Othello. The two others are Gounod and Ambroise Thomas.

FOR the first time, we will see Rembrandt on the stage in a work by M. Jean Richepin and a Belgian collaborator, to be brought out at the Renaissance next season. At M. Guitry's request, M. Eugène Demolder had written a play founded on his book "La Route d'Emeraude," three acts of which were finished when M. Richepin made the author's acquaintance in the directorial sanctum of the Renaissance. M. Richepin was so struck with the scenario that he at once proposed a collaboration, and suggested giving a prominent part therein to Rembrandt. The new play will probably see the footlights in the course of next season.

MLLE. LAURE LUKAS, who, at the recent Conservatoire competition, received a first honourable mention, has been engaged by M. Gémier for the Antoine Theatre.

AT the Gymnase the upholsterers are hard at work. The old stalls have been removed and replaced by comfortable seats, and other improvements have also been introduced. M. Alphonse Franck will inaugurate his season with a new play by M. Henry Bernstein. It was originally called Les Fauves, but the author intends to exchange it for another title. In Le Joujou Tragique, the comedy that will also be produced at the Gymnase, the principal rôle will be played by Mlle. Polaire.

MM. CLOT and DUBLAY, the new managers of the Bouffes-Parisiens, have accepted Le Cœur de Sylvie, a three-act comedy in verse, by M. Gabriel Nigond. Mlle. Jeanne Rabuteau, formerly of the Odéon, will create the leading part.

A STONY-HEARTED creditor, having obtained a judgment against the charming Mlle. Guerrero—well-known on your side of the Channel—distrained, at the theatre where she was performing, her property, comprising her dresses and jewels. The chorographic artist thereupon made an application to a Judge in chambers for a replevin, pointing out that, in consequence of this seizure, she could not fulfil her engagements. The Judge, to his regret, could not accede to the lady's demand, but he ordered her creditor to give up her dresses, &c., on condition of her giving him a jewel representing the value of the sum for which she had been sued. Mlle. Guerrero handed him a valuable diamond bracelet, and she now can resume her dances.

THE principal reason why M. Alexandre Georges did not apply for the post of chef d'orchestra at the Opera Comique is that he is busy on three important works, the first of which is Cléopâtre, to a poem by M. Jean Richepin. Then there is Riv-Nah, a Bohemian girl, who, by her beauty, aroused violent passions. And lastly M. Georges is working on Aucassin et Nicolette, a tale of the middle ages, by M. Maurice Chassaing, in five tableaux.

AT the Opéra we will have a revival of Thamara, by M. Bourgault-Ducondray, for which M. Louis Gillet wrote the libretto. It will be interpreted by Mlle. Jeanne Hatto and MM. Affre, Cerdan, and Gilly.

THE Variétés will open its doors with a revival of Le Paradis de Mahomet, after which M. Samuel will give us Miquette et sa mère, by MM. Caillavet and de Flers with Mlle. Lavallière as Miquette. This piece had been offered to the Comédie Française, but as M. Clarétie would only accept it for "the summer months," the authors very wisely took back their MS. and gave it to M. Samuel. The next novelty at the Variétés will be Paris-New York, by MM. Croisset and Emmanuel Arène.

THIS month—like in the preceding years—we will have at the Comédie Française the same grim farce, called the "Auditions." M. Clarétie, flanked by a few sociétaires, will sit in a box, and, with a bored expression, will listen to the candidates who ask to be admitted to the "House." These candidates know they have no chance whatsoever of obtaining an engagement; yet they come, and insist on being heard. Not a few of them present themselves every year, and we wonder whether it is because they hope against hope or because they want to give themselves the satisfaction of appearing for a quarter of an hour on the first Paris stage—but without an audience.

THERE is trouble in the Comédie Française. M. Clarétie accepted Le Foyer, a three-act comedy by M. Octave Mirbeau and M. Thadée Natanson. At the eleventh hour, however, M. Clarétie refused to have it put into rehearsal unless M. Mirbeau altered some of the scenes. M. Mirbeau, a hard-hitter, portrays therein a member of the French Academy, who looks to his wife to supply him with money. M. Clarétie being a member of that august body (the French Academy), objects to this character, and appealed to M. Mirbeau. But the author of Les Affaires sont les Affaires is an obstinate man. He refused to alter a line in his play, and both he and M. Clarétie laid their grievance before M. Briand, the French Fine Art Minister. "The members of the company who read my play," said M. Mirbeau, "offered no objections; why, then, does M. Clarétie raise difficulties?" And M. Briand then hit upon a happy idea. "Let them decide the question," he said. And MM. les Sociétaires will now constitute themselves into a tribunal to decide whether or not Le Foyer can be produced in its present form without risking offence in certain quarters.

DRAMATIC AND MUSICAL LAW.

BY A. A. STRONG, LL.B. (LOND.), SOLICITOR.

Your book will, I am sure, be a valuable aid to all managers and actors.—The late SIR HENRY IRVING.

Mr. Strong states the whole case very clearly.—Illustrated London News.

Should be found very useful.—Pelican.

Should prove perfectly invaluable.—Weekly Sun.

Contains in a handy compass and in a clear style the law relating to theatres and music halls. The book is well up to date.—Law Times.

Furnishes useful information.—Daily News.

The work succeeds in making plain the thorny legal path that every manager and artist must tread, and by a timely consultation of its pages they may avoid much misapprehension and trouble.—Star.

Mr. A. A. Strong has compiled an exceedingly useful volume dealing carefully, intelligently, and fully with the law bearing upon things theatrical. As a book of reference this excellent digest will be found invaluable.—The Era.

THE Theatre Royal, Middlesbrough, reopened its doors on Monday evening, after undergoing a process of thorough renovation. The decorations have been carried out in shades of crimson, white, ivory, and gold, and when the theatre was lighted up on Monday evening it elicited great admiration from the large audience present. The Private Secretary was the opening play, and was well acted by Mr. Eugene C. Stafford's admirable company, and thoroughly enjoyed.

PINERO'S PLAYS.

"The plots of Mr. Pinero's plays," writes Mrs. Alec Tweedie, in her most excellent book, "Behind the Footlights," "are all conceived and born in movement. He walks up and down the room. He strolls round Regent's Park, or bicycles further afield; but the dramas are always evolved while his limbs are in action, mere exercise seeming to inspire him with ideas.

"It is long before he actually settles down to write his play. He thinks and ponders, plans and arranges, makes and remakes his plots, and never puts pen to paper until he has thoroughly realised, not only his characters, but the very scenes amid which these characters are to move and have their being.

"He knows every room in which they are to enact their parts, he sees in his mind's eye every one of his personalities, he dresses them according to his own individual taste, and so careful is he of the minutest details that he draws a little plan of the stage for each act, on which he notifies the position of every chair, and with this before him he moves his characters in his mind's eye as the scene progresses. His play is finished before it is begun—that is to say, before a line of it is really written.

"His mastery of stage-craft is so great that he can definitely arrange every position for the actor, every gesture, every movement, and thus is able to give those minute details of stage direction which are so well known in his printed plays.

"In his early days he wrote Two Hundred a Year in an afternoon; Dandy Dick occupied him three weeks; but as time went on, and he became more critical of his own work, he spent fifteen months in completing The Notorious Mrs. Ebbsmith, nine months over The Second Mrs. Tanqueray, and six months over The Gay Lord Quex, helped in the latter drama, as he said, 'by the invigorating influence of his bicycle.'

"He is one of the most painstaking men alive, and over Letty he spent two years.

"'I think I have done a good day's work if I can finish a single speech right,' he remarked, and that sums up the whole situation.

"Each morning he sees his secretary from eleven to twelve, dictates his letters, and arranges his business; takes a walk or a ride till luncheon, after which he enjoys a pipe and a book, and in the afternoon lies down for a couple of hours' quiet.

"When he is writing a play he never dines out, but after his afternoon rest enjoys a good tea (is it a high tea?), shuts the baize doors of that delightful study overlooking Hanover-square, and works until quite late, when he partakes of a light supper.

"No one dare disturb him during those precious hours, when he smokes incessantly, walks about continually, and rarely puts a line on paper until he feels absolutely certain he has phrased that line as he wishes it to remain.

"Pinero's writing-table is as tidy as Ibsen's; but while Ibsen's study is small and simply furnished, Pinero's is large, contains handsome furniture, interesting books, sumptuous Editions de luxe, charming sketches, portraits, caricatures, handsome carpets, and breathes an air of the owner's luxurious taste.

"Like his writing-table, his orthography is a model of neatness. When he has completed an act, he carefully copies it himself in a handwriting worthy of any clerk, and sends it off at once to the printers. But few revisions are made in the proof, so sure is the dramatist when he has perfected his scheme.

"Mr. Pinero keeps a sort of 'day-book,' in which he jots down characters, speeches, and plots likely to prove of use in his work. It is much the same sort of day-book as that kept by Mr. Frankfort Moore, the novelist, who has the nucleus of a hundred novels ever in his waistcoat pocket.

"Formerly men jotted down notes on their shirt-cuffs, from which the laundress learned the wicked ways of society. The figures now covering wristbands are merely the winnings or losings at Bridge.

"The dramatist loves ease and luxury, and his plays represent such surroundings.

"'Wealth and leisure,' he remarked, 'are more productive of dramatic complications than poverty and hard work. My characters force me, in spite of myself, to lift them up in the world. The lower classes do not analyse or meditate, do not give utterance either to their thoughts or their emotions; and yet it is easier to get a low life part well played than one of high society.'

"Mr. Pinero is a delightful companion, and he has the keenest sense of humour. He tells a good story in a truly dramatic way, and his greatest characteristic is his simple modesty. He never boasts, never talks big; but is always a genial, kindly, English gentleman. He rarely enters a theatre; in fact, he could count on his fingers the times he has done so during the last twenty years. Life is his stage, men and women its characters, his surroundings the scenes. He does not wish a State theatre, and thinks Irving has done more for the stage than any man in any time. He has the greatest love for his old master, and considers Irving's Hamlet the 'most intelligent performance of the age.' He waxes warm on the subject of Irving's 'magnetic touch,' which influences all that great actor's work. Pinero's love for, and belief in, the powers of the stage for good or ill are deep-seated, and each year finds him more given to careful psychological study, the only drawback to which is the fear that in over-elaboration freshness somewhat vanishes. Ibsen always took two years over a play, and Pinero seems to be acquiring the same habit.

"What strikes one most in a Pinero play is the harmony of the whole. Every character is a living being. One remembers them all. The limelight is turned on each in turn, and not, as at so many theatres, on the actor-manager only. The play is a complete picture—not a frame with the actor-manager as the dominant person. He is so often the only figure on the canvas, his colleagues mere side-show puppets, that it is a real joy to see a play in England where every one is given a chance. Mr. Pinero does that. He not only creates living, breathing studies of humanity, but he sees that they are played in a lifelike way. What is the result? A perfect whole. A fine piece of mosaic work well fitted together. We may not altogether care for the design or the colour, but we all admire its aims, its completeness, and feel the touch of genius that permeates the whole.

"No more discriminating audience than that at the first night of Letty could possibly have been brought together. Actors and actresses, artists, writers, men and women of note in every walk of life were there, and the enthusiasm was intense. Mr. Pinero was not in the house, no call of 'author' brought him before the footlights, but his handsome wife—a prey to nervousness—was hidden behind the curtains in the stage box."

NONE of the reminiscences of the late Mr. Toole appear to allude to his appearances in the Marylebone Theatre. Mr. David Stevenson, one of Toole's first friends, relates that he met him at a private house in the Goswell-road, where he recited a few little things of his own so cleverly that everyone present advised him to try and get on the stage. Very soon after that evening Toole was part of an entertainment at the Marylebone Theatre, coming on between a melodrama and a burlesque to give imitations of the voices of popular actors, his most successful imitation being that of Benjamin Webster.

VARIETY GOSSIP.

MR. HARRY RICKARDS, having heard that the sum of £4 19s. was still needed to make up the full amount required for the erection of a monument in Abney Park Cemetery to the memory of the late Mr. G. W. Hunt, the well-known song writer, at once, with characteristic generosity, handed the hon. treasurer, Mr. F. H. Pedgrift, a cheque to make good the deficiency.

MR. RICKARDS met G. W. Hunt when he first entered the profession, and was singing at the Oxford and the Canterbury, then under the management of the late Mr. Charles Morton, and he became intimately acquainted with the clever song-writer at the old Philharmonic at Islington, of which the late Mr. Sam Adams was the then proprietor. Mr. Rickards was at that time rapidly making his way to the front, and had fulfilled his first two or three engagements at first-class halls, the stars of that day including "the great Vance" and George Leybourne, of "Champagne Charlie" fame. G. W. Hunt wrote a number of Mr. Rickards' most successful songs, amongst them being "We're not dead yet," a patriotic ditty which proved a great hit at the London Pavilion; "Where is my Nancy gone?" "Colonel Slashem," "I wish I was a fish with a great big tail," "Cerulia was beautiful," and many others. Mr. Rickards has thus generously shown his respect for the memory of one who rendered him good service in advancing his professional position in his early days.

SOMETHING very startling may be looked for as a finale to "The Earthquake," which is to be the next production of the ever-resourceful Frank Parker at the London Hippodrome early in September. The water effect promises to be startling—quite diametrically opposed to any of the previous water shows given at the Hippodrome. The book, which is the combined production of Rudolph de Cordova and Alicia Ramsay, is intensely dramatic and full of thrilling situations. Mr. Cecil Morton York will be seen in a new character. Mr. Hal Forde as a "Champagne Charlie," Miss Semita Marsden in quite a serious rôle, and a newcomer, whose identity at the moment is a mystery, who, we are told, has a part allotted to him requiring specially powerful acting. Meanwhile the playlet is in active rehearsal, and the structural additions, in the shape of waterworks, are growing visibly every hour.

MISS CONNIE EDISS, the well-known Gaiety actress, and Mr. Henry A. Lytton will on Monday next appear at the London Pavilion in a new comedietta, entitled United Service, by George Rollit. The plot deals with the complications arising through Lady Betty Blenkinsop (who was a chambermaid before she captured a rich old baronet) having arranged to go to a fancy dress ball—in the absence of her husband—with old Lord Knightridge, an admirer of hers. She intends going as a cook and his lordship as a soldier. Private O'Flanagan, who is her sister Sally's sweetheart, meets Lady Bettie, while Lord Knightridge meets her sister Sally, a cook, and as the twin sisters look exactly alike funny misunderstandings naturally occur. Miss Connie Ediss will represent Lady Bettie and her twin sister, the cook, and Mr. H. A. Lytton will appear as Lord Knightridge and Private O'Flanagan. Including three musical numbers, the comedietta plays little longer than twenty minutes.

As may be supposed there have been many statements as to the identity of the beautiful young dancer, who prefers to be known as "La Domino Rouge," and who will make her first appearance at the Palace Theatre on the 20th inst. Americans have been particularly struck with the pertinacity with which the artist clings to her disguise, but Mr. Oscar Hummerstein, the well-known American impresario, has made a statement in the New York Press that he knows who "La Domino Rouge" really is. Mr. Hummerstein offers to pay "La Domino Rouge" £100 per week to appear as premier danseuse of his Manhattan grand opera ballet, which will be produced next November. Supplementing this announcement, Mr. Hummerstein offers to pay £200 if he is not correct in his surmise on the understanding that she accepts his offer and returns to America unmasked. "La Domino Rouge" will give an exhibition of the terpsichorean art that has seldom been seen in this country, and will be assisted by a troupe of dancers and further aided by novel stage effects.

THE monthly committee meeting of the Music Hall Sick Fund was held on Wednesday at the York Hotel, York-road. Mr. H. E. High presided, and there were also present Messrs. H. Griff, Seth White, and J. Mulcaster. On the motion of Mr. Griff, seconded by Mr. Mulcaster, the Secretary (Mr. R. T. Baines) was instructed to write a letter of condolence to the widow of the late Mr. Frank Weeks, manager of the South London, and hon. vice-president of the society. Since he was elected to this position Mr. Weeks had on two or three occasions presided at the monthly meetings of the Fund, and had evinced a keen interest in its progress. The nomination of some new members was sanctioned, and the meeting closed with the usual vote of thanks to the Chairman, who congratulated the members on the satisfactory position of the Society.

FRAMED bills, giving full particulars of the benefits derived from joining the fund, are now to be seen in most of the London variety theatres, the respective managers having kindly given their consent to the placing of the bills.

THE Shepherd's Bush Empire will celebrate its third birthday next Tuesday. The first performance starts at 6 p.m., and the second at 9 o'clock. Fifty star artists figure in the two programmes, and locally a great welcome is being prepared for the new manager, Mr. B. G. Maclachlan, who will be officially installed on this occasion.

MR. HENRY TOZER and Mr. Fred Miller attended the burial service in the Nunhead Cemetery at the funeral of Mr. Frank Weeks last week, and among others at the graveside were Mr. Pat Rafferty, Mr. J. Hart, and Mr. H. E. High.

MR. W. S. REDFERN, the popular assistant cashier at the London Hippodrome, was the recipient of a graceful compliment yesterday, at the hands of his superiors and general staff. Mr. Fred Trussell, Mr. Frank Parker, and Mr. H. C. Wild, the leading lights of the "Hippo.," presented friend Redfern with a splendid combination silver and cut glass "utility" wine stand on the occasion of his wedding to-day. In making a pretty little speech, Mr. Fred Trussell (the manager) spoke very feelingly of the affection the general staff felt towards the recipient. They had all with one accord contributed, and wished him long life and happiness, and he, personally, hoped that his future would be one of every prosperity. "The future Mrs. Redfern" was also toasted in glowing language.

FUJI-KO, the Japanese actress, arrived in New York a few days ago on the steamer "Minnehaha," two months ahead of schedule time. According to her manager, she left London literally at an hour's notice. She was rehearsing at the Empire in London, preparatory to her appearance there, when she learned of the serious illness of a friend in New York. She had just time to despatch a dozen telegrams and reach the boat. Such disregard of business interests shows the strength of the Japanese character. Fuji-Ko will remain in America until the fall now, and before her return to Europe will be seen in her one-act play, The Love of a Geisha, which is said to be an embodied idea of the doctrine of Nirvana, an idea never before seen in the Western world.

THE third ordinary general meeting of the shareholders of the Manchester Hippodrome and Ardwick Empire, Limited, was held on the 3rd inst. at the Midland Hotel. Mr. F. Allen presided, in the absence, through indisposition, of Mr. Oswald Stoll. The Chairman moved the adoption of the report. He expressed regret that Mr. Stoll had, during the night, been taken ill and was confined to his bed in the hotel. The balance-sheet, the Chairman went on to say, was one of the best he had ever had the pleasure of reading. Since June 30—the end of the financial year—everything connected with the company had gone on most satisfactorily, and the shareholders could look forward to a great future for the Manchester properties. He moved the adoption of the report and balance-sheet, with the payment of a dividend making 10 per cent. for the year. Mr. Alderman Carey seconded the motion, and it was passed.

UPON the proposal to re-elect the retiring director, Mr. Selig Brukewich, there was some discussion upon a question put by Mr. T. Andrews as to whether it was competent to nominate a fifth director. At present the board, he said, consisted of four, and there was a feeling in Cardiff, where a large number of the shares were held, that an additional director would strengthen the board. They had power to elect up to six. Mr. Brukewich was re-elected, and, upon the motion of Mr. Alderman Carey, seconded by Mr. Andrews, and supported by Dr. Corrigan, Dr. B. W. Broad, of Cardiff, was unanimously elected a director of the company.

GREAT alarm is said to have been experienced a morning or two since on a crowded pleasure pier on the South Coast. While the band was playing, the pier-head was noticed to be subsiding gradually into the sea, and a rush en masse was made for the beach, everyone succeeding in getting off safely. The cause of the trouble was made manifest later, it is averred, when one of the staff of a well-known music publishing firm was discovered by the pier master fishing on the lower landing stage. The weight of the fish he had caught had dragged the pier-head down, and it was not till the angler had fished for two hours at the shore end that the pier righted itself, the enormous catch made counterbalancing the graceful iron structure.

ON the occasion of a concert given by Mr. Ernest Hampson and his refined Pierrots in the Town Hall, Ayr, Mr. Hampson was presented by members of his company and several tradesmen with a beautiful gold-mounted umbrella, travelling bag, and rug. The hall was packed from floor to ceiling. Mr. Hampson handed over to the Ayr County Hospital the sum of £8 1s. 4d., being the proceeds of Friday afternoon's concert on the Low Green.

MISS ALICE MAY is starring this week at the Hippodrome, Coventry, in her rollicking sketch, Tranquillity, and is a great success.

A LIONESS, named "Gretchen," has given birth to four fine healthy cubs at Morecambe Winter Gardens. Mdlle Ella, who is in charge of the performing troupe of lions, has expressed her surprise that the male lion, who was in the cage, "did not devour the cubs, as is usual when born in captivity." They will be fed on a specially-made bottle, procurable only in Germany. On Friday night, the 3rd inst., the new arrivals were named Morecambe, Astor, Alexander, and Edward. The baptismal ceremony was performed on the stage at the Winter Gardens, by Mr. F. V. St. Clair, the well-known topical vocalist and song writer.

MR. E. LESLIE CONROY, for five or six years resident-manager at the Empire Theatre, Newcastle-on-Tyne, has severed his connection with that establishment. Mr. Russell, late acting-manager at the Metropole Theatre, Gateshead, is filling the vacancy pro tem.

MR. FORD'S "Wonderland-by-the-Wave" at sunny Clacton has justified all the expenditure lavished upon it by its enterprising founder, and crowds of happy holiday folk enjoy its many and varied outdoor and indoor attractions daily. Mr. Frank Marshall did much clever work in the booming of the newest palace on East Anglia's shores, and in the choice of such a brainy and smart Press representative Mr. Ford was certainly most fortunate.

THE jumping match between Charles Matthews and John Higgins for £100 and the world's championship took place at the Metropole Theatre, Gateshead, on the 3rd inst., before a packed house. The result was a draw, both men winning their nominated jumps.

AMONG Mr. G. Harrop's visitors on Saturday evening last at the Palace, Blackpool, were Sir Edward Moss, Mr. Frank Allen, Mr. H. H. Feiber (the London representative of Keith's American enterprises), Professor Leamy, Mr. Taff Volta, and Mr. Billy Bint. The Melba concert drew a crowded house to the Pavilion at the Winter Gardens, and among those who listened to the Australian prima donna were Mr. Horace Goldin and Mlle. Fransiola.

BELROSE and De Velin, who are so well known on the principal tours and London halls, were secured this week at the Central Pier, Morecambe, owing to a disappointment, and have fulfilled a very successful engagement. They return to town for two months for their London season.

DOLLY, AGNES, AND MAUD, known as "The Factory Nightingales," with their fresh young voices, have been appearing with great success on the variety stage for more than two years, and have bookings running well into next year before a vacancy occurs—no small tribute to the vocal ability of these young ladies, whose refined musical programme consists of high-class ballads and harmonised duets and trios.

MR. EMILIUS HILL, manager of the Central Pier, Morecambe, was taken suddenly ill on Monday last, and is still confined to his residence.

THE secretary of the Music Hall Benevolent Fund has received from Mr. Harry B. Wincote the sum of £5 8s., collected by the late Mr. Frank Weeks in the pence-box at the South London Music Hall.

ON Saturday the Deepcar sports and variety carnival were attended by thousands of pleasure-seekers from Sheffield and district. The stage amusements, &c., were all provided by the old-established Geo. Burton firm of caterers. The principal entertainers were the Ardells, comic bar performers; Silvo, trapeze artist; Lillian Sivado, the graceful aerial performer; the Dunlops, comic cyclists; Prof. de Lyle, conjurer; the De Cora troupe of athletes; Gyto, tramp juggler; and the Hamiltons, two amusing burlesque actors in their sketch The Mesmerist.

MR. E. LESLIE CONROY, who has been manager of the Empire Theatre of Varieties, Newcastle, for five and a half years, has resigned his position there, and a number of local gentlemen have formed themselves into a committee with the object of presenting him with a testimonial prior to his departure for the south. During his management of the Empire some £1,500 has been given out of the receipts of performances at the theatre to local charities, in the cause of which Mr. Conroy was liberal both in time and trouble. Cheques or postal orders may be forwarded to the secretary, Conroy Testimonial Fund, Charing Cross Bank, Grainger-street, Newcastle.

PAUL CINQUEVALLI next week finishes the Moss tour for several years to come. He has surpassed by far any of his previous successes on this circuit, with which he has fulfilled engagements for the past fifteen years. The renowned juggler has made arrangements to stay in town under the management of Mr. George Adney Payne, at the Oxford, Tivoli, &c., for nearly the whole of 1907 and 1908. By the courtesy of Mr. Buchanan and the directors of the Grand Theatre, Glasgow, who have postponed his pantomime engagement, M. Cinquevalli will be enabled to pay another visit this winter to America, where he will open on October 8. From there he goes to the Berlin Wintergarten, the management of which have also been kind enough to postpone his appearance to January and February of next year, to allow the clever artist the opportunity of playing his American season.

CINQUEVALLI is everywhere meeting with his usual success. The world-famous juggler's performance is watched with the closest interest, and the accomplishment of his marvellous feats arouses intense enthusiasm, which finds expression in loud and prolonged applause. In his own special line Cinquevalli may be said to reign supreme, and the unequalled skill he displays in his balancing and other feats is set off by a natural ease and grace of manner that partly accounts for his great popularity. "There is only one Cinquevalli" has become quite a trite saying amongst variety theatre patrons.

THE latest of the theatres to give up the "legitimate" for "variety" will be the Brixton house. When Mr. Ernest Stevens's lease expires in October, Mr. Walter Gibbons will take possession, and add another variety theatre to those already under his successful management. The Brixton Empire will be run on the twice-nightly plan.

MR. CHARLES BLYTH-PRATT, the new manager of the Oxford, has had a varied and interesting career. He was educated at Trent College; and eventually entered the Army, becoming a lieutenant at the age of eighteen. He rapidly rose in his chosen calling, and held several important posts, being appointed, in 1889, Instructor of Musketry. Mr. Blyth-Pratt, in 1892, married Miss Alice Yorke, who has since made for herself an enviable position on the stage. In 1893, he bought a ranch in California; but, not finding in himself a genius for farming, he went to San Francisco, where he joined the company at the Opera House in 1894.

UNDER the stage-management of Mr. "Billy" Gleeson, he appeared in The Silver King and other well-known dramas, while Mrs. Blyth-Pratt was winning golden opinions at another theatre in the city. In 1895 his military training was utilised, and he secured a commission in the Sierra Leone Frontier Force. The year after he became a captain, being subsequently appointed Acting District Commissioner and Justice of the Peace for the Colony. The climate, however, did not suit his health, and he resigned the appointment and returned to England in 1898.

THEN he became acting-manager to Mr. Hugh Moss's Bootle's Baby company, and, under the able management of that gentleman, obtained valuable experience. He also went on tour with The J.P., and, in the spring of 1899, became General-Manager for Mrs. Lancaster Wallis. In the August of the same year he joined Mr. Albert Gilmer's How London Lives company. This was his last engagement before undertaking the acting-management and treasurership of the Oxford. He filled those important posts until his appointment to manager of that establishment.

MR. BLYTH-PRATT is a cultivated gentleman, a lover of classical and modern literature, and a pleasant and popular man-of-the-world. His varied experience of many different lines of life has made him as many-sided as he is able, active, tactful, and energetic.

WITH regard to the announcement that has been made that Mr. Harry Nicholls is about to appear in the halls in a vaudeville sketch, that well-known comedian writes to the effect that he knows nothing of the matter, and would be glad to be informed of the name of the sketch and the halls for which he is engaged.

THE Grand Theatre of Varieties, Gravesend, has been renovated and redecorated. Both in the stalls and in the circle the seating accommodation has been renewed. There is now no threepenny part on the ground floor, and the "pittites" have been transferred to the gallery, which a new system of ventilation renders perfectly cool. This gallery is accessible by means of a well-lighted staircase running direct from the main entrance in Harmer-street and separate from any other portion of the house. What was once the pit bar has been walled off from the stalls, and the seats on the ground floor now consist of five rows of cushioned tip-up fauteuils, four rows of similar chairs, and five rows of leather upholstered forms. A new exit has been supplied from the orchestral stalls.

MR. GEO. E. BELMONT writes in reference to a statement in our account of the professional career of the late Mr. Frank Weeks: "When, acting on my advice, the late Mr. G. H. Macdermott purchased the Variety Theatre, Hoxton, it was with the proviso that Mr. Thos. Belmont should be his manager for the first six months. This position my brother held during that period, and a glance in the columns of your journal (exactly nine years ago) will substantiate my statement."

QUITE a remarkable display of monkey-training is to be seen daily at intervals in the Chinese Court of the Crystal Palace. Through great patience and perseverance, Maud Rochez, who is described as the greatest lady animal-trainer in the world, has made a troupe of monkeys behave strangely like human beings. Her entertainment she calls "A Variety Theatre." The audience are shown a miniature stage with proscenium boxes, orchestra, and everything complete. The members of the orchestra and the conductor are monkeys, the "gentlemen" in the boxes are monkeys, and apparently enjoy the performance. Monkeys change the numbers, and monkeys carry on the whole entertainment. The leader of the orchestra, the little fellows who put up the numbers, and a monkey in one of the boxes who is given to drink, are particularly funny. On the stage are introduced some very clever animals who prove to be acrobats, equilibrists, motor-drivers, bicycle riders, etc.

DR. WALFORD BODIE, who is enjoying a well-deserved rest at his Highland home, the Manor House, Macduff, has been daily receiving shoals of letters and telegrams from various parts of the country offering hearty congratulations on his great victory at the Assize Courts, Leeds, last week, when he gained a verdict against a Leeds lady for slander, the doctor being also allowed his costs, the defendant having to pay both her own and Dr. Bodie's. Mr. Justice Grantham, who tried the case, which lasted for two days and created great excitement in the town, summed up strongly in favour of Dr. Bodie. The doctor is naturally jubilant over the result. He remains one week longer at Macduff, and then will open in London for three or four months, his first date being with Mr. Oswald Stoll at the Stratford Empire. There is no doubt the doctor's success at Leeds will make his detractors now think twice before they say anything against him and his work.

THE 475th meeting of the committee of the Music Hall Artists' Railway Association was held on Tuesday, when there were present Messrs. Fred Herbert (in the chair), J. Alexander, Peter Bijou, H. Griff, Geo. Preston, C. Douglas Stuart (secretary), and Douglas White (hon. treasurer). Minutes of the previous meeting were read and passed, and questions arising out of them dealt with. Rule 15 was enforced in the case of a member who refused to pay a sum of money adjudged by the committee to be due from him. A member who claimed a refund from a railway company attended before the committee, but as the numbers of the tickets had not been taken he was informed that the matter could not be entertained.

CASES of insurance and refunds were considered, and in reply to a question by an agent it was ruled that separate vouchers might be made out at an agent's discretion for sections of a party, provided the additional voucher did not reduce the remainder sufficiently to cause them to lose the concession. The Secretary was instructed to request a committeeman at present in the provinces to look into the procedure in connection with the issue of vouchers in a certain town. Mr. W. F. Osborne, of the Theatre Vaults, West Bromwich, and Mrs. Ferguson, of the Victoria Hotel, Huddersfield, were appointed agents for the Association in that town.

THE Secretary prefaced his financial report with the statement that the week had been a very busy one, no less than fifty parties, some of which numbered thirty and forty persons, having been despatched from the metropolis on Saturday. The statement for the week ending Aug. 4 showed the addition of thirty-two new members, while the receipts amounted to £37 14s. 6d., and the expenditure to £17 5s. 11½d. The Hon. Treasurer's financial report was also received and passed.

THE committee of the M.H.A.R.A. are constantly having before them cases in which claims for refunds from the railway companies fail solely through some members constituting the party having neglected to retain the numbers of their tickets. This is a distinct hardship upon those who have taken the necessary precaution but are put out of court by their fellow-travellers, and the rule bearing upon the matter would seem to call for amendment at the annual general meeting, which is due in a couple of months.

MISS JESSIE M. LYONS will shortly resume work with her sketch, Nelly of the Veldt, being booked to play the Macnaghten London circuit, followed and preceded by most of the best variety houses. Miss Lyons is at the present time enjoying a well-deserved holiday.

THE Crystal Palace Company have arranged with Messrs. C. T. Brock and Co. for special displays of fireworks for the children on the 16th, 23rd, and 30th inst. They will commence at 8.30, and some novel, humorous, and mechanical devices will be introduced.

COUNSEL applied at the North Riding Court last Thursday for a dramatic licence on behalf of Mr. Geo. Zalva for the Scarborough Hippodrome. He understood, he said, that some objection was taken to some broken canvas on the walls because people struck matches on it. It was proposed to substitute plastering for that canvas and so do away with any danger there might be in that direction. His clients, the York City and County Banking Company, the mortgagees of the building, would also be prepared to consider any suggestion from the Bench as to alterations to exits.

MR. TURNBULL went on to explain that Mr. Zalva had engaged his artists for the season, and as many as 185 persons were engaged and would be prepared to claim from him for wages. It practically meant ruin to him if at this eleventh hour the right to perform in that building, in which performances had been held for years past without accident, were refused. He contended that the exits were no worse than those of the Old Town Hall, where recently a dramatic entertainment, amateur he knew, was held. There was only one exit, except for the small way out at the back of the platform. Mr. Zalza had timed the people clearing out of the Hippodrome, and it took just 1½ minutes. The usual time was three minutes. Counsel suggested that, in face of immediate loss and bankruptcy, the Bench should grant the licence for this season, and that for the next season any alteration the Bench thought desirable would be made.

IT was stated that a committee of justices had examined the place, and though they suggested certain alterations to the exits they condemned the whole building. After a short retirement the Chairman said the magistrates, in face of the report they had received, which had been read in private, on the dangerous state of the Hippodrome, as far as exits and liability were concerned, declined to grant the application.

TOWARDS the close of the performance at the Scarborough Hippodrome on Monday evening, Mr. Metcalf, the equestrian director for Mr. Zalva, the proprietor, referred to the granting of the licence for the building. He said that that building had been built thirty-five years, and although not a single panic or accident had taken place, the county magistrates had deemed it proper not to renew the dramatic licence, imputing that the building was not safe. The borough magistrates had granted a music and dancing licence, subject to several slight alterations, and after an expert had stated that with these the building would be quite safe. He pointed out the number of exits, and made it evident that the building could be cleared in little more than a minute. He urged all present to assure their friends that the building was as safe as ever it was, and as safe as any other building in Scarborough.

THOMAS BRYAN, 20, and Edward James, 19, the first described as a labourer and the latter as a bookbinder, both giving addresses in Hoxton, were charged at the Old-street Court, on Tuesday, with using insulting behaviour, whereby a breach of the peace might have been caused, in the Britannia Theatre, Hoxton; James being further charged with discharging a loaded revolver at Police-constable Cooper. Prisoners were put up separately, Bryan's case being first taken. The constable, being sworn, said that he was on duty on the previous night in the pit of the Britannia, when his attention was called to a young woman who was smoking. On his speaking to her, the prisoner, seated next her, asked him, with a foul expression, what it had to do with him. He told accused to mind his own business, and the prisoner repeated his foul expression and was then seized to be removed. He took the belt produced from his pocket, but was prevented using it. Mr. Cluer: If that is all the evidence, he must be discharged. The management of the theatre have the only remedy—that of getting rid of such customers by removal.

BRYAN having been released, the lad James was put into the dock. The constable repeated his evidence as to the beginning of the affair, and said that James put the revolver into his face about a foot away. The shot grazed his (the constable's) chin, and subsequently he found that his tunic had two shot holes in it above the shoulder. A second shot was fired by the prisoner towards the balcony. At the station the prisoner said, "I did not mean it for you. I fired in the air." Prisoner was committed for trial at the Central Criminal Court and allowed bail.

A GOOD story is told of Mr. Nat Clifford, who is engaged to appear at the Hackney Empire next week. Not long since at a certain variety theatre Nat appeared and began to sing. After the first few bars he stopped and asked the conductor to kindly "take it again." Off he went again, but with no better result. A third time tried, but the discord between singer and orchestra was earsplitting. Nat declared it was the cornet that was wrong. The player of the instrument in question stood up and entered into a wordy war with the comedian. He said he had been an expert soloist for twenty years, and had never before been so insulted. The audience was spellbound. The stage-manager lowered the curtain. The argument between Mr. Clifford and the cornettist grew more and more heated. By this time the excitement in the audience had reached a high pitch. The curtain rose again, and the manager said he regretted the unfortunate misunderstanding between Mr. Nat Clifford and the member of the orchestra. The cornet-player, he stated, had come to him with a high reputation, and to prove that he was everything he professed to be, he would ask the gentleman to come upon the stage and play a solo, so that those in front might judge for themselves.

THEN the cornettist, a man with fair curly hair, a thick moustache, and spectacles, began. His opening bars sounded fairly well, but the spectators began to think they had heard better. The majority of the people were now on Nat's side, for the music from the cornet was far from sweet. Then Nat lost his temper and rushed at the musician. In the scrimmage the curly hair and moustache of the cornet-player disappeared, and the audience saw the grinning face of Will Evans. Breathless with excitement, the audience quickly recovered, and roared with delight at the great joke that had been played on them. The unanimous cry was, "We've been spoofed." And indeed they had been.

MR. ARTHUR J. BARCLAY, breaking his holiday at Herne Bay, paid a visit to the Walthamstow Palace on Bank Holiday, and was cheered by the sight of a packed house. The principal attraction was Lew Lake's sequel to The Bloomsbury Burglars, called My Pal Jerry, a sketch which, while containing abundance of humorous incident, has also a touch of pathos by way of effective contrast.

MLLE. GHITA CORRI, who commences her second week at the Metropolitan next Monday, has in preparation a new Spanish song, which has proved the rage in Madrid and Cadiz, and will incorporate it with her enormously successful character-scena Waiting at an early date.

MDLLE. GUERRERO, the famous dancer, who has accepted an engagement at a fashionable summer resort in France, came up to Paris recently for the purpose of purchasing some frocks, frills, and flounces for her professional work. Her arrival was noted by a vigilant creditor, to whom she owed a sum of £320. The creditor literally pounced upon the dancer's baggage. He had it all seized by a legal agent or "bailiff," including the professional dresses and stage properties of the "Belle Guerrero." The latter brought her case before a judge in chambers, who withdrew the seizure of her baggage, but directed that the dancer should place in the hands of her creditor jewellery of sufficient value to guarantee the subsequent payment of the 8,000 francs due.

"A PRODIGAL WIFE" is the title of a powerful dramatic sketch by Frederick Maxwell, to be produced by him during his autumn season in London.

MISS CARLOTTA DE YONSON, who, along with her company in A Russian Spy, is deputising this week at Sadler's Wells in the absence of Miss Marguerite Broadfoote, and at the Britannia in the absence of a sketch, will produce at Sadler's Wells on Monday a playlet, new to London, entitled A Dandy Detective. The author of it is Mr. C. Douglas Carlile, who has written several successes for Miss de Yonson.

OUR congratulations to Mr. Walter Gibbons, whose wife presented him on Tuesday with a fine baby boy, born at his house at Burgh Heath, near Epsom.

MR. F. V. ST. CLAIR has scored a great hit with his "In Chicago" song at Manchester, and thousands of copies of the words and music have been sold, the same thing having taken place at Morecambe. At the Hippodrome, Hull, where he has been at the top of the bill this week, Mr. St. Clair created such enthusiasm that Mr. Graham offered him six return engagements.

MR. FRANK HEATH, the hon. treasurer of the Music Hall Sick Fund, is at present enjoying the health-giving breezes of merry Margate.

MR. J. H. WOOD, the popular promoter of Lancashire clog-dancing, is, unfortunately, an inmate of the Cancer Hospital, in Upper Brook-street, Manchester. A championship clog-dancing contest will shortly take place in Manchester. In 1880 the late Dan Leno won the coveted belt at Leeds. These competitions have been successfully organised in London, Leeds, Hull, Bolton, and Bury, and some of the best dancers in the country have been among the competitors.

MR. WILLIAM NOKES, who was for eight years with Morell and Mouillot, and for the last few years with Moss' Empires, Limited, in a secretarial position to Sir Edward Moss, D.L., J.P., and Mr. Frank Allen, is to be married to Miss Ethel Yeo, eldest daughter of Mr. William Yeo, engineer, of Shepherd's Bush, on Saturday the 25th inst.

PARK'S Eton Boys are back in London, appearing this week at the Empire, Hackney, with great success. There is not the slightest doubt as to the popularity of this troupe, who always get a good reception wherever they appear.

A GRAND Fancy Dress Carnival and Confetti Fête will take place in the North Tower Gardens of the Crystal Palace on Wednesday, the 15th inst. Valuable and handsome prizes will be offered, not only in the grown-up classes, but also for children. At the Café Chantant, from 6.15 to 7.15, all the seats will be free to those entering the North Tower Gardens for the fête.

A NEW variety theatre in Oxford-street is talked of, but no definite decision has been arrived at. Messrs. Warings are said to be interested in the scheme.

MARGARET COOK, a well-spoken woman, aged thirty-eight, with her two children, Godolphin, aged fourteen, and Olga, aged nine, were charged, at West London on Wednesday, with wandering abroad in Hartismere-road, Fulham, without visible means of subsistence. Police-constable 226 T found the woman sitting on a doorstep. She stated that she had slept out since the previous Friday with her children in the backyard of an empty house. In answer to the magistrate, the woman said she had been connected with the dramatic and concert profession. What? Singing in the streets?—No; at high-class concerts. I used to act sometimes. That is a long time ago, is it not?—Yes. Then after that I went in for the variety business, whistling solos. I was with Mr. Harry Liston on tour. The woman, who said her brother-in-law, a man of good position, was on holiday in Scotland, and could not attend, was remanded for inquiries.

LONDON VARIETY THEATRES.

THE EMPIRE.

The Empire well maintains its reputation as one of the coolest places of amusement in London, and its patrons have this week enjoyed the excellent holiday programme under comparatively comfortable conditions. One of the most attractive items is of course the exceedingly dainty Watteau divertissement, designed and produced by Mr. C. Wilhelm, entitled Fête Galante, which in a former occasion formed part of the pretty Cinderella ballet. The scene in a glade in the Royal Park of Beau Séjour, with its charming sylvan surroundings, makes a delightful picture, and in the whole production refinement, good taste, and beauty are the predominant features. The picturesque scene is quickly peopled with courtiers and court ladies, huntsmen, pages, and dancers in Watteau costumes, and the stately and graceful dances of the period charm the eye, while the pretty music, carefully selected and arranged by Mr. C. J. M. Glaser, is listened to with delight. Mr. Fred Farren is responsible for the dances and the action, and the scenery is from the skilful brush of Mr. Hawes Craven. Remarkably handsome in person and gallant in bearing is the Prince Fleur de Lys of Miss D. Craske, and he possesses a smart equerry in Philidor, brightly impersonated by Miss M. Dawson. There is a further demand made upon our sense of admiration by the Belle Etoile of Miss F. Mansell and the opera dancer, L'Hirondelle, of Miss B. Hill. Other prominent and picturesque personages in the gay scene include the Chamberlain, Pavane, of Miss Courtland, and the chief huntsman, Joli-Cœur, of Miss Elise Clerc. Mr. Fred Farren proves himself to be well qualified in every respect for the important and responsible position of Passepied, Master of the Revels; Miss F. Craske is a vivacious Mignonne; and courtiers and court ladies have much-admired representatives in the Misses F. M. Jenkins, B. Trevesick, E. Collier, and M. Collier.

The successful ballet Coppélia is in itself worth a visit to the Empire, and great credit is due to the producer, Mr. Alexander Genée; also to the composer of the music, Mr. Leo Délibes, and the scenic artist, Mr. Joseph Harker. In the absence of Mme. Adeline Genée, who is enjoying a well-earned holiday, the part of Swanilda, the village girl, is taken by Miss Amelie Peters, who comes from the Stadt Theatre, Strasbourg. This lady is an admirable dancer, and amongst her most successful efforts is a valse in the first scene, and in the second she evokes great applause by an automaton dance, assisted by Miss D. Craske, Mr. Fred Farren, and coryphées, a grand galop, &c. Miss D. Craske is well placed as Franz, Swanilda's sweetheart. Mr. Fred Farren gives an exceedingly clever sketch of Coppélius, the eccentric inventor of mechanical figures, Mr. Paul Sundberg distinguishes himself as Laszlo, a Slovak pedlar, and Miss Elise Clerc gives him able support as Irma, the pedlar's betrothed. These two introduce the Hungarian national dance with successful results, and their pas comique (Slovak) is also loudly and deservedly applauded. Miss E. Collier cleverly represents the doll Coppélia and able assistance comes from Miss Shepherd as the innkeeper, and Mr. A. Young and Miss M. Paston, as the Burgomaster and his wife.

In the early part of the evening the Parisian fantaisist Albany gives a novel entertainment which is watched with interest; and Mr. R. H. Douglass scores with one of his comical monologues. Harry Huntly, comedian, and the Kremkas, comedy acrobats, meet with success, and so, too, do Haig and Novel in their smart acrobatic act. The Australian Ladies' Quartette sing "Comin' thro' the Rye" and an Irish ballad in charming style. Miss Anna Hickisch, an excellent vocalist, is the recipient of prolonged applause for the admirable rendering of "The Wandering Breeze" and the "Jewel Song" from Faust. Paulton and Dooley display great skill as cyclists, and the one who plays the comic part causes hearty merriment by his funny business. The Biograph shows a series of interesting pictures, including scenes at Goodwood. Mention should be made of the valuable services rendered by the musical conductors, Messrs. C. J. M. Glaser and Cuthbert Clarke, and Mr. H. J. Hitchins, manager, and Mr. A. Aldin, acting-manager.

PARAGON.

Absurdly lugubrious in countenance and manner, that intensely comical low comedienne, Miss Nellie Wallace, sings of the joys of single blessedness and the woes of the married state. Then, with an excess of boisterous jollity, she skips about the stage in ridiculous fashion what times she gives expression to the heartfelt yearning of many a middle-aged dame, "I wish I were young again!" Miss Wallace is inexpressibly funny in all that she does in her own distinctive way. Another merry-maker comes along in the person of Little Tich, whose irresistibly comical sayings and antics are as fruitful as ever in their mirth-provoking qualities. We get an exciting account of the sanguinary battles of "The Gallant 23rd," a regiment, if we are to believe Mr. Tich, far surpassing in dash and "go" even the famous Light Brigade—so dashing, indeed, that it is difficult for the pursuing force to catch them. But the laughter is louder and more furious upon his third appearance, when the little man is attired as a dainty corpyhee, and frisks round the stage, whirling his diaphanous skirts! From the Sisters Lunelle we get sprightly dances and tuneful melodies, and Mr. Joe Archer, "The Peculiar Chappie," treats us to a host of whimsical fancies in his songs and patter. The Three Laurels give a demonstration of agility and strength in their smart ping-pong table act. Mr. Harry Tate is here, too, with his uproariously diverting motor-car breakdown act, which, by reason of the fact that it is from time to time varied, is always welcomed. Miss Katie Butler distinguishes herself as a character comedienne, and her original methods find great favour.

For a turn that is amusingly weird and fanciful we can commend the Phantos. Ghostly figures come and go with mysterious suddenness, and these same phantoms turn somersaults and engage in springing and jumping exercises in a manner that is simply amazing. And over the cleverly-arranged "phantom ship" the man in the moon smiles, as do the audience, with appreciatory features, upon the pranks of the Phantos. Simply bubbling over with buffoonery is Mr. Dan Crawley, whose popularity is attested to by the loud applause which greets the appearance of his number. He has a fund of jokes to offer, and they are offered in the jocular spirit which fails not in the effect it is intended to produce. Mr. Crawley is a comedian whose liveliness is whole-hearted, and he seems able to impart a remarkable spontaneity to his verses, "Anywhere does for me" and "Mary Mumps." Well-known selections are played in capital style upon the xylophone by the Vernon Troupe, five talented lady and gentlemen instrumentalists. Quickness of hand and eye is necessary to the successful manipulation of the xylophone, and these qualities are possessed to no little extent by each member of the Vernon party, whose performances show good execution and musical ability. While on the subject of instrumentalism, it would not be inappropriate to refer to the admirable work of Mr. Arthur Grimmett, the gifted musical director of the Paragon orchestra. Everybody has noted what a distinct improvement has taken place in the accomplishments of the band at Mr. Payne's Eastern hall, and it affords a delight to listen to the well-chosen compositions and the accompaniments played under Mr. Grimmett's guidance.

When Miss Margaret Parker produced a new playlet, entitled Under the Seal, last week at the Chelsea Palace, we were not informed to whom we owed the authorship. The piece proved popular at once, and we are now able to offer congratulations to the writer, Mr. William Felton. The story is a highly dramatic one, and the interest is well sustained throughout. The plot concerns the confession by a ruffian to a priest of the murder of the latter's brother, and the duty imposed upon the clergyman by the laws of his Church not to divulge a statement made "under the seal." Mr. Herbert Harden realises our ideas as to the dignified and scholarly demeanour of a Roman Catholic priest, and Miss Margaret Parker, in a part which is divided between low comedy and pathos, gives evidence of considerable versatility. Her death scene is extremely affecting. Praise must also be bestowed upon Mr. Morrice Seaton for an effective character study of a cockney ruffian. Mr. Whit Cunliffe, the smart, well-groomed "dandy" comedian, meets with a flattering reception, his light topical ditties, notably, "Hello! Hello! Hello!" being taken up by the audience with great gusto. That ludicrously eccentric "tramp," Mr. Bert Clark, and his charming partner, Miss Venie Hamilton, contrive to keep the house in an uproar of merriment with their quaint quips and cranks. One could scarcely wish for jests more comically presented. Ruffell's Imperial Bioscope brings a highly agreeable evening's entertainment to a close with some attractive stories told historically.

QUEEN'S PALACE.

Mr. Jack Woolf is to be congratulated upon at least one thing in connection with his management of the Queen's, and that is that since the establishment has been under his control it has been patronised by the best people of the district. It would have surprised many folk, who regard Poplar as a place where the submerged tenth eke out a miserable existence, had they visited the Queen's on Monday evening, and gazed upon the well-dressed holiday audience, the dresses of the ladies in the stalls giving a picturesque appearance to that part of the house. There is no question that Mr. Woolf has effected a wonderful improvement in every respect in the conduct of the Messrs. Abrahams' property. As to the programme, it is not necessary to dilate upon the usual ancient effusion as to a Bank Holiday bumper. Mr. Ernest French is wonderfully energetic, considering that Londoners are at present being worried by a heat-wave. He sings a humorous song about a flying machine and a man who had a yearning to live in the air; and then, attired as an absurd kiltie, he tells how he had "another look for luck." The curious sights that extra special look gained him were, to say the least, amusing, and, during the telling thereof, Mr. French engages in all manner of lively antics. "Before he marries the lady, how's the fellow to tell?" sings Miss Maud Laverne, and then she goes on to explain in her merry way what an awful lottery marriage is. Her other song, and which seems to find most favour, is of the sentimental order, "Remember me to mother dear," and is rendered with feeling and expression. Miss Laverne's appearance is all in her favour, and her dresses are much admired.

One could scarcely imagine a more beautiful pastoral scene than that in which the Vivians are disporting themselves this week at the Queen's. In this stage spectacle are to be seen a couple of charming shepherdesses (Miss Violet Vivian and Miss E. Buckingham), with whom the very sheep—if they had any—could not help falling in love! Then there is a vivacious young swain in the person of the sprightly Miss Ruby Vivian, and a jocular, larkish "servant to the King"—the monarch is unnamed, but whoever he is, he should never be lonely with so jovial a jester—in Master Vivian. With the prettiest of dances and gayest of roundelays, the Vivians attempt to revive a happy phase of rural life before England was given over to the Philistines. Mr. C. Gordyn's "bow-wow pantomime" is an entertainment in itself. Nothing could exceed in the direction of canine cleverness the doings of Mr. Gordyn's fox terriers and French poodle. Master Dandy Dinny, who is described as a "wee Scot," is an entertaining little fellow, who sings some laughable Scottish lines, and, although he may never have hailed from the north of the Tweed, he makes a passable effort with "It's a braw bricht moonlicht nicht the nicht." He is funny, too, as a miniature policeman. Miss Lilian Helmes is a pleasing, engaging, and bright comedienne, and wins golden opinions for her "business."

Sterling and Cashen distinguish themselves mainly in the step-dancing line, although their duets and patter are most praiseworthy. Mr. J. F. Sterling, by the way, won the All-England Challenge Cup at Middlesbrough in 1897, and is the holder of other championships. Prince Fee Lung, assisted by Wha Sing Ging and Lee Chung, is responsible for an interesting Chinese illusion act, in which many sleight-of-hand feats are smartly and neatly performed. On the night of our visit—Monday—Mr. Woolf appeared before the footlights, and apologised for the non-appearance of Miss Julie Mackay, who had been billed as one of the star turns. Mr. Woolf read a telegram from that lady, stating that, through indisposition and by the doctor's orders, she was kept at home. Rip Van Winkle is being presented by Miss Lilian Holmes's company, with Mr. Fred Storey in the title-rôle. It seems almost late in the day to eulogise Mr. Storey's superb impersonation of the wayward Rip, so often has he delighted the play-going public with his finished acting in that part. Miss Holmes herself undertakes the character of Gretchen, her study of which is as polished as it is effective. There are some fine pictures from the New Bioscope.

THE KILBURN EMPIRE.

The Empire, Kilburn, reopened its doors again on August Bank Holiday, this time under the control of the well-known sketch producer and actor, Mr. Brien M'Cullough. The house has had a somewhat chequered career as a variety theatre, but the new management is evidently determined to make a bold bid for success, judging by the really generous entertainment provided and the low charges for admission, the highest price being 1s., while an excellent seat can be obtained for 3d. Two performances are given nightly, and there are no "early doors," an arrangement on which the management is to be congratulated. There were full houses at both evening performances on Monday, and also at the matinée, and if enthusiasm counts for anything the audience were evidently highly delighted with the fare provided. The principal item in Mr. M'Cullough's opening bill was a condensed version of Uncle Tom's Cabin, most of the familiar incidents in Mrs. Harriett Beecher Stowe's notable novel being presented. The playlet was admirably enacted throughout, and the scenery, by Mr. Francis H. Bull, who has done wonders with the limited stage room at his command, is also entitled to praise, especially "The Rock of Freedom" and "The Old Plantation." The part of Uncle Tom was undertaken by Mr. Fred Percy, who was especially good in the scene with Little Eva, where the aged darkey recalls the days of his youth, and indulges in song and dance. George Harris had a manly and earnest representative in Mr. David G. Noble, and Mr. Stafford Smith was entirely satisfactory as the good-hearted planter, Mr. St. Clair. Mr. Gilbert Vernon was sufficiently brutal as Simon Legree, "the devil in disguise"; Little Eva was pathetically enacted by Little Nancy Edgar; and Miss Bernice Fielding gave a quietly convincing portrayal of the sorely-tried Eliza Harris. The comedy parts of Marks and Topsy were quite safe in the hands of Mr. M'Cullough and Miss Nellie Nelson, the former arousing much hilarity with his oft-repeated phrase, "My name's Marks—I'm a lawyer," and his many droll bits of business; and Miss Nelson contributing a quaint impersonation of the little black girl, and scoring also in her song. In the plantation scene a decided success was made by the Yankee Doodle Coons, a team of vocalists and dancers of undoubted ability, who were making their first appearance in England. Each member of the combination is a worker, and a number that secured abundant applause was the singing by a lady member of the troupe of a darkey ditty, "My Little Curly-headed Coon."

Miss Edna Alexander was heard with pleasure in a well-rendered song, "Little Miss No-one from Nowhere"; Mr. and Mrs. Washington submitted "My Carolina," the accompanying dance being smartly executed and loudly applauded; and the trombone solo of Miss Nettie Goff was appreciated at its true worth. A particularly popular item in the programme was the new Bioscope exhibition, the three comic pictures shown being "The Chaser Chased," "The Troubles of a Fireman," and "The Holidays," the last-mentioned film, depicting the destructive pranks indulged in by three little "imps" who are spending their holidays at a farmhouse, being especially laughable. Mr. Fred Mason, billed as "The World's Champion Whistler," scored unmistakably in his song descriptive of "Pretty Polly," but he will evidently have to look to his laurels as a siffleur, the occupants of the balcony being expert whistlers to a man—and boy, and on Monday they were evidently determined to exhibit their ability in this direction. The Sisters Belmont appeared as a couple of charming "colleens," and footed it merrily in some well-executed steps, expert top-boot and clog dancing also being included in their loudly acclaimed and exhausting exhibition. An "extra" who also contributed to the enjoyment of the audience was Salerni, who did some neat card palming and other difficult sleight-of-hand tricks. Mr. John Jourdain is the courteous acting-manager, and the capable little band is under the careful direction of Mr. J. Andrews.

THE SURREY.

Even with the temperature as high as it has been lately, a queue of pleasure-seekers, extending from the doors of the Surrey Vaudeville and half round St. George's Circus, has twice nightly not only attracted the attention of passers-by, but has induced many of them to enter its brilliant portals and enjoy the cool interior and the holiday programme provided by Mr. Frank Macnaghten for his patrons. Miss Josephine Colona and her "Ladye Godiva" company are very popular. Miss Colona's shapely form is seen to advantage, and her acting of the difficult character is decidedly good. As Earl Leofric Mr. W. H. Samo fills the part with a dignity that makes its mark. Mr. Charles Bowen's Bibeau is a careful character study, and an extremely finished performance. Miss Madge Morley as the Ladye Rowena, Miss Florence Spencer as Eaitra, and Mrs. Edgar Colona as Ulrica fill their parts with care and attention, and the general mounting is excellent. A highly sensational sketch is that provided by the Vaudeville Dramatic Comedy Company, entitled The Black Sheep. It tells the tale of a villain's treachery and his diabolical endeavours to cheat his brother and his sweetheart out of their inheritance. Much of the success of this miniature drama is due to the efficient acting of Miss Marguerite Trevosper, who as May Courtnay is sweet and pathetic. Mr. Ernest Wingfield as Harry Ferndell is manly and earnest. Mr. Leslie Vyner as Jimmy Joyce supplies a careful character study, and Mr. Herbert Pearson as Dunstan Ferndell makes a strong impression. A word of praise is due to Mr. F. Fellows Bassett in the dual parts of Sir Edmund Ferndell and Cully Grainger; and Miss Helena Walbran is excellent as the maid Susan. Fun and amusement in abundance are provided by Mr. and Mrs. Harold Finden in their farcical comedy, A Desperate Remedy, which is extremely well played. The laughter of the audience tells of their hearty enjoyment. Little Maudie Francis has more than fulfilled the bright promise of her early efforts in pantomime, and her pretty song, "Santa Claus," ranks among the foremost of the evening's successes. Her clog dancing is wonderfully clever, and well merits the series of enthusiastic recalls her tireless activity evokes. The Eight Sunrays, smartly costumed, are pretty enough to win admiration, but their singing of "The Seaside Girl" and their dancing of a Spanish fandango lend an added charm to their merry performance. King Leo with his vivacious doll "Jerry" gives an exhilarating ventriloquial entertainment. The Rushforths win warm approbation by their popular illustrated song, "The True-hearted Irish Lad," the chorus of which is taken up with evident enjoyment and gusto by the audience. The Three Leaves are charming dancers; Jenny Belmore is a dainty male impersonator, and wins high favour with her pretty ballad, "Baby 's the King." Valero's lightning crayon sketches of naval engagements are admirably well drawn, and the final electrical development of the largest picture is as pretty as it is startling, and evokes unlimited enthusiasm. Little Ada Merry is "looking for a sweetheart," as she tells her audience in her song, and she does a lively hornpipe. Roars of laughter follow the adventures of "The Three Terrors"—Tommy, Toby, and Terrier Tim—so humorously depicted by Raymond's Bio-Tableaux. A feature of the evening's enjoyment is the good order maintained in every part of the house by the courteous staff, who do most efficient work under the ever-watchful eye of Mr. Fred Baugh, the general-manager, and his able lieutenant, Mr. Charles Craig.

RICHMOND THEATRE.

During the recess this pretty theatre has been furbished and redecorated, and on Monday—the opening night—was quite gay in mural decorations of white and gold. The entire house has been cleaned, and now looks quite spick-and-span. The management in front is still in the capable hands of Mr. Kay Draco, whose courtesy and ability are readily recognised by the theatre's clientèle. Led by Mr. F. R. Kinkee, the orchestra commenced with a rousing march; next came Stuart and Stuart, and very admirably they performed. Mr. Fred Walker, a comedian with a keen sense of the ridiculous, brought down the house with his song dealing with the Labour Party, the drama, and other topical events. He was even more successful with a Bacchanalian ditty, "All through meeting a pal in the rain." Graceful, dainty, and pretty, it was but fair that the Sisters Charnley should win immediate recognition; their dancing was really excellent, and they won the hearty appreciation of the audience. The comedy sketch, Taming Her Husband, gave Miss Louisa Peach ample opportunity for the display of her histrionic abilities. Miss Peach gave a performance which was excellent in every way. The sketch was vociferously applauded. Miss Queenie May, described as "the little lady with a big voice," certainly gave evidence of the latter acquisition. Her best selection was a love ditty, which won from the gallery a triple "call." She became a favourite quite early in the evening. We have already commented on the peculiarly droll production, Casey's Court. Since our last visit, this olla podrida of drollery has been amplified and improved on. The denizens of Casey's Court are delightful. They sing, dance, act, and yet do some delicious fooling, to the manifest enjoyment of the audience. The fun reaches its height when a burlesque imitation of "lightning cures on a poor working-man" is given by the members of the troupe. The zoological burlesque and the travesty of Turpin's Ride to York are both exceedingly funny; and Casey's youngsters are evidently pets with the audience. Vernon's Bioscope shows several interesting items. "Father, mother wants you" is worth seeing; and "The Hand of the Artist" is a wonderful sample of the marvels of modern photography. The orchestral selections leave little to be desired, the excerpt from The Country Girl reflecting credit on Mr. F. R. Kinkee and his men. The whole show is excellent.

WALTHAMSTOW PALACE.

Something of exceptional interest is required to attract crowded audiences into a variety theatre in the dog days, but this is the achievement accomplished by Mr. Arthur J. Barclay here this week. The second house especially is crowded with enthusiastic audiences. Mr. Barclay and his excellent assistant-manager, Mr. Geo. F. Slatter having all their energies taxed to find room. The programme is full of variety, "from grave to gay, from lively to severe"; the severity, however, being not very much in evidence. The longest offering consists of My Pal Jerry, played by Mr. Lew Lake and company. This little play, in four scenes, forms a sequel to the same actor's success, The Bloomsbury Burglars, and is a mélange of mirth and pathos. After several scenes of broad humour, pathos is provided in the death of Jerry. Mr. Lew Lake plays his part of Nobbler Nolan for all it is worth, extracting from it every atom both of fun and seriousness of which it is capable. The chief is admirably supported by Mr. Bob Morris as Jerry, and a number of clever ladies and gentlemen. Miss Amy Elvira is a burlesque artist with a charming appearance, a good voice, and good songs, among which is one about the inevitable motor-car. Mr. Leo Tell is a clever imitator, both of animals and musical instruments, his efforts calling forth both laughter and applause. Miss Elsa Joel sings "Queen of the Earth" with acceptance, and afterwards "obliges" with some capital imitations of various styles of singing, from the Parisian café to the London coster. An excellent turn is that of the Paolias, the gentleman being an exponent of muscular training that is truly astonishing, while the lady is an admirable assistant. Miss Evelyn Hope appears with Mr. Jack Wayho in a series of character sketches from the works of Charles Dickens. These include a scene from "Oliver Twist," with Fagin; another from the same book introducing Nancy and Sikes, the Marchioness and Swiveller. Mr. Bert Williams is an excellent ventriloquist, who makes his puppets speak and sing without moving a line of his own face. It is some time since we saw an artist in this line who is more deserving of the loud cheers which greet him. The programme finishes with some amusing pictures exhibited by Ruffell's Imperial Bioscope. The overture, "Holiday Echoes," published by Von Tiltzer, is played in a spirited manner by the orchestra, directed by Mr. H. Petersen. To mention the fact that the stage management is in the hands of Mr. John Grant is to assume perfection.

THE EMPIRE, OXFORD.

TO THE EDITOR OF THE ERA.

SIR,—For the information of the profession generally and theatre lessees in particular, I shall be glad if you will publish the following statement. On June 5 Mr. Albany Ward made his annual application to the Borough Bench for a renewal of his licence. The following magistrates were on the Bench:—The Mayor (Councillor Twining), Aldermen I. Saunders, Thos. Lucas, G. W. Cooper, and J. H. Salter; Councillor Bevers; Messrs. T. H. Rose and F. Ryman Hall. The Watch Committee of the Oxford City Council had, after a heated discussion in camera, when many members spoke in favour of the theatre and the licence, decided, by a bare majority, to advise the magistrates to refuse the licence. Consequently at the hearing the magistrates were unanimous in refusing the licence, although there was no opposition offered—police or otherwise—in public court.

The Watch Committee of the O.C.C. is comprised of the following Councillors:—Aldermen Robt. Buckell, J.P. (chairman), Thomas Lucas, J.P. (vice-chairman), G. W. Cooper, J.P., Sir W. Gray, J.P., Jason Saunders, J.P., Bacon, and Woodward; Councillors Bevers, J.P., Brooks, G. H. Cooper, H. Lewis, J. E. Salter, C. M. Vincent, Sherwood, and Skene (the last two are representatives sent by the University).

In analysing the above statement, it will be found that of the eight magistrates who sat on the Bench on June 5, five were members of the very committee which had, by a small majority, secretly decided to advise the Bench to refuse the renewal of the licence. Three out of the eight are Nonconformists, and no doubt opposed to all theatres on principle. Moreover, the managing-director of the other local theatre happens to be the vice-chairman of the Watch Committee, and also as a J.P. sat on the Bench on June 5 last. I do not say he opposed the licence in any way; he is a most fair-minded man, but no one could blame him if he did. It may, however, affect the case from a point of law.

Here, then, is surely a case where the application for a dramatic licence was debated upon by a Watch Committee in camera, who are, be it noted, not the licensing body, and have really no locus standi in the matter, and who had practically decided that the theatre should be closed before the case came before the magistrates. The public hearing was therefore a farce from beginning to end, and was simply intended to humbug the play-going public, for the magistrates, as members of the Watch Committee, had already decided on their verdict. Mr. Ward was not even notified that they (the Watch Committee, i.e., the magistrates themselves) had decided to offer opposition to his licence. Surely in common courtesy he should have been so informed.

As this case affects theatre licensing all over the country, I am sure all managers would be interested in Mr. A. A. Strong's opinion on the points I have set forth. I should like to say that Mr. Ward's counsel pointed out to the Bench that (according to the Queen v. London County Council) it had been decided by the High Court "That if any Justices of the Peace had made an inquiry into a certain matter that recommended a certain course to be pursued, those Justices ought not to sit." Notwithstanding this objection, however, they sat, and sat very tight. I hold no brief for Mr. Ward, and know him not; but I am certainly interested in the legal aspects of this case, which in a long stage career I have never seen paralleled.—Yours faithfully, ACTOR-CITIZEN.

TO THE EDITOR OF THE ERA

SIR,—The Magistrate's Clerk at the Oxford City Court put several leading questions to Mr. Albany Ward, of above theatre, when applying for renewal of licence last June. The object of the Clerk was apparently to damage the reputation of Mr. Ward's theatre in the eyes of the magistrates. Will Mr. Strong say if the Magistrates' Clerk was, or was not, usurping his position in doing this? I am advised by a solicitor that he was acting quite illegally. For instance, he asked Mr. Ward if he had heard that two or three persons had had to be relieved from the poor-box through companies having been left stranded in the town by managers. Mr. Ward said he had not heard it. I should like to know why the magistrates, before giving charity, did not inquire of Mr. Ward whether they had really been acting at his theatre or not.—Yours faithfully,

A. G.

MR. WORTH, of "Harris and Worth," was taken suddenly ill last week at New Cross Empire, and will, it is feared, be unable to work for two months.

"NICI, THE BELLE OF THE PACIFIC."

A Musical Extravaganza, in One Act, written by Cayley Calvert, with Music composed by Denham Harrison, produced at the Cambridge Music Hall, on Monday, Aug. 6.

Jim Mobbs ..... MR. JOHNNIE SCHOFIELD
Lieut. Howlett ..... MR. BRYEN DESMOND
The Emperor ..... MR. GROVES WATSON
Dunkali ..... MR. E. T. SEARLE
The Vizier ..... MR. PERCY WEST
Princess Nici ..... MISS OLIVE PRINCE
Shadi ..... MISS QUEENIE CALVER

Mr. Cayley Calvert's new sketch, which is in one scene, opens on the island of Nante Mappo, the background revealing a lovely stretch of the Pacific Ocean. On the golden sands sing and gambol a bevy of these Phœnecian beauties so beloved of Robert Louis Stevenson. To them comes Dunkali, the Royal marriage broker, with the news that the Princess Nici, the most beautiful of them all, comes of age, and therefore, by the sacred laws, must be married that day, and not to an inhabitant of the island. She is already betrothed to an officer who some months before landed from a British man-of-war, but failing his return, Dunkali is in a difficulty to find her a husband. In this dilemma he seizes upon the expedient of presenting to the Emperor a ship-wrecked cockney, by name Jim Mobbs, as an eligible suitor. Mobbs fears Dunkali, and has an idea that the natives have designs upon his life, and take him for a missionary—"tender to stew"—so he readily falls in with the plan of marrying a princess, or any other, to escape his dreaded fate. He therefore takes lessons from the marriage broker as to what to say and how to behave, and he is in due course presented to his Imperial Majesty as "Mr. Britisher come to claim yer daughter's 'and." The princess objects very strongly. In vain she protests that she is a "suffragette" who obeys no laws made by mere man. There is only a quarter of an hour left for the ceremony, and the priest performs it. No sooner is the nuptial knot tied than the "real Mr. Britisher," Lieut. Howlett, arrives, to find his expected bride a married woman. The rest of the plot consists of the scheming of the Princess, Howlett, Dunkali, and Shadi, the Princess's maid, to get Jim Mobbs to renounce his bargain and divorce his Royal wife. They break it to him that by the sacred laws of the island if the wife dies the husband is buried with her. They tell him his wife is delicate—that she is ill—that she is worse—that a consultation has been called—that there is no hope—that she is dead!

In portraying these gradations of comic terror, Mr. Johnnie Schofield finds abundant scope for varied humorous expression, and he does full justice to his opportunities. In the end Lieut. Howlett reappears, and annexes the island with a delightful comic-opera freedom—on behalf, of course, of the British Government—releases the Princess, who has been hidden in a heathen temple, and all ends merrily. Mr. Johnny Schofield is immensely funny as Jim Mobbs, of the 'Ockney-road, and has a good song about different kinds of girls. Miss Olive Prince is a delightful Princess, and in her duet with Mr. Bryen Desmond (Lieut. Howlett) assisted in bringing down the house. Mr. Desmond also scores with his song, "My guiding star." Miss Queenie Calver is fresh and bright as Shadi, the maid, and her song, "Risks," followed by a pretty dance, elicits loud applause. Mr. Groves Watson reveals flashes of humour as a dignified Emperor; Mr. E. Searle is an alert Dunkali; and Mr. Percy West appears as the Vizier.

Mr. T. G. Richards is to be congratulated on placing before the patrons of the Cambridge so excellent a production. Mr. Cayley Calvert's book is exceptionally good, the songs and dances were all well received, and the mise en scène was pretty and picturesque. Mr. Denham Harrison's music was tuneful and pleasing throughout. The new sketch, which is admirably compressed into thirty-five minutes, should have a bright future before it.

The Bank Holiday programme was also contributed to by Mr. Mark Tapley, comedian; Avon and Crest, speciality comedy artists; Mr. Will Driscoll, comedian and dancer; Miss Rosie Reval, character-comedienne; and Miss Amy Russell. Ruffell's Imperial Bioscope shows some interesting pictures. On Monday evening that admirable juggler and cannon-ball manipulator, Valazzi, deputised for Mr. Herbert Shelley, who was indisposed.

"GARDENING."

HARRY TATE'S NEW SKETCH.

Mr. Harry Tate is a comedian who believes in being thoroughly up to date. Everybody remembers how he created humorous situations out of early difficulties experienced by motorists whose petrol-driven vehicles were constantly breaking down on the King's highway. In his latest sketch, Gardening, produced on Monday at the Oxford, he touches in a comical manner upon a nuisance which, if it be not checked, will make nervous wrecks of us all. A gentleman, seeking peaceful surroundings wherein he and his family can enjoy life, removed from the tumult of the city, purchased a house, apparently some distance from the suburbs. But the property is deceptive. The place certainly looks countryfied enough, but, unfortunately for the owner of the villa, there are other people who are fond of the country—bean-feasters and motor-car scorchers, for instance. The scene opens upon a pretty garden, the tender thereof carefully watering the flowers upon a huge mound with a tiny child's toy water can. The new master of the house enters this picturesque domain, but as his ideas in the direction of horticulture are of the most meagre description, he and the gardener are ever at loggerheads. He wrenches from its comfortable bed a tall and flourishing plant, just to see if the roots are actually there, and, to the horror of the worthy countryman, flings it against the wall. He says that he prefers to see it lying there, and, after all, is he not the owner of the land? He carries his absurdities further when he offers to explain to his son, who is as ignorant as the father, the cultivation of flowers, the very names of which he does not even know. Finding his tutelage as a nurseryman is not exactly a success, he sits down to enjoy the sweet quietude of his little paradise. His haven of rest quickly becomes an obnoxious babel. A noisy, dismal-looking tramp puts his head over the wall, and cries out that he has walked from Manchester—ergo, he is dry. Won't the kind gentleman take the hint? The kind gentleman is charitable enough to do so, and is so benevolent as to deprive his flowers of their favourite beverage in order to moisten the features of the forlorn tramp with the aid of a squirt. A party of loud-mouthed roysterers are the next to break in upon the owner of the house with their boisterous merry-making and their ribald song, and what was formerly imagined to be poetic solitude, the purest of rural air is further desecrated by the deafening, ominous sounds of motor horn, and the mountains of dust raised by cars travelling at the speed of an express train. The curtain falls upon a misguided or drunken chauffeur demolishing the garden wall with his machine.

The whole thing is ridiculously, uproariously funny, and keeps the audience in a continuous outburst of laughter. Mr. Harry Tate, in his absurdly and well assumed seriousness of manner, makes a most diverting character of the irritable householder. Gardening is one of the most entertaining acts that are to be seen on the music hall stage to-day.

THE SHOWMAN WORLD.

Glorious sunshine, surging crowds of happy, light-hearted pleasure-seekers, all Nature, all humanity rejoicing, these were the dominant notes of "Saint" Lubbock's Day, the August Bank Holiday. No other holiday in the year is so full of the modern spirit as the last and best of them all—the first Monday in August.

London especially has made this one of the legal Bank Holidays its own peculiar and particular festival, all the other new holidays merely serve to extend the old long established church and national festivals, but the August Bank Holiday is a real gift, a glorious free day to the moilers and toilers of the nation. Everybody takes the gift so opportune and so necessary with both hands—away go vast multitudes to the sea, or to visit far-away friends and relations, yet there always remain in our great towns, and notably so in the Metropolis, vaster crowds who cannot get away. It is to these town-bound citizens that the showman comes and brings a full day of joy and mirth and gladness. It is for these stay-at-home (perforce) people that the fair means the only possible place of recreation and relief. It is for these toilers of our vast city that the London County Council sets out the fairs at holiday times on the free spaces and common lands under their wise and beneficent control, the wise and tolerant acceptance of the undoubted truth that all work and no play makes "Jack a dull boy," and its natural result the popular open-air amusement for the people by the travelling showman and the itinerant entertainer. All this is good, and right well did the people appreciate it.

On Hampstead Heath were some 200 pitches of the itinerant showmen and traders; the principal shows were:—Purchase's menagerie, Chittock's cinematograph theatre, Wilson's fine art show, Bennett's novelties, Bailey's peep show, Forrest's horses, and big wheel, Brett's galloping horses, and other attractions. Wilson's motor-cars and swings by a host of caterers. The leading exhibitors of throwing games were:—Messrs. Peters, Bailey, Brett, Wilson, Herick, Rowe, Crisp, Harrison, Groom, Putnam, Wharmby, and Corby. We noticed again the complete and most satisfactory arrangements for the comfort of the enormous throng of visitors, and the thoughtful and the kindly provision for the show people.

On an excellent ground close by the railway station we found the "Revived Village Fair" of Hampstead, under the management of Fred Gray, the London caterer. Here were F. Gray's gondolas and flying motor-cars, the bike track, park swings, throwing games, and shooting saloon, S. Jones's galloping horses, shooter, and varieties, Purchase's dolly frame and bottle battery, Parrish's throwing games and minor novelties. The great show attraction was Prof. B. T. Burnett's battery and military assault-at-arms. In addition to the usual excellent programme Mr. Burnett had secured a number of capital variety turns and gave an excellent show.

At the Vale of Heath, Hampstead Heath, were the well known attractions under Mr. Harry Cox's direction, these included gallopers, the big wheel, swings, etc.

At that immensely popular holiday resort Wormwood Scrubs, were Hasting's and Whayman's coliseum of varieties and cinematographs, Edward Elliott's boxers and athletes, W. Wilson's electric set of horses, and Cockerell's, Smith and Whittle's switchback, swings, and varieties, Wm. Beach's motor-cars and horses, shooting gallery, aerial flight and park swings, Edward's steam horses, swings by Allingham, Brinkley, George, Martin, and others, and rows and rows of minor novelties, throwing games, etc., by Messrs. Bedford, Sanders, Irish, Hussey Bros., Traynor, Elliott, Phillips, Taylor, Goodall, Holt, Cooper, Bowler, Wooley, Putnam, Manning, and many others. There were three sets of juvenile horses and motors by Messrs. Sanders, Harvey, and Manning.

At Blackheath were Buckley's cinematograph, Wilson's flying motors, and a host of minor side shows and varieties.

At Goringe Park, Tooting, were Searle's fair-ground novelties, the steam horses, shooters, throwing games, variety stalls, and refreshment tent, and Prince Pereira, conjuror.

The Bromley fête had for its entertainers Biddall Brothers with cinematograph show, and Cilbey with throwing games, etc.

At Kew Gardens Green were George Beach's aggregation of shows, &c., cinematograph theatre, steam roundabout, shooter, swings, varieties, and cokers.

The Uxbridge holidays were kept by Mrs. Bird's roundabouts, cokers, doll frames, &c.

Mr. Fred Gray also leases the ground at Watford for holiday times. Here Mr. Gray had on exhibition a set of galloping horses and flying ostriches, shooting range, park swings, and coker-sheets. With him were Sanders, with varieties, and Ashton, with minor novelties.

As usual, the East End of London kept its big Bank Holiday on the splendid Forest ground, Wanstead Flats. Here were some of the best shows, &c., on the London round. Ball's royal bioscope, Barker's coliseum of varieties, H. and W. Thurston's royal hippodrome and theatre of cinematography, S. Forrest's whirling the whirl, Thurston and Sons' steam galloping horses, Barker and Thurston's gondolas and motors, Brown's roundabout, Parr's big wheel, Girling's juvenile horses, Mrs. Parr's novelty booth, and ranges of swings, highfliers, &c., by Messrs. Forrest Brothers, Bolesworth, Harris, Girling, and Tucker. Throwing games and varieties in excellent style by Messrs. Bolesworth Brothers, Forrest Brothers, Parr Brothers, Simpson, Taylor, Parker, Harris, Carr, Barrett, Reynolds, Dare, Tiller, Rowe, Scott, Cockram, and others.

Manchester, like London, has its suburban fairs at the great holiday times. The greatest of these is the North Manchester Fair, held under John Collins's management at the Albert Memorial Croft, Queen's-road. Here were a big crowd of shows, roundabouts, &c., for the amusement of the people, and right well did they appreciate the fair.

The shows were Colonel Clark's animated photography and varieties, Captain Tom Payne's bioscope, Layland's marionette theatre, Haydn's second sight experts and temple of magic, Denis's circus, Birch's midget marvels, and Payne's freak pony show.

On the machine list were J. Collins's motor cars, Hibbert's racing cockerels, J. Collins's "wheely whirley," Harrison's helter skelter, J. Collin's jumping horses, White's big boats, J. Collin's steam yachts, Wilkinson's swings, J. Collins's rolling junks, gem horse and motor sets by Messrs. W. Chaplain and S. Mercer, rifle saloons by Fletcher and Buxton. Varieties in magnificent array were provided by Horton Brothers, R. Deeks, S. Mercer, Fairclough, W. Chaplain, Lee, Mackney, Johnson, Brannan, Clough Mitchell, W. Cordwell, and others.

Leeds has a big fair at the Bank Holiday. This is held on the grand open space on Hunslet Moor. Probably no town in England has a better-equipped fair than this on the breezy moorland of Hunslet. We can only give the bare list of names, and that is sufficient to prove its abiding popularity and business importance. The exhibition list included cinematograph theatres by Messrs. H. Testo and Tuby and Sons, Prof. Gibson's temple of magic and spiritualistic séance exposé, Wilson's lady wrestlers and athletes, and Westray's freak exhibits.

The machines were motor-car sets by Wm. Murphy, Ben Howden and Son, and G. Redfearn, steam horses by Tuby and Sons and George Collings, flying ostriches by P. Collins, steam yachts and steam swings by Corrigan, Morley, and Burgin, swings and highfliers by Dobson, Redfearn, and Morley, whirling the whirl machines by Relph and Pedley and Howden and Son. Bazaars by John Seed, over-boats by Richards; variety frames, emma sheets, &c., by Dobson, Johnson, Jameson, Holdsworth, Steward, Eastwood, and many others. There were seven sets of children's horses and motor-cars, six juvenile swings, four football frames, ten gingerbread stalls, four refreshment booths, and scores of other stalls.

Mid-way between Leeds and Bradford lies the village of Stanningley; the annual feast was kept with great heartiness on Aug. 4, 6, and 7. Relph and Pedley's electric coliseum of varieties and up-to-date films was the star attraction. Mrs. Waddington's motor-cars, Hamilton's gallopers, and Proctor's, J. Casey's, and Mrs. Hughes' swings, Casey's shooters, and coker-sheets, &c., by Townend, Guthrie, Hughes, and some twenty other amusement caterers made up the novelties of the fair.

At Nantwich Wakes were Bates's royal hunters and jumping horses, Wright's up-to-date peep-show, Connor's roll-up boards and coker-sheets, Hilton's shooting saloon, Wright's shooters, cokers, and other variety novelties. The other caterers were Messrs. Dobson, Turner, Dillon, Beech, and Connor.

The fight for Mitcham Fair has reached another stage, and as the fair is dated to begin next Monday, the present serious issue between those who want to retain the fair and those who seek by all possible means to abolish it will have been brought to the test of real struggle on the opening day of the fair. We have already stated that the attempt to abolish the fair under the provisions of the Abolition of Fairs Act has failed. The Home Secretary, after full consideration of the reasons given by the abolitionists and the counter petitions and arguments of the Showmen's Guild and various local traders, decided that the fair should remain. The small body of influential residents of Mitcham who desired to abolish the fair were acting well within their rights in petitioning the Home Secretary; but, having made their appeal and failed, it is utterly unfair and quite unconstitutional to seek to gain, by their own authority, that which the law of the land, properly appealed to, has refused them.

Having made their appeal to the Secretary of State under the statute law of the realm, and having got "No" for their answer, they refuse to obey the decision of the King's executive officer and the authority of the statute provided for their own purpose. In the face of the adverse decision of the Home Secretary, who has full powers to deal with the question and to do justice between the conflicting interests, the Conservators of Mitcham Common, who have no power either by law or custom, take upon themselves to do what the Home Secretary has refused to do for them. The decision not to abolish the fair has been known for weeks past; yet the Conservators have waited until a week before the fair before issuing a notice, on their own authority, practically abolishing the fair. It is worded as follows:

MITCHAM FAIR, 1906.

Notice is Hereby Given

That no sites for shows, roundabouts, or other similar amusements on the Fair Green will be let for the present year; and proprietors of such shows, &c., are warned that they must not pitch on the ground of the Fair Green, or on any part of the Common.

By order of the Conservators of Mitcham Common,

Fredk. Foss,
Chairman;
and on behalf of the owners of the Franchise.

The posting up of this notice has provoked the just indignation of the people of Mitcham, and the town is in a perfect ferment of excitement over this attempt to deprive the people of their pleasure fair. The great majority of the tradesmen refuse to show it in their shop windows, and wherever it has been posted up the people have torn it down. Not only does this matter concern the people of Mitcham, it also concerns the travelling showmen, particularly those London showmen who have taken this fair year by year on their business round. The Showmen's Guild for months past has made every effort to protect their business interests—by a petition to the Home Secretary, by a deputation to the Home Office, and by many visits to the local authorities, in particular to the chairman of the Board of Conservators who claims to be the present owner of the Fair Franchise. Everything has been done to obviate any conflict of interests at the time of the fair. These conciliatory negotiations have been in the capable hands of the Rev. T. Horne and Mr. Alf. Ball. Mr. Ball, proprietor of the Royal Bioscope, has been for many years past an occupier of the Fair Green, and he has given valuable time upon many occasions to save the rights of his brother showmen using Mitcham Fair.

The position of affairs at present is this: the showmen will draw on the Fair Green as in years past. They will hold the fair, and will tender the accustomed tolls. This action will raise the direct issue as to the right of the Conservators and the owners of the tollage to prevent the showmen using the Fair Green on the legal days of the fair.

This is a clear issue as to the lawful authority to hold the fair; but in order that the larger question of the fair rights and franchise of the people of Mitcham may be fully known and a vote taken, a meeting of protest has been organised to be held on the Fair Green at 3 o'clock in the afternoon of Sunday, Aug. 12, on the front of Balls' bioscope exhibition. The following poster and window-bill is now extensively seen in Mitcham:—

MITCHAM OLD FAIR.

Public demonstration and Mass Meeting on Sunday next, on the Fair Green, at 3 o'clock p.m., to defend the Rights and Privileges of the people of Mitcham in their ancient Pleasure Fair.

The chair will be taken by a member of the District Council. The speakers will be the Rev. T. Horne, hon. chaplain; T. Watson Wright, Esq., solicitor to the Showmen's Guild; and local gentlemen.

Come and defend your Fair Rights!

Alfred Ball,
Convener on behalf of the showmen attending Mitcham Fair.

THE LATE MRS. PROCTOR.

Amid many manifestations of local sympathy and esteem for the deceased and her family, the body of Maria Proctor was laid to rest in the family vault at the New Cemetery, Derby, on Friday, July 20. The permanent home of her son-in-law, Mr. Arthur Twigdon, is at Morledge, Derby, and it was at Derby with her daughter that Mrs. Proctor lived in peaceful retirement for the last few years of her life, the beloved mother of a numerous family of upgrown sons and daughters all engaged in show work. The members of the family attending the funeral were:—Mr. and Mrs. George Proctor, Mr. and Mrs. William Proctor, Mr. and Mrs. Robert Proctor, Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Proctor, Mrs. John Proctor (Mr. John Proctor was unfortunately prevented from being present by illness), Mr. and Mrs. William Taylor, Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Twigdon, and Mr. and Mrs. Charlton. The following grandchildren also attended:—The Misses Harriett, Maria, and Master John Taylor, the Misses Lizzie, Maria, and Master George Twigdon, the Misses Emily and Martha Twigdon, and Masters W. and F. Chorlton. Other friends of the family at the graveside were:—Mr. and Mrs. Fox, Mr. H. Clayton, Mr. J. Smith, Norah Sullivan (Mrs. W. Le Neve), and Mrs. George Bishop. In memoriam wreaths and floral tributes were sent (amongst others) by Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Proctor, Mr. and Mrs. Robert Proctor, Mr. and Mrs. John Proctor, Mr. and Mrs. William Taylor and family, Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Twigdon, Miss Maria Taylor, Miss Harriett Taylor, Mr. and Mrs. Le Neve, Mr. and Mrs. C. Hall, Miss Florrie Hall, Mr. and Mrs. Harry Hall, Mr. and Mrs. Fox, Mr. and Mrs. F. Westrop, Mr. and Mrs. Yorke, Mr. and Mrs. Blake, Mr. and Mrs. Grudgings, Mr. and Mrs. Bishop and family, Mr. and Mrs. White, Mrs. Weir and family, Mrs. Smith and Mrs. Marlow, and Mr. J. Smith.

At the Victoria Theatre, Evesham, this week the following plays have been performed:—Shadows of a Great City, The Shamrock, Drummed Out, Sherlock Holmes, The Octoroon, and Crime and its Reward. Other attractions at Evesham were Mr. H. Ayers, with steam roundabouts, park swings, shooting saloons, cokernut sheets, and bottle battery.

Redditch Fair was larger this year than usual, and included Clarke's electric racing motor-cars, Herbert's roundabouts, Mander's grand star menagerie, Cordwell's living pictures, Chipperfield's royal show, Ingram's dog and monkey circus, Frank Gess's boxing saloon, and Chipperfield's hall of laughter; cokernut sheets by Messrs. Clarke, Humphreys, and Buckland; bottle-shooters and galleries by Messrs. Clarke, Wilson, and E. Herbert, Yates's novelty stalls, T. Clarke's set of swings and striker, Wainwright's and Stockton's gingerbread stalls, Parsons and Cooper with sausage stalls; ringboards, fisheries, Emmas, stalls, &c., by Messrs. Chipperfield, Wilson, C. Herbert, Taylor, Smith, and E. Herbert.

In connection with the athletic meeting at Carmarthen Park on August Bank Holiday a number of variety artists appeared. Frank Hope, the trick cyclist and somersault artist, gave a clever performance; the Brothers Mills, gymnasts and teeth artists, with revolving apparatus, supplied an excellent show; Professor Donn gave a good juggling and conjuring exhibition; Henri Pablo caused laughter with his clown act on the revolving globe; the Musical Zelloes delighted the crowd with their comicalities; Professor Fairweather, ventriloquial exhibitor, was much appreciated; Swell and Rags, grotesque acrobatic knockabouts, gave an excellent performance; while the Royal Punch and Judy Show amused and delighted the youngsters.

Capt. Bidmead had also been engaged to make captive-balloon ascents during the day, and a right-away balloon ascent at seven o'clock, but the silk of the balloon was in some way damaged, and the ascents had consequently to be abandoned. In the evening Messrs. J. Pain and Sons gave a fine firework display. There were also in the park, doing good business, Messrs. Danter and Son's electric motor-cars and horses, and cocoanut shies, Aunt Sallies, shooting galleries, and swings; J. Evans' "test your strength," shooting gallery, and Aunt Sallies; and Risley's "test your strength."

At the Sydney Gardens, Bath, the fine weather of the Bank Holiday drew large crowds to enjoy the varieties and gala provided by Mr. T. R. Gannon, the well-known West of England caterer.

Bostock and Wombwell's menagerie is staying at Hastings for a few days. There is a fine exhibition of wild animals. Two large elephants are included, and the lions and tigers are magnificent specimens of those denizens of the jungle. One remarkable feature in the show is a horse whose mane and tail are of singular length and beauty.

Mander's star menagerie has been paying a one-day visit to Studley, and gave some first-class performances.

KILMARNOCK FAIR.

As indicating the ever growing interest taken in the popular fairs of the people, the Kilmarnock Standard of Saturday last may be cited as a certain proof and index. In addition to a leaderette on fairs past and present, there are special articles in the local vernacular, a full report of the fair, and (this is a rare departure) a complete story, with its characters and plot at Kilmarnock Fair.

The editorial thus speaks of fairs ancient and modern:—

"Sound the clarion, fill the pipe
To all the sensual world proclaim—
One crowded hour of glorious life
Is worth a world without a name."

"The shows have arrived, and the youth of the town glories in the fact. I remember the time when the arrival of the shows was one of my red letter days. Despite the warnings of loving parents that show folks were bad people and would carry me away with them, I would go down to the old Cattle Market, at the entrance to what was then known as Barbadoes Park, and spend the livelong day watching the various accessories to the fun of the fair being erected. A crowd of boys sat upon the wall and gate-posts at the entrance to the market, watching eagerly for any new arrival, and at frequent intervals the air resounded with cries of 'A show, a show, a show!' and we would all rush expectantly into Dundonald Road, usually to find that it was but a hoax. We exhibited as much interest in the doings of the show folks as did the youthful immortals in Mr. Barrie's Sentimental Tommy. I cannot at this instant recall if, like them, I ever discovered that the fat lady had a partiality for 'inguns' to tea, but if I did, I doubt not that I too revelled in the fact. The roundabouts were not then so elaborate or gorgeous as they are now, nor was the accompanying music so fine. The motive power was a pony, or sometimes a number of boys dragged the cycle of wooden horses round. Before the aforesaid place was used for that purpose, the shows were pitched in the neighbourhood of Portland Road, and swing boats used on occasion to be erected on a piece of ground off East George-street."

The "Harry Lauder" of the local Press, known as "Sandy McNab," thus speers the fair:—

"It's a wonnerfu' time is the fair. Whit atween thinkin' o' holidays at the coast an' in the kintra and gaun to the shows, folk get sae excited that some o' them dinna ken their heids frae their feet. My sang, its different frae the auld days when we lookit furrit tae the shows wi' perfec' equaneemity. Of coorse, things were ta'en in a mair leisurely wey when I wis young. We didna hurry as they dae noo-a-days to catch cars and macheens and trains. Och, aye, but times is fairly chinged. But I suppose it's jist the wey o' the worl'. They say if you're no gaun furrit, you canna staun still, and maun jist fa' ahin. Weel, its maybe better tae be makin' some progress in life, and sae I'm no gaun tae compleen onything aboot the new-fangled notions that hae entered intae the heids o' the risin' generation. Ye ken, the young folk o' the praisent day are to be oor men and weemen o' the future, and if they're tae haud up their heids wi' ither folk then they'll no need to lag ahin."

Proceeding to the fair-ground itself, he thus details his experience:—

"Takin' a general survey o' the place, I could see that the maist o' the stances alang the tap were ta'en up wi' shootin' galleries. Seein' that the meelitary speerit's in the air, oor buddin' young marksmen will nae doot be tryin' their skill tae qualify for the rifle range and maybe the next competition at Bisley. Streetchin' awa' doon the left haun, there are things they ca' dolly stands, whaur you get 'three balls a penny' tae shy at a sort o' forms and feegurs, and you get a prize—a ceegaur, a walking-stick, or a jumpin' jake, or something o' that kin', and if it's no o' very muckle vailue it's aye there to show tae your frien's that you hae a sherp e'e in your heid and that you can aim gey and weel. But it's doon the middle o' the showgrun' that you see the maist glare and glitter. Whit gran' merry-go-roons they hae noo-a-days as compared wi' the time when I was a laddie! We had naethin' but wee wudden horses tae get a ride on. Noo they hae bicycles, motor-cars, bantam cocks, razzle-dazzles, an' a'thing up tae the very best. Thae kin' o' caterers for the public amaizement are gey an' enterprisin', and they maun spen' a heap o' siller in gettin' the latest novelties an' keepin' themsel's up tae date. Mr. Swallow has a rael selec' stud, and he has also introduced motor-cars, which are pented in a' sorts o' colours and look bricht and braw. Mr. Wingate promises to gie you the maist exhileratin' and sensational ride o' the 20th century on his marvellous Japanese airship. I had the preevilege o' crackin' wi' this gentleman for two or three meenits, and withoot a word o' a doot he's rael entertainin'.

"He telt me he had been in the show bisness for five-and-thirty years. He wisna brocht up tae this bisness, for his father was a fairmer, but he took a fancy for't, and made up his min' that naething would stop him. Sae he stertit wi' a single donkey, and he has gane on prosperin', wi' the result that he has noo three or four big establishments on the road and a museum at Skegness, Lincolnshire. The estaiblishment noo in the market is gran'ly got up. It's pented roon' and roon' with spaicems o' coats-o'-arms, and comic views o' motor car escapades. Green's motor-cars are gey arteestic, and Howard provides big swing-boats, wi' nets roon aboot them, so that bairns may gang into them wi' perfec' safety. Wilmot, tae, has a gran' lot o' motor-cars. He has also brocht wi' him a wunnerfu' novelty in the shape o' an instrument which he ca's the 'Gaviolophone.' It's naethin' short o' a gran' organ, and it discoorses the very finest o' maisic by the introduckshun o' sections o' perforated cairdboard. The sheet for the overture to 'Maritana,' I wis telt, measures nae less than 115 feet. Chipperfields Menagerie is weel worth a veesit. The man in chairge is Mr. Manders, and he telt me that they had dune awfu' weel for ten days in the Glesca' Carnival, where they were engaged by Mr. Green. Here you may see the untameable lion Norma, and a heap ither lions that perform at the instigashun o' Prince Rotana. In addeetion, Capt. Bizarre enters the dens o' hyenas and wolves, and a young lady gi'es a wunnerfu' show wi' snakes and reptiles. If you want tae see some nice ceenimatograph pictur's you shood gang in an' hae a look at M'Indoe's show. 'Dick Turpin's Ride to York' and 'The American Train Breakers' jist keep you on the tip-tae o' excitement. Wilson's ceenimatograph, doon in the left haun corner, has also some gey guid pictur's. Carter's Electric Empire gi'es a first-class entertainment in the same kin' o' line. The very latest in leevin' pictur's may be seen in Green's. The subjects are baith serious and comic, and in the animated views the man wha gie's the lectur's speaks tae suit the different characters that appear, and you wad jist think that they were a wheen o' actors in a theatre. This is the first season, they tell me, that sich a novelty has been placed afore the public. Clark's Pepper's Ghost illusion has come again, and a ceenimatograph show has been added. Buff Bill's Menagerie is ootside o' the market proper. It stauns on a bit o' the vacant grun' near the Safety Rifle Range. In this show there are two lady lion tamers, and they display great courage and darin'. The untameable lioness Vixen is here put through her facings by Captain Williams, a gentleman of colour. The lioness was in furious form on Wednesday nicht, and it was three-quarters of an oor before her dusky trainer could find his wey into her cage. There's a fine pack o' eddicated wolves in this show, and Capt. Williams mak's them dae some gey an' clever feats. Here also you may see the lion that got oot o' its cage at the fair in the auld Cattle Market aboot a dizzen years since, and made the folk rin helter-skelter to places o' refuge. It's a guid fair, and I hope you'll a' gang and see't."

A SHOWMAN'S CHILD.

For many years past at Great Glasgow Fair Mr. Joseph Wright, a philanthropist and lay missioner of that city, has gathered the children of the fair-ground together and given them a special service, and what is called "a treat," in the shape of a tea-party to show children. This year the festival was held as usual, and the kind-hearted "foster father" of child life at the fair. Mr. Joseph Wright gave one of his agreeable addresses.

Mr. Wright is a man of wide sympathies and many activities. We take the following extracts from a delightful book of "Sketches of Scottish Life and Manners" he has written. It tells us how it was that he began to take an interest in children of the fair-ground:—

"There seems to be in most people a hankering after nomadic life. We are all, in spite of ourselves, tinged more or less with the Bohemian spirit. When the bright spring sunshine peeps in at our windows in the city we get into the mood of Charles Lamb when he wished to be on board the old Margate hoy. Bygone days in the country or at the seaside are brought to mind, and we long to get away from the man-made town to the God-made country. I cannot remember the time when I was not haunted with such desires; and somehow I have always had a sympathetic feeling for the wandering tribes—the men of open-air lives, gipsies, strolling players, acrobats, showmen; and even Messrs. Codlin and Short, with their friends Toby and Punch and Judy, have ever had a warm place in my affections. I am not aware that any of my forbears lived in this fashion; but I suspect the spirit of nomadic ancestors must have come down to me, as I never feel so much at home as when under canvas on the green-sward, as it is my good fortune to be at present on the Ayrshire seaboard.

"Another explanation may be that in my early youth I came much in contact with all sorts and conditions of men. My father's shop being the village 'howff,' I was always mixing among a composite society that included many wanderers, and spent my youth in that atmosphere. The attachment thus formed has never left me, so much so that whenever I see a string of caravans passing through the city streets I feel a desire to know whence they have come and whither they are bound."

Speaking of a visit to a caravan in a corner of the village green, he goes on to say:—

"It turned out that I knew the old acrobat under whom one of them had been trained, and also the family with which the other had formerly travelled until the death of his master one day on the showground at Glasgow Fair. This happened in a fit of excitement. A brother showman, whose place of entertainment stood next to his, was making more noise with his organ and cymbals, to attract the people to his entertainment, than the old man thought he had a right to do; and when speaking excitedly to his neighbour he fell down and expired on the stage in sight of hundreds of people. His last words were: 'It's all right, Joe; I have known you since you were a little kid, but this is too bad of you.' We had a long talk that day about the travelling families we had known. On leaving I promised to come over soon with some pictures for the little ones. The acrobat was greatly pleased, for what man is there but likes to see 'his bairns respected like the lave'? On going across the following afternoon I received a cordial welcome from the mother and the two little girls, who were seated on the grass at the foot of the little ladder leading up to the place which was to them the sweetest spot on earth. Rising at my approach, the acrobat's wife said cheerily, 'Good morning, sir; we've been keeping a look-out for you. I've had little peace from these gals since their dad told 'em that you were a-coming over to the waggon. Will you come up, sir? Mind the steps, sir—they aint easy to climb; I'm used to it; but Lor' bless you, we never knew anything else!' Having got seated, I opened out the parcel of illustrated magazines and picture-books and gave them to the children. While they were engaged with the pictures the mother showed me every nook and corner of the caravan, even to a large chest containing all the paraphernalia that the acrobat used in his outdoor performances. The waggon, like the showman's wife herself, was very tidy—it was kitchen, bedroom, dining-room, and parlour, all rolled into one; yet what a contrast to the dismal single-apartment dwellings in our great cities! The sea air, laden with ozone and scented with the hawthorn blossom, was blowing about us; and we looked out on the bright sunshine above and the blue ethereal sky, against which, like specks in the distance, the larks were carolling in ecstasy. It made one feel the loss sustained by the thousands of rustic poor who have been driven from the sights and sounds of the country to live—nay, rather to die—in the fetid atmosphere of the wynds and alleys of our great towns. Happy the children who spend their youthful days in the country! 'We're Yorkshire folk, sir,' said my hostess. 'My husband, at least, is Yorky, or "Yorkshire bite," as they call 'em there; but I belong down Kent way myself. This is all our family, sir, and this little chit is not our child. She's "nobody's child," as the song goes.'

"The little waif, who, before reaching this haven had been tossed about from pillar to post, was gentle, most innocent looking, and affectionate, reminding one of little Eva in Uncle Tom's Cabin. The other girl was a tough, wiry, forward child. Before taking my departure I asked the mother to let the little girls come up to the glen to have tea with my own children on the following Sunday. When the clock pointed to the hour of three, I looked out of the attic window and saw my two little friends tripping down the steps of their movable home, and then hurrying across the lea. They were dressed in their Sunday attire, and the mother stood at the door of the caravan watching them with a smiling face. They spent a happy afternoon, and in the evening we had to say 'goodbye,' as on the morrow at daybreak their moving home would be again on its way to some other place, and we would in all likelihood never see them again. I often wonder what has been the lot of the little castaway of whom we had that passing glimpse, and whose image we can still so vividly recall."

AMUSEMENTS IN GLASGOW.

THEATRE ROYAL, LTD.—Managing-Director, Mr. F. W. Wyndham; Acting-Manager, Mr. Percy Humphrys.—After the summer vacation this house reopened on Monday with Mr. Edmund Tearle's company in Jeanie Deans. Miss Kate Clinton appeared in the title-rôle, and gave a very touching portrayal of Scott's heroine; the Effie Deans of the cast was Miss Mary Campbell, who played with much tenderness and feeling. Mr. Tearle was seen as counsel for the defence, in which part he delivered his address with telling effect; David Deans was a striking characteristic figure as represented by Mr. J. Cook Hinton, and the broad humour of Mr. J. T. Macmillan's Dumbiedykes was thoroughly appreciated. Madge Wildfire and Margery Murdockson were depicted with weird realism by Miss Esther Tearle and Miss Clare Armitage; Miss Ethel Storey pictured the airs and graces of Queen Caroline admirably; Mr. Ernest Lodge gave dignity to the part of the Duke of Argyll; as Reuben Butler, Mr. Sidney Bland acted with good taste; the Geordie Robertson of Mr. Bernhardt Turner was a spirited conception; and other well-filled parts were the Sharpittaw of Mr. J. A. Keogh and the Ratcliffe of Mr. A. W. Wynne. Friday evening was set apart for the benefit of Miss Kate Clinton, when The Three Musketeers was performed.

ROYALTY, LTD.—Managing-Director, Mr. F. W. Wyndham; Acting-Manager, Mr. William M. Downie.—A Trip to the Highlands, now in its second week, continues to draw excellent houses here. Mr. Frank Barclay is a clever representative of the Hon. Frederick Lackington; his acting and singing are attractive features of the performance.

KING'S, LTD.—Managing-Director, Mr. F. W. Wyndham; Business-Manager, Mr. H. McFarlane.—Mr. Arthur Hardy's company, in Beauty and the Barge, had an enthusiastic reception here on Monday from a well-filled house. Mr. Blake Adams as Captain James Barley gave a very humorous interpretation of the love-sick skipper, and was warmly applauded at the end of each act. Miss May Fairclough, as Ethel Smedley, was thoroughly suited to the part, and acted in a charming manner; Miss Mary Pemberton was equally successful as Lucy Dallas; Mr. Edward Coventry as Lieutenant Seton Boyne, R.A., played with much spirit, and greatly helped the success of the performance. The remaining characters were in good hands; Mr. Aubrey Mallalieu as Herbert Manners; Mr. Fred Knight as Tom Codd; Mr. Thomas Pauncefort as Augustus; Mr. Ewart Drake as George Porter; and the Mrs. Porter of Mrs. J. W. Braithwaite being worthy of special mention.

GRAND, LTD.—Managing-Director, Mr. R. C. Buchanan; Acting-Manager, Mr. A. Mascard.—This popular theatre reopened on Saturday after the summer vacation, the attraction being a new drama by Edward Marris, entitled As Midnight Chimes. The company is under the direction of Mr. Leonard Dalrymple, the comedy part of Tat Spavin being well played by Mr. Witty Wattie Walton, who had a hearty welcome on his first entrance. The humour he infused into his reading was very enjoyable. With Miss Madge Beresford as Suzette, the French maid, the fun was never allowed to flag. Mr. John Raymond made a handsome and earnest Dave Stannard; and Mary was played with fine effect by Miss Lallie Forsyth. Mr. Eric Hudson acted with much force as Luke Dezzard, and had a strong scene in the Church vaults. Mr. Herbert Belmore made a striking figure of the old sailor Ezra Gamble. Miss Dorothy Lupone did well as Little Davy; and the part of the Hindu girl Zamora was ably undertaken by Miss May Harte. Mr. Percy Maitland made an excellent appearance as Nat Wilson. Mr. Reginald Egmont helped the humorous scenes as Dodgy Ike; Mr. H. Simpson as Limpy Mudge; Mr. Stanley Hirst as a drayman; Mr. Robert Hope as P.C. Tibbot; Mr. John Swire as the Chief Constable; Mr. Lionel Stocken as a warder; and Mr. Arthur J. Sanders as Detective Pollard completed a really able cast. The play was mounted and dressed with much care.

ROYAL PRINCESS'S.—Proprietor, Mr. Richard Waldon; Acting-Manager, Mr. Hugh Murdoch.—This theatre reopened for the autumn season on Monday with Miss Grace Warner and company in The Scarlet Clue. During the vacation the theatre has been entirely redecorated in handsome style, giving it a bright and attractive appearance; and, in addition, the pit patrons have been specially well looked after. This portion of the house has been entirely reseated with newly-cushioned seats, and the rake of the floor has been increased so that those occupying the back seats have now a greatly improved view of the stage. Miss Grace Warner had a hearty welcome on Monday, and her performance as Sal Scarlet was followed with keen interest by the large audience. The part is one that calls for a variety in its many phases, but Miss Warner was easily able to meet its utmost requirements. Mr. George Gordon was well placed as Michael Stanton, acting with decisive force. Mr. L. Brien as Stanton's humble partner in crime, ably assisted. Mr. R. Brown cleverly played the twin brothers, Jack and Harry Esmond. Miss Hilda Herne acted sympathetically as Elsie Dane. Three well-played types of low life were the Mother Scrooge of Miss Kathleen Cranston, the Cocky Evans of Mr. Edgar Bruce, and the Billy of Mr. J. L. Leigh, the latter also giving several smart songs and dances. Little Violet Palfrey was excellent as the flower girl Polly; and a smart young Eton boy was well acted by Miss Phyllis Massey. Miss Maud Stamer as Miss Esmond, Miss Esther Dean as a lively French servant, and Mr. Jack Clarence as Sir Desmond Lisle completed a good cast. The play was specially well staged.

METROPOLE, LTD.—Managing-Director, Mr. Arthur Jefferson; Acting-Manager, Mr. W. Gillespy.—Mr. P. Howard Sturgess's company is appearing here in A Queen of Villainy, Miss Edith Blande powerfully sustaining the title-part. Mr. Edward Heanly as Stephen Faucit enacts the villain so well that he receives an extra "boo" of execration; Mr. P. Howard Sturgess as Timothy Kodac supplies some excellent comedy, ably supported by Miss Jessie Crammonde as Molly Maggs. Mr. Alfred E. Calver as Alec is a manly hero; and Miss Cecilia Desmond as Rose Delmayne is a pleasing heroine. Mr. Owen Harris as an escaped convict portrays the character strongly; Mr. Arthur E. Maskell as Reuben Hawk acts well; and Miss Amy Ross Clyde as Mrs. Hawk is equally realistic. Mr. Gordon Carnegie as Sir John Desborough, Mr. Lawrence Stephenson as Kit, and Mr. Walter Spearman as Matthew Dawes do ample justice to their parts.

EMPIRE.—Proprietors, Moss' Empires, Ltd; District-Manager, Mr. S. Gething; Resident-Manager, Mr. Chas. Mussett.—The company here this week is of exceptional merit, the chief attraction being the engagement of Fred Karno's company in Moses and Sons. From beginning to end, the piece is followed with intense interest, and great credit is due to Mr. Fred Kitchen, in the character of Perkins, for the manner in which he keeps the fun going. The Three Olympiers provide an artistic entertainment, entitled Beauty in Bronze, which was well received; and the efforts of Miss Nellie Coleman meet with deserved recognition. The other members of the company are Die Obersteirers, Tyrolean troupe of singers; the Seddons, expert jugglers; and the American Bioscope with new films.

ZOO HIPPODROME.—Proprietors, Moss' Empires, Ltd., and E. H. Bostock; Resident-Manager, E. H. Bostock.—Fun runs riot while Bob Hutt and company are on the stage here in their Welcome Home sketch—one of the best seen for some time. The company is a talented one, and the piece goes with a rare swing. Andy Fagan sings and dances so well that he has several recalls, a compliment also paid to Jack Lane, rustic comedian and mimic, who is very popular. Marie Reeves sings most pleasingly, and justifies her place on the programme; the Clarkes, finished banjo players, have to add extra items nightly; and Selbo is a masterly club juggler. Brown and Robinson charm in a series of popular songs, scored for tenor and baritone as duets, and the latter is a fine organist. The Remingtons, evening-dress acrobats, give a brilliant display; the Imperial Russian troupe supply an entertainment of surpassing excellence; and the bioscope is as fine as ever.

PAVILION, LTD.—General-Manager, Mr. Samuel Lloyd.—Minnie Hunt and Rhys Thomas provide the star turn this week, and again give their amusing duologue Her Birthday. Daisy Mayer as a representative Yankee girl dances and sings with genuine American vigour; Maggie Rimmer is a sweet singer and smart dancer; Mme. Collard, with her highly-trained dogs, gives a wonderfully clever performance; Charlie Craston is a very amusing comedian; the Bros. Bright perform their gymnastic feats gracefully; Frank Cass sings "Vanity Fair" and other songs in a telling manner; Voldam Bros. do their acrobatic feats in comically-leisurely fashion; and the Hugo troupe of gymnasts give a performance full of statuesque elegance; the Brontes do good work in comedy duologue; and a capable orchestra accompanies the entertainment.

COLISEUM.—Proprietors, Moss' Empires, Ltd; District-Manager, Mr. Sam Gething; Resident-Manager, Mr. B. G. Maclachlan.—An exceptionally strong company is here this week. Neil Kenyon keeps his audience in a constant state of laughter, and from start to finish his performance is most successful. My Gollywog is a pretty scena presented by Will Bishop and company, in which he introduces a most amusing eccentric dance; the Allisons are a funny couple, and keep the audience in good humour; De Gracia's elephants go through some marvellous tricks; the turn is not without humour, the huge animals' cricket playing being heartily enjoyed. The William Lee and Helen Bentley company in a lively sketch, entitled The Member for Muddlesex, supply one of the most amusing items of the programme. Other good turns are presented by the Esdale Bros, comedians; Shirley and Ransom, in a coster-sketch, entitled 'Arf a Quid; the Norman-Leonard Trio, in a pleasing musical scena; and R. T. Meikle, Scotch baritone vocalist.

PALACE.—Sole Proprietor and Manager, Mr. Rich. Waldon; Acting-Manager, Mr. Harry McKelvie.—A good company is appearing here this week. Chas. Coborn, comedian, was well received on the opening night. There is no lessening of his popularity. Another meritorious turn is that provided by Chas. Majilton and company in the comical musical episode The Scotchman in Paris. All the parts are in good hands, and the sketch is full of humour. Gus Harris, Hebrew delineator, has made a marked impression; and Gustave Farola, the Indian fakir, gives a performance that delights the audience. Other members of the company are Ted Cowan, comedian; Wallau, an expert juggler; Tony Iveson, pianist and vocalist; Du Gros Trio, gymnasts; and Emil Amiel, contortionist. The bioscope shows a splendid series of pictures.

QUEEN'S.—Lessee, Mr. B. M. Armstrong; Acting-Manager, Mr. Harry Bowerman.—Still another hall reopened on Monday, and with a very good programme. Madge Grey is a dainty comedienne, whose dialect songs and imitations of children are much enjoyed; Horace Wheatley is a great favourite in song, dance, or patter; Curtis and Vanity are a clever couple, the lady's dancing and acrobatic feats being really marvellous; the Transfields do a smart musical turn; Peggy Lotus is a juvenile vocalist of promise; Jack Rae supplies a clever and amusing comedy acrobatic turn; Cassie de Frece sings some Scotch songs effectively; a very smart comedy act is done by Indiarubber Reco, entitled How to Become an Acrobat; and the bioscope has a fine selection of new films.

THE LATE FRANK WEEKS.

TO THE EDITOR OF THE ERA.

SIR,—With a certain amount of pride, mingled with the deepest regret, I noticed in your excellent article on the above gentleman's death, that you had referred to his production of my "Miniature Operas." Believe me, none deplores this sad loss more than I do. It was on February 9, 1903, that we produced Maritana, and after the second performance I met Mr. Weeks and began by trying to explain how sorry I was that in the first house the gallery boys were so noisy. He put his hands on my shoulders, looked me straight in the eyes, and said: "They've got to have it. We want it for our stalls, and the Kaffirs (meaning the gallery boys) will have to have it. You will most likely stay here a month, anyway; what will you play next week?" I replied "the Bohemian Girl, and thank you very much." He little knew what those words meant to me, for one of my dreams was going to be realised. I had tried for years to get the ear of a manager, but failed. Before the end of the week, when our number went up, you would hear the boys, in half-whispers, say, "Opera! Opera! Shut up! Turn him out!" Up would go "the governor," and after the show he would relate with beaming face how he had turned a whole row of "Kaffirs" out because they did not keep the noisy one quiet. To show the perceptive judgment of this manager, I don't think there is a hall in the United Kingdom to-day without its operatic selection of some kind or other. Previously to our "bold attempt" it was quite a rarity.—Yours faithfully, CHAS. FISHER.
Empire, Birmingham.

THE CRYSTAL PALACE.

Bountiful entertainment for the Bank Holiday was provided at the Crystal Palace, which this year enjoyed its customary generous patronage, crowds of enthusiastic amusement-seekers overwhelming the palatial interior and thronging every part of the spacious grounds, which are now to be seen at their very best. The café-chantants on the North Tower Gardens terrace, directed by Mr. J. Bannister Howard, were liberally patronised, contributions to the programme being made by the Stavordale Quintet, George Angus Roe, Lucy Coventry, and Captain Carl Howlett's marionettes. Mr. Charles Bertram's conjuring entertainments in the theatre drew appreciative audiences, whom he succeeded completely in mystifying. Mr. Walter W. Hedgcock's organ recital was greatly admired, and music was also discoursed by the bands of H.M.'s Coldstream Guards, the 2nd Seaforth Highlanders, the Crystal Palace Military, the 4th V.B. East Surrey Regiment, the Upper Norwood Prize, and the Crystal Palace Quadrille. A balloon ascent was made by Mr. Spencer during the day, and in the evening a magnificent firework display was given by Messrs. C. T. Brock and Co.

THE "FRED LOCKE" FUND.

The following additional subscriptions have been received by Mr. J. G. Crichton, 9, Bridge-street, Glasgow. The fund is increasing slowly, and the treasurer would be pleased to hear from any professional friends who have collection sheets in hand for above:—

PAUL CINQUEVALLI ON TOUR.

A FEW OPINIONS OF THE PRESS.

ACCORDED A DEMONSTRATION.

Rarely does it fall to the experience of any artist to have such a demonstration as that accorded Cinquevalli on his initial visit to the Three Towns. Many an M.P. would have been delighted with the reception; but then M.P.'s are, after all, only ordinary mortals, and Cinquevalli is not. —Bristol Independent, March, 1906.

HIS WONDERFUL PERFORMANCE.

It is a considerable time since there was such enthusiasm shown at the Palace, as was the case last night. Cinquevalli was the particular artist that aroused the audiences to such a high pitch of enthusiasm. They clapped and cheered his wonderful performance.—Sunderland Daily Post, April, 1906.

A TRULY REMARKABLE PERFORMANCE.

Starring the bill is Paul Cinquevalli, the world-renowned juggler. His performance last night was truly remarkable, and he carried the audience the whole time he was on the boards. Jugglery he has developed into a fine art.—Plymouth Morning News, March, 1906.

HE IS INCOMPARABLE.

The principal star is Cinquevalli, the renowned juggler and balancer. Cinquevalli is incomparable in his profession. His performance is a wonderful one.—Bury Times, March, 1906.

HIS UNIQUE ENTERTAINMENT.

P. Cinquevalli, whose wonderful powers as a juggler have won him fame in every quarter of the globe, is this week delighting the frequenters of the Hippodrome with his unique entertainment. All nations in recent years have paid him homage, and no one who has had the good-fortune to witness his feats can marvel at the circumstance. They are as varied as they are amazing.—Carlisle News, April, 1906.

BRILLIANT AND PERFECT.

Hippodrome.—There is only one Cinquevalli, and he is as brilliant and as perfect and as graceful as ever.—The Era, June, 1906.

HAS MANY IMITATORS.

There is but one Paul Cinquevalli, although he has many imitators, both male and female, and his appearance at the Empire makes the show worth seeing, if there were nothing else in the programme.—Birmingham Owl, June, 1906.

A SHOW IN HIMSELF.

Cinquevalli is the principal attraction at the Empire this week, and the great juggler is admittedly a show in himself. Paul has no superior to-day, and it is safe to say he is likely to possess his title of champion of all jugglers until such a time as he retires from the boards. — Bradford Catholic Herald, June, 1906.

A PRINCE AMONGST PERFORMERS.

Cinquevalli is a prince amongst performers. His work is so clever and so artistically done that it is not surprising that his popularity shows no signs of decay.—Sheffield Telegraph, July, 1906.

HIS EXTRAORDINARY SKILL.

The crowded audience watched Cinquevalli with admiration for his extraordinary skill, his ease, and his natural artistic grace.—Hull Daily Mail, July, 1906.

INIMITABLE.

Cinquevalli heads a grand bill at the Empire. He presents an inimitable programme. Like most real artists, he dispenses with the usual paraphernalia of the "black art," if magic can be said to enter into his performance.—Newcastle Daily Chronicle, July, 1906.

HEADING THE BILL.

Heading the bill was Cinquevalli, who, as a juggler, stands out by himself.—Scotsman, July, 1906.

THE MARVELLOUS CINQUEVALLI.

Paul Cinquevalli fully sustained his reputation in a number of feats, several of which bordered on the marvellous. He demonstrated afresh that as a juggler he has no peer.—Glasgow Herald, July, 1906.

CHAT WITH MISS ADA COLLEY.

(BY OUR OWN COMMISSIONER.)

There is scarcely a corner of the world where the name and the identity of the "Australian nightingale" are not known. Miss Ada Colley can claim to have had a really remarkable career for a young artist. The wonderful range and quality of her voice are products of Australia's clear atmosphere and of musical inheritance. Her mother, who accompanies her wherever she goes, was her sole tutor. When only ten years of age, Miss Colley developed a rich contralto singing voice, which her mother carefully fostered.

Miss Colley started her professional career at the age of thirteen by playing Marguerite in Faust, immediately afterwards appearing in Les Cloches de Corneville. Some six or seven years ago she came to England, and immediately scored a vocal triumph. Everyone who recalls her first appearance will recollect the slender, graceful girl, with the winning face, and the cluster of sunset hair, and how, without effort or affectation, she sang, holding her audience in a thrill of expectation, until the most difficult measures of her songs were reached, thus proving to them that her heralded powers were no vain boast. On that occasion, as on many occasions since, the words flowed from her vocal organs in bell-like tones, delightfully sweet, and even in the highest registers without effort or exertion.

Miss Colley is as charming and engaging in private life as she is on the stage. As a conversationalist she is extremely interesting, and her opinions on stage matters are worth listening to. For instance, she has a complaint to make in regard to the treatment of young and unknown vocalists.

"It seems to me," she remarks, "that the younger generation of singers are kept down, and they do not get a chance unless they are prepared to wait until they are forty. I have found plenty of really clever people in the chorus. It is not want of appreciation on the part of the public that keeps them there, nor is it want of appreciation of those who give concerts and operas. They have known Miss Smith or Miss Brown since she was a little child, and she accordingly is pushed forward, while Miss Jones, who is far superior, but not so well known, does not get a chance. In the opera companies I have played in myself I have seen a little girl in the chorus who was infinitely better than my second lady. And I maintain that to be a good operatic singer you do not require to be a first-rate actress; in fact, it is rarely that one comes across a 'star' actress who is also a 'star' vocalist."

"Perhaps they do these things better on the Continent, Miss Colley?"

"Yes; and that brings me to a subject about which I have a little to say. Why should it be necessary to import so many foreign singers and artists to England? Now, the English people have got good voices. Why should they be put aside for people with a long name and 'ski' at the end of it? Folks go to the opera and hear Italian, and because it is Italian it must be fine, whether it is understood or not. And now let me make a suggestion. I think that the most insignificant vocalist taking a small part in an opera should be allowed the opportunity of studying the principal part. If such a principle were acted upon, you would discover plenty of good English singers, and there would, perhaps, be less justification for going to the Continent for talent."

"My next move do you ask?" resumes the interviewee, in reply to a question. "Well, I am thinking of getting up an operetta and producing it myself. I have my own ideas as to the way it should be done, and as to the story I wish to convey. Of course, I am aware that it is very difficult to condense story and opera into half an hour."

"Perhaps you will not find it always possible to present your operetta in the music halls?"

"Such a possibility has not escaped my calculations, and if I cannot get what I want in the halls and other places I shall go into the theatres."

"Won't you give me some indication of what it will be like?"

"I don't wish to say too much at present, but I can assure you that the operetta I contemplate producing will be chic, and bright and pretty, and artistic and funny. There! What more could you want?"

Miss Colley, who commenced her professional career as a prima donna, has had a remarkably busy life, the principal events of which are known to our readers and the public. She tells us that her favourite opera is Lucia di Lammermoor, as in that piece she is afforded fine scope for her acting and her good, vigorous voice.

Unquestionably Miss Colley's appearance on the variety stage tends to elevate the artistic standard of "the halls."

ALEXANDRA PALACE.

What reminiscences of bygone times are recalled of the historic hill upon the summit of which the Alexandra Palace stands. George Colman the elder, when a lad of fourteen, visited his uncle, William Pulteney, Earl of Bath, who owned the property, and there had met the Earl's friends, the famous David Garrick and Richardson, the novelist, who connected his heroine, Clarissa Harlowe, with Muswell Hill. Dr. Johnson in 1775 travelled there to view the sixteen acres of grounds his friend Topham Beauclerk had laid out in "The Grove," now part of the Palace property. On Monday last there were amusements enough and to spare. Three variety shows were given in the Central Hall. Amongst the artists may be mentioned Devere and Walker, excellent pantomimists and comedians; performances on the triple bar by Desmonti and Mora received marked attention; exceedingly clever manipulations were given by Cinizelli, the silent jester; the vocalisation by Miss Kate Rooney was meritorious and pleasing; Zarinella, an equilibrist and contortionist, excited wonderment; a troupe of dancers, the Merry Maids, in national costumes, deserved the applause they received; and the two flying gymnasts, the Argentine Wonders, met with a flattering reception. A parachute descent and balloon ascent were successfully accomplished by a protégée of M. August Gaudron, the Alexandra Palace aeronaut.

In the theatre Fred Karno's company is appearing this week in the popular musical comedy, Saturday to Monday. Miss Amy Rogerson was a piquant representative of the bride Clorinda; Miss Daisy Stone deserves favourable recognition as Violet Blake; Miss Ada Maskell distinguished herself as Aunt Skinner; Mr. W. J. Bradbury was well adapted to the rôle of Clorinda's father; Mr. Dick Harcourt as Major Potts gave a capital rendition of the part; Mr. Sidney Marle played the lover, Tom Freeman, with excellent judgment; Mr. James Fletch may also be commended as Spinks; Mr. H. Crawford played and sang well as John Willie Jaggs, jun.; and as John Willie Jaggs, Mr. Rolando Martin was the life and soul of the piece. The other numerous characters were in well-chosen hands. The Geisha Boys deserve praise for their venture in the grounds. A very fine firework display, with entertainments on the lake enclosure, including the attractive fire-piece, "Mount Vesuvius"—one of Pain's best efforts—concluded a very enjoyable day's amusement.

THE Two Sparks, instrumentalists, who were such a pronounced success with Mr. Stanley Rogers's pantomime company last season, have been re-engaged for the forthcoming Christmas production.

PROVINCIAL THEATRICALS.

STOCKTON-ON-TEES. — HIPPODROME.—Proprietors, Messrs. Geo. and Robt. A. Nicholson; Manager, Mr. Wm. Ainsworth.—Chung Ling heads the bill here, and thoroughly mystifies his audience by his clever tricks; Gallando, lightning sculptor, takes well; Helen Charles is very good, her entertainment being a distinct success; the Dean Brothers are wonderful dancers, and earn ample applause; and other good turns are supplied by the Toreadors, Gus Hindell, Lillian Trevelli, Hector and Sultan, Sam Dalton, and the Jagos.

STOKE.—HIPPODROME.—Proprietor, Mr. T. Allan Edwardes; Manager, Mr. H. Miller.—The Hippodrome reopened on Monday after a thorough cleansing and redecorating, and now presents an elegant appearance. A good bill is presented, and on Monday a packed house greeted Electra's Bower, which is a really beautiful spectacle. The Jackley Trio contribute a smart and clever turn; Sam Redfern is most successful in his items; Geo. Helm and Emmie Cozens in their sketch, The Doctor and the Patient, are much appreciated; Tom Dunmore is a comedian of merit; Vincent is a tumbler of excellence; the Sisters Edwardes are smart vocalists, dancers, and drummers; Violet Morgan is a clever mimic; and the Bioscope shows some good pictures.

STOURBRIDGE.—ALHAMBRA THEATRE.—Manageress, Miss Maude Lynton.—For the opening night of the season we were favoured with a production of the drama, £1000 Reward. The company is under the direction of Messrs. Frank J. Pitt and Charles Halling. Mr. Charles Halling has won high praise for his portrayal of Vincent Ravensworth; Mr. Frank Pitt as Fred Ingleford has to sustain a heavy rôle, but his acting adds in no small measure to the success of the drama; Mr. John Murray as Inspector Gilbert proves a most entertaining artiste; while Mr. Edward de Vere as Fighting Jeffs contributes plenty of fun. Miss Lynn Darlington, in addition to a creditable embodiment as Meg, receives a well deserved encore for her song, "Eileen Alannah. Miss Cissie Francis as Kitty Springthorpe and Miss Daisy Halling as Mme. Sanson are winsome actresses, and add much to the enjoyment of the performance.

SWINDON.—QUEEN'S THEATRE.—Proprietor and Responsible Manager, Mr. Alfred Manners.—After five weeks' vacation this popular playhouse was reopened on Monday, and long before the raising of the curtain was densely crowded with a typical Bank Holiday audience. The opening attraction is that powerful play, Under Two Flags, ably presented by Mr. Mark Blow and Miss Ida Molesworth's company. The chief interest is centred in Mr. Mark Blow, who submits a powerful and effective portrayal of the part of Bertie Cecil Royellieu, and Miss Mary Thorne, who stands out prominently with her delightful and clever performance as Cigarette. Mr. L. West deserves special praise for his representation of Barkie Cecil, and Mr. Wellesley Draper should be commended on his work as Lord Rockingham. Mr. George Elliston is capitally suited to the part of Rake, and Mr. Arthur Elwyn is excellent as Colonel Chantrey. Miss M. Ormonde is charming and graceful as Princess Corona.

TON-Y-PANDY.—THEATRE ROYAL.—Lessees, Messrs. Carlton and Duckworth; General-Manager, Mr. Sam Duckworth; Acting-Manager, Mr. Ridgwood Barrie.—The boards are occupied here this week by Mr. Harold Regner's company in The Prince of Rogues. Mr. Henry B. Lewis is excellent in the part of Gilbert Henry, the detective; the villainy of Geoffrey Flint is well portrayed by Mr. Cland Haviland; Mr. John Darville wins favour as Frank Farrel; Mr. Gordon Phillott does well as Dick Harwood; and Mr. Ed. Laudor is very amusing as Josh Buggins. Miss Gertrude Littlewood does justice to the part of Rita Congreve, and Miss Gertrude Gilbert wins admiration as Winnie Harwood.

TORQUAY.—PRINCESS PIER CONCERT HALL.—Proprietors, the Torquay Town Council; Manager, Mr. A. T. Tremlett.—Mr. Walter Curtis's Merriment Company is providing good entertainment here; Miss Lilian Payne is a vocalist and pianist of talent, and meets with great applause; Miss Joan Deering has a sweet soprano voice, and renders violin selections in highly-finished style; Mr. Walter Curtis is as popular as ever in his humorous and character sketches, and is a great favourite; Miss Barbara Babington sings in a manner worthy of commendation; and Mr. Fenton Cross is applauded for his paper manipulation and lightning landscape drawings.

TYNEMOUTH.—PALACE AND WINTER GARDENS.—Proprietor, Mr. J. H. Graham; Manager, Mr. Lindon Travers.—The Band and Pipers of the 1st Battalion of the Gordon Highlanders head the bill here this week, and please with their various well-rendered selections; they also give some excellent exhibitions of Highland dancing. Stanleys' Giant Fairy Fountain remains; Zanfretti and Napio, the "Knifegrinders of Paris," are amusing in a clever musical entertainment; Bert Woodward is a trick cyclist of considerable ability; Chas. King, entertainer, causes much mirth; the Bioscope, with up-to-date pictures, is as popular as ever; and the Casino Orchestra is under the expert bâton of Mr. Henry Sprake.

WAKEFIELD.—ROYAL OPERA HOUSE.—Proprietors, Sherwood and Co.—Miss Ida Molesworth and Mr. Mark Blow's company is here in A Sailor's Sweetheart. Mr. Ernest G. Batley gives a fine, manly rendering of Lieutenant Clive; Mr. Arthur Rodney is capable as Philip Pemberton; Mr. Charles Stafford does justice to the rôle of Admiral Sefton; Mr. Arthur Escourt proves effective as Captain Mayland; Mr. George Vincent ably sustains the character of the Rev. Robert Clive; Mr. Arthur Wellesley is well placed as Tim Kelly; and Mr. Willie Osborne is satisfactory as Pinkson; Miss Mabel Mannering submits a pleasing portrayal of Grace Mayland; and Miss Ida Ernest merits favour as Phœbe Penbury.

HIPPODROME.—Lessee, Mr. Alfred Selwyn; Manager, Mr. Henry Lucas.—Dr. Carl Hermann, electrical and scientific hypnotist, effected some wonderful cures last week, and remains for this week, with equal success. Miss Fanny Robina, comedienne, is very popular; Bond and Soo present a clever illusion; Mr. Geo. Gulliver is a talented ventriloquist; Miss Florry Cooper, vocalist, sings in good style; Demi and Semi, instrumentalists, and Billy Bint, comedian, present acceptable turns.

WALSALL.—HER MAJESTY'S THEATRE OF VARIETIES.—General-Manager and Secretary, Mr. W. H. Westwood.—Here this week are the Griffiths Bros., humorists, in The Motor Car and The Duel; Goltz Trio, equilibrists on globes; Billy Tucker, ball puncher; the Lenton Family, foot equilibrists; Alice Williams and Monkhouse, in a duologue, Misery Jim; Tatten Hall, in his funny songs; and Pat Rafferty, who is exceedingly popular.

GRAND THEATRE.—General-Manager and Secretary, Mr. W. H. Westwood.—A Soldier of France is being played here by Messrs. Travis Green and Arthur Hinton's company. Miss Leila Zillwood is clever and versatile as Pauline and the Duchesse; and Mr. Arthur Hinton excels himself as Father Jean. Also included in the company are Mr. Travis Green, Mr. Frank Brunnell, Mr. Gerald Bryne, Mr. Lingham, Mr. William Beck, Mr. Henry Millow, Mr. C. P. Blake, Mr. A. Dumont, Miss Oliver, Miss Lydia Audre, Miss Phœbe Watson, and Miss Florrie Zillwood.

WARRINGTON.—ROYAL COURT.—Proprietors, Messrs. W. Johnson and J. Potter; General-Manager, Mr. J. Potter; Acting-Manager, Mr. Fred J. Reece.—Messrs. H. Armitage and Arthur Leigh's company is here again in Lucky Durham. A crowded house welcomed the play on Monday evening, and the members certainly maintain the high standard of excellence which characterised their efforts when last seen here. Mr. Edmund Kennedy again acts the title-rôle with clever restraint.

ROYAL THEATRE OF VARIETIES.—Proprietors, Messrs. W. Johnson and J. Potter; General-Manager, Mr J. Potter; Director of Amusements, Mr. Fred Willmott.—A refined entertainment is provided here this week by Stewart and Morgan, whose delightful rendering of Irish ballads form a rare attraction; Charles Serra is seen to advantage in a unique gymnastic act; and Rose Waller is a dainty comedienne. G. W. Foster is an accomplished comedian; and the Society Quartette score in a special turn. The Two St. Johns are expert instrumentalists; and the Royal Bioscope pictures are a choice collection.

WEST BROMWICH. — MOORE'S HIPPODROME AND THEATRE ROYAL.—Proprietor, Mr. J. P. Moore.—On Monday afternoon Mr. J. P. Moore opened this place of amusement under its new name. The twice nightly system has been adopted. The bill was topped by Messrs. Wal Pink and Jeff Vendome's company in The Daybreakers, which was received with great applause, and caused great merriment; a smart turn was given by Mr. Chas. Banks and his dog "Woof"; the Calcotts gave an effective musical act; Mr. Frederick Neiman was responsible for roars of laughter with his dolls; a very droll comedian was seen in Wisper; Mr. Harry Rochez's Circus proved to be a great success, and well deserved the applause given him and his cleverly-trained animals; the Marners and a show of pictures completed the bill.

New Hippodrome.—Managing-Director, Mr. T. M. Sylvester; Acting-Manager, Mr. H. W. Player.—The commodious and up-to-date hippodrome, which has been erected at Carters Green, West Bromwich, was opened on Monday last to crowded houses. The new building, which is centrally situated, is comfortable, roomy, and admirably fitted. The management have arranged a highly-attractive programme for this the first week, the artists including the Sisters Desmond, who gave a smart turn; some clever songs and a dance were contributed by Miss Patty Yole; as a comedian, Mr. Fred Dunston is hard to beat; a good turn was submitted by Menotti; Osso Souplessi gave an expert performance as the boneless wonder; Mlle. Lumiere was well received in her transformation dance; Claud Ginnett's "Rejected Remounts" was a great attraction. Mr. Walter Emerson also contributed, and a fine selection of animated pictures by Mr. W. Rowe's Hippograph was shown.

WEDNESBURY.—Theatre Royal.—Lessee, Mr. Harry Battersby; Manager, Mr. W. J. Cranston.—The holiday attraction here is Mrs. R. A. Cuthbert's company in the domestic play, The Black Bishop. Miss Jeannie Marquise shows undoubted talent as the twin sisters Kate Marleigh and Marian Strathcoat. The part of the Black Bishop is admirably sustained by Mr. Norman Clarke; as Simeon Strathcoat Mr. Alf. Collingham leaves little to be desired; Mr. Arthur Danville as Captain Keilerirt and Mr. Harry Sebastian as Brank Bruttlebut do excellent work in their respective portrayals. Miss Grace Garside makes a charming Hannah Bruttlebut. The rôle of Ruth Oldbury is in the worthy hands of Miss Norah Curonne, and as little Ruth Miss Dolly Collingham proves highly interesting.

WEST HARTLEPOOL.—Grand.—Sole Lessee, Mr. Fred. Granville; Manager, Mr. J. A. Lewis.—This theatre re-opened on Monday after the summer vacation with A Beautiful Criminal, presented by Miss Marie Dagmar and Mr. Fred. C. Somerfield and a well-balanced company. Mr. Somerfield is distinctly prominent in the rôle of Will Maynard, and that of Elinor D'Arville has a realistic representative in Miss Dagmar. Others in the cast who are responsible for the success of the piece are Mr. G. T. Vane, Mr. Wallace Davidson, Miss Mollie Monaghan, Mr. Roy Fortescue, and Mr. Chas. E. Warne.

Palace.—Proprietor, Mr. Frank Macnaghten; Manager, Mr. Julius Simpson.—The holiday attractions here are Florrie Forde, whose songs catch on immensely; Leo Melville is an established favourite about here; the neatness with which Karado's juggling feats are performed is notable; Wat Tyler's scena is effective. Some smart dancing is done by the Great Northern Troupe, and other turns that considerably strengthen the bill are Sam Veld, character musician; Woodward and Walton, a refined dancing duo; and some interesting pictures on Raymond's Bioscope.

WESTON-SUPER-MARE.—Victoria Hall.—Manager, Mr. E. W. Sulley.—Miss May Palfrey's company opened here on Monday in Arthur Laws delightful comedy, Three Blind Mice. It would be impossible to speak too highly of Mr. Frederick Kerr's interpretation of Julian Stuckburgh; Mr. Compton Coutts gives an artistic study of Andrew Lavender; a quaint impersonation, too, is Mr. Frederick Lloyd's Lawson Guest; Mr. Max Leeds does admirable work as Peter Ricketts; and Mr. Duncan Bruce is a praiseworthy footman; Miss May Palfrey looks exceedingly handsome and acts with irresistible charm as Marjorie Lovel; Miss Granville proves herself a thorough artist by her portrayal of Lady Marrable; Miss Mary Barton's Lady Clarisforde is a performance entitled to the highest eulogy; Miss Dorothy Edwards is an excellent Jessop; and Miss Annie Hill is a commendable Miss Tippings; the Mrs. Joliffe of Miss Florence Harwood and the Polly of Miss Sheba Brozel both merit praise.

Grand Pier Pavilion. — The Drolls attracted a large audience here on Monday, when their efforts were much appreciated. Miss Esee Prenton was loudly encored for her artistic rendering of her coon song, "Can't you see I'm lonely?"; Miss D. Carr's fine voice was heard to advantage in "If I built a world for you"; Miss Phyllis Beadon's tersichorean efforts were loudly applauded; Mr. Fordwych was favourably received for his comic songs and "gags"; so, too, was that excellent comedian, Mr. J. T. Macullum; and Miss Marjorie May was an able accompanist. Mr. Frank Len's pictures on the Bioscope were received with much approbation; and Herr Julian Kandt's Austrian Blue Band has become more popular than ever.

Knightstone Pavilion and Opera House.—Manager, Mr. W. Payne.—Mr. Robert Macdonald's San Toy company has this week paid a welcome return visit here. Miss Mora Hersee acts and sings well, and altogether fills the title-rôle with credit; Miss Ethel Twitchen is a delightful Rose Tucker, her pas seul in Act 2 is much appreciated; Miss Florence Cameron is seen to advantage as Yung Shi; and so, too, is Miss Maud Lucy as Dudley; Miss Althea Hyde is a charming Poppy; and Miss Daela Gordon an excellent Ko Fan. Mr. Grahame Herrington shows exceptional talent as Yen How; and Mr. Bert Barton is ludicrously comical as Li; Mr. James E. Leighton is a meritorious Lieutenant Harvey Tucker, Mr. Harry Turner is facetious as Sir Bingo Preston, whose son, Captain Bobby, is ably portrayed by Mr. Victor G. Huntley; Mr. Fred Storrie is an extremely good Emperor; and Mr. Scott Rae's Fo Hop is far above the average; Mr. Edward Christopher does well as Sing Hi. Mr. Henry E. Leigh's The 'Varsity Belle company is here the last three nights of the week.

WEST STANLEY.—Theatre Royal.—Proprietors, The Stanley Theatre Co.; Managing-Director, Mr. Mark H. Lindon.—Mr. John Power's company opened here with the drama, Man's Enemy. Mr. Francis Everard as Harry Stanton portrayed the character in fine emotional style, while the part of General Stanton was in the clever hands of Mr. T. Arthur Ellis. Mr. A. Dean Mead played the pathetic rôle of Fred Lisle in an effective manner. Mr. John Power as Tom Drake, and Miss Marie Lyons as Sarah Drake were received with well merited approval. Mr. Cliffe Locke sustained the part of Count Lanski in dashing style. Mr. G. T. Greig as Ikey Barnet, Mr. C. Porteous as Adolphe, and Miss Clara Reid as Polly caused much laughter.

WHITBY.—The Spa Theatre.—Lessee, Mr. W. Payne Seddon; Manager, Mr. Lindsey Edwards.—On Monday and Tuesday Mr. E. Hoggan-Armadale's company appeared at this theatre in The Vicar of Wakefield and The Bells respectively. The house was well filled upon each occasion. Mr. E. Hoggan-Armadale gave a fine rendering of the Vicar, whilst Mr. Arthur Rose filled the rôle of Squire Thornhill with excellent effect. As Mr. Burchell, Mr. David Beattie acquitted himself very creditably, and Mr. Hartley was successful as Farmer Flamborough. As the Vicar's daughters Miss Georgina Wynter and Miss Violet Macaree gave excellent personations, and Miss Elaine Grant was effective as Patty Flamborough. On Thursday Mr. E. Lockwood's company appeared in Sergeant Brue, and delighted a large audience by a capable rendering of the piece.

WIDNES.—Alexandra Theatre.—Proprietor, Mr. Jas. Keddie.—On Manday evening this popular theatre reopened for the season, a house of holiday proportions assembling. Mr. Frank E. Burdett's company presented The Indian Mutiny, and the drama was received with much warmth. The company are of a high standard of merit, and there is hardly a weak spot in the cast. Mr. Geo. Steel is a handsome and virile Lieutenant Manley; Mr. John Davidson in a "Lord Roberts" make-up does good work as Major Ingleby; Mr. Cecil Morand as Jerry O'Brien provides the humorous interpolations very cleverly; Mr. Villiers Stanley is a thoroughly sound Nebu Singh; Mr. J. S. Shedden plays Abul Khan in impressive fashion; and the Ra Goonga of Mr. Charles Boult was one of the features of the production. Miss F. Melrose Millet is charming as Ghuz Valo, a Brahmin priestess, and evidences high histrionic gifts; Miss Lillie Grey is a humorous Mrs. Major Ingleby; and Miss Agnes Kingston and Miss Dora Moorhouse are also well suited.

WIGAN.—Royal Court Theatre.—Managing-Director, Mr. John Worswick.—Following the vacation this theatre was re-opened on Monday evening with the drama At Cripple Creek, as presented by Miss Ida Molesworth and Mr. Mark Blow's company. Mr. Stanley Bedwell as Joe Mayfield, and Mr. Chas. D. Lester as Martin Mason play strong characters exceedingly well; and Mr. Arthur Bellew and Mr. Arthur Layland interpret their respective rôles very successfully. Miss Daisy Carlton is a fascinating Maggie Mason; and Miss Lily Beagle is a piquant Belle Gordon. The part of Little Tatto is admirably played by Baby Betty; and other pleasing impersonations are given by Miss Norah Dillon and Miss Agnes Verity.

The Hippodrome.—Managing-Director, Mr. John Worswick.—The Waldrons give a droll and most amusing sketch, entitled The Silly Burglar; and the Dorans, comedy gymnasts, are also exceedingly popular. Jack Pleasants, comedian, is frequently recalled; and the Two Errolls, in their comedy acrobatic performance; and the Musham Trio, in a comical sketch, A Day on Hampstead Heath, give capital performances. May Fallowfield, sonbrette; Herr Addison's highly-trained fox terriers; Palles and Cussick, comedians and dancers; and the Herald Comedy Four, comedy gymnasts, complete an excellent bill of fare.

WOLVERHAMPTON.—Grand Theatre.—Lessees and Managers, Mr. E. H. Bull and Mr. Milton Bode; Acting-Manager, Mr. Percy Percival.—After being closed for the summer months this house was reopened on Bank Holiday, when Mr. Baron H. Harriss presented The Prince of Pilsen. The production is admirably staged, and the scenic effects most effective. The part of Hans Wagner is essayed by Mr. Harry Kilburn, whose performance is eminently droll and entertaining. Miss Sophie Harriss fills the part of Mrs. Maddison Crocker to the satisfaction of all concerned, her acting and singing being alike good; as Carl Otto, the Prince, Mr. Frank Crimp, who has a capital stage presence, and possesses a good voice, does excellently; Mr. Roy Sydney is a smart and efficient Lieut. Tom Wagner; Mr. Bernard Russell is a capable Arthur de Willoughby; and Mr. E. Gifford is fully equal to the part of Francois. Miss Dorothy Fransdorff is a charming little Nellie Wagner, and sings sweetly; Miss Connie Leon is smart and chic as Sidonie; Miss Florence Beech is satisfactory as Edith Adams; Miss Molly Wynne is a capital Jimmie; and Miss A. De Loriere does full justice to the part of Maize Manhattan.

Empire Palace.—The holiday programme at this house comprises the Scottish Meisters, comedy glee quartette; Jennie Reeve, the Two Carrs, Four Jumels, Three Prestons, Fred Lund, Brothers Ralston, and Walter Munroe.

Hippodrome.—The attractions for the week include George Gilbey, comedian; Spouty, the goalkeeper; Tiny Arnold, lilliputian comedienne; Bromley and Fontein, vocal entertainers; Musical Schafers; Frank Maura; Flo Somers, comedienne and dancer; and Fred Russell, ventriloquist.

WORKINGTON.—Opera House.—Lessee, Mr. Stanley Rogers; Acting-Manager, Mr. Falconer Jackes.—On Monday there was a large and appreciative audience to witness the performance by Messrs. Beaudyn and Livesey's company of A Traitor Prince. The play was artistically staged. Mr. G. M. Montanine was picturesque as Prince Rao; as the hero, Frank Derrick, Mr. James Sherwin was effective; Mr. E. O'Grady as Billy amused his auditors; Mr. E. Fenton was amusing as Bobby; Miss Rose Broomfield was a charming heroine; Miss Nesta Sandford as Vashte played with vigour, and was attractive. The low comedy of Miss Thomas was good, as also that of Miss Clara O'Grady as her mother.

WORTHING.—Theatre Royal.—Manager, Herr C. Adolf Seebold.—Mr. Leigh Lovel and company opened here on Monday with A Midsummer Night's Dream. Mr. James Gelderd is good as Theseus; as is Mr. Edgar Marton as Egeus; Mr. Gilbert Clarke gives a manly delineation of the part of Lysander; Mr. Francis Chamier scores as Demetrius; Mr. Leigh Lovel puts in excellent work as Bottom; Miss Octavia Kenmore is admirable as Helena. The remainng characters are well placed. On Thursday Messrs. E. Lockwood and R. Crosswood's company presented Sergeant Brue.

WREXHAM.—Empire Music Hall.—Proprietor, Mr. J. J. Scott; Manager, Mr. Herbert Nicholls.—This week the following good all round company has appeared here:—La Belle Lily and Albert, gymnasts; Tennis and Laune, comedians; in Chapters from Life; Mr. Dan Conway, comedian; the Two Wambas, in their instrumental comedy act; the Bros. Carelle, American comedians and expert dancers; with the pictures.

YORK.—Royal.—Lessees, Messrs. Waddington; Acting-Manager, Mr. H. S. Dacre.—The Jamaicans are singers of a high order of merit, and their vocal efforts have been heartily appreciated during the week.

Opera House.—Managing-Director, Mr. Wm. Peacock; Acting-Manager, Mr. Sidney Brook.—The esteemed acting-manager has resumed his duties after his recent severe illness. This week Taro Myaki is astonishing all by his undoubted prowess as a wrestler of the first rank; Cruikshanks is a quaintly-amusing musician, who is appreciated; Kisbey once more causes pleasure and amusement in his speciality, The Call Boy; Henry Bekker is a conjurer of more than average merit; the Emilions are versatile acrobats; and Lozelle is a clever gymnast. J. C. Scatter, the Ampholetts, and Adey Spencer are also in the bill.

Miss Margaret Ashton, a great favourite with North Country audiences, who keenly appreciate the captivating style and refinement of her entertainment brings to a conclusion next week at the Palace, Blackpool, a highly successful provincial tour. The charming American cantatrice has a two months' engagement at West End halls, before commencing her continental tour at the end of October.

The Katos resume business on Monday next, after an enjoyable holiday at their seaside residence, Clacton-on-Sea.

The Miles-Stavordale Quintette arrived at Tilbury Docks by the P. and O. s.s. Mongolia on Sunday last from Australia, where they have been fulfilling an engagement under Mr. Harry Rickards. The tour has been the most successful they have yet had. On their way home they gave a grand concert in Colombo, at which the élite, the passengers of the various mail steamers in port, and the officers of the war ships attended. This was in every way a brilliant success, and was the first of many that Mr. Rickards is arranging.

Over 1,000 persons attended the Palace Theatre on Monday evening, a large number being excursionists from various provincial towns.

Mr. H. Chance Newton and Mr. Hermann Finck have collaborated in writing and composing a skit entitled "The Real Little Robinson Crusoe." It was successfully produced at the Tivoli on Saturday afternoon, with Miss Minnie Thurgate as Crusoe.

Mr. James White's gondolas and Geo. White's No. 2 electric pavilion are still at Wick doing good business.

Mr. McIndoe's novelty—the figure-eight electric railway—and other attractions are at Peterhead doing good business.

Geo. White's aggregation of electric novelties, motor-cars, cinematograph, and variety pavilion have opened at Fraserburg Links, and are doing excellent business. On Wednesday the wedding was celebrated of Mr. Chas. O'Neil and Miss Bessie Burnside, both of whom are well known and highly respected on Scottish showgrounds. To commemorate the occasion a concert and dance were given after the last show in the pavilion. Dr. Oliver proposed the health of the bride and bridegroom in a neat speech, which was seconded by Manager Daniels, and drunk by the company with musical honours and great enthusiasm. The company broke up in the early morning hours after a most enjoyable time, three cheers being given for Mr. and Mrs. O'Neil.

"Sanger's Circus" is on Southsea Common doing good business.

"The Era" can be obtained at the principal bookstalls throughout the provinces.

FIFTY YEARS OF THE DRAMA.

Kind expressions from Authors and Managers.

SIR SQUIRE BANCROFT.

"I congratulate you on your 'Fifty Years of the Drama': the list must prove both interesting and useful to lovers of and workers for the stage."

MR. GEORGE EDWARDES.

"I think the new feature of The Era is most interesting and useful. A list of plays produced from 1850 to 1900 will certainly be of great service to a very large number of your readers."

MR. EDWARD TERRY.

"An admirable idea, and will prove a most valuable record."

MR. FRANK CURZON.

"Your list, I think, will be most useful for reference."

MRS. W. K. CLIFFORD.

"I think the list will be immensely useful."

MR. SYDNEY GRUNDY.

"Your list will be exceedingly useful. But, of course, there is no reason why old titles should not be used again. Indeed, some day we shall have to go back to them. Some of our modern titles, when they are not mere proper names with an adjective attached, display the desperation of the dramatist in too ludicrous a light. Such a title as 'The Importance of Being Earnest' amounts to a misdemeanour."

MR. ARTHUR W. PINERO.

"The list of plays produced during the last half-century is a most valuable record. The thanks of those interested in the theatre are due to The Era for this and many other enterprises."

MR. ALFRED SUTRO.

"The list you are compiling will be of very great benefit, and I am looking forward to the time when it shall be complete, and obtainable in pamphlet form."

MR. JUSTIN HUNTLY McCARTHY.

"I have watched with the greatest interest the progress of your alphabetical list of the plays published during the last half of the nineteenth century. It is a most useful undertaking, and when it appears in volume form it must prove of great value to all who are concerned with the drama."

MR. ISRAEL ZANGWILL.

"The list of plays will be very interesting and useful when published in complete form. The etiquette of the profession apparently still allows of novelists' titles being used by playwrights. Thus, The Master, which will appear in your list as a play by somebody else, is the name of a book of mine; while the new play, Noah's Ark, has the same title as a shorter story of mine."

MR. ARTHUR LAW.

"The publication in The Era of a list of plays produced during the fifty years, 1850-1900, is an excellent idea, and will be most useful to authors who may be in doubt as to their right to a certain title. When it is issued in book form I shall be very glad to possess a copy."

MR. ARTHUR BOURCHIER.

"Mr. Arthur Bourchier thinks the list very useful indeed."

MR. TOM GALLON.

"Your idea seems to me to be a most excellent one. Quite apart from the fact that there is always a difficulty in knowing what titles have been used, there very often arises the question of when and where a play was actually produced—a question difficult to be answered. Actors and authors should alike be grateful to The Era."

MR. HAROLD MONTAGUE.

"I think the idea of printing a list of plays produced during the last fifty years an excellent one. It should be of great value to authors."

MR. ARTHUR SHIRLEY.

"The list of produced plays was not merely a happy thought, for the same idea has probably occurred to many, though until The Era carried it out no one took the pains to collect and publish such a truly valuable record.

"Managers, dramatists, as well as would-be authors, will henceforward have a long list of titles to refer to, and there will be neither reason nor excuse for encroaching on pre-existing copyright in play titles. What a lot of trouble it should save us all!"

MR. WALTER MELVILLE.

"I think it shows great enterprise on the part of your journal, and likely to prove most useful and at the same time interesting to the general profession."

MR. ARTHUR MORRISON.

"The list you are publishing will be a most valuable work of reference to everybody taking an interest in the stage, and I have no doubt that when it is published as a book you will find its success warrant you in issuing fresh editions from time to time, with the information brought to date in each case."

MR. J. J. DILLEY.

"The idea is an excellent one, and there can be no question at all of the usefulness of such a summary. Cousin Grace has not been included. This is a little piece from the French, played at a matinée performance at the Gaiety Theatre, Dec. 4, 1884."

MR. COSMO HAMILTON.

"I think that your new feature is an excellent and most useful one. A list of plays produced during fifty years is interesting not only to the playgoer, but essentially so to the manager and the playwright. They will only have to consult it to be sure that a title has not been used before."

MR. CHARLES H. E. BROOKFIELD.

"My attention has been called to your list of plays produced between 1850-1900. I have no doubt it will prove interesting and useful to many."

MR. F. FRANKFORT MOORE.

"The list of plays produced during the past fifty years, now appearing in The Era, will, I am certain, prove, when completed, extremely valuable to everyone associated with the drama in England. I am convinced—and I have had a considerable amount of experience in this direction—that it will be especially valued by all writers upon stage matters. The advantage of being able to refer at a moment's notice to the criticisms upon the production of various plays in various newspapers must be apparent to everyone. If such a list had been in existence some years ago I would have been saved a vast amount of worry and vexation of spirit. The Era has once again proved itself appreciative of the conditions under which the best interests of the drama in England are maintained."

MR. LOUIS N. PARKER.

"I think your list of plays, produced between 1850 and 1900, will, like the other contents of your paper, be invaluable."

RE APPLICATIONS FOR ENGAGEMENTS

All applications by either Artists or their Agents must be made to the Head Office.

Lowest terms must be stated, and distinction made between salaries required for larger and smaller towns.

Vacant dates should be stated. If a list of existing bookings be sent, it will render selection easier.

Artists employing Agents should accredit one only at one time, as the friction arising when several Agents are employed at the same time, all expecting the one booking to go through each of them, often renders it expedient to avoid that booking altogether rather than give undeserved offence to several Agents.

New Acts seeking engagements, or turns not rebooked (possibly because they have played a series of dates without introducing new business), will facilitate matters by having their acts seen by our District Managers. Their Districts and Postal Addresses are as follows :—

MANCHESTER, LIVERPOOL, AND DISTRICT.
MR. ALAN W. YOUNG,
Empire Theatre, Liverpool.

EDINBURGH, GLASGOW, NEWCASTLE, AND DISTRICT.
MR. S. GETHING,
Empire Theatre, Glasgow.

LEEDS, SHEFFIELD, HULL, BRADFORD, AND DISTRICT.
MR. T. GERALD MORTON,

BIRMINGHAM, NOTTINGHAM, LEICESTER, AND DISTRICT.
MR. HATTON WHARTON,
Empire Theatre, Nottingham.

SOUTH WALES DISTRICT.
MR. W. LEA,
Empire Theatre, Cardiff.

LONDON DISTRICT.
MR. WILLIAM COLLINS,
The Empire, Shepherd's Bush, W.

N.B.—Mr. OSWALD STOLL or Mr. FRANK ALLEN can be seen by appointment on all matters arising out of the above, and for the discussion of entirely new Numbers.

All Artists or Agents who communicate with our District Representatives must have made definite applications, in accordance with above directions, to the Head Office, at the same time, or just previously.

THE CHRONOPHONE

Still Leads the Way at Home and Abroad.

The Chronophone Outfits ordered by Mr. Harry Rickards were yesterday shipped to Australia by the s.s. "Ormuz."

Mr. Rickards has acquired exclusive exhibiting rights for the Chronophone in Australia for a certain period, and several magnificent programmes of pictures accompany the outfits shipped.

There is success awaiting the Chronophone in Australia, that's certain.

Some CHRONOPHONE Subjects.

No. 17. EXCELSIOR. Code, Excelsior.
An Eccentric Character Comedy Song by Ernie Mayne.
A great success by this well-known favourite. Beautifully reproduced, with admirable stage-setting.
"Mr. Ernie Mayne's rendering of Balfe's duet 'Excelsior' after the manner of a tenor vocalist and comedian is strikingly amusing, especially when the maiden's plaintive appeal is heard in the chorus of 'Bluebell.'"—The Era.
Length about 215 feet.

No. 1b. THE WHISTLING COON. Code, Coonus.
A Whistling Song by a Coon from the Dark Town Troupe.
Length about 165 feet.

No. 18. THE FIREMAN'S SONG. Code, Austral.
A Stirring Song with a rousing Chorus.
By Mr. Hamilton Hill, the celebrated Australian Baritone.
The scene is in a fire station; and Mr. Hamilton Hill sings his song in character. After the song we have a splendid representation of a fire alarm and subsequent turn out, making a very fine finish.
Length about 195 feet.

No. 12. DREAMY EYES.* Code, Dreamy.
Patter and Song by Mr. R. G. Knowles.
Length about 190 feet.
* This turn by Mr. R. G. Knowles reproduces the world-famed comedian and his inimitable style to the very life.

No. 1113. BLACK BEAUTY.

A gentleman leaves his house for a ride in the country, mounted on his favourite horse. He passes through some very fine scenery. While riding through a lovely wood, he is suddenly attacked by two tramps, who have been lying in wait for him in the undergrowth. The sharpness of the attack overpowers the man. He is dragged from his horse and relieved of all his valuables. The two plunderers leave their victim in a semi-conscious state. The injured man, upon reason gradually returning, calls his companion to him, and with a knowledge of the animal's wonderful powers tells him to return home for aid. Black Beauty, with almost human understanding, races back to the house, and taking the handle in his mouth pulls the bell. His mistress coming outside views with dismay the riderless horse, and quickly mounting allows him to take her to where his master lies. Dismounting, she soon realises her husband cannot possibly be moved without assistance. She takes from his pocket pencil and paper, scribbles a short note, asking for help to be sent immediately, and attaches the note to the steed's saddle. Then talking to the animal, she instructs him where and how to go, and the intelligent creature dashes off. Tearing along he goes to the Police Office, walks into the courtyard, gains an entrance, and the Inspector on duty soon discovers the note. He quickly grasps the situation, and calling a constable explains what is required. A stretcher is obtained, and following in the horse's steps they are soon brought to the scene. Lifting the poor man carefully on to the stretcher they take him home.

Length 475 feet. Price £11 7s. 6d.

"THE PROSPECTORS." A Drama of the Western Goldfields.

No. 1851. Copyright 1906 by the Vitagraph Company of America.

DESCRIPTION.

Two men are seen approaching a miner's shanty; they are in appearance typical Western "bad men." Halting their pack horses they summon the occupant of the shanty, a young prospector who has recently located a rich vein of metal and needs experienced men to work it. He kisses his wife and children and mounting his horse starts out on the quest for wealth.

Under the direction of their young leader the miners are seen toiling in the excavation. Suddenly a shout of triumph and exultation marks the discovery of a rich metal-bearing lode—they have made "a lucky strike." The claim is staked out and they commence mining operations. Already the two confederates are beginning to plot treachery.

After weeks of arduous toil the three miners are just about to break camp and the gold is shared equally among them. They stretch out around the fire and go to sleep, each with a bag of precious gold in his belt. The two conspirators only feign sleep, and robbing their comrade of his gold dust are just making their escape, when their theft is discovered and they mortally wound their victim.

The young prospector regains consciousness and staggering to his horse manages to reach his cottage. An affecting scene follows, and after telling his wife of the treachery of his partners, he breathes his last in her arms. She takes his gun from the holster and swears to be revenged on his murderers.

The two guilty miners are seen gambling in a lonely hut. One of them, a card sharp, as well as robber and murderer, has won all his partner's gold and now offers to play for his "gun." This being agreed the sharper again wins, but is this time detected cheating. A furious "gun fight" follows and the one who lost is killed. His partner goes off with the gold.

Two Years Later - Vengeance.—The prospector's young wife has opened a Western saloon to support herself and children. She rules the roystering cowboys that frequent her place with a rod of iron, and when one refuses to pay he finds a .44-calibre "shooting iron" pointing at his head and is very glad to "cough up."

A tenderfoot visits the saloon and the boys have lots of fun with him. He is glad to escape with his life. The saloon is now empty—a blear-eyed and unkempt looking miner staggers in, and after several drinks falls into a drunken doze. The young woman watches him like a cat watches a mouse; stealthily she draws near, and lifting the broad brim of his hat recognizes the murderer of her husband.

He awakes to find himself held up, and the determined woman tells him his moments are numbered. By a subterfuge he wrests the revolver from her. Just at this moment the little boy enters, and seeing his mother in danger picks up a bottle, and with one blow fells the miner. As he staggers to his feet again and endeavours to pull his gun the young widow shoots him down, thus revenging her husband's death.

It is a Bret Harte novel in moving pictures, breathing the wild spirit and free atmosphere of the Western mining regions.

Photography wonderful, scenery superb, action thrilling. Length 775 feet.

THE LAW OF COPYRIGHT FOR ACTOR AND COMPOSER, BY
ALBERT A. STRONG, LL.B. (Lond.).
Copyright confusion is, like the poor, always with us, and as it seems likely to remain so until at least the crack of doom, it were well for all concerned, or likely to be concerned, to take immediate steps to secure a copy of Mr. Albert A. Strong's new work, entitled "The Law of Copyright." Mr. Strong is already favourably known to the profession for his text-book on "Dramatic and Musical Law," which, like his latest production, is published at "The Era" Office. "The Law of Copyright for Actor and Composer" essays to make clear to the non-legal mind what is—or, in some cases, what probably is—the law as to musical and dramatic copyright. The chapters on the Berne Convention and on the Chase Act passed by the United States Congress last March are full of interest.—Referee.

FIFTY YEARS OF THE DRAMA.

Kind expressions from Authors and Managers.

SIR SQUIRE BANCROFT.
"I congratulate you on your 'Fifty Years of the Drama': the list must prove both interesting and useful to lovers of and workers for the stage."

MR. GEORGE EDWARDES.
"I think the new feature of The Era is most interesting and useful. A list of plays produced from 1850 to 1900 will certainly be of great service to a very large number of your readers."

MR. EDWARD TERRY.
"An admirable idea, and will prove a most valuable record."

MR. FRANK CURZON.
"Your list, I think, will be most useful for reference."

MRS. W. K. CLIFFORD.
"I think the list will be immensely useful."

MR. SYDNEY GRUNDY.
"Your list will be exceedingly useful. But, of course, there is no reason why old titles should not be used again. Indeed, some day we shall have to go back to them. Some of our modern titles, when they are not mere proper names with an adjective attached, display the desperation of the dramatist in too ludicrous a light. Such a title as 'The Importance of Being Earnest' amounts to a misdemeanour."

MR. ARTHUR W. PINERO.
"The list of plays produced during the last half-century is a most valuable record. The thanks of those interested in the theatre are due to The Era for this and many other enterprises."

MR. ALFRED SUTRO.
"The list you are compiling will be of very great benefit, and I am looking forward to the time when it shall be complete, and obtainable in pamphlet form."

MR. JUSTIN HUNTLY McCARTHY.
"I have watched with the greatest interest the progress of your alphabetical list of the plays published during the last half of the nineteenth century. It is a most useful undertaking, and when it appears in volume form it must prove of great value to all who are concerned with the drama."

MR. ISRAEL ZANGWILL.
"The list of plays will be very interesting and useful when published in complete form. The etiquette of the profession apparently still allows of novelists' titles being used by playwrights. Thus, The Master, which will appear in your list as a play by somebody else, is the name of a book of mine; while the new play, Noah's Ark, has the same title as a shorter story of mine."

MR. ARTHUR LAW.
"The publication in The Era of a list of plays produced during the fifty years, 1850-1900, is an excellent idea, and will be most useful to authors who may be in doubt as to their right to a certain title. When it is issued in book form I shall be very glad to possess a copy."

MR. ARTHUR BOURCHIER.
"Mr. Arthur Bourchier thinks the list very useful indeed."

MR. TOM GALLON.
"Your idea seems to me to be a most excellent one. Quite apart from the fact that there is always a difficulty in knowing what titles have been used, there very often arises the question of when and where a play was actually produced—a question difficult to be answered. Actors and authors should alike be grateful to The Era."

MR. HAROLD MONTAGUE.
"I think the idea of printing a list of plays produced during the last fifty years an excellent one. It should be of great value to authors."

MR. ARTHUR SHIRLEY.
"The list of produced plays was not merely a happy thought, for the same idea has probably occurred to many, though until The Era carried it out no one took the pains to collect and publish such a truly valuable record.
"Managers, dramatists, as well as would-be authors, will henceforward have a long list of titles to refer to, and there will be neither reason nor excuse for encroaching on pre-existing copyright in play titles. What a lot of trouble it should save us all!"

MR. WALTER MELVILLE.
"I think it shows great enterprise on the part of your journal, and likely to prove most useful and at the same time interesting to the general profession."

MR. ARTHUR MORRISON.
"The list you are publishing will be a most valuable work of reference to everybody taking an interest in the stage, and I have no doubt that when it is published as a book you will find its success warrant you in issuing fresh editions from time to time, with the information brought to date in each case."

MR. J. J. DILLEY.
"The idea is an excellent one, and there can be no question at all of the usefulness of such a summary. Cousin Grace has not been included. This is a little piece from the French, played at a matinée performance at the Gaiety Theatre, Dec. 4, 1884."

MR. COSMO HAMILTON.
"I think that your new feature is an excellent and most useful one. A list of plays produced during fifty years is interesting not only to the playgoer, but essentially so to the manager and the playwright. They will only have to consult it to be sure that a title has not been used before."

MR. CHARLES H. E. BROOKFIELD.
"My attention has been called to your list of plays produced between 1850-1900. I have no doubt it will prove interesting and useful to many."

MR. F. FRANKFORT MOORE.
"The list of plays produced during the past fifty years, now appearing in The Era, will, I am certain, prove, when completed, extremely valuable to everyone associated with the drama in England. I am convinced—and I have had a considerable amount of experience in this direction—that it will be especially valued by all writers upon stage matters. The advantage of being able to refer at a moment's notice to the criticisms upon the production of various plays in various newspapers must be apparent to everyone. If such a list had been in existence some years ago I would have been saved a vast amount of worry and vexation of spirit. The Era has once again proved itself appreciative of the conditions under which the best interests of the drama in England are maintained."

MR. LOUIS N. PARKER.
"I think your list of plays, produced between 1850 and 1900, will, like the other contents of your paper, be invaluable."

PROVINCIAL THEATRICALS.

(FROM OUR OWN CORRESPONDENTS.)

ABERTILLERY. — Theatre Metropole.—Lessees, Messrs. Arthur Carlton and Sam Duckworth; General and Resident Manager, Mr. Geo. W. Ventom.—The boards are occupied here this week by Miss Bonwin Carlton's No. 1 company in the sensational comedy-drama, The Plucky Nipper. The company includes Mr. Edward Surrey as Bill Burgess and Mr. Fred Rivers as Richard Vanbrugh. Miss Bonwin Carlton plays the title-rôle, and evokes roars of laughter; Miss Kitty Maynard as the little blind girl creates quite a sensation; Mr. Douglas Campbell scores as Tommy Atkins.

ACCRINGTON. — Hippodrome. — Proprietors, Messrs. Willmot, Vandy, Potter, and Weisker; Acting-Manager, Mr. L. Campkin.—The excellent bill provided here this week includes the Brothers Redmond, clever comedy acrobats; Marion Scott, a dainty comedienne; Percy Hannan, whose musical numbers are applauded; the Casino Girls, and Halma; Walker and Lake; the Twin Bros. Dean, dancers. Some excellent pictures are also shown by the Bioscope.

Prince's Theatre.—Proprietor, Mr. J. B. Ormerod; Acting-Manager, Mr. J. E. Barnes.—Mr. Fred Melville's company opened here on Monday in The Beast and the Beauty. Miss Alice Bowers fairly wins the sympathies of her audience by her impersonation of Beauty. She has the excellent support of Mr. Milton Rosmer as Jack Barrymore. Miss Daisy Gwynne in her impersonation of Delilah Vane acquits herself creditably. Miss Molly Williams is good as Clarice; Mr. Bernard Mervyn gives an admirable performance as Henry Denver; Mr. William E. Passmore must be complimented on his lifelike portrayal of the Earl of Loman; Mr. Harry Talbot is amusing as Tom Chicken; Ned Sampson is well played by Mr. Eric Campbell; Mr. G. Vivian and Mr. A. Woods are good in their respective parts.

ALDERSHOT.—Royal.—Lessee and Manager, Mr. Clarence Sounes; Acting Manager, Mr. Williams.—The sensational drama The Face at the Window is presented here this week by Messrs. Armadale and Warren's company, a feature being the very effective scenery and mechanical changes. Mr. T. W. Dunscombe gives a skilful portrayal of Paul Gouffet; whilst as Le Loup, Mr. D'Aragon displays much dramatic force; Mr. H. Douglas as Cortier is a capital actor; and Miss E. Magnus proves herself a talented and refined actress as Marie; Mr. C. A. Hineson invests the part of Peter with comic flavour, and he, with Miss M. L. Cudd, as Barbette, causes many amusing scenes; Miss Marie Tennant does well as the Queen of Rogues.

ASHTON-UNDER-LYNE. — Empire Hippodrome.—Proprietors, Messrs. W. H. Broadhead and Sons; Manager, Mr. W. B. Broadhead; Acting-Manager, Mr. Percy B. Broadhead; Resident Acting-Manager, Mr. W. Leech.—The current week's bill opens with a comic triple-bar act by the Zamo Bros., who combine rare acrobatic skill with grotesque antics; Calile and Walker are an amusing couple; Bill Bailey has "come home," and sings a couple of songs in droll style; Dolly Denver, in attractive costume, sings a "catchy" ditty, and gives an expert clog dance; the Bonanzos are a smart pair of hand balancers; the Richards Trio are remarkably agile acrobats in comic dress; the Three Coopers, including Miss Kate Cooper, juvenile actress, give two refined and pathetic song-scenas, Descendants of Eve and The Two Orphans, and evoke much applause; the Vekeys are remarkably expert executants of the banjo; Mike Cray is always a big favourite here. He brings some new "business," and introduces a performing dog; Permane's Siberian bears display remarkable intelligence. "The burglar's slide for life" is illustrated in an amusing way on the Bioscope.

ATTERCLIFFE.—Theatre Royal, Limited.—Managing-Director, Mr. Frank Macnaughten.—An entire change of pictures, embracing a wide range of subjects, is presented here this week by the Imperial Picture Company. Mr. Baker E. Belphor, the well-known vocalist, makes a welcome reappearance, and is well received in his songs, which are admirably illustrated.

Palace Theatre of Varieties.—Proprietor, Mr. T. Allan Edwardes; Acting-Manager, Mr. J. Lacy Lyne; Assistant-Manager, Mr. S. H. Laycock.—A well-selected bill is provided here during the present week. The Four Emilions give a smart show as acrobats and hand-balancers; Miss Violet Morgan contributes with much fidelity impersonations of well-known music-hall artists; Sibb and Sibb give a refined, graceful, and clever performance on the trapeze; Mr. Clayton's pictures include an interesting series; the Davenports are conjurers of the highest order, the lady giving a smart show of card-palming; Dene and Dawson cause much laughter by their duologue entitled Stage Aspirants; the Sisters Edwards, vocalists, dancers, and drummers, win hearty applause; and Mr. Mark Merry, comedian, is well received.

AYR.—New Gaiety Theatre.—Managing-Director, Mr. R. C. Buchanan; Acting-Manager, Mr. Harry W. Day.—The theatre is occupied this week by Mr. Richard F. Symonds' company in Camille and Frou-Frou. The former piece was played the first three nights of the week. The rôle of Camille was admirably played by Miss Eva Moss. She had excellent support in Mr. E. Stanton-Sharp as Armand Duval. The Monsieur Duval of Mr. H. K. Ayliff was restrained and effective; Gaston Rieux was in the capable hands of Mr. Walter P. Carr; Mr. W. Kingsford Pearce was a capital Count de Varville; while as Gustave Mr. David Hallam made a good impression. The Madame Prudence of Miss Phyllis Manners was pleasing; and the parts of Nichette, Nanine, and Olympe were cleverly represented by Miss Gregory, Miss Wynne Hanley, and Miss Gertie Homeward respectively. On Thursday night Frou-Frou had an equally good interpretation from the same company. The pieces were admirably staged and dressed.

BACUP.—New Court Theatre. — Lessee and Manager, Mr. Frank Denman-Wood; Acting-Manager, Mr. Richard Nightingale. This week an excellent variety company occupies the boards. The following are some of the turns which find favour with the large audiences. Dick Webb and Yank Murphy, exponents of Ju-Jitsu; Lil Dresden, refined vocalist; Roseti, the one-stringed Hungarian violin player; Derbyshire Dan, the master mimic; Delno, hypnotist and mesmerist; James and Joce, knockabouts and cross-talk comedians; Amy Hovis and company, in the screaming farce, Brown's Kid; Syd Herman, popular Hebrew comedian, who scores in his dramatic scena The Hebrew Fugitive; Steb, comedy clay modeller; W. H. Gerald, comedian; Billy McKeever and Ada McGovern, and others.

BARNSLEY.—Theatre Royal.—Manager, Mr. A. C. Mitchell.—The attraction here this week is Messrs. Dottridge, Longden, and Elliott's company in the powerful drama, A City of Sin. Mr. H. W. Hatchman furnishes a forcible and artistic portrayal of Mortain, and is ably assisted by Mr. Chas. H. Longden as Zip Barzou. As Paul Torraine, the persecuted hero, Mr. Conrad Heywood displays undoubted ability; and Miss Edith Wallis appears to much advantage as the heroine, Alice Bertrand.

Public Hall.—Manager, Mr. G. E. Hoey.—Mr. Jasper Redfern's popular variety entertainments continue to be the attraction here.

BARROW-IN-FURNESS. — Royalty Theatre and Opera House.—Lessee and Manager, Mr. Hugh Robertson; Resident-Manager, Mr. George Stone.—Mr. Wybert Clive's company in The Conscript is here. Mr. Harry Cullenford is exceptionally fine as the hero, Karl Truevitch, and Mr. Walter Steele plays Ivan Manloff with fine dramatic effect, while Mr. Chas. E. Johnson is a capable Count Paul Hardiskie. Miss Lillian Ross acts sympathetically and with effect the part of Nadia Truevitch, and in the lighter parts of Wandel Khoval and Tretch Troloff Miss Connie Meadows and Mr. Tom Brien respectively are seen to advantage.

Tivoli.—Sole Lessee and Manager, Signor Pepi; Stage-Manager, Mr. Tom Whiting.—Paulinetti and Pique are the top of the bill here this week, and they give a high-class comedy gymnastic show; Booker and Narbis create roars of laughter with their sketch, The Interviewer; Charles Stevens is an exceptionally good character vocalist; Martini and Son are quite at the top as song illustrators; La Belle Nello is an exceedingly clever contortionist; Wallace Whitney gains much applause for his character songs; Barney Vox soon becomes quite a favourite; Beattie Foster is a capital low comedy artist.

His Majesty's Theatre.—Lessees and Managers, Mr. and Mrs. Calvert Routledge.—The Lion and the Mouse, a comedy drama, is here this week, and is played by an exceptionally clever company. Special mention must be made of Mr. Leslie Carter's portrayal of the Lion, a strong character, and Miss Christian Silver as the Mouse scores in a sympathetic part.

BATH.—Palace Theatre.—Proprietor, Mr. Frank Macnaghten; Manager, Mr. Chas. Schubert.—The principal attraction in the current bill is supplied by the Six Brothers Luck, who, in their farcical pantomime sketch, The Demon of the Cellar, cause great hilarity. Herbert Rule, comedian, is paying a first visit, and his success is most pronounced; Gracie Moore is one of the best illustrated song stresses yet heard locally, her "In Dreamland" pictorial scena proving a delightful item for the juveniles; Sadie Simpson, coon artist and dancer, puts plenty of go into her work; the Sisters Chester are a trio of ladies who play upon mandolines and banjoes cleverly, and also dance with credit while performing upon the latter instruments; Ray Royal, vocalist, evidently from "across the pond," is to the fore; Raymond's Bio-Tableaux this week are showing the Coronation of King Haakon, and also a capital "chase" film of a flying wig.

BELFAST.—Theatre Royal.—Managing-Director, Mr. Fred W. Warden; Acting-Manager, Mr. James M. McCann.—We are favoured this week with a visit from Miss Madge McIntosh and Lumsden Hare's company in Alfred Sutro's play, entitled Mollentrave on Women. The piece met with a capital reception on Monday. As Lady Claude Derenham Miss McIntosh was in every way successful—a more delightful impersonation indeed it would be difficult to imagine; and Mr. E. A. Warburton furnished a skilful impersonation of Sir Joseph Balstead, K.C. Mr. Michael Sherbrooke achieved quite a triumph by the excellence of his acting as the philosopher Mollentrave; as Everard Swenboys Mr. Murray Carrington was all that could be desired; and Miss Gwladys Wynne deserves praise for her impersonation of Margaret Messilent. Satisfactory impersonations were also furnished by Miss Belle Donaldson, Miss Ada King, Miss Alice Arden, and Messrs. Stockall Ward, J. P. Wilson, and Chas. Halford. Bob's Mrs. Kenningham formed a capital curtain-raiser, the various rôles being efficiently sustained by Miss Madge McIntosh, Miss G. Wynne, and Messrs. Murray Carrington and J. P. Wilson.

Palace Theatre of Varities.—Proprietors, Warden, Ltd.; Managing-Director, Mr. Fred W. Warden; General Manager, Mr. J. de Frece; Resident-Manager, Mr. Geo. Harris.—The top position here is held by Raku, a clever exponent of the Japanese art of self-defence, ju-jitsu. He is assisted by Miss Moto, who demonstrates how a lady can defend herself by her knowledge of ju-jitsu. Mr. Fred Russell, ventriloquist, evokes much merriment with his precocious partner, "Coster Joe"; and a hit of no small magnitude has been recorded by that droll American comedian Mr. Will H. Sloan, who, assisted by Misses Florence Gerald and Kitty Hamilton, appears in that laughable sketch The Plumber. Selbo's club-swinging feats are quite astounding; and also here are Simosa San, who appears in her speciality with trained pigeons; the Lyttons, vocal duettists; Harry Conlin, comedian; Miss Ailsa Douglas, vocalist, and the Palace pictures, which are always interesting.

Empire Theatre of Varieties, Ltd.—General-Manager, Mr. Frank Allen; Acting-Manager, Mr. John A. Walker.—The leading feature here is provided by Mr. Bob Hutt and company, who appear to great advantage in their pantomimical skit, entitled Welcome Home. A capital reception has been extended to the Norman Leonard Trio, in their musical sketch, The Itinerant; Brown and Robinson's tuneful vocalism has been highly appreciated; and Mr. Tom Collins, a capital comedian, has been applauded to the echo. Miss Marie Reeve is a dashing comedienne and fine dancer; and also here are Miss Mona Macdonald, vocalist; Marba and Verity, and Mr. Harry Hayton, comedian.

New Alhambra Theatre of Varieties. — General-Manager, Mr. Harry T. Downs.—This week the Alhambra Dramatic Company is presenting The Pleasures of London with gratifying success. The rôle of Capt. Maynard is undertaken by that clever actor Mr. Herbert Cecil, who is most successful throughout; the talented emotional actress, Miss Nina Blake-Adams, deserves much praise for her skilful impersonation of Ethel Dunmore; Mr. Cyril Grier distinguishes himself as Godfrey Dunmore; and Mr. John Burton furnishes a capital impersonation of Silas Screwman; Mr. J. F. Pearce makes the most of his opportunities as Ned the Nobbler; and the humour of the piece is in the safe hands of Miss Effie Macintosh as Martha, and Mr. W. G. Wesley as Jacob Worth, who succeed in causing roars of laughter. Miss Lina Nazeby evokes much sympathy by her skilful acting as Lucy Brierley; and other parts are carefully sustained by Messrs. Wm. Malling, J. M. William, H. Arnold Allen, and S. Moselle.

BILSTON.—Theatre Royal.—Lessee and Manager, Mr. H. Battersby; Manageress, Miss Grace Battersby.—The boards here are occupied this week by Mrs. R. A. Cuthbert's company, in the romantic costume-play, The Black Bishop, which is well mounted. The trying parts of the twin sisters Kate and Marian Marley are admirably undertaken by Miss Jeannie Marquise. A fine character sketch of the blustering captain Keilcroft is submitted by Mr. J. W. Ryder; Mr. Alf Collingham is good as Strathcoat; and Miss Norah Caroune is successful as Ruth Oldbury.

Al-Fresco, Pavilion. — Proprietor, Mr. H. Battersby; Manager, Mr. W. J. Cranston; Musical Director, Mr. Bertram Brennan.—The patrons of this popular place of amusement are again provided with a pleasing entertainment. The principal attraction this week is the Imperial Quartette party, Messrs. Walter and Horace Terry, Harry Anslow, and Bertram Roberts. The Bioscope pictures are also well appreciated.

BIRKENHEAD.—New Theatre Royal.—Lessee, Mr. W. W. Kelly; Acting-Manager, Mr. Charles Pell.—Mr. Arthur Carlton's company opened here on Monday with The Span of Life, and has done excellent business. Mr. Kyburn-Dellar does every justice to the rôle of Richard Blunt; the villainies of Dunstan Leech are vividly portrayed by Mr. Sanderson Moffatt; Miss Ella Willmer is good as Kate Heathcote; Miss Phylis Hamilton gives a skilful rendering of the scheming Mrs. Jelf; Cecil Jelf is well played by Miss M. Douglas; and the comedy element is admirably supplied by Mr. Walter Dale as Nutty Brown and Miss Kitty Russell as Shrove Tuesday. The Almo trio of acrobats are also requisitioned in the course of the piece.

Argyle Theatre of Varieties.—Manager, Mr. D. J. Clarke.—Dutch Daly, the popular comedian and concertinaist, is a leading attraction here, as also is Mr. Harry Weldon, a capital comic singer, with a taking style of his own; Miss Elsie Claire, an acomplished balladist, is a general favourite; and Conan and Doyle, comedians and dancers, are well received. A varied programme is also supported by the Two Anartos, instrumental comedians; the Carina Sisters in their musical mélange; Miss Daisy O'Malley, comedienne and dancer; and Brown's Royal Bioscope.

Bishop Auckland. — Eden Theatre. — Lessees, Messrs. R. Addison, Ltd.; Managing-Director, Mr. R. Addison; Acting-Manager and Secretary, Mr. John Huntley.—The visit of Messrs. Beaudyn and Livesey's No. 1 company to this place of amusement in A Beautiful Fiend is attracting large and enthusiastic audiences each evening. Mr. Montague Beaudyn as Ivan Paulovitch gives a manly interpretation; Countess Nadine Karateff is admirably portrayed by Miss Irene Munro; and Sergius Strogoff has an able and painstaking exponent in Mr. Albert Wray. The characters of Count Fedor Karateff and Wanda Lubinoff are in the safe hands of Mr. Tom Robertson and Miss V. St. Lawrence. The comic element is sustained by Mr. Harry Oates as Christopher Crackles and Miss Blanch Hill as Patty Woodlands, Nadine's maid. Mr. T. Byron as Malachi is also worthy of mention.

BLACKBURN.—Theatre Royal. — Proprietor, Mr. Harry Yorke; Manager, Mr. Reginald Yorke.—There was a crowded house on Monday, when the theatre was re-opened after the summer vacation, and the audience gave a hearty welcome to Mr. Baron H. Harriss's company in The Prince of Pilsen. This is the first occasion on which the Prince has visited the town, and while the smart and clever dialogue caused roars of laughter, great admiration was expressed at the magnificence of dresses and the scenery. Blackburn people will certainly desire to renew acquaintance with the latest American production. The greatest success was achieved by Mr. Harry Kilburn as Hans Wagner, the Cincinnati brewer, who is mistaken for the Prince of Pilsen. His droll methods were a never-failing source of amusement. Miss Sophie Harriss, whose dresses were much admired, was vivacious and entertaining as Mrs. Maddison Crocker, while Mr. Bernard Russell filled the rôle of Lord Shrimpson with much credit. Possessing a capital voice, Mr. Frank Crimp made an ideal Prince of Pilsen, and as his sweetheart (Nellie Wagner), Miss Dorothy Grasdorff won golden opinions by the charm of her acting. Miss Florence Beech as Edith Adams (Vassar girl) and Mrs. Roy Sydney as Lieutenant Tom Wagner were a clever couple, and Mr. E. Gifford as Franson, the concierge, added to the gaiety of the proceedings. The chorus left nothing to be desired, and the different songs were effectively rendered.

Prince's Theatre.—Proprietor, Mr. E. H. Page.—At this theatre the boards are held by Mr. W. H. Hallatt's company in the exciting drama, The Temptress. In a capable company, the honours are carried off by Miss Lydia Donovan, who gives a striking performance in the title-rôle. Mr. W. Atherstone achieves a big triumph also as Lucas Denbigh.

Palace Theatre.—Proprietor, Mr. Frank Macnaghten; Manager, Mr. Will Murray.—The star performance this week is that given by Melot Hermann, who has added to the laurels he has already won in the town. He has been enthusiastically received. The Wynfords have also earned applause by their wonderful jumping feats. The other contributors to the programme are the Northern Troupe of Dancers; Mdlle. de Rose, the lady baritone; J. H. Hawtrey, actor vocalist; Oakley and James, humorists; Stylo, hoop juggler; Beatrice Bonnie, comdienne; and Raymonds' bioscope.

BLACKPOOL.—Her Majesty's Opera House.—General Manager, Mr. J. R. Huddlestone.—Although The Earl and the Girl has frequently been seen here, Mr. William Greet's company, which is interpreting the comedy this week, has met with the most cordial reception, and the theatre is crowded at every performance. Mr. William Stephens is again Jim Cheese, a part that suits him completely; Mr. Arthur Harrold acts and sings well as Dick Wargrave; whilst Mr. Percy E. Wright scores as Crewe Boodle. Elphin Haye finds a charming exponent in Miss Frances Earle, and Miss Jennie Richards is all that could be desired as Liza Shoddam. Mr. Tom Redmonds as Mr. Hazell, and Miss Mary Morison as Virginia Bliss are also to be commended for their contributions. The special numbers rendered by a competent chorus are encored nightly.

Grand Theatre. — Owner and Manager, Mr. T. Sergenson.—Mr. Charles Macdona introduces Mr. Popple (of Ippleton) to Blackpool this week with great success. The title-rôle is in the excellent hands of Mr. Morris Harvey, who has established himself a great favourite with the holiday-makers who throng the theatre nightly. Mr. Herbert Dickeson gives a satisfactory account of Norman Popple, and Messrs. Augustin Symonds as George Hennay and Fred F. Allen as Henry Doring also lend material assistance in the fun-making. La Bolero, the actress, is played by Miss Maimie Brickwell, who captivates the house by her tuneful singing and her spirited rendering of the part, and Miss Lulu Louden acquits herself with credit as Louise. Miss Louie Rene (Mrs. Doring), Miss Stella St. Audrie (Mrs. Hennay), and Miss Claire Pridelle (Violet Brinton) are others who do well in their respective parts. The scenery and dresses are lavish yet tasteful.

Palace.—General Manager, Mr. G. H. Harrop; Acting Manager, Mr. Fred Waller.—Immense crowds are flocking here twice daily this week, in order to see the redoubtable Hackenschmidt, whose name appears at the top of the bill. Another favourite turn is Neil Kenyon, one of the best of the many Scotch comedians. Besides these stars are the Boccaccio Minstrels; Duncan and Godrey, with the famous coster romance Me and 'Er; Albert Le Fre in his novel mélange, That's What We See in the Halls; Oliver Conroy, comedian; Margaret Ashton, vocalist; Howard and Harris, in their diverting speciality, The Adventures of a Happy Tramp; Horace Wheatly, comedian; and Vernon's Imperial Bioscope.

Hippodrome. — Lessees, Messrs. Whitehead and Ramsden; General Manager, Mr. T. P. Duignan.—A capital programme is provided here, and is warmly appreciated by good houses twice daily. The original Karnos in a sketch entitled The Travellers' Rest; Alf. Gibson, the standstill comedian; and Charles Mildare, the singing-bird imitator, are the chief favourites. Enjoyable turns are also rendered by Edith St. Clare, burlesque actress; Master Harry Butt, vocalist; Harry Morgan, coon delineator; Florence Leonard, Scotch vocalist; Henry A. Moore, actor and mimic; Mabel Sinclair, ventriloquist; the Sisters May, vocalists and dancers; Three Phydoras, in a musical act; Miniature Florry, child vocalist; and Frank Hartley, the juggling schoolboy.

Winter Gardens Pavilion. — General Manager, Mr. J. R. Huddlestone.—Paul Cinquevalli and the Achmed Ibrahim troupe of acrobats are the only new comers here this week. The ballet, In Sunny Spain, is still running, and increasing in popularity.

Tower Circus.—General Manager, Mr. G. H. Harrop.—The continuance of last week's programme here is amply justified by the notice posted outside, "House full," at almost every show.

BLYTH.—Theatre Royal.—Lessee and Manager, Mr. A. C. Moody.—Messrs. Charles Phelps and H. Tilbury's company, on a first visit here, has presented the attractive romantic comedy drama, entitled The Blind Foundling, and has achieved a decided success. In the rôle of Gerald Dalton Mr. Charles Phelps scores well, and receives due recognition; Mr. Frank Harvey as Parson Ray acts the part in a vigorous manner; as the adventurer Mark Redman Mr. Alfred G. Fry deserves praise; Mr. Bernard Webb as Jasper Waterford gives satisfaction; Viola Waterford, in the hands of Miss Amy Dalby, is a sympathetic and feeling portrayal; and the Isabel of Miss Belle Tilbury is a prominent feature. The comedy element is successfully represented by Mr. H. Tilbury as Dick Dobbins, and Miss Millie Doris as Winnie Dobbins. To Miss Mabel Hall praise is due for a capital performance of the titular rôle. Catchy songs, dances, and other specialities are introduced with successful results.

BOLTON.—Theatre Royal, Ltd.—Managing-Director, Mr. J. F. Elliston; Acting-Manager, Mr. Charles Melvin.—This house was re-opened for the autumn season on Monday, when a large and appreciative audience witnessed the production, by Mr. Geoffrey Fulton's company, of the drama, The Poor Must Live. Included in a good company is Mr. Shaun Glenville, a clever comedian, who, as Hooker Holdsnitch, keeps the house in a continual roar with his funny patter, songs, and dances; Mr. Harold C. Macartney gives a manly rendering of the character of Drummond Tredigar; Miss Violet Hammersley is sympathetic as Dorothy Murdock; and Miss Carmichael displays clever acting as Olga D'Eyncourt.

Grand Theatre, Ltd.—Managing-Director, Mr. J. F. Elliston; Acting-Manager, Mr. Harry Kenyon.—Apollo is filling a week's engagement here with his Japanese wrestling entertainment, assisted by Miss Moza, a Japanese lady Ju-Jitsu exponent of the art. Other turns are Lottie Siegenberg, who appears in her quick-change musical sketch The Lazy Slavey; Vernette and Dionne, in a daring performance on the triple bars; Miss Jeanette Latour, a pleasing soprano; the Three San Remo Girls, speciality dancers; Lilian Rigby, in a smart musical act; J. H. McCann, acrobatic roller skate dancer; A. G. Spry, comedian; Frank and Thomas, duettists; Percy Curry, eccentric comedian; Muir and Bartlett, in their comedy duologue, A Clerical Complication; and the Imperial Bioscope.

BOOTLE.—Muncaster Theatre. — Proprietors, Messrs. Pennington; Manager, Mr. H. Pennington; Acting-Manager, Mr. Harry Young.—Mr. James Hare and company opened here on Monday night with the thrilling Servian drama, A Destroyer of Men. The piece is full of stirring incidents, and the excitement is kept up throughout until the fall of the curtain. Miss Irene Clifford gives a powerful rendering of Olga Mischla; and Mr. Harold B. Lewis is seen to advantage as Count Starevitch. Mr. James Hare works hard in the character of Karl Mischla; while special praise is due to Miss Minnie Walsh for her artistic rendering of the part of Vida Ravel. The comedy portion is well sustained by Miss Alice Buckland as Nina; and Mr. Ross Warren proves a very versatile artist as Coco Tatchoski. Other characters are in most capable hands.

BOSCOMBE.—Hippodrome.—Joint proprietors, Messrs. Frederick Mouillot and Walter de Frece; General-Manager, Mr. J. de Frece; Resident-Manager, Mr. H. Ball.—A good all-round programme is provided for the patrons of the Hippodrome this week. The Five Madcaps, famous terpsichorean troupe, give a wonderful exhibition of dancing; Clarice Mayne, comedienne and mimic, is soon a popular favourite; Little Ganty is funny, and evokes roars of laughter; with their troupe of dogs, cats, monkeys, ponies, and donkeys, Clown Barker and Miss Rozsitca contribute a taking turn; Clemart, ventriloquist, gives his clever act, The Benches in the Park; Madge May and May Marton, comediennes, conclude the programme.

BOSTON.—Palace Theatre.—Lessee and Manager, Mr. Geo. Saphrini. — This popular place of amusement opened last Monday for the winter season after extensive alterations, including a new stage and scenery. At the head of the bill is Miss Ella, who enters the den of full-grown forest-bred lions, and puts them through a marvellous performance. The Zaro Troupe, introducing some wonderful acrobatic feats, is received with the utmost enthusiasm; the Brothers Brooks, eccentric comedians, make the audience roar with laughter with their exceptionally good songs and patter; Andy Burn wins applause for his songs and dance; the Sisters Brand, duettists and dancers, are well received; Mignon, musical artist, is also recalled; and H. Duncan, protean sketch artist, and Edwin Towle also contribute to a strong bill.

BOURNEMOUTH.—Theatre Royal and Opera House.—Sole Proprietors, David Allen and Son; Sole Lessee, Mr. Mouillot; Manager, Mr. Rowland Stewart.—The Orchid has been presented here by Mr. George Dance's principal company. Miss Dorothy Firmin is a delightful Lady Violet, her singing being deservedly applauded; Miss Dorothy Greville is a captivating Josephine, her by-play with Mr. Holden forming a distinct feature; Miss Emily Stevens gives a capital sketch of Caroline Vokin, and sings most successfully. To Mr. Colin Campbell as Meakin, much of the laughter evoked is due, and he receives valuable assistance from Mr. Sinclair Holden, a remarkably good Guy Scrymgeour, and Mr. Bullock Webster as Dr. Faucett, while Mr. E. Nainby as Cassignat is capital. Others deserving special mention are Miss Vera Marshall, Miss Ruby Forbes, and Mr. J. R. Val, whose clever dancing wins much applause.

Shaftesbury Hall.—Mr. T. J. West's pictures are showing to full and enthusiastic houses twice daily. The films include "The Disappearance of a Banker," "A Canadian Sleigh Ride," and many others. Excellent and appropriate incidental music is provided by Mr. Arthur Marston. During the interval Mr. André Letta, Court conjurer, gives an exhibition of some up-to-date sleight-of-hand tricks. The whole performance is under the able management of Mr. T. W. Kingston.

BRADFORD.—Theatre Royal.—Lessee, Mr John Hart; General Manager, Mr. T. F. Doyle; Acting-Manager, Mr. J. Richardson.—On Monday night the well-known actor-musician, Auguste Van Biene, re-appeared after a long absence in the time honoured play, The Broken Melody, which was greeted very heartily by a large and sympathetic audience, with whom Herr Van Biene's charming 'cello solos were the chief source of interest; his acting, too, as the sorely-tried musician, Paul Borinski, was very pathetic, and Miss Lena Burnleigh as his wife Mabel, supported him finely. As the Duchess de Verviers, Miss Rosenary Rees was excellent.

Prince's Theatre.—Lessee and Manager, Mr. Francis Laidler; Acting-Manager, Mr. N. Hepworth.—Mr. Tom H. Taylor's company is this week stirring the pulses of big audiences in Walter Melville's exciting drama, The Worst Woman in London, on a return visit here. Miss Florence Dalton with great power and effect fills the trying character of the adventuress, Frances Vere, and her associate in crime, Vincent Lyle, has a capital exponent in Mr. Paul Barry Lewers. Mr. G. Gaisford is a manly Jack Felton. As Ruth Milford Miss Elizabeth Watkins awakens sympathy. James Milford is played in convincing style by Mr. C. R. Stones; Mr. Leonard Booker's Philip Armstrong is a vigorous effort; as Bob Goldfinch Mr. Willie Garvey has a fund of welcome humour, and the remaining numerous characters in the cast are in good hands.

The Empire.—Moss Empires, Ltd.—Resident Manager, Mr. Percival Craig.—A large audience assembled here on Monday night, and the reception accorded Mr. Bransby Williams, who is making another welcome appearance, was very enthusiastic. In his usual clever style he gave selections from his repertoire of readings and character sketches, his "Showman of the past" quite convulsing his audience. That quaint comedian, T. E. Dunville, is on a return visit, too, eliciting roars of hearty laughter. A bright and merry turn by Howard and St. Clair wins much favour. There is quaintness in the capital vocal turn by the Casino Comedy Four. In their Musical Tit-bits, those old favourites, Signor and Madame Borelli, win unstinted applause. On a number of instruments Will Mitcham again delights his audience with his cleverness. Myra Stanfield is a bright and attractive comedienne. Maud Ross is here again, popular as ever as a step-dancer; and the Caselli Sisters, with their clever acrobatic dancing, command applause.

Palace Theatre.—Lessee, Mr. Frank Macnaghten; Resident Manager, Mr. H. C. Arnold, jun.—The menu here this week is quite to the taste of the patrons. Joe Almasio, the jumping juggler, submits a clever turn, assisted by an amusing attendant. The Sisters Aindow are instrumentalists of exceptional quality, and they are appreciated. A clever comedy acrobatic turn by Tate and Tate wins marks of favour; A. E. Clifford, vocalist, displays versatility and is well received; Lily Lena is a favourite comedienne with an excellent reputation here; Ada Parker is well received in her smart coon song and dance. Much merriment is provoked by the American eccentrics, the Ringling Trio, in their absurdity, A Manager's Lunch, and the mirth prevails during the performance of the droll acrobatic act by Bure, Haud, and Wise, viz., Ye Brown Cow Inn. There are some entertaining films shown by Raymond's Bio-tableaux.

St. George's Hall.—Manager, Mr. S. Carter.—The New Century Company's Animated Pictures are a continued source of amusement here. Master Harold Robinson, a gifted young vocalist, also contributes to the porgramme.

Al Fresco Pavilion.—The good programme here has been well varied this week by the speciality in thought transmission and ventriloquism submitted by Miss Inglefield and Sidney Gandy, and by the scenes from The Sign of the Cross, presented by Miss Ellaine Cliffe and Mr. Edward Rawlinson.

BRIDLINGTON.—Royal Victoria Theatre.—Manager, Mr. Charles Palmer.—Miss Emma Hutchinson and Mr. Percy Hutchinson's company opened here on Monday night in that amusing farcical comedy, Public Opinion, in which Miss Nancy Beresford gives a capital rendering of the part of Lady Caldershaw, and Miss Connie Dean as Pansy Bligh shines conspicuously; Mr. Charles Harley as Spencer Traughton is quite at home; Mr. Percy Marshall's Wilesey is amusing; as Justice Mallay Mr. Fred Levers is very clever, and Mr. Douglas Hamilton as Babbington Mulley, Mr. Douglas Greet as Viscount Pottey, Mr. Ashton Pearse as Lord Cilgour, and Mr. C. J. Barber as Jowers give able representations of their parts.

Spa Theatre.—Secretary and Manager, Mr. Henry Hague.—Mr. Charles Macdona's excellent company is the attraction here the first half of the week in the popular musical comedy, A Country Girl, which is admirably staged and magnificently dressed. Miss Ena Stephens is a splendid Marjorie, both her acting and singing being rapturously applauded; Miss Rita Marcelli gives an excellent rendering of the Princess, and Miss Madge Campbell is a capital Sophie; Miss Blanche Courtney as Nan, Miss Florence Brewster as Mrs. St. Quentin, Miss Violet Leslie as Lady Anchester, and Miss Nellie Read as Miss Carruthers are also admirable in their various rôles. Mr. J. Maxwell Edwards is a fine Geoffrey Challoner; Mr. Bernard Vaughan's rendering of the part of the Rajah is excellent; Mr. W. O. Billington's Sir Joseph, Mr. George Stone as Granfer Mummery, and Mr. W. Besley Beltram as Douglas Verity are good; and the part of Barry is finely portrayed by Mr. Frank Weir, who keeps the house in laughter every minute he is on the stage. For the second half of this week Mr. George Dance's company with The Duchess of Dantzic is billed.

Royal Prince's Parade.—Manager, Mr. Charles Palmer.—In the Grand Pavilion this week the bright particular star is Miss Nellie Ganthony, the clever and amusing society-entertainer, who gives a delightful entertainment; the Flockton-Foster Entertainers and the Loyal Dominion Animated Picture Company are always well received, and on Thursday the Gordon Highlanders' Band appeared with their pipers and dancers. Mr. Bert Coot's clever company of Juvenile Prodigies have been here for three nights and proved a great attraction. They have been well trained, and gave their songs and dances charmingly. Miss Monica Bevan's dancing was a great treat, as were the duets by Misses Bertha and Nellie Korrin, and the recitals of Miss Gladys Rose Jones; but the gem of the company was Miss Haidee Vorzanger, a "wee child," whose rendering of solos on the violin showed remarkable talent. The attraction in the Floral Pavilion this week, in addition to Herr Sigmund Winternitz's Promenade Concerts, is Mr. Joseph Lycett, whose songs are always well rendered, and are listened to by crowded audiences.

New Spa and Gardens.—Manager and Secretary, Mr. Henry Hague.—The manager of this favourite resort secured his patrons a great treat by engaging the famous boy pianist and musical conductor, Master Max Darewski, who was rapturously received on his first appearance in Bridlington on Saturday evening. This week the vocalists at Herr Wurm's promenade concerts are Mr. Cuthbert Allan, who has an excellent baritone voice, and that fine Australian soprano vocalist Mme. Mary Conly.

The Palace.—Manager, Mr. A. Hubner.—There is a capital programme this week, including Eddie Clay, the funny musical tramp; Cyrus and Maud, musical grotesques, with their cleverly trained donkey; Percy Victor and his troupe of amusing dog minstrels; the Monckton's in sketches, including The Lady and the Burglar, which is capitally played; Harry Desborough, coon vocalist; and conjuring feats by Sphinx and Sphinx. Mr. Hubner's animated pictures are a source of great delight.

Summer Gardens. — Lessees, Messrs. Beanland, Bath, and Danton; Manager, Mr. Charles Beanland. —The popular manager of this favourite seaside resort took a well-earned benefit on the 9th inst., when he was supported by a host of talent, which included Mr. Arthur Chenery's fine company, "The Willow-Pattern Serenaders"; Arthur Wheatcroft, descriptive vocalist; Will Mason, humorist; H. B. Anda, in a comic interlude; Miss Dolly Palmer and C. Danton in songs and dances; Mr. George Hyam, female character comedian; Charles Beanland, in a great speciality scena, The Topical Cartoonist; Miss Madge Douglas, contralto vocalist; Mr. Chas. Watkins, in his whistling solos; and Ernest Benn, the talented harpist. The Waterloo Pierrots also played a sketch entitled Family Jars. This week the company are appearing in the amusing burlesque, Lady Samina's Orchestra, in addition to the usual variety turns by the popular Pierrots.

BRIGHTON.—Theatre Royal.—Lessee and Manager, Mr. H. Cecil Beryl; Assistant-Manager, Mr. Harcourt M. Beryl.—Mr. George Edwardes' company is here this week with The Little Michus. Mr. George Graves gives a clever and humorous portrayal of General des Ifs; Mr. Jack Cannot is an amusing Sergeant; Miss Iris Hoey and Miss Thelma Raye as the little Michus, are charming and refined; Mr. W. Talleur Andrews, as Gaston Riguad, is admirably suited; Mr. Leonard Mackay as Austide Vert, Mr. George Miller as Pierre Michu, and Miss Florence Parfrey as Madame Michu are capitally placed. The choruses are well sung, and great praise must be awarded to the dressing and staging of the comic opera.

Grand Theatre.—Managing-Director, Mr. Ernest Carpenter.—Messrs. Alfred Paumier and Walter Howard's company opened here on Monday with The Midnight Wedding. Mr. Alfred personates five different characters; the Musical Schafers present a good entertainment, The Garden of Melody; Kahn and Kahn give an interesting exposition of necromancy, illusions, &c.; Allis and Cassati, comedian and Tyrolean vocalist, present a good turn; Dunning scores as a ventriloquist; De Vere and Kenwick amuse with burlesque pictures of popular songs; Victor Travers, comedian, obtains applause; and Will Musgrave, comedian, also scores with his songs. The performance concludes with animated pictures.

EMPIRE.—Proprietor, Mr. B. Pearce Lucas; Resident-Manager, Mr. Sid Macaire.—Mr. Fred Conquest and company are here with the clever and interesting sketch, The Freak's Revenge; J. W. Winton, ventriloquist, does a good turn; Warsaw Brothers, comedy musicians, obtain considerable appreciation; Johnson and Pelham's "pot-pourri" act of ball punching, dancing, &c., is entertaining; Barney Kane, Scotch comedian, gains applause; Rosie Revell, comedienne, is successful in character songs; and Jane Temple, American comedienne, is also pleasing. The performance concludes with an excellent display of coloured animated pictures.

BROUGHTON.—VICTORIA, LTD.—Manager and Licensee, Mr. J. Fred Watson.—Mr. Frank Bertram's company is here this week presenting The Breed of the Treshams, and on Monday evening a large house gave every evidence of the pleasure they derived from the performance. The rollicking Lieut. Reresby was an exceedingly fine performance by Mr. H. Tripp Edgar; Miss Celestine Bertram was well suited to the character of the boy Batty; the Hon. Margaret Hungerford was a very charming lady as portrayed by Miss Florence Thressilian; Mr. Oswald Lingard was seen to advantage as the fine old Viscount Dorsington; Mr. Richard H. Greene cleverly sustained the part of the craven Colonel Hungerford; Cornet the Hon. Francis Tresham was satisfactorily played by Mr. Charles Langton; Mr. George Traill as Colonel Sir Henry Curwen; Mr. Alec Flood as Colonel Bagshaw, Mr. H. Fitzmaurice as Colonel Stanhope, Mr. H. C. Cross as Colonel Rashleigh, Mr. George Jackson as Lieut. Willoughby also did well in their several capacities, and the staging was excellent.

BURNLEY.—EMPIRE THEATRE OF VARIETIES.—Lessee and Manager, Mr. W. C. Horner.—Jack and Evelyn in Come into the Office, form one of the principal attractions here this week. Much applause greets Charles Serra for his excellent equilibristic performance. Henry Hallam and Josephine Stanton are distinctly pleasing in a pretty little musical comedy, A Broken Journey. Ariel and Astarte give a smart gymnastic turn, and George Helen and Emmie Cozens are very humorous in The Doctor and the Patient. Lack and Ford are a pair of clever acrobatic contortionists; Tom Dunsmore is a good comedian; and the Lynches, whose songs are illustrated, do not fail to please.

BURTON-ON-TRENT. — NEW THEATRE AND OPERA HOUSE.—Proprietors, Messrs. Bennett; Acting-Manager, Mr. John Walter.—The stage is occupied this week by Mr. Sidney Dench's company with The Rich and Poor of London. Miss Dora Dench finds a congenial rôle as a hospital nurse. The unscrupulous Rugby Redgrave is ably represented by Miss Lily Morell; Miss Sybil Viney is bright and clever as the coster flower-girl; Mr. Sidney Dench, in his original sketch of the "one-man band," creates quite a furore; and the aristocratic scoundrel (Ravenswood) is powerfully played by Mr. Dennis Clyde. The legal and medical faculty are capably interpreted by Mr. Cole Aspinall as Grabbem and Mr. Graham Arthurs as Dr. Morton. The juvenile artists, Miss Ethel Denville and Master Bert Deuce, are well placed, as are also Mr. Jack Sidney (a typical coster) and Miss Emily Woodleigh (Auntie Scrimp).

BURY.—THEATRE ROYAL AND OPERA HOUSE, LTD.—General-Manager, Mr. Otto C. Culling.—Mr. Lingford Carson's company are playing The Drama of Life here this week. Mr. E. M. Hamilton is capital as Harry Beech, and is ably assisted by Miss Kate Hallam as Sylvia; and Mr. J. Hooker acts admirably as Walter Beech, the villain. Good comedy work is put in by Mr. Harwood Roberts as Sir Dobson Wilde, and Miss Florence French as Lady Wilde.

THE CIRCUS OF VARIETIES.—General-Manager, Mr. Otto C. Culling.—A good company is here for the "Wakes" week, including the Mysterious Lilith, introduced by Madame Fred Harcourt; Charles Diamond and Miss Beatrice give a brilliant musical performance; the Ettanas, globe rollers; Charles Chard, comedian; the Two Erolls, comedy acrobats; Billy Burns, the singing pit lad; Boy Glen, comedian; and Lillian Warren sing songs which are well illustrated.

THE HIPPODROME.—Proprietors, Messrs. Broadhead; General-Manager, Mr. W. Broadhead, jun.—A splendid programme is again put on at this house. Le Diabelo, "looping the devil's wheel"; Stanley's Urchins sing and dance well; the Rupertos, equilibrists; C. C. Corri and Derevic's company, in a little sketch, entitled Heart Strings, gives Miss Gladys Hooley a chance of showing what a fine violin player she is; Sheila McNeil, comedienne; Jessie Jukes, dancer; Mlle. Du Roche, vocalist; and Wallace Muirhead, the singing boiler maker, are all good turns.

BUXTON. — OPERA HOUSE. — Secretary and Manager, Mr. Arthur Willoughby.—For the past three nights this week we had Mr. George Dance's company in The Spring Chicken. Mr. Fred Payne was most diverting as Mr. Girdle, and Miss Nellie Kavanagh scored repeatedly as Mrs. Girdle. Mr. J. S. Durant played Babori with an abundance of go and resource; and Mr. Harry Averell was capitally placed as Boniface. Mr. Edwin Dodds was particularly good as Felix; and Mr. Lewis Wigley and Miss Lilian Errol were admirable as the Children. Miss Beatrice Poole was a pleasing Baroness Papouche, and Miss Florence Lee did her work well as Mrs. Babori. Rosalie had a delightful representative in Miss Crissie Leonard. The dancing was exceptionally good, and the scenery beautiful. Veronique completes the week.

CARDIFF.—THEATRE ROYAL.—Lessee and Manager, Mr. Robert Redford.—Hardie and Von Leer's company opened here on Monday with Two Little Vagabonds. The piece is capitally presented, the company working extremely well together. Mr. Henry Hare as George Thornton acts with care and ability; Mr. Edward McLean plays the part of Captain Darville with striking effect; and Mr. Max Ducane is quite at home in the rôle of John Scarth. Miss Valerie Crespin displays true histrionic powers as Marion Thornton; and Miss Celia Olivia gives an artistic enactment of Barbara Scarth; while the clever representations of Dick and Wally by the Misses Violet Bazalgette and Jessie Zatman win the sympathetic admiration of the audience. Mr. Lionel Ellis is a particularly good Bill Mullins, splendid support being rendered by Miss Violet Vivian as his wife.

KING'S THEATRE.—Managing-Director, Mr. Samuel James; Acting-Manager, Mr. A. C. Duncan.—The drama presented here is the powerful piece, A Woman's Revenge, which has attracted good houses. The leading character of Mary Lonsdale is rendered by the clever artist Miss Winifred Chalmers, whose delineation is one of the chief successes of the play. Mr. Henry L. Osmond as Frank Drummond is a tower of strength in the cast. The remaining characters are all well rendered, the comedy being especially smart.

EMPIRE.—Managing-Director, Mr. Oswald Stoll.—Marie Loftus is always a draw with Cardiffians, but her clever skit, Singers Past and Present, makes her a greater favourite than ever. The Cockney Huntsman is the title of an amusing absurdity presented by Queen and Le Brun and their company; Nipper Lupino Lane makes a great success with his capable singing and dancing; and the Lupino Bros. are uproariously amusing in their animal impersonation. Much merriment is caused by the coon singer and dancer Billy Hobbs; while the picture-song presented by Fox and Melville arouses the admiration of the audience; Beppo's clever monkeys; J. P. Ling, in a mimetic monologue; Chas. Pastor, eccentric singer; and the bioscope, are the other turns provided this week.

CARLISLE.—H.M. THEATRE.—Lessees, Trustees of R. Stewart M'Kim; Manager, Mr. Stanley Rogers; Acting Manager, Mr. Frank Stanley.—Messrs. Beaudyn and Livesey's company is appearing here this week in the Anglo-Indian drama, A Traitor Prince. Mr. G. M. Montanini gives a powerful rendering of the part of Prince Rao, and receives able support from Miss Nesta Sandford, who is excellent as Vashti, an Indian snake charmer. Special mention, however, should be made of the fine acting of Mr. Victor Rae as Cara; Mr. Ernest A. Duval is successful as Frank Derrick, and Edmond O'Grady causes plenty of laughter as Billy Bright. Miss Rose Routledge is a charming Lola Vane, and acts in a most natural manner; Mr. Lex Phillip and Miss Kitty Thomas do exceedingly well as Hon. Bobby and Pansy Blossom respectively.

THE PALACE.—Proprietors, The Palace Theatre, Carlisle, Ltd.—Managing Director, Signor Rino Pepi; Acting Manager, Mr. A. E. Nicholls.—The Pichel Troupe, is a smart and clever Risley act, top the bill here this week; the Violas, in a thought-reading séance, are very mystifying, as also is Shang Hia, a Chinese magician; the Brothers Obo are responsible for much merriment with their funny cross-talk and singing; and the Brontes score an instantaneous success with a cleverly written and funny duologue, entitled Saucy Maud; Raglus, tennis ball manipulator, has made a big hit. Other items are Sisters Hayden and the Pepiscope.

CHATHAM. — GAIETY THEATRE OF VARIETIES. —Proprietor, Capt. H. E. Davis; Manager, Mr. F. J. Donne. — Here we have Wal Phillips, comedian; Les Henris, in their act, Sport in the Garden; Cherry Lass, comedienne; Herbert Cyril, the seven foot comedian; Miss Lillian Lowe, who charms the audience with her songs; Boswell's troupe of cleverly trained ponies, dogs, and donkey; the Edisonograph with fresh pictures; and Frank Hardie and Co. in an interesting sketch.

BARNARD'S PALACE OF VARIETIES.—Sole Proprietor, Mr. L. B. Barnard.—Downes and Langford are with us again, scoring with lively ditties and smart patter; Sid Bandon is a comedian who quickly gets on good terms with Barnard's patrons; Jack and May McKenzie give a scena, Married for Money, and the Sprees contribute one entitled Twickenham Ferry; Leonard Mortimer's company, remaining from last week, is applauded throughout in The Schemers; others appearing are Lizzie Harper, comedienne, and Stan Aubrey, eccentric comedian. The Erascope continues to amuse and interest.

CHELTENHAM.—OPERA HOUSE.—General-Manager, Mr. H. Oswald Redford.—The Convict's Daughter is paying a visit here this week. Mr. Frank Bertram in the rôle of the escaped convict, Michael Graham, is excellent; Mr. G. Moreton Williams acts neatly in the part of the typical villain; and Miss Nellie Clyde is pleasing throughout as the heroine. Mr. H. Nelson Wallace is also good as the banker, Frederick Neville; Mr. Herbert King is intense as the virtuous lover; Miss Phyllis Gibbon and Mr. Sam Roberts as the pert maid-servant and her devoted Irish policeman do good work in the comic interludes; and other parts are well played by Miss Rose Carew and Mr. Wallace Donald.

MONTPELLIER PAVILION.—Manager, Mr. Alfred W. Newton.—The Blue Viennese Band, conducted by Herr Moritz Wurm, are a popular attraction this week, assisted by Mr. Fred Vallance in his magical entertainment and ventriloquism.

CHORLEY.—GRAND THEATRE.—Proprietor and Manager, Mr. G. T. Santé; Secretary, Mr. A. Hemmingway.—Messrs. Buchanan and Huntley's Vaudeville Company is here this week. Among the several turns, the Happy Sailor Boys present a musical pantomimic mélange, Crossing the Line.

CLACTON-ON-SEA. — PALACE-BY-THE-SEA. — Proprietors, Palace, Clacton-on-Sea, Ltd.—The opera company is again here, and giving extracts from Il Trovatore, Faust, Maritana, and other operas. The singers include Misses Boaden and Beaumont, and Messrs. Beaumont and Griffiths, all of whom are capable artists with good voices. Varieties by the Olracs, in their laughable acrobatic mélange; Jas. Stewart, the tramp pianist, in his Paderewski act; Miss Criss Cross, comedienne; and Ch. Ridgwell, eccentric comedian, both help to fill a fine programme. Ruffell's Bioscope continues to show some fine films.

WESTCLIFF GARDENS. — Messrs. Graham, Russell, and Bentley are this week assisted in their popular concerts by Miss Emily Hayes, a fine vocalist; Mr. James Davis, the well-known tenor; Miss Ethelle Stapley, violinist; and Mr. Owen Clark, the clever conjurer and entertainer.

OPERETTA HOUSE. — Lessee, Mr. C. Macdona; Manager, Mr. T. H. Rhodes. Mr. Mouillot's company, in the Blue Moon, has been playing to good houses here the first three days of the week. Specially deserving of notice in an excellent company are Mlle. Marguerite Naudin as Chandra Nil, Miss Dorma Morgan as Evelyn Ormsby, and Miss May Audrey as the lady's maid; Mr. Ainslie Burton as Moolraj, and Messrs. Victor Wallace, Arthur Radcliff, Basil Mercer, and Ch. Stephenson. The Freedom of Suzanne, played by Miss Emma Hutchison and Mr. Percy Hutchison's company, with Miss Mabel Love, was here on Thursday and Friday.

PIER PAVILION.—Lessees, Messrs. Ashton; Manager, Mr. Digby Dent.—The following artists all assist in a good variety concert: Miss Byam Yates contralto; Mr. Rt. Dyers, comedian; Mr. Archie Anderson, baritone; Miss Lillian Jefferies, dancer and singer; and Messrs. Finlay Dunn and Fred Frampton. Good pictures are shown by the Walturdaw Bioscope.

Record business is being done at the Bandstand Concerts. Mr. Collingwood has now taken charge of the seating arrangements, &c. Miss G. Shrimpton, soprano, is still here, and in addition Mr. Th. H. Howell, a good baritone, and Mr. Eric Charlwood, humorist.

COLCHESTER.—THEATRE ROYAL.—Sole Proprietor, Mr. Charles Macdona; Resident-Manager, Mr. F. C. Upton.—Mr. Henry E. Leigh's 'Varsity Belle company appeared here for the first three nights. Mr. James Danvers was highly successful as the proctor, Septimus Stoney, and special mention should be made of the sketch introduced into the third act, entitled A Musical Lesson, which showed Mr. Danvers at his best. In the title-rôle Miss Josephine Ellis fairly delighted her audience with her impersonation of an undergraduate; Miss Nellie Parker Dent was decidedly well-placed as Mrs. Barker; and as Runyard, the college scout, Mr. Frank Lilliput, always a favourite in this locality, was extremely funny. The minor parts were in each instance efficiently undertaken. Mr. Charles Macdona's own company, in the Toreador, filled the bill for the last half of the week.

HIPPODROME. — Joint-Proprietors, Mr. Fredk. Mouillot and Mr. Walter de Frece; Resident-Manager, Ben de Frece.—The Six Brothers Luck, in The Demon of the Cellar, head the bill this week, and are well received; Phillips and Terry, in a comedy sketch, entitled The Revolt of Man, are accorded a big reception; Montague Biggs, the "male Marie Lloyd," is decidedly good; a like remark applying to Idalia May, transformation dancer. Lily Black scores as a comedienne; and Tom Leo is also applauded for his "lazy" songs. As usual, the pictures conclude a good evening's entertainment.

CORK.—OPERA HOUSE.—Manager, Mr. John Horgan.—Mr. William Greet's No. 1 company opened a week's engagement here on Monday in The Sign of the Cross. Mr. Frank E. Petley as Marcus Superbus made a favourable impression; Miss Marie Leonhard as Mercia gave a fervent rendering of the part of the Christian maiden; Mr. C. Yorke was a sufficiently cruel Nero; Mr. Frank Wood as Glabrio created much amusement; Miss Gertrude Price was a successful Berenice; and Miss Jessica Thorne made a satisfactory Ancaria.

COVENTRY.—OPERA HOUSE.—Proprietor, Mr. Wm. Bennett.—Mr. Lester Collingwood's company, in the ever-popular drama, entitled When London Sleeps, is paying a welcome visit here this week. The hero, David Engleheart, is capitally portrayed by Mr. Louis Norman, ably assisted by Miss Mabel Scudamore, who gives an admirable impersonation of Queenie Carruthers; Mr. D'Arcy Kelway is responsible for the part of Sammy Blythe; Miss Bessie Frank is seen to advantage as Carrie Jones, the circus rider. Others who give good accounts of themselves are Mr. C. P. Wentworth (Capt. Rodney Hayes), Mr. Chas. Sutton (Furnaby Fuller), Mr. F. E. Thomas (Bob Jones), Mr. F. Howard (Hon. Bertie Broomhead), Mr. L. Thompson (Mark Blackwood), Mr. Fred Bernando (P.C. Stone), Miss Maud Yorke (Hilda Carrode), Miss Daisy Clifford (Maud de Freier), Miss Edith Colona (Signorina R. Jonesto), and Miss Josephine Goldsmith (Lelia).

THE HIPPODROME.—Manager, Mr. T. M. Sylvester.—Chief amongst the attractions here this week is George Bastow, the well-known comedian. The New York Nippers are another capital turn in the speciality act, entitled Bed Time; Gipsy Woolf and her Six Sunbeams give a good exhibition of singing and dancing; Cussac-Talma is a clever illusionist, and is ably assisted by Mlle. Yvonne de Forge; the Sisters Allen are capital vocalists and dancers; Connie Milton is a good comedienne; and Marie Blythe is a descriptive and character vocalist; the usual animated pictures conclude the performance.

CREWE.—LYCEUM THEATRE.—Lessee and Manager, Mr. Henry Taylor, J.P.—Mr. Fred Benton's company in The French Spy is attracting good houses this week. Mr. Richard Fulton is excellent in every way as Captain Somers, and Mr. L. Chaseby does justice to the rôle of Lieut. Maxwell. Mr. Fred Benton as Fritz is a distinct success; Mr. MAX COUTTS ably represents the character of Count Romanoff; and Mr. George Sherraton gives an effective portrayal of Petroff Romanoff, Mr. Lincoln Calthorpe as General Trepoff, Mr. Charles Digby as Viscount Alexis, and Mr. Claude Aymond as Lord Aynsley, meritoriously sustain their respective parts. Miss Gertrude Evans gives a clever rendering of Countess Andre; and a word of commendation is due to Miss A. Harrison-Tate and Miss Margaret Seymour.

CROMER.—TOWN HALL THEATRE.—Sole Lessees and Managers, Messrs. Baring Bros.; Acting-Manager, Mr. C. H. L. Locke.—On Monday and Tuesday Mr. George Dance's company paid a visit with The Duchess of Dantzic. The well-known comic opera is staged in an effective manner, the costumes and dresses being on an elaborate scale. Miss Blanch Lynd scores a well-won success as Sans Gene, playing with exquisite grace and distinction. In the first act the Lieut. Napoleon Bonaparte of Mr. C. Ibberson is adequately presented; and the Napoleon, in Acts II. and III., of Mr. George Pollock, is a piece of good acting. François Marechal Lefebre, played by Mr. W. Wallington, is good. For the remainder of the week Clifford Essex's Pierrots and Three Little Maids fill the bill here.

CROYDON.—GRAND THEATRE. — Manager, Mr. Lawson Lambert; Musical-Director, Mr. Leonard Gautier.—The attraction here this week is Mr. Alfred B. Cross's company in The Manxman. Mr. Cross gives a fine, manly impersonation of Pete; Mr. James Dillon is excellent as Cæsar Cregeen; Mr. Frank Liston is commendable in the rôle of Philip Christian; Mr. Dudley Stuart is capable as Ross Christian; Mr. Graham Winsford makes a suitable Dr. Mylchreest; Mr. Richard Hutton is praiseworthy as Professor Mawley; Mr. Edward Cartell accurately interprets the part of Monty Missitt; Mr. H. Morgan has a keen perception of the part of Tom the postman; Mr. W. Horgan ably sustains the character of John, the constable; Mr. H. E. Morton is good as Jobique Jelly; Miss Minnie Watersford acts with care and judgment in the rôle of Kate Cregeen; Miss Dorothy Duncan is successful as Nancy; Miss Mona Spearing is seen to advantage as Miss Christian; and Miss Kitty Livesay is expressive as Bella Kelly.

THEATRE ROYAL.—Managing-Director, Mr. Samuel James; Acting-Manager, Mr. Charles Herrick.—Mr. Tom H. Taylor's company, in The Female Swindler, is here this week. Mr. Joseph Millane as John Coulson is well placed; Mr. John Belton as Abraham Mikestein appears to advantage; Mr. Henry Wright is exceedingly good in his various impersonations in the parts of an ambitious young man; Mr. J. Wall as Detective Dixon is good; Mr. Wilford Cheetham submits a fine representation of Geoffrey Warden; Mr. A. Kenyon Gray ably fills the rôle of James Oliver; Mr. A. Wilson as Larkin is commendable; Mr. Alfred Masters as Cartwright is most capable; and Mr. Guy P. Ellis is excellent as Harold Travers. Miss Gray as Mrs. Poppem does well; Miss Mary Dawson admirably sustains the part of Mary Ann Mee; Miss Florrie Kelsey as Mary Andrewes is a success; and the title-rôle is played with marked distinction by Miss Grace E. Leslie.

EMPIRE PALACE OF VARIETIES.—Proprietor, Mr. Walter Gibbons; Manager, Mr. Eustace H. Jay.—The attractions here are enjoyable. Harry Pleon, as P.C. Rudder, is remarkably funny; Grahame and Harrington, in their sketch A Daughter of Pleasure, display some fine acting; Gus Barra is a clever musical comedian; a nautical sketch, The Little Stowaway, under the direction of Arden and Abel, is well staged, and creates quite a sensation; the Five Whiteleys give a capital acrobatic act; Wyze and Adna are decidedly brilliant in a humorous domestic episode; Gladys Huxley is a fascinating comedienne; Daisy Mayer is a vivacious singer; and the Sisters Belmont are neat dancers.

DARLINGTON.—THEATRE ROYAL AND HIPPODROME.—Licensee and Manager, Mr. James Bell.—An attractive programme is presented here this week, including the Achmid Ibrahim troupe of Arabs, whose feats of tumbling, &c., are marvellous. Messrs. Collins and Rice are funny in their comedy business; Miss Ruby Dahl, with her latest novelty, The Merry Mannikins, is diverting; Mr. R. C. Note is a popular vocalist; and Miss Elsie Earle a capital burlesque artist. Mr. J. C. Scatter, comedian and dancer, is well received; Mr. John Ross, double-voiced vocalist, sings with power; the Bellograph, with new pictures, is also an attraction.

DARWEN.—THEATRE ROYAL.—Lessee, Mr. A. M. Loader; Acting-Manager, Mr. F. J. Robinson.—The attraction here this week is Miss Evelyn Moore's company in The Crimson Club. Reginald Adolphus Garside is made a distinctly funny character by Mr. Percy Shaw, who also treats the audience to several capital whistling solos; Mr. F. G. Kay makes a capital Sir Philip Garside; Mr. Clifford Wright is good as Richard Fenton; Miss Florence Delmar leaves little to be desired as Julia; Miss Kitty Elliot and Miss Sidney Barrasford are good as Sophonisba and Muriel respectively.

DERBY.—GRAND THEATRE AND OPERA HOUSE.—Sole Proprietor and General-Manager, Mr. T. Allan Edwardes; Acting-Manager, Mr. Chas. Denley; Assistant-Manager, Mr. Albert Orton. — A Fight for Millions occupies the boards here this week. Mr. Robert Perris as Richard Dudley plays extremely well; Tom Manley is ably impersonated by Mr. J. C. Carlyle; Miss Eva Purcell makes a charming Pearl Rivers; and Miss Elma C. Turner as Helen Dudley, the deserted wife, is all that can be desired. Some amusement is caused by Miss Lottie Pearce, a clever soubrette, who doubles the rôles of Betty the maid and Madge Brady, and introduces several good songs.

PALACE.—Lessee and General Manager, Mr. T. Allan Edwardes; Assistant-Manager, Mr. H. Taylor.—The programme here this week is headed by the Four Cattaneos, eccentric acrobats; Whimsical Walker and company appear successfully in a short sketch, Captain Hamilton, V.C., and are assisted by Frances Maddock, a clever child actress; Wee Jessie, a juvenile comedienne and dancer, is well worthy of mention; Joe Mac is a quaint comedian; Elton and Elmo are skilful triple bar comedians; Vincent is a praiseworthy tumbler and table expert; the Sisters Walmsley are charming duettists and dancers; and the pictures depicted by the Palace Bioscope conclude a good all-round programme.

DEWSBURY.—THEATRE ROYAL.—Resident-Manager, Mr. J. H. Asquith.—An old favourite in the person of Mr. Arthur Milton is here this week with a well selected variety company. The musical farce which was formerly submitted is now staged by Mr. Milton in a considerably condensed form. Much laughter is aroused by the humorous incidents and situations of the farce. Mr. Fred Russell plays in breezy style Captain Frank Fairweather. A very droll exponent of Peter Panley is present in Mr. Joe English, whose qualities as a comedian are as pronounced as they are helpful in the success of the farcical element of the piece. Others in the cast comprise Miss Minnie Mulvey (Mrs. Cherrible Chickington), Miss Hettie Lind (Maud), Miss Lily Ward (Fanny Panley), and the popular comedian, Arthur Milton, as Cherrible Chickington. The costumes worn are very attractive and picturesque in colour and design. Boden and Bell are a pair of juveniles whose remarkable cleverness as vocalists and dancers earn them a tornado of applause; Bugler J. Carr gives a performance which is distinctly novel and enjoyable; Marlow and Manton prove amusing in the farcical sketch entitled Other People's Babies; the Sunbeam Trio, who sing "The Bamboo Bungalow," also dance very smartly.

HIPPODROME.—General-Manager, Mr. George Weldon.—The Villions, acrobatic cyclists, are appearing here in their latest tandem act; Les Louberts are the cause of marked hilarity with their pantomimical acrobatic sketch, Uninvited; La Belle Sylvia greatly pleases with her abilities as a vocalist, speciality artist, and acrobatic dancer; other artists who appear and are warmly approved of are T. C. Callaghan, character comedian; Selby and Myers, vocal comedians, dancers, &c.; the Strands, gymnasts, acrobats, jugglers, &c.; Katie La Blanche, singer and step dancer; and Abel and Welsh, grotesque eccentrics.

DONCASTER. — GRAND THEATRE AND EMPIRE. — The Two Hussars is the attraction here this week. A vivid and dramatic embodiment of Harry Alford is given by Mr. Wilson Benge; a well-conceived and capable rendering of Paul Villiers can be written down to the credit of Mr. Fred J. Mabb; full justice is done by Mr. J. Stuart to the character of Harry Maythorne; Mr. G. Paradise gives a refreshing touch to Sergeant M. Finne, alternating topical and humorous songs with some quaint dances; Mr. Jones is an admirable Lewis Montagu; Miss Marie Helené is powerful as Mrs. Giles; Miss Lallah Price is suitably placed as Molly Cutts; and Miss M. Danvers Smith is very engaging as Ellen Maythorne.

DOUGLAS.—GRAND THEATRE.—Proprietors, the Grand Theatre Company, Ltd; Managing-Director, Mr. Alfred Hemming; Acting-Manager, Mr. J. R. Wood.—Lady Madcap is being presented here by Mr. Alfred Hemming, the musical comedy being agreeably presented by Mr. George Dance's company. Miss Isabel Dillon invested Lady Betty with charm; Mr. Ray Russell's impersonation of Bill Stratford was capital; Mr. Jules Charmettes was excellent as the Count de St. Hubert; and Mr. Harold Parke as Oroya Brown did well.

GAIETY THEATRE.—Proprietors, the Palace and Derby Castle, Ltd.; Manager and Secretary, Mr. Charles Fox; Acting-Manager, Mr. George Gray.—Mr. George Dance's company is playing The Catch of the Season here to fine houses. Mr. Frank Lincoln, as the Duke of St. Jermyns, invests the character with distinction; Miss Moya Mannering was delightful as Angela; Miss Gwenneth Gallon looked every inch a Duchess as St. Jermyn's mother, and played with force and conviction; Miss Belle Napier made a fascinating Lady Crystal, and the Sir John Crystal of Mr. Julian Cross was a sound performance.

THE PALACE. — Proprietors, The Palace and Derby Castles, Ltd.; Manager and Secretary; Mr. Charles Fox, jun.; Acting-Manager, Mr. Arthur Brittain.—The Palace has been crowded during the past week, and on Monday it was filled to its utmost capacity. The orchestra of Mr. Harry Wood suggested dancing; nay, they insisted on it, and the Douglas visitor danced. Mr. Ernest Shand repeats his success of last week, and punctuates the value of the variety programme presented. This includes Morimura, a distinctly clever illusionist from the land where the chrysanthemum blooms; Mlle. Lola, a lady juggler, who exhibits the latest developments of her particular form of plastic work with excellent intention; there is also Ted and May Hopkins, who have found an original idea in their Welsh love-making scena; a comedy sketch the Express Baby is well played by Miss Edith Evelyn, Mr. Frank Esmond and their company; Miss Madge Grey, a dialect comedienne, who scores; the Selborns give a daring acrobatic and trick bicycle act; the Vernon Bioscope is a standing dish, but unlike the ordinary chef's culinary achievements, it changes as the moon waxes and wanes. The outdoor attractions include the Mascot Pierrots, who are really clever.

Other amusements are Derby Castle, where Miss Florrie Forde is creating a furore; Mr. F. J. Connors, Hippodrome; Mr. Charles Eldertons, New Empire, and Mr. Charles Dare's Minstrels.

DOVER.—THEATRE ROYAL.—Proprietors, The Dover Theatres, Ltd.; Chairman of Directors, Mr. B. Carter; Managing-Director, Mr. Fred C. Dew.—For the first three nights of the week Mr. Gilbert Heron and company occupied the boards with The Superior Miss Pellender. The natural charm and vivacity of Miss Jessie Danvers were eminently suited to the part of Mrs. Pellender; the superciliousness of Miss Pellender was cleverly emphasised by Miss Jessie Belmore; Mr. Gilbert Heron was delightful as Mr. Tister; laughter was caused by the amusing antics and unsophisticated ways of Noel, the schoolboy, as played by Mr. George Belmore; Miss Muriel Meek gave point and expression to the lines allotted to Nancy; and Miss Enid Emilie was excellent in the rôle of Edith. The comedy was preceded by Kit's Atonement, by Mr. Gilbert Heron. The author himself played the part of Kit, and his portrayal was both touching and impressive; Mr. George Belmore did good work as Dick Russel; and Miss Gladys Walton made a sympathetic Marie. On Thursday Mr. George Dance's own company opened with The Cingalee.

PROMENADE PIER PAVILION.—Lessees, the Dover Theatres, Ltd.; Managing Director, Mr. Fred C. Dew.—This week musical entertainments have been given twice daily by the Evening Stars, a party of six talented artists, who are known only as Neptune, Juno, Jupiter, Venus, Mercury, and Mars. A really bright and amusing entertainment is submitted, and good houses have been the rule.

EMPIRE PALACE.—Proprietors, The Empire Palace Co.; Manager, Mr. B. H. Harland; Secretary, Mr. Chas. R. Standfield. — Louie Hurman, burlesque artist, submits a pleasing turn; Sam Ives contributes to the evening's amusement with a smart ball-punching act; and other artists billed to appear are Jack Foley, Harry Churchill, the Percys, Arthur Elvin, and George Thursby and Rosie Alexandre in A Terrible Mistake.

DUBLIN.—THEATRE ROYAL.—Managing-Director, Mr. Mouillot; Resident-Manager, Mr. George Parrington.—A large audience assembled here on Monday to witness The White Chrysanthemum as presented by Mr. Frank Curzon's company. Miss Gwladys Elvey establishes herself a favourite in the rôle of Sybil Cunningham; Mr. Horace Mills, as Lieutenant Chippendale Belmont, keeps the house convulsed with laughter, being ably supported by Miss Daisy Le Hay as Betty Kenyon; Mr. W. H. Rawlins sustains with spirit the part of Admiral Sir Horatio Armitage; Miss Katie Vesey makes a pleasing Cornelia Vanderdecken; Mr. O. E Lennon provides abundant excuses for mirth as Sin Chong, and Mr. F. Pope Stamper is suitably placed as Lieutenant Reginald Armitage.

GAIETY THEATRE.—Sole Representative and patentee, Mrs. Michael Gunn; General-Manager, Mr. Charles Hyland.—Three Blind Mice, a charming light comedy in three acts by Arthur Law, was presented here on Monday, and received a most favourable verdict. Mr. Frederick Kerr cleverly enacts the rôle of Julian Shuckburgh; Miss May Palfrey gives a delightful portrayal of Marjorie Lovel; Andrew Lavender has a capital exponent in Mr. Compton Coutts, and Miss Annie Hill is commendable as Miss Tipping; Mr. Frederick Lloyd is intensely amusing as Rawson Guest; Miss Mary Barton is seen to advantage as Lady Clarisforde; Mr. Max Leeds proves acceptable as Peter Ricketts, and Lady Richard Marrable is excellently portrayed by Miss Granville. The curtain-raiser What an Escape, in which Miss Annie Hill, Mr. Frederick Lloyd, and Miss Florence Harwood appear, is successfully presented.

QUEEN'S THEATRE.—Lessee and Manager Mr. J. W Whitbread; Acting-Manager, Mr. John M. Dawson.—Mr. H. Armitage and Arthur Leigh's company in the Heath-Wilson Barrett version of East Lynne is playing to excellent houses here this week. Mr. Eric Mayne, as Francis Levison, submits a talented portrayal; Miss Julie Kennard sympathetically sustains the rôle of Lady Isabel; the character of Archibald Carlyle finds effective treatment in the hands of Mr. Alfred Beaumont; and Miss Kathleen Bryan successfully undertakes the part of Lady Mountsevern; Mr. Alfred Tate gives a humorous impersonation of P.C. Bullock; Miss Ethel Saville acts with grace the rôle of Barbara Hare; Lord Mountsevern is well played by Mr. Spencer Goodwin; and Miss Ethel Hardacre makes a good Cornelia Carlyle; Mr. C. C. Grattan acts with care the part of Justice Hare, and Miss Jessie Bayes displays much ability as Little Willie.

EMPIRE. — General-Manager, Mr. Frank Allen; Acting-Manager and Secretary, Mr. George H. Marsh.—The leading feature here this week is George Formby, whose quaint songs delight the audience. A strong item of the programme is the Imperial Russian Troupe who elicit loud applause for their excellent singing and dancing; J. W. Rickaby is highly successful as an eccentric comedian; Lee and Bentley in a capital sketch create much laughter; J. W. Wilson gives an entertaining turn with his clever dog Towser; Ike Scott and Son appear in an amusing nautical sketch; Francis is successful as a juggler; Culpitt is a comedy conjurer of more than ordinary ability; and the Empire Pictures are also good.

TIVOLI.—General-Manager, Mr. Charles M. Jones; Secretary, Mr. H. A. Murphy.—One of the principal items here this week is supplied by Frank Bernard and company in the absurdity Hello; Verno and Voyce in their local scenas are warmly applauded; the Cladenbacks furnish a clever hand balancing and ring speciality act; Fields and Lewis, burlesque artistes, are appreciated; J. D. Toner, a mimic with a good voice, wins cordial approval; the Fiman's sketch In the Fire Station is highly diverting, and others who contribute to the programme are Mlle. Sylvesto, lady contortionist; Francisco, equilibrist and juggler, and May Moodie, piccolo soloist. The Bioscope is up to the usual standard.

ROUND ROOM, ROTUNDA.—The Irish Animated Photo company commenced a short season here on Monday when an enjoyable programme was presented. The Pictures showing up-to-date events are interesting and amusing, and the vocal numbers contributed by Miss May Durkin, Mr. Ralph W. Goggin, and Miss May O'Connor are warmly applauded.

WORLD'S FAIR AND MUSIC HALL.—Proprietor, Mr. C. A. James.—The company here include:—Van Gelder, conjurer; Lilly Sungham, chic comedienne; Little Dandy, comedian; Will Pearce, humorist and mimic; and Colossus and Miniature.

SAMUELS' EXHIBITION PALACE.—Proprietor, Mr. S. Samuels.—The following artists are appearing here:—Lead and Lead, comedy artists; Harry Balfour, eccentric comedian; Mabel Welfore, comedienne and dancer; Maud Harvey, ballad vocalist; Pat Clifford, comedian; and Lucy Larkin, serio.

DUDLEY.—OPERA HOUSE.—Proprietor and Manager, Mr. J. Maurice Clement; Acting-Manager, Mr. J. W. Tilley.—The Streets of London has proved a big attraction here this week. Mr. Wm. Rokeby acts Badger in realistic style; and Mr. Riddell Robinson gives a forcible rendering of Gideon Bloodgood. Mr. John Richter plays in finished style as Mark Livingstone; and Mr. Clifford Brown creates much amusement as Jonas Puffy. Amongst the ladies, Miss M. Kynnersley shines conspicuously as Alida Bloodgood; and Miss Edith Goodall plays the sympathetic part of Lucy Fairweather admirably. Miss Marion Armitage as Dan Puffy acts in a vivacious manner.

EMPIRE.—Managing-Director, Mr. Fred H. Anderson.—The Two Eltons are exceedingly funny in a comedy horizontal bar act; the Carvers, comedy artists and speciality dancers, supply a capital turn; the Marbleseque Trio, in statuary tableaux; Matell and Oval, comedians and knockabouts; Amy Nield, comedienne; and Francis Haskoll, in illustrated songs, all do themselves credit.

DUNDEE. — HER MAJESTY'S THEATRE.—Managing Director, Mr. Robert Arthur; General

a diverting portrayal of the peppery Major Smedley; and Mr. Fred Knight's impersonation of the burly mate, Tom Codd, was extremely entertaining. Mr. Charles White was droll as Dibbs, the gardener; and a good bit of acting was contributed by Mr. Thomas Pauncefort as Augustus. A charming representative of Ethel is found in Miss May Fairclough, who was particularly happy in her delineation of the girlish irresponsibility of the part; Miss May Pemberton was an engaging Lucy Dallas; Mrs. Ruby Wyndham a humorous Mrs. Baldwin; and Mrs. J. W. Braithwaite was undeniably clever in her realistic impersonation of Mrs. Porter. Miss Mona Robin, who is still remembered in Edinburgh as an accomplished elocutionist and talented actress, played Mrs. Smedley with all her former grace; and mention must be made of Mr. Ewart Drake, a funny comedian, as George Porter, the diminutive host of the Old Ship. The members of the company were repeatedly recalled at the close of each act, and the applause was as cordial as it was well deserved.

Grand Theatre.—Manager, Mr. Harry Fischer.—Messrs. Garside and Knowles's company is appearing here this week in The London Fireman, a drama which contains some thrilling situations, and not a little humour. The piece is admirably acted and staged. Mr. J. Forbes Knowles, in the title-rôle, is a gallant, impressive figure; and Mr. E. L. Garside makes a clever character-study of the part of Ratty. Mr. Oliver Birrell is excellent as Viscount Fleming; and as Joe Bluener and Nixey Stringer, Mr. Walter Wilby and Mr. Harry C. Momber give two amusing studies. Miss Nellie Shirley is a graceful, pathetic Ida Curtis; Miss Nellie Garside scores heavily as Polly Bramley; Miss Florence C. Daly is a capital Grace Curtis; and Miss Nellie Waddington is good as Countess Fleming.

Empire Palace Theatre—Managing-Director, Mr. Oswald Stoll; Acting-Manager, Mr. C. Finch-Hatton.—An excellent programme is provided here this week. Mr. G. H. Chirgwin gives one of his well-known versatile turns of vocal and musical items, including, by unanimous request, the famous song, "The Blind Boy"; and Miss Carrie Laurie's Juveniles carry through their bright and entertaining performance in a lively fashion, securing a cordial reception. An amusing comedy playlet, entitled Cockie, is briskly acted by Mr. Picton Roxburghe and Miss Fanny Wright; Mr. Will English in his coon songs proves himself one of the best of coloured comedians; Unthan, the armless wonder, shows wonderful facility in making his feet do the work of hands; Miss Harriet Vernon, the lilac girl comedienne, sings several songs in pleasing style; while an interesting display of Oriental juggling by Jean Seul, smart dancing by Messrs. Harrigan and Holt, a clever musical act by Brilliant and Brilliant, and an interesting series of bioscope pictures, complete a good all-round bill.

EXETER.—Theatre Royal. — Chairman and Managing-Director, Dr. Edward J. Domville, J.P.; Acting-Manager, Mr. Percy M. Dunsford.—Miss Winifred Maude and her company, under the direction of Mr. Victor Du Cane, are producing here this week the musical comedy-drama The Stowaway, and the production has been much appreciated by good houses. Mr. Victor Du Cane as the stowaway, and Miss Winifred Maude as Althea Dale are good, and render their songs excellently; Miss Jennie Hackett as a London newsboy portrayed her part smartly; Mr. James Carson as Charles Etherington, and Miss Ethel Tinsley as Florence Etherington are all that can be desired. The Sins of the City was also successfully produced during the week.

FALKIRK.—Grand Theatre and Opera House.—Managing-Director, Mr. R. C. Buchanan; Resident-Manager, Mr. Horace W. Ebbutt.—The stirring and sensational drama, entitled A Queen of Villainy, received capable treatment on Monday evening by Mr. P. Howard Sturgess's No. 1 company. Miss Edith Blande fills the title-rôle, and acts with rare skill and ability; the part of Timothy Kodaco, a tourist, is a very comical one, and receives every justice from Mr. P. Howard Sturgess; Mr. Owen Harris as the escaped convict leaves little to be desired; the Alec of Mr. Alfred E. Calver is a careful study; and Mr. Edward Heanley gives a good interpretation of the character of Stephen Faucit. Matthew Dawes and Sally Chimes are presented respectively by Mr. Walter Spearman and Miss Amy Ross Clyde in a manner befitting the types portrayed; Mr. Lawrence Stevenson as Kit, and Mr. Arthur E. Maskell as Reuben, also do well. Miss Cecilia Desmond makes a pretty Rose Delmayne; and Miss Jessie Crammonde a pert and chic Molly Maggs.

FOLKESTONE.—Pleasure Gardens Theatre.—Manager, Mr. H. W. Rowland.—The Earl and the Girl, played by Mr. William Greet's company, was the attraction here the first three nights of the week. Mr. William Cromwell, in the rôle of Jim Cheese, caused roars of laughter; Mr. Robert Hyett made a vigorous and manly Dick Wargrave; as the Hon. Crewe Boodle Mr. Stanley Harrison gave a clever portrayal; Mr. A. E. Coleby was very good as Bunker Bliss; Mr. Frank Cane and Mr. Arthur Cassidy were excellent in their respective parts of Downham and Mr. Talk; Mr. Fred W. Pattrick gave satisfaction as Mr. Hazel; Miss Gertrude Simpson was a charming Elphin Haye; Miss Florence Wix submitted an amusing impersonation of 'Liza Shoddam; Miss Nellie Grant gave adequate support as Mrs. Shimmering Black; Miss Eva Bevington acted very capably as Daisy Fallowfield; and Miss Nellie Lawrence's graceful dancing was much appreciated. For the remainder of the week Mr. Mouillot's company, in The Toreador, was billed.

Victoria Pier.—Lessees, Messrs. Keith, Prowse, and Co., Ltd.; Local Manager, Mr. J. Fenton Walsh.—Engaged at this cosy and popular resort are Mr. Frank Lawton, whistler and humorist, in his clever whistling solos; the Sabots, under the direction of Mr. Harry Ivimey, give a talented performance, and their efforts have gained general admiration. The Imperial Austrian Orchestra also contribute to a capital programme.

Leas Pavilion.—Manager, Mr. A. Litten.—Miss Ella Lorraine, soprano, is a charming singer; Mr. Julian Brandon gives a clever second-sight and sleight-of-hand turn; and the pictures are exceptionally good.

Town Hall.—Lessee, Mr. E. J. Chadwick.—Mr. W. P. Jury's Imperial Bioscope Pictures are here for another week, and continue to please the patrons of this hall.

Bathing Establishment Grounds.—The items include contributions by Mr. Arthur J. Hill, a smart ventriloquist, he also receives well-deserved applause for his living marionette show; Mr. Charles Cardow took his benefit on Wednesday night, and was well supported.

GATESHEAD.—King's Theatre.—Lessee, Mr. M. S. Hammond; General-Manager, Mr. Joe May.—The chief item in the programme submitted here this week is Wal Pink and Jeff Vendome's company of speechless comedians in an absurdity, entitled The Daybreakers. The sketch is excellently presented, and causes much laughter. Another turn on the same lines is given by the Reed-Oetzmann Troupe in the sketch On Tour in the Tyrol, which also provokes a deal of merriment. One of the biggest hits of the week is made by Fred Dunstone, who has some excellent parodies and a fund of original patter; the Crown Trio of speciality vocalists are deserving of all the praise they get, and Starr and Jerome, vocalists and sand dancers, prove a very entertaining couple. Gus Hindell, descriptive vocalist, provokes hearty applause; and May Fallowfield sings two tuneful ditties in taking style. A return visit is paid by Boy Dryden, whose impersonations of several famous comedians are well applauded; Ida Ross, a dainty comedienne, completes the bill.

Queen's Theatre.—Proprietors, Messrs. Bolam and Bacon; General-Manager, Mr. Sidney Bacon; Acting-Manager, Mr. Stephen Smith.—Heading the bill here is Silvo in a capital musical entertainment; George Adams, baritone, pleases the audience immensely; and Charley Dixon, eccentric comedian, works hard, and receives unstinted praise. The Two Dixons, banjo, song and dance artists, present a smart turn; the Sisters Brenton are clever comediennes and dancers; and Kate Lynd sings two chorus songs with good effect. Downey's living pictures conclude the entertainment.

Metropole Theatre.—Lessees, Messrs. Bolam and Bacon; General-Manager, Mr. Sidney Bacon; Acting-Manager, Mr. Thomas France.—Mr. Walter Melville's company in A Girl's Cross Roads has drawn large audiences to this house. Chief honours go to Miss Beaumont Collins, whose depiction of Barbara Wade wins for her the highest praise; Mr. Charles Franmore portrays Farmer Meadows excellently; Mr. Wilson Gunning is seen to advantage as Jack Livingstone; and Mr. Gerald Jordan as Cuthbert Lumley has a part which fits him like a glove. Dr. Weston receives capable treatment at the hands of Mr. Chas. Rean; the part of Toby Turvey gives Mr. Fred Ingram a chance to show his abilities as a comedian; Miss Nannie Meade presents a praiseworthy rendering of Nellie Meadows, and Miss Lena Delphine is a vivacious Tilly Vane.

GLASGOW.—King's, Ltd.—Managing-Director, Mr. F. W. Wyndham; Business Manager, Mr. Hugh Macfarlane.—C. P. Levilly's company is again here with La Poupée, and the favourite comic opera is proving as big a draw as ever. Miss Stella Gastelle is still the Alesia, and her acting as the doll and her charming singing again form two outstanding features. The comedy part of Hilarius is now played by Mr. W. H. Powell, and on familiar lines he brings out the humorous touches in the part in clever style. Mr. Manfred Russell sings well as Lancelot, and the fine voice of Mr. Frederick Hobbs as Father Maxime is heard to advantage in "A Jovial Monk." Mr. Fred Seymour and Mr. William Griffin ably play the old beaux Loremois and Chanterelle. Miss Kitty Cavendish is an attractive Henri, and the Madame Hilarius of Miss Avis Grahame is well played. Mr. Vernon Reed is an amusing Balthazar. The chorus and orchestra ably assist in the general effect.

Theatre Royal, Ltd.—Managing Director, Mr. F. W. Wyndham; Acting-Manager, Mr. Percy Humphreys.—A good house welcomed on Monday, the return visit of Mr. Wentworth Croke's company in The Christian. The leading parts are still in the same hands, the Glory Quayle of Miss Grace Chalmers and the John Storm of Mr. Frank Tennant being as before excellent and powerful renderings. Mr. George R. Montford, who stage manages the play, is well suited as Lord Robert Ure, and Mr. Jackson Wilcox acts the part of Horatio Drake convincingly. Mr. Charles Hill as Parson Quayle invests the part with pathos. Mr. Charles E. Dering as the pompous Archdeacon Wealthy and Mr. Edwin Ling as Father Lamplugh show two contrasting types of clergymen. Miss Vashti Wellborne as Polly Love gives a most sympathetic rendering and Brother Paul is finely played by Mr. Wilfred Noy. Miss Molly Haydon as Mrs. Callender, and Miss May Weir as Aggie Jones give able support.

Royalty, Ltd.—Managing-Director, Mr. F. W. Wyndham; Acting-Manager, Mr. Wm. M. Downie.—Mr. Charles Carey's company in After the Ball provided some hearty amusement on Monday. Miss Queenie Finnis makes a charming and attractive Nellie Mather, and her various songs are sweetly sung. Miss Eva Ellis as her friend, Ruth Gay, also ably adds her quota to the song and dance items. Miss M. Sadie's comic acting as Nancy proved most enjoyable, and her efforts were much appreciated. Mr. Algernon W. Lee as Halliwell Menit makes his best hit with a pretty dream song. The fiery Colonel Menit is cleverly acted by Mr. Percy Baverstock, and the inane youth, Dick Seymour, is amusingly portrayed by Mr. Norman Bowyer. Mr. Buckstone Clair, who is responsible for the lyrics, gives a smart performance as Martin, and ably assists in the fun-making. Miss Nellie James as Kitty is a neat dancer. The chorus of Gibson Girls, and the Lottie Stone troupe of dancers complete an able company.

Grand, Ltd.—Managing Director, Mr. R. C. Buchanan; Acting-Manager, Mr. A. Mascard.—Mr. Fredk. Melville's stirring and exciting play, Her Forbidden Marriage, is drawing good houses here. Mr. Henry Lonsdale acts the hero to perfection; Miss Minnie Westgate as Lucy is charmingly ingenuous; Mr. Louis Hector as Charles Devereux and Mr. Leonard Maxwell as Geoffrey Broughton enact a couple of scoundrels with good dramatic effect. Miss Octavia Noel as Lady Lancaster gives a powerful impersonation of an unscrupulous woman; the Mother Superior is excellently played by Miss Barbara Gott; Miss Denny Fitzherbert as Patty Lovejoy supplies the humorous element, being ably assisted by Mr. Fred De Vere as Timothy Tuttutt.

Royal Princess's.—Proprietor, Mr. Rich. Waldon; Acting-Manager, Mr. Hugh Murdoch. — Mr. Edmund Tearle's company occupies the stage here in a good production of It's Never Too Late to Mend, by arrangement with Mr. John Wainwright. Mr. Neal Fitzwilliam is excellent as Tom Robinson, and his breezy acting is greatly enjoyed. As George Fielding Mr. Sidney Bland is seen to advantage; Mr. I. A. Keogh as Jackie deserves particular mention for a clever portrayal; Mr. J. T. Macmillan as Peter Crawley is effective; Mr. J. C. Hinton as Meadows is well chosen for the part; and the Isaac Levy of Mr. Ernest Lodger and Prison Governor of Mr. W. R. Wilson deserve mention. Miss Esther Tearle as Susan Merton is winsome.

Metropole, Ltd.—Managing-Director, Mr. Arthur Jefferson; Acting-Manager, Mr. W. Gillespy.—Mr. and Mrs. Chalmers Mackey's company is paying a welcome return visit with The Wearin' o' the Green. The Part of Barney O'Hea is well taken by Mr. Mackey. Mrs. Mackey appears successfully in her accustomed rôle of Norah McGrath. The part of Shamus McDermott is in the capable hands of Mr. Arthur Hayes, whose rendering of "Let Erin Remember" and "The Wearin' o' the Green" is enthusiastically received. Miss Nana Flensberg portrayed cleverly the part of Biddy McGinn. Miss Adele Liddon as Mrs. McDermott, Mr. St. John Stuart as Gerald Courtney, and Mr. H. Sainsbury as Sir George, also deserve mention.

Lyceum.—Proprietor, Mr. Rich. Waldon; Acting-Manager, Mr. J. H. Oakden.—Govan's own playhouse, after the summer vacation, reopened on Monday, and presents a most attractive and comfortable appearance with its improvements and redecoration. The opening attraction is the same as at the Princess's last week, being Miss Grace Warner and her company in The Scarlet Clue. This strong play has just hit the tastes of local playgoers to a nicety, and the hearty applause accorded Miss Warner, Mr. George Gordon, Mr. R. Brown, Mr. Arthur Page, and Mr. J. L. Leigh for their clever performances in the leading parts showed that the audience were quick to realise their abilities. On Friday a change was made in the programme, the occasion being Miss Grace Warner's benefit, and the musical play, The Little Widow, was given.

Gaiety.—Lessee and Manager, Mr. B. M. Armstrong. — This cosy little theatre, formerly the Tivoli, has reverted to theatrical business again, instead of variety. It re-opened on Monday as a two-house-a-night theatre, the opening play being Her Wedding Day, by E. T. de Banzie, condensed for the purpose into eight tableaux. Mr. Horace Booth makes a manly hero as Harold Saxby, and Miss Laurie A. Pardy plays the heroine, Madge Conway, with considerable charm and full appreciation of the dramatic possibilities of the part. Mr. Alfred D. Adams acts with due force and incisiveness as the unscrupulous Weedon Kenyon. Miss Marie de Roos as his partner in wickedness is fully equal to the many strong scenes, and carries them through with distinction. Mr. T. C. Conover and Miss Jenny Macintyre as a nagging husband and wife impart the necessary humour. Mr. H. Hesselgrave, who stage manages, ably acts the part of Seth Mayson. Miss Mattie Crawford as Dolly and Mr. Wilton Reed as Jessop give efficient support.

Empire.—Proprietors, Moss' Empires, Limited; District Manager, Mr. Sam Gething; Resident-Manager, Mr. Charles Mussett.—The programme submitted here this week includes several notable items, the most interesting being the Three Small Heads, members of a tribe almost extinct, who are described as the most extraordinary human beings on earth. The Bros. Egbert, acrobats, are as popular as ever; the Charles Fisher Pocket Opera Co. also make a successful appearance, their selections from Maritana being admirably rendered. The other members of the company include the Sisters Melba, vocalists; W. J. Ashcroft, "the solid man"; Edith Courtney, ballad vocalist; Grisse Bros., comedy acrobats; Mark Melford and Co., sketch artistes, in a lively sketch called Only a Wedding; Edna Aug, comedienne; and the Bioscope, with a fine series of pictures.

Zoo Hippodrome.—Proprietors Moss' Empires, Limited, and E. H. Bostock; Resident-Manager, Mr. E. H. Bostock.—The star turn this week is Miss Hetty King, whose clever male impersonations may be considered the ultra-refinement of precocious boyhood. The Barowsky Trio give an original display of comic acrobatics; Pit and Cute are artists who also combine comedy and acrobatics in their feats; Roland Carr is a pleasing descriptive vocalist; Georgina Leonard, a clever burlesque actress; Willie Gardner does some surprising feats on roller and ordinary spates; D. K. Sato can juggle comically and cleverly; Dot Hardy is a lively little singer and dancer; Shawlene is a whistler who astonishes all with his versatility and Animated Pictures wind up a pleasing entertainment.

Pavilion, Ltd.—General-Manager, Mr. Samuel Lloyd.—A first-class company is billed here this week, the special attraction being the engagement of Arthur Roberts in The Importance of being Another Man's Wife. He is ably assisted by Mr. Geo. P. Polson and Miss Jessie Burgwitz. Another item of special interest is submitted by Geo. Leyton, actor-vocalist, in the soul-stirring story, The Wreck of the Birkenhead"; the songs sung by Miss Sable Fern afford much merriment; the Sisters Wingrove, duettists and dancers; Geoffreys and Benson, comedy sketch artistes; and Claremont and Victor, in comedy acrobatic and equilibristic act, make up other acceptable and clever turns.

Coliseum.—Proprietors, Moss' Empires, Ltd.; District-Manager, Mr. Sam Gething; Resident-Manager, Mr. Harry Burdette.—Houses crowded in every part are welcoming the Boissets in their lively knockabout sketch, The Bricklayers, which seems to go better than ever; and the Poluski Bros., who come armed with lots of new gags and business, and keep the audience in roars of laughter during every minute of their turn. Then there is that great South side favourite, Dainty Daisy Dormer, whose coon songs and dances are heartily applauded and joined in by the audiences. Billy McClain's sextette of coloured ladies and gentlemen give a smart song and dance turn, which is much enjoyed. Tilbury and Forde are a clever couple, and their musical sketch, When the Cat's Away, is full of good things. Lottie Govell is a lively comedienne; George Tacius scores as a vocalist; and Victor Newman's character impersonations are wonderfully clever and life-like.

Palace.—Sole Proprietor and Manager, Mr. Rich. Waldon; Acting-Manager, Mr. Harry McKelvie.—That rollicking son of Erin, Michael Nolan, again delights patrons of this resort in a series of popular ditties with his wonted success; the Four Burnells acquit themselves well in an enjoyable sketch, On the Links"; the Delomes are agile and neat as clog dancers; Gertie Gitana is an accomplished singer and graceful dancer; Fred Hallam and J. P. Dane divide honours in the comedian line, the latter's dancing being well received; Terry and Bentley in The Hunt sketch are versatile, and the Gondolier Glee Singers complete an excellent programme.

Queen's.—Lessee, Mr. Barney M. Armstrong; Acting-Manager, Mr. Harry Bowerman. — Those very smart artistes, Curtis and Vanity, again appear in their Yankee absurdities; Marie Collins, a favourite here, once more proves it by her smart contributions; The Anarchist Terror, one of the strongest dramatic sketches seen on this stage for some time, is played by Mr. Edward Neville and full company; a gymnastic display by the Bros. Bright is favourably received; Frank Cass succeeds in adding to his popularity; Daisy Ray is smart in coon ditties; and the acrobatic and equilibristic display by Rappo and Ellar is well received. New pictures continue to be shown on the establishment Bioscope.

GLOUCESTER. — Palace.—Proprietors, Messrs. C. W. and J. R. Poole.—The variety company this week is headed by the Avondale Quartette, and the Bouncing Dillons, in their comedy gymnastic act, are popular. Mr. Herbert Clifton, mimic and entertainer, is a capital turn; Miss Lottie Bray, comedienne and banjoist; Yorick and Yorick, acrobatic comedians; Charles Ashdowne, comedian and legmania artist; Miss Effie White, in her clever kaleidoscopic dance; Luke and Logan, in comic sketch, The Governor's Lunch; Sisters Le Bas, duettists and speciality dancers; and some good pictures on the Bioscope complete an excellent entertainment.

GREAT YARMOUTH.—Royal Aquarium.—Proprietor and Manager, Mr. J. W. Nightingale.—Mr. Robert Courteridge's company is here this week with the musical play, The Blue Moon. It is the first visit of this piece to Yarmouth, and each night it has been enthusiastically received. Mr. Alfred Clark is capital as the gallant Major, Mr. Alec. Fraser is manly and natural as Captain Jack Ormsby, and Mr. A. Wykes Ashdowne sings melodiously as Bobbie Scott. Moolraj is a quaint figure as depicted by Mr. Alfred Beers, whose comicalities create roars of laughter. Private Charles Taylor, the merry little bandmaster, is excellently played by Mr. Reginald Switz, and his songs win loud applause. He is admirably aided by Miss Florence Imeson as Millicent Lerg, who sings most effectively her semi-recitation, "She didn't know," winning an insistent encore. Miss Clarice Lockstone acts quietly and gracefully as Chandra Nil, and sings sweetly; Miss Ethel Callanan is dainty and charming as Evelyn Ormsby, and Miss Kathleen Carteret is excellent as Lady Brabisham. Mr. Arthur Soames is dignified and picturesque as Prince Badahur Samatsinghi. The scenery and dresses are extremely bright and effective.

Theatre Royal.—Proprietor and Manager, Mr. J. W. Nightingale.—An enthusiastic reception is given each evening to Mr. George Alexander's company, who interpret so admirably Mr. Pinero's successful comedy His House in Order. Mr. Stephen T. Ewart, as Hilary Jesson, is excellent both in the lighter vein of the first acts and the powerful passion of the third. Miss Jean Sterling Mackinlay depicts the varied moods of Nina naturally and sympathetically; Filmer Jesson is effectively played by Mr. J. Edward Pearce; Sir Daniel Ridgeley is a capital character study by Mr. Geo. Fitzgerald; and Price Ridgeley is cleverly represented by Mr. E. P. Hollway. Miss Elaine Stedhall is severe and frigid as Geraldine, Miss Augusta Haviland is amusing as Lady Ridgeley. Mlle. Eve Grand is very successful as Mlle. Thome, and Miss Magna Hill plays prettily as Derek Jesson.

Britannia Pier Pavilion. — Managing-Director, Mr. J. W. Nightingale; Acting-Manager, Mr. Edward Gray.—Miss Billie Barlow continues her successful and enjoyable entertainment, King Leo amuses greatly with his ventriloquial sketch, the Rushforths win loud applause for their illustrated songs, Les Uniques, gymnasts, give a fine show, Miss Gertrude Gray sings charmingly, Fred Walburn contributes a clever musical turn, and Mr. W. L. Cockburn pleases with his expressively-sung songs.

Wellington Pier Pavilion. — Proprietors, Great Yarmouth Corporation; Manager, Mr. Harry Tunbridge.—A capital programme of varieties is drawing good houses, and includes: Charles Bignell, comedian; Gracie Logan, comedienne; Cinizelli, the silent jester; Astarte, the aerial nymph; Jane Howard Reynolds, comedienne; the Treshams, in a novelty singing and dancing act; Alma Burton, comedienne and dancer; Hamilton Hill, the Australian baritone; Kenneth and Keith, in a vocal and comedy interlude; the Pavilion Bioscope; and the Rosabel Ladies' Orchestra.

The Hippodrome.—Proprietor, Mr. Geo. Gilbert.—The newcomers are Lotto, Lillo, and Otto, who give a remarkable turn as trick and comedy cyclists, the Brothers Webb, most amusing musical clowns, the de Vere's, smart acrobats, and Yelding and J. H. Culeen, clever equestrians. Captain and Max Gruber's performing animals, and Bonnie Goodwin's piccaninnies continue to please.

Chappell's Concert Party.—The artists mentioned last week are again appearing most successfully, the concerted items by members of the company being very favourably received. Mr. Harry Barker, manager, has had his benefit, when the ring was crowded. He was presented by Chappell's Concert Company with a handsome marble clock, as a mark of their appreciation of his unfailing courtesy and kindness.

GREENOCK.—Alexander Theatre.—Managing-Director, Mr. R. C. Buchanan; Resident Directors and Managers, Messrs. A. B. and J. J. Wright.—This theatre was re-opened for the season on Monday, when Miss Alice Chapin's company presented A Knight Errant, followed by A Pantomime Rehearsal. In the first-mentioned piece, Mr. Harry Welchman makes an amusing Captain Perdre; Mr. Harold Chapin is a capable representative of Count de Lautier; and Mr. Frederick Park ably fills the rôle of the Duke of Calreau; Miss Eirene Douglas as Marguerite acts and sings nicely; and Miss Alice Chapin is a charming Helen Ferrier; Mr. Malcolm J. Cumming does well as Colonel D'Aubeterre; and the other parts are in good hands. A Pantomime Rehearsal followed, and proved very amusing, the principal parts being taken by Mr. Harry Welchman, Mr. Frederick Park, Mr. Harold Chapin, Miss Etherington, and Miss Chapin.

Pavilion Theatre. — Lessees, The Greenock Pavilion, Ltd.; General-Manager, Mr. Samuel Lloyd.—Charles Coborn heads the bill here, and gives an excellent turn. Other good items are Katie More, vocalist; Capita, the living marionette; Lillie Lassah, dancer; Sanlo Brothers, comedians; Alix Lukos, who appears in animal characters; and Tom E. Cliffe, dancer and singer. The entertainment is concluded by a smart cinematograph display.

GRIMSBY.—Prince of Wales's Theatre.—Managing-Director, Mr. J. H. Curry; Assistant-Manager, Mr. Sydney Tolfree.—Mr. Hill-Mitchelson's drama, The Traitor, has again drawn good audiences. Mr. Stephen E. Scanlan still represents the Chief of Police with force and realism; Mr. C. Bonhote Wilson is equally successful as the Crown Prince Rudolph; the passionate character of Zula secures sympathetic treatment from Miss Ruth Shepherd; and Miss Isabel Hunt makes the most of the popular character of the youthful Lieutenant Nicholas. Miss Gertrude Bardsley is a good exponent of the Countess Zicka; and Miss Katherine Vere as Elise Dupres, and Mr. T. W. Hurst as Captain Ross, are satisfactory. There is a strong comedy element, which is well sustained by Mr. Frank Sutherland as Jack Boult, Mr. Edward Lowrie as Zoff, Mr. Arthur McCulloch as General Hertz, and Miss Maude Stuart as Cen-Cen.

The Palace.—Managing-Director, Mr. T. A. Edwardes; Resident-Manager, Mr. T. W. Moyes; Assistant-Manager, Mr. A. V. Allton.—A distinct novelty has been introduced here by the Bob Hanlon troupe. They present a burlesque, Jinks in the Jungle, in which amusing effects and capital acrobatic business are introduced. Mabel Thorne, the dainty American artist, has pleased everybody, her songs being as tuneful as her style is vivacious; a tragic sketch, The Bigamist, is performed by J. K. Reynolds' company, and the programme also includes the Revell Troupe, in an amusing knockabout speciality; Lottie D'Abbey, a clever child impersonator and mimic; the Carney Brothers, comic duettists; Fred Horsfall, double-voiced vocalist; and Toney, an expert whistler.

The Empire, Cleethorpes.—Proprietor, Mr. J. Carter-White; Manager, Mr. W. M. Baker.—Dandy George has caused much interest by displaying the talents of his dog "Rosie," which is certainly one of the most perfectly trained animals exhibited. An absurdity, An Artistic Success, was given on Monday by the Henriques, who took the opportunity to introduce some clever eccentric acrobatic work. The remainder of the programme was of an excellently-varied character, including Will Souls, a comedian who scored greatly; the Sisters Brooks, who gave pretty dances; Farr and Farland, a couple of expert banjoists; Ella Rose, an operatic vocalist; Mamie Iris, comedienne; and Hector and Sultan, who combine good comedy with smart gymnastics.

GUERNSEY.—St. Julian's Hall.—Lessee, Mr. C. Robert Perkins.—On Monday Messrs. Poole's Myriorama entered on its second week. Despite counter-attractions and the heat, crowded houses are the rule. The films representing the local "Battle of Flowers" are especially interesting. "Houston" continues to mystify audiences by his clever experiments; the Geo. Fredericks Troupe repeat their marvellous performances on the wheel; and the Snow Family still continue in high favour.

HALIFAX.—The Grand Theatre, Ltd.—Managing Director, Mr. Wm. Robinson; Manager, Mr. S. Winks.—Messrs. Dottridge and Longden's company is here this week with The Village Blacksmith. John Strong has an admirable representative in Mr. Sam Livesey; Mr. Joseph Carter gives a meritorious embodiment of Captain Leo; and Mr. George Campbell cleverly portrays the character of Twiggs; Miss Maggie Edwards and Miss Cassie Le Grand also do well. As Harry Strong, Miss Bertha Hanbury is very effective.

Royal, Ltd.—Managing-Director, Mr. Wm. Robinson; General Manager, Mr. Otto C. Culling.—Mr. Fred Slippere is once more in our midst, and on this occasion he is presenting a new and very effective scena entitled Romanisque, in which he is efficiently assisted by that charming musician, Miss Li Ramsay. The programme also includes Mlle. Nadji, contortionist; Yamamoto and Koyoshi; the Sisters Kilner, who sing and dance admirably; Lydia and Albino; the Harrison Brothers; Great Scott and "Johnny" are also here.

HANLEY.—Royal, Limited.—Managing-Director, Mr. Chas. Elphinstone; Manager, Mr. Douglas Elphinstone.—A return visit is being paid here this week by Miss Ida Molesworth and Mr. Mark Blow's company in the stirring drama At Cripple Creek. Miss Lily Beagle is successful as Belle Gordon; as Dynamite Ann Miss Agnes Verity plays with much power and effect; Sarah Lively is all that could be desired in the capable hands of Miss Leslie Wynne; Baby Betty is an accomplished child-actress; her singing is also quite a feature in the evening's entertainment; Mr. Stanley Bedwell, as Joe Mayfield, contributes a capital impersonation, which is much appreciated; as Martin Mason Mr. Charles H. Lester scores, and Mr. J. G. Maine, as the bully Manuel Alvarez, does well; Mr. Arthur Layland as the Indian, Wahketah, is praiseworthy; Mr. Will Hook and Miss Daisy Carlton in the lighter parts of Reggie Harwood and Maggie Mason, provide much amusement; Mr. Sydney Benson is well-placed as the nigger, Ben White; Mr. Charles Watson is good as the Rev. Mr. Wilson.

Grand.—Managing-Director, Mr. Chas. Elphinstone; Manager, Mr. Alfred Edwardes.—Camilla D'Alberg and company in the Parisian episode, La Main, opened on Monday to a capital house; Belle Davis and her pick-chick actors met with a hearty reception: Dan Conroy is always welcome; his songs and funny stories being capital; Fraser and Haley sing admirably, and are accorded a hearty welcome; Mabel Hind does well in her Japanese scena; the Howards are buglers and cornet players of exceptional ability; the Brothers Lavelle in their comedy acrobatic turn are much appreciated; the Atkimoto troupe of Japanese performers contribute some extraordinary feats. The Grand Pictures are quite a feature in the programme.

HARROGATE.—Grand Opera House.—Managing-Director, Mr. William Peacock; Acting-Manager, Mr. C. Fielding-Smith.—The first three nights of this week Mr. Geo. Dance's company was here on a return visit in Veronique. Miss Ruth Lincoln both sang and looked well in the title-rôle; Miss Edith Devonshire, as Ermerance, was good, and brought down the house by her excellent singing in the third act; Mr. Douglas Phillips played excellently as Forestan, and Mr. Scott Cullen made a particularly handsome Seraphin; Miss Neste Laurel was a dainty little Denise; Mr. Ellis Holland, as Coquenard, was both quaint and original, and had valuable aid from Miss Agnes Tandy as Madame Coquenard; Mr. Tom Seymour as Loustot, the bailiff, was excellent. The orchestra was under the baton of Mr. Clement Locknane. Mr. Geo. Dance's Spring Chicken company appeared on Thursday and Friday.

HARTLEPOOL. — Empress Theatre.—Proprietors, Messrs Everton and Cragg; Manager, Mr. Harry Burns.—The star artistes here are the Five Saxonias, who charm all with their tastefully-rendered musical selections; Will Letters, a versatile comedian, is making himself popular; The Motor Maniac, a sketch played by Will Raine and company, is a very bright item; Howard and Townshend are two capital vocalists; Jack Crawley's mimicry is clever; "On Deck" by the Bros. Onda is very popular, and the neat comedienne, "Little Rose Pink" pleases immensely. Bioscope pictures complete the programme.

HASTINGS. — Gaiety Theatre.—Manager, Mr. H. W. Rowland; Resident Acting-Manager, Mr. Charles E. Scutt.—Mr. Mouillot's company opened on Monday a three-days' visit with The Toreador. Mr. Harry Buss, as Sammy Gigg, kept the house well amused; as Susan, Miss Vera Vallis made him an excellent partner, and sang and danced in good style. Mr. Fred Fowler, as the eccentric Pettifer, was successful. Mr. Howard Cridland was humorous as Sir Archibald. Other capable members of the company were: Mr. Atheling Farrar as Augusta Trail, Mr. Alfred H. Majilton as the Governor, and Mr. Alick Macmillan as Rinaldo. Miss Sadie Sundius, as Donna Teresa, displayed cultivated vocal powers; Miss Katie May, as Dora Selby, and Miss Rose Helene, as Nancy Staunton, were a charming couple; and Miss Zoe Gilfillian was effective as Mrs. Malton Hoppings. The chorus proved very capable, and the tuneful music was well rendered by the orchestra, directed by Mr. George Saker. During the remainder of the week, Mr. William Greet's company appeared in The Earl and the Girl.

Hippodrome Theatre of Varieties.—General-Manager, Mr. Albert-Mathams.—A long and varied programme is opened by the attractive comedienne Miss Kate Perrier. An excellent comedian is found in Harry Maxim; Mephisto is a clever society contortionist; the Herald Comedy Four introduce some harmonious singing in their Indian scena. A clever comedy sketch is given by Fyne and Hurley. The scenes of a Spanish bull-fight are remarkably effective as revealed on the Hippodrome Bioscope. Some exciting episodes are occasionally witnessed in a turn given by the wrestler Peter Gotz. Miss Lucy Coventry is a versatile and expert dancer; loud applause greets Tom Lowen, the comedian; Vasey and Ramsey give examples of smart step-dancing.

Beach Concert Pavilion. — Manager, Mr. Geo. Blackmore.—Mr. Wallis Arthur's company has provided a new programme, and has attracted crowded houses. Mr. George Blackmore is an excellent comedian, and easily secures premier honours; Miss Winnie Harbor, in attractive song and dance, secures much approval; Mr. Bert Meredith and Mr. Harry King assist in the comic business; and the ballad singing of Miss Ada Gaskill arouses great enthusiasm.

Hastings Pier Pavilion.—Pier-Master, Mr. R. Turner; Entertainment Manager, Mr. J. D. Hunter.—The English Light Opera Company, under the bâton of Mr. T. Lawton, is prolonging its stay, and has this week introduced Benedick's delightful opera, the Lily of Killarney. The talented vocalists seem to gain in finish, smoothness, and precision. Nothing could be more pleasing than the part of Eily O'Connor, the heroine, as played by Miss Elizabeth Burgess, her sweet soprano voice charming all her listeners. Equally appreciated are the songs rendered by Miss Vera Vizard as Mrs. Cregan, and Miss Marie Titiens in the part of Ann Chute. Mr. Arthur Winckworth makes a typical Irish priest in the character of Father Tom. Mr. F. J. Hargrave as Myles exhibits a well-trained and cultivated tenor voice; Mr. Charles Victor in the part of Danny Mann, the would-be murderer, does that important rôle ample justice; the fine bass solos which he contributes are rendered with much expression. Mr. Charles Burnand as Hardress Cregan also gains favour.—Mr. Albert Chevalier paid a flying visit here on Monday. The talented comedian gave a series of sketches and songs in his characteristic and happy vein. The enthusiastic and crowded audience repeatedly recalled him. Mr. Chevalier was assisted in his recital programme by Miss Daisy Irvine and Mr. Alfred H. West, pianist and composer.

St. Leonards Pier Pavilion.—Pier-Master and Entertainment-Manager, Mr. Elvey Thomas.—For the first time at this theatre Mr. H. V. Esmond's amusing comedy, entitled Billy's Little Love Affair, is being played here by Miss Kate Johnson, Mr. Frank G. Bayly, and company. Mr. Frank G. Bayly gives a fine, manly characterisation of Jack Frere. An example of dignity and ease is shown by Mr. Lemmon Warde in the part of Sir Harry Harmon; Jim Greaves is well acted by Mr. Orlando Barnett; Miss Clara Nicholls quite realises the character of Mrs. Jim Greaves; Miss Gladys Bartle Frere is a charming representative of Lady Duncan. Nothing could be more captivating than Miss Katie Johnson as Wilhelmina Marr (Billy); her comedy throughout is excellent.

HUDDERSFIELD.—Theatre Royal.—Proprietors, Messrs. Milton Bode and Edward Compton; Resident-Manager, Mr. W. J. Andrews.—Mr. Chas. F. Cooke's company is playing the old Adelphi drama, The Trumpet Call, with a satisfactory appreciation of the many good points in SPRINGFIELD GROUNDS.—Mr. Victor Stevens and his famous Premier Pierrot Party continue their attractive nightly programme here.

ODDFELLOWS' HALL.—Messrs. Gale and Polden are doing big business here with "The King's Service" series of animated pictures, the hall being crowded, both at the matinée and evening performances. Mr. Wilfrid Lyndon, well known to the Jersey public, gives several pianoforte solos, and as an entertainer keeps his audience well amused; Miss Maudie Wright sings several solos, and is supported by a good chorus. Two new films, presented for the first time on Monday evening, were "The Train Wreckers" and "The Life of Napoleon the Great."

TRIANGLE PARK.—On Monday night this park was brilliantly illuminated with thousands of Chinese lanterns and coloured lamps, the scene being a veritable fairyland. Eleven hundred people were present, and the White Coons, who are as popular as ever, introduced several new items into their programme. Mr. Johnny Osborn's songs, "Nobody" and "Different Walks," were enthusiastically applauded; Miss Carrie Tubb delighted her hearers with "The Daily Question"; Miss Jessie Jolly and Mr. Allan Thomas contributed some good numbers; and Sergeant-Drummer Yates, of the East Surrey's, rendered a cornet solo, "Le Petit Marquis," in first-rate style.

PEOPLE'S PARK.—The Stars of the West have proved a big draw here. The four ladies of the party are particularly attractive, and gain great applause, the violinist being exceptionally good KEIGHLEY.—QUEEN'S THEATRE.—Proprietors, Messrs. Carson and Kendall; General-Manager, Mr. R. S. Kendall.—An excellent variety programme is presented this week. An exceptionally clever turn is provided by Harwood's Juveniles, their well-rendered songs and smart dances delighting the audience; the musical act of the Two St. Johns is accorded loud applause nightly; the Kyasyas perform some astounding feats; Vetta, in her speciality wire act, is a favourite artist; Harry Bickley is extremely funny; and Ferris and Farnley are also smart comedians. J. Hughes, baritone vocalist, is heard to advantage; and Annie Hales is successful.

KINGSTOWN.—PAVILION.—Manager, Mr. C. Irvine Bacon.—Owing to the enormous success of the John Riddings Opera Company here, the management has re-engaged this company for a second week. On Monday afternoon the operetta, Old Knockles, was presented before a select audience, and in the evening The Lily of Killarney was played to a full house.

LANCASTER.—ATHENÆUM.—Proprietor, Mr. H. Wilkinson; Lessee and Manager, Mr. Stanley Rogers.—The attraction this week is Miss May Douglas's company in What Men Dare, and the drama was followed throughout with keen interest on Monday evening. As Fedor Drugin, Mr. Percy Norman acquitted himself admirably; Mr. Edward Standish was a manly Richard Wilson; Mr. Alfred Burrows did well as Nichola; and Mr. A. Balfour Mackay made a good impression as Ivan Brutoff. The comedy of the piece rests chiefly with Mr. Bargent Rogers as the simpleton; and he is ably supported by Mis Ida Mackay as Mary O'Brien. Miss Maud Buchanan displayed exceptional ability as Olga Levin; Miss May Douglas did all that was required as Duba; whilst the part of Clara Pauloon was well looked after by Miss Eileen Devonport.

HIPPODROME.—Proprietors, Messrs. Porter and Fergusson.—Another capital bill of fare is provided here, at the head of which is Ara. Zebra, and Vora, in their comedy, Indian Pastimes, which is well received; Hugo Family, statuary and equilibristic artists, are very smart; and the Arthur Lloyd Trio have a great reception. The Maros, comedy triple bar performers, cause much laughter; Miss Nina Gordon, mimic, is recalled again and again; and Hurlstone, concertinist, plays some beautiful selections; Jack Woods, tenor vocalist, and Walter Payne's animated pictures, complete the programme.

LEEDS.—GRAND THEATRE.—Managing Director, Mr. John Hart; General Manager, Mr. Edward Cadman.—That very successful play, Sunday, is here for the first time, and Mr. Louis Calvert's company is responsible for an excellent presentation. Miss Emelie Polini makes a most delightful Sunday, all the varying moods of the character being depicted with irresistible charm; Mr. Leonard Pagden's work as the elderly lover, Colonel Brinthorpe, leaves nothing to be desired; Mr. Ernest A. Dougles wins high praise for his clever conception of bluff and breezy Tom Oxley; Sunday's four "boys," as played by Mr. William Lockhart, Mr. Sidney Rennef, Mr. Cecil Yapp, and Mr. Arthur Vezin, make a novel and effective picture. Minor parts are capably sustained by Mr. G. Wallace Johnstone, Miss Aimée Murray, and Miss Muriel Pope.

THEATRE ROYAL. — Proprietor, Mr. Frank Macnaghten; General Manager, Mr. R. Ernest Liston.—This is a busy week at the Royal, for Mr. Arnold Bell and his company are always accorded a big welcome. This week's répertoire consists of half a dozen well known popular plays. The evergreen Ticket-of-Leave Man attracted a big house on Monday evening, when Mr. Arnold Bell's powerful portrayal of the name part aroused demonstrative appreciation. In an excellent company specially good support is given by Mr. Cuthbert Imrie, Mr. Joe Bardsley, Mr. F. Gregory, Miss Frances Campbell, and Miss Violet Campbell. Called Back, The Octoroon, The Shaughraun, and Leah the Forsaken have also been effectively staged during the week.

QUEEN'S THEATRE.—Lessees, Messrs. Dottridge and Longden; General Manager, Mr. C. H. Longden; Acting-Manager, Mr. Charles Bush.—The eminent actor, Mr. Allan Wilkie, is on a first visit to this city and is attracting a big share of patronage to this popular theatre with a round of Shakespearean and other well-known plays. The Merchant of Venice was submitted on Monday, and Mr. Wilkie's histrionic abilities were well displayed in the rôle of Shylock, his fine conception of the scheming old Jew arousing much enthusiasm. Excellent support is forthcoming in Mr. Alexander Marsh's Bassanio, and the leading lady of the company, Miss Ino Cameron, makes a most favourable impression in her interpretation of Portia; Mr. George Munro as Clown Gobbo, Miss Eily O'Dempsey as Jessica, and Mr. Herbert Morgan as Antonio are prominent by reason of good work; whilst Mr. Wilton Ross, Mr. Aubrey Mather, Mr. Ian Fleming, and Miss Ruth Nightingale also play leading parts. The week's répertoire includes The Corsican Brothers, Hamlet, The Lady of Lyons, Robert Macaire, and Ticket-of-Leave Man, and on Friday evening, which is a benefit performance to Mr. Wilkie, David Garrick and The Bells are announced.

EMPIRE PALACE.—Moss' Empires, Ltd.; District-Manager, Mr. T. Gerald Morton; Resident-Manager, Mr. Alex. Galley.—That clever and versatile comedienne, Louie Freear, is the central figure in a mirth-provoking incident, Jemima the Slavey, and her artistic eccentricities have been vastly enjoyed by the Empire habitués this week; Terry and Lambert are again to the fore with an excellent vocal and comedy act; Pierre and Maizee are seen and heard to advantage in a vocal show scena; Arthur Gill is possessed of a remarkable voice of flexible quality; Algernon J. Hicks, with cleverly drawn character sketches from Dickens, is entertaining; there is merit in the ventriloquial performance of Eric; the male impersonations by Madge Esmond are well done; whilst Tom Parker, comedian, Marie Weston, comedienne, and the Canary Company in a pantomimic absurdity, are also prominent lines on a most enjoyable programme.

HIPPODROME. — Proprietor, Mr. Thomas Barrasford; General Managers, Mr. Chas. Weldon and Mr. Claude Shayler.—This hall continues on the high wave of popularity, and a generous programme is again provided. Arthur Rigby leads the bill with his funny skits and drolleries, over which the crowd waxes enthusiastic; Heeley and Meeley, acrobatic eccentrics, evoke uproarious merriment; F. Demarce provides an interesting equestrian sketch; Lillie Soutter enhances a big local reputation as a clever song and dance artist; Rale Walters, with a novel specialty, wins favour; Mountford and Walsh need no introduction as favourite entertainers; the Narow Bros. are smart and amusing as comic cyclists; acceptable comedy is subscribed by Will Godwin; Nelson and Thomas, the Bros. Ethairien, Katie Marsh, and The Serenaders.

CITY VARIETIES.—Proprietor, Mr. Fred W. Wood; General-Manager, Mr. J. C. Whiteman; Acting-Manager, Mr. S. Jones.—Will Vay's Juveniles depict the brighter side of slum life in a humorous entertainment which is much enjoyed, and the youngsters are voted a clever lot; Wyndham and Waters prove very successful with novel comedy business; and the efforts of Roze and Calvert in a similar line also hit off the popular taste; the remarkable dancer, Bertha Winder, is again on the programme; Maud Esmond is a clever burlesque actress; the Three Transfields provide an enjoyable musical turn; Spencer and Marks, as speciality comedians are having a good work; and the comedy element is also supplied by Wal Robbins, a comical musical specialist, and Mark Leslie, the dusky prince.

LEICESTER.—ROYAL OPERA HOUSE.—Proprietors and managers, Messrs. Milton Bode and Edward Compton; Business and General Manager, Mr. Henry Dundas.—The redecorations and renovations here evoke the admiration of all. The farcical comedy, The New Clown, is presented by a company, under the direction of Mr. G. H. Snazelle, and elicits the heartiest laughter. In his original part of Mr. Dixon, Mr. G. H. Snazelle makes a conspicuous success; and as Lord Cyril Garston, "the new clown," Mr. P. R. Goodyer is also to be complimented on a performance of great merit; and Mr. Chas. Hanbury makes an excellent impression as Captain Jack Trent; Miss Helena Millais gives a finished impersonation of Rosie Platt, and to her charming assumption of the part much of the success attained is due. Both Mr. Arthur G. Brown as Mr. Pinnyquick, and Mr. A. M. Moore as Thomas Baker are also good. In place of the usual "curtain-raiser," Mr. Snazelle renders items from his entertainment, "Music, Song, and Story."

THEATRE ROYAL.—Sole Lessees and Managers, Messrs. Milton Bode and Edward Compton; Business-Manager, Mr. E. R. Beaumont.—The boards are held this week by Mr. John F. Preston's company, who are presenting Lady Godiva, Nell Gwynne, and Jane Shore. The former popular play was the opening attraction, in which Miss Ethel Griffies, as the heroine, and Mr. F. B. Woulfe, as Tom of Coventry, thoroughly deserve the success achieved. Mr. R. Seath Innes does well as Leofric; and both Mr. James Duncan as Algar, and Mr. Ernest Hamilton as Unwolf, are good; Miss Katherine Brook is praiseworthy as Lady Aldyth; Miss Edith Lorraine is capital as Elfrida; Mr. Bob Anderson is amusing as Robin Shackleton; and as Edgar Mr. A. Bernard Dunston is also to be complimented. The staging and dressing of the various plays deserve special mention.

PALACE THEATRE, LTD. — Managing-Director, Mr. Oswald Stoll; District-Manager, Mr. Hatton Wharton; Acting-Manager Mr. George Andrews.—The principal attraction in this week's programme is Herbert Darnley's company of comedians in the comic military pantomime production, The Skirmishers, which proves most mirth-provoking. At the other end are the Griffiths Brothers, whose versatile and funny "show" is heartily appreciated; the Tally-Ho Trio of singers and comedians are scoring a well-desreved success; Tatten Hall, an excellent comedian, sings his funny songs to the accompaniment of much laughter; Gertrude Bradshaw's cultivated voice is heard to good effect in illustrated songs; the Tupps are eccentric acrobats, who display much smartness; Leonard and Francis, in their "bull-fight," are very amusing; Frank Darwin, vocal actor, also entertains with success. The Bioscope, showing the latest subjects, is a feature of the programme.

PAVILION THEATRE.—Proprietor and Director-General, Mr. Frank Macnaghten; Acting-Manager, Mr. Walter Lapworth.—Ford and Barris, the agile legmania dancer and organ soloist, who were picked up in the street by Mr. Barrasford, top the bill here this week. In connection with their engagement, which is of a most successful character, a dancing competition is being held. Arthur Slater, the whistling man in white, secures a thoroughly deserved warm reception; Vandinoff delights all with the smart and lightning manner in which he paints pretty pictures; Fanny Humber, soubrette, instrumentalist, and dancer, is another successful and versatile artist; Ethel Yorke is a pleasing comedienne; W. B. Raby, renders his songs in a quaint style; Dick and Dorothy are a couple of youngsters who sing and dance in an entertaining manner. Pallister's Bioscope is again retained.

LEIGH.—THEATRE ROYAL AND OPERA HOUSE.—Proprietor, Mr. J. W. Cragg; Resident-Manager, Mr. H. Rousby.—Variety is the order here this week, and an attractive programme is provided. The outstanding turn is the Marvellous Pardoes, aerial gymnasts and contortionists; Miss Lottie Holland, with illustrated songs, contributes a charming musical and pictorial turn; Mr. Teddy Vokes, musical comedian, is a great favourite; Mr. Bert Gordon, Tyrolean vocalist, meets with a cordial reception; Miss Violet Rivers, male impersonator, gives a first-rate turn; the Bros. Hannaway, cross-talk comedians, Miss Elsie Kedwards, serio and dancer, and the Pardograph, complete a varied programme.

LEITH.—NEW GAIETY THEATRE.—Managing-Director, Mr. R. C. Buchanan; Resident-Manager, Mr. John Darlison.—A large audience gave a cordial greeting on Monday to Mr. Horace Stanley and his company, who pay a welcome return visit with The 10.30 Down Express. Mr. Stanley himself appears in this, his own drama, as Sam Wagstaffe, and provides plenty of amusement out of his rollicking impersonation of the jovial A.B. and of the many other characters he assumes in the course of the piece. Good work is done by the other players in a large cast, notably by Mr. George Beverley, in the rôle of the hero, Jack O'Malley; by Mr. Charles Burden, as the arch-plotter, James Inderwick; by Mr. Edward Clarke, as Huntley Mason, from Scotland Yard; and by Mr. Alaric Burton as the Squire, Cuthbert Leigh. Among the ladies, Miss Elsie Capell is a charming Bessie Leigh, betrothed to Jack; while the ancient maiden Letitia is well represented by Miss Evelyn M. Watson; and Miss Kate Kilpack is an animated Peggy Potts, Sam's bit of sweet stuff; Miss Josephine Lee makes a realistic study of Olive Coombes; and Miss Hilda Miller is a pleasing Matilda Ann.

LINCOLN.—ROYAL.—Sole Proprietor, Mr. Frank King.—Mr. Herbert Barr's company, is here in East Lynne, which is extremely well received. Miss Dorothy Oswald is sympathetic in the rôle of Lady Isabel, in which she scores distinctly; Mr. Herbert Barrs is good as Archibald Carlyle; Mr. Ronald Graham plays incisively as Levison; and Mr. E. Cheetham is excellent as Mountsevern. Comedy is supplied with great success by Mr. W. Collins as Dill; Mr. A. B. Lyons as Bulbs; Miss Ida Fane as Cornelia and Miss M. Vincent as Joyce. Miss Edna Hane must be commended for her Barbara Hone; and Mr. A. Selwood for his Richard; while Little Daisy ably plays Willie.

PALACE.—Sole Proprietor, Mr. Frank Macnaghten; Manager, Mr. Sydney Arthur. — A bill of the greatest attractiveness is offered here; Davis and Gledhill present a cycling turn of high merit; Maidie Scott is a charming as well as clever comedienne; and other meritorious turns are supplied by Leah Arden, Sisters St. Julian, Baroux and Bion, Woodward and Walton, and the Raymond Bio-Tableaux, and the Athlones.

LIVERPOOL.—ROYAL COURT THEATRE.—Managing-Director, Mr. Robert Arthur; Acting-Manager, Mr. Arthur Lawrence.—Sergeant Brue again visited the leading Liverpool theatre this week, with the result that large audiences attended to laugh at the almost interminable troubles which beset that individual in his efforts to secure promotion and wealth. The company presenting the musical comedy was that of Messrs. Lockwood and Crossman. Mr. Arthur Reynolds made an admirable Brue, both his singing and actions being eminently acceptable; Mr. Charles McLagan as the criminal, Crookie Scrubbs, often made the audience shake with laughter; the magistrate, full of silliness, was admirably portrayed by Mr. Cecil Burt; Miss Hebe Blis was the Lady Bickenhall; as Aurora Brue, Miss Mary Hay deservedly won honours; and Mr. Percy Rogers is worthy of praise for his Michael Brue. The costumes were especially worthy of note, and the scenery particularly pretty.

SHAKESPEARE THEATRE, LTD.—Manager and Secretary, Mr. John Gaffney. — During the week the stage here has been occupied by Mr. Charles Macdona's company, with Three Little Maids, a charming musical play, which has been much enjoyed. Miss Laura Wright was attractive as Gretchen, and danced prettily; the daughters of the Vicar, Ada, Hilda, and Edna Branscombe, found in the Misses Cora Lingard, Daisy Sylverton, and Eva Weigh able exponents; Miss Alice Rene was a stately Lady St. Mallory; Mr. Walter Freear proved exceedingly funny as Cupid; the M. de L'Orme submitted by Mr. Eric Barrington was a well finished character; and Mr. Victor Kerr gave satisfaction as Lord Cheyne. The work was staged in a most attractive style, and the dresses exceedingly pretty.

ROTUNDA THEATRE.—Manager, Mr. M. Montgomery.—During the week, Mr. J. A. Campbell's company have been here with The Little Breadwinner. A charming juvenile actress, little Emmie Thomas, sustains the title-rôle with ability; Mr. Matthew Boulton played well as Richard Lawrence; Miss Mary Fulton was a delightful Margaret Daventry; the part of Lord Dorrington was ably presented by Mr. Eugene Santley; and the efforts of Mr. Frederick Maurice as Joseph Prior were much appreciated. Miss Lissa Young played sweetly as Bobby Trott; and Miss Jenny Bostock created a deal of humour with her Bridget O'Flanaghan.

LYRIC THEATRE OF VARIETIES.—Sole Lessee and Manager, Mr. Henry C. Arnold; Directors of Entertainments, Messrs. T. Barrasford and F. Willmot; Acting-Manager, Mr. Fred Coles.—An array of highly meritorious and interesting talent is billed here for this week, headed by a pair of clever and original comedians, Doody and Wright, who keep the house in roars of laughter. Another original and clever turn is that of Les Mentaldos, who give an exhibition of their abilities on the slack wire, which is loudly applauded; they also introduce some cleverly trained birds. Edie Gray and her white coons are a pleasing turn; Cullen and Carthy are amusing, being answerable for a deal of laughter; other items worthy of mention are Barrington, musical expert; the Three Sisters Silcott; the Bohemians (Will and Madge); Stave, electric comedy artist; Bishop and Hanlon, comedians; and the Lyrioscope.

STAR THEATRE. — Proprietor and Manager, Mr. Harris Fineberg. The Prodigal Parson, presented by Messrs. Alfred Northway and W. V. Garrod's company, has been the attraction here. Some of the scenic effects were especially good. Mr. Garrod played well as the Rev. Tom Godley; Mr. Alfred Northway made a capital Enoch Jaggins; Miss Bertha Kingston as the parson's wife deservedly won appreciation; Mr. William Hayward was seen to advantage in the part of Ben Jaggins; and other prominent rôles were undertaken by Mr. Thomas Ashton as George Markby, and Miss Lydia Hart as Gretchen.

QUEEN'S THEATRE.—Proprietor, Mr. Lingford Carson; Manager, Mr. Fred L. Arthur.—The attraction here this week has been A Noble Brother, and the musical comedy, Happy Land, presented by Mr. Charles Carte and company. Both plays have been much appreciated. As Jerry the tramp Mr. Charles Carte was particularly great, and provoked much laughter; Miss Doris Brookes played with effect as Nana Leigh; Miss Alice Ballard was well placed as Mrs. Leigh; every satisfaction was afforded by Mr. Arthur A. Tomlin as Jack Elsworth; and Mr. Michael Madden kept the ball rolling merrily as Larry O'Brien.

ROYAL HIPPODROME. — Managing-Director, Mr. Thomas Barrasford.—Top of the bill here this week are the remarkable conjurers Le Roy, Talma, and Bosco, whose work has created general surprise; their turn is undoubtedly one of the best seen in Liverpool for some time. The Three Rainats provide a graceful exhibition on the flying trapeze; Albert Wyndham and company are seen to much advantage in the episode Prince Arthur; or the Days of King John; taking songs come from F. V. St. Clair, his "In Chicago" being particularly well received; the historical duologue, An Emperor's Divorce, by Bayne and Hope, proves interesting; Maud Prenton as a comedienne gives satisfaction; the Paytes are a smart pair of duologue artists; and others in the list are C. Bu Val, comedian; Frank A. Wood, vocalist; and Edgar Budden, comedian.

NEW PARTHENON. — Proprietor, Mr. Edwin W. Smith.—An interesting programme is provided at this little house, where the public still gather in goodly numbers, despite the many attractions elsewhere Principal is Walter Stanley, whose return visit has been appreciated. His latest songs, as well as old favourites, are richly enjoyed. Laughter loud and long follows the antics of Cavern and Cave, with their Early Morning Dip; the Adderley Bros., duettists and mimics, bring a new and amusing speciality, The Military Band; some sweet singing and smart dancing come from the Sisters Douglas; Harry Chester is an acceptable comedian and dancer; and Lily Vane, comedienne, proves creditable.

ROYAL PALACE OF VARIETIES.—Manager, Mr. M Montgomery; Acting-Manager, Mr. Frank O'Toole. —The Streets of London has been an attractive sketch here this week, the excellent Royal stock company presenting it in good style. A special feature was the introduction of a street urchin ballet by local boys and girls. Mr. Percy Boucher as the Badger had many good points; Mr. Cecil Ravenswood was an admirable Captain Fairweather; the heavy part of Bloodgood was particularly well placed with Mr. Sydney Grant; Mr. Harry Tresham made the rôle of Mark Livingstone very effective; Mr. E. D. Allen was a capital Puffy; Miss Florence Palmer as Lucy Fairweather proved eminently popular; a powerful Alida came from Miss Beryl Ravenswood; and Miss Sara Blumenthal handled the rôle of Mrs. Puffy in an experienced manner. The bioscope showed some very fine pictures.

PARK PALACE, LTD.—Managing-Director, Mr. Walter de Frece; Director of Entertainments, Mr. Fred Willmot.—Billy Williams, "the man in the velvet suit," a comedian of much merit, is at the top here this week; an excellent turn is submitted by the Society quartet of vocalists, comedians, and speciality dancers; the illustrated ballads of the Lovelaces are much appreciated; Mr. Cross shows the remarkable performing dog Vet; Rose Waller is a dainty comedienne; the Musical Keiths (Carlina and Charlie) present a novel and refined entertainment; and G. W. Foster, comedian, also appears.

WESTMINSTER.—Lessee, Mr. Fred E. Weisker; Acting-Manager, Mr. G. Montgomery.—The new management of this popular north-end hall has no cause for complaint. Mr. Weisker has commenced very favourably, considering that "house full" had to be announced several times last week. Certainly some excellent talent is being booked. This week the clever Alberto troupe are in big type; their remarkable exhibition as equilibrists has been a source of enjoyment. A comedian well worth listening to is H. O. Wills, a favourite here; Bowman and Wood's military sketch, Medals v. Gold, is neat and pretty; Mlle. Zelda does some expert work with musical novelties; Renson and Waite prove popular as a vocal comedy duo; the Two Neros go through some really good tumbling, &c.; and Minnie Fenton, as a Scotch comedienne and international dancer, meets with cordial approval.

OLYMPIA, LTD.—Manager, Mr. A. W. Young.—A lengthy and diversified programme of a very pleasing character has been given here during the week. The big attraction was De Rougemont, with his turtle-riding feat, which aroused a deal of interest. A prettier turn than that provided by the Three Olympiers, in their imitations of bronze statuary, would be hard to find, and the audience failed not to accord due appreciation. Screams of laughter followed the movements of Barton and Ashley in their farcical item; it was a pleasure to watch the graceful acrobatic work of Les Bastiens; Jack Lane showed himself full of humorous sayings; a bright entr'acte was submitted by Edwin Brett and Emmeline Orford; E. J. Sheldon proved a quaint comedian; a smart comedy sketch, Captain Cupid, came from George C. Doughty and Co.; picturesque, interesting, and expert were the Obersteirers, Tyrolean troupe; and Irene Rose, comedienne and dancer, was not the least worthy artist who appeared.

ROSCOMMON.—Lessee, Mr. Fred Willmot.—The new management of this hall has every promise of success. Martin Conway, a popular comedian, is at the top of the bill; N. T. Kioto, who shows well as an equilibrist, has a good reception; the favourite Smith and Johnson society coloured duo are welcomed; some capital songs come from Peggy Fame; and others on the list are Harry Wright, extempore vocalist; and Nellie Gannon, contralto.

LLANDUDNO. — GRAND THEATRE. — Manager, Mr. A. G. Pugh.—Mr. Wm. Greet's company is appearing here in the musical comedy, The Earl and the Girl. Mr. Alfred Donohoe as Jim Cheese, supplied the comic element in capital style; Mr. Thomas Kennard as Dick Wargrave also does well; Mr. Leslie Owen is good in the part of the Hon. Crewe Boodle; Mr. Greville Hayes as A. Bunker Bliss, Mr. Ernest A. Plumpton as Downham, and Mr. Sam Lysons as Mr. Hazell sustain their respective rôles in a praiseworthy manner. Miss May Yates as Elphin Haye supplies an excellent impersonation; Miss Lina Hicks (Liza Shoddam), and Miss Ida Strathan (Daisy Fallowfield), both show skill and ability.

PRINCE'S THEATRE.—Lessee and Manager, Mr. C. R. Chaplin.—For three nights, commencing Monday, Mr. Chas. Macdona's company presented Mr. Hopkinson, the title-rôle being in the hands of Mr. Frank Stanmore; he gave an excellent rendering, and kept the audiences in roars of laughter throughout. Mr. Arnold Lucy, as Duke of Braceborough, was good; the same can be said of Mr. Reginald Dane as Lord Gawthorpe; and Mr. C. M. Heslop, as the Hon. Otho Dursingham; Mr. George McCloskie (Mr. Smethurst) displayed ability; Miss Gladys Jesson (Lady Tyra) was pleasing; Miss Katherine Romsey (Eliza Dibb), also did well; Miss M. Allison Alexander as the Duchess of Braceborough gave a capital rendering of a difficult part.

LLANELLY.—ROYALTY THEATRE.—Proprietor and Manager, Mr. Z. Andrews; Acting-Manageress, Miss Alice Rocheforte.—Mr. Whitmore Ledger and Miss Hettie Jeffries' company is here in The Curate. Mr. Whitmore Ledger is capital in the part of the Russian spy, and Miss Hettie Jeffries as Dick the Trumpeter is also very clever, and wins great applause. The Curate's part is in the able hands of Mr. Geoffrey Broughton. Others in the company taking their various parts well are the Misses Winnifred Stuart, Annie Stuart, and Agnes d'Aragon, Messrs. Frank Stuart and Alfred Horton.

LOWESTOFT. — MARINA. — Managing-Director, Mr. E. A. Smith.—A most enjoyable attraction is presented here this week, in a welcome return visit of Mr. Geo. Dance's principal company, in the musical play, The Duchess of Dantzic. Miss May Glenn is again here, and has made a conspicuous success in the title-rôle, both her acting and singing winning the highest admiration; Mr. Ernest Torrance is also to be warmly complimented on his admirable Sergeant François Lefebvre; a clever character sketch of Napoleon is submitted by Mr. Gilbert Yorke. Other artists in the lengthy cast who are also to be singled out for embodiments of merit are Messrs. Stephen Fitzgerald as Papillon; T. Bolesworth as Vicomte de Bethune; and the Misses Dulcie Garland (Grand Duchess of Berg), Daisie Bent (Princess Borgese), Maggie White (Renee de Saint-Mezard), and Buena Bent (Lisette). There are an excellent chorus and orchestra, under the able bâton of Mr. Edward Whitehall. The latter part of the week The Cingalee was presented.

HIPPODROME. — Mr. Geo. Gilbert. — The bill this week includes Marie San Toi and her Japanese girls, in a musical scena, A Japanese Tea Garden by Night; Cordite and Buffalo, rope manipulators; Carson Hicks, buck dancer; Miss Iona Ginnett; Prince, juggler; Roberts's performing cats and dogs; the Humels; Pietro; and the clowns, Little Bishop, Shadow, and Chester.

MACCLESFIELD. — ROYAL. — Proprietor and Manager, Mr. W. K. Gatley.—Mr. Frank Ayrton, with a strong company, has been here this week in The Power of Gold. As Hadji Zambra, Mr. Charles Whitlock displayed considerable ability; Mr. Richard Oliver made a fine Paul Judson; Mr. Albert Sefton was seen to advantage as Mark Harley; Mr. Frank Ayrton, in the rôle of Sammy Smudge, had a part with which he was entirely at home; and in conjunction with Miss Madge Seymour as Nora Donnelly, kept the house in a very good humour all the evening. Miss Georgina V. France as May Judson won the warm sympathy of the audience; Miss Lilia Wilde as Lady Brandon was stately, and portrayed the part with genuine power; Little Prudence was satisfactory as Paddy Blake.

MAIDSTONE.—HIPPODROME.—Lessee and Manager, Mr. S. Baskerville.—The following contribute to the bill here this week: Mr. Arthur Reece, the popular comedian; the Three Missouris, comedy acrobats; Tom E. Hughes, comedian, on a return visit; Prince Kuroki, a smart Japanese magician; Miss Onra, on the silver wire; Miss Amy Sullivan, comedienne; and Sabino, instrumentalist. The Bioscope is also an attraction.

CORN EXCHANGE.—Manager, Mr. J. Beslee.—We have had a visit here from Miss Katie Johnson's company in H. V. Esmond's charming comedy, Billy's Little Love Affair.

MARGATE.—THEATRE ROYAL.—Exclusive-Manager, Mr. Edward Michael; Business-Manager, Mr. A. Austin-Leigh.—On Monday evening and the two following nights Mr. George Dance's company appeared here in the musical play The Cingalee. Miss Edith Harmer, in the name rôle, played with grace, sang charmingly, and secured an all-round success; Mr. Tom Payne, as Chambuddy Ram, deserved the unstinted applause his amusing efforts evoked; Miss Minnie Muir, as Peggy Sabine, also merited high commendation. The Hon. Harry Vereker was ably accounted for by Mr. Harold Montague, whose excellent voice was heard to advantage in the various numbers allotted to the part; Mr. Frank Sutton acquitted himself well as Boobhamba, his topical song being encored. Mr. Coope Edmonds was good as Sir Peter Loftus; and Mr. William Austin was in every way satisfactory as Bobby Warren. The Misses Tessa d'Alberta, Annie Crisp, Rosa Lind, and Kathleen Kennedy figure most agreeably as the four tea girls; whilst Miss Bertha Frey and Miss Florrie Treseder were good as Lady Vereker and Angy Loftus respectively. For the remainder of the week The Blue Moon was announced as the attraction.

THE HIPPODROME.—Sole Proprietors, Messrs. F. Mouillot and W. de Frece; General-Manager, Mr. J. de Frece; Resident-Manager, Mr. C. F. Bawtree.—This week's programme is headed by Kate Carney, this being the popular comedienne's first visit to this house, and she and her company, in the scena, The Brighton Promenade, have been accorded a hearty reception; Charles Austin, eccentric comedian, has also been a great success in his amusing songs. Other contributors to an all-round good programme have been Daisy Martell, comedienne and dancer; Will Driscoll, comedian; Johnson and Bert, in their comedy acrobatic performance, A Queer Customer; Will Johnson, the lively comedian; and Luis Hardt, the "mighty atom," who was here not long since.

HALL-BY-THE-SEA.—Sole Proprietor, "Lord" George Sanger; General-Manager, Mr. Chas. Evans.—Seven excellent turns are presented here twice daily (afternoon and evening), and the programme has proved a very attractive one. Kingsley, handbell sololist, is good; and Mlle. Thelma, the lady clay modeller, works out her subjects artistically and quickly. Walker and May, coloured comedians and dancers, are once more eliciting plenty of applause; and the Grovini family, five in number, are clever acrobats. Baker and Balfe play delightfully operatic selections on the xylophone; whilst the Peritas, up-to-date gymnasts, and Harry Maynard, vocal comedian, are well received.

MERTHYR TYDFIL.—THEATRE ROYAL AND OPERA HOUSE.—Sole Proprietor and Manager, Mr. Will Smithson.—Mr. Lingford Carson's No. 1 Répertoire company, under the direction of Mr. Charles Draycott, is this week paying a re-visit, and successfully appearing in A Modern Adventuress. Mr. Charles Draycott as Pietro Donelli and Miss Muriel Thompson, an adventuress, acquit themselves admirably. Others deserving of mention are Mr. Morley Carroll as William Delby, Mr. Sydney C. Cranston as Harry Delby, Mr. Ernest J. Fare as Wallace Danton, Mr. Arthur Byron as John Compton, Mr. J. Dobson Clyde as Walter Beale, Mr. H. Scotchard as Steve Meredith, Miss Daisy Norman as Sally Hodges, and Miss Mary Cleveland as Viviette Delby.

MEXBOROUGH.—PRINCE OF WALES'S THEATRE. —Manager, Mr. W. H. Melton.—Messrs. Frank Pitt and Chas. Halling's company is this week presenting here the drama, £1,000 Reward. Mr. Chas. Rodgers, jun., gives a fine interpretation of Dick Springthorpe; Mr. Chas. Halling is eminently successful in the rôle of Vincent Ravenforth; Mr. F. J. Pitt plays capitally as Fred Ingleford; Mr. Frank Dallas is well placed as Inspector Gilbert; while Mr. Edward de Vere makes the most of the humorous character of Fighting Jeffs. Miss Daisy Halling scores a dramatic triumph in the part of Madame Sanson; as Kitty Springthorpe, Miss Cissie Francis is charming and pleasing; Miss Lynn Darlington is capable as Meg and gives a delightful rendering of the song, "Eileen Alannah."

MIDDLESBROUGH. — THEATRE ROYAL.—Proprietor and Manager, Mr. Chas. Imeson.—Mr. Lingford Carson's company, in The Power of the Cross, is here this week. Mr. Hartwell J. Kirby as Baron Woulfe Curzole gives a forcible impersonation; Mr. Harry C. Rutland as Gerald Fairfax, and Mr. Royce Carlton as Dr. Fairfax, act with ability; Miss Cissie St. Elmo is exceedingly good; Miss May Grayce is capable as the banker's daughter; and for the part of Dolly Gray a clever representative is found in Miss Etta Turner. Miss Stanley Burt gives a very natural and womanly rendering of the part of Margaret Seaton; Mr. Wilfred Santley acts with considerable force as Jan Grotchen; and as the banker, Mr. A. J. Murray plays with artistic restraint.

OPERA HOUSE.—Managing-Director, Mr. Robert Arthur; Acting-Manager, Mr. W. K. Chatto.—Mr. Brandon Thomas's company, with Charley's Aunt, is here this week. From first to last the artists keep audiences convulsed with laughter. Miss Lena McNaughton, as the real lady from Brazil, imbues the part with all the requisite humour and charm; Mr. Stanley Cooke is as amusing as ever as Lord Fancourt; Mr. Hastings Lynn as Jack, and Mr. Richard B. Mason as Charley, are a decided success; and Miss Kitty Carew is exceedingly good as Amy. Mr. C. B. Keeston is excellent as the Colonel; and a word of commendation is due to Mr. Walter Beaumont as Stephen Spettigue.

EMPIRE PALACE.—Managing-Director, Mr. John Brill; Manager, Mr. Chas. B. Rembges.—A most entertaining programme is being presented here this week. The great turn is that given by Starr and Leslie, in their speciality act, which includes an excellent display with the Indian clubs. Les Lios Alfa Sisters prove themselves clever gymnasts; and Gladys and Alber cause laughter with their songs. Alma Grey is a clever dancer; and Ethel Dove proves a popular little comedy artist. The Kimberley Boys create roars of laughter; and Fred Villiers, vocalist, does well. The other turns are provided by Bonnetti and Corrie, T. C. Callaghan, and the bioscope.

OXFORD PALACE.—Proprietor and Manager, Mr. Alf. Graham.—An excellent programme is provided at this popular place of amusement. Tom Lloyd, comedian, has a rare reception; Harry Nelson, a Tyneside humorist, creates roars of laughter; and Milsted and Bell are very successful in their musical comedy scena The Belle of Arizona. George H. Keith, comedian, pleases; and Florence Deighton, double-voiced vocalist, does well. The other turns are provided by Childie Stuart, comedienne; Charlie Dean, comedian; Ryde and Beeston; and the bioscope.

MORECAMBE. — ROYALTY THEATRE AND OPERA HOUSE. — Sole Lessee, Lieut. Julian Malvern; General-Manager, Mr. Chas. M. Julian.—During the week Mr. Chas. Macdona's company has been appearing with success in The White Chrysanthemum, the Criterion production having been admirably portrayed by a company including Messrs. Chas. Schmiedt, H. Langdon Bruce, H. E. Garden, Richd. Telford, James Dallas, Misses Muriel George, Nellie Groves, and Emily Taylor. The chorus shows evidence of careful training under the direction of Mr. Walter Scott; whilst the business arrangements have been carried out by Mr. Frank Withers.

WINTER GARDENS.—General Manager, Mr. Tom Atkinson.—For a second week the Savonas and the Elliotts have provided the principal items in the programme here, and all they have done has been warmly applauded. Donaldson Bros. and Ardell are excellent in their pantomimical absurdity, A Zoological Comedy; and Florence Schuberth is a pleasing burlesque artist; the Three Mushams raise abundant laughter with their sketch, A Day on Hampstead Heath; George Barron's comic songs and patter are well received; Herr Addison introduces some particularly clever fox terriers; Miss Marie Stiven, the distinguished contralto, wins much applause; and illustrated songs are given by Miss Florence.

ALHAMBRA PALACE.—Manager, Alderman John Gardner.—A strong programme has been provided by Ald. Gardner this week, and it has drawn the people. Topping the bill is Rosina Casselli and her wonderfully trained Ch

NEWCASTLE-UPON-TYNE.—Tyne Theatre.—Managing Director, Mr. F. W. Wyndham; Business Manager, Mr. F. C. Sutcliffe.—A revival of Faust Up-to-date has proved acceptable entertainment here this week, and an excellent company, under the direction of Mr. George Edwards, does the piece full justice. The Marguerite of Miss Eda Mardy was charmingly refreshing, and her sweet singing was loudly applauded. The Mephistopheles of Mr. Herbert Sparling was rendered on original lines, and was always amusing. Mr. Stephen Adeson did exceptionally well with somewhat scanty material as the Lord Chancellor, and Mr. Fred Winn as Valentine gave due effect to the songs allotted to this rôle. The Faust of Miss Moyra Sackville was an artistic triumph, and the dancing of Miss Amy Payne was neatness itself.

Theatre Royal.—Managing Director, Mr. Robert Arthur; Acting Manager, Mr. F. Teale Lingham.—Mr. H. B. Irving and Miss Dorothea Baird head an excellent company in Mr. Stephen Phillips's tragedy, Paola and Francesca, which is being played here this week. On his appearence in the character of Giovanni Malatesta, Mr. Irving was accorded a flattering reception, and his fine impersonation of a difficult part met with frequent and well-merited outbursts of approval from the crowded house. Of the excellence of Miss Baird's Francesca it would be difficult to speak too highly. A powerful and finished piece of acting is Miss Maud Milton's Lucrezia Dege'Onesti, while Paola finds an able exponent in Mr. Harcourt Williams. Other parts in the fascinating play, which is admirably staged, are capably filled.

Palace Theatre.—Managing Director, Mr. T. W. Rowe; Business Manager, Mr. E. B. Clark.—Mr. E. Hill-Mitchelson's company has done good business here this week in the Russian drama, entitled The Assassin. Quite a pet aversion of the galleryite is the callous Prince Demetri of Mr. Augustine Knight. Mr. Edward E. Ashby is an heroic and soldierly-like Ivan Spanoff. Mr. Theo Balfour ably sustains the rôle of Duke Carl, and Mr. Cecil H. Raymond scores with a skilful rendering of Baron Alphonse. A bright and spirited Captain O'Neil is found in Mr. Edward Jenner, and Mr. Tom Taylor is quaintly humorous as Peter. Miss Ella Vane handles the difficult rôle of Countess Wauda with tact; Miss Frances Waring effectively renders the part of Nita; and Miss Georgina Hamilton wins admiration for a pleasing rendition of Connie Jonathan. Miss Maria Robertson, Miss Ada Douglas, and Miss Edith Woodward are also deserving of praise.

Grand Theatre.—General-Manager, Mr. Sidney Bacore.—Messrs. Fred J. Little and Fred Darcy's company is paying a visit here this week in the drama entitled The Shadow of a Crime. Included in an excellent cast are Miss Ina Grant, Mr. Stephen Crossley, Mr. John Manley, Mr. Robert Forder, Mr. William Matthews, and Mr. E. W. Avery.

Empire Theatre.—Proprietors, Messrs. The Moss Empires, Ltd.; Resident Director, Mr. Richard Thornton.—Fred Karno's latest creation, Moses and Sons, was presented here for the first time on Monday, and met with an enthusiastic reception. Mr. Fred Kitchen was the life and soul of the piece by his richly humorous impersonation as Perkins, and kept the fun going right merrily. Lord Murray, and Lord, with their boxing act, are prime favourites; Esta Stella is a dainty coon impersonator, and also executes some tricky dances; Ludwig Amann is remarkably clever with his facial impersonations; George Reeves, in a couple of songs, provides a diverting turn; C. J. Johnson sings and dances himself into favour; and Rosie Bartlett, comedienne; and Rezene and Robini, comedy artistes, submit acceptable contributions.

Pavilion Theatre.—Managing-Director, Mr. Thos. Barrasford; Manager, Mr. Will H. Boardman.—The top liners in this week's programme are The Cratons, who are responsible for a mirth-provoking entertainment, entitled The Mumming Birds. Tony Iveson, a comedian with local connections, proves his versatility in his musical show; Gus Harris with his Synagogue scena hits the popular fancy, and other contributors are the Dugros Trio, comedy gymnasts; Will Lytton, Frank Leslie, and Ted Cowan, comedians; Amiel, contortionist; the Baltus troupe, acrobats; and the Barrascope.

NEWPORT.—Lyceum.—Lessee and Manager, Mr. Sidney Cooper.—Mr. Samuel James's company is playing It's Never Too Late to Mend here this week. Mr. W. Heilroom gives a skilful interpretation of the character of George Fielding. Mr. Beresford Whitcomb shows himself to be an actor of no mean ability in the part of Tom Robinson, and Mr. Jas. May as Peter Crawley, is most amusing. Mr. Jackson Hayes makes a capital villain as Mr. Meadows. Miss Hettie Graham's portrayal of Josephs was very moving in the prison scene, and Miss May Laker was seen at her best as Susan Merton. Miss Maude Ethelda was successful as Mary, and Mr. Edwin Wilde as the Rev. Francis Eden, and Mr. Osmond Fairfax as Isaac Levi, sustained those parts with dignity.

Empire.—Moss' Empires, Ltd.—Managing-Director Mr. O. Stoll.—Geo. Robey is chief favourite here this week, and affords much amusement. Carlton, a quaint jester, does many clever things, and Fred Lincoln, a comic singer, is warmly received. The Olive Trio of lady dancers are popular; Prof. Therese, comedy hypnotist, provides a good turn; and Barnard's mannikins give a smart and amusing performance. Joseph Adelmann makes a favourable impression with his performance on the xylophone, and the Bioscope, showing among other pictures "Rescued in Mid-air," completes the bill.

NORTHAMPTON.—Opera House.—Sole Proprietors and Managers, Milton Bode and Edward Compton; General Manager, Reginald Taylor.—Mr. Bert Cooke's company is here this week in The Fatal Wedding. Miss Leah Marlborough gives an effective rendering of the scheming adventuress. Cora Williams; Miss Katherine Clarke is well suited as Mabel Wilson; Miss Madge McCalla is commendable as Jessie; Miss Blanche Stanley makes an amusing Bridget; Mr. Guy Hastings gives a clever reading of the part of Herbert Curtis; and Mr. Wilson Howard makes the best of the unsatisfactory rôle of Howard Wilson. Toto by Mr. Edward Morgan; Peter Schwartz by Mr. Walter Westwood; and O'Reilly by Mr. Jack Waring, are admirable impersonations. Mr. Arthur Law Raynor is highly impressive as the Rev. Dr. Lanceford.

Palace of Varieties.—Proprietor and Manager, Mr. Fred H. Anderson. — The Bensons are here again in their vocal and comedy act, the strong point of which is their dancing, which is highly applauded. Leon and Leoni appear with success in a musical act; Nellie Adrienne, whistler, obtains a good reception; the Three Zaracs are most comical on the triple horizontal bars; the Sisters Varley are pleasing vocalists; Harry Phydora's comic songs are favourably received; the Ladderites provide a clever acrobatic show; Stronge and Mainze appear in what is termed a "Continental cannon act"; and the Palace Pictures provide a most amusing turn.

NORTH SHIELDS.—Theatre Royal.—Lessee and Manager, Mr. Arthur Jefferson; Acting-Manager, Mr. Horace Lee.—Mr. Reginald H. Adair's company, with The Luck of Life, has proved a great attraction here this week. As Michael Bazilovitz, Mr. Harry Lloyd gives a capital impersonation; Mr. Henry Loraine is a capable Count Petroff; and Mr. Charles Belcliffe, as Ivan Polowski, achieves success; Mr. Hilton Marsh is clever as George Stanhope; and Mr. Harry T. Butler makes quite a hit as Simon Stanley; as Rene Bazilovitz, Miss Nita Langford plays in a skilful manner; Miss Marie Clavering gives a satisfactory impersonation of the Countess Vlame; Miss Adelaide Clare makes a good Vivienne D'Artois; Miss Dorothy Huggett is well placed as Laura North; and Miss Kate Penrowne gives a pleasing performance as Mlle. de Beaudyn.

Central Palace.—Lessee and Manager, Mr. Wm. Mould.—The programme here is headed by Cullane's Comedy Trio, who have made a great hit; Messrs. Williams and Warden, comedians, cause intense fun; Mr. Martin Henderson, concertina soloist, is as successful as ever; and Mr. Harry Bancroft, actor-vocalist, repeats his success; Messrs. Manillo and Merazo, musical knife grinders, are clever; Miss Lily Lonsdale, juvenile vocalist and dancer, is appreciated; and the Bio-Photoscope has lost none of its popularity.

NORTHWICH.—Pierrot Pavilion.—Proprietors, the Royal Pierrots Co.—The Merrions (Will, Harry, and Fred) are providing the programme here this week, and it is mirthful and musical from start to finish. Their repértoire is extensive, and each evening's selections have afforded the greatest satisfaction. Two items in particular met with favour, viz., "The Musical Mélange," by Will and Harry, and "The Pictorial Sketch," by Will Merrion.

NORWICH.—Theatre Royal.—Manager, Mr. Fred Morgan. — A powerful company under Mr. Morton Powell is appearing here this week, in When it was Dark. Mr. Cyril Austen-Lee gives a fine representation of the part of the Rev. Basile Gortre; Mr. Geo. H. Pitt is equally good as Constantine Schwabe; Mr. Francis Cairns is most successful as Lucifer; Mr. Henry Heller as the Rev. Mr. Byars, deserves commendation; Mr. Bryce Methven is effective as Sir Robt. Llewellyn; Mr. G. Rammal makes an excellent Harold Spence; Mr. Millar Wilson ably presents the part of the Hon. Charlie Gaybly; and as Mr. Ommaney, Mr. Charles Clayton does well. Mrs. Morton Powell is highly satisfactory as Helena Byars; Miss Bessie Ellis as Gracie Goldergo acts with vivacity; and Miss Laura Walker is charming as Gertrude Hunt.

Hippodrome.—Proprietors, Messrs. E. H. Bostock and F. W. Fitt; Manager, Mr. F. W. Fitt.—An excellent programme is again presented this week. Frank and Jen Latona head the bill, and are great favourites in their comedy, The Lady Slavey, exhibiting much musical ability. Millie Howell is successful as a descriptive vocalist; Maxwell and Frances are attractive in their singing and dancing; Arthur Stacey scores as a top boot dancer; Arabella Allen is responsible for some pleasing impersonations of characters from Charles Dickens; Agnes Molteno's songs are very taking; the Daunton-Shaw troupe of cyclists submit an excellent turn; and the Hippo Bio shows some interesting pictures.

NOTTINGHAM.—Theatre Royal.—Managing Director, Mr. Robt. Arthur; Acting-Manager, Mr. Howard Finney.—Upon its return visit here, What the Butler Saw is proving as great an attraction as ever. In the part of Pink, Mr. Lionel Rignold simply revels, and his every appearance is greeted with shouts of laughter. Miss Ada Blanche has every opportunity in the part of Mrs. Barrington for her ripened abilities, and is ably supported by Mr. Charles Fawcett, who handles the part of Jack Barrington in a very clever manner. Mr. Reddick Anderson has every qualification necessary to the impersonation of the impecunious baronet, Sir Charles Foden, and Miss Maria Daltra scores in the rôle of Miss Foden. Mr. Harry H. Rignold has a congenial part in that of Abraham Weinstein, and acts it without undue exaggeration. Miss Jennie Wigney makes a suitable Nora, and Miss Annie Webster and Miss Dorothy Garth are satisfactory as Fanny and Maria. Mr. George Ascott has care of the part of General Dunlop, and acquits himself well, whilst the difficult rôle of Vere de Bogyns loses nothing in the hands of Mr. Alec Alves, and that of Sydney Clifford is carefully acted by Mr. Lewis Lingard. Mr. Roy Byford, Mr. Frank Kingsley, and Mr. C. Barney all do well in their respective parts. Miss Hylda Davies and Miss Vera O'Connell as the Dunlop Girls are good, and Miss Violet Gould and Miss Agnes Goward are capable as Mrs. Fleming Smyth and Mrs. Hake respectively; whilst as Miss Hake Miss Minnie Willett does all that is required in an efficient manner. The mounting and management of the piece are all that could be desired.

Grand Theatre.—Manager, Mr. Chas. P. Cooke.—An excellent company, under the auspices of Mr. Julian Malvern, and directed by Mr. Chas. M. Julian, is appearing here in the powerful drama, I Defy the World, by Arthur Shirley and E. Hill-Mitchelson. Mr. Percy Ballard has a congenial part as Leon Darville, to which he does ample justice, whilst as the Count de Beaulieu, Mr. Chas. Walton is thoroughly successful. Mr. Alfred Denning as the fiery General Delaporte is good, and the blackmailer, Laroche, finds a capable impersonator in Mr. Chas. Conway. As a young artist, Mr. Arthur Chisholm makes the most of his opportunities, and Mr. C. M. Julian is altogether at home as Samuel Wozzle, and, together with Miss Maud Lillian as Marie Wozzle, causes endless fun and laughter. Miss Connie Gray is clever in the rôle of Fifine, and Miss Rosie Dane is well able to support the part of Fauchette. Miss Violet Craufurd looks thoroughly charming, and acts the rôle of Blanche Darville in a sympathetic manner. Messrs. A. Lewis, H. Passmore, A. C. Johnstone, and W. Darling are excellently made up as beggars, and Mr. Albert Ball and Mr. E. H. Cartwright make capital gendarmes. The priests are capably represented by Messrs. Devenport and Barkley, and Messrs. Reginald A. Hunt and Dalton J. Bosher satisfactorily fill the remaining parts. The play is capitally staged, and reflects great credit on all concerned.

King's Theatre.—Proprietor, Mr. Frank Macnaghten; Manager, Mr. Edgar O. Waller.—The success of the animated pictures has been so pronounced that they are being continued this week with new films and subjects, with the addition of the engagement for the week of Mr. Lester King, baritone vocalist.

Empire Theatre of Varieties.—Managing-Director, Mr. Oswald Stoll; Acting-Manager, Mr. Chas. H. Bowmaker.—The eccentric musical sketch produced by the Ten Loonies is attracting large audiences, whose laughter and applause testify their appreciation alike of the buffoonery and skill. Miss Winifred Hare occupies the next place on the bill, and her charming and winsome style, added to her excellent voice and beautiful dresses, at once win the admiration, and evoke the plaudits of her auditors. Rich and Rich are comedians of no mean capacity, and great enthusiasm is elicited by the vocal duets and witty repartee of the Sisters Pine. Of comedians from the Emerald Isle, Miss Minnie Cunningham is undoubtedly one of the best. The Leonards sing and dance well, and their duets are admirably topical and to the point. Of burlesque piano players there is more than enough, but Elsie Roby is one of them we could not easily spare. Jacques Inandi, the man of figures, has still power to attract, and the Goltz Trio of globe equilibrists deserve mention. An excellent programme is completed by The Zanettos, a first class trio of jugglers.

NUNEATON. — Prince of Wales Theatre.—Prince of Wales Theatre and Entertainments Co., Ltd. — Managing Director, Mr. A. J. Cross; Acting-Manager, Mr. Walter J. R. Bryan.—Mr. J. F. Preston's company is here this week. The company opened on Monday with Lady Godiva, which was received with much favour, the acting throughout being excellent. Miss Ethel Griffies at once won the sympathy of the house in the title-rôle; Mr. Rawson Buckley as Tom of Coventry was all that could be desired; Mr. Howard Barlow was sufficiently repulsive as the villainous Aljar. As Lady Aldwyth Miss Catherine Brook was seen to advantage. Mr. R. S. Innes was good as Leofric. Mr. Ernest Hamilton did good work as Unwolf Unwolfson, and Edgar (the nameless) was played with good effect by Mr. G. Edward Dunstan. Mr. Bob Anderson as Robin Shackleton produces an amount of genuine humour, and Miss Edith Lorraine is a sprightly Elfrida. The staging for the memorable ride is very effective. Nell Gwynne and Jane Shore are also played by the same company.

OLDHAM.—Empire Theatre.—General Manager, Mr. E. Dottridge; Assistant Manager, Mr. J. Hulme.—A Royal Divorce is paying a return visit this week. Mr. W. W. Kelly's strong company includes Miss Edith Cole, who appears with great success as the Empress Josephine. Mr. Frederick Victor as Napoleon gives a capital rendering; Mr. F. Joynsen Powell is all that can be desired as Talleyrand; Mr. Graham Woods does well as the Marquis de Beaumont; Mr. Arthur Preston is a capital Marshal Murat; and Mr. St. George Frere is good as General Augereau. Miss Clara Russell makes the most of the part of Stephanie de Beauharnais.

Colosseum.—General Manager, Mr. W. Eastwood.—Miss Adria Hill and Mr. Robert Ayrton are here this week with A Gambler's Daughter, and Mr. Ayrton capably fills the part of Desmond O'Dare. Ralph Gillman is well played by Mr. Martin Sands; Mr. Howell Travis does well as Dick the Weazel. Stephen Brand is effectively played by Mr. Arthur T. Lennard; and Mr. A. Sanders as Soloman Solomans is responsible for much of the comedy. Miss Adria Hill as Mildred and Miriam Grant leave nothing to be desired. Miss Harriett Loydale is a capital Auntie Zeb, and Miss Sanders a good Carita.

Hippodrome (late Gaiety).—Manager, Mr. E. Dottridge; Assistant Manager, Mr. Nuttall. — After being closed for the season, the theatre opened on Monday under the above name. The Marvellous Avolos top the bill with their acrobatic novelty on the perpendicular poles. The Elvio Comedy Trio present a capital sketch, Those Troublesome Slaveys, and Correze and Keith have a good equilibristic act. Martinengo is a capable vocalist and cellist; Joe Chevers is a good comedian, as is Master Joe Conway. Lillie Lebreton is a dainty trapeze artiste. The Dottoscope is showing some capital pictures.

OXFORD.—Empire Theatre.—Lessee and Manager, Mr. Albany Ward; Acting-Manager, Mr. H. G. P. Wells.—Mr. Henry S. Dacre's company is this week presenting Moths. As Lord Jura, Mr. Dacre is very natural and consistent; while Mr. Ernest Percy gives a capital rendering of Prince Zouroff; Mr. Percy Twyman acts the part of Correze with praiseworthy depth of feeling; and Mr. W. Castlemain is very humorous as the Duke of Mull. Miss Sophy Shenton is adequately suited as Lady Dolly Vanderdecker; Miss Jessie Gillette makes the most of Duchess de Sonnaze; and Miss Legarde Atheling is a typical American as Fuchsia Leach; Miss Poppie Carewe gives a careful and sympathetic rendering of Vera.

PERTH.—Theatre Royal.—Sole Lessee and Manager, Mr. J. H. Savile; Acting Manager, Mr. Frank Aldridge.—The successful comedy Mrs. Gorringe's Necklace is being staged this week for the first time in Perth. Mr. Yorke Stephens's Captain Mowbray is admirable; Mr. Maitland Dicker assists greatly by his excellent impersonation of Colonel Jardine; Mr. W. Briscoe Owen has a difficult part in Lieutenant David Cairn; and credit is due to him for the manner in which he plays the rôle; Mr. Reginald Walter is successfully placed in the rôle of the detective Jernigan; as also is Mr. Lawrence J. White in that of Charles the footman. Miss Ethel Royal acts the part of Mrs. Jardine with the necessary force; Miss May Straker is to be commended on her charming portrayal of Isabel Lirke; Miss Mabel Melba is happily placed as Vicky Jardine; Miss Isabel Fladgate makes an excellent Miss Potts; Miss Frances Vine's Mrs. Gorringe is received with hearty approbation throughout. A comedietta entitled Uncle Joseph is given as a curtain-raiser.

PLYMOUTH.—Theatre Royal.—Lessee and Manager, Mr. C. F. Williams; Acting-Manager, Mr. J. Langdon Lee.—A large audience left the Royal tired with laughing on Monday, after witnessing the excruciatingly funny situations in Are You a Mason? as presented by Mr. Chas. Macdona's chief company. Mr. E. H. Paterson as Amos Bloodgood the would-be Worshipful Master, and Mr. Howard L. Tracy as Frank Perry, his son-in-law, kept the audience convulsed by their efforts to obtain from each other some clue to legitimate Freemasonry; Mr. Ernest Copart scored as George Fisher; Mr. Frederic Jaques was original as Hamilton Travers, a fourth-rate actor; and Mr. Dare Austin was acceptable as Ernest Morrison. Miss Adelaide Grace as Mrs. Caroline Bloodgood, made an ideal dictatorial mother-in-law; Miss Minnie Rayner as Lotti created much genuine amusement; and the Misses Mabel Younge, Babs Stuart, and Madge Merrique, made a fascinating trio of daughters of Mrs. Bidgood; Mr. Edwin Millins as John Hilton proved a distinct acquisition. The piece is preceded by a well-rendered one-act play, entitled The Ruby Heart.

Grand Theatre.—Lessee and Manager, Mr. C. F. Williams; Acting-Manager, Mr. Percy Williams; Assistant Acting-Manager, Mr. E. Grant. — Mr. Percy Williams' company is presenting here the drama entitled The Heart of a Hero, which abounds in exciting and realistic situations. Mr. Edward Lloyd makes a fine well-set hero, Jem Resdale; Mr. Walter Terris well represents a shrewd detective; Mr. Johnny McElroy causes laughter as Timothy Heighno; Mr. Alfred Brandon as Wilfrid Marl, the intriguer, makes the most of a difficult part; Miss Caroline Fenton correctly interprets the part of Mrs. Ryder; and Miss Ethel Kay as Nell Resdale is excellent.

Metropole Theatre.—Manager, Mr. Mitchell.—Mr. Henry Bedford's play, The See-Saw of Life, is here this week. Mr. Bedford himself fills the leading rôle of Matt Marston, in a highly creditable fashion; Mr. Robert Gilbert is distinctly good as Sir James Dalroy; and Mr. Syd. Bedford is quite an original comedian.

Palace of Varieties.—Owners, County Theatres and Hotels, Ltd.—Manager, Mr. Jack Field.—A varied and interesting programme is submitted here. The Albano Troupe have a high-class musical act, M. Henri Albano being loudly applauded for his manipulation of the English concertina; Bijou Russell is a finished sand dancer; Charles Matthews, jumper, does well; the Wartenburg Bros. are skilful jugglers with their feet; Charlie Williams gives a wonderful exhibition of big boot dancing; Albert and Edmunds have a breezy sketch entitled A Trip to Boulogne; and Marie Gibson is a high-class ballad vocalist. Other items are furnished by Charles Lilburn, comedian, and Vernon's Pictures.

Promenade Pier and Pavilion.—Manager, Mr. J. Higson.—The Vaudevilles, a well-balanced little company, are performing to large audiences here. Some exceptionally good dancing is submitted by Thomson and O'Hanlon; Miss Kathleen Moore is an able exponent of cake-walking; Miss Rosalie Jacobi is a popular vocalist; Master Cecil Bernard earns loud applause by some character sketches; and the humorous business could not be in better hands than those of Mr. Leonard Lane.

PORTH.—The Palace (late Opera House).—General-Manager, Mr. C. W. Poole; Acting and Stage-Manager, Mr. Walter Bynorth.—Messrs. Poole are working this house on the two performances a night system, which is proving a huge success. The building has been closed for several weeks for renovating purposes, and is now thoroughly equipped to meet the demands of the numerous patrons. The bill is headed by Wyndham and Kitty, wire artists, who are well received; Rosie Lemaire, descriptive vocalist, meets with a hearty reception; Jimmy Shields, comedian and one-legged dancer, is loudly applauded; the Mezzettis, in a comedy gymnastic act on the triple bars, are exceptionally clever; Eugene, in his musical act, is a capital turn; Dowton and Steeley, comedians, are much appreciated; the Fordyces, singers and dancers, are decidedly clever; the Sisters Stratton, duettists and dancers, are also well received; the pictures shown on the American Bioscope are delightful. The band is under the direction of Mr. Nimrod Williams.

PORTSMOUTH.—Theatre Royal.—Licensee and Manager, Mr. J.W. Boughton; Acting-Manager, Mr. Armstrong Bell—Mr. George Edwardes's company is here this week, presenting the musical play, A Girl on the Stage, to well filled and most enthusiastic houses nightly. Mr. Lennox Pawle as the Earl of Sanctobury gives a most artistic impersonation; Lord Congress is taken by Mr. J. Robert Hale with conspicuous success; Shingle, in the hands of Mr. John Humphries, is an exceedingly clever portrayal; Mr. Colin Coop makes an imposing Alderman Briggs; and Mr. Arthur Longley is very humorous as Algernon Southdown; Miss Queenie Leighton is delightfully fascinating as Molly Montrose; and Miss Fanny Dango and Miss Valli Valli ably fill the parts of the Earl's daughters.

Prince's Theatre.—Licensee and Manager, Mr. J. W. Boughton; Acting-Manager, Mr. T. E. Agate.—Her Wedding Day is being staged here this week, Mr. T. Edward Ward and company giving a very capable presentation. Harold Saxby, the bridegroom, is played by Mr. George M. Newall in manly fashion; Mr. Wilson Coleman, as Weedon Kenyon, gives a very acceptable performance; Mr. Fred Arnold acts characteristically the Sexton Caccles; and Mr. T. E. Ward invests the part of the ex-convict, Seth Mayson, with a strong individuality; Miss Ward, in the character of Madge Conway, gives a charming impersonation; and Miss Adeline Raby is excellent as Dora.

Empire Palace.—Secretary, Mr. W. Pratt.—Collinson and company, with the sensational sketch, A Club Raid, head the bill here this week; Zaro and Arno are smart in their comedy bar act; Rita and Roma, versatile vaudevillists, give a much appreciated performance; Ben Albert, character comedian, is quaint in his impersonations; the Darrell Trio are vocalists and instrumentalists of quality; Grant and Allen, burlesque comedians, meet with success; George Antill, with his whimsicalities and legmania, wins applause; Collinson's juveniles, with the speciality, Topsy-Turvy School, create uproarious merriment; Maude Forde is a capital soubrette; the Sisters Bartholomew are smart duettists and dancers; and Payne's Pictures complete a varied programme.

PRESTON.—Royal Hippodrome.—Proprietors Messrs. W. H. Broadhead and Sons; Resident Acting-Manager, Mr. E. J. Linsdell.—At the head of this week's bill is Leoni Clarke, with his 200 cats, monkeys rabbits, canaries, &c., which provide an interesting and amusing performance; the Schiavonis furnish a very clever and novel acrobatic act; the feats of Ranji, Sinji, and Valeria, Indian comedy magicians mystify the audience; the Seddons give a smart and mirth-provoking display of juggling; Tom Kelso and company in the farce, The Silly Servant, evoke hearty laughter; Claude Felman's Juveniles sing and dance well; other turns deserving favourable mention are Lil O'Gorman, burlesque actress, vocalist, and dancer; and the Bros. Passmore, comedians.

Theatre Royal.—Manager, Mr. Stephen Pritt.—This week Mr. Wm. Mollison and his company are fulfilling a popular return engagement in Beside the Bonnie Brier Bush. Lachlan Campbell is impersonated with impressive effect by Mr. W. Mollison; Mr. John Clyde gives a jovial presentment of Dr. Maclure; Mr. Kendal Chalmers, as Thomas Mitchell is exceedingly droll; Mr. D. Lyall capably depicts the Earl of Kilspindie, and Lord Hay, his son, has an earnest and manly representative in Mr. Archie W. Chappell; Mr. Durward Lely acquits himself well as the Rev. John Carmichael, and Mr. Alec F. Thompson creates much merriment by his lively humour as McKittrick; as Kate Carnegie, Miss Alice Francis is seen to advantage; Miss Josephine Woodward's embodiment of Margaret Howe is admirably natural; Miss Edith Blair-Staples is quite successful as Annie; and Miss Evelyn McNay displays strong dramatic ability in her portrayal of Flora Campbell. The play is beautifully staged.

RADCLIFFE.—Grand Opera House. — Sole Owner and Manager, Mr. Geo. T. Sante; Acting-Manager, Mr. Jas. Boothman.—Mrs. Rose Faith's company, in No Cross, No Crown, has played to good audiences here this week. The excellent acting and the fine costumes have gained favourable comment. Miss Faith, a talented actress, is seen to advantage as Clare, the second wife; and Miss Gwen Stewart acts effectively as Mistress Gray, the first wife. Sir Francis Luttrell, the husband, has an able impersonator in Mr. W. Carriden; Mr. H. Chapman does well as Professor Neil; and Mr. Herbert De Ville makes a good villain. A word of praise is also due to Miss E. Ewer, a youthful actress, for her efficiency in her part.

RAMSGATE.—Amphitheatre.—Proprietor, Lord Geo. Sanger; Lessee and Manager, Mr. H. Bowman.—The programme during the first three nights has consisted of The Walls of Jericho, played in capital fashion by Mr. A. Bourchier's company, under the management of Mr. Silvanus Dauncey and Mr. M. V. Leveaux. In the central character of Jack Frobisher, Mr. Herbert Bunston was eminently successful, and Mr. George A. Brandram was effective in the rôle of Hankey Bannister. Miss Florence Jackson played with skill the part of Lady Alethea. On Thursday Mr. Charles Harrington's No. 1 company commenced a three nights' engagement in Uncle Tom's Cabin, an old favourite, which never fails to secure an appreciative reception.

Royal Victoria Theatre and Pavilion.—Proprietors, Ramsgate Corporation; Lessee, Mr. Jules Richeux. — Admirably played and mounted, The Orchid proved a big success at the Pavilion on the first three evenings of the week. Mr. Harry Walsh was highly amusing as Meakin, and Miss Hilda Vining as Caroline Vokins contributed greatly to the success of the production. The other members of the cast performed their allotted parts in a manner with which it was difficult to find any fault; the singing was good, and the tout ensemble admirable in effect. — On Thursday, The Orchid gave place to the well-known burlesque, Faust Up-to-Date, played by Mr. Mouillot's capable company.

RAWTENSTALL.—Grand Theatre. — Lessee and Manager, Mr. Arthur De Frece; General-Manager, Mr George Dickinson.—Messrs. Charles Beresford and W. H. Moore's company opened here on Monday evening to a crowded house with A Rogue's Daughter. Miss Gertrude Sterroll as Lady Mynard gave a charming and really artistic rendering of the part, and made a good impression; whilst as Colonel Foster, Mr. Richard Ferriss submitted a powerful and finished portrayal of an aristocratic villain; Mr. Roy Gordon was a good Sir George Mynard; and Mr. Frank V. Fenn an excellent Frank Tyler. Mr. Robert W. Lynn played the part of Isaac Isaacs in fine style; and Mr. E. Hall-Eldon was also good as Ebenezer Dunnem. Miss Florence Gower was admirable as Dicky; and Miss Madge Deverick as Letty Gray gave a very capable and pathetic portrayal. Miss Becky Elliston as Priscilla was capital; and the rest of the characters were ably sustained.

READING.—Royal County Theatre.—Proprietor and Manager, Mr. Milton Bode; Acting-Manager, Mr. W. E. Barnett; Secretary, Mr. Reginald Taylor.—Mr. Vivian Grantham's No. 1 London company is appearing here this week with success in the new romantic drama Held in Bondage. Miss Florence Tyrrell gives a very powerful impersonation of the Countess de Beaupre; Mr. Charles Stirling as Ivan Dronski, Mr. R. Vane as Prince Mazaroff, Mr. George Child as Sir J. Hawthorne, Mr. C. V. Proctor as Paul, Mr. R. Dryden as Col. Ispanoff, Mr. George Scully as Harry Dunn, Miss Grace Baring as Leonie Devigne, and Miss Maude Merrick as Lisette, all merit special mention; and the other parts are well filled.

ROCHDALE.—New Theatre Royal, Ltd.—Managing-Director, Mr. W. Robinson; General-Manager, Mr. Otto C. Culling; Resident-Manager, Mr. J. Hague.—The Fatal Wedding occupies the boards here this week. Mr. Ernest Owtrim is very effective in his portrayal of Howard Wilson; Mr. S. Herbert Humber cleverly impersonates the unscrupulous Robert Curtis; Mr. C. H. Hughes is good as Tolo; and Mr. George Waring is diverting in the part of O'Reilly. Miss Madge Haines enlists sympathy as Mabel Wilson; Miss Gertrude Harrison is all that could be desired as Cora Williams; and Miss Marjorie Lawrence wins all hearts as Jessie, the Little Mother.

Empire Theatre of Varieties.—Proprietor and Manager, Mr. Thos. Hargreaves; Acting-Manager, Mr. Frank Hargreaves.—J. Boganny and troupe, comedy Risleyists, as the Lunatic Bakers, fairly bring down the house with a really fine performance; Jack Pleasants is a popular comedian with a quaint and original style; and other capital turns include Little Beattie, a charming song and dance artist; George Goldburn, comedian; Welda and Wynne, comedy jugglers, dancers, &c.; Vesta Fay, male impersonator; Mary Glenn, who vocalises with refinement and taste; and the Empire Bioscope.

ROTHERHAM.—Theatre Royal, Ltd.—Managing-Director, Mr. F. Macnaghten; Resident-Manager, Mr. Holbery Hardy.—Messrs. Stillwell and Teulon's company is this week presenting The Branded Woman to the local playgoers. Mr. James Stillwell is an excellent Philip Maurice; Mr. Edwin Turner a smart Leon, Baron Hauber; Mr. Duncan Bell scores as Zarka; Mr. Harry Liddle is responsible for much humour as Dick Brown; Mr. Atherton Edwards is seen to advantage as Paul Flouret, and Mr. Paul E. Tenlon does well as Louis Duroc. Miss Violet Bailey-Clark as Rudolph gives a pleasing portrayal; Miss Isobel Marte is chic as Jacqueline; Miss Katherine Barnett, sympathetic as Marie, and Miss Zana St. George as Genevieve (the title-rôle) gives a powerful rendition.

RUGBY.—Theatre Royal.—Managing-Director, Mr. A. F. Cross; Acting-Manager, Mr. Drew Mackintosh.—Proof, presented by Mr. and Mrs. William Maclaren's company, is doing good business here this week. Mr. W. J. Butler as Lazare gives a powerful and impressive impersonation; and as the Duke d'Aubeterre, Mr. Carl Beechey is very successful. Mr. Wilfred Bailey as Chamboran is amusing; and Mr. Arthur St. Aubyn as Victor de Langney is excellent. Mr. Gerald Kennedy as Pierre Lorance quite enters into the spirit of the character, and displays great ability; Mr. Eric Neville makes the most of his opportunities as the Seneschal; Miss Beatrice Slirley, as Madeline in the prologue and Madame Deprets in the drama, acts exceedingly well; as Adrienne Miss Beatrice Shirley wins the sympathy and approval of the audience throughout; Miss Nita Ashby is capital as the Duchesse D'Aubeterre; Miss May Grimshaw as Valentine is charming; and Miss Ellen Morris as Julie also deserves praise; Miss Ellina Turner as Little Adrienne displays marked ability.

RYDE.—Theatre Royal.—Lessees and Managers, J. Bannister Howard, Ltd.—Mr. Arthur Bourchier's company has been seen to marked advantage here during the past week in the society play entitled The Walls of Jericho. The part of Jack Frobisher was impressively played by Mr. Wallace G. Court, and as Lady Alethea, Miss Maud Stuart was consistently successful. Hankey Bannister was excellently impersonated by Mr. Lionel Gadsden, and the character of the Marquis of Steventon was well placed in the hands of Mr. A. Rolfe; Miss Bertha Frances acted ably the part of Lady Lucy Derenham, and Miss Olive Elton won praise as Lady Westerby; Mr. Martin Pedlar gave ample expression to the part of Harry Dallas.

Pier Pavilion.—Lessee, Mr. J. Herbert Jay; Manager, Mr. F. T. Studd.—The Yokels did well at this popular house early in the week. Miss Empsie Bowman and Miss Maggie Bowman, as the Shepherdess and the Milkmaid, were charming; Mr Albert Chapman's farmer was good; and as Giles, Mr. Tom J. Morton has evoked a great deal of merriment. Stockham's company of harpists and entertainers occupied the boards the last three days of the week. Assisting at the performances, and appearing at frequent intervals throughout the week, the Grosvenor Ladies Orchestra have done excellent work.

SALFORD.—Prince of Wales.—Proprietor and Manager, Mr. E. B. Goulden; Acting Manager, Mr. Harold Goulden.—A capital house gave a good reception on Monday to A Life's Story, played by Mr. Stanley Carlton's company. Miss Augusta Tullock, as Zeika, a Russian adventuress, and Mr. Edward Fryer, as Count Bergen, successfully represented villainy; Tom Berry, a detective, was an amusing character in the hands of Mr. H. B. Peppin; Miss Ruby Maude was a charming Beatrice; Miss Susie Beaven as Rosa gave much pleasure by her charming singing; and with Mr. Fred Richards as Toni Crimonini, contributed much to the amusing situations; Mr. Stanley Carlton was successful in his representation of Captain Jack Tempie; Mr. J. Brunelle Harvey, as Max Clifford; Mr. Wm. Annesley as Lieut. Hugo de Brassier; Mr. Fred Heather as Frank Clifford, and Mr. Percy Darrel as Dr. Laffar, were also good in their several capacities.

Regent Theatre of Varieties, Ltd.—Managing-Director, Mr. W. Turner; Manager, Mr. Herbert Raymond; Secretary, Mr. J. C. Patterson.—Foremost here this week is the grand illuminated spectacle, "Electra's Dream," by Alma Abdullah and La Suberbe; Grant and Grant (Coley and Mamie), in A Georgia Flirtation, give a smart acrobatic and dancing turn; Fred Curran keeps the house in roars with his eccentric songs and business; Rutledge and Hare in an amusing sketch, A Savage Encounter; Bella Leyburn, comedienne; Wheeler and Wilson, comedy acrobats; Jack Martin, actor-vocalist; and Emily Evans, soprano operatic vocalist, also give acceptable turns.

Royal Hippodrome.—Manager, Mr. W. B. Broadhead; Acting-Manager, Mr. Percy B. Broadhead; Resident Acting-Manager, Mr. C. H. Wentworth.—Another excellent all-round bill of fare has resulted in good business. The Betsons, mad cyclists in a drawing-room, are very comical; Three Panamas do a smart acrobatic p proved quite to the taste of the Royal patrons. Mr. Arthur Armfield, an old and esteemed Sheffield favourite, was cordially received in the character of Mr. Chichester; Mr. F. B. Richardson played in a manly and energetic manner as Harry Chichester; a "firm" piece of acting was the Capt. Gridley of Mr. George D. Daiper; Mr. Edward Valentine was good as Fretley Burside; Mr. Ernest Allen as Tom Chichester, Mr. George Slack as Detective Clarkson, and Mr. Herbert Sydney as Blidstein were all thoroughly at home in their respective parts; Miss Lallah Davis made a handsome Cynthia, and showed considerable histrionic ability; Miss Constance Bellamy was a graceful Aileen, and other well-rendered characters were Miss Amy Randolph's Throstle, and Miss Valentine's Rose the vivacious maid-servant. The piece was realistically staged.

ALEXANDRA THEATRE. — Managing-Director, Mr. W. D. Forsdike; Acting-Manager, Mr. C. W. Ramsay.—There is no drama more sure of a hearty welcome from crowded houses here than The Midnight Mail, a play replete with healthy excitement and domestic interest. On Monday the well-known and affective situations were enthusiastically applauded, and all the ladies and gentlemen of Messrs. Dottridge and Longden's company had warm "receptions." Mr. Fred. G. Evison's Billy Brewer was a clever sketch of serio-comic rascality, and his "D.T." scene was terribly realistic. Mr. Alfred Goddard as the engine driver truthfully depicted the struggles and ultimate victory of a lovable, honest man led astray by the schemes of a villain; Mr. Charles McCann, Scotch railway director, was a natural bit of character-acting; Miss Ada Oakley repeated her sympathetic performance of the mis-judged wife, and other characters were carefully represented by Mr. Dobell Lyle, Mr. Arthur Gilroy, Miss Phyllis Bailly, and the vivacious Miss Nelly Sheffield.

EMPIRE PALACE.—Proprietors, the Moss' Empires Co., Ltd.; Acting-Manager, Mr. Alan D. Dunbar.—There is a distinct flavour of "Stern Caledonia" about the Empire bill of fare this week, and warm applause from a crowded audience on Monday greeted a contingent of the gallant Gordon Highlanders, who gave some smart drill exhibitions under the direction of Captain Bevan; Mr. Ian Colquhoun sang some good songs, and the Scottish Meisters were loudly applauded; the "star turn" was, naturally, Mr. Mark Sheridan, a comedian who "struck oil" years ago in a pantomime at the Alexandra. On Monday this genial fun merchant kept his auditors in roars of laughter; he was applauded to the echo, and recalled again and again; another favourite comic singer is Mr. Fred Poplar, with new and diverting ditties; fresh to local audiences are the droll entertainers, Miss Jessie Millar and Mr. Albertus, who do a new and original act; Miss Maud Mortimer was well received, and others who gave pleasure were Francis and Meeli, musical entertainers; Woodhouse and Wells, patter comedians; and Miss Kitty Wager, a pretty and amusing serio.

GRAND PALACE.—Proprietor, Mr. Frank Macnaghten; Manager, Mr. G. H. Beagle.—Mr. James Willard's dramatic company is here this week, appearing in The Little Wonder. M. Kavados is a smart juggler, and others who successfully appear are Playfair and Nikola, in a novel act; Miss Flo Melville, burlesque actress; the Dewars, novelty performers; Mr. Wat Tyler, variety entertainer; the Franko Midgets, &c. Pallister's Bioscope with good topical and comic subjects concludes a bright and refined entertainment.

CENTRAL HALL.—Animated pictures continue to form the pièce-de-résistance, supplemented by the clever performances of the Spanish Goldinis, acrobatic specialists; Miss Nellie Nora, instrumentalist; and Mr. H. Mead, vocalist.

WONDERLAND.—Proprietor, Mr. Victor Sampson.—The attraction this week is the famous play, Leah, the Forsaken, with Miss Emma Poole, the clever daughter of "rare old Jimmy Poole," as the Jewish maiden.

SMETHWICK. — THEATRE ROYAL. — Proprietor, Mr. C. Barnard; Manager, Mr. E. Hewitson.—For Better or Worse was presented on Monday by Mr. Fred Granville's company. Miss Marriott Watson portrays with skill the part of Olive Heathcote. Miss Chrissie Dunbar as Bella Baverstock plays with considerable power, and her fine efforts are ably seconded by Mr. Scott Leighton as Major Gerald Crawford; Mr. George E. Clive as Captain Frank Hilliard and Mr. Willie Black as Horatio P. Ranter sustain the other principal rôles.

SOUTHAMPTON. — GRAND THEATRE. — Sole Lessee and Manager, Mr. Mouillot; Resident Manager, Mr. Sydney Paxton.—The return visit of The Prince of Pilsen, under the direction of Mr. Charles Thorburn is very popular. Amongst the newcomers is Mr. Martin Adeson, who scores a huge success as Hans Wagner. Among the ladies, Miss Millicent Marsden (Mrs. Crocker), Miss Isa Bowman (Nellie Wagner), and Miss Adele Roze (Edith Adams), all act and sing admirably. Mr. J. B. Fox is satisfactory as the Prince; Mr. G. Villiers Arnold (Lieut. Wagner), Mr. Lawrence Wensley (Earl of Shrimpton), Miss Meg Hamylton (Jimmie), all repeat their previous successes. Miss Nell Emerald (Sidonie) and Mr. Alfred Selby (François) dance neatly.

PALACE. — Proprietor and Director General, Mr. Frank Macnaghten; Manager, Mr. William Trussell.—Kelly and Gillette cause much amusement with their new billiard table act; Carlotta Levey sings well, and wins golden opinions; Burnetti gives clever impersonation of musical celebrities; Mr. and Mrs. Royston Dene submit a smart sketch, His Birthday; and the Jalvans are expert jugglers and Oriental entertainers; Chas. Sloman and George Leonard are a couple of good comedians.

HIPPODROME.—Proprietors, Messrs. Fredk. Mouillot and W. de Frece; General-Manager, Mr. J. de Frece; District-Manager, Mr. Sydney Paxton; Acting-Manager, Mr. Harold P. Howell. — Tarro Miyaki, the ju-jitsu wrestler, is starring here, and huge crowds witness some interesting wrestling nightly; the Morton Comedy Trio sing remarkably well; Harry Taft is a fine siffleur; and Anthony does all kinds of mysterious tricks; Mark Hinton is a droll comedian; Flo Cecil, comedienne, and Dolly Golden, dancer, also contribute their quota to the bill of fare.

SOUTHEND-ON-SEA. — EMPIRE THEATRE. — Empire Theatre Co., Ltd.; Managing-Director, Mr. Geo. Conquest; Acting-Manager, Mr. A. Lingham Power.—Mr. George Dance is providing exceptional attractions for this week, and for the first three nights his principal company appeared in The Cingalee. Some good singing was greatly enjoyed, and Mr. Peter Fletcroft directed the choruses and orchestra with ability. Mr. Cyril Dane was responsible for a clear interpretation of the Hon. Harry Vereker; Mr. Helier Le Moistre was well suited as Boobhamba; Mr. Grafton Williams as Sir Peter Loftus was worthy of mention; and Mr. Ethelbert Edwards was conspicuous in the rôle of Bobby Warren. Chief honours fell to Mr. Jack Crichton as Chambhuddy Ram and Miss Gladys Guy as Peggy Sabine, who both worked most assiduously, gaining well-deserved appreciation; Miss Marjorie Clark, too, proved capable in her portrayal of Lady Patricia Vane, whilst Miss Essie Perrin showed cleverness in her dancing, and taking Angy's character in pleasing manner. Miss Georgina Middleton was allotted the rôle of Nanoya, a Cingalee girl, and was successful. The Duchess of Dantzic is being enacted the remaining nights of this week.

THE KURSAAL.—Secretary and Manager, Mr. P. T. J. Bacon.—The programme at this attractive place of entertainment provides plenty of amusement. Large crowds are not lacking in their appreciation, especially the theatre entertainment. Those contributing are Mr. Wilfred Fry, who is excellent in his characters of Dickens; Mr. and Mrs. Walter Emro give a delightful sketch, entitled When a Man's Married; Mr. J. B. Houghton is a trick pianist who gains capital recognition for his cleverness; the Bennetts are gun spinners and dancers of repute, maintaining their success of a few weeks previous; Wilfred Fry's Comedy Company plays Claude Duval in taking manner; Miss Clara Urwin, who has been retained, sings and dances well; and the Ten Dixie Girls are again appearing as the ballet, delighting much in their scena, entitled Silver Coon. The Bioscope completes with a capital set of new pictures. Other attractions include Lorenzo's miniature circus in the Hippodrome, the Kursaal Pierrots in the café, where excellent turns are given by a good number of artists, the Galatea in the Café Theatre, Chung Foo Soo, Chinese magician, and Stanhope, the modern Valentine Fox, being very interesting for children.

PIER PAVILION.—Sole Lessee and Manager, Mr. H. E. Angless; Acting-Manager, Mr. Stanley E. Angless.—This week's programme drew a large gathering on Monday to witness the capital production of the musical comedy novelty, entitled Dare-Devil Dorothy, by Mr. Henry Swinerd, who is assisted by an excellent all-round company. The play, although it has made several appearances in Southend, has lost none of its attractiveness, as was testified by the splendid reception accorded. The specialities were rendered in masterly style, gaining well-deserved appreciation. Capt. George Fielding had a characteristic exponent in Mr. Walter Ashley, and Capt. Edward Dudley was equally as well impersonated by Mr. Henry C. Ward. Mr. Deane Cliffe proved humorous in the rôle of Featherstone Haugh; Mr. Arthur Verne was very popular as Silas Crump, and is the principal comedian. The Misses Lillie and Mabel Blake are smart and clever acrobatic dancers, winning immense favour. Judith, in the capable hands of Miss Nellie Harcourt, was very prominent, and her skipping-rope dance was greatly enjoyed, as was also her singing. Miss Marie Vere creditably portrays Ruth Montrose, whilst Miss Dorothy Desmonde gave a pleasing and capital delineation of her sister Dorothy, both artists being heard to advantage in their singing.

ALFRESCO THEATRE OF VARIETIES, ROYAL TERRACE.—Lessee, Mr. H. E. Angless; Manager, Professor Vincent.—It is pleasing to record that this new place of entertainment continues to draw exceptional crowds to witness the capital programmes submitted. The chief item perhaps is the Urban Bioscope, which shows very fine pictures. Last week's artists have been retained, and Mons. Le Clair's high-diving dog Spot is a special attraction.

PIER HILL BANDSTAND.—Lessee, Mr. H. E. Angless.—Mr. Ballard Brown and his entertainers maintain their reputations of giving excellent and refined programmes, huge crowds being delighted with all the turns. Two newcomers are Mr. Sydney Locklynne, a mimic, who is received most favourably, and Mr. S. A. Melverne, a ventriloquist, who pleases immensely.

SOUTH SHIELDS.—THEATRE ROYAL.—Lessees and Managers, Messrs. J. and F. Coulson. — Mr. Andrew Melville's company in Driven from Home is occupying the boards here. Miss Frances Ruttledge gives an excellent interpretation of the dual rôle of Laura Raybrook and Walter Hatherley, the younger. Mr. Clement Wakefield as Walter Hatherleigh, is good. Mr. Fred Sandy as the villain, Geoffrey Waring, creates a favourable impression. Willie, an outcast, is forcefully delineated by Mr. Percy Dawsone. An excellent portrayal of Barbara Ashdown is given by Miss Florence Trevoi. The Jabez Thomas of Mr. Harry Cornwall is a dignified performance. Mr. Felix Pitt is a powerful Anthony Raybrook. The comic parts are ably performed by Mr. Alick Hemming as John Anderson and Miss E. Marrable as Margaret Bailey.

EMPIRE PALACE THEATRE.—Proprietor, Mr. Richard Thornton; General Manager, Mr. Frank Allen; Resident Manager, Mr. Geo. F. Thompson.—Annie Abbot, the little Georgia Magnet, causes much merriment by her unique show. Alexandre and Hughes, comedians, are entertaining. Peggy Pryde, comedienne, is a distinct success. An amusing sketch, entitled Watch the Chalk, is contributed by Goodfellow and Gregson, assisted by Mr. Bert Wade. Josh Dixon, comedian, is exceedingly funny. The remaining turns, Frank Lynne, comedian, Wee Winnie Jackson, a local artist, and the Bioscope all have their admirers.

TIVOLI. — Lessees and Managers, Councillor J. K. Hall and Mr. Joseph Sweeney.—The universal living pictures continue to be popular. Vesta Whelan, vocalist, renders her numbers charmingly. A hearty welcome is accorded to Conway and Welsh, versatile comedians, and the engagement of Ethel Payne is pleasing. A "Beauty Show" Competition is held this week.

SPENNYMOOR.—CAMBRIDGE THEATRE.—Lessee, Mr. Harding Thomas; Resident-Manager, Mr. Herbert Vere.—The romantic drama, The Days of Cromwell, has been the attraction here this week. Mr. Henry Belding deserves favourable mention for his fine impersonation of Ironhand; Mr. Robertson Foulis is the embodiment of crafty villainy in his assumption of the rôle of Sir Marsden Mardyke; Matthew Mardyke, another hardened scoundrel, is admirably portrayed by Mr. Howard Hardy; Mr. Jack C. Gray acquits himself creditably as Walter Clifford. As the much-injured heiress, Ruby Avondale, Miss Gertrude Gilman shows capability. Miss Cecilia Crawford submits a capital study of the demure Puritan maid Judith; boisterous fun is supplied by Miss Annie Clunn and Messrs. T. R. White and George Harvie.

STAFFORD. — LYCEUM THEATRE.—Lessee and Manager, Mr. James Elphinstone.—A variety entertainment is given twice a night at this theatre. The turns include La Studio, mystifying act; T. H. Etherdo, equilibrist and juggler; Little Venus, a clever child vocalist and dancer; Luce O'Bright, a comedienne who sings and dances well; La Belle Rosa, an able mandolinist; and Madame Rosini, with her highly trained dogs.

STALYBRIDGE. — GRAND THEATRE. — Lessee and Manager, Mr. Frank Mundill; Acting-Manager, Mr. J. Dunford Oswald.—The premier position here is accorded to Blanche and Diacoff, whose marvellous "cycle whizz" earns the plaudits of good houses; Mollie Wolstenhulme is a charming operatic vocalist; Dolly, Agnes, and Maud, who describe themselves as the factory nightingales, are very captivating; Ada Gatley on the swinging wire is attractive; Monty Walker displays humour in his laughing and mimetic songs and patter; Little Ada Merry is a dainty comedienne and dancer; the Carls show themselves to advantage in their comic speciality-act, Fun in a Café, and the Bioscope concludes.

STOCKPORT.—THEATRE ROYAL AND OPERA HOUSE.—Sole Owner and Manager, Mr. Charles Revill; Acting-Manager, Mr. Wm. Revill.—This is the Wakes Week, and The Great Awakening, which has been presented here nightly by Miss Maude Hildyard and company, has quite suited the tastes of the holiday audiences. The acting of Miss Maude Hildyard as Lola Selby stood out prominently as of great merit; and Mr. Bernard Coppings' impersonation of Jack Merton was most impressive. Mr. Chas. E. Linney atced the villain Guy Rogan admirably; Capt. Harry Lambart was ably impersonated by Mr. Herbert Evelyn; Mr. Willie Scott was amusing as Billy Brass, and Mr. George Child displayed ability as Richard Wilson. Mr. Charles Vivian effectively portrayed the character of James Selby; Mr. Tracy Barrow was distinctly funny as the waiter Antoine; Miss Doris Rigby acted with charming grace as Molly Merton, and Selina Worts was a pleasing character in the hands of Miss Isa Bellington.

EMPIRE. — Proprietors, the Stockport Empire Theatre Co., Ltd.; Acting-Manager, Mr. W. Black.—There is much to amuse and entertain in the holiday programme provided here this week. Imro Fox, the comic conjuror and illusionist, who heads the bill, is highly successful; Kisbey in his speciality "The Call Boy" is genuinely amusing, and the King's College Boys are appreciated for their rendering of excerpts from operas; Adey Spencer as "the girl from the hat shop" is an accomplished artist; and Kendrick and Laura are pleasing vocalists and dancers; whilst George Prince, the crazy comic; Maude Kaye, coon vocalist and dancer; and Max Merlin, the human crocodile, are also well received.

STOKE.—HIPPODROME.—Proprietor, Mr. T. Allan Edwardes; Manager, Mr. H. Miller.—Two capital audiences greeted the programme submitted on Monday. Mr. Lonnen Meadows and company head the bill in their funny sketch, Kiss your Father; as O'Callaghan Mr. Meadows is particularly funny; the Sisters Geretti in their double-trapeze act are excellent; the Davies Trio in their motor-cycling act in mid-air are accorded a hearty welcome; Kloof and Ramsey in their amusing musical act are well received; the Sisters Brookland sing and dance admirably; Bessie Willon sings tunefully; W. H. Downs has a good tenor voice, which is heard to advantage. The Pictures are interesting.

SUNDERLAND. — AVENUE THEATRE. — Proprietors, The Sunderland Theatres, Ltd.; Managing-Director, Mr. Chas. E. Machin. — Mr. Harry Fischer's company in the Scottish musical play, entitled A Trip to the Highlands, is being staged for the first time in Sunderland. Chief among the comedians is Mr. Wal Croft, who in his unconventional impersonation of the Highland chieftain makes a great hit; Mr. Joseph B. Montague is highly amusing as the manservant Timmins; Mr. Frank Barclay sings well, and ably fills the responsible rôle of the Hon. Frederick Lackington; whilst Mr. Gus Wheatman scores as Sir Septimus Brown. Miss Millie Engler is a bright and winsome Winnie Brown, the runaway heroine; Miss Maisie Ellinger makes a dashing Araminta Brown; and Miss Nellie Engler is a pert maid. The Midget Troupe of dancers add considerably to the success of the production. During the intervals, some interesting Scottish scenery is shown.

THEATRE ROYAL.—Proprietors, The Sunderland Theatres, Ltd.; Managing-Director, Mr. Chas. E. Machin; Acting-Manager, Mr. Jas. Hemingway.—Mr. John Power's company, Man's Enemy, is the attraction here. Mr. Francis Everard gives a powerful rendering of Harry Stanton; and as Count Lanski, Mr. Cliff Locke makes the most of his opportunities. Miss Edith Leslie gives a refined and pathetic rendering of Grace Lisle; the comedy parts are filled by Mr. G. T. Greig (Ikey Barnet) and Miss Clare Reid (Pollie Harris). Other parts in good hands are played by Mr. H. Payne (General Sir Arthur Stanton), Mr. F. A. Ellis (Bill Sanders), and Miss Florrie Sorsby (Nellie Saunders).

PALACE THEATRE OF VARIETIES.—Proprietors, Messrs. Rosen and Bliss; Acting-Managers, Messrs. A. Browne and Syd. B. Stringer.—Alice Pierce, impressionist, heads the bill, and is accorded a flattering reception; Conn and Conrad contribute an excellent acrobatic act, which is heartily appreciated. Other turns are Gertrude Moore, vocalist and dancer; Four Herberts, the jolly Californian farmers; Little Vio-Lette, dancer; Holles Goldman and company in a clever comedy mélange; Hans and Lux, eccentric act; and Fred Land, comedian.

SWINDON.—QUEEN'S THEATRE.—Proprietor and Responsible Manager, Mr. Alfred Manners.—Beauty and the Beast, described as a fairy spectacle, and presented by Messrs. Levy and Cardwell's juvenile company, 60 in number, is proving a great attraction here this week. The piece is excellently staged, the ballets smartly arranged, and the well-balanced chorus and orchestra ably conducted by Mr. H. Levy. The outstanding feature is undoubtedly Master George Wood's remarkably quaint and clever impersonation of Pip, the Baron's page. Miss Dolly Dodds is charming as Beauty, and Miss May Gibson as Silver Star wins much applause with her sweet voice and well-rendered songs; Miss Kitty Trewhitt is strikingly successful as Prince Charming, and Miss Daisy Fielder very pleasing as Will Scarlett; Master Fred Bentley does well as the Baron. Considerable amusement is provided by the Brothers Armstrong as "ugly sisters," and Messrs. Adams and Sloan as sheriff's officers. The Marguerittа dancers, Misses Edie Camm, Isa Gibson, and Gladys Skipp, and Mr. Will Orston (as the Beast) all deserve special mention.

TAMWORTH.—THE CASTLE.—Pleasing performances are given nightly in these historic pleasure-grounds by Mack's Pierrot Troupe, concluding with living statues by Mme. Mabel Lenton.

TON-Y-PANDY. — THEATRE ROYAL. — Lessees, Messrs. Carlton and Duckworth; General-Manager, Mr. Sam Duckworth; Acting-Manager, Mr. Ridgwood Barrie.—Mr. T. Morton Powell's company in Honour thy Father is this week proving attractive here. Mr. Walter M. Cameron gives a clever representation of Gabriel Garth; Mr. Bertram Ross as Jack Halyard deserves praise; the part of Duncan Ply is well placed in the hands of Mr. W. R. Winging; Mr. Fred Rolls is very humorous as Mike Copplestone; Mr. Frank Eden is excellent as Dr. Sleak; Miss Winnie Donover acts with decided charm the rôle of Mercy Merry; and Miss Mabel Coleman must also be complimented on her capital rendering of Lilian Garth.

TORQUAY. — THEATRE ROYAL. — Licensee and Managing-Director, Mr. W. H. Mortimer; Secretary, Mr. Arthur Pearse.—Mr. E. Lockwood and Mr. R. Crosswood's company, in the musical comedy, Sergeant Brue, opened to a well-filled and enthusiastic house on Monday. In the name part Mr. E. Russell was all that could be desired; Mr. T. A. Shale was quaintly funny as Crookie Scrubbs, and the Mr. Crank of Mr. Henry Chichester was very effectively played. Miss Lily Lingard was a capital Lady Bickenhall; Aurora Brue was gracefully impersonated by Miss Kitty Dale; and Miss Constance Berkeley made a bright and winning Daisy. Mr. E. Percy Rogers was successful as Michael Brue; and Mr. Chas. Sims did exceedingly well as Matthew Habisham. Mention should also be made of Miss Aileen Macdonald and Miss Edith Monckton. The chorus was under the able direction of Mr. J. H. Yorke.

PRINCESS PIER CONCERT HALL.—Proprietors, The Torquay Town Council; Manager, Mr. A. T. Tremlett.—A crowded house greeted the opening on Monday of Mr. Ernest Lord's Excelsior Opera Singers. Miss Ona Ashton is a capable and effective artist; and Miss Gertrude Grant soon becomes popular. Mr. G. Harker Holt never fails to evoke hearty applause for his well-selected songs; and Miss Alice Singleton performs with grace and skill. Mr. Frank Quinn renders several popular items, and his contributions meet with merited applause. Mr. Tom Heyworth is the humorist of the party, and achieves conspicuous success. Mr. Ernest Lord acts as musical-director.

TUNBRIDGE WELLS. — OPERA HOUSE. — Lessee, Charles Carey; Manager, L. J. Gunnell.—Miss Hutchinson's company in the Freedom of Suzanne, with Miss Mabel Love as leading lady, has proved a great success this week. Miss Love, as Suzanne, had a most cordial reception, and was well supported by Mr. Templer Powell as Charles Trevor. Suzanne's three admirers were admirably impersonated by Messrs. Frank Hill, Townsend Whitling, and Richard Neville. Mr. F. G. Thurstans gave a very humorous sketch of the Uncle, and Mr. Patrick Quill of the part of Sir Horace, while Miss Annie Stolman as the mother-in-law, and Miss Charlotte Mead as the companion, were excellent comedy studies. The other ladies' parts were well sustained by Miss Violet Ley and Miss Dorothy Last. For the week end, Mr. Mouillot's company in The Geisha is the attraction.

TYNEMOUTH.—PALACE AND WINTER GARDENS.—Proprietor, Mr. J. H. Graham; Manager, Mr. Lindon Travers. — The Gems head the bill, and please by their unique entertainment; Casey's Court (representing street arabs' idea of producing a variety entertainment) proves highly amusing; Stanley's giant fairy fountain and the Court Orchestra remain under engagement.

WAKEFIELD.—ROYAL OPERA HOUSE.—Proprietors, Sherwood and Co.—Mr. Arthur Bourchier's company, under the direction of Messrs. Sylvanus Dauncey and M. V. Leveaux, is paying a first visit in the play The Walls of Jericho. Mr. A. E. Anson acts with great power and earnestness as Jack Frobisher; and Miss May Taverner gives a fine performance as Lady Alethea, acting with great charm and taste; Mr. Alfred S. Barber is excellent as Hankey Bannister; Mr. Cecil Warde is good as the Marquis of Steventon; Mr. Leslie Rea is well placed as Lord Drayton; Miss Marguerite Cellier displays ability as Lady Westbury; Miss Nora Wynne is admirable as Lady Lucy Derenham; Miss Lillian Rogers and Miss Leonora Thomas are successful as Miss Mornington and the Duchess of Skye respectively; and Mr. A. W. Tryer, ably fills the rôle of Harry Dallas.

HIPPODROME.—Lessee, Mr. Alfred Selwyn; Manager, Mr. Henry Lucas.—Texas Hattie heads the bill this week, and gives a wonderful performance on the tight rope; the Three Pirmans are a clever trio of comedy pantomimic acrobats; Miss Renee Walton, comedienne, dances well. Other items include Spring and Spring, lady barrel jumpers; Miss Rosa Carlo, low comedy artist; The Tiger Lily, coon vocalist and dancer, who wins applause; Mr. Arthur Richards, character vocalist; and the Two Roses, duettists.

WALSALL.—HER MAJESTY'S THEATRE OF VARIETIES.—General-Manager and Secretary, Mr. W. H. Westwood.—The Max Wessely Troupe of comic jugglers, who are the star attraction here this week, are exceedingly clever. Andy Fagan, comedian and dancer; Drew and Alders, eccentric comedians and dancers; Flo. Esdaile, serio; the Three Albions, novelty musicians; Lucretia, legmania dancer; J. W. Hall, comedian; all create a good impression; and the American Bioscope shows some capital pictures.

GRAND THEATRE, LTD.—General Manager and Secretary, Mr. W. H. Westwood.—Messrs. Travis Green and Arthur Hinton's company is here this week, with When a Man Hates. Mr. Arthur Hinton as Pietro Danelli is all that could be desired; and Miss Leila Zillwood is a charming Olga Gynne.

WALTHAMSTOW. — PALACE. — Managing-Director, Mr. G. Adney Payne; Manager, Mr Arthur J. Barclay; Acting-Manager, Mr. Geo. F. Slatter.—One of the most original, as it has proved one of the most popular, turns seen here for some time is the performance this week of Mr. John Kurkamp and Miss Alice Raymond, described on the programme as the singing conductor and the lady instrumentalist. Miss Raymond soon proves herself a clever cornet-player. Mr. Kurkamp, standing in the conductor's place in the orchestra, sings in a tenor voice of great volume and sweetness. Their combined effort in "A Che la Morte," from Il Trovatore, is a musical treat, and is rapturously applauded. Another very popular item is provided by the Two Bostons as novelty showmen in their bull fight. Their performing dogs are deserving of the highest praise for their intelligent performance. Mr. Dan Thomas is a comedian of great humour; Dainez' Circus is capital, the doings of the donkey, pony, and dogs being excellent; Miss Gladys Mavius, an established favourite here, is in good form, and in addition to several of her old favourites sings a novelty entitled "My Ship's Come Home" with happy effect. The Eugene Family are as graceful as ever in their entertainment as aerial gymnasts; Ruffell's Imperial Bioscope has some attractive films, which are received with the usual delight. The sketch for the week is The Amber Light, played by Mr. Fred Eustace and his company. This goes remarkably well, and is cordially received.

WARRINGTON. — ROYAL COURT. — Proprietors, Messrs. W. Johnson and J. Potter; General-Manager, Mr. J. Potter; Acting-Manager, Mr. Fred J. Reece.—Miss Florence Baines and company are here this week in the musical farce, Miss Lancashire, Limited. Miss Baines as Mary Ellen Thompson is a charming comedienne, and she is also possessed of a rich soprano voice. Miss Annie Mitchell is an engaging Eva Lancashire and Miss Muriel Johnstone a charming Muriel. Miss Pattie Groves submits a clever character sketch of Bridget Thompson; Mr. Will Casey as the bluff Farmer Thompson interprets the part well; and Mr. Burt Burton is a typical Jew. Mr. David Donaldson scores as John Higgins, and Mr. Robert Turley as Harry is especially successful.

ROYAL THEATRE OF VARIETIES.—Proprietors, Messrs. W. Johnson and J. Potter; General-Manager, Mr. J. Potter; Director of Amusements, Mr. Fred Willmot.—The Four Heames are an exceptionally clever troupe of acrobats; Herbert La Martine is smart in all he does; Dale and O'Malley are clever comedians; and the Royal Temples sing several trios with rare effect. Zaran is a humorous contortionist; and De Paso a unique modeller in clay. The pictures are all good.

WEDNESBURY.—THEATRE ROYAL.—Lessee, Mr. Harry Battersby; Manager, Mr. W. J. Cranston.—Messrs. W. Alexander Dallas and Hubert Carson's company, in The Great Wilderness, is here this week. A capital impression is made by Mr. Edward Leroy as Lascelle la Mort, a renegade; and also by Mr. Leonard Williams as the scout. Mr. C. M. Davidson acquits himself well as Sir Vivian Asley; the part of Ronald Garnville is left in the capable hands of Mr. Arthur Lowry; the comedy of Michael Maloney is amusingly emphasised by Mr. Robert A. Earle; Miss Hazel Dent characteristically renders the part of Wild Rose; and as Star Eye, Miss Kitty McPherson is well suited. Miss Blanch Leroy makes the most of the rôle of Louise Granville.

WEST BROMWICH. — MOORE'S HIPPODROME AND THEATRE ROYAL.—Proprietor, Mr. J. P. Moore.—There is another attractive programme for the second week of the two-shows-a-night system, which the public evidently very greatly appreciates. Geo. M. Schilling, the famous athlete, who walked round the world for a wager, gives an interesting account of his travels. Wallace is well described as the phenomenal boy juggler, for his turn is remarkably clever; Nellie Dunbar is a dainty dancer and singer; Russell Carr gives a new form of ventriloquial entertainment, which is much appreciated; Vernon and Burdeel are amusing dialoguists; Chas. Leighton performs admirably on the piano; Frank Couch is a very funny comedian; and Ruffell's Bioscope pictures are interesting and up to date.

NEW HIPPODROME.—Managing-Director, Mr. T. M. Sylvester; Manager, Mr. H. W. Player.—The management are to be congratulated on another very excellent programme. Their efforts have been appreciated by large audiences. Harry Tate's company, which appears in Fishing, is a very capable one, and the delightful humour of the scene is well brought out; Mlle. Roza's football dogs create great interest; Harry Thurston is a remarkably clever impersonator, and is deservedly applauded; Miss Nellie Van, comedienne and dancer, secures a good reception; Babs Lloyd is well described as the smartest juvenile artist in the world; Parker and Parr are two funny duettists; Miss Vi Carlyle appears in a refined vocal scena; Nanno, Leo, and Kinko give a capital turn; and the Hippodrome pictures are as popular as ever.

WEST HARTLEPOOL. — PALACE.—Proprietor, Mr. Frank Macnaghten; Manager, Mr. Julius Simpson.—Keith and Merson in their hunting absurdity, The Meet, provide hilarity; Tennyson and Wallis are irresistible in their patter, and T. B. Fayme (Yorkshire comedian) is also a good entertainer; the equilibristic and acrobatic act of the Three Seabournes is a capital exhibition; and another clever act is that by Claver and Piccolo (equilibrists and jugglers); Guy Rider's whistling is, as usual, first-rate; Tom Yorke (character and coster comedian), and Raymond's Bio-tableaux complete a good bill.

GRAND THEATRE.—Proprietor, Mr. Fred Granville; Manager, Mr. J. A. Lewis.—Mr. Harry Starr, an old favourite at the Hartlepools, is presenting with great success, Otto, the Outcast, and Carl, the Clockmaker. Mr. Starr's songs are a special feature of the performances, and they are exceedingly well received.

WESTON-SUPER-MARE. — KNIGHTSTONE PAVILION AND OPERA HOUSE.—Manager, Mr. W. Payne.—The visits of Mr. Norman V. Norman's excellent repertoire company is always welcomed here with keen delight. On Monday The Adventure of Lady Ursula was presented. Mr. Norman V. Norman's Sir George Sylvester proved a great success; Miss Beatrice Wilson, looking remarkably handsome, portrayed the Lady Ursula Barrington with all the skill of a first-class artiste; Mr. Dennis Cleugh was distinctly good as the Earl of Hassenden; Mr. Ernest Cossart is thorough in everything he does, and his Mr. Dent merits the highest eulogy; Mr. Francis Hope gave an artistic interpretation of the Rev. Mr. Blimtoe; Mr. Castleton found a good exponent in Mr. Norman Leslie; so, too, did Quilton in Mr. Charles Redforth; Mr. Howard Brenan (Mr. Devreux), Mr. Charles Casson Freer (Mr. Ward), Mr. Chris. Curtis (Sir Robert Clifford), Mr. Sam Wilkinson, jun. (Mills), are all entitled to the highest praise for their delineations of their respective characters; Miss Sibyl Ruskin acted with rare grace and skill as Dorothy Fenton, and a sound performance was that of Miss Hilda Gregory as Mrs. Fenton. David Garrick, A Scrap of Paper, and Nell Gwyn were also in the week's programme.

GRAND PIER PAVILION.—The Smart Set are on a return visit here this week, and are drawing crowded houses. Miss Georgie Martin's song "Under the Goo-goo Tree," was loudly encored; Miss Lena Hutchings's fine voice is heard to advantage in Dessamer's "Come Out," and Miss Hilda Light sings artistically "My Little Laplander." The recital of "Mrs. Pagally's Juvenile Party" by Miss Ethel Wilford meets with approbation; Mr. Lionel Atwell's song, "In the Heather, my Lads," is well received; as is Mr. Arthur Court's "An Evening Song"; Mr. Walter George is enthusiastically applauded for his humorous song, "Nobody Knows, Nobody Cares." A series of new pictures are shown on the Bioscope by Mr. Frank Lens, and are well received.

WEST STANLEY. — THEATRE ROYAL. — Proprietors, The Stanley Theatre Co.; Managing-Director, Mr. Mark Lindon.—A Beautiful Criminal is being presented here this week by Mr. Fred C. Somerfield and Miss Marie Dagmar's company. Miss Marie Dagmar, in the title-rôle, is admirable; and the emotional acting of Mr. Fred Somerfield as Will Maynard creates a deep impression. Mr. Roy Fortescue, who appears in the dual rôle of Cyril and Geoffrey Langdon, is an actor of marked ability; Mr. T. G. Vane as Leonard Vimbart and Miss Amy Naughton as Florette de Vere give a typical representation of a society Johnnie and his sweetheart. Mr. J. E. Maine makes a hit as Harold Hingston; Mr. Willie Barrett as Peter Miles and Miss Molly Monaghan as Peter's Janet are an amusing country couple.

WHITBY.—THE SPA THEATRE.—Lessee, Mr. W. Payne Seddon; Manager, Mr. Lindsey Edwards.—Mr. F. R. Benson's Shakespearean company occupied the boards of this theatre on Monday, Tuesday, and Wednesday, in The Merchant of Venice, The School for Scandal, and Hamlet. The company is an excellent one throughout, the principal rôles being admirably portrayed. Mr. Bert Coote's Juvenile Prodigies, assisted by Mr. Harry May Helmsley, have proved a great attraction during the afternoons this week. They are an exceedingly clever troupe of children, and have been enthusiastically received. Much interest was also centred in the visit of the Pygmies on Monday and Tuesday, a large number of people visiting the Spa during the afternoon and evening.

TEMPERANCE HALL.—Mr. George Grossmith, assisted by Mesdames Dorothy Scott, Dorothy D'Egville, and Dorothy Forster, in his drawing-room entertainment, had a most cordial reception on Tuesday night, the hall being crowded to its utmost capacity.

WIDNES.—ALEXANDER THEATRE.—Proprietor and Manager, Mr. James Kiddie.—Mr. Jack Haddon's company is here this week with the stirring drama Under the Russian Flag. Mr. Jack Haddon does good work as Captain Demetrius; the General Romanoff of Mr. George Herbert is an even performance, and Mr. Edward Avinal and Mr. Cecil Melton, as Ivan O'Michael, handle well-written parts very capably; Mr. Fred Haming gives a finished study of the part of Alexis Skopolofski, and the same remark applies to Mr. W. Wilson as Colonel Souvaroff; the Doctor Keroff is ably played by Mr. William Rivers; Mr. Hal Forde is an amusing Peter Poulski; Miss Elaine Vanbrugh is excellent as Nera Vassiloff; Miss Violet Lytton acts Ogarita capably; and Miss Marie Rayner makes quite the hit of the evening in the part of Luka Marischia.

WIGAN.—ROYAL COURT THEATRE.—Managing-Director, Mr. John Worswick.—Mr. Douglas Bruce's company, in the drama, The Girl Who Lost Her Character, has played before good houses during the week. Miss Evelyn Clyde takes the title-rôle of Molly Vernon; Miss Ethel Bracewell that of Rose Seymour; and Miss Midge Meynard is a most humorous Lucy Vere, a servant. Miss Lydia Mannington is a vivacious Marian Franklyn; and Mr. Geo. H. Asquin as Dick Punch is exceedingly comical; Mr. Edwin J. Collins acts naturally as the Rev. Robert Everton; and Mr. C. W. Standing in the dual part of Jack England and Private Johnson is most entertaining.

THE HIPPODROME.—Managing-Director, Mr. John Worswick. — The Jackson Family give a capital musical entertainment here; and Radford and Valentine are very amusing jugglers, jesters, &c.; W. J. Churchill, comedian, is a capital entertainer; Miss Fannie Robina is a delightful vocalist; and great popularity is achieved by Miss Florrie Cooper; Walter Wade, comedian, is a popular favourite; the Alskarno Trio are accomplished acrobats; the Queen of Sheba is a wonderful mechanical talking and singing head

LONDON & SUBURBAN THEATRES.

THE MARLBOROUGH.

On Monday, August 13th,
the Comedy, in Three Acts, by Arthur Law, entitled
"THE COUNTRY MOUSE."

Years have passed away since the production of Mr. Arthur Law's The Country Mouse took place at Worthing, and its success there, and afterwards at the Prince of Wales's and Criterion Theatres, promises to be renewed in the present revival. A fine house welcomed the company on Monday, and Miss and Mr. Hutchison have placed the piece on the boards with that completeness which one expects from managers of high reputation. The company, with Miss Annie Hughes at its head, is one of all-round excellence, and the audience received the popular and rightly-described comedy with enthusiasm. Miss Hughes, in her original impersonation of Angela Muir, the innocent "country mouse," charms and delights everyone by her natural assumption. Mr. Charles Esdale throws himself into his work as the Hon. Archibald Vyse with a heartiness that does one good to witness. Mr. Evelyn Vernon acts with discrimination and tact as the amorous old Duke of St. Kitts; Mr. Thomas A. Braidon is responsible for a rich fund of amusement as Lord Wyckham; Mr. John Nesbit is thoroughly satisfactory as John Bowlby; Mr. J. E. Watson gives a capital portrait of the old family retainer Jephcot; and Mr. R. Pank makes the most of his opportunities in the part of the footman. The rôle of Lady Sylvia Bowlby is handled with ease and confidence by Miss Moyra Cregan, and a finer performance one could scarcely desire to witness. Miss Francis Davie is deserving of high commendation for her portrayal of Violet Ainsley; and an excellent and most amusing character study of the charwoman is contributed by Miss Ida Laurie. In the curtain raiser, A Bit of Old Chelsea, Miss Hughes undertakes her original part of Saucers, and is well supported by Messrs. Charles Esdale (Jack Hillier), Evelyn Vernon (Phil McDonald), and T. A. Braidon (Raymond). The incidental music and tuneful selections during the entr'actes are skilfully performed by the Marlborough Orchestra, under the direction of Mr. Charles Elcock. Mr. Murray Heriot, the manager, is the personification of kindness and courtesy.

KING'S THEATRE, HAMMERSMITH.

On Monday, August 13,
the Musical Comedy, by George Dance and Ivan Caryl, entitled
"THE GAY PARISIENNE."

Since its original production at the Duke of York's Theatre The Gay Parisienne has been continuously on the road, retaining its undoubted popularity and meeting with financial success everywhere. As performed by Mr. Charles Macdona's compact and talented company it is likely still to bring grist to the managerial mill for many days to come. The King's patrons on Monday evening approved and testified their satisfaction at the efforts of the comedians and the singing in the usual way. Mr. Will Harman is exceedingly amusing as Mr. Ebenezer Honeycombe, the audience laughing delightedly at his efforts. A genuinely funny performance is that of Mr. T. G. Warren as Major Fossdyke, and as Amos Dingle Mr. Bertram Zardi acts capitally. Mr. Edgar Ashwyn cleverly portrays Tom Everleigh, and the Algernon P. Ducie of Mr. Dutton Nicholls deserves mention. Mr. J. FitzJames as Hans, the hotel proprietor, plays splendidly, and Mr. Bloomfield Jones well sustains the rôle of Fritz, the waiter. A polished and spirited rendering of M. Pompier is given by Mr. Clifford Seyler, who works very hard and scores heavily. Miss Evelyn Hughes as Mdlle. Julie Bon-Bon is the life and soul of the piece, her bright and entertaining manner and smart singing being much admired. As Mrs. Honeycombe Miss Holford Beringer, whose methods are admirable, acts with excellent effect; Miss Ethel Ivimey is a charming Norah, and Ruth, the servant, finds a comical representative in Miss Madge Soutter. The Major's daughters are prettily undertaken by Miss Kathleen O'Malley, Miss E. MacHardy, Miss Gertrude Davies, and Miss Nance O'Neil. Several unaccompanied quartettes sung by the Imperial Glee Singers gained repeated encores. Pretty scenery is provided, and the dresses are elaborate.

THE CAMDEN.

On Monday, August 13, the Drama, in Four Acts, by Arthur Shirley and Sutton Vane, entitled
"THE SPIDER AND THE FLY."

Messrs. Ernest Carpenter and Sydney Cooper's company is appearing here this week in Shirley and Vane's latest drama, The Spider and the Fly, and a fine production it is. The drama is quite out of the common, and is capitally sustained throughout, each character having a distinct bearing on the plot, which grows in interest in each act. There are two big scenes in the play, the first being the rescue of the heroine and her child from the river by the aid of a steam launch, while the representation of a moveable ceiling by which the villainess meets her doom, provides a most thrilling finish to the story. As the hero, Mr. Stanley Gordon gives a quiet and distinguished portrayal of Cyril Girdlestone, and his acting in the scene in the cell at the Moated Grange is of a high standard. As the heroine, Edith McAllister, Miss Nina Vaughton is very sweet, and plays in a most pathetic and realistic manner, while Mr. H. C. Lansley enacts the rôle of the Rev. McAllister in a dignified and gentle way, which quite suits the character. Mr. Ellis J. Preston makes a notable appearance as Welby Girdlestone, bringing out the darker side of the character in requisite style, and in company with Miss Amy Venimore, who gives a striking picture of the adventuress, Stella Gray, works very hard throughout the play, both actor and actress showing unbounded resource and energy. A finely-written part is that of David Strong, and it gains materially by the admirable way in which it is handled by Mr. Frederick Ross, whose manly and straightforward manner is most convincing. Messrs. Fred Terriss and Charles A. Preece are excellent comedians, whose appearances as Romulus Roe and Remus Roe are the signal for much amusement. They are a couple of quaint characters, and are most diverting. Miss Lucy Murray is a bright and captivating Molly Blake, and Miss Ada Palmer gives a clever sketch of a bibulous landlady. There is also a little street boy, which is neatly acted by a young lady, whose name we were unable to discover. The other characters are capably filled.

KENNINGTON THEATRE.

On Monday, August 13, the Play, by Sydney Grundy, entitled
"A PAIR OF SPECTACLES."

Sydney Grundy's evergreen comedy, A Pair of Spectacles, is amusing and delighting good houses this week. As presented by Mr. Russell-Rosse's company, the comedy preserves all its pristine freshness, and is as diverting as when Mr. John Hare first captivated the fancy of the London playgoer. The audience on Monday night followed the subtle humour of the play with evident relish, and thoroughly enjoyed the worldly wisdom of Uncle Gregory, whose remark, "He cooms fra Sheffield," gave rise to continual merriment. Mr. Benjamin Goldfinch is admirably portrayed by Mr. David James, who acts the part of the guileless philanthropist with life-like fidelity. Mr. Charles Groves scores a big success as Uncle Gregory, the rugged, hardened, sceptical man of business, and his economical methods create a great deal of fun. Mr. Robert Minster plays the difficult part of Dick with infinite credit, and as Percy, Mr. E. H. Brooke makes himself a warm favourite. Miss Ida Phillips gives a charming impersonation of the character of Mrs. Goldfinch, and Miss Norah Dwyer is a graceful Lucy Lorimer. As Joyce, the old butler, Mr. Alfred J. Thomas does exceedingly well, and Mr. Michael Dwyer merits mention as Lorimer. The company is thoroughly well balanced, and in the smaller parts Miss May Lawrence, as Charlotte, the maid, and Mr. Norman Clark, as Bartholomew, the shoemaker, ably support the principals.

CORONET THEATRE.

On Monday, August 13,
the Drama, by Frederick Melville, entitled
"BETWEEN TWO WOMEN."

Mr. Frederick Melville's company is appearing this week at Notting Hill Gate in the drama entitled Between Two Women, wherein lovers of sensationalism are well catered for. As Carmen de Severeaux Miss Winifred Pearson does not spare herself in the portrayal of gilded vice and unscrupulous revenge, and her last-act repentance comes as a complete surprise. Miss Molly Malone is very sweet and attractive as pretty Violet Thornton, and Miss Lulu Bowes is pathetic as the poor blind boy who works such wonders in taming the tigress Carmen. Miss Lilian Earle is a great favourite as Polly Popp, and Mr. Fred Danvers as Jack Pringle is greeted with roars of laughter every time he practises some new and strange quip and crank. Mr. Godfrey Tearle is delightful as the young minister, Rev. Philip Carton, his thoughtful, quiet, and reposeful manner being quite a relief among so much exuberance of emotion. Mr. Stephen Langton acts with all the necessary vehemence and earnestness as young Harry Millard, and Mr. Watkin Wynne also "lets himself go" as Millard père, of Millard Castle. Mr. Walter Thornton supplies a realistic and repellent portraiture of the consummate scoundrel, James Durwood, and Mr. Roland Yorke is most saturnine and sneaking of villains as Major Strangeways. Mr. J. P. Kennedy as Jacques Spado of the "Vultures," and others, do their share in this exciting three hours' traffic of the stage. The scenery is pretty and tasteful throughout.

THEATRE ROYAL, STRATFORD.

Mr. Alexander Greenwood's company in the drama The Price of Her Soul is this week holding the boards of Stratford's Theatre Royal. Just now, when the Muscovite masses are engaged in a fight for freedom and liberty, and when the whole world is watching with sympathetic interest the mighty struggle that is being waged between the workers and the wealthy, a tale of Russian intrigue is of special significance. Therefore, the adventures in St. Petersburg of Lord Rolfe Mandeville, V.C., and the schemes which are set on foot by unscrupulous Russians with the object of discomforting the aristocratic Englishman, should certainly appeal to an audience with an eye to the sensational. The plot of the drama—the author of which, by the way, is Mr. William Hibbert—is of the kind that thrills. Mr. John B. Shinton in the part of Lord Mandeville acts with dramatic forcefulness, and shows us a courageous, honourable English gentleman always maintaining the dignity of his character and personal attributes, even in circumstances of extreme difficulty and danger. From Miss Ada M. Ryder we get a superb piece of tragic acting in the rôle of the heroine, Countess Inez Steinmitz, and the young lady is to be congratulated for her work in the play. The most objectionable, hypocritical, and treacherous individual, Major Ivan Skoboloff, is personated with a realism that almost takes one's breath away by Mr. Annesley Hely; and Mr. Murray Yorke as the "second heavy" runs him pretty close for consistent and unblushing villainy with his portrayal of Captain Sergius Petruski. Ah! but shure be St. Pathrick they're not going to have the whole play to themselves for their ugly doings, for Pat Murphy 'ull have his say, and a moighty funny one it is! And Pat Murphy is only another way of saying Will Percy. How comical, too, is Miss Ada Arnott in the rôle of Lady Jemima Fraser, the pork-pie queen! Miss Tina Frank treats us to some delightful light comedy in her study of Polly Perkins; and if there be eulogy in loud hisses, then Miss Mona Gray can rightly think that she receives great praise for her characterisation of Olga Lavonitz, a bad woman. The piece is adequately mounted and staged.

GRAND, FULHAM.

On Monday, August 13,
the Play, in Four Acts, by Frederick Melville, entitled
"THE UGLIEST WOMAN ON EARTH."

The Fulham Theatre this week is given over to the delights of melodrama, furnished by a competent company in The Ugliest Woman on Earth. The mysterious heroine is impersonated with great power and skill by Miss Beatrice Homer, who is remarkably successful in surrounding herself with a subtle sense of repulsion, partially dispelled, however, by the charm of her voice. Miss Margaret Watson, as the revengeful Italian girl, has the gift of enlisting sympathy, and puts plenty of power into her work. Miss Nell Oliver acts well as Rose Courtenay, the "villainess" of the piece. Not less commendable and much more attractive is the performance of Miss Nellie Jackson as Aggie Brown, in a more comic rôle. The fine presence of Mr. Philip Darien lends special force to his acting as Jack Meriman, the hero, who wins the sympathies of the audience. Mr. Leyton Canceller as Hubert Gold plays the villain in whole-hearted fashion, and is most effective, while his companion in crime, Antonio Luchesi, is represented with equal effect by Mr. Charles Barrett. Mr. Allan Davenport is vigorous as Tom Redvers, and Mr. Leonard Thackeray is dignified and earnest as Dr. Carr. As Tubby Herrick Mr. Tubby Edlin scores a great success in the low comedy line, and provokes roars of laughter at every appearance. He was quite a tower of strength in the way of comic relief to the sorrows of the other characters. As Raggles, a "hooligan," Mr. W. Wallace Aston contributes a good character sketch, and a word of praise should also be given to Mr. Stuart Roberts as a most remarkable specimen of the hopelessly "foreign" waiter.

PRINCE'S, POPLAR.

On Monday, August 13,
the Musical Comedy, in Two Acts, by Fred Bowyer and W. E. Sprange, entitled
"THE NEW BARMAID."

The return of musical comedy to this theatre appears to be welcomed by its habitués, who gave The New Barmaid a rousing reception this week. Mr. C. Edwardes has got together a capital company who work with a will, and, what is more commendable, in unison. Miss Amy Preston, who undertakes the title-rôle, has a bright and sparkling way with her, and is possessed of an excellent voice, which she uses to much advantage in "The Merry Barmaid" song. Miss Violet Osmund as Dora Heather, the lady journalist, has a remarkable store of energy. She delights her audience with several numbers, including duets and trios, and her dancing is of a pleasing character, particularly in the concerted number, entitled "My Golden Belle." Miss Maude Nichols plays Brenda Louth, the old barmaid, in an able manner, and as Lady Moulton, Miss Winifred Preston could not be bettered. As Captain Lovebury Mr. Leslie Austin is excellent, and his singing of "I love you, ma cherie" and "Britons, awake!" evoked loud applause. As William White Mr. Alexander Loftus brings to bear his store of talent and humour with great effect. His drolleries keep his audience chuckling with delight. Mr. Charles Adeson, who plays Bertie White, is another comedian of no mean ability, and whilst these two gentlemen are on the stage the risible faculties of the onlookers are continually exercised. Mr. Loftus scores considerably with a song and chorus, entitled "That's the man for you," and Mr. Adeson does well with the ever-popular "Little bit of sugar for the bird." Mr. James Grant is excellent as Colonel Claymore, and Mr. W. E. Chewd as Mons. Bonsor presents an effective picture of the proprietor of the Owletts Club, introducing some clever dancing with his business. Miss Grafton is quite satisfactory as Braddy, and Miss May Hawthorne and Miss Jennie May dance charmingly. Mr. John Cole and Mr. F. Collins successfully carry out their duties as waiters at the club, and the Star Trio indulge in some neat dancing.

All the smaller parts are well played, and the piece is admirably staged.

THE GRAND, WOOLWICH.

On Monday, Aug. 13, the Drama, in Four Acts, entitled
"IN HOLY (!) RUSSIA."

The title of the above-named play is admirably calculated to arrest attention, and that the good audience that assembled here on Monday night found their expectations fully realised was evidenced by the frequent applause which greeted the efforts of Mr. J. Rice Cassidy's talented company. In the rôle of Renée Rubinoff, Mrs. J. Rice Cassidy is provided with a part excellently suited to her talents; her acting in the stronger scenes is characterised by power and pathos, and in the scenes in which Renée enacts the high-spirited American girl, Mrs. Cassidy is altogether charming. Miss Mavis Lee Anderson submits a striking impersonation of Catska Lavotski, and paints in strong colours the infamous character of this double traitress. Miss Annie Dudley is amusing as Mrs. Richard Forrest; and Miss Alice Marsden does well as Mme. Natolski. A fine character-study of Count Gregori Petrolski comes from Mr. Horace Butler, whose impassioned earnest manner on several occasions fairly brings down the house. Mr. Carl Rovinelli gives a convincing portrayal of Laurice Steragoff, and is at his best in the scene in which the Nihilist determines to leave his official organisation and play his own "hand." As Michael Natolski, Mr. T. Nerrey is sufficiently cunning and pusillanimous. Mr. Arthur Stratton makes a characteristic Colonel of the Guards, and gives an excellent rendering of Forrest's scene with Renée in the second act. Mr. Joe Cuthbertson submits some clever acting as the Chief of the Russian Police; Mr. Robert Cockroft is an impressive Tsar; Mr. Frank Copeland makes the most of Sir Harry Beresford; and last, but by no means least, Mr. J. Rice Cassidy is responsible for much hearty laughter in the character of Micky Nolan. The smaller parts are capably handled, and the drama is mounted and staged with commendable care and attention to detail.

DALSTON THEATRE.

On Monday, August 13,
the Drama, by Frank M. Thorne, entitled
"HER ONE GREAT SIN."

Drama of the realistic and sensational order seems to have fairly taken possession of the Dalston Theatre for the time being. This week Miss Blanche St. Albans and Mr. J. Leicester Jackson's company is appearing there in the drama, with the comprehensive title, Her One Great Sin. Mr. J. Leicester Jackson as the spendthrift squire, Arnold Thornhill, a gentleman villain, plays a part which, although despicable in the matter of wickedness and cruelty, is clever and interesting as a stage sketch. Miss Blanche St. Albans makes an attractive heroine as Grace Warhurst, and fully secures the sympathy of the audience, especially in her blindness. Miss Maudie Lambert is a great favourite as little Gracie, daughter of Reuben Warhurst, a typical village carpenter, a character very well represented by Mr. J. Beresford Innes. Mr. Fred Hodson as Jerry Jumble, Mr. Charles E. Lambert as Dan Hundle, a tinker, Mr. Harold B. Ford as Jack Hundle, his son, and Miss Louis Walton as Bet Hundle, an old virago, form a notable quartette. Others in the cast include Miss Nellie Lambert, Miss Phyllis Damian, Messrs. J. Nella, A. Raymond Shaw, Tom Pollard, W. Dudge, G. Smythe, and C. Dale.

BROADWAY THEATRE, S.E.

On Monday, August 13, the Drama, in Four Acts, by Walter Melville, entitled
"HER SECOND TIME ON EARTH."

A large audience assembled on Monday to greet this play on its return visit to this theatre. The cast is different in many instances to the former one; but clever Miss Hilda Beverley still appears in her original creation of Dora Grey, and delights all by her skilful representation of the heartless adventuress. Miss Dorothy Hildebrand is a gentle and sympathetic Laura Norman; Miss Polly Marsh as Elizabeth Burke submits a clever sketch of a drunken woman; Miss Marie Kildare is a vivacious and charming Kitty Rosebud; Miss Alexandra Lisle and Miss K. R. Garrett act well as Sister Margaret and Sister Westwood; and Miss Agnes Rose is very good as Jane Terrors. Mr. John Nolan gives a bluff and life-like portrait of Captain Norman; Mr. Frank Robertson is excellent as Jack Carlton; Mr. Wm. C. Reid is a bright and amusing Teddy Butterfly; Mr W. H. Porter is good as Guy Brand; Mr. Charles Longdale is capable as Tom Norman; Mr. A. Fellows looks picturesque, and plays well as Beppo; Mr. Leonard Arson is effective as Doctor Ridley; and the remaining parts are all in competent hands.

GRAND THEATRE, ISLINGTON.

On Monday, Aug. 13,
the Drama, in Four Acts, entitled
"AT DUTY'S CALL.

Mr. John Gerant and company are paying Islington a visit with the above drama, a very large audience being present on Monday to witness it. Built on familiar lines, it is just the type of play likely to attract a popular audience. Mr. Gerant, who is starring as Harold Allison, gives a good performance. Harry Scott gives a capital portrayal of the heroic rôle, and proves himself a very clever boxer. Mr. Ernest St. John as General Gordon submits one of the best things of the evening, excellent alike in make-up and characteristics, and his reading deserves warm commendation. Mr. Harry Ugar as Teddy O'Halleran is resourceful and amusing, and has a capital couple of coadjutors in Mr. Julian Bainbridge as Jack Spencer (who also displays his skill in the noble art) and Mr. Ivan Mavis as Trott, their scenes provoking much laughter. Mr. A. W. Harvey as Harsan does well in a small part. Miss Eva Bull as Mary acted with animation and go, her scenes with the humorists mentioned above going well. Miss Beatrice Western as Salume enacts a heavy part with skill and success. Miss Lily Crammonde as Dora Drummond plays the leading rôle sympathetically, her performance being very pleasing. The drama received an enthusiastic reception, curtains being numerous.

BRIXTON THEATRE.

On Monday, August 13,
the American Drama, in Four Acts, by Joseph Arthur, entitled
"THE STILL ALARM."

Crowded houses have watched with interest the performance of The Still Alarm presented by a strong company, under the direction of Messrs. Glenville and Osmond. Mr. Glenville, as the hero Jack Manley, gives an excellent interpretation of the fireman, brave and resolute, and yet at times loving and tender. Mr. George Arthur is good as John Bird, and imbues the part with all the necessary callousness and hard-heartedness. Mr. Fred Osmond supplies a clever delineation of the drunken reprobate Doc Wilber; and an excellent rendering of the old merchant, Franklyn Fordham, is given by Mr. Lewis Gordon. Mr. Tom Varney as Joe Nozzle causes incessant amusement by his antics in the fire station. Mrs. Manley is successfully undertaken by Miss Mabel Veriton. The heroine, Elinor Fordham, is sympathetically played by Miss Maud Warburton, who infuses into the part a cheerfulness that is irresistible, and wins general sympathy. Miss Hettie Zilwood gives an excellent impersonation of Carrie Wilber, and is well applauded for her singing of "The Maid of Hindostan." The Lyric Comedy Four introduce some well rendered songs in the fire station scene. The smaller parts are in capable hands. A word of praise must be given for the admirable training of the two horses, Pegasus and Bucephalus. The mounting of the play is well carried out, especially the fire station, which is very realistic. Mr. J. S. Pateman is the courteous manager of the company. Mr. Tom Beasley, who has the arduous duties of stage management in his hands, successfully plays the character of Willie Manley.

THE TERRISS.

On Monday, August 13,
the Drama, by Watts Phillips, entitled
"LOST IN LONDON."

The attraction here this week is the above popular drama. The piece in some respects recalls East Lynne in its dramatic intensity, and the woes of the erring yet loving wife make a special appeal to the sympathy of the audience. Miss Olga Audre acts with much pathos and charm as the young wife, Nelly Armroyd, who is led astray by the fashionable villain. Mr. J. C. Aubrey presents a clever portrait of polished rascality as the tempter, Gilbert Featherstone. Mr. Frank Lister is the rough but good-hearted miner, Job Armroyd, to the life, and enlists the sympathies of the audience throughout. Mr. Lister is especially good in the third act, and plays with much pathos. Mr. Herbert Woodin is very amusing as Benjamin Blinker, a London tiger, and creates much laughter, and his sweetheart, Tiddy Draggletherpe, is brightly played by Miss Ruth Zillwood, the understudy of Miss Eva Dare, who is unable to appear in consequence of a severe cold. Both these artists by their clever acting do much to lighten the more sombre portions of the drama. Thomas, a footman, is well played by Mr. Jack Denton. Miss Amy Mayland makes a bright and sympathetic Flounce, Mr. Wingold Lawrence acts with much force as the invertebrate Sir Richard Loader. The scenery and effects are quite adequate, and the revival meets with great appreciation.

The farce, entitled Poor Phil Garlic, by Roy Redgrave, is well received by the audience, and causes much laughter. Mr. Roy Redgrave is excellent in the parts of Lieut. Phil Garlic and Lieut. Chanter. Mr. Denton makes an amusing Major Garlic. Miss Zillwood is good as Nance Garlic. The remaining parts are well played by Miss Turner, Mr. Woodin, and Mr. Cooper.

THE CROWN, PECKHAM.

On Monday, August 13,
the Naval Play, by Frank Bateman, entitled
"THE SAILORS OF THE KING."

Mr. Charles Harrington's specially-selected company is proving greatly popular in the above-named exciting nautical play. The piece is superior to the ordinary run of melodramas, and a considerable portion of the action takes place at sea, thus giving opportunity for some exciting situations. Mr. Frank Stephens makes a manly young lieutenant as Dick Drake, and scores a great success. Mr. R. F. Stacey gives a capital impersonation as his wicked brother, Orrel Drake, and duly earns the execrations of the gods for his clever acting. Mr. Charles Harrington makes a dignified Admiral Drake. Mr. Fred Owen provides a good character-sketch as the Jewish money-lender, Harris Wilkinstein; Rufford Dent is very well impersonated by Mr. Harold Webb, and Mr. Walter Farnworth is good as the loafer, Bige. Mr. Kenneth Black, jun., scores well as Barnet Fair, and Mr. Harry Conway makes the most of Captain Cancardine. Miss Lily Prescott acts with much pathos as the unfortunate Daisy Dent, and looks very charming in the part. Miss Madge North is very well placed as the young heiress, Felicia Phynynne, and Penelope Pen is capitally enacted by Miss Hero Hathaway. Miss Sylvia Stella gives a very powerful rendering of the rôle of Rebecca Crosby. A great feature of the production is the fine staging and scenery, special mention being deserved of the realistic scene of the launch at the end of the piece.

THE WEST LONDON.

On Monday, August 13, the Drama, in Five Acts, by Ernest Martin and Fewlass Llewellyn, entitled
"THE COAL KING."

The novel features in this stirring drama appeal very forcibly to the emotional West Londoners, who are correspondingly lavish in their applause. Chief interest in the play centres round the doings of one Tom Roberts, a part well suited to the robust methods of Mr. Lauderdale Maitland, who triumphs accordingly. Mr. Lionel Thompson portrays Sir Reginald Harford in a dignified and impressive way; Mr. Frank Dalton is sufficiently convincing as Dick Shirley; Mr. John Coghlan is an earnest Seth Baker, and Mr. Fabian Lock is admirable as Detective Saxby. The rascally Walter Harford finds a capable exponent in Mr. Escott Robson, who brings the villainous side of the character well to the fore, and Mr. Alfred Terriss has ample scope for his comedy powers in his rendering of Jim Williams, a part which he handles with much skill and effect. Miss Linna St. Clair cuts a pathetic figure as Mad Ann; Miss Evelin North is painstaking as Mrs. Baker; Miss Sybil Coghlan is a vivacious and pleasing Araminta Green; and Miss Gertrude Valentine sustains the important rôle of Grace Shirley with much archness and charm. The play is well mounted. Mr. John Coghlan is the acting-manager for Messrs. Polini and Maitland.

BOROUGH THEATRE, STRATFORD.

The story of The Silver King has been told many, many times; but seemingly it is not one of which the playgoing public tire. The story of a man who rose from his dead ashes to better things, the story of a woman who suffered much for his sake and for the sake of her children, the story of the unravelling of a mystery, the proof of innocence of a crime on the part of one man who, in fear, had fled from home and family, and returned years later, a more moral and highly prosperous individual, only to find that his wife and children were starving—when will it cease to attract us with its many interesting and "human" incidents? This week at the Borough Theatre, Stratford, capital audiences have assembled to be enthralled again by the adventures of Wilfred Denver and his wife Nellie, and all the people, friendly and unfriendly, with whom they come in contact. The piece is beautifully staged, as, indeed, are all the attractions toured by Messrs. G. M. Polini and Austin Melford. In the rôle of the Silver King Mr. Melford proves himself as delightful an actor as of yore. He is no stranger to the part, but repetition does not cause him to deteriorate—he is far too careful an actor for that. Miss Victoria Addison touches the hearts of her audience with her pathetic portrayal of Nellie Denver. She is, to say the least, a most artistic and cultured actress. From Miss Mabel Gardener we get an admirable character sketch of Mrs. Gamage, and the parts of Cissie and Ned Denver are sustained in able fashion by two smart little children, Miss Jessie Apted and Master Eric Dene, respectively. Mr. Charles Baird interprets the wicked sayings and doings of Captain Skinner, otherwise known as the Spider, in a vigorous style, and Mr. Tom Paulton gives a most praiseworthy performance of the part of Daniel Jaikes, the faithful servant of the Denver family. It need scarcely be said that all the other rôles are in safe keeping, the whole production being distinctly commendable.

COUNTY THEATRE, KINGSTON.

On Monday, August 13,
the Drama, in Five Acts, by George R. Sims and Arthur Shirley, entitled
"TWO LITTLE VAGABONDS."

Always a favourite in the riverside town, the Two Little Vagabonds found a fairly numerous audience waiting at the Royal County Theatre on Monday night to give them a welcome back, and the welcome was as cordial as ever. The drama was presented by a capable company, engineered by Messrs. Hardy and Von Leer. Miss May Hart appears as Dick with much success, and was very favourably received by those of the audience who recognised in her a former and popular principal boy in Kingston pantomime. A capital impersonation of the other vagabond Wally is given by Miss Margaret Nyblock. Miss Grace Heywood appears as Marion Thornton, in which she presents a refined portraiture of the part; and Miss F. Russell Spiers is equally successful as Barbara Searth. A word of commendation is also deserved by Miss Mary Pritchard as Biddy Mullins. Amongst the gentlemen in the company, Mr. John F. Traynor takes a prominent place by his breezy picture of the showman, Mr. William Mullins; and successful services are also rendered by Mr. Wm. D. Fazan as George Thornton, Mr. Henry Watson as Captain Dareville, Mr. Ernest K. Wilson as Dido Bunce, and Mr. F. Archer. The drama was admirably mounted.

REOPENING OF THE PRINCE'S, PRESTON.

This theatre was reopened on Monday evening, when a number of improvements greatly adding to the comfort and pleasure of its patrons were disclosed. The whole of the auditorium has been redecorated; electric light has taken the place of gas as an illuminant, and handsome tip-up seats in brown and crimson leather have been substituted for the old ones in the best parts of the house.

Radiating from the centre of the ceiling is an elaborate and graceful design in white and gold, which has been specially supplied for this theatre and executed in fibrous plaster by Mr. John Alberti, of Manchester, who is responsible for all of the work in this material. The walls have been coloured a rich, deep red, which contrasts vividly with the pale blue ground of the ceiling, around which are painted designs representing music.

The balcony surrounding the circle is in blue and gold, branches of electric lamps being inserted at intervals. The same colours are employed in the embellishment of the proscenium, which is surmounted by the Prince of Wales's plume, upwards of 6ft. in height. The whole of the decorative work has been carried out in admirable style by Messrs. Watts and Co., of Liverpool.

Mr. George Kirk and Miss Mary Neil's company, in Her Luck in London, proved to be a well-selected opening attraction. The house was literally packed, and the play met with an enthusiastic reception. Mr. Charles A. Leicester was distinctly successful as the Hon. Fitzgerald O'Connor. Mr. Alfred D. Adams, as Richard Lenowen, ably presented a repellant character; Mr. Douglas Tremayne did justice to the part of the Rev. Lionel Strong; Stephen Harborne was effectively delineated by Mr. Tyrone Power; Mr. Bruce Clapham as Algie Kircumbrie; Mr. J. Telly Dilson as Jerry Gotobed; and Miss Florrie Groves as Maud Shovepenny evoked hearty laughter in comedy parts. Miss Ada Roscoe was well suited in the rôle of Mme. Gabrielle; Lilian Harborne had a good exponent in Miss Frances Bruce; and much praise is due to Miss Mary Neil for her strong and affecting portrayal of Nellie Harborne.

TO THE EDITOR OF THE ERA.

SIR,—When it was first announced that an Egyptian comic opera was to be produced at the New Theatre this month, with a sacred cat figuring prominently in the plot, you were kind enough to insert a letter from me drawing attention to the coincidence that I, too, had written an Egyptian opera in which a sacred cat was an important factor. But now that I have had the opportunity of witnessing Amasis, I find that what was before quite a remarkable coincidence has now developed into an astounding one. In both this piece and in my own the action revolves round this same central idea. The daughter of the King of Egypt is betrothed to the hero, but their wedding is prevented through his having slain one of the sacred cats. Taxed by the high priest with the crime—a capital one, even though an accident—the hero immediately confesses, and is duly condemned to death. Eventually a way out of the difficulty is found, and, in the end, he is enabled to marry the Princess. My own "book" contains much more plot than this brief outline would suggest, but these are the chief points of identity.

The coincidence does not end here, however, but extends to the scenes. Thus, in my piece, Act I. is "Hall in the King's Palace"; Act. II., "Exterior of the Temple of Ra." In Amasis, Act I. is "Courtyard of the Palace of King Amasis at Memphis"; Act II., "Before the Temple at Memphis." Further, my manuscript was provided by me with sketches showing in detail each scene; and the construction of the first scene of Amasis is practically identical with my second scene. In the centre stands a tall obelisk—which, by the way, is an important item in both operas—and, behind it, a low wall runs right across the stage. On one side is a building with four columns, a flight of steps leading to the entrance. On the opposite side a large propylon is seen, and, in the background, foliage on the terraces below, water, palms, and desert. A Sphinx completes each picture; but it must be stated that left and right are reversed in the two scenes.

Of verbal similarities, one specimen must suffice. I wrote: "The lives of cats are nine at least; a loss of eight befell your beast!" From Amasis: "She (the cat) should have had nine lives at least, but though I cut off one, poor beast, I couldn't well ensure the other eight." As to priority, it has been stated in the Press that Amasis was written in 1904; whereas my correspondence shows that my complete libretto, the writing of which was spread over some three years, was first submitted to a manager in February, 1898, and it has been "considered" by several producers, and shown in various quarters, at intervals during the subsequent period, whenever it appeared to me there was a prospect of a revival of real comic opera in place of musical comedy. All the above facts I am prepared to substantiate, and I think it will be conceded that, taken together, they form one of the most astonishing coincidences in the history of dramatic authorship—one so remarkable, indeed, that if the production of my piece is eventually arranged, I should undoubtedly be accused of plagiarism—and possibly sued for damages—were I to let the matter pass without publicly drawing attention to it.—Yours faithfully,

W. GUNN GWENNET.

GEORGE BERNARD SHAW.

The history of English Comedy is more comic than its absurdest subject. Who but the Comic Spirit himself could have devised the exquisite jest that, after so many lost opportunities, it should have fallen to the lot of our generation to give birth to Mr. Bernard Shaw? For Mr. Bernard Shaw certainly does not take his contemporaries very seriously. Few masks, few disguises, escape the raking eye of this clean-sweeping philosopher. To the centre of things—to the "unaccommodated man"—he must come, whether the coat be buttoned at back or at front.

Yes; his plays amuse us. They are so funny, so outrageously irresponsible, we say. Ah! and so is Nature funny now and then, and the "little pleasures" of Providence go on their path with a charming disregard for regulations. The truth is that those who find Mr. Shaw only funny are the sort of people for whom Nature is a Vale of Tempe aureoled discreetly in an artificial mist. The real Nature is quite another thing, and Her cherished darlings—those for whom she fills the enchanted cup of her pungent wine, and lets fall the wild berries of her perilous woods—honour, with due rights and awful regard, this Pan of the drawing-rooms. Nor does he let any of us escape. The guilt of the misery of the oppressed is upon all alike. We are all responsible for Mrs. Warren's Profession. No demureness, no prudery, can shield us. The armour-piercing glance of a witty Irishman is like the laugh of Panurge; it will be heard, and though the lady take to herself the wings of the morning, she will not escape the little mirror he holds up. Still it sounds! A strange, baffling, mocking laugh, in our respectable and revered places! Still it sounds, this trumpet of the Lord, and behold! the walls of the City of Convention are already falling down flat, and the "Hebraic Spirit" is sparing none but the house of Rahab, the harlot!

For the earnestness, the terrifying sincerity, of this formidable comedian is more astonishing than his wit. But "London does not take Mr. Shaw seriously"? Ah! that is perhaps because it is safer not. It might entail uncomfortable consequences. How dreadful if, after all, this Jester of Society turn out to be John the Baptist!

Stranger things have happened. The painter who wrote from left to right found an ecstacy almost Dionysic under that raiment of camel's-hair. And whither is his prophet pointing with the furtive smile? Yes; on the whole, it were better for the peace of those who cry peace that they should not take Mr. Shaw seriously.

He will not be alone in being so misread. We remember whose book it is, and to whom the book refers, which speaks of "the little boxes called Sileni, painted on the outside with wanton toyish, figures, as harpies, satyrs, bridled geese, horned hares, saddled ducks, flying goats, and suchlike counterfeited pictures, at pleasure, to excite people unto laughter, as Silenus himself, who, as the foster-father of good Bacchus, was wont to do. But within those capricious caskets were carefully preserved and kept many rich and fine drugs, such as balm, ambergris, amamon, musk, civet."

We know how Heine, the invincible champion of the Holy Ghost, the liberator of Germany, was regarded by many as nothing better than a lewd fellow. The truth is that Mr. Bernard Shaw has a very definite and important philosophy to expound: so above all things is it necessary for him to conceal his purpose from the vulgar. It is ever the mark of a wise man to speak in parables, so that only those may hear that have ears to hear. It is not the really great who try by obvious rhetoric to convince the crowd. Ruskin's rôle is suitable enough for the spiritual director of young women, and Carlyle's for the rugged recruiting-sergeant of gallant boyhood clasping the sword; but as the voice of one addressing such as have borne the burden and heat of the day, scarred and disillusioned brains, whom neither words can cajole nor thunders stun, Bernard Shaw finds his place—the place of the prophet of those who have eaten of the tree of knowledge of good and evil. Every foot who followeth after Mr. Shaw is only one more bucket tied to the rope, and the more there are the fewer ever get to the bottom of his well-deep wisdom; so that the more popular he becomes the more he will not be taken seriously. What, then, is the gospel of this Devil's Advocate from Ireland? Well, it emerges pleasantly enough by degrees as we read these cryptic plays. First of all we have the ground absolutely cleared—in other words, cleared of the Absolute.

All things, says Mr. Bernard Shaw, are relative to the individual. No single person has by searching found out God. We must all say not—so it is—but—so it seems to us that it is. This is of course a point of view that would appeal entirely to St. Thomas Aquinas, the relativity of the ultimate reality being, I suppose, a commonplace of the schools; but it is not an idea that the average Englishman puts on with his hat. This having been granted, Mr. Bernard Shaw then turns upon the world, and surveys it up and down and round and round. He distinguishes at once between evolution and progress. Out of the animal kingdom man has been evolved; but that happened some thousands of years ago, and man is still man. The word progress does not deceive this modern Diogenes. "Stand out of my light," he says to civilization. Progress? Are we then so improved? Are our characters improved? Are we braver, wiser, sincerer, more frankly and boldly ourselves than we were two thousand years ago. It is true we can get across the Atlantic in five days and a half; it is true that though, as Disraeli reminds us, Damascus has outlasted the drums and tramplings of a dozen empires, and has changed but tittle, the electric tram-cars in Birkenhead have now got covered tops. But character—ah! that is a different matter. Christianity has liberated women; but are women nicer now that they are liberated? Christianity has made slavery impossible; but are the wage-earners in a hundred sweated industries better off than the slaves. Buddha and St. Francis call animals and birds their brothers and sisters. We vivisect some, put some in cages, eat nearly all, and hunt the rest. We do not murder one another with swords, but with account books. A pretty word, Progress! But Man, however, decked out with the patches and paint of premature divinity, remains still lamentably and ludicrously man. How, then, is he to escape? The only way is to erect himself above himself. If God by natural selection has created man, man must by artificial selection create Superman. In plain words, there must be a Secretary of State for breeding heroes. This indicates the place of women in the philosophy of Mr. Bernard Shaw. No modern writer has gone more boldly than he does to the root of the matter here. "Women," he says, "as things go, are wiser than men. They represent Nature's Stream of Tendency more emphatically; they act in a more direct manner. Every woman regards the fine-spun theories and passionate ideals of every man she meets with the gentle indulgence of a mother for her child's games. She will play with him at oranges and lemons all the afternoon; but the really important thing is to get him safely tucked into bed. And that is the right point of view—Nature's point of view. The philosopher can see round everybody else; but he can't see round his Mother. And Mr. Shaw sees clearly that great fact which most of our duellists of sex learn too late—that in nearly every case it is the woman who pursues and the man who is pursued.

But to the Stage! John the Baptist he may indeed be called, this dreadful Irishman! for has he not caught the eyes of his generation watching the twinkling feet of the daughter of Herodias? The stage, in fact, is, according to our prophet, obsessed by sex-infatuation. The leading lady has to be prettier than a picture postcard, the second lady at least as pretty, the third also, and thus to the end. But, he adds, our average Englishman will not go eternally to the theatre merely to be tantalised. So, by a notural evolution, the music hall offers itself and other pleasure domes—not of ice. Here again Mr. Shaw, the Socialist, calls upon the State to help us. Let us establish by degrees a subsidised theatre, where plays so really exciting as to purge our passions by pity and terror may be seen for nothing. Let us relieve the well-meaning manager of his invidious task of catering for Capricornian demands under Uranian symbols. Let us appeal to the Puritans to save us from Aphrodisic art as they have saved us before. Let the malignants be smashed with a heavy hammer and let the will of God prevail!

The word Puritan leads us to Mr. Shaw's singular hero-worship for the author of "The Pilgrim's Progress." Here is a society jester indeed! No wonder our Duchessy friends regard him somewhat obliquely. They would be glad enough to see and acknowledge if they could the gold spangles of the irresponsible harlequin through the philosopher's cloak. In Cowper's time it seems to have been "not the thing" to mention Bunyan at all, and even now Mr. Worldly Wiseman and Mr. Facing-both-Ways do not feel quite at ease under the dreadful tinker's eye. Bunyan, according to Bernard Shaw, is the greatest English dramatiser of life. This has been regarded as a wilful and paradoxical attack upon Shakespeare. Shakespeare, he says, has a mirculous genius, his laughter clears the air of many affections; but he has no definite philosophy—he has written no prefaces. We cannot tell for certain what he would say on any particular subject, and we do not know whether he knows himself what he would say He interprets rather the diversity than the unity of nature. Shakespeare, an accidental Superman, has delineated no satisfactory Supermen. Prospero is too vague, Hamlet is lacking in adequate purpose; the whole thing is the comedy and tragedy of personal aims. But Mr. Shaw maintains that we must transcend personal aims. "The only real joy of life," he writes in one of his prefaces, "is the being used for a purpose that you yourself recognise as a mighty one—the being thoroughly worn out before you are cast upon the scrap heap—the being a force of nature and not a bundle of lamentations; and the only real tragedy of life is being used by personally-minded people for ends which you recognise as base—all else is mere misfortune and mortality." It may be noted incidentally (as Dr. Rondibilis whispers in my ear) that there is a decided sound of dogmatism in all this. When a prophet arrives at telling us that the only real joy of life is what he says it is, it is time for ordinary people to bethink themselves of those singular beings whose only real joy in life is the discovery of the relativity of prophets. But, all the same, the sentiment is a heroic one, and draws together John Bunyan and Marcus Aurelius. Even if we criticise it by reference to that "ecstasy" which has been found both by Pagan and Christian to be the secret of the deepest pleasures, and say that in comparison with such an ecstasy reconciling us to all things and all things to us, this theory of doing the will of the universe seems a little cold and remote. It must at least be remembered that the love of things as they are, which is so important an aspect of the Christian secret, is inseparably connected in all the documents of that faith with hope in the coming of the kingdom—that is to say, with a very considerable alteration of things as they are. There will, we may imagine, always be two conflicting types of mind: one which fixes its regard steadily upon the future, labours for it and despises the present; the other which is intoxicated with things in their present beauty. The first of these is often a misanthrope, so enamoured is he of archangels; the second is often a co-respondent, so enamoured is he of mortal dust. Mr. Shaw will pardon our placing him in the former category. It must be confessed our comedian puts more value upon a State department for the breeding of Supermen than upon the various ideals by which humanity has until now tried to lift itself above itself. The Christian would say, Why all this bother? The Superman is among you! The Mystic would say, In the unconscious self there are many supermen. The Lover would say, From the lips of my beloved I drink draughts of immortality. The Patriot would say, I die that my country may live. These are, we may timidly submit, possible interpretations of the superman cult; but Mr. Bernard Shaw makes short work of them. Romance, Patriotism, Idealism, above all, Love, are to him mere illusions. He displays—this Fenian of the soul—as he dynamites our popular idols, some of his most entertaining humour; so humorous is he when bowling over all these pretty toys that we begin to get quite an agitating impression that after all, somehow or other, we have been made complete fools by the World Spirit, and have been shut up in a fool's prison. There is a positive passion in him for bringing psychological matters down to their proper basis, showing, in fact, at once the dignity of the flesh and its comic helplessness in the hands of nature. When this mood is on him there is a real Rabelaisian movement about his wit—a dragnet movement working along at the bottom of the great deep, and bringing to light all sorts of queer fish. Well, the wheel has come full circle indeed in a strange enough manner. Here is Mr. Bernard Shaw, the cleverest of modern comedians, —the Revolutionist, the Fabianist, the Evolutionist —side by side on the evangelical platform with Uncle Tom, casting away the filthy rags of worldly righteousness and renouncing the City of Destruction. Here is our old friend "the just man made perfect" sitting down cheek by jowl with the emancipated animals of Zarathrustra.

But what kind of a person is the Superman to be? That is the question. When we say some sort of philosopher-athlete we get an approximate answer. But what an answer! How much of our present disposition rebels against this dreadful superior brain and more dreadful superior brawn? I suppose an Englishman always carries a floating remnant of Original Chaos in his composition which makes him reluct at any categorical imperative; and at the present moment I seem to see this overpowering Superman as a kind of monster eating up his ancestors as Saturn is said to have devoured his children. And yet a great deal of such reaction can be nothing more than unregenerate motions of the carnal mind at enmity with God. However, there it is—that is the feeling we have! A Catholic criticism of Mr. Shaw would say, I suppose, that he made too much of Head in comparison with Heart. Certainly he has a positive mania for philosophers. Philosophers as a class have not so far been very popular with comedians. Ever since the curtain fell—or rose—on the discomfiture of Mr. Square these naughty rogues have been having constant digs at the eternal fitness of things concealed behind the eternal unfitness of persons. But Mr. Shaw is anxious to bring philosophy into the realm of Art. Philosopher-artists or artists with a definite system of the Universe, are what he hunts up, and side by side with Bunyan appears Hogarth. In these, Nature becomes more and more conscious of herself and of her far-away hope discerned in terms of her present in competence, as by the labour and travail of women she sets forward into the future. The ideas we have been attempting to indicate can be found in all these four volumes of plays: in all of them there is the same resolute determination to see things not as they are said to be, or thought to be, or wished to be, but as they really are. "Things are what they are," quotes the incomparable Matthew Arnold from Bishop Butler, "and the consequences of them will be what they will be—why then should we desire to be deceived?" The heroic personages in Mr. Shaw's plays take this view. The Devil's Disciple, for instance, at war with conventional religion in this world and with no opinion about any other world, is ready to give his life for the race. "I die for the world's future," cries he, when the rope is round his neck. Don Juan's idea of heaven is a place where you are not bored with having everything that you like, and he speaks from experience. Mrs. Warren reminds us how the real causes of the tragic procession of Piccadilly is the miserable wage that women are reduced to by the selfishness of all of us, virtuous and vicious alike, and the farewell scene between Captain Brassbound and Lady Cecily Waynflete (Mr. Shaw's Just Woman made Perfect), whose peculiarity is the sweet unscrupulousness of reason, lifts us into the pure, clear atmosphere of those heroic souls who in all ages have cried out to the Universe: "Ave Cæsar morituri te salutant!"

AMUSEMENTS IN MANCHESTER.

(FROM OUR OWN CORRESPONDENTS.)

PRINCE'S THEATRE, LTD.—Acting-Manager, Mr. George Lee.—A second visit of The Spring Chicken to Manchester was welcomed here on Monday by a crowded and enthusiastic house. This is a second edition of the piece, which is presented with new songs, dances, and dresses, and never for a moment flags in its vivacity and humour. In point of popularity, Mr. George Gregory is foremost as Mr. Girdle, a part invested with immense entertainment by this resourceful comedian. Miss Gertrude Glyn is also very pleasing as Rosalie; and a nice impersonation of Dulcie Baberi is given by Miss Gertrude Gilliam. Others who distinguish themselves among the ladies are Miss Irene Verona, whose Mrs. Girdle adds much to the fun; Miss Nelly Lonnen, who is very sprightly as Emmy Lore; and Miss Nancy Langtyre, as the charming Baroness Papouche; while Mr. John Brabourne is lively and acceptable as Gustave Babori; Mr. Fred Leslie, jun., is smart and entertaining as Boniface; Mr. Frank Hector gives a capable and amusing depiction of Baron Papouche; a clever impersonation of the head waiter is presented by Mr. Henry Adnes; and Mr. William Spray is all that could be wished as Stephen Henry Girdle.

ROYAL OSBORNE THEATRE.—Manager, Mr. W. B. Broadhead; Acting-Manager, Mr. P. B. Broadhead.—A romantic play of Robespierre and the Reign of Terror, The Throne of Terror, is given here this week by a company which includes Mr. William J. Miller as Robespierre, a part well suited to this talented and powerful actor, and Miss Katherine Maude Davies, who gives a graceful and sympathetic rendering of Marguerite de Roqueforte, a character of great importance in the plot. Mr. Roy Milton is excellent as Captain de Lisle; and others who contribute to the success of the play are Mr. Renton Sax as Mother Brigand; Mr. Bert Ellis as Joujon; Mr. C. Carsdale as Mallier; Miss Ethel Lanyon-Maude as Victoria D'Almonte; and Miss Eva Norman as Pepietta, the barmaid at the Guillotine Inn.

METROPOLE THEATRE.—Manager, Mr. W. B. Broadhead; Acting-Manager, Mr. P. B. Broadhead.—A capital programme here this week includes the Sousasa Arabs, a smart troupe of bounding acrobats; Frederica's wonderful toy terriers and pony; C. Wordley Hulse and company in a sensational sketch; Florrie St. Roy, a dainty comedienne; the Frantz Family, in an up-to-date comedietta; Little Elsie, a clever juvenile vocalist and dancer; Amy Elcock, comedienne and dancer; and George Edney, a popular actor-vocalist.

ST. JAMES'S THEATRE.—Lessee, Mr. R. Flanagan; Manager, Mr. Gus Flanagan.—Good business is being done here this week with An Actor's Romance, played by Miss Lillian Besant's company. The English version of this play was produced here a year or two ago, and gave then every promise of its present success. Miss Lillian Besant achieves a big success as Dotty Dillingham; Miss Florence Nelson gives a capable impersonation of Florence Hastings; a very good performance is that of Mr. E. Eardley-Howard as Harold Davenport; Mr. Cecil Fowler is excellent as Robert Livingstone; and other notable members of the cast are Mr. Harry E. Lyons as Jack Woodford; Mr. Harry Wren as Charley Cummins; and Mr. Percy Warlow as Ikey Isaacs.

GRAND JUNCTION THEATRE.—Manager, Mr. W. B. Broadhead; Acting-Manager, Mr. P. B. Broadhead.—Messrs. Little and Darcy's company is here this week in The Executioner's Daughter, an excellent sensational drama. Mr. Stanley Radcliffe is admirable as Roche, the executioner; and Miss Nelly Howitt gives a fine rendering of Annette, his daughter. Mr. W. Ruddle Brown plays Paul Rovell, the hero, very well; Mr. W. S. Stevenson gives a good delineation of Kretch; Miss Marie Ada Browning is excellent as Christina, the cripple; and others who distinguish themselves are Mr. Willie Hicks as Tom Holmes; Mr. Geoffrey Chote as Vivian Ormonde; Miss Evelyn Robson as Felice; and Miss Bella Moody as Sally King.

QUEEN'S THEATRE.—Manager, Mr. R. Flanagan; Acting-Manager, Mr. W. Berry.—The well-known drama Trilby is presented here this week by a clever company, including Mr. Frederick Annerley in the exacting rôle of Svengali, and Miss Lily Bertram as Trilby. Both act exceedingly well, and are supported in capable style by Mr. Reginald Hargreaves as Billy; Mr. J. W. Henson as Taffy; Mr. John Cecil as Sandy; and the remaining members of the cast, the whole forming a most enjoyable entertainment.

EMPIRE.—Managing-Director, Mr. Oswald Stoll; Acting-Manager, Mr. H. Hall.—A fine programme is offered here, the star turn being Staley's novelty transformation company in a quick-changing musical scena, which is very interesting and effective. Another big turn is that of Ella Shields, who is among the very best as a coon comedienne. Frank Elliston and company in Aunt Matilda are extremely funny; Atroy gives a smart juggling act; Ambrose Thomas, comedian, sings well; Spry and Austin add much to the entertainment by their comicalities; Harry Carsdale gives a capital imitation of farmyard sounds; Viola contributes a pleasing musical turn; and a delightful vocal act is added by the Darktown Entertainers, who sing very well indeed. The Bioscope also presents a series of entertaining pictures.

PALACE.—General-Manager, Mr. Walter De Frece; Secretary, Mr. Peter Watson; Acting-Manager, Mr. Nelson Barry.—Harry Randall, the well-known comedian, is to the front here this week, and meets with a warm reception. Charles Whittle, of "Billy Muggins" fame, is another capital comedian, and is deservedly well received. Another excellent turn is that of Hill and Whitaker, who make a big hit with their novelty in music and song. Bertha Stuart, Scotch character ballad vocalist, sings well; the Lulaine Darrell Trio are clever gymnasts; Regan and Ryan are good in dancing and patter; Lily Morris is a favourite comedienne; Patty Yole dances nicely; and the Sisters Reno are clever acrobatic dancers. As usual, the Palace pictures are good.

HIPPODROME.—Managing-Director, Mr. Oswald Stoll; Acting-Manager, Mr. E. P. Morgan.—A remarkable turn here this week is that of the Four Lecussons, whose horsemanship and astounding feats, including back somersaults from a pair-horsed waggonette, must be seen to be believed. Dolly Elsworthy and company are seen to advantage in an episode in the life of King Charles II., entitled The Orange Girl; De Gracia's Elephants play a cricket match and become barbers, and do other surprising tricks; and some exceedingly smart sharp-shooting is done by Lillian and Vera. Tina Clementa introduces clever horses and dogs; Conway and Leland, the merry monopedes, are vastly amusing; Leslie's Dogs do some high jumping; Pat Rafferty is a capital Irish comedian; and the Bioscope pictures are excellent.

TIVOLI.—Managing-Director, Mr. Charles A. Wilkes; Acting-Manager, Mr. Arthur B. Wilkes.—Madge Temple, the well-known comedienne, is here this week, and sings several songs in a delightful manner. Ye Merrie Peasants, vocal and comedy quartette, present a pleasing sketch, Country Courtship; the Greys are excellent operatic vocalists; and Cecilia Maude, vocal comedienne, has a good voice; Gracie Grahame, a pleasing comedienne, scores with her "Fishing" song; the Original Cecilias are charming instrumentalists; Heteb and Kalida present an act of Egyptian mystery; the Voldam Brothers are Dutch eccentric acrobats, and are very clever; Nellie Chandos is a neat dancer; and Raymond's Vivagraph pictures are entertaining.

KING'S, LONGSIGHT.—Manager, Mr. W. B. Broadhead; Acting-Manager, Mr. P. B. Broadhead.—Major and Thurgate's comedy illusion, entitled Mystery Fair, tops the bill here this week, and delights crowded houses. Charming Mlle. Florizell goes through a neat contortionist performance; Ward and Davis are good in their musical duologue, Wanted, a Typist; Bernard Katz, the Hebrew basso, sings well; Cavilli is a capital ventriloquist; the Sisters Valli are pleasing comediennes and musicians and expert top-boot dancers; George Young, the blind collier boy, plays the concertina agreeably; Harley and Hardon are amusing knockabouts and eccentric dancers; and Burns and Bentley are good simultaneous dancers. "Cricket Terms" (illustrated) are depicted on the Bioscope.

QUEEN'S PARK HIPPODROME.—Manager, Mr. W. B. Broadhead; Acting-Manager, Mr. P. B. Broadhead.—An exceptionally good array of talent is provided here this week. The Cumberlands, who are wonderfully expert cyclists and acrobats, take premier place, and receive enthusiastic applause. The Weimars contribute a good musical and comedy act; Lambeth and Robertson give an amusing sketch, entitled Scot's Folks' Wooin'; Anna Kenwick is a pleasing singer and dancer; the Thurbans are good instrumentalists; Espinosa and Edwards offer clever dancing and playing; Alfonza is a first-class foot balancer; and Will Freedo is an excellent dancer and satisfactory comedian. A song and dance are also agreeably contributed by Maisie Adair; and the Bioscope pictures complete.

HIPPODROME, HULME.—Manager, Mr. W. B. Broadhead; Acting-Manager, Mr. P. B. Broadhead.—Mr. George Abel and selected company are the attraction here this week in that most amusing sketch Three of a Kind, and are exceedingly popular. Silbon's vaudeville circus is a novel turn, introducing some cleverly trained cats; May and Eugenie are good in a quick-change singing novelty; and the Saletos are smart acrobats and equilibrists. Other good items are those of the Cosmans, in comedy act; Earle and Melville, patter comedians; Leon and Williams, in comic tumbling act; and Flo Hilton, male impersonator. The animated pictures are interesting.

RUSHOLME PAVILION.—Proprietor, Mr. Harry Leslie; Acting-Manager, Mr. Charles North.—A capital variety programme is provided here this week, including Lena Vere, comedienne; Harker Nicholls, humorist and musical entertainer; Mabelle Ashton, soubrette; Tom Alix, character comedian; Charles North, baritone; Bert Belton, eccentric comedian; Harry Land, ventriloquist and whistler; Bernard Rowley, tenor; and W. H. Jackson, pianist.

AMUSEMENTS IN AUSTRALIA.

(FROM OUR OWN CORRESPONDENT.)

MELBOURNE, JULY 10, 1906.—PRINCESS'S THEATRE.—Lessees, Messrs. Willoughby and Geach; Business-Manager, Mr. Frank Musgrove.—The popularity of The Man from Mexico has not abated one whit, and the piece bids fair to run for a number of weeks. Mr. Ward never lets the fun flag for an instant, his droll singing aid clever dancing evoking rounds of applause. Miss Palotta sings two songs and gives a graceful Spanish dance; while Mr. Willoughby and the rest of the company keep the fun merrily going throughout the performance.

OPERA HOUSE.—Proprietor, Mr. Harry Rickards; Business-Manager, Mr. Fred Aydon.—Miss Nellie Kilburn, an old favourite at this theatre, made her reappearance on Saturday evening after an absence of over two years, and was accorded an enthusiastic reception. Miss Olive Lenton gave two new character songs. The Homer B. Mason and Marguerite Keeler company appeared in a new one-act absurdity, entitled A Hero, which kept the house in roars of laughter. Mr. Mason is a comedian of great ability. Other artists who are highly popular with patrons of the Opera House include Vasco, the mad musician; Alexandre and Bertie, Kelly and Agnes, Seymour and Dupré, and a host of others.

WEST'S Pictures and the Brescians gave their final performance at the Athenæum Hall on Saturday evening, before a packed house. The season of eight weeks has been a highly successful one, the attendances being excellent thoroughout. A feature of the entertainment has been the remarkably clever pianoforte playing by Mr. G. LAX.

GAIETY THEATRE.—Lessee, Mr. Frank Clark; Business-Manager, Mr. Joe Solomons.—A complete change of programme was presented on Saturday evening—all the artists engaged appeared in new turns. Hagan and Fraser still continue popular favourites; Little Roy is a clever child singer; Laura Diamond possesses a pleasant contralto voice; Harry Leggett, the pocket comedian, tells a number of funny stories; while an excellent series of Bioscope views are shown during the evening.

THE Glaciarium is proving a strong attraction for a large number of those versed in the art of skating on real ice. The weather lately has been exceptionally cold, which renders the exercise highly exhilarating. Professor Brewer gives an exhibition of fancy skating nightly.

THE Temperance Hall continues to attract large audiences to the popular Saturday evening concerts. Among the artists appearing at present may be mentioned Miss Symmons, contralto; Mr. A. Jones, baritone; Miss Janet Douglas, contralto; Mr. Pete Miller, with his performing cats and ducks; and others. Gunn's Bioscope concludes an excellent programme.

MISS HELENA MILLAIS, who is playing lead in The New Clown at Leicester Opera House this week, has been doing excellent work recently, notably as Constance Neville in She Stoops to Conquer, and Isabel Kirke in Mrs. Gorringe's Necklace. As Rosie Platt in The New Clown she brings all her natural gifts to bear, and the result is a bright, sparkling performance which materially helps the success of Mr. Snazelle as the circus proprietor, Mr. Dixon. Mr. Goodyear, in Mr. James Welch's part, is also a fine performance, well maintained throughout. The donkey, Ping Pong, is as lively as ever, and created a mild sensation.

MR. BANNISTER HOWARD has during the last week had an excellent company at the Café Chantant in the North Tower Gardens at the Crystal Palace. They included Miss Nita Clavering, the Original Stavordale Quintette, the "Con-Clavo" Comedy Duo, Nelson Hardy, and Charles Conrad. Next week visitors to the Café will have the chance of seeing "The Scarleteers" in their musical variety entertainment, including Miss Lillian Sanders, Miss Rosa Mellish, Miss Daisy May, Mr. Alex. B. Gilbert, and Mr. Chas. Hinchliff.

NEW ENGLISH AND FOREIGN PLAYS.

In order to assist managers and others in the selection of pieces for production and adaptation, we are publishing from time to time synopses of likely English and Continental plays, so that dramatic speculators may judge for themselves of the suitability of the plots for their purpose. Authors wishing for this publicity should forward synopses to "Playwrights," care of The Era, from whom further particulars can be obtained.

"RAHAB."

Drama in Three Acts,
by Richard Burton.

A drama, in blank verse, dealing with the siege and fall of Jericho and the part played by Rahab. Her parents have dissociated themselves from her, and are hardly moved by her faithful devotion to her younger sister, Asenath. The worship of Baal has become distasteful to her and she is influenced, by a vision, towards adopting the religion of the Israelites. After a scene in her house, where we find her, amongst her women companions and attendants, listening to a soothsayer, a message is brought to her from her father, Nathaniah, with the king's signet as a sign, warning her to cease from all display and revelry at her house, as the Israelite hosts are approaching the city walls, and the arrival of spies is apprehended. One of her lovers, Ammon, receives the message, and conveys it to Rahab, with demonstrations of affection which she resists, and she tells him of her vision of the fall of Canaan and the rise of Israel. Her maid, Zuleika, hears, too, the recital of the dream. The Israelite spies—Prince Salmon and Horeb—arrive. Horeb welcomes them and gives them food and wine. Salmon is soon in eager conversation with Rahab; Horeb with Zuleika, the maid. Unwillingly at first, but with enthusiasm increasing with their mutual newly-found love, Rahab listens to Salmon's inspired prediction of the siege and the fall of Jericho, on the seventh day, at the sound of the trumpet. She aids the spies to escape by descending a scarlet cord, which is to remain suspended as a sign to the victors to spare the house and everyone found therein. They are hardly gone, when a search party enters, but Rahab sends them to continue their search in a wrong direction. The tedium of the siege is apparent, even in the remoteness of a quiet spot in Rahab's gardens. She has sent to warn her relations, and to entreat them to seek refuge in her house. Amorah, her mother, and her beloved sister, Asenath, take advantage of the asylum afforded; but her father, Nathaniah, refuses all intercourse with the daughter, whom he has cursed and disowned. There are scenes of delicate beauty between the two sisters, interrupted at length by Nathaniah's arrival with a band of soldiers. Rahab, observing the manner in which they bow to the idol, shatters it, and predicts the speedy triumph of Israel over Canaan. Nathaniah, enraged, leaves; but consents to Amorah and Asenath remaining with Rahab. Horeb returns without his master Salmon, and forces his attentions upon Rahab, who is saved by Ammon's timely arrival. Ammon stabs Horeb, who dies. He then rushes off to his post on the walls of the city. On the seventh day the siege is at its height, and the din of battle penetrates the seclusion of Rahab's house, where all provisions, except fruit and wine, are long since exhausted. Ammon enters, but is reproached by Rahab for not bringing her father to share their asylum, and she goes out to look for him, disguised as a girl water-carrier. Salmon enters, seeking Rahab. He fights with Ammon, and disarms him, and, by a great effort, hurls him from the wall on to the crowd below. Rahab rushes in, her garments half-torn from her by the furious street mob. Salmon embraces and welcomes her. Nathaniah, informed of the part that Rahab has played during the siege, arrives to take away her mother and sister. He bears important papers from the King in his breast. Asenath steals them while embracing him. Rahab takes them from her, and thrusts them into the jaws of the image of Moloch, whence flames issue and destroy them. The trumpets sound anew: the walls of Jericho crumble, and the triumph-song of Israel is heard. The prophecy is fulfilled. Rahab and her people are saved, and Salmon and Israel claim her for their own.

DRAMATIC AND MUSICAL LAW.

BY A. A. STRONG, LL.B. (LOND.), SOLICITOR.

Your book will, I am sure, be a valuable aid to all managers and actors.—The late SIR HENRY IRVING.

Mr. Strong states the whole case very clearly.—Illustrated London News.

Should be found very useful.—Pelican.

Should prove perfectly invaluable.—Weekly Sun.

Contains in a handy compass and in a clear style the law relating to theatres and music halls. The book is well up to date.—Law Times.

Furnishes useful information.—Daily News.

The work succeeds in making plain the thorny legal path that every manager and artist must tread, and by a timely consultation of its pages they may avoid much misapprehension and trouble.—Star.

Mr. A. A. Strong has compiled an exceedingly useful volume dealing carefully, intelligently, and fully with the law bearing upon things theatrical. As a book of reference this excellent digest will be found invaluable.—The Era.

MR. EDITOR, SIR,—In your last week's notice of What the Butler Saw, at the P.O.W. Theatre, Birmingham, you favourably mention the performance of the Jew Weinstein by Mr. Louis Lingard. The part is played by yours, truly, HARRY H. RIGNOLD, T.R., Nottingham, August 14.

QUEEN'S THEATRE, Liverpool, was on Thursday evening filled by a representative audience, the occasion being the first annual benefit of Mr. Fred L. Arthur, the manager. During an interval in the special programme, Mr. Lewis Peake, chairman of the Benefit Committee, presented to Mr. Arthur, on behalf of many patrons of the theatre, an illuminated address, which is to be followed by a substantial cheque. Mr. Arthur, who was much moved, said that starting 24 years ago, he had risen from the bottom to the top, and knew that he had plenty of good friends, which was shown by the enormous audience that evening. Mr. Carson, the proprietor of the theatre, was not able to attend, but sent a telegram, which read: "Good men are few; that is the reason why I write to you."

THE fusing of an electric wire caused an ugly rush during an entertainment in the pavilion on the Britannia Pier, Yarmouth, on Tuesday evening. The cry of "Fire!" was raised, but the band continued playing, and a panic was averted.

THEATRICAL GOSSIP.

Mr. Beerbohm Tree, who has just returned from a short holiday on the Continent, has given his views on sleep. "In my case," says the popular actor-manager, "eight hours' sleep is better than seven, and nine hours' better than eight. I take nine hours' whenever I can, and invariably sleep for that period when on a holiday, and as near to it as possible at all times. Further, I consider sleep before any effort, with the power to go to sleep at any time, most valuable. I have cultivated that power, and invariably recuperate by its aid before the exhausting strain of a 'first night' or before playing a new part." On the other hand, Mr. Charles Frohman, an equally busy man, has indulged in only a meagre allowance of "Nature's sweet restorer," for during the six months which he spent in London recently his hours of sleep averaged not more than five. He rose at 7.30 a.m., and rarely got to bed before 2 a.m.

Mr. and Mrs. H. B. Irving are the guests of Lord Armstrong during their visit to Newcastle. Mrs. Irving (Miss Dorothea Baird) is a Northumbrian lady, and a descendant of the famous Dorothy Forster.

The directors of the Gaiety Theatre, Ltd., report that the net profit for the twelve months ended June 30, 1906, was £9,196 15s. 8d. It is proposed to pay a further dividend of 2s. per share, making, with the interim dividend already paid, 15 per cent for the year, and to carry forward £1,102 2s. 8d. to the current year's accounts. The ordinary general meeting of the company will take place at the Gaiety Theatre on Monday at noon.

We record with deep regret the death of Mrs. Craigie, the famous novelist, whose wide renown was achieved under the pen-name of "John Oliver Hobbes." Mrs. Craigie passed away in her sleep at her residence at Lancaster Gate on Monday morning with startling suddenness. An inquest was thereby rendered necessary, and at an inquiry held on Wednesday at Paddington, a verdict of death from heart disease and syncope was returned. The funeral was announced to take place at Kensal Green on Friday, a requiem mass being previously celebrated at the Jesuit Church in Farm Street.

Mrs. Craigie did notable work for the stage, her most successful effort being that of The Ambassador, which was produced by Mr. George Alexander at the St. James's on June 2, 1898, and had a run of nearly two months. On a subsequent revival of the play the following year it was preceded by a one-act drama, entitled A Repentance, a powerful little play for which "John Oliver Hobbes" was also responsible.

"The Wisdom of the Wise," which Mrs. Craigie next wrote, was also produced by Mr. Alexander in the November of 1900, a career of about six weeks being vouchsafed to the play. Mrs. Craigie was also part author of The Bishop's Move, written with Murray Carson, and produced at a matinée at the Garrick on June 7, 1902; Journeys End in Lovers Meeting, written in conjunction with George Moore for Miss Ellen Terry, and produced at a benefit matinée at Daly's in the June of 1894; and The Flute of Pan, an adaption of her book, produced by Miss Olga Nethersole at the Shaftesbury in the November of the same year.

The English players engaged to accompany Mr. E. S. Willard to America this season are:—Mr. William Sauter, Mr. A. S. Homewood, Mr. Ivan Simpson, Mr. Walter Edmunds, Mr. H. Cane, Mr. J. W. Lawrence, Miss Marie Linden, Miss Joan Blair, and Miss Ruth Barry. They will sail, Sept. 14, on the Virginian, from Liverpool to Montreal, where they will be joined by the American contingent, at the head of which is Miss Alice Lonnon, the leading lady, and the season will open Oct. 1 with Colonel Newcome. Besides this play Mr. Willard will have The Man Who Was, David Garrick, A Pair of Spectacles, The Middleman, and The Professor's Love Story, which are much too popular to be put aside, though Colonel Newcome bids fair to give Mr. Willard one of his greatest successes in recent years.

Mr. E. Dagnall is at the head of the "Twentieth Century" Syndicate, a company which has been formed for the purpose of providing high-class melodramas at a West End theatre. The syndicate includes Messrs. E. and A. Smith, Mr. William Holles, and Mr. Norman J. Norman. The first production will be a drama by Messrs. G. R. Sims and Arthur Shirley, and many plays by other authors are in hand. The theatre which will be taken by the syndicate has not yet been settled upon. The Princess's had been thought of, but the costly requisitions of the County Council prove prohibitive to the syndicate, who are considering the Lyceum as an alternative.

Miss Decima Moore, who has just returned from a holiday on the West Coast of Africa, where she has seen and had many interesting experiences with "the children of the desert," has returned to London eager to start work again. Miss Moore has arrangd to play the title-rôle in All-of-a-Sudden Peggy, which Messrs. Lionel Glenister and Wood-Ingram will tour with a first-class company from September 17.

Mr. Seymour Hicks and Miss Ellaline Terriss, who drew record houses to Her Majesty's Opera House, Blackpool, with The Catch of the Season, have been staying at the Grand Hotel, St. Anne's-on-Sea, whence they motored over to Blackpool. Both he and his charming wife must have been delighted at the wonderful heartiness of the crowds—many of them mill hands—that packed the charming theatre directed by Mr. Huddlestone. Mr. Hicks, who is effervescent and alert on the stage, believes in the calm restfulness of the sport of fishing, and is an enthusiastic angler.

Mr. Hicks and Miss Terriss had a warm welcome at the opera house, Blackpool, last week, during which record houses were achieved. On the Saturday night the place was packed, and at the finish the demand for "a speech" was so imperative that Mr. Hicks at length came forward. He was no speaker, he said, whatever he might be as an actor, and words failed him utterly at a time like that. He could only thank them fervently on behalf of himself and his wife. They had been delighted by their visit to Blackpool, and had been tremendously impressed by the welcome which had been extended to them. They would never forget their visit to Blackpool, and he promised them that they would come down next year and bring the very best thing they could put on the stage.

An interesting game of cricket was played at the grounds of St. Paul's Club at North Shore, on the 9th inst., when teams representing The Catch of the Season and The Spring Chicken companies competed. The two sides numbered twelve each. Mr. Vincent Lawson was the captain for the "Catchers," and Mr. W. Hesseltine, the general manager, looked after the "Chickens," the former being the winners by 98 to 89, with one wicket to fall. Mr. Lawson put up 52 for the winning team, and Mr. Arthur Hope for the winners and Mr. Jocelyn Hope for the losers each scored 20. Mr. Seymour Hicks made a really brilliant catch by which Mr. George Gregory's fate was sealed. Between the intervals the teams were entertained to lunch, Mr. Hicks acting as host.

Miss Dot Stephens, who met with so terrible a misfortune last June, when she sustained such injuries to her feet in a railway accident that amputation had to be performed, has been discharged from the hospital, and is going away for a change of air. Subscriptions in aid of the unfortunate young artist are still invited, and should be sent to Mr. Bannister Howard, the hon. treasurer, or to Mr. F. H. Pedgrift, assistant hon. treasurer, at this office.

Felicitations are to be extended to Mr. and Mrs. Cyril Michael (Miss Nora Kerin), to whom a daughter was born on Saturday last.

The beginning of the autumn campaign is to be advanced a day earlier by the entry into the field of Mr. Gray Murray, who, in conjunction with Mr. Tom B. Davis, will begin a season at the Lyric on August 28 with a new play, entitled The Sin of William Jackson, written by Baroness Orczy and Montague Barstow, the authors of The Scarlet Pimpernel. Mr. Murray, who has recently been touring with Mr. Laurence Irving as acting-manager, has had an extensive experience in the theatre, having made his first appearance at the age of fifteen, when he played with Mr. Thomas Thorne in Joseph's Sweetheart. The cast of the new play, the action of which is laid in the East-end of London, will comprise Mr. Robert Pateman, Mr. Ernest Leicester, Mr. John Tresahar, Mr. Harry Parker, Miss Ruth Mackay, Miss Vernon Paget, and Miss Nina Boucicault.

A judicious shuffling of the managerial cards leaves first-nighters free to indulge their bent fully at the beginning of the ensuing season, which starts with the presentation of The Sin of William Jackson at the Lyric. Mr. George Edwardes has postponed the production of Aladdin at the Gaiety, originally announced for September 1, to a fortnight later, namely, September 15, thus leaving A Winter's Tale at His Majesty's in sole possession of the former date. A postponement has also taken place in regard to Toddles at the Duke of York's, which is now set down for Wednesday, September 5. The Morals of Marcus will be revealed at the Garrick on Aug. 29. The evening of September 3 is adhered to for the production of Mrs. Temple's Telegram at the Waldorf, and Tristram and Iseult at the Adelphi remains a fixture for September 4.

Mr. Comyns Carr has taken the material of his play Tristram and Iseult, which is due at the Adelphi next month, chiefly from Malory's "Morte d'Arthur," but the work includes several episodes of the author's own invention. The first act is laid at the Court of King Mark at Cornwall, and the second takes place in Ireland, where Sir Tristram is miraculously healed of a mortal wound by Iseult, the daughter of King Gormon. The next act passes on board ship, and the final division of the piece is laid at Cornwall. The part of Tristram will be played by Mr. Mattheson Lang, Miss Lily Brayton will be the Iseult, and Miss Wynne Mattheson and Mr. Oscar Asche will also be in the cast.

The genesis of the story which called forth some of the finest efforts of Tennyson's muse is not, it would seem, particularly well known. Mr. Carr relates that he was sitting the other day at dinner by the side of a lady who, having heard, apparently, that he was writing a play on the subject of Tristram and Iseult, naïvely asked whether he had applied for authorisation to Frau Wagner! The version upon which the German composer founded his opera was, if we mistake not, that of Gottfried, of Strasbourg.

Miss May-de Sousa, the charming Geisha of Daly's, who has so quickly but effectively attained a foremost place among London favourites, is returning from New York, where she has been to spend a brief holiday. The death of Miss de Sousa's maid, who was killed in the street by a motor-car on the first night of The Geisha, quite unnerved the young actress, and the news a week later that an eye-witness had committed suicide completed her resolve to seek restoration to health by a voyage to her native land.

"The Sweet Girl" is the title of a new musical play adapted from the German of Alex. Landesberg and Leo Stain, by A. Demain Grange, William Caine, and Herbert Cottesmore, which is to be produced at Nottingham on Aug. 27. The music is by Heinrich Reinhardt, with additional numbers by K. Ernest Irving.

Mr. and Mrs. Kendal, who commence their next autumn tour at the Grand Theatre, Llandudno, on the 27th inst., will visit many of the principal towns, including Blackpool, Eastbourne, Manchester, Liverpool, Newcastle, Dundee, Glasgow, Edinburgh, and Birmingham, an engagement being also fulfilled at the Marlborough, Holloway. In addition to the old plays, The Ironmaster and The Elder Miss Blossom, The Housekeeper and their latest and most successful comedy by Herbert Swears, entitled A Tight Corner, will be played for the first time in the majority of the theatres visited.

"The Bondman," the drama by Hall Caine, is now in active preparation for production at Drury Lane next month. Meanwhile, a company of The Prodigal Son will begin a tour at the Gaiety, Douglas, on the 27th inst. Mr. Arthur Collins has engaged a very strong company, including Miss Alma Murray, Miss Lily Hall Caine, Miss Cecil Cromwell, Mr. Henry George, Mr. Henry Renouf, Mr. Howard Russell, and Mr. Norman Partriege, and as all the scenery and effects come from the Lane, a highly successful tour may be predicted.

Mr. H. Hamilton Stewart, having taken over the entire rights of Sherlock Holmes, by arrangement with Mr. Charles Frohman, from Mr. Harry Yorke, will start his tour on September 3rd at the Theatre Royal, Preston. Mr. Stewart has been fortunate in securing several of the artists who toured with the play under Mr. Frohman's management.

Mr. James W. Mathews, the much-liked manager of the Duke of York's Theatre, has returned from an enjoyable visit to the Russian capital. He is now completing his well-earned holiday at Bacton-on-Sea, a charming little seaside resort near Cromer.

During the last act of The White Chrysanthemum at the Royalty Theatre, Morecambe, on Monday night, a large lamp suspended in the centre of the scene suddenly caught fire. There was a commotion amongst the crowded audience and some cries of alarm, but the management requested the people to retain their seats. The fireproof curtain was lowered, and after a while the burning lamp was extinguished, when the piece was continued to a satisfactory ending.

Mr. Allan Wilkie, who is playing this week to excellent business at the Queen's Theatre, Leeds, has considerably increased the strength of his company by the inclusion of Mr. G. Alexander Marsh and Miss Carrie Baillie, who for so many years played the leading parts with the late Osmond Tearle company. Mr. Wilkie, who recently added Hamlet to his repertoire, will shortly produce Romeo and Juliet, which will be followed by a production of As You Like It. His repertoire will then include all the more popular plays of Shakespeare, besides several standard dramas and old comedies.

Mr. Martin Harvey is now actively rehearsing The Corsican Brothers in view of the production at the Lyceum Theatre, Edinburgh, on the 19th prox. It has been decided that the revival shall have a particularly fine and picturesque setting, and the three chief scenes—"The Hall and Terrace of the Château of the dei Franchi at Cullacaro," "The Ball at the Paris Opera House," and "The Glade in the Forest of Fontainebleau"—are to be stage pictures of rare completeness and beauty. After the revival, Mr. Harvey will at once give the Boucicault adaptation a permanent place in his repertory, and it will be played twice a week during the remainder of the tour. The one-act play which will be staged in front of The Corsican Brothers will provide Miss de Silva with a new and most original part.

Mr. Andrew Melville, who is ever improving and beautifying his popular theatre, the Metropole, Birmingham, reopened on Bank Holiday after a brief vacation, with a well-decorated house and much-improved lighting arrangements, the floors being newly laid with linoleum. The comfort and elegance of the house have been much increased during the interregnum.

Miss Mabel Love and Mr. Percy Hutchison, in The Freedom of Suzanne, were successful in beating all records at the West Pier, Brighton, last week over 10,000 people having paid for admission. Both artists acquit themselves admirably in the chief parts, and high encomiums have been deservedly bestowed.

The new management of the Marlboro' Theatre, Holloway, is making a spirited bid for public favour. Next week, at the popular suburban playhouse, Mr. Charles Macdona will introduce Mr. G. P. Huntley and Miss Millie Legarde in the recent Apollo success, Mr. Popple (of Ippleton). This engagement is eagerly looked forward to at Holloway, and the advance-booking is proportionately great. The attraction of Mr. Huntley's name is magnetic, and the enterprise of the management in securing the popular comedian is sure to be amply repaid.

Mr. Alfred Thomas, the well-known entertainer, is scoring a great success at the Pavilion, Barmouth, the fashionable Welsh watering-place, where he is fulfilling a twelve-weeks' engagement as the humorist of the excellent costume party known as "The Redcloaks." Mr. Thomas's original interpretations of well-known ballads like Tosti's "Good-bye" and Del Riego's "O dry those tears" are received with uproarious applause and laughter, and the skits are in great demand.

At the Lyceum Theatre, Sheffield, on Monday, Mr. D. Lewin Mannering was unable to play his part of Baron Bonelli in The Eternal City, owing to a sudden attack of pleurisy. His place was taken by his understudy, Mr. J. Poole-Kirkwood, who had only been one week with the company, and had not had a rehearsal in the part. He succeeded, however, in giving a performance which entirely satisfied both his own and the local managements, and won unqualified praise.

Mr. Henry Taylor, who will this year complete his twenty-fifth year of uninterrupted management of the Lyceum Theatre, Crewe, has this week had the honour conferred upon him of being added to the list of magistrates for the borough. There are only two other provincial managers that we can recall—namely, at Oxford and Cambridge—where a similar distinction has been bestowed. Mr. Taylor has served a long time as Town Councillor of Crewe, and only two years ago filled the civic chair. His long association with the various charities of Crewe have no doubt been considered in this last addition to Mr. Taylor's honours.

During the visit to Hastings last week of Mr. George Dance's company in Veronique, at the Gaiety Theatre, the management were confronted with a serious dilemma. On the Wednesday evening, it appears, shortly after six o'clock, the manager received a telegram from Miss Leonhardt, the leading lady, stating that she was unable to appear through a motor accident at Lewes. Later, when the members of the company were dressing for the piece, Miss Leonhardt arrived, and announced that she did not intend to continue her performance as Veronique, as she had just been married, and her husband did not wish her to act the part any longer.

There was no understudy, this being only the third night of the present tour, but the difficulty was overcome by Miss Ruth Massina—who had appeared as Sophie on Monday and Tuesday—volunteering to go on as Veronique, and seeing that she had to perform the part without any previous study, she did remarkably well, and has since made a striking success in the rôle. The sudden withdrawal of Miss Leonhardt also necessitated other changes in the cast. Miss Emmie Lennox quickly read up the part of Sophie, and played it cleverly, and other members of the company adapted themselves to the altered circumstances with great ability.

The Brough-Flemming Comedy Company, which is now under the direction of Mr. Herbert Flemming, has just completed a fifteen-months' Australian tour. So successful has the enterprise proved that the management has renewed all engagements, with one exception only, for a further period of twelve months. The company opens in Perth, W.A., on July 20. Mrs. Gorringe's Necklace has recently been secured by Mr. Flemming, and will be the first production of the company on their return to Adelaide.

Miss Beatrice Day, who as leading lady in the Brough-Flemming Comedy Company, has contributed so much to its success in Australia, has been re-engaged for a further period of twelve months. Dr. Wake's Patient, which has proved a trump card since its initial production in Sydney, has given Miss Day an opportunity of proving her sterling merits as an artist, and she has made herself highly popular in every city in the Commonwealth.

Miss Laura Hansen has again accepted the part of Marion Thornton in Two Little Vagabonds. This makes that popular lady's fifth tour with Hardie and Von Leer in the rôle, for which it will be remembered she was selected in the revival of the play at the Adelphi. She has played it since most successfully in South Africa. Miss Hansen opens at the Theatre Royal, Birmingham, on Monday next.

At Bow Street Police-court on Wednesday, before Mr. Marsham, Beatrice Chambers, described as an actress, of Boundary Street, Manchester, was charged, on remand, with obtaining money by false pretences from the Actors' Benevolent Fund. It was alleged that the accused applied to the fund for assistance in the name of Muriel Brendon, and succeeded in obtaining two separate sums of £1. Subsequently other applications were received in different names, but in the same handwriting, and inquiries led to the discovery that accused had been acting in this way for some time. Prisoner pleaded guilty, and it was proved that she had been previously convicted of a similar offence. As, however, she is in a delicate state of health the case was not pressed, and the magistrate sentenced her to three months' imprisonment in the second division. Miss Muriel Brendon was in court, but was not called upon to give evidence.

Mr. Charles Warner, who is to be the Leontes of Mr. Tree's production of A Winter's Tale, in which Miss Ellen Terry will appear as Hermione, will have a warm welcome back to His Majesty's, where in recent years he has appeared in some notable impersonations. Mr. C. W. Somerset will be the Autolycus, Mrs. Tree the Paulina, and Miss Viola Tree the Perdita, and the rest of the cast will comprise Messrs. Lyn Harding, J. Fisher White, Henry Williams, Keith Fraser, Julius Knight, Basil Gill, William H. Day, O. B. Clarence, and Master Tonge; Miss Florence Wells, Miss Bruce-Joy, and Miss Ethel Wood. The production is fixed for Sept. 1.

The usual weekly meeting of the Council of the Actors' Association was held on Tuesday last. There were present:—Sir Squire Bancroft (in the chair); Mr. Henry W. Mote (hon. solicitor); Mesdames Carlotta Addison, Kate Bishop, Kate Phillips, and Saba Raleigh; Messrs. Cecil Barth, Acton Bond, Burton Cooke, F. Cremlin, Arthur Holmes-Gore, Quinton McPherson, M. R. Morand, Algernon Syms, Brandon Thomas, Spencer Trevor, Frederick Volpe, Hubert Willis, and Charles Cruikshanks (hon. sec.)

The honorary solicitors reported progress in several matters, also that they had advised various members on points submitted, and had received an instalment on account of the indebtedness of a manager to different members of the association who had claims against him.

The question as to holding a meeting of the members of the association in connection with the proposition to raise a memorial to the late Sir Henry Irving was under discussion, and ultimately it was agreed that such meeting should be held on Monday, the 1st October, at 11 o'clock, with Sir Squire Bancroft, president of the association, presiding. The secretary was instructed to make arrangements as to the place of meeting, and it was agreed that when matters were definitely settled, notice given by placards exhibited in the offices of the association should be deemed sufficient intimation to the members.

Mr. Cecil Barth's scheme for reading and producing plays, if considered of sufficient merit, such plays being introduced by members, was again under discussion, and ultimately Messrs. Cecil Barth, Arthur Holmes-Gore, and Fewlass Llewellyn were appointed as a committee, with power to add to their number, to consider and digest the scheme and report to the council. The chairman read a letter from the secretary of the Theatrical Managers' Association, stating that the question of payment for rehearsals would be considered at their next council meeting. Miss Irene Moncrieff and Messrs. C. B. Keston and Frank Melrose were appointed commissioners to the association. The report of the Finance and General Purposes Committee was received. The suggestion book was considered, and an entry made. Miss Hylda Franklin was nominated as a candidate for election.

The Finance and General Purposes Committee held their usual weekly meeting on Tuesday last, the chair being occupied by Mr. Acton Bond (chairman of the committee), supported by Messrs. M. R. Morand, Hubert Willis, and Chas. Cruikshanks (secretary). The minutes of the previous meeting having been read and confirmed, the committee proceeded to consider the question of unpaid subscriptions for the current year, and ultimately a letter to the members in arrear was drafted, and the secretary directed to put in circulation.

Next season will welcome the advent of Mme. Yvette Guilbert to the dramatic stage, the famous Parisienne having arranged to sustain an English-speaking part in a dramatisation of Esther Waters, to be produced in London after her short American tour. The rest of the company will consist of English players, and the production of the piece will be in the hands of a London manager.

Mr. Edouard Jose, who is well known in theatrical circles in this country and abroad, arrived a few weeks ago in Cape Town after a well-earned holiday abroad. On July 30 he sailed for South America, where he is now representing Messrs. Wheeler and George Edwardes as General Manager of the Gaiety Company. With this position, Mr. Jose combines the musical directorship, as he has been doing for the same firm in South Africa for the past three years.

The Golfing Company terminate a most enjoyable holiday at the Theatre Royal, Birmingham, to-day, the tour of His Excellency the Governor having proved a real financial success. Mr. H. Marsh Allen and Mr. Lionel Mackinder come back to town to arrange for their autumn season, Mr. Charles Brown and Miss Jean Aylwin return to the Gaiety, Miss Salberg joins Mr. Arthur Bourchier, Mr. D. J. Williams and Mr. Malcolm Cherry return to Miss Julia Neilson and Mr. Fred Terry, and Mr. Arthur Bertram, who has managed the party, will fill in a few weeks with The Breed of the Treshams. The Golfing Company contemplate touring next year with a motor-'bus, a most convenient mode of transit. There will be no need for long journeys, and the 'bus will be at the disposal of the company who care to use it during the daytime.

Mr. A. De Frece, the new lessee of the Rawtenstall Grand Theatre, is being encouraged in his enterprise by large and appreciative audiences. Last week the houses were exceptionally good, and Saturday last nearly, if not actually, passed the record for the theatre. On Monday another fine house awaited the rising of the curtain, all parts being full of what eventually proved thoroughly delighted playgoers. In the face of the excellent bookings for the coming season we anticipate that the houses will continue equally large and appreciative.

Mr. Thomas Lucas, the managing-director of the New Theatre, Oxford, was not, as has been stated, one of the magistrates on the bench when Mr. Albany Ward made his recent application to the bench for a renewal of his licence. Mr. Lucas, with great propriety, has abstained altogether from taking any part in the proceedings of the Oxford magistrates in connection with the case.

Mr. Philip Leslie, who is touring through Australia and New Zealand with the Brough-Flemming Comedy Co., which finishes on the 30th inst., has attained considerable success. His performance of Duff Wynterden in Dr. Wake's Patient has been greatly eulogised, and the morning after his first performance of this exacting rôle, Mr. Leslie was engaged by Mr. J. C. Williamson for a lengthened period from the end of his present engagement.

Miss Olga Nethersole has engaged Mr. Frank Mills as her leading man for her forthcoming tour. Other members of an exceptionally strong company are Mr. Julian Royce, Mr. John Nesbitt, Mr. Eric Maturin, Miss Ina Goldsmith, Rosalind, Ivan, and Molly Pearson. Miss Nethersole will take the same company with her to America next November for a season there of thirty weeks.

Mr. Ben Greet, whose company is to open Mr. Bannister Howard's season at the Crystal Palace next month with A Midsummer Night's Dream, has departed for the Continent, where he will visit Munich, Bayreuth, and Ober Ammergau.

Mr. Bannister Howard has now almost completed his list of plays to be given at the Crystal Palace Theatre. He will open his season on September 17th with the Ben Greet company in A Midsummer Night's Dream. A performance of this delightful play by the same company was given at Carisbrooke Castle, Isle of Wight, last week, by command of Princess Henry of Battenburg. Besides flying matinées, Mr. Howard has made arrangements for the following companies to appear during the autumn: Are You a Mason? The Silver King, The Private Secretary, the Belle of New York, Four Just Men (Norman V. Norman's company), Charley's Aunt, Prince of Pilsen, The Earl and the Girl, Mr. Hopkinson, Three Little Maids, Floradora, Sergeant Brue, etc. At Christmas the pantomime of Aladdin will be produced.

Mr. George Child has been engaged by Mr. Vivian Grantham to play his part of Sir John Hawthorne in Held in Bondage, and stage-manage the play.

Mr. J. Bannister Howard will have two of his companies in the suburbs next week, viz., Florodora at the Borough, Stratford, and Oliver Twist at the Grand, Fulham.

Mr. Bannister Howard is making ample provision for his patrons at the Castle Theatre, Richmond, which will open on Monday, Aug. 27, with Sergeant Brue. The theatre will be lighted by electricity, and there will be a ladies' lounge, where light refreshments will be served. For the convenience of the patrons to the balcony and gallery, a special bar has been erected in the foyer of the theatre. Many first-class attractions are already booked, the list including Oliver Twist and The Eternal City (by arrangement with Mr. Tree), A Country Mouse, with Miss Annie Hughes in the title-rôle, The Earl and the Girl, Bluebell in Fairyland, Public Opinion, Charley's Aunt, and other companies of the best class.

Mr. Charles Carey hopes to produce, about November, a new musical comedy called The Pick of the Bunch. The scenery and dresses are all well in hand at his Tunbridge Wells theatre, where the piece will first see the light. The autumn season in that progressive town is now in full swing, and Mr. Carey, looking well ahead, already announces a fine list of attractions for the season which comes with the spring.

Mr. Cyril Keightley, so long associated with Mr. F. R. Benson's company, will shortly go on tour with his own combination, and will produce at the Opera House, Cheltenham, on Sept. 3, a new play, entitled Miles Carew, Highwayman, in which Harry and Edward Paulton, the authors of Niobe, have again collaborated. Mr. Graham Morrison is the general-manager for the company, which is a strong one, and includes that talented young actress, Miss Haidee Gunn.

"After the Ball," with its beautiful dresses and bright music, has been captivating Glasgow this week. On Monday next, through the enterprise of Mr. Payne Seddon, Mr. Carey's clever company will reopen the renovated theatre at Dumfries.

"Mrs. Temple's Telegram," the farce by Frank Wyatt and William Morris which is to be produced at the Waldorf on Monday, September 3, will be sustained by Messrs. Aynworth, Allan, William Morris, William Cheeseman, Rudge Harding, Frank Collins, Misses Sybil Carlisle, Constance Hyem, Dido Drake, and Francis Wetherall. The action of the play takes place, morning, afternoon, and evening, at the residence of Mr. Temple, in Curzon-street, Mayfair.

Internal dissension in Russia is obviously not destined to drive the drama from the Czar's dominions, for M. Simon Boyanus Bronewski, a distinguished actor of the Russian Imperial Theatres, is at present on a visit to London, with the object of obtaining information upon the subject of the management of theatres here, taking care to see any play that might be suitable for translation into Russian, with a view to its production at the various State theatres in his own country. In the course of his tour M. Bronewski has already visited the chief cities of the Continent.

M. Bronewski's visit is not happily timed for his purpose, and his quest for serious plays at a time when most of the theatres are closed has been naturally ill-rewarded. He declares that Russians take their drama in earnest; the humour of their stage is grave and deliberate, and they are content to go to the theatre to see pieces which stirs them to deep and serious thought. Of this, he declares, the French were, temperamentally, quite incapable, and as a consequence their dramatic literature is for the most part superficial.

A pathetic plea was put forward in the Southampton Police-court on Saturday, when a young Australian actor, named Brand Kaye Brand, was charged with stowing away on board the Union Castle liner Briton. He said that early in February he went to San Francisco with a theatrical company, and was there at the time of the earthquake, during which he lost everything. He then came to England, but was unable to get an engagement, and, having sold all he possessed, walked from London to Southampton, with the object, if possible, of getting a passage as stoker, or some similar position. He had friends in South Africa. A letter from a member of the Cape Legislative Assembly intimated that if the magistrates only imposed a small fine he would pay it, as he was aware accused was a deserving person. The magistrates said they sympathised with the prisoner, but these offences were becoming frequent, and the Bench could not do less than impose a fine of £10 and costs, with the alternative of one month's imprisonment.

The German Emperor may now be hailed as a discoverer of latent talent. During his recent visit to Fräulein Krupp the choral society of the works sang before him. His Majesty afterwards said laughingly to the conductor, "I ought to have your first tenor for my opera house." On Tuesday the singer in question, a workman named Moeller, was informed by Herr von Bohlen, Fräulein Krupp's fiancé, that the funds necessary to give him a thorough training for the opera stage would be provided.

In the Court of Bankruptcy on Tuesday, the first meeting of creditors was held under the failure of John Sayer, described as of the Apollo Theatre, Shaftesbury-avenue, W.C. The liabilities were estimated at about £2000, and the assets at about £4000. It appeared that in January last the debtor acquired the right to sell programmes and run the bars and cloak rooms at the Apollo Theatre. He was formerly connected with Bristol (Limited), now in liquidation, and attributes his present position to his liability for debts incurred by that company, and to his assets not being immediately available. In the absence of a quorum, the meeting was adjourned.

The Rugby Theatre and Entertainment Company was registered on July 31 with a capital of £25,000. The object is to take over the Rugby Theatre Royal and the Rugby Town Hall, and to build a theatre on that part of the last-mentioned property which is now used as a market hall. The first directors are A. F. Cross (managing director), J. Barlow, T. W. Willard, T. Beasley, and A. J. Lawrence (chairman).

"THE BEAUTY OF BATH."

The belle of the western city held her court at the Aldwych for the 150th time on Wednesday, when a large audience assembled in London's newest playhouse to render homage. By the magnificence of the mounting, the richness of the costumes, the wealth of melody, and the abundance of fun and frolic, The Beauty of Bath has stood the test of the dullest season of the year, and the enthusiasm of the audience was more pronounced than ever on Wednesday, when the work of Messrs. Seymour Hicks and Cosmo Hamilton, for which Mr. Charles H. Taylor has furnished the lyrics, and Mr. Herbert E. Haines the music, sparkled to the accompaniment of the cheers and laughter of a crowded house. Many topical allusions have been introduced, the interpolations coming so near to the moment that a reference to the meeting of the King and the Kaiser the same morning was included.

One important change effected in the cast since the first night is the succession of Miss Zena Dare to the title-rôle in place of Miss Ellaline Terriss. The daintiness and grace of the Hon. Betty Silverthorne are preserved intact by Miss Dare, whose charming personality is exactly fitted to the part. The numbers which fall to her share are rendered with delicacy and refinement, which are agreeably manifest in the refrain "When a girl's in love." The charm of her manner is again revealed in "Things you never learnt at school," of which many repetitions were demanded, and the song of the "little sea-pigs," in which the maidens who impersonate the oysters lend such admirable assistance, gained similar honours.

Mr. Seymour Hicks, who has been playing a special week with the touring company of The Catch of the Season, has returned again to the cast in his finest form. His welcome was of the heartiest kind, and his mercurial spirits and limitless energy put Lieut. R. Allington, R.N., before the audience in his most attractive guise. The number of encore verses to the song in eulogy of "Joey Chamberlain" appeared to be endless. The audience could scarcely have consisted wholly of Unionists, yet none demurred when the great statesman was placed at every verse on the highest pinnacle of popularity, so abundant was the drollery yielded by the song and the nimble wit of the singer.

A comic effect of a unique kind is obtained by the association of the parts of Mrs. Goodge and her son Lemon, the programme boy of the Mascot Theatre. The Bloomsbury landlady as impersonated by Miss Sydney Fairbrother is a living reality which never once deviates from its purpose. The simpering smile and Cockney accent are there throughout, and laughter of the heartiest kind results from the impersonation. An early development of the comedian's art is shown by Master Valchera, whose originality shines forth effectively in the part of Master Goodge. The mock passion and vocal eccentricities infused into the quaintly inspired duet of "Hearts of Bloomsbury" appeal with irresistibly comic effect, and encore verses innumerable could be given if only the evening were lengthened.

Mr. Stanley Brett as Mr. Beverly, the actor, secures the closest resemblance to Dick Allington, and by his alertness and vigour cleverly maintains the required illusion. The Hon. Dorothy Quorn is played with engaging charm by Miss Barbara Deane, whose girlish grace renders the rôle quite captivating, while her fresh and tuneful voice gives delight in the pretty ballad which is allotted to her.

A distinguished figure of the piece is that of Viscount Bellingham, played by Mr. William Lugg, whose voice and style combine to form the fine old English gentleman. The white locks surmounting the refined features make a pleasing spectacle, and Mr. Lugg's finished acting, and measured tones complete an impersonation which secures marked prominence.

Mr. Murray King is one of the oddities of the cast in the part of Sir Timothy Bunn. He extracts humour to the last ounce out of the character, and his eccentricities are appreciated to the full. Mr. Lawrence Caird is also valuable in creating mirth in the part of Lord Quorn, whose good humour and bonhomie are well assumed.

Miss Maudi Darrell imparts irresistible vivacity to the character of Miss Truly St. Cyr, rendering her dialogue archly and acting merrily throughout. Miss Mollie Lowell, who hitherto sustained the part of Lady Bun, has given up the rôle to Miss Marguerite Leslie, who makes of the character a well-spoken and aristocratic personage. Miss Lowell takes up the rôle of Mrs. Allington, and infuses a delicacy and tenderness into her embodiment that endears the character to all.

Dancing of a high order is furnished by Miss Topsy Sinden and Mr. Bert Sinden, whose duet is capitally sung, while the nimbleness and grace of the pair in the subsequent dance is a treat to witness, and wins a well-deserved recall. Mr. E. W. Royce presents the Earl of Orpington with his usual care in characterisation; and as the Countess of Orpington Miss Vera Morris is commendable. The bevy of Bun Girls continue to exercise a fascinating effect, and the realisation of picture-frame beauties still forms a most agreeable feature of an evening of pure delight.

THE USEFULNESS OF THE A.A.

Following is a set of seven reasons, compiled by the Committee of the Commissioners, and approved by the Council, why members of the profession should join the Actors' Association.

1. Because the Actors' Association is the only recognised representative body of the theatrical profession. By joining the Association you will help to increase its powers. You will help to secure further benefits, and you will help to strengthen the position of the actor.
2. Because the Actors' Association provides you with a permanent address. You lose many engagements in consequence of your address not being known. The Actors' Association undertakes to forward you all letters.
3. Because you have Central Offices where you can make appointments, transact your business, see papers, have the use of stationery and telephone. There is also a dramatic agency through which many engagements are made, both for the country and London, at half the usual fees.
4. Because you can have free legal advice and the advantages of arbitration, for which, in conjunction with the Touring Managers' Association, a Joint Board has been created; failing that, your approved claims will be taken up and, where possible, the debtor will be pursued.
5. Because in almost every town where there is a theatre there are hon. medical officers appointed by the Actors' Association, whose services without fee are at your disposal.
6. Because when you have paid your current subscription, you have the benefit of an insurance policy, which no insurance company would issue to you as a private individual for the full amount of your year's subscription.
7. Because at the bi-monthly meeting you have the opportunity to attend or be represented by letter so that all suggestions have the fullest consideration.

The Actors' Society of America extends the courtesy of honorary membership to the members of the Actors' Association while visiting the United States.

The "Red Book" is published early in January each year, and contains legal notes, list of doctors, and register of recommended professional lodgings.

THE DRAMA IN PARIS.

(FROM OUR OWN CORRESPONDENT.)

PARIS, THURSDAY, AUG. 16.—Gounod is to have his statue, and our grand opera is largely subscribing towards the fund. This is as it should be, for this institution owes Gounod a debt of gratitude. Thanks to Faust, they make both ends meet, and, on the nights that work is given, seats have to be booked in advance. Few people, however, know what a terrific struggle the great French composer had to come to the fore. Although he obtained the gold medal at the Conservatoire competition—the Prix de Rome, as it is called here—no publisher would accept his compositions. In 1855 only two of his songs, "O ma lyre immortelle" and "La Chanson du Pâtre"—extracts from Sapho—had been published, and poor Gounod had to bear the expense. One day Gounod set Béranger's well-known poem, "Mon habit," to music. Anatole Lionnet, the well-known vocalist, heard Gounod sing that song in a drawing-room, and was so delighted with it that he asked Heugel, the publisher, to print it. And it was only after Lionnet had promised to add the song to his répertoire that Heugel at last consented, and paid the composer £4 for the melody. It was the first money Gounod had ever received for one of his compositions, and he had then entered in his thirty-seventh year. Altogether, French composers have had a hard fight before they were acknowledged in their own country. Berlioz, César Franck, Saint-Saëns were appreciated in Germany and England long before their music found favour with the French; and, as to poor Lalo, who died a few years ago, he had to wait until his seventieth year before his Roi d'ys was produced at the Opéra Comique.

REFERENCE has been made in these columns of the violent attacks against our Authors' Society, which, according to its detractors, oppresses the unknown author and composer with its draconic regulations. Whilst, however, we are attempting to sweep away this superannuated institution, the Italians have founded an Authors' Society on the French lines, and in Italy the system seems to work well. This can be easily understood. Few playhouses there possess permanent companies; the others are all nomadic, and the poor authors always have the greatest trouble to collect their royalties. The Italian Society, only three years old, has just published its report, from which we glean some curious facts. Thus, they now collected £17,120 royalties against £3,600 in the preceding year; and the authors of course are jubilant. As to the pieces produced, I saw to my surprise that French authors figure on the list for three-fifths, English and German authors for one-fifth, and the Italians themselves only for one-fifth. Italy apparently produces more macaroni than plays.

MLLE. CHARLOTTE DURAN, the clever young actress from the Odéon, died a few days ago, after a short illness. She was a great favourite with the public, and her death created a painful impression in the theatrical world. Mlle. Duran was only twenty-four.

THE Comédie-Française has not yet come to an arrangement with MM. Octave Mirbeau and Natanson in respect to their play Le Foyer. M. Claretie adheres to his decision not to produce the work unless the authors change some of the scenes; and M. Mirbeau flatly refuses to alter a line. This is how matters stand, and, unless—which is very improbable—one side gives in, the authors will take their MS. to another playhouse. These things have occurred before in the house of Molière. Alexandre Dumas had trouble there with his comedy Madame de Chambly, and had it produced at Ventadour. Emile Augier, too, had ructions about Madame Caverlet, in consequence of his refusal to modify the dialogue, and the piece was brought out at the Vaudeville.

THE title of M. Henry Bernstein's three-act comedy, to be produced at the Gymnase, is Le Voleur. The principal rôle therein has been assigned to M. le Bargy.

M. ALBERT CARRÉ has received a one-act musical comedy called Le Songe d'un soir d'autonine, founded on a poem by Gabriel d'Annunzio. The music is by M. Torre Alfina. The rôle of the heroine will be sung by Mme. Félia Litvinne.

M. ANDRE DE LORDE, famous for his blood-curdling plays, and whose Système du Docteur Goudron used to frighten the playgoers out of their stalls, is now writing a drama founded on M. Guy de Maupassant's uncanny story, "La Petite Rogues," wherein he will introduce several scenes from "La Horla." The new work will very likely be produced at the Grand Guignol, which has the speciality of these productions.

THERE has been a general meeting of shareholders of the Palais-Royal Theatre, and, as could be expected, the figures laid before them were anything but satisfactory. The theatre has been losing money heavily; and during the last three or four years no piece was produced there that had any lasting success. M. Maurice Charlot, alleging ill-health, has withdrawn from the management, and his place will be taken by M. Georges Judic—the son of the well-known actress—who for some time was connected with the management of the Châtelet. The Palais-Royal has a formidable opponent in Les Nouveautés which, under M. Michaud's able government, has become one of the most prosperous houses in our city. The latter gentleman knows his public, and to his skill and tact in the selection of plays the phenomenal success of the Nouveautés can in a great measure be attributed. Moreover, M. Michaud always takes care to keep his company to a high point of excellence, and to retain such favourites as Germain, Torin, Noblet, etc. At the Palais-Royal things were conducted in altogether a different style, and hence its gradual decline.

PIERRE LOY'S amusing story La femme et le pantin has tempted Signor Puccini, who is writing the music to a libretto taken from this novel.

IN November will be opened the theatrical museum bequeathed to the State by the well-known playwright, M. d'Ennery. It is called the Musée d'Ennery, and is situated in the Avenue du Bois de Boulogne. It is a curious collection which everybody interested in the stage will be glad to visit. Among other curiosities, there will be an exhibition of over two thousand scent boxes as used by actors and actresses in Japan. M. Clemenceau, our Prime Minister, the intimate friend and executor of the late M. d'Ennery, is personally superintending the arrangements.

"UNE MAISON TRANQUILLE" is the title of a one-act comedy by M. Lucien Marotte to be brought out at the Théâtre Antoine next season.

AMONG the new engagements at the Théâtre Antoine is that of Mlle. Renée Leduc, whom we had already occasion to applaud at the Gymnase and the Ambigu.

The municipal theatre in Besançon have issued a ukase that next season ladies with hats will not be allowed in the stalls and dress-circle. The Besançon ladies, on the other hand, intend to boycott the theatre unless that order is rescinded. It will be a homeric struggle wherein the authorities are expected to be beaten, for the odds appear to be very much in favour of the ladies.

MR. WALTER GIBBONS writes:—"I should be obliged if you would point out that while the Brixton Theatre will be opened as the Brixton Hippodrome on Oct. 22 under my sole management, it will not be run in opposition to the Empress Theatre of Varieties. As a matter of fact, both places belong to the same company.

A COPY of "THE ERA" will be forwarded to any address in the United Kingdom for six stamps. The Era is posted on Saturday in time to reach London Subscribers by the first Town Delivery, and Country Subscribers should receive their Papers by the first London Post. Sentiment and humour are both welcome in their place, but when they are allied indiscriminately, the chances of the former are very remote. No better proof of this could be required than that presented on Monday at Clapham Junction, when Mr. Kinsey Peile's new play, which has been revised and strengthened since its original production at the Gaiety, Hastings, on July 10, 1905, received its introduction to London. The romance contained in The Adventurer, which is laid at the period of William IV., is of a delicate cate and subtle kind, but scenes of tenderness are continuously compromised by the farcical element which obtrudes at all times and places, and resulted on Monday in the loud laughter of a house ever ready to see the comic side of a situation, even when none was presented. The first episode upon which the serious issues of the play depend, where the evil genius of the piece proposes marriage to the heroine, is turned into ridicule by the various members of the family, who gather round and interject facetious remarks during the proceedings.

The maiden is the recipient of two proposals in the opening scene. The first is from William Percival, a country land-owner, whose addresses are encouraged by Squire Nugent, the father of Lillian, the young lady in question. Percival's suit meets with a cold reception; but the wooing of Michael le Grand, a gallant and chivalrous adventurer, who boasts of landed estates in Normandy and Wales, is more successful. Lillian's brother, Harold, has lost heavily at the gaming-table, and takes advantage of his friendship with le Grand to forge his name as security for £1,000, which he has lost to Percival's younger brother. The bill falls due in a month, and on that day William and his brother present themselves to claim payment. Le Grand, in order to protect Harold, has admitted his signature, but his means are nil, so he borrows a brooch from his lady love, ostensibly to decide a wager, but in reality to assist him in obtaining the money from a Jew usurer named Stein, who is made to promise that he will keep the jewel sealed up for three days, by which time le Grand hopes to win sufficient money at cards to pay the debt. The £1,000 is therefore ready for Percival, who grows suspicious at its production, and, on conferring with the Jew, learns from that wily gentleman by what means the money was obtained. Percival then hies him to le Grand's house, where a ball is in progress, and accuses Michel of stealing Lillian's diamonds and pawning them with the Jew, whereupon le Grand triumphantly produces the trinket, and hands it to Lillian. Again does Percival resort to his Hebrew ally, who examines the diamond received from le Grand, and finds that a false stone has been foisted upon him. It is then Percival's turn to triumph, and he returns and denounces le Grand, who is fain to admit the charge. After Squire Nugent and his friends have departed, and Lillian has taken a sorrowful farewell, le Grand produces a pistol from a drawer, and is about to end his life, when Harold rushes forth from an adjoining apartment and snatches the weapon from his hand. Hastily recalling his father and sister, Harold confesses that it was his debt which le Grand had undertaken, in order to save him from disgrace, and the Squire is so affected by the news that he joins the hands of Lillian and her lover, thus securing the happiest ending imaginable.

The piece is filled out by comic relief, which, as we have hinted, often obtrudes. The effect of the chief part is thus injured, and the favour with which Michel le Grand was received in all parts of the house is therefore all the more commendable to Mr. Jerrold Robertshaw, who is taking out the company in the interval of his appearances at the West-end. Mr. Robertshaw played the reckless adventurer with all the buoyancy at his command, the mixture of courtliness and swagger, his gay demeanour and resourcefulness, being completely in accord with the part. He became quite a favourite, and it seemed a pity that he should have to stand by while his sportive secretary Tobias took the bit between his teeth and played havoc with the serious situations. The conception of the character by Mr. E. M. Robson was one of a distinctly original vein, and screams of laughter resulted from his impersonation of the diminutive secretary, who was as merry as a kitten, and gambolled about not at all unlike one. Miss Marie Löhr made a girlish and graceful Lillian Nugent. Charming and ingenuous in the earlier moods of the part, Miss Löhr rose effectively to the later situations, requiring breadth and force, and her indignation towards Percival was as vigorous as her emotion at parting with her lover was affecting. Admiration was also commanded by Miss Naomi Neilson, who provided a neat sketch of Lillian's maiden aunt, delivering some neatly-turned phrases with a sense of humour that gave them the utmost point. Mr. Harry Ashford presented a perfect picture of a hale and hearty country squire, whose splenetic outbursts were made thoroughly amusing; and, as his son Harold, Mr. L. Race Dunrobin acted an ungrateful part with such dramatic skill and fervour as to make it prominent among the best impersonations of the cast. A finished character-study was furnished by Mr. Harvey Long as the Jew moneylender, who in the early days of the 19th century, while retaining his cupidity, did not seem to possess those extravagant nasal characteristics and mannerisms with which melodrama of a later period have clothed him. Mr. Long's impersonation of Samuel Stein was a distinctly clever study, the skill of which was very generally recognised. The character of the unscrupulous William Percival was powerfully played by Mr. Percival Stevens. It is not at first easy to decide whether he is a fool or a knave, but Mr. Stevens put his evil nature plainly enough before the audience, and quite forfeited their esteem thereby. A laughable impersonation of a feather-brained fop, with whom one would gladly have had a longer acquaintance was supplied by Mr. R. Henderson Bland, the mincing manners of Richard Percival, William's brother, being cleverly assumed. Mr. James Starkey as Savage, a Bow-street runner, was as fierce as his name and profession implied; and the stalwart footman and valet to le Grand were drolly played by Mr. A. J. May and Mr. W. A. Haines, the latter of whom should be warned against allowing his French accent to injure the distinctness of his delivery. The piece was elaborately dressed and staged, and innumerable curtains throughout the evening proclaimed its success.

The Adventurer was preceded by a drama, in one act, founded by Mr. F. Kinsey Peile, on La Femme de Tabarin of Catulle Mendès, and originally produced at the Opera House, Tunbridge Wells, on Aug. 2, entitled

"THE MUMMER'S WIFE."

A tragedy of a startling kind is represented in this little play, the scene of which is laid in the barn-storming days. It relates the story of a strolling player, who, suspecting his wife of infidelity because she has given food and shelter to a former member of his company, accuses her in front of the assembled audience, telling them that they shall see some rare acting. The wife's protests are taken as a sample of realistic playing until the enraged husband at length draws the curtains, and attempts to kill the young man; but the sword pierces the breast of his wife, who falls mortally wounded. A member of the audience steps forward to offer a bouquet in token of admiration, and finds that the blood is real, and the husband, seized with remorse at the outcome of his rash act, bids the spectators depart. Mr. Robertshaw gave a striking exposition of the passion and hatred of the jealous husband, the wild fury and ungovernable rage of the part being finely expressed. Miss Phyllis Relph made the rôle of the gentle and terror-stricken wife very impressive; and Mr. L. Race Dunrobin as the supposed lover, and Mr. W. A. Haines as the vindictive member of the troupe, were also commendable. Loud applause was given at the end, the curtain having to be raised several times.

MR. H. B. IRVING AND THE A.A.

A meeting of members and friends of the Actors' Association was held on the stage of the Theatre Royal, Grey-street, Newcastle, on Thursday, the chair being occupied by Mr. H. B. Irving.

The Chairman said it was a great pleasure to him to do anything he could to further the interests of the Actors' Association, and he was very glad indeed to see that that scheme which had been formed for having meetings in the provinces had made some sort of real start. As they well knew, the Actors' Association had been in existence for some considerable time. It had weathered a good many storms, and it had managed—which had not been the case with all associations of the kind—to keep its head above water, and to fix itself as the representative body of their profession. ("Hear, hear.") There was no doubt whatever about that. The Actors' Association was a body which was publicly recognised as representing their profession. It was recognised at the time of the King's coronation by an invitation being sent to the president of the association to attend the coronation. He thought that that was a remarkable tribute to the impression which the association had managed to make. But it had been a very uphill game, and only those acquainted at all with the work of the association could tell how difficult it had been at times to make the association prosperous, and indeed to make it a self-supporting concern. ("Hear, hear.") The association had done a great deal of good. Things secured through it had been of unquestionable benefit. He need not enumerate all those things. He had, however, seen how useful, among other things, the association had been in taking up litigation. Except for the association they were quite a defenceless class. They had nobody really except the association to represent them. If the occasion should arise when some serious question came up involving the rights of actors and actresses, it would be to the association that they must look for assistance. While the association had done a great deal of good in the past, there was a great deal more that it ought to do, but which it would never be able to do unless greater support were given to it by the body of the profession than it received at present. The number of members of the association, as compared with the number of actors and actresses in this country, was unfortunately small. The wish of those who were interested in its welfare was that it should receive more general support than it received at present. (Applause.) In supporting the association they had the satisfaction of supporting something which they knew had done good to other people, if not to themselves. The association had never shown itself hostile to criticism, or been unwilling to seriously consider any reform or proposal coming from its own members. He would most earnestly ask people not to stand outside criticising, but to come inside and do their best to make the association more effective and powerful than it was at present.

Mr. Irving concluded by expressing the hope that those provincial meetings would be productive of good to the association, and that the energies of a lady like Miss Hamilton would be rewarded by an increased membership, which was really what was wanted.

Miss Georgina Hamilton, who is playing at the Palace Theatre, Newcastle, this week, and is a member of the Commissioners' Committee of the Actors' Association, also spoke. At present, she said, the funds of the association would not permit of a provincial centre being established.

Four new members were enrolled during the meeting.

The Chairman mentioned that the association had undertaken the organisation of Actors' Day. Such a scheme should benefit their charities to a very large extent, and make them practically independent of outside help. Mr. Irving moved a vote of thanks to Mr. Robert Arthur for the use of the theatre, which was seconded and heartily carried.

A similar vote was passed to the Chairman, who in reply said they had every reason to be gratified with the result of their meeting.

MR. ALBANY WARD, the popular lessee of the Empire Theatre, Oxford, took his sixth annual benefit on Wednesday and Thursday, when a large audience assembled. Mr. H. S. Dacre's company played The Ticket-of-Leave Man, Mr. Edward Ottley being the Robert Brierly, and other parts were sustained by Mr. Ernest Percy, Mr. Percy Twyman, Mr. Henry S. Dacre, Mr. F. Castlemain, Miss Sophy Shenton, Miss F. Gillette, and Miss Lelegarde Atheling. At the end of the play speeches were made expressive of sympathy with Mr. Ward in his litigation with the local magistrates, and the residents of East Oxford were urged to strive their utmost to support the manager in his appeal. Mr. Ward briefly thanked one and all for their kind sympathy and support. Miss Grace Geraldine afterwards gave a monologue, entitled A Lancashire Girl's Visit to Oxford, and also appeared with Mr. Harry Percival Riley in a trifle, entitled Convict 45; the Office scene from Still Waters Run Deep was played by Messrs. H. P. Riley, Edward Ottley, and E. A. Clinch; and Miss Hope Tempest, Miss Madeline Comyns, Miss Nellie Pratt, Miss Lily Beechey, Miss Lily Howard, Mr. F. Masters, Mr. F. Pollard, Mr. George Jennings, and Mr. O. Dare also contributed items to the extensive programme.

THE inauguration of the new route to Ireland viâ Fishguard and Rosslare, by which journeys to the sister isle will be greatly expedited, is to take place on Aug. 30.

"ALASKA."

The Widow's Mite	LITTLE BABY ROSIE
Jess Dalton	MISS ETHEL RAINFORTH
Alaska	MISS G. HASTINGS WALTON

(FROM OUR OWN CORRESPONDENT.)

Alaska; or, Life in the Frozen North has been successfully produced in America, several companies at present touring with the piece, and, on its first English production, the play was accorded a good reception. The scene of the piece is laid in Alaska, a gold-mining town of North America, where a man named Dalton has made a discovery of gold in the mouth of a volcano worshipped by Indians as their Fire God. Not being able to establish his claim, Dalton left a map locating his find in the care of Father Bernard. The first act opens in a log cabin on the Island of Akutan. The villain of the play, Ned Larson, with the aid of a half-caste Indian, plots to secure this map, and, while the other members of the camp are away, he murders the priest with a knife belonging to the hero. On discovery of the murder, this knife is found clasped in the dead man's hand, along with a scrap of yellow hair. Ned Larson thinks the only witness of his deed was a little girl, whom his Indian accomplice frightens into silence. In this, however, he is mistaken, as Alaska, the daughter of the chief of a tribe of Indians in the vicinity, witnesses the murder. Meanwhile, Shookum Jim, described as the "truest man in Alaska," is charged with the crime, and, not being able to establish his innocence, has to take to the woods, but on Christmas Eve comes into the camp in the guise of Santa Claus to see his dead sister's child. Alaska, who loves Shookum Jim, warns him that her people intend to massacre the whites. This massacre is caused by Ned Larson, who had sent to the father of Alaska in the name of Jim some medicine which turned out to be poison. Alaska's father dies, and over his dead body she swears to avenge the crime; but when the opportune moment comes, and she has the chance of stabbing the hero, love prevails, and she finds she cannot commit the deed. On receiving the warning from Alaska, lots are drawn as to who shall take a boat and endeavour to get assistance from a gun-boat cruising some miles away. This duty falls upon Ned Larson, but he proves himself a coward, as well as a villain, by refusing to go, and, to make matters sure, he sinks the craft. Jess Dalton, Shookum Jim's sweetheart, then bethinks herself of a carrier pigeon given her by one of the officers of the gun-boat, and they entrust a message to the bird, stating their plight, and asking for assistance. The pigeon is despatched with the blessing of the priest, but has not soared very far before it is shot at by the half-caste, who is in hiding. The shot fails to kill the bird, and the sailors arrive just in time to relieve the camp; but in the confusion the half-caste escapes with Jess Dalton, carrying her to a deserted hut high up the volcano. Alaska discovers the trail, and rescues Jess; but Shookum Jim, in searching for the girl, comes across the same cabin, and is overpowered by Ned Larson and his accomplice. They bind him to a post, and, placing a charge of dynamite close to his feet, attach a lighted fuse, which burns slowly towards him; but he is eventually rescued by a nigger, named Pompey Cæsar. In Act 3 there is a great volcano scene, with a fight to the death right over the mouth of the crater. Ned Larson proves to be the man who has ruined the sister of the hero, who has vowed to kill her betrayer. Although given the chance of a fair fight, Larson suddenly fires with the intention of killing Shookum Jim, but Alaska, springing forward, receives the bullet in her breast, and expires after having fastened the guilt of the priest's murder upon the villainous Larson.

The drama is full of action and interest, and situations of striking sensation are numerous. The humorous element is provided by the adapter, Mr. Albert Rogers, who is an excellent artist, but should give his abilities greater scope. Mr. C. D. Pitt gives a capital exposition of the villain, deceit and cunning being displayed in all his actions. Miss G. Hastings Walton is a promising young actress, and plays the rôle of the faithful Indian girl excellently. Jess Dalton, as enacted by Miss Ethel Rainforth, is a charming and lovable character. Mr. Hilliard Vox, an experienced actor, takes the part of the hero, and his acting leaves nothing to be desired. The other members included in the cast performed their duties with great credit. The company is under the able acting-management of Mr. G. W. Tripp.

NATIONAL ENGLISH OPERA UNION.

TO THE EDITOR OF THE ERA.

SIR,—In reference to my previous letter, the replies I have received have been so numerous that it has encouraged me at once to take further steps in the matter. Will you allow me to state, through your columns, that I am now willing to receive the names and addresses of those who are ready to become members of the National English Opera Union under the conditions stated in my previous letter? I shall be glad to receive the names and addresses as soon as possible at this theatre as an expression of their definite intention to support the scheme, the objects of which are:—

(1) To promote in every possible way the love of English opera by the utmost endeavour of the Society as a whole, and by the exertions of its individual members.
(2) Subject to the approval of the majority of the members, the Council of the Society shall consist of a president, vice-presidents, secretary, and executive committee, who will be elected by ballot from time to time.
(3) When the membership has reached, say, 10,000, a general meeting of the Society will be held to consider the election of the above.
(4) In the meantime there will be no expense or subscription of any kind, as, until otherwise obtained by a duly appointed committee, all expense will be borne by the Moody-Manners Opera Company.
(5) Until the Council shall decide as to the wishes of the members in the matter, Mr. Manners will gladly place an office at the disposal of the Society at the Moody-Manners Stores, The Hyde, Hendon, London, N.W., where all communications may be addressed pro tem.
(6) On no account must the powers of this Union be at any time used to advance the cause of any private enterprise in opera.
(7) Madame Fanny Moody and Mr. Charles Manners will be at all times most willing to give their services to in any way advance the cause of the Union, if so desired by the Council.
(8) It is, of course, understood that these suggestions are merely tentative, and are subject to alteration and modification.

Yours faithfully, CHARLES MANNERS.

FIFTY YEARS OF THE DRAMA. 1850—1900.

(COPYRIGHT.)

In these columns it is proposed to give a strictly alphabetical arrangement of the titles of plays produced during the last fifty years. It will be the most complete list ever published, and should prove invaluable to authors desiring to discover whether a certain title has ever been used, and when. To members of the dramatic profession it will be useful in determining the dates of plays in which they have achieved successes. Our readers are politely requested to advise us of any omission or inaccuracy which they may notice.

This list as soon as complete will be published in cheap book form.

STAGE STAFF GOSSIP.

The staff of the Pavilion Theatre, Newcastle, enjoyed their annual outing on Sunday, when a party numbering about 80 journeyed by brake from the theatre doors to Mitford. Among those who took part in the outing were Mr. W. H. Boardman (manager), Mr. Mark Abrahams, Mr. Watson, Mr. H. Vineberg, Mr. C. Campbell, Mr. J. Brewis, Mr. and Mrs. Fred Sutcliffe, and others. Following a sumptuous dinner at Mitford Plough Hotel sports were indulged in, and tea having been partaken of the company returned to Newcastle, arriving in the city about half-past nine.

The staff of the Theatre Royal, Aston, Birmingham, went on their annual outing to Worcester and Holte Fleet last Sunday. The party numbered fifty, and a most enjoyable day was spent. At the dinner the usual compliments were passed, and Mr. Frank Whittles, the popular acting-manager of the establishment, was presented with a gold ring and a gold albert.

The annual outing of the staff of the Victoria Theatre, Broughton, took place on Sunday last, when about 34 members in charge of the manager, Mr. J. Fred Watson, journeyed by train to Morecambe. They put up at the Clarendon Hotel, where they dined. It had been the intention of Mr. Dreschfeld, the managing director, to have been with them, but he had to forego that pleasure, and in a letter apologising for his absence, he expressed his great satisfaction at the work the staff had done, and particularly thanked the manager and secretary for the no inconsiderable share in the marked improvement which had lately taken place in the theatre. After a pleasant drive the party returned to the Clarendon Hotel and had tea. They arrived back in Manchester about 8.30 p.m., all agreeing that they had had a very enjoyable outing.

BAWN'S AGENCY.

TO THE EDITOR OF THE ERA

Sir,—I have seen in a contemporary a statement to the effect that Messrs. Bawn's Agency has been taken over by Messrs. Macdermott and Sheldon. This is incorrect. I shall be glad if you will kindly contradict same. Bawn's Agency has been transferred to new offices at the Empire, Camberwell, and is run by Messrs. Jesse Sparrow, and, yours faithfully,

HENRY BAWN.

The Chelsea Palace, Aug. 16.

Margaret Cook, who last week was charged at the West London police-court with wandering abroad without visible means of subsistence in Hartesmere-road, Fulham, came up again before Mr. Lane, K.C., on Thursday. She was now dressed in a neat grey costume and black hat. Last week she said she had sung with Harry Liston. On this occasion she handed up a long-written statement to the magistrate, which he promised to read at his leisure. She said she was the widow of a circus proprietor, and had acted as inquiry agent of the Charity Organisation Society. Mr. Lane remanded the case again for further inquiries.

The results of the applications of Mr. Mack, of Mack's Pierrot Troupe, to the Tamworth Borough magistrates for a music licence for the Castle al fresco grounds were rather unique. On the first occasion he was granted a temporary licence for a fortnight, but when he applied for its renewal for the season there was a larger number of justices on the bench, and by a majority it was refused, as they were not in favour of Sunday concerts. Subsequently he made arrangements with the Corporation, who are the owners of the Castle, to which a music licence is attached.

During a few weeks' closure, the Palace, Sheerness, has been thoroughly overhauled, repainted, and decorated, and on Monday, the reopening night, presented a very bright and cheerful appearance. The hall was well filled, and a successful season seems to be in prospect for Mr. Phil Reymond.

Miss Millie Henderson, who made such a success as principal boy at Brighton last Christmas, has been specially engaged for the London halls, for the boy's part in the military sketch Balaclava, in which she will display her remarkable swordsmanship. Miss Henderson received her first lessons in this art from her father, Mr. John Henderson, during the production of one of his spectacles at Manhattan Beach, and she carries to this day cuts and scars as mementos of her first lessons.

Le Roy, Talma, and Bosco have been meeting with their usual success at the Hippodrome, Liverpool, during the week. Servais Le Roy is sparing neither expense nor trouble in the preparation of his mystical play, in which many novelties will be introduced.

AMUSEMENTS IN BIRMINGHAM.

(FROM OUR OWN CORRESPONDENTS.)

Theatre Royal.—Managing Director, Mr. Tom B. Davis; Acting-Manager, Mr. Philip Rodway.—His Excellency the Governor, preceded by A Waste of Time, is represented here by a clever array of artistes constituting themselves the Golfing Company. Sir Montague Martin is represented in an exceedingly clever manner by Mr. Malcolm Cherry; Mr. H. J. Williams makes the most of the Right Hon. Henry Carlton, M.P.; Mr. H. Marsh Allen shines as Captain Charles Carew; and Mr. Lionel Mackinder makes a droll impression as Baverstock; Messrs. C. Brown and A. Willoughby figure successfully as Captain Rivers and Major Kildare respectively. Miss Jean Aylwin enacts the part of Stella De Gex with much ability; Miss Valerie Salberg appears successfully in the rôle of Ethel Carlton; and Miss Isabel Grey acts in a properly impressive manner as Mrs. Wentworth-Bolingbroke.

Prince of Wales's Theatre.—Lessees, Messrs. Rodgers, Ltd.; Manager, Mr. J. F. Graham; Acting-Manager, Mr. Henry Johnston.—Mr. Edward Terry is once more offering his attractions, which remain undiminished in their popularity. Liberty Hall, which was done for Monday and Thursday evenings, has lost not one whit of its charm, while Mr. Terry's performance as William Todman is finished and sympathetic, and he has added to his répertoire another very human character impersonation. Miss Fyfie Alexander presents a perfectly satisfactory rendering of the part of Blanche Chilworth; Miss F. Glossop Harris submits a highly creditable presentment of the sister Amy; Mr. Allan Pollock gives a manly exposition of the masquerading Mr. Owen; Mr. William Dexter acts the difficult part of Briginshaw in a most capable way, and Mr. E. W. Thomas as Pedrick; Mr. Frank Collier, jun., as the Hon. Gerald Harringay; Miss Eugenie Vernie as Crager; and Master Earle as Binks, do well. The Magistrate and Sweet Lavender have also been given with much success.

Alexandra Theatre.—Proprietor and Manager, Mr. Lester Collingwood.—A Warning to Women is presented here by a capable company, led by Mr. C. Watson Mill, who continues to fascinate with his powerful study of Dr. Dread. Miss Rosalind Tate is meeting with many new admirers in her pathetic picture of the heroine Moira; Mr. Henry Alding acts with sincerity as the wandering minstrel, Shaun; Mr. Vincent W. Carlyle is admired for his robust and manly bearing as the young squire, Fergus McNaughton; Mr. Henry Rutland carries himself with dignity as Squire Kennion; Mr. N. Carter Slaughter affords much diversion as Lord Eversleigh; Miss Emmie Barton acts in a sympathetic style as Sheila Kennion; Mr. Henry P. Kennedy as that broth of a boy Mike McZuade is highly popular; and Miss Ellen Beverley, Miss Marie Moore, Mr. Norman B. Cannon, and others afford much support to the production.

Metropole Theatre.—Proprietor and Manager, Mr. Andrew Melville; Acting-Manager, Mr. J. Hindle Taylor.—Napoleon the Great figures very successfully here with Messrs. Granville and Thorne's company. Mr. Hugh Montgomery in the title-rôle is all that the character should be, scoring indubitably; Mr. Henry Earlesmere gives powerful emphasis to the villain's rôle, Colonel Lavarennes; Mr. Phil Harper evokes hearty cheers by his convincing exposition of the rôle of Colonel Jules Meuron; and Mr. Bartlett Garth as Paul Laczinska, and Mr. G. Acton Dix as Monsieur Fonchè figure prominently. Miss Leslie Warner gives a dramatic realisation of the rôle of Marie Walewska; Miss Maud Russell meets with favour as Mademoiselle Leonie Marboeu; and the humour of the play is sustained in a most efficient manner by Mr. Frank M. Thorne as Pierre Pomponnet, Mr. Albert Sinclair as Sergeant Choupin, Miss Marie Harcourt as Marcelle, and Miss Florence Thorne as Mère Dumont.

Carlton Theatre, Saltley.—Owner and Manager, Mr. Arthur Carlton; Resident-Manager, Mr. James Alexander.—The cinematograph reigns here, depicting, amongst other highly interesting events; the Britt-Nelson fight for the championship of the world. This is followed with intense interest, and furthermore, there are illustrated slide-songs, the Frisco Girls, Frank Coyle, and Thid Gwynn appearing among the attractive items.

Theatre Royal, Aston.—Lessee, Mr. Charles Barnard; General-Manager, Mr. E. Hewitson; Acting-Manager, Mr. Frank Whittles.—The Woman who Gambles holds the stage here with Mr. Morton Powell's company. Miss Gertrude Hunt sustains the titular-rôle, Countess Natalie Steinbach, and scores a palpable hit. Miss Florence Halton depicts the more gentle character of Cora Gouldhart in a sympathetic manner; Miss Rhoda Clighton acts the part of Stella Melakoff with powerful effect; Mr. Horatio Sinclair puts much energy into the rôle of Baron Cratzlaw; Mr. James Duncan as Count Otto Steinbach delivers his lines with distinctness; Mr. Reginald Fox as the self-sacrificing Lieutenant Karl Ctzarteryski gains much sympathy, and Mr. Ernest H. Clarke is good as M. Stambuloff.

Empire Palace.—Resident-Manager, Mr. A. W. Matcham.—The programme this week is headed by Henri Cot, the French giant, whose height is 8ft. 7in., and Prince Colibri, the Russian midget, who is only 1ft. 11¼ins. Another novel turn is Grais' Baboons, with a tight-rope exhibition. Will Bishop and company present the sketch, My Gollywog; the Classicum Quartette have an effective venetian love scena, and Frank Seeley is loudly applauded for his comic songs. Frank Deeley, Mabel Bardine and company in a dramatic sketch, Nell of the Halls, Rachel Lowe, and the Two Madges, the Howard Bros., and Alf. Holt are other attractions.

Gaiety Theatre.—General-Manager, Mr. Albert Bushell. — Charlene and Charlene are delighting large houses in their refined drawing-room entertainment; Harry Anderson is popular in his songs; the Spanish Moor Zaid presents a remarkable acrobatic act; the Twin Andersons sing and dance themselves into favour; the Sisters Moyan, Winnie Derson, the Marconis, Haig and Novel, and Cribb and Cribb are other popular turns.

Hippodrome.—Managing Director, Mr. Thomas Barrasford.—The King of Sahara, a musical production, played by Joe Peterman and company, is a big attraction here; De Biere is more mysterious than ever; Rose Harvey is well encored for her songs; Emma Don successfully presents her black and white comedy quartette; and Fouretti and Eli. Hayman and Franklin, and Robb Gilmore add to to the success.

Bordesley Palace.—Resident-Manager, Mr. Edward Foster.—A return visit of Cruikshank is responsible for large audiences. His witty and merry humour keeps his audience in one continual roar of laughter. Ross and Grayson in their sketch, The Professor and His Pupil, take well; the Ten Genis, Alice Blanford, and the Three Sisters Sprightly are loudly applauded; Hector Grant is a quaint Scotch comedian, and the Durant Bros. and the Bioscope complete the bill.

Curzon Hall.—Manager, Mr. Waller Jeffs.—The New Century Pictures are attracting crowded audiences. Operatic selections from The Bohemian Girl are rendered by the Regal Quartette—Messrs. Edward Wynn and Albert German, and Mesdames Adele Prescott and Marie Burnett.

MISS DOT STEPHENS' SAD CASE.

Miss Doris Stephens, best known in the professional world as Dot Stephens, a very clever vocalist and dancer, met with a terrible accident late on the Saturday night of June 30. She had fulfilled an engagement at H.M. Theatre of Varieties at Walsall, and left the same night to go to Glasgow, where she was to have appeared the following week. On reaching Wolverhampton she had to wait some time to join the midnight mail on the London and North-Western line, and there met some professional friends. She went to the Hippodrome, Wolverhampton, and was afterwards accompanied to the High Level Station by a gentleman, who secured her a seat in a second-class compartment, and saw that the door on the platform side was properly fastened before the train started. On arrival at Stafford the door on the offside was found to be open and the compartment empty. There was a quantity of luggage on the racks and seats, and as there appeared to have been an accident a light engine was at once despatched up the line to search the track. On reaching Fordhouses, about three miles from Wolverhampton, the unfortunate young lady was found lying in the six foot way in an unconscious state, and terribly injured. She was conveyed to the Wolverhampton station, and thence to the General Hospital. She was found to be seriously lacerated about the head and body. On Sunday afternoon she had recovered consciousness, but had no recollection of how the accident occurred. It is supposed that she was under the impression that she was travelling in a corridor car, and on opening the door fell to the ground. Asked how she could account for the accident, Miss Stephens remarked, "The railway carriage was stuffy, and I went to open the window. After that I recollect nothing more till I regained consciousness in the hospital."

Miss Stephens was a clever vocalist, dancer, and actress, and first appeared with Mr. Bannister Howard as the Salvation Army lass in The Belle of New York, remaining with the company three years. She then joined Mr. George Dance for the part of Mrs. Pineapple in A Chinese Honeymoon and afterwards Mr. C. P. Levilly, understudying Miss Stella Gastelle as Alesia in La Poupée, a part she subsequently played, and was to resume in the autumn in Mr Herbert Ralland's company, lately on tour.

It is intended to purchase an annuity for Miss Stephens, whose terrible misfortune has already excited the greatest commiseration.

So sad a case has rarely, if ever, been brought before the dramatic and musical profession, whose record abounds in deeds of charity. The name of Miss Stephens is now to be added to the already full scroll of benevolent actions.

All subscriptions will be duly acknowledged in these columns. Subscriptions may be sent to Mr. J. Bannister Howard, Hon. Treasurer, 3, Bedford-street, Strand, W.C.; to the "Dot Stephens Fund," at the Capital and Counties Bank, King-street, Covent Garden; or to the Assistant Hon. Treasurer, Mr. F. H. Pedgrift, The Era Office, 5, Tavistock-street, W.C.

Mr. W. Watson, who is travelling in China with Spampani's European Circus, sends the following interesting particulars of the experience of a circus in the Flowery Land :—"We are now in Peking, playing to packed houses, this being the only circus here for over two years. Last week we were invited to the Summer Palace, and played before the Emperor and Empress of China. During the whole of the performance the Emperor and Empress and other members of the Royal family sat behind muslin screens so that we could not see them, but they could see the performance. It was a very strange experience. We have now been away from England nearly two years, and on the whole we have made good success, but most of the shows that come out to the East make a great mistake in not finding out the best time of the year to visit certain towns—as, for instance, in the rainy season in India and elsewhere it is not worth while showing. All our company are in good health and spirits."

During the performance at Tientsin recently, one of the lions, known as Prince, the most active and menacing of the five beasts, got out of its cage. The animal jumped on to the back of one of the elephants, which seized the lion bodily with its trunk and dashed it to the ground. Mr. Watson, who was dressing to go into the ring, rushed out of the dressing-room with a stilt in his hand and courageously beat off the lion. Mr. Schaad the lion-tamer, hearing the tumult, ran up at once to the lion, calling it by name, and the lion followed him as far as the public refreshment bar, crouching down peacefully for some minutes. Suddenly some inquisitive Chinese burst open the door. The lion sprang off the counter and dashed off to the menagerie, and on to the back of a pony, where it was subsequently shot. The loss of this valuable lion is stated to be £300.

The interesting fête in aid of the Crewe Cottage Hospital had for its shows, etc., P. Collins, No. 1, Cinématograph Theatre and two high-class machines by the same proprietor, Wright's fine art gallery, Day's novelty booth, Smith's big boats, Furness's photo saloon. Rifle and gun tubes by Wright, Dobson, and Ford, and varieties by Cordwell, Wright, and others.

John Whiting and the crowd of entertainers under his banner are now at Hightown after successful business at Poston.

Mr. Bransby Williams is this week resting with his family at his house at Selsey, on the Sussex coast. On the 28th he will sail with his wife on the s.s. Caronia from Liverpool for New York, where he is engaged to star in Dickens characters at a wonderful salary. The popular young actor has received offers to stay in the empire city for a year, but is returning in time to play a principal part in the Theatre Royal, Glasgow, pantomime. He has other offers under consideration—one of them being to star as leading actor in London—but his plans for next autumn are uncertain. Mr. Bransby Williams is naturally proud of the distinction of heading the poll in the election of the Committee of the Variety Artists' Federation.

Dr. Walford Bodie, the well known exponent of bloodless surgery, will open on Monday in London for a long season. Commencing at the Empire, Stratford, he will there present some new and startling experiments in electricity. Since he won his great victory at the Leeds Assizes he has been inundated with offers from all parts of the country and America. Mr. Macnaghten, ever up to date, has secured him for two weeks at Leeds.

Annersley and Newstead (the country of Lord Byron) was en fête last Saturday, when the annual carnival took place. In addition to the ordinary attractions a smart variety show was provided by the old-established Geo. Burton firm of caterers. The artists who took part being the Dunlops, trick cyclists; Mdlle. Lillian Sivado, a graceful trapeze artist; Mr. Billy Watson, negro humorist; Prof. De Lyle, ventriloquist; the Girardots, legmania artists; Yapp and Napp, pantomimists; Teddy Bedford, comedian and stage-manager; and the Hamiltons, two funny burlesque actors.

The programme at the Hippodrome, Stockton-on-Tees, includes G. Rousby's Electrical Review, which created hearty applause. Harry Brown with his catch phrase, "Is everybody happy?" soon caught on. Chard's dog circus is well worth seeing, and the Brothers Zampah, one-legged marvels, are very clever. Chummie La Mara, burlesque comedienne, Mulvey and Miriam (with their comedy act, In the Studio), Will Sergeant, vocalist, and the Sisters Redfern, dancers, etc., also contribute successful items.

Mr. Editor, Sir,—In your notice of the Alexandra Palace, you have omitted to mention the Royal Court Marionettes, who have performed regularly for seventeen weeks.—Yours, faithfully Harry Fanning, Alexandra Palace, N., August 15

JUST OUT.
AN IDEAL HOLIDAY BOOK.

"AN ACTRESS'S PILGRIMAGE,"
by INA ROZANT.
Dedicated by Special Permission to
MISS ELLEN TERRY.
Graphic. Racy. Humorous.
At all Booksellers and Bookstalls.
Price 1s. nét.

A brightly told account of what life is like in a touring company.—The Times.
Essentially a holiday book.—The Stage.
A bright little story to read on a holiday. The writer evidently knows the stage well.—Lloyd's.
Is without exception the most interesting and laughable book ever published on touring companies.—The Encore.
A lively, amusing, and faithful description of an actress's life on tour. A bright, humorous, and always readable little book, which is so light and cheerful as to be exactly suited for perusal on a sea-washed beach, or in the shade of a spreading tree.—Era.
The book is written in a bright and cheerful style, and is decidedly entertaining.—Scotsman.
To the general reader the book will be amusing because of the naive manner in which the troubles of the young actress are narrated. . . . There is quaintness in the fact that this record of a young actress's early struggles has been dedicated by permission to Miss Ellen Terry in the year of her Jubilee as an actress.—Dundee Advertiser.
This cleverly-written book is amply relieved by the comic and the ridiculous, and those who join the "actress" on her pilgrimage will not find their time wasted.—The Tatler.
Is written in a light, sparkling style. . . . It is just the sort of book for the theatre-going man or woman to pack into a bag or box for holiday reading.—Glasgow Herald.
One of the brightest and cleverest sketches which have appeared this season. It is an ideal book for holiday reading—giving a most interesting and realistic peep into the realities, half-comic, half-pathetic, of the queer world behind the stage. Its joys and its disappointments, its delights and its half ludicrous discomforts, are quite excellently depicted.—Morning Leader.
If it contains one feature more than another it is its extreme fidelity as a picture of theatrical life in what are known as "the smalls."—The Music Hall.

THE LAW OF COPYRIGHT FOR ACTOR AND COMPOSER.
BY ALBERT A. STRONG, LL.B.

"The Law of Copyright for Actor and Composer," by Albert A. Strong, LL.B., solicitor, author of "Dramatic and Musical Law" ("The Era" office), seems to be the one compendious and indispensable authority on the subject, as vexed as the "Bermoothes" and as tortuous as a Chancery suit, that has long been wanted. It is in every essential a text book for the perplexed layman, and no solicitor or barrister worth his salt ought to think of taking or appearing in "proceedings" without consulting its pages. It must suffice, after what has been said, to state little more than that the contents include five chapters, respectively named "Copyright as Opposed to Performing Right," "Performing Right," "Infringement and Remedies," "Musical Copyright," and "International and Colonial Copyright." The work, for all its precise authority, is not dry reading. The statutes, with the elucidatory notes, necessarily impose a task on the reader which takes some tackling, but they had to be there. The cases adduced, however, are full of interest. Certain of them might fitly find a place in the romance of copyright. There was the fight of Charles Reade with George Conquest over "It's Never Too Late to Mend," for instance, and the equally interesting conflict of Mr. J. A. Cave with Chatterton over "The Wandering Jew." The latter was a famous battle. Chatterton took it to the House of Lords, and was finally beaten, to the unspeakable relief of Mr. Cave, who is never weary of relating the story. Had the result been otherwise, it would have meant his ruin. I well remember meeting him on the day of his victory and "crashing a cup with him" in honour of the same. "The Law of Copyright" is dedicated to Mr. A. W. Pinero.—Sportsman.

Mr. A. A. Strong has published a book on "The Law of Copyright for Actor and Composer," which should be in the hands of everyone who is oblized to know about this perplexing subject. Dramatic copyright in England is in a particularly unsatisfactory state, and it is much to be hoped that ere long some more rational method of securing protection for a play may be devised than the slovenly and sometimes costly "production for copyright purposes," which is at present required.—St. James's Gazette.

THE ERA ANNUAL, 1906.
In "The Era" Annual (5, Tavistock-street, Strand, 1s.), Miss Vesta Tilley breaks into verse, and a score or more of her comrades of "the boards" try their hands at fiction. The result is entertaining, and as there is added a list of new plays and revivals during the past year, with other information, the annual is worth a place on the playgoer's bookshelves.—The Yorkshire Post

THE ERA

SATURDAY, AUGUST 18, 1906.

THE FORTUNES OF THEATRES.

The rumour that COLONEL HENRY MAPLESON has arrived in London as the representative of a Paris syndicate with a capital of £200,000 for the purpose of acquiring the London Coliseum, in order to present Grand Opera there all the year round at ordinary theatre prices, is, we hope, well founded. And we are much cheered by the statement that the Lyceum may be reopened early in October with high-class melodrama by Mr. GEORGE R. SIMS and Mr. ARTHUR SHIRLEY. The Coliseum, which was opened in the December of 1904, is one of the most elaborately arranged and sumptuously appointed variety theatres ever erected in London. Before completing the scheme of it, Mr. OSWALD STOLL and Mr. FRANK MATCHAM, the architect, paid a visit to the United States to see whether any ideas could be gleaned in New York, Chicago, or Boston. The Coliseum contains every contrivance hitherto invented for the comfort and convenience of an audience; and its acoustic properties are so good that it would make an admirable opera-house. The Lyceum, which was designed by Mr. BERTIE CREWE, is another example of the skill of the modern architect and of the degree to which the erection of luxurious "pleasure-houses" has been carried. The stage is one of the largest and most complete in the kingdom, being about 60ft. deep by 100ft. in width. The grid is some 60ft. above the stage, and the width between the steel flies is over 50ft. With its special contrivances for working the scenery with a minimum of hand labour, so that the most extensive and weighty "sets" can be dealt with in the least possible time, the Lyceum is admirably adapted for the production of spectacular plays and melodramas.

One of the peculiarities of the amusement business is the vicissitudes of fortune to which theatres are subject. The Lyceum Theatre, which was built—or rather rebuilt—in 1794 by ARNOLD, the composer, was in turns a school of eloquence, a concert-room, a Roman Catholic chapel, and the show-place of a white negro girl and a porcupine man. Later on it became the home of Madame TUSSAUD'S waxworks. Then it was known as the English Opera House, old ballad operas and musical farces being performed in it; and there MATHEWS the elder first appeared in his famous entertainment "Mathews at Home." But the associations of a theatre like this may almost be called fanciful; for, what with rebuildings and fires, the "genius of the place" has been subjected to so many disturbances that the spirit must have had a very uneasy time.

Generally speaking, the tendency of theatrical business is to "go West." Formerly, the Strand was the centre of theatreland. The Prince of Wales's, the Lyric, the Apollo, the Shaftesbury, the Criterion, and the Avenue are all of modern date. The influence of size and position—especially position—on the fortunes of a theatre is so great that not even the strongest attraction can do no more than galvanise a deserted house into a temporary vogue. A playhouse, to retain its popularity, must neither be too large nor too small, and had better be in a broad and well-frequented thoroughfare. Theatres in back streets out of the traffic have a great deal to contend with. The probability is that the mere view of the building taken by passers-by is a most valuable and almost necessary advertisement. The reason of the shifting of the zone of theatrical favour in a westerly direction seems to be the dependence of the modern manager on his stalls and dress-circle for support. Except when some extraordinary inducement is offered, "carriage people" do not care to explore the intricacies of the "back districts" in search of amusement. Indeed, the frequentation of certain fashionable playhouses by Society seems to be more or less a matter of habit.

An experienced theatrical manager once presented to us a whimsical argument against precautions against fire in theatres. He contended that in London, when a playhouse was burned down, no harm was done, for the fire always took place when the house was empty, and that good resulted from the number of playhouses being kept down. A theatre which has lost its vogue is indeed a very "white elephant." It cannot be used for any purpose but that of amusement. Even while it is empty it has to be kept in repair; and the occasional lettings to temporary tenants may not pay even a moderate interest on the original outlay. The burning down of Her Majesty's Theatre in 1867, when under Colonel J. H. MAPLESON'S management, is an interesting example of the vicissitudes to which theatrical management is subject. In the December of that year, during a rehearsal of Fidelio, the Colonel's insurance agent called to complete the insurance of the house. MAPLESON agreed to insure for £30,000; but, as the costumier's list was not at hand, and the costumier himself was out at dinner, the agent suggested that the manager should give him £10 "on account," and thus keep the matter open till the following Monday, when he—the agent—would call again. MAPLESON replied, jokingly, "There is no fear," and the agent left without the advance. At half-past eleven the same evening MAPLESON, who was dining in St. John's Wood, was called by an excited servant to look out of the window, and saw the sky red in the distance. Her Majesty's Theatre was on fire. The manager hurried to the scene of the conflagration, and found the house in full blaze. Without a moment's delay he despatched Mr. JARRETT, his acting-manager, to Mr. F. B. CHATTERTON, then the lessee of Drury Lane, to endeavour to secure that theatre from March till the end of July. It was of great importance that the emissary should reach CHATTERTON, who lived at Clapham, before that astute manager could learn of the fire; for, had he been aware of MAPLESON'S extremity, he would, of course, have raised his terms accordingly. On arriving at CHATTERTON'S house early in the morning, the first thing JARRETT saw, lying on a table in the hall, was a copy of that day's Times. On this he threw his overcoat, in order to hide the paper from view, and waited for the manager of Drury Lane to descend and receive him. Without appearing at all anxious, Mr. JARRETT quietly concluded an agreement by which MAPLESON secured the use of Drury Lane Theatre for the following spring and summer seasons, with a right to renew the occupation for future years. This document was in MAPLESON'S hands by nine o'clock, and it was not till half-past ten that CHATTERTON learnt of the fire. The Monday after, the insurance agent called on MAPLESON and offered him his sympathy, since, if the manager had paid down the £10 on account of the proposed insurance, he would have received a cheque for £30,000. MAPLESON replied that he was exceedingly glad that he had not paid the deposit, as he certainly would have been suspected of having set the theatre on fire, and should never again have been able to set himself right with the public.

A really well-built theatre, in a suitable locality, and furnished with all the latest improvements, is like desirable house-property; taking year by year, it is almost certain to let at a profit, or a purchaser can easily be found for it. This was shown in the case of the late R. D'OYLY CARTE'S Royal English Opera House, which, with its highly improved stage and elaborate cooling and heating apparatus, became such a fine theatre of varieties under the name of the Palace. It will be strange if the variety business returns the compliment, and the Coliseum, built as a music-hall, becomes a home of opera. And perhaps we may find at the Lyceum, which was built for variety entertainments, a repetition of the success which was won by superior melodrama under the WILSON BARRETT régime at the Princess's.

PRINTER'S DELIVERY.

In the Watford County Court on Monday was heard the case of David Allen and Sons v. Ganthony. This was a claim by the plaintiffs, a firm of printers at Harrow, against the defendant, Robert Ganthony, for £27 15s. 7d., for work done. There was a counter-claim for £30 for damages for delay.

Mr. G. H. Mallinson, barrister (instructed by Messrs. Camp and Ellis), was for the plaintiffs, and Mr. Pridham-Wippell, barrister, appeared for the defence.

Mr. Mallinson said the defendant was a public entertainer, and the account was for printing done by the plaintiffs, and sent to various towns to the defendant while on tour.

James Motherwell, assistant-manager to Messrs. David Allen and Sons, deposed that the defendant signed the contract for printing in his presence. In consequence of telegrams of complaint as to delay, witness went to Sidcup and saw the defendant. Other printing was despatched, and at a subsequent interview, when the account was discussed, defendant said he would pay when he got the royalties from a piece of which he was the author. Defendant made no demand for a rebate in consequence of delay. Defendant had never returned any of the printing supplied to him.

Cross-examined: It was not the custom of theatrical printers to have the printing despatched so that it was delivered at least ten days before the entertainment was to be given. If time was specified for delivery of the printing it was delivered accordingly. In witness's opinion, two or three days was sufficient notice of an entertainment. Witness had never heard that the defendant had to abandon his tour in consequence of the delay in the delivery of the printing. Witness denied that in July or August, 1905, Mr. Allen agreed to excuse him the amount owing providing he took no action and proceeded to have his printing done by the firm. Witness was not aware that the printing for the Sidcup show arrived only a day before the performance.

Re-examined: There was no suggestion at the interview in 1905 that the claim should be dropped.

Defendant, sworn, said that in August, 1901, he was engaged on a tour, which had started in June. The printing for the performance at Bexley, on Monday, Dec. 16, arrived on the afternoon of that day. The performance was not held because Mr. Searle, the advance agent, telegraphed that there had been no advertising. He took a few bills to Sidcup, for the performance there, which was to take place next night. These were the posters that Mr. Motherwell saw. He did not know when the printing for the Sutton performance arrived, but he knew it was too late to be of any use. The gross returns at Sidcup were £3 10s.; at Sutton they were about £2. He could not say what the receipts were at Epsom, but at any rate they were "rotten." (Laughter.). That summed up what he felt about it. At Caterham the tour had to be abandoned. Messrs. Allen and Company had everything to do with the abandonment of the tour. The printing did not arrive in time to advertise the entertainments. He had to engage two artists for Bexley and Sidcup. He paid them about £4 a week. His manager received about £2 5s. a week. The advance agent left in disgust, and he had to pay his manager to go down and take his place. He had to give them all notice, and he gave the manager £4 10s. in lieu of two weeks' notice. It was the custom in the profession to get the printing at least two weeks before the entertainments. At an interview with Mr. Motherwell, on Dec. 17, he put the blame of the failure at Bexley, and the non-success of the posters at Sidcup, on Messrs. David Allen and Sons. He never said that he proposed to say nothing about it and start afresh. At an interview with the plaintiffs, in July, 1901, they made an agreement to drop the whole matter, on condition that he let them have his printing in the future. It was not until four years afterwards that they discovered a certain clause in the contract.

Cross-examined: He never went to Bexley at all. He arrived at Sidcup about midday. He learnt that the printing had only just been put up. At Sutton, both from observation and what he was told, he found that the printing was not up. The plaintiffs did agree to let the printing account stand in abeyance if he let them have his printing orders in the future. That was in one of the several interviews that took place about July, 1901.

Bertram Knight, a theatrical manager, said it was the custom to deliver all dated printing from ten to fourteen days before the entertainments.

Counsel then addressed the Court on the question of the contract.

His Honour held that the contract was binding, and gave judgment for the plaintiffs on the claim with costs, and dismissed the counter-claim.

MR. EMILIUS HILL, manager of the Morecambe Central Pier, whose sudden indisposition was recorded last week, was able to resume business last Saturday. Strange to say, on Monday last Mr. Bayliss, the director of the orchestra at the same place, was compelled to temporarily retire through illness.

THE streets of Bath were enlivened on Wednesday by the parading of a finely appointed four-horse coach, the seats being occupied by Mr. Charles Schubert, the manager of the Palace, and the six Brothers Luck and other members engaged at that house this week.

MR. ALFRED BUTT is away on the Continent on a special mission to see a turn, and he will visit several leading variety houses in the search for new attractions.

MR. EDITOR.—Sir,—Your report of the Empire, Bradford, last week was a little misleading. The bill there was headed, not by the lady mentioned, but by—Yours faithfully, J. W. ROWLEY, 16, William-street, Bradford, Aug. 16.

THE MOODY-MANNERS OPERA COMPANY.

An excellent performance of Faust was given on Thursday, August 9, when a large and appreciative audience was present at the Lyric Theatre. Madame Fanny Moody, quite recovered from her recent indisposition, made a delightful Marguerite, and aided by that clever artist, Mr. Joseph O'Mara, who appeared as Faust, the music of the garden scene was splendidly rendered. Mr. Lewys James displayed his fine voice to great advantage in Valentine's air, and Mr. Charles Manners again proved his ability in the part of Mephistopheles. Signor Sapio conducted.

On Monday last Cavalleria Rusticana and Pagliacci were performed before a large audience. In Leoncavallo's opera Mr. Joseph O'Mara appeared for the first time this season as Canio, and achieved an undoubted success. Indeed, the great scena has never been more finely or dramatically sung, and Mr. O'Mara was received with unbounded enthusiasm, being recalled no less than six times. This fine artist, during the present season at the Lyric, has displayed such great gifts, both as vocalist and actor, that he may be called the Caruso of Mr. Manners' company. The rest of the cast in Pagliacci were the same as on former occasions Mr. William Dever making a capital Tonio, and Mr. Lewys James a most excellent exponent of Silvio's music. Miss Ethel Cadman proved very attractive and charming as the inconstant Nedda, and Mr. Brodo gave importance to the small part of Beppo, his singing of the serenade in the play scene being most effective.

Mascagni's Cavalleria Rusticana contained some noteworthy features. Miss Toni Seiter, in her impersonation of the unhappy Santuzza, gave ample proof of her gifts as an actress, and Mr. John Child, a most useful member of the company, proved a vigorous Turiddu, the drinking song being sung with great spirit. Mr. Marshall Vincent made a picturesque Alfio, and in the duet with Santuzza sang with appropriate passion and intensity. Miss Cadman was the Lola and Miss Arnold the Lucia. The chorus, as usual, was excellent, both in animation and singing.

Signor Sapio admirably conducted both operas.

Faust was again performed at the Lyric on Tuesday before a full house. The cast included Mr. Wilson Pembroke, who filled the title-rôle in a thoroughly refined and artistic manner, gaining hearty applause for his graceful singing of the solo, "Hail! dwelling, pure and holy," the Salve dimora of the Italian version. Mr. Pembroke was also very effective in his duets with Marguerita, impersonated on this occasion by that gifted artist, Madame De Vere, who, in her share of the lovely music of the garden scene and the brilliant "Jewel" song, acquitted herself admirably. Mr. Charles Manners again gave us his skilful and popular reading of Mephistopheles, while Mr. Marshall Vincent sang Valentine's air, "Even bravest heart," with much expression, and acted in a manly and intelligent style. Miss Mildred Bryan's Siebel may be highly commended, and the part of Martha was most satisfactorily filled by Miss Maud Baker. The lively music of the Kermesse scene was capitally sung by the clever chorus, and the delightful ballet given with spirit and animation. The orchestra was conducted with care and discretion by Mr. Harrison Frewin.

Verdi's Il Trovatore was given on Wednesday night, and attracted a large audience. Mme. De Vere made a striking Leonora, attacking the florid music of the part with considerable success, besides acting with freedom and originality this somewhat conventional character. Mr. Joseph O'Mara, as might be expected, sang the music of Manrico beautifully, his fervent rendering of the air "Ah! sight of horror" in the second scene of the third act resulting in a most enthusiastic encore, and after the curtain fell the distinguished Irish tenor had to appear many times in answer to the long continued applause. It was also due to his efforts and those of Madame De Vere that so fine a performance of the Miserere scene was secured that its repetition had to be granted. Miss Toni Seiter as Azncena greatly distinguished herself, amply compensating for any slight lack of vocal power by her really fine and dramatic acting; her singing of the duet "Home to the Mountains" with Mr. O'Mara in the last act may also be warmly commended. Mr. William Dever proved an effective Count di Luna, singing and acting with good expression and vigour; and the smaller parts of Ferrando and Inez were well undertaken by Mr. Marshall Vincent and Miss Rigby. The scenic effects were capitally managed, the costumes handsome, and the chorus singing excellent; while Mr. Harrison Frewin's unremitting care secured a good ensemble from the orchestra.

In the afternoon Wagner's Tannhauser was performed before a well-filled house. Mme. Fanny Moody and Mr. Wilson Pembroke were in the principal parts, Mr. Lewys James making a capital Wolfram, and Mr. C. Magrath a dignified Landgrave. The chorus sang with splendid effect, and the orchestra greatly distinguished themselves under the bâton of Herr Richard Eckhold.

Mozart's opera, The Marriage of Figaro, was performed on Thursday evening, August 16, with the sparkle and finish Mozart's work demands. To many old opera-goers among the audience the excellent performance on Thursday must have revived pleasant memories of the past, when such great artists as Trebelli, Scalchi, Cologni, Titiens, and our own fine baritone, Mr. Santley, were heard in this delightful opera. The cast could hardly have been better. Madame Fanny Moody made an ideal Susanna. Her demure, yet impudent, acting in her scenes with the Count and Figaro deserve the very highest praise; while, needless to remark, the music was admirably sung; in particular the really exquisite singing of the latter duet between Madame Moody and Miss Lucy Lever in the third act calls for special comment. The Figaro of Mr. Lewys James could hardly have been improved upon, this clever artist giving such vivacity and life to the character; while as Dr. Bartelo, Mr. Charles Magrath revealed unexpected and most welcome humour. Mr. Frederick Erle as Count Almaviva proved a valuable member of the company; he has a fine stage presence, and shows no little ability as an actor. So quaint and grotesque was the make-up of Mr. H. Bailey as Don Basilio that a ripple of merriment greeted his first appearance. Mr. Bailey, while making the part full of unctious drollery, just stopped short of buffoonery. Miss Rosina Beynon made a delightful Cherubino; at first Miss Beynon was slightly nervous, but she quickly recovered, and sang her solo in the second act with much charm, besides acting throughout in a most sprightly and artistic manner. We must, however, take some exception to her sombre black costume. If anyone ought to wear bright colours, it is certainly Cherubino. Miss Lucy Lever was very attractive as the Countess, and even the smaller parts of Antonio, Marcellina, and Barbarina were undertaken by Mr. Alexander, Miss M. Baker, and Miss M. Carter, with the same care and intelligence as the principal rôles. The opera was most handsomely mounted, and the admirable singing of the chorus evidently showed that the utmost care had been taken in the matter of rehearsals. The performance of Mozart's lovely opera is indeed another feather in the cap of the Moody-Manners Company in their all too short season at the Lyric. In accordance with the composer's instructions, the orchestra consisted of only 24 performers, and Herr Eckhold secured an excellent performance.

"THE DANDY DETECTIVE."

A New Dramatic Sketch, in Three Scenes, by C. Douglas Carlile, produced at Sadler's Wells Theatre, on Monday, Aug. 13.

Kit Carson ..... MR. C. DOUGLAS CARLILE
Rev. Tobias ..... MR. KIT CARSON
Ikey Mo .....
Risque Lincoln ..... MR. CHAS. A. CARLILE
Yaller Jack ..... MR. A. WHITTAKER
Steve ..... MR. J. MANTON
Abe ..... MR. B. JOHNS
Patch ..... MR. LEE GILBERT
Tess Lincoln ..... MISS CARLOTTA DE YONSON

Mr. C. Douglas Carlile has enhanced his reputation as a writer of sensational sketches with his latest playlet, seen for the first time this week at Sadler's Wells, and he has also given Miss Carlotta de Yonson an opportunity of displaying her talents in a character which is quite distinct from many others she has previously assumed. The scenes in The Dandy Detective appear to be laid in North America. Kit Carson, a detective, is on the track of two notorious ruffians, Risque Lincoln and Yaller Jack, who have committed various crimes. The opening scene shows Mother Brady's drinking saloon, where Lincoln and his gang are gathered together. They are well aware that they are being hunted by the officers of the law, and how to evade the latter is the absorbing problem which is perturbing their minds. At a signal of danger, they quit the saloon, and Carson, with his men, enter, only to find a girl, Tess Lincoln, who is described as "the dandy's pal." Failing in their search, the police leave, one of their number, a mere boy, being secreted behind the bar to take note of anything that happens. Lincoln and Yaller Jack return, the lad is discovered, and is only saved from brutal treatment by the intervention of Tess, whose revolver, however, is snatched away from her. Things look very bad indeed for the boy and the girl, until the appearance of the Rev. Tobias, who proves a bit too handy with his fists for at least two members of the fraternity who test his skill. There is a general uproar, during which the identity of the Rev. Tobias, alias Kit Carson, is revealed. In the following scene a plot is laid for the destruction of the detective. Tess, who is really in love with him, is induced under a subterfuge invented by Lincoln (supposed to be her father) to write a letter to Kit asking him to meet her at the saloon at a certain time. Immediately after penning the note she is bound fast to a chair. Kit has been near at hand all the while, and when the ruffians once more decamp he rescues the girl. Dynamite has in the meantime been placed in the cellars with the idea of blowing up the shanty on the arrival of the dectective and his force. Kit has arranged with his men to rush into the place immediately they see a lamp held to the window twice, and while he is discussing this plan with Tess the band of rogues re-enter and overpower him and the girl, Kit being secured by ropes to the window-post. The dandy detective, in spite of his apparent peril, jeers at Lincoln, and prophesies that that worthy will himself give the signal which will bring about the release of the lovers. Not quite realising what is meant by this statement, Lincoln goes to the window and examines his prisoner with the lamp, which is just what Kit desires him to do. A few minutes later the detective is set free by one of his men, the scheme to destroy the building by dynamite is frustrated, Lincoln is despatched with a bullet, and the other members of his gang are arrested. Tess proves to be the daughter of an old detective who was formerly Kit's chief, and Cupid smiles with the fall of the curtain.

The piece is played throughout with fine spirit and dash. Miss Carlotta de Yonson, as the ill-treated Tess, who remains faithful in trying circumstances to her detective lover, acts with expression and feeling, and wins the sympathy of the audience for a very intelligent and pleasing characterisation. In the part of Kit Carson Mr. C. Douglas Carlile demonstrates his versatility. At one time he is the well-groomed, dandy, but resolute and plucky police officer, at another a parson of manner meek and mild and speech effeminate, and at another still an artful, money-grubbing, shuffling old "sheeny." Mr. Charles A. Carlile submits an admirable study of a bullying, hesitate-at-nothing ruffian, and the latter's villainous pal, Yaller Jack, has a commendable impersonator in Mr. A. Whittaker. Praiseworthy, too, is Mr. Lee Gilbert's representation of Patch.

AT the London meeting of the International Artists' Lodge on Sunday, Brother 876 was elected to the chair. In reference to the Alien Bill, concerning which the secretary had written to the New York meeting on July 3rd, a letter was read in reply from Bro. Willy Zimmerman, who had referred the matter to the New York solicitor to the League. This gentleman in his communication culled the following extract of the law on the subject:—"The provision of this law applicable to labour contracts shall not be held to exclude professional actors, artists, lecturers, singers, ministers of any religious denomination, professors for colleges or seminaries, persons belonging to any recognised learned profession, or persons employed directly as personal or domestic servants." It was suggested by the members of the meeting that a special note should be made of this report.

THERE was a letter received from Collins and Hart with reference to their case with Messrs. Cadle Bros., in which they agreed to the terms of arbitration. It was proposed and passed by the meeting that Bro. 1359 should be the representative of the I.A.L., and the secretary was instructed to communicate the decision to Messrs. Cadle.

MR. FRANK GERALD, manager of the V.A.F., was present, and a discussion took place with reference to the affiliation of the I.A.L. and the V.A.F. It was unanimously agreed that an executive committee meeting of the I.A.L. and the V.A.F. should be held next Sunday after the I.A.L. meeting, at 8.30, at the Sovereign, Upper St. Martin's-lane, to discuss special points with regard to the affiliation of the I.A.L. and the V.A.F.

WATER pantomime has a cooling sound during a heat wave, and one of the most seasonable attractions ever presented to a fun-loving public is to be found in Darrell's "Walrus Hunt." In this, ten comic artists, with boats, and amusing accessories, are employed. The "tusker," we may add, has a most exhilarating time, and is quite a whimsical amphibian.

IN another column will be found a letter from the mother of Miss Rosée Heath, who has again developed distressing symptoms of mental disorder. Miss Heath was pursuing a most successful career as a comedienne, when her mind gave way, and older music-hall frequenters will remember her delightful turn at the Empire, the London Pavilion, and other leading halls twenty years ago. She was one of the most fascinating dancers of her time. One of her last engagements was in pantomime at Brighton.

MR. EDITOR.—Sir, In your notice this week of the Richmond Theatre, you mention the Sisters Charnley. This is not correct; it should have been—Yours faithfully, SISTERS BRONSON.

VARIETY GOSSIP.

Mr. David Day is so elated at the success which has attended Mr. T. P. O'Connor's efforts in securing the rights of musical publishers against the gutter pirates that he is exhibiting a fine picture of the popular M.P. in the window of the Charing Cross establishment. The picture is inscribed "T. P. O'Connor, Esq., M.P., Champion of the Musical Copyright Act."

Mr. Harry Rickards has deposited the necessary £500 and entered an appeal against the decision of the judge in the action Glinseretti v. Rickards, in which damages were given against the Australian entrepreneur. The appeal can scarcely be reached before November.

Some three weeks ago Colonel Henry Mapleson, the president of the International Society of Music, which has its headquarters in Paris, offered, it is authoritatively stated, £160,000 for the London Coliseum, with the idea of turning it into an opera house. The liquidators of the Coliseum Company, Messrs. Gillespie Brothers and Co., are not in the position to say whether Colonel Mapleson's offer will be accepted or not, but as the house cost £300,000 to build, it seems inadequate.

Miss Ada Reeve will make her re-appearance on the variety stage, after a prolonged absence, opening at the Tivoli on Monday. Miss Reeve, who has just returned from her most successful tour in S. Africa, where she was engaged at the largest salary ever paid to any music-hall artist, has two excellent songs, viz., "If the world were ruled by girls," and "Auntie sent me marketing," together with another, the title of which is at present a secret, but which promises to fetch all London.

Mr. Fred Wright, jun., a member of the celebrated family of comedians, will make his appearance at the Palace on Monday next, when one of his items will be a new song in the character of a Chinaman. He has just finished an engagement as Wun-Hi, the irrepressible Celestial in Mr. George Edwardes's sumptuous revival of The Geisha at Daly's, which has now run its course.

Mr. Fred Trussell, the genial manager of the London Hippodrome, is about to take a well-deserved holiday. On Wednesday next, Aug. 22, he will embark for foreign climes on board the good ship Zweena from the Morocco Wharf, London. On the evening of that date, and henceforward—seeing that the vessel is owned by the Forward Brothers—Mr. and Mrs. Trussell will weeks.

In the interim, at ports of call, such as Gibraltar, Tangiers, and delightful places of interest like Las Palmas, Teneriffe, Madeira, and other towns on the Moroccan sea-board, the popular "Frederick" will employ his time at photography. By the way, he is well known as a capital amateur photographer. We shall probably, therefore, have the pleasure of seeing his efforts in most of the big illustrated papers, for rumour has it that he holds roving commissions from not a few.

Among other notable journeys that Mr. Trussell has made in the course of his eventful career (some for pleasure, some for business) have been those to Algiers, Tunis, Tripoli, and through the Sahara: to say nothing of the whole of the Continent of Europe. An interesting point about his largest journey is his desire to gain an insight into the mysteries of Eastern music (?). We may also expect a very interesting account of his experiments on board with his own sextant, as he is very keen on teaching himself navigation; "Bon Voyage," and all good wishes.

Mr. Alfred Richards, who has been selected by the directors of the Oxford for the post of assistant-manager to Mr. Blyth Pratt, has had a large and varied experience as an entertainer, both on the concert and operatic stage. He was very popular in Australia and New Zealand before he set sail for this country in 1901. "Down under," he played several of the tenor rôles in Gilbert and Sullivan operas, and sang both at concerts and oratorios. On his arrival in London he found much favour on the concert platform, where his artistic singing gave very much pleasure.

Since Miss Kitty Loftus appeared at the London Pavilion last November Messrs. Hyman have never ceased offering that accomplished little lady a highly remunerative contract to appear at their new Empire Theatre at Johannesburg. At last by dint of persuasion, and just a few thousands by way of salary, she has agreed to sail by the Kenilworth Castle on Saturday next, Aug. 25. Messrs. Hyman consider that Miss Loftus's charm and personality will prove so attractive to Rand audiences that they will be well rewarded for the enormous terms they are giving her. She leaves London with some exquisite costumes from Paris, excellent songs by some of our best lyrical writers and composers, and with letters of introduction to folk whose names are well known in the best set. We heartily wish Miss Kitty Loftus a big success, both artistically and socially. She hopes to return to London early in December to produce a fairy play, or to appear at some of our west-end halls.

The Terriers' second river outing of the season will take place on Sunday, the 26th inst. The party will "train" from Waterloo to Hampton Court, afterwards going up the river on a launch to Old Windsor, where sports will be held. Early application for tickets is necessary, and should be made to the secretary, Mr. Harry Lester.

Mr. Frank Glenister is holiday making at mirthful Margate, and Mr. Joseph Wilson is enjoying the quiet of the country near the sleepy old town of Bridport, being the guest of Mr. Wilfred Cotton and Miss Ada Reeve (Mrs. Cotton) at their pretty place at Chideock.

The two McNaughtons and charming Miss Alice Lloyd will be in pantomime this coming Christmas at the Crown, Peckham. The sprightly Tom will, for the first time, essay a "dame" part, being cast for Mother Goose, and the burly Fred will portray her anæmic son. Miss Alice Lloyd will enact Jill. At the close of the pantomime season they will proceed to New York for eight weeks, opening at the Colonial Theatre. The Moss and Stoll tour will follow, and later pantomime at the Borough, Stratford, where the popular brothers will take the Ruffians in The Babes in the Wood.

Mr. Charles Bertram, who has been re-engaged for another week at the Crystal Palace in consequence of his great success, performed for the first time before the Prince of Wales (now the King) in 1881. Altogether he has given his show before His Royal Highness about twenty-three times. He has also charmed the German Empress, the President of the French Republic, the Shah, Cetewayo, the Rothschilds, and, indeed, all the crowned heads in Europe have nodded with pleasure to him. He tells a funny story about one of the young princes. On one occasion he was performing at Sandringham. In one of his tricks he produces what appears to be heavy weights, each of fifty-six pounds. When he had finished the entertainment, the children who were present were very keen upon examining all the apparatus used by the conjurer. Much to everyone's amusement one of the little princes, who was then in short skirts, was seen to be quietly toddling off with a 56-pound weight in each hand, so that Mr. Bertram, therefore, for once in his life, must have absolutely tried to deceive his audience.

Mr. B. G. Maclachlan, who has been manager of the Glasgow Coliseum since it opened, and has made many friends in that city, leaves this week to take up his new duties as manager of the Shepherd's Bush Empire, to which he has been transferred by Mr. Oswald Stoll. Mr. Harry Burdette, assistant-manager at the Coliseum, now assumes full command of this large and important Glasgow variety theatre

We understand negotiations are in progress between local landowners and a theatrical syndicate with a view to obtain a suitable site for the erection of a first-class music hall at Devonport. The continued success of the new Palace of Varieties at Plymouth has doubtless been the cause of the projected scheme and bearing in mind the fact that the Palace owes a great deal of its support to the naval element hailing from Devonport, there seems no reason to doubt that the venture should meet with success. Plymouth, Stonehouse, and Devonport, the "Three Towns" as they are locally named, have an aggregate population of nearly a quarter of a million.

Smart repartee is always appreciated by a variety audience, and a reply given by Datas at the Palace, Plymouth, last week, was greatly appreciated. Datas was giving with his customary ability the dates of obscure events when an occupant of a box, attempting to be funny, asked the date of Bill Bailey's birthday. He little expected the prompt and crushing retort, "The first of April, sir, same date as your own." Exit questioner.

The Tivoli, South Shields, though only a small house, has been one of the most successful in the North, and has completed three years without a break, not even closing during the height of the summer season. The place is now undergoing an entire renovation, and will close for two weeks, reopening on Monday, September 3rd, for its fourth year, under the general management of Mr. Harry Burns.

The staff of the Birmingham Hippodrome had a most enjoyable day's outing on Sunday at Bidford-on-Avon, where Mr. P. D. Elbourne, the resident-manager, entertained a party numbering fifty-five to dinner and tea at the White Lion. The weather, albeit at times threatening, proved entirely favourable, and a cricket match in the morning, and a stroll to Cleeve Mill and the adjacent beautiful weir in the afternoon were heartily enjoyed. At the dinner, Mr. P. D. Elbourne proposed the toast of "Barrasford's Hippodrome," and the "Health of Mr. Elbourne," was proposed by Mr. Fred Homer, who referred in felicitous terms to Mr. Elbourne's recent marriage. Mrs. Elbourne graced the proceedings, and among others present were Mrs. F. Homer, Mrs. E. Homer, the Misses Homer, Mr. J. Leishmann (stage-manager), Mr. W. Crabtree (musical-director), and Messrs. L. C. Lax and E. Homer. After an ample tea, the party returned to Birmingham.

Mr. George Harrop, the enterprising manager of the Blackpool Tower and Palace, has just accomplished one of the biggest things on record in the way of mural advertising. It takes the form of a mammoth handpainted poster, detailing this week's attractions at the Palace. It is to be seen on the great hoarding opposite the Wellington Hotel. It is 55ft. high by 24ft. deep. The representation of the nude figure of Hackenschmidt stands 22ft. high, or over three and a half times as high as an ordinary six-foot man. Hackenschmidt, however, stands only 5ft. 9in. high, so that the picture is four times the size of the original. And yet some of the ladies amongst the thousands who have admired the poster have asked if the great wrestler was as big as that! The poster was designed by the Tower Company.

The first two performances of The Catch of the Season at Her Majesty's Opera House, Blackpool, last week, were conducted by Mr. Carl Kiefert, late chef d'orchestre of the London Hippodrome, who came down especially for this purpose. It is interesting to note that Mr. Kiefert renewed old associations in Blackpool, as he was a member of the Winter Gardens orchestra in 1880, since which period the Opera House has been built, and Mr. Kiefert would observe many other improvements in Lancashire's great seaside resort in the last quarter of a century.

There is no doubt about the Southampton Hippodrome having caught on with the local public, and as predicted at the outset it has become the family resort and most popular place of entertainment in the town. The attendances last week established a record—no fewer than 17,000 persons paying for admission in spite of the terrific heat. Mr. George Gray and his Fighting Parson sketch were in a great measure responsible for this satisfactory state of things—although the entire company was an admirable one. Excellent talent is supplied each week by the London management, Messrs. F. Mouillot, W. de Frece, and J. de Frece, and this is supervised locally by Mr. Sydney Paxton, the astute district manager, and Mr. Harold P. Howell, the courteous acting-manager of the "Hippo," who are always on the spot and do their utmost to study the comfort of their patrons

Mr. E. H. Bostock has sustained a severe loss at the Zoo, Glasgow. The giraffe is no more. While adjusting its great legs on Tuesday night, preparatory to taking a well-earned rest, it unfortunately pushed one of them through the wire screen in front and broke the limb. Professor M'Call was summoned, but he could do nothing for the poor brute, and it had to be destroyed. It cost Mr. Bostock £600 to purchase the giraffe in Central Africa and convey it to Glasgow. It was a stately, docile animal, and will be greatly missed by visitors to the Zoo.

Mr. George Saphrini reopened the Palace, Boston, for the season last Monday, and hundreds were unable to gain admission to witness one of the finest programmes ever submitted to a Boston audience, Miss Ella's lions being the special feature. During the vacation several improvements have been made, including a large new stage and new scenery.

The benefit to Mr. Harry Gold, proprietor of the Margate Pierrots, which took place on Margate Sands on Wednesday, was honoured by the presence of Miss Kate Carney, Miss Marie Kendall, Mr. Steve McCarthy, Mr. Chas. Austin, Mr. Will Johnson, Mr. Will Driscoll, Messrs. Johnson and Bert, and many other well-known artists. It may be mentioned that the benefit beat all previous records.

The action brought by J. H. Wood against Mr. Winder, the father of Bertha Winder, for the recovery of the ladies' jewelled champion belt was tried before Judge Parry, in the County Court, Manchester, on July 24. The judge gave an order for the delivery of the belt to J. H. Wood within seven days, with costs. The belt has now been delivered to Messrs. Salomonton and Smith, solicitors, and will be put up again for competition as soon as arrangements are completed. Mr. J. H. Wood, who is at present an inmate of the Christie Cancer Hospital, Manchester, during his active career as a caterer has organised more dancing competitions than any man living, and the rattle of the clogs is familiar music to his ears. In the Midlands, in the north, and in London he has been the prime mover in many of the most interesting contests, and a few years since he did much to revive the love of the clang of the wooden shoon in town. We regret to hear of his illness, and hope that the skilful treatment he is undergoing may be successful.

The Empire, Camberwell, as the old Metropole is now called, is to start on its variety career on the twice-nightly plan on Monday, Sept. 3. Mr. Jesse Sparrow is the managing-director, and under his management the house has been entirely remodelled, renovated, and decorated. Mr. Sparrow's arrangement and organisation of variety entertainments began more than thirty years back, when his Saturday night concerts at the Shoreditch Town Hall became celebrated. He has had much to do with music-hall enterprise in South London, where he has managed the Grand, Clapham, and the Camberwell Palace. The scenery for the newly-established Empire is to be painted by Mr. Richard Douglass—an excellent choice.

The Universal Dramatic and Variety Agency is the latest firm established to represent variety artists. It is directed by Mr. Jesse Sparrow and Mr. Harry Bawn. Neither gentleman needs any introduction to our readers. Mr. Sparrow's experience, acumen, and sound judgment have received tribute in the way of important positions at the head of variety enterprises, which he has filled with unvarying success. Mr. Bawn, in addition to an excellent early business training, has been both artist and manager, and is alert and up to date in every particular.

Mr. Harry Lauder, the well-known Glasgow comedian, came on late at the Tivoli on Monday, sang his popular song, "Ma Scotch Bluebell," and returned to the wings. The large audience waited for a time, then, in response to insistent demands for another song, Mr. James Howell came upon the stage and claimed the indulgence of the audience, explaining that Mr. Lauder had left the house after refusing to sing another song. Unfortunately, as Mr. Lauder is allowed twenty minutes, the following turn had not arrived, so that the wait had to be filled up by the band—by no means a hardship, when one considers the excellence of Mr. Louis Reeder's combination.

Mr. Lewin Harrington, a Walworth-road coster, has a curious hobby. For two years past, in the intervals between visiting Covent Garden Market and selling fruit from his barrow in the neighbourhood of Camberwell Gate, he has trained a troupe of girls to dance. All his savings he spent on buying dresses for them, and at last succeeded in getting his team a week's engagement at the Montpelier, a small music hall in the locality. There they were seen by a representative of Moss' Empires, and so good were they that a week's engagement was given them at the Camberwell Palace, to commence on Monday next, where they will appear as the Primrose Girls. Mr. Harrington has spent over £80 on dresses, music, and incidentals connected with his troupe of "cyclone dancers."

Mr. Charles Day, eldest son of Mr. David Day, was married on Tuesday at Manchester, the bride being Miss Mary Brady, the only daughter of Mr. Thomas Brady, of Birch, Manchester. The ceremony, which took place at Saint Agnes's Church, Birch, was performed by the Rev. H. Norburn, who delivered a very impressive address. Quite a number of congratulatory letters and telegrams were received in the course of the day by the happy couple, and during the wedding breakfast a cable was handed in from far-off New York, bearing best wishes from Mr. Fred Day (the bridegroom's brother), Mr. William Francis, jun., and Mr. Percy West, an old school fellow. A letter from Mr. Fred Day, who, as is well known, is manager of the New York branch of the famous firm, further stated that he had been fortunate enough to secure the services of Messrs. Jerome and Schwartz, the most renowned team of song writers in the States, and, strange to relate, the very first songs they had written for the house were entitled "Sweet Anastasia Brady" and "Float me, Charlie." This was somewhat remarkable, the bride's maiden name being Brady.

Mr. and Mrs. Charles Day were the recipients of handsome presents from, among others, Mr. Thomas Brady, the bride's father, Mr. and Mrs. Geo. Brady and family, Mr. and Mrs. David Day and daughter, Mr. and Mrs. William Francis, Mr. and Mrs. Harry Hunter, Mr. and Mrs. Leslie Stuart, Mr. and Mrs. Lester Barrett, Mr. and Mrs. John Smith and family, Mr. Charles Plucknett and family, Mr. W. Eyke, Mr. Sam Anderson, and Mr. John Lee.

The combined staffs of Messrs. Francis, Day, and Hunter's Charing Cross Road and Denmark Street establishments, presented Mr. Charles Day with a handsome writing set in oak and silver, a fine example of the workmanship of the famous firm of Messrs. Mappin and Webb. Mr. Charles Day, as is known to most of the profession, has resided in Manchester for some time past, and his music warehouse in Gare Street, Piccadilly, is ever the resort of the innumerable artists visiting Cottonopolis.

Mr. Lawrence Barclay, many will be pleased to learn, has again won the Cup, presented by Col. W. Kenyon Mitford, C.M.G., for being the best "turned-out" trooper in the Middlesex Imperial Yeomanry. This makes the second time in succession that the popular young variety comedian has secured the coveted honour. It has never been done before in the M.I.Y.; so that Trooper Barclay has created a record to be proud of.

The employees of a well-known firm of music printers on Saturday last were returning to Southend railway station, on the occasion of their annual dinner and outing, when they were asked with much persistence by a hawker to buy pirated copies of "In the shade of the old apple tree," The Catch of the Season selection, and various other copyright works, the property of Messrs. Francis, Day, and Hunter, at the low price of twopence each. The music printers, having in mind the many good turns the pirates had done them, immediately "eased" the man of two hundred copies or thereabouts in a manner not at all appreciated by the vendor. As one of the parties expressed himself later, it was a finishing touch to a happy day and a happening worthy of the occasion.

The small son of a well-known comedian gave a remarkably smart reply to a question from his Sunday school teacher a short time since. "Now, Johnnie," said the teacher, "can you tell me the difference between the quick and the dead?" "Yes, miss," replied the young hopeful; "the quick is them as gets out of the way of motor-cars, and the dead is them as doesn't." The vicar, who happened to overhear the answer, left the room hurriedly to hide his laughter.

Jem Mace, the old-time ex-champion in the noble art, is this week to be seen at the Queen's, Poplar, in a little scena written by Mr. Jack Woolf, the popular manager of the hall. Mr. Mace, who is exhibiting his belts, cups, trophies, medals, and prizes, is nightly introduced by Mr. Harry Bristow.

The Metropolitan and Middlesex staffs take their respective outings to-morrow.

Mr. John L. Shine must have been puzzled on Monday night at the Metropolitan at the ripple of laughter which was evoked when in "Hogmany" he began the most serious speech in the admired play act, the speech in which he tells of his sad love and episode of years before and which commences with the words "'Tis years and years ago." The fact was that several turns prior Mr. Harry Lauder had used the same words at the commencement of each verse of his new song "We Parted on the Shore," and both artists delivering the words in broad Scotch caused the merriment.

The residents of Reading and the district will be delighted to learn that all arrangements are now complete for the erection of a Hippodrome to accommodate 1,500 persons. The occupants of the house will have an unobstructed view of the stage from any portion of the auditorium, and a special feature is the provision of a comfortable seat for each person in every part. The complete plans have been accepted and passed by the Borough Council, and a certificate was granted for the erection of the Hippodrome on the 14th of March last.

The plans, prepared by a well-known firm of London architects, include a basement floor, containing stage machinery, spacious green room, boiler room, extra dressing-rooms, etc. On the ground floor will be comfortable and elegantly-upholstered stalls, in front of a commodious pit. The stage will be large and fitted with a scene dock. There will be a handsome vestibule, and four large shops will flank either side of the main entrance. The grand circle floor will embrace circle, refreshment bar and lounge, manager's offices, etc., and there will be a large gallery above. Between the circle and the gallery floors there will be a small mezzanine floor introduced, containing foyer and refreshment-room.

The general decorations will be carried out in an artistic style, and the whole of the furnishing and upholstery will be up to date and sumptuous. The whole of the building will be electrically lighted, and will be constructed of fire-resisting material. Handsome fittings have been designed to correspond with the decorations. The proscenium opening measures 28 feet, with a depth of 30 feet, there also will be a specially-constructed room for the safe working of the cinématograph apparatus.

The house is to be built on what is practically an island site, and will be within a few minutes' walk of the G.W.R. and L. and S.W.R. and S.E. and Chatham Railway Stations and on the main tram route, almost in the immediate centre of the town, with a frontage of 112 feet in Caversham-road. The public will be provided with an excellent variety programme of the highest possible character, and a valuable feature will be that the children of all classes in the neighbourhood will be specially catered for at the weekly matinée. Special railway arrangements for late trains and cheap tickets will also be in operation.

Rougemont, with his turtle-swimming act, has proved a great draw at the Liverpool Olympia, a packed audience being present twice nightly. The turtle, weighing about 2cwt., with which he opened on Monday, died on Wednesday night, but another, and far larger, was speedily ordered from London. This is the second turtle, one expiring in Manchester last week, that has been lost. Rougemont states that he has had a turtle weighing 1,000 pounds captured abroad, and that on it he intends to cross from Calais to Dover.

"Le Domino Rouge" will make her first appearance in this country at the Palace Theatre on Monday. Disguised by a red domino, showing a coronet over the left eye, this artist has hitherto successfully mystified the public as to her identity, and the pertinacity with which the fair incognita has clung to her cognomen has prompted the description of "Miss Nobody from Nowhere." In Paris and America, "Le Domino Rouge" has made a big success with her novel dancing act. Aided by countless mirrors, and further assisted by a number of dancers, it will be found that her mirror dance is one of the most sensational that has been seen in England for many years.

Oscar Hammerstein, the well-known American impresario, recently made a statement in the New York Press that he knows who "Le Domino Rouge" really is, and offers to pay her £100 per week to appear as première danseuse in his Manhattan grand opera, which is to be produced next November. Mr. Hammerstein also offers to pay £200 if he is not correct in his surmises, on the understanding that Le Domino Rouge accepts his offer and returns to America unmasked. It is understood that this offer has been accepted.

Mr. Russell Wallett, the well-known "Lady in Black," was unable to appear at the Tivoli, the Empress, or the Grand, Clapham, at the beginning of last week, owing to an attack of ptomaine poisoning, which confined him to his bed for the rest of the week. He was fortunately able to reappear on Monday at the Tivoli and elsewhere, with his usual success.

Miss Ethel Ra Leslie, we are sorry to learn, was taken suddenly ill on Sunday night, the 12th inst., and was unable to fulfil her engagement at the Empire, Burnley, this week. We sincerely wish Miss Ra Leslie a speedy recovery.

In delightful weather the staff of the Manchester Hippodrome held their second annual picnic at Chester last Sunday. After spending a pleasant time seeing the sights of the ancient city, the party adjourned to the Queen's Head Hotel for dinner, under the presidency of Mr. E. P. Morgan, the genial manager. The outing was an entire success, thanks in a great way to Mr. C. E. Burnell, the assistant manager, who acted as treasurer, and Messrs. Harry Denvil and H Graham, the hon. secretaries.

In conjunction with Mr. Walter Booth, the well-known illusionist, Mr. Frederic Cull-Pitt is producing at the Standard, Pimlico, on Aug. 27, an entirely new and original act of illusions and prestidigitation. The effects to be produced are novel and up-to-date in treatment and conception, and will be presented by Mr. Booth, Mdlle. Adele, Mr. Cull-Pitt, and a full company of assistants.

H. B. Marinelli, who has just returned from America on the s.s Kaiser Wilhelm der Grosse, has secured several big acts on the other side, which he will import into Europe for the forthcoming season. In exchange, he has booked quite a number of our English stars to appear over there. He has also made special arrangements concerning the bookings of the New York Hippodrome, as well as partly accepted the European representation of a big American theatrical concern.

The 476th meeting of the committee of the Music Hall Artists' Railway Association was held at the offices on Tuesday, when there were present Messrs. Fred Herbert (in the chair), J. Alexander, Harry Blake, H. Griff, Fred McNaughton, Fred Neiman, Geo. Preston, C. Douglas Stuart (secretary), and Douglas White (hon. treasurer). Minutes of the previous meeting were read and passed, and matters arising therefrom discussed. A comprehensive report from a member of the executive in one of the provincial towns was read, and the secretary was instructed to take action. Mrs. McMillan, of Bridge-street Bar, Aberdeen, was appointed agent in that town, in lieu of Mr. George Stephen, resigned, to whom a letter of thanks was ordered to be addressed. Mr. F. Halliday, of the Stanley Arms Hotel, Preston, was appointed agent in that town. Cases of refunds and insurance were considered, and the secretary received instructions. The statement of accounts for the week ending Aug. 11 showed the addition of forty new members, while the receipts were £34 1s. and the expenditure £16 12s. 2d. The hon. treasurer's weekly and monthly reports were also presented, showing that the amount standing to the credit of the Association on July 31 was £1,041 10s. 6d., while the total membership at that date was 5,151. The grant of a holiday to the secretary was approved. Attention was drawn to the issue in a certain town of tickets independent of a voucher, and it was decided to obtain particulars with regard to the practice.

Mr. Carl Hertz, the king of cards, has just arrived in town. The popular magician, it will be remembered, went out to America in answer to a cable informing him of the dangerous illness of his father at San Francisco. On reaching New York he heard of the awful earthquake overwhelming the great city of the Pacific, which Mr. Hertz reached in time to say a last farewell to his parent. His father's papers have been completely destroyed, and the heirs are quite without means of tracing the stocks which the dead man held. Hertz, however, turned his visit to account by producing a new illusion called "The Bridal Chamber," a beautifully furnished apartment which grows apparently out of nothing at the will of the American Abanazar. Of course, the "bridal chamber" possesses a bride—none other than the pretty Emeline D'Alton. The new and most astonishing illusion will be produced for the first time in London on Monday next at the Holborn Empire.

Through the enormous success of Mr. Charles E. Machin's latest sketch production, we are informed that Moss Empires, Ltd., through Mr. Tom Shaw, the well-known agent, have secured The Gorilla's Revenge, by Mr. Charles M. Daly, Mr. Machin's manager, author, and producer. We gave a full account of its production in Sunderland, and at that time predicted that its success was assured after its first performance. It differs entirely from most sketches we have seen, both in the originality of its scenery and in its startling effects, which Mr. Machin intends to reproduce in their entirety, and with a strong cast.

Mr. Charles M. Daly's pen, we are given to understand, is also busy on three other like novelties for Mr. Machin. These are near completion, and will in due course be presented, with similar elaboration and elegance of staging as obtained in the staging of their successful predecessors. The Gorilla's Revenge, by the way, does not resemble anything that its title may suggest, and is legally copyrighted and protected. Mr. Cross, the world-famous menagerie proprietor, of Liverpool, procured a fine Phrebyan snake and Indian monkey for Mr. Machin, and these two denizens of the reptile and animal world are aids to the wonderful success Mr. Machin's sketch has made. Done on a similar principle, and with the fine staging for which Mr. Daly has become noted himself, Mr. Charles E. Machin's supply of first-class novelty sketches to the halls cannot but result in real success.

The great desideratum of the profession has always been to obtain a true and faithful representation of the personality of the artist at a dramatic moment. For the first time in the era of printing this has now become possible. Messrs. W. J. Bruce and Co., of 35, Surrey-street, Strand, are now reproducing any subject from life with great rapidity, and with a result as perfect as if it were a photograph itself. All that is required is a simple and good photograph, and from this, by enlargement and lithography, Messrs. Bruce reproduce an exact copy in photo-brown or in colours as preferred, at reasonable prices. We have specimens of the work (at our office, where they can be seen), and can recommend it as the very thing required for both professions.

Amid manifestations of the deepest sympathy the funeral took place on Saturday of Kennette, the famous aerial wonder, whose death was announced on the 8th inst. Deceased, who was fifty-seven years of age, was well known and highly esteemed both in and out of the profession. Through a lengthy and painful illness, he had not performed since the August Bank Holiday of 1905, at which time he was using the sobriquet of "Watchim" in deference to his lightning act.

Kennette, many years ago in America, met at the house of a sister a Miss T. Skuse, whom he married under romantic circumstances. The wife eventually went on the variety boards as a musical performer under the name of Sara Nette. Though she has not been seen in public for a lengthy period, she still, it is pleasant to relate, retains her old talents, and is ardently attached to her profession. The interment of the remains of poor Kennette took place in the new family grave in Abney Park Cemetery, many handsome wreaths being placed upon the coffin.

The husband of Mme. Fougere, the well-known music hall artist, was on Monday fined 20s. and costs for assaulting Adelina Bernardazzi. Complainant said that when she went to 8, High-street, Bloomsbury, to serve the summons, Girault rushed forward, snatched the summons out of her hand, and abused her in French. He ultimately handed the summons back, and she dropped it on the floor. She was about to leave the room, when Girault caught her by the shoulder and pushed her, causing her to fall downstairs. After hearing the defence, the magistrate said Girault should not have touched the complainant.

Miss Ethel Walker, who has been entertaining crowded houses at the Pier Pavilion, Cleethorpes, this week, with her refined humorous songs at the piano, opens on Monday in the Stoll tour at Liverpool, and from there goes further north to Edinburgh and Glasgow. This is Miss Walker's first appearance beyond the Tweed.

Mr. Albert Wyndham's production of the Shakespearian episode from King John is more popular than ever, and the touching lines of Prince Arthur receive excellent interpretation from Miss Ivy Millais, a young actress who fairly touches the hearts of her audiences by the naturalness of her acting and her decided gift of pathos.

A most accomplished horse trainer makes a welcome return to the Hackney Empire next week. This is none other than Mr. Fred Ginnett, actor, equestrian director, circus proprietor, and financier. How many Empire patrons there are who have chortled with delight at the eccentricities of the old gentleman who plays the title-rôle in Rejected Remounts. Mr. Fred Ginnett is the grandson of the man who "created" it in the ring. The first to play the part was Jean Ginnett—his grandfather. He was a Frenchman and was taken prisoner at the Battle of Waterloo. After he came to England he became a horse-breaker for Ducrow, who ran Astley's circus. Mr. Ginnett's grandfather died forty years ago. His own father—to whom there is an equestrian statue at Brighton—followed him in the part, and played it hundreds of times all over the country, "tenting."

Mr. John Lawson has been very busy this week. He has been appearing as "the King's Minister" at Clapham, and as the large-souled Hebrew in his famous sketch, Humanity, which has been very finely mounted at the Granville, Walham Green, where packed houses have been thrilled by the realistic fight on the staircase.

The annual outing of the Front of the House Staff at the London Hippodrome will take place to-morrow, when the party will assemble at Victoria Station (L.B. and S.C.) and depart at 8.50 for Portsmouth, which will be reached at 11.30. Luncheon and dinner will be enjoyed at the Esplanade Hotel.

The annual outing of the staff of the Hammersmith Palace of Varieties took place on Sunday, when a drive to Windsor, via Egham and Staines, was very much enjoyed. Dinner was served at the Grapes Hotel, and after the usual toasts had been honoured, the party boarded a launch and voyaged to Monkey Island and back. Then followed tea, and the return journey, by way of Datchet, finished a thoroughly enjoyable day.

LONDON VARIETY THEATRES.

LONDON PAVILION.

Miss Connie Ediss and Mr. Henry A. Lytton were seen in a new comedietta, entitled United Service, produced for the first time at the London Pavilion on Monday. The author of the sketch is Mr. George Rollit, and the cast is thus:—

Lady Betty Blenkinsop / Sally, a cook ..... } Miss Connie Ediss
Pte. Mike O'Flanagan / Lord Knightridge .... } Mr. Henry A. Lytton

Lady Betty Blenkinsop was once a domestic servant, and her twin sister Sally is still in service in Maida Vale. Her ladyship has arranged to see Lord Knightridge; for a little bit of amusement they are going to make up as a cook and a soldier. Almost at the last moment she receives a note that Sally is coming to pay her a visit, and is in a state of terror lest it should be found out that her sister is a domestic servant. The gay lord eventually arrives and sees Sally, whom he at once takes for Lady Blenkinsop, and an entertaining conversation ensues between the two. Later, Private Mike O'Flanagan calls to see the cook, and is met by her sister, whom he accuses of being "uppish." The truth is, both Lady Blenkinsop and the cook, in the different situations, make no attempt to undeceive the men. Miss Connie Ediss, in her double rôle, in the part of Lady Betty, is absurdly dignified in her attempt to be aristocratic, while in the rôle of the cook she is pert and breezy. Mr. Henry A. Lytton gives us a clever character-study of a larkish old nobleman in one part of the piece, and of a lively young soldier-sweetheart in another. The comedietta, though scarcely original, is certainly laughable. There are a few good songs, notably "London's the place for me" (Mr. Lytton) and "Oh, I say!" (Miss Ediss).

Sculpture and sketching comprise the act presented by La Milo and Cruickshank. Tributes galore have already been paid to La Milo's beauty, and in some effusive verses which are given away with the programme she is compared to all the handsome ladies of mythology. But La Milo doesn't require the fulsome adulation of the bubbling rhymester. She is poetry herself. It is nothing less than an inspiration to watch her on her pedestal as the infatuating Circe, or as the muse Thalia, or as Venus—the latter, be it said, after the famous Velasquez painting in the National Gallery. These poses are most beautifully and artistically arranged. As for Cruickshank, he excels in the sketching line. Thus, we have caricatures of the Rev. Mr. Clifford, Lord Lonsdale, Mr. Martin Comstock, New York's purity crank, and others. The Sisters Gilbert are a couple of pleasing and smart dancers, and Mr. Gus Dallon distinguishes himself as a versatile entertainer. Percival has an agreeable comedy and piano turn, in which we get capital imitations of various people singing and playing instruments; and Mr. Harry Zetter makes for merriment with his eccentric singing and dancing. Vocalists and dancers of much merit come along in the persons of the Three Cape Girls, whose song, "Hugh, you coons," is a delightful number. Mr. Paul Vandy juggles in a wondrously tricky manner with metal tankards, bricks, balls, and other articles, and Foreman and Foreman compel one's laughter with their ridiculous cross-talking. More vocalists and dancers enter the field when the Pavilion Girls trip on to the stage. The clog dancing of these eight young ladies is admirable. Athas and Collins are distinctly funny with their burlesque business in The Italian Girl and the Monkey, which is already known to popularity.

Mr. Hal Forde, assisted by the Pavilion Girls, appear in the exceedingly pretty "episode," entitled They Never Do That in Japan. There is no story to tell. In an extremely pretty Japanese scene Mr. Forde and the ladies and some gentlemen dressed up as British naval officers merrily sing and dance. Mr. Forde explains to the girls, who are wearing the kimona, all the evil things that go on in that belated land called England, and the sweet little "geishas" sing in unison, "They never do that in Japan." Mr. Phil Ray goes one better than the late Sir Isaac Pitman in an attempt to abbreviate the English language, and the effect of Mr. Ray's shortened pronunciation is most amusing. But he shines best with his imitations of street calls in the ditty, "Who's that a-calling so sweet?" Mr. Whit Cunliffe, as up-to-dately dressed and as smartly groomed as ever, gains applause for his bright numbers "Hello!" and "Once upon a time." Miss May Rawlinson, the well-known contralto vocalist, offers some ear-enchanting items in "The sweetest flowers that bloom" and "Springtime," and Mr. Edwin Boyde tickles one's fancy with his diverting mannerisms and sayings. Howard and Collinson are, as usual, lively and humorous with their absurdity, The Porter and the Parcel; Miss May Henderson meets with great favour as a "dusky comedy queen"; and Mr. Chris Richards submits some intensely comical lines, and proves himself to be a neat dancer.

THE METROPOLITAN.

It is to the credit of that always energetic and hard-working comedian, Mr. Will Evans, that he never runs the risk of having brought against him a complaint of staleness in clinging too long to a successful impersonation. He makes frequent changes in his clever and amusing character studies, and that this policy is a judicious one cannot be doubted. Nor is there a tiresome sameness in Mr. Evans's impersonations. On the other hand, they are nearly always strongly contrasted with previous efforts. His latest embodiment is that of a Spanish dancer, and it is one of the funniest creations that Mr. Evans has given us. Mlle. Flora de Dindigal is a most amusing burlesque, and, in stage slang, has decidedly "caught on." The characteristic movements of the Spanish dancer are copied, but exaggerated in such a manner as to evoke the heartiest laughter. The hat and dress also constitute a whimsical caricature of the real thing. In the first scene the dancing lady appears alone; in the second she is seen as the leader of a corps de ballet. But such a ballet! The appearance of the coryphees excites the wildest merriment, and the energetic pirouetting of the principal danseuse, who floors her troupe one after the other, as if they were so many skittles to be knocked down, still further adds to the hilarity of the audience. Mr. Will Evans deserves his success: he works so hard to secure it.

The couple known as Osborne and Brooks appear in a pleasing little musical duo, the gentleman representing a husband who returns home at three o'clock in the morning in an inebriated condition to find that his wife is awaiting him. A Caudle lecture does not seem to have much effect, and when the lady threatens to go home to her mother, the incorrigible husband opines that it is a better arrangement than his mother-in-law coming to his house. The couple conclude with a neat song and dance.

An important engagement is that of Mr. Harry Lauder, whose song, "Mary, my Scotch bluebell," has such a pretty melody that the temptation to join in the chorus is well-nigh irresistible. Mr. Lauder has also introduced here his new ditty, "Since we parted on the shore," and the result has been most successful. His make-up as a heavily-bearded sailor man is exceedingly effective, and the chorus of the song is given by the audience with much vigour. A highly-successful appearance is also made by Mr. R. H. Douglas in his funny monologue, in which he represents Deadshaw, the private detective. This astute follower of Sherlock Holmes in the pursuit of his calling assumes various disguises, including a young man about town, a curate, and an old fellow who, Gaspard-like, gloats over his gold. Mr. Douglas's ability is generously acknowledged. Miss Nellie Dade, a clever comedienne, has a capital song in "I've played at that before," her dialect imitations being very good. Miss Dade also appears in the character of a servant-maid who has had the misfortune to break the statue of Venus, and, in order to deceive her master, poses as the damaged figure. Mr. G. H. Elliott scores as the chocolate-coloured coon, singing with much acceptance "My own Havana Queen," and also excelling as a dancer. Mr. Emlyn Jones and his Emerald Ladies' Quartette are deservedly applauded for their charming rendering of well-known national songs; and the Lancashire Lads distinguish themselves as carefully-trained singers and dancers. Miss Nina Martino is heard to great advantage in a French song and "There let me rest." Mr. John L. Shine and company are here on a return visit in their popular sketch Hogmanay, with its Dickensonian touches; and the Picquays are appreciated in their refined drawing-room entertainment. Mr. Phil Ray is a favourite comedian; and Mr. Wilson Hallett has won renown as a whistler and a clever mimic of children. Quite acceptable are the respective contributions of Miss Mignon Tremaine and Miss Ella Retford, comediennes and dancers; and Mr. Ernest Rees, a droll comedian, is also in the bill. Mention should not be omitted of the services rendered by Mr. J. W. Edgar as manager, and by Mr. D. M. Trytel as musical director.

HOUNSLOW HIPPODROME.

An excellent bill is provided here this week, and very keenly are the various items enjoyed. Mr. John Lawson, the entertainment manager, is to be complimented on the happy results achieved. The selection by the orchestra, admirably interpreted under the bâton of Mr. Bodin, is the forerunner of many pleasing items. Miss Minnie Wren, a dashing comedienne, sings with plenty of energy and no little charm "The Stowaway," which quite early in the evening won the hearts of the audience, who joined in the refrain with pleasing effect; Miss Wren's second contribution is equally happy, in which she strongly advised the boys to look after their parents; loud applause greeted the lady's injunction. Mr. Edward Eller and Miss May Rose are intensely funny in a vocal comedy, entitled Lost a Husband; the former as an actor turned waiter by force of circumstances is really highly diverting; Miss Rose proves herself as capable a dancer as she is a vocalist. Several of the numbers are exceedingly tuneful, notably the duet between the waiter and his fair guest; the burlesque imitations of heavy drama are also very droll, and the audience enjoy them amazingly. Mr. Dick Graham is billed as "a Singer of Sensible Songs," and this aptly describes his contributions; but not only are his songs sensible, they are tuneful and full of sound advice. In one of them he gives the male portion of the audience some valuable hints in regard to the choice of a wife. His second song, "Live and let Live," is awarded a welcome that is encouraging.

The hit of the evening, however, belongs to the Katos, their clever marionette "show" being as artistic as it is clever. The Katos work unflaggingly. The lady promptly dances herself into popularity, when, as an Irish Colleen—and a pretty one at that—she indulges in a typical jig. Later she joins in a duet anent "Maria," and the audience cheer to the echo. Mr. Ventom Swift is an eccentric dancer of marked ability, his song, "The White Coon," is quaint; eccentricity coupled with refinement here go hand in hand. Jessie Elvin and Co. add to the interest of the programme with a romantic sketch of the melodrama type, entitled The Gipsy's Revenge. As the twin sisters—a dual rôle not easily assumed—Miss Elvin succeeds in the highest degree. Very excellent, too, is the banker, William Downs, of Mr. Arthur Burton; a fine, manly, and impressive Carlos is Mr. Wilfred Benn. To Mr. A. Carrington is allotted the rôle of "the villain of the piece," and he scores a success in an unthankful part. Mr. Stanley B. Grosvenor is in front of the house, and his courtesy is unvarying.

NEW CROSS EMPIRE.

Despite the warm weather of the last few weeks this popular place of entertainment has been filled almost to overflowing, and during the recent holiday its utmost holding capacity was severely tested, but thanks to the skilful management of Mr. Ernest Bridgen, the popular acting-manager, everything was smoothly and comfortably arranged. On the night of our latest visit the hall was, as usual, well filled, and the programme quite up to the high standard of entertainments here. After the orchestra, under the able direction of Mr. Louis la Rondelle, had "discoursed most excellent music," in the shape of a selection from My Lady Molly, the first turn was that of the Mayvilles (Harry and Elsie), who delighted all present with their marionette show, and so cleverly manipulated their little artists that the adventures of "The policeman and servant," "The Salvation Army," and other items, including a Scottish song, were rewarded with enthusiastic applause. Next came the Mackweys, aptly described on the programme as "The riotous trio in a mad whirlwind on the wire." They were immensely popular, and must have been highly gratified by their reception. Jack Lorimer—the Scotch "breeder of smiles"—next appeared, and caused much amusement by his quaint rendering of "I've lost my little doggie," finishing up with a neatly-executed dance. Then followed the De Breans, Japanese jugglers and sciographists, who delighted all by their skilful and graceful juggling, their tricks—many of which are novelties—being executed with that precision and smartness that we look for from these clever little people. They also exhibited most pleasingly their skill as shadowgraphists. Griff followed in his clever act, entitled "The Clown in Apartments." The popular artist's whimsicalities were warmly greeted. The American Bioscope was the next attraction, and exhibited a new series of interesting and up-to-date pictures, including "Rescued in Mid-Air" and "Henley Regatta." Max Yorke's dogs, which are indeed marvels of canine intelligence, perform many new and clever tricks, and reflect great credit on their owner and trainer by showing evident interest in their work. Nelson's Newsboys are a welcome turn, their songs and dances being really excellent. The Sutcliffe Family are very popular with their acrobatic show, and also as Scottish pipers and dancers, their sword-dance in particular being loudly applauded. Mr. Frank Danby's musical and comedy sketch is a favourite feature of this week's programme. It is clever, bright, and well acted all round. This pleasing trifle, written and composed by Edward Marris, may be chronicled as an unqualified success, mainly due to the clever acting and smart fooling of Mr. Frank Danby as Jim. He is ably supported by Mr. W. J. Manning as the Major, Mr. Walter Nugent as Archie, Mr. Edmond Russon as Jack, Miss Ethel Bryant as Lady Bettie, and Miss Esme Edwardes as Lady Kitty. The playlet is entitled The Chauffeur, and Mr. Frank Danby fills the title-rôle. This sketch formed a fitting conclusion to an enjoyable entertainment.

THE CAMBRIDGE OUTING.

The staff of the Cambridge Music Hall had their outing on Sunday, when a party of over fifty in number left the Commercial-street establishment in four well-appointed coaches at 10.30 a.m. Travelling by way of Hackney-road and Lea Bridge, smoky London was soon forgotten in the enjoyment of the sylvan delights of Epping Forest. A halt was here made for refreshment, and the journey was then continued through Chingford and Waltham, past thatched barns, rustic cottages, fields of waving corn, and windmills moving lazily in the gentle breeze, over the winding Lea, on to Broxbourne, and thence through undulating country to St. Margaret's and Stanstead. The latter place was reached at about 2.30, and the company then sat down to an excellent dinner provided by "Mine Host," Mr. C. H. Harper, at the Red Lion Hotel.

Mr. T. G. Richards, the general manager of the Cambridge, occupied the chair, and gave the toast of the "Royal Family," which was right heartily supported.

Mr. Charles Knowlden, in proposing the health of the Chairman, referred to the kind interest which Mr. Richards always took in the members of the staff.

The Chairman, in responding, said it was a great pleasure for him to preside, and to look round the tables and see the large staff which the "Cambridge" had. The employees had done much to improve the hall, and he was proud of them for it. But the credit for the day's outing was chiefly due to Mr. B. Broadbridge, the secretary and treasurer, who had really arranged the whole affair and had done everything in his power to make it a success. He (Mr. Richards) hoped to have the privilege of taking the chair on many similar occasions. (Applause.) Mr. Broadbridge was then "toasted," as were also the two hard-working stewards (Messrs. George Garrard and Charles Knowlden), the ladies, the visitors (for whom Mr. Hector Munroe replied), and the host.

The dinner was followed by sports and games in the field attached to the hotel. The principal event of the day, a 100 yards' flat race, was won by Mr. J. Levy. Mr. Richards and Mr. Munroe were indefatigable in the work of carrying out the programme, and the Sports Committee also included Messrs. Leon Thomas, Mr. J. Jacobs, Harry Jacobs, T. Boam, A. Macey, and B. Broadbridge. After the vigorous athletic pursuits, tea was found most appetising, and at seven o'clock the drive home was commenced, and was as greatly enjoyed as the outward one. The route taken was through Edmonton, the party reaching Shoreditch about eleven o'clock, everybody expressing himself exceedingly well pleased with a most enjoyable trip.

HACKNEY EMPIRE.

"A merry musical mélange" is the alliterative description of one of the principal attractions in the Hackney Empire programme this week. The Prince of Monte Carlo, by Paul Knox and Harry Roxbury, is on comic opera lines, but serves chiefly as a medium for the display of Mr. Roxbury's quaint humour in the part of P.C. Longfellow, of Scotland Yard. Having undertaken the exposure of a couple of French card-sharpers, the ambitious officer pays a visit to the mansion of Lady Carr, where he discovers a dress suit, which for purposes of disguise he dons. The result is that he is mistaken for the Prince of Monte Carlo, and when that distinguished stranger arrives he is accused of being an impostor. The police constable, however, induces the Prince to play the part of the detective who has been engaged. The eccentric behaviour of the supposed Prince is the cause of a great deal of amusement, and the representative of Scotland Yard gives offence to a fire-eating Frenchman—one of the card-sharpers already mentioned—who on the slightest provocation flies into a violent rage and scatters challenges broadcast. A duel is arranged to take place in the gardens at Monte Carlo between the policeman and the Frenchman, and a very comical affair it proves to be. The Englishman turns the whole thing into ridicule by his antics, and this laughable burlesque business winds up with the arrest of the French adventurers—a man and a woman—who have managed to make a good thing out of Lady Carr's card parties. Mr. Harry Roxbury, whose Sergeant Lightning in Fred Karno's Dandy Thieves will be remembered as a capital piece of work, is also an excellent representative of the police constable who masquerades as the Prince. He keeps the fun going merrily all the time, and his high spirits never flag for an instant. Mr. Roxbury is supported by an excellent company, the part of Lady Carr being played in capital style by Miss Vashti Wynne. A full chorus lends valuable assistance; and the piece has also the advantage of being adequately staged, both the scenery and dresses giving complete satisfaction.

Another leading item in the current bill, the eccentric act entitled The Casey Circus, is also well received. A number of youngsters give a circus entertainment, the energetic lead being taken by an Irish dame. Singing and dancing contributions are plentiful, and the young people work with an evident determination to do their best, the result being an unqualified success. One of the funniest things in the new production is a comic bull fight, and burlesque performances are also given of a well-known Arabian troupe, and of Mr. Fred Ginnett's "Dick Turpin" sketch. Miss Rose Naynon, assisted by Mr. Clyde Phillips, gives a wonderful performance with her troupe of trained tropical birds. For the time being the stage is converted into an aviary, the birds, of various kinds, numbering about a hundred. A pretty and interesting sight is a toy hansom cab, drawn by a bird, while another plays the part of driver, and two others occupy the interior of the vehicle. A couple of birds also do a turn—in a double sense—on the horizontal bars; and, altogether, this show is one that should not be missed. Bennett and Martell, referred to on the programme as "the Long and the Short of it," are eccentric comedians who meet with a good reception. Miss Lillie Langtry, as bright and as lively as ever, is also accorded a cordial welcome, and meets with the success that she unquestionably deserves. Miss Clarice Netta, in a very pretty white dress, trimmed with red, gives a charming rendering of an old favourite, "The dear Homeland"; and Miss Gwennie Hasto achieves quite a triumph with her song and dance. Mr. J. H. Milburn, character comedian, sings "From Saturday to Monday" in good style; and Mr. Nat Clifford continues to score with his ditty, "The Grand Hotel," Miss Carrie Joy, comedienne, also deserves favourable mention. Mr. John Christie is the able acting-manager, and he has an energetic assistant in Mr. W. E. Higgett.

HOLLOWAY EMPIRE.

Mr. Chas. S. Kitts and Miss Rhoda Windrum are again at the Holloway Empire. This time they are appearing in a new sketch, entitled The Cuckoo, a brisk, bustling little piece, that is played to an accompaniment of merry laughter. Mr. Kitts appears in the character of a gay young officer, who is engaged to a charming girl. But, like the adventuress in a modern melodrama, he has "a past," and amongst those who have been closely associated with it is a pretty, but giddy, young widow. When he is expecting his sweetheart to take tea with him, the widow, looking very charming in black, puts in an appearance. She is a lady who is not easily rebuffed, and, in spite of a rather cool reception from the military gentleman who was once her devoted admirer, she proceeds to make herself quite at home, and helps herself to the cream and other delicacies which have been provided for another lady. The sound of the other charmer's voice—she is heard speaking to the gallant captain's manservant—drives her lover into a condition of mind bordering on frenzy; and the widow is compelled to conceal herself within the interior of a grandfather's clock. Then the fun begins in earnest. The hands of the ancient timepiece behave in the most eccentric fashion, and naturally the new arrival is startled when she beholds them revolving at a rapid rate. Bent on still further worrying her old admirer, the mischief-loving widow, partly opening the clock-case, cries "cuckoo," and the explanation that it is the cat fails to satisfy the puzzled young lady visitor. Then, during her temporary absence from the room, the widow emerges from the clock, but is quickly forced to seek another place of concealment—this time a large chest—and to prevent her escape the captain and his man sit upon it, whilst the prisoner has her revenge by means of a hairpin. The little piece is brought to a merry conclusion. Mr. Kitts as the much-worried military man and Miss Windrum as the widow work exceedingly hard in the fun-making, and are well supported by the other members of the company.

A very popular turn is Park's Eton Boys, a combination of juvenile vocalists who do great credit to their teacher. They open with a good rendering of "Excelsior," and this is followed by excellently sung solos by members of the troupe, Mr. Park acting as accompanist at the piano. The comedy element is also introduced, one of the boys giving a laughing song, while another represents a certain Billy Green, who gets into trouble, but makes a very effective stage exit. The Eton Boys are called upon to acknowledge well-deserved recalls. In their own line those clever comedians, the McNaughtons, are unsurpassed. There is nothing funnier on the variety stage than their burlesque fight, first with knives and then with the gloves. The shouts of laughter with which their performance is received afford sufficient evidence of the enjoyment of the audience. A welcome reappearance at this hall is made by dainty Miss Alice Lloyd, who, charmingly costumed, sings in piquant style of Rosy who had a cosy bungalow up the river. This favourite artist scores even a bigger success with her second ditty, "Who are you looking at, eh?" The trio, Roberts, Hayes, and Roberts, represent the cowboy, the swell, and the lady, in a brisk American singing and dancing act which is greatly appreciated. Mlle. de Dio's attractive and artistic performance has been so often described that it is now only necessary to say that her "weird dance," with its wonderful lighting effects, has lost none of its charm, the lady displaying her wonted grace of movement and deftness in manipulating the waving masses of gauzy drapery. Mr. Jake Friedman, dressed all in red, upholds his reputation by his vocal contributions; and Forest and King also meet with success. The American Bioscope shows some interesting pictures of the exhibition recently given by members of the London Fire Brigade in Hyde Park. The arrangements in front of the house continue to be carefully looked after by acting-manager Chas. W. Adams, and the orchestra is under the able direction of Mr. Henry W. May.

"CAMBRIDGE MUSIC HALL" OUTING TO EPPING FOREST, AUG. 12TH, 1906.

SOUTH LONDON OUTING.

The beauties of Knockholt Beeches were explored by the staff of the South London Palace and their friends on Sunday, when the annual festival took place. A party of close upon fifty strong, under the genial directorship of Mr. Charles E. Howells, the musical conductor, and Mr. Harry B. Wincote, the honorary secretary and treasurer for the outing, started in brakes from the London-road shortly after 9 a.m., the company including as one of its guests Mr. William Payne, the new manager, who commenced his duties on Monday last. It was rather a coincidence that the late manager, Mr. Frank Weeks, died on the very day (July 29) that was originally set aside for this trip, and in the midst of the merrymaking there was a note of regret and a kindly thought for the man who, with his bluff, hearty, straightforward manner, had won the esteem and respect of all his subordinates at the theatre he controlled for nearly seven years.

The drive into Kent was most enjoyable. The route taken was through New Cross, Deptford, Catford, and Farnborough. The scenic splendours unfolded after Catford was left behind were a source of pleasurable surprise to those who were unacquainted with the district, and renewed delight to those who had on previous occasions haunted its picturesque byways and wooded glades. Several of the trippers had provided themselves with cameras, and amateur collections are no doubt by this time greatly enhanced by picturesque views of rural scenes in the Hop Country. Knockholt was reached a few minutes before one o'clock, and, after a little photographic fun in the grounds of the hotel, all assembled for dinner, presided over by Mr. C. E. Howells, the vice-chairman being Mr. H. B. Wincote.

After the chairman had proposed the usual loyal toasts, he made some graceful references in an admirable speech to the late Mr. Weeks. They all deplored his loss. He was a good-hearted, frank, and honourable man, and a kind friend to the staff had vanished from their midst. However, while paying a tribute of respect to the dead, they must not forget the living, and he (the chairman) took pleasure in introducing to them their new manager, Mr. William Payne, whom he hoped they would support in the same conscientious manner that they had supported Mr. Weeks.

Mr. William Payne, who stated that for the past five years he had managed the Tottenham Empire, thanked the chairman for his welcome, and the company for their generous reception of him. He would do everything in his power to further the interests of the South London, and he felt sure that the staff, of whom he had heard such excellent accounts, would put forth every effort to work harmoniously with him for the mutual benefit of their directors and themselves.

The vice-chairman, in submitting "The Directors of the South London Palace," paid a nice compliment to those gentlemen, remarking that they could not wish for kinder or more considerate proprietors. The toast was heartily honoured by the whole company.

Mr. L. A. Weeks, in a capitally-worded and well-delivered maiden speech, which augured much for his future in the direction of addressing audiences, proposed "Success to the South London Palace," and it need hardly be said that the good wishes to which he gave expression were shared by his hearers.

The chairman gave the toast of "The Press," and Mr. Douglas Crichton responded thereto.

The health of the new manager, Mr. Payne, was drunk with musical honours, and a vote of thanks to Mr. Howells, for presiding so ably, brought the speech-making to a close.

Rambles in the neighbourhood of Knockholt Beeches occupied the rest of the afternoon until tea-time, and at seven o'clock a start was made for home, the brakes arriving at the South London at 10.45, everybody feeling the better for the trip.

Among the party were Messrs. C. E. Howells, H. B. Wincote, L. A. Weeks, W. Lynch, W. Rosser, W. Dane, J. Glover, T. Beck, G. Wilkins, P. Harris and C. Owen; Misses Howells, Cross, White, Herbert, Newnham, Baron, Ashlin, and Rapsey. The guests were Messrs. William Payne, Warner, Grimsdale, Angelotti, Nelson Downs.

THE EMPIRE THEATRE, OXFORD.

TO THE EDITOR OF THE ERA.

SIR,—Please accept my very warmest thanks for your splendid and masterly leading article in this week's Era. You have done more than your utmost to help us, and I feel I cannot thank you sufficiently. By the way, there is an error in "Actor Citizen's" letter. He states that Mr. Thos. Lucas sat on the Bench on June 5. This is incorrect, although the Oxford Times, in their June 9 issue, stated he sat. As a matter of fact, he sat on the Bench for the previous cases, but when ours was called on he moved to the side, and remained there.—Yours faithfully,

ALBANY WARD.

Aug. 11, '06.

The following correspondence has been sent to us for publication:—

(COPY.)

"DEAR SIR,—Referring to your letter of November last re cinématograph, I beg to ask permission of the Justices to allow me to give about one hour's cinématograph exhibition in the above building on the 15th and 16th inst. The exhibition would be under my personal supervision, and every necessary precaution as laid down by the insurance companies would be taken.—Yours faithfully,

"ALBANY WARD.

"T. Mallam, Esq., Clerk to City Justices, Oxford.

(COPY.)

"DEAR SIR,—I laid your letter of yesterday's date, asking permission of the Justices to allow you to give about one hour's cinématograph exhibition in the Empire Theatre on the 15th and 16th inst., before the Justices this morning.

I am directed to state in reply that they refused unanimously to grant such permission.—Yours faithfully,

"THOMAS W. MALLAM,
"Clerk to the Justices.

"126, High-street, Oxford, Aug. 10, '06.
"Mr. Albany Ward, The Empire Theatre."

These cinématograph exhibitions are allowed in every music hall and theatre in the United Kingdom; yet these high and mighty Justices refuse permission to Mr. Ward to give one of them.

THE SHOWMAN WORLD.

There can be no doubt that public opinion is on the side of the showmen in the Mitcham Fair dispute. Overwhelming proof is shown in the following extracts from the London daily Press. The Daily Telegraph, in several special articles, has shown a sympathetic grasp of the question. In the early days of the struggle—whilst its possible occurrence was in the balance—the Daily Telegraph said :—

"Apparently, the proprietors of steam and electric roundabouts, the conjurers, the contortionists, the jugglers, the strolling players, the 'infant phenomenons,' and all the rest are determined to hold carnival at Mitcham, whether the local authorities like it or not. And, although the ordinary, prosaic person, who knows nothing of the joys and sorrows of van-dwelling, may be unaware of the fact, the world of travelling showmen represents a very large community and a really important industry. Will it be believed that something like a million of money is sunk in this country in their plant and paraphernalia? You can't make, or buy, or repair steam jumping and galloping horses, 'merry-go-rounds,' switchbacks, 'flying ships,' and the like for nothing. And if all the Jarleys and their brother and sister professionals in these islands were to invade Mitcham next week, bent on making mischief, Mitcham would know it. For there are 70,000 of them, more or less. This, at any rate, is the computation of the Rev. T. Horne, who acts as hon. chaplain to the Showmen's Guild—an admirable association, originated by Mr. F. H. Pedgrift some years ago to safeguard the interests of the community in question. And what the showmen's hon. chaplain doesn't know about them simply isn't worth knowing.

"It was only the other day that the veteran Lord George Sanger, together with Mr. Horne, Mr. Pedgrift, and others went in deputation to the Parks and Open Spaces Committee of the London County Council to plead the cause of the vandwellers, as the result of some attempt which had been made to prevent them from occupying Hampstead Heath on the night of Bank Holiday, when the fun of the fair was over. And the interesting truth was suggested to the members of the Council that they would find caravan-dwelling a very novel and pleasing form of holiday making in the summer vacation. It will be interesting to learn hereafter whether the amiable hint has been acted upon by any of the Spring Gardens representatives.

"As for the threatened fair, it would be a pity, all things considered, if it were to go the way eventually of that of Southwark—of which Hogarth, it will be remembered, painted a picture—Bartholomew, and the rest. A time-honoured fixture of which the origin is lost in the mists of antiquity might well be perpetuated, however humble its present-day form.

"They would do well to remember, in any event, that from olden days show-folk and strolling-players have been held in high esteem by Royal and august personages. It is affirmed that the original charter for holding this particular fair was granted by Good Queen Bess. And there is preserved in the British Museum a bill of the entertainments at old Bartholomew Fair which mentions various shows patronised by Queen Anne and her Court—vaulters, posturers, performing dogs, conjurers, balancers, tight-rope performers, and other artists in agility and daring. And what was good enough for Queen Anne ought surely to satisfy Mitcham at the present day. Let us hope, at any rate, that the coming conflict will be a bloodless one."

Following this in a second article the Daily Telegraph said :—

"Somehow or other the Conservators of Mitcham Common do not seem to be exactly popular just now. They have tried to deprive the good folk of Mitcham of their ancient and annual fair, but the invasion of travelling showmen has already taken place, and since nothing succeeds like success, public opinion is apparently all on the side of the invaders. It seems more than likely that to-day 'all the fun of the fair' will be in full swing, Conservators or no Conservators. On Saturday a long procession of caravans appeared in the streets, and almost before it was realised that the interfering authorities were being dared to do their worst, the camp was set. Steam and electric roundabouts, swings and cokernut shies, were fitted up, caravans were laagered, horses turned out to graze, while the proprietors—sturdy-looking sons of the road—sat down to the unusual pastime of passive resisting. Later on a couple of policemen put in an appearance and took the names of the defiant nomads; but no one worried much about this, as all were firmly convinced that they were well within their rights, and that the people of Mitcham were at their back. As a counterblast to the notice of the Conservators, whereby showmen 'are warned that they must not pitch on the ground of the Fair Green, or on any part of the Common,' the showmen themselves issued a manifesto, which was widely placarded, and which invited the men of Mitcham to defend their ancient fair rights and 'franchise.' But leaving nothing to chance, they pitched camp first, and manifestoed afterwards. Yesterday the van-dwellers had quite settled down. No rough tarpaulin 'hotel' of the Triangle Camp pattern was good enough for them. Caravans with neat white curtains, polished brasswork, and as often as not with birdcages hung outside, formed the homes of about one hundred showmen.

"That the Conservators of Mitcham Common are not to have the support of the Government is evident from a letter received at the fair on Saturday from the Home Office. It briefly informed the recipient that the Home Secretary had made no order relating to Mitcham Fair. The Conservators are left to fight their own battle, and the showmen feel strong in the fact that they have reached, in the course of their ordinary itinerary throughout the country, a spot on which there is record of a fair having been held under Royal charter as long ago as 1559."

The Daily Chronicle is equally emphatic on the side of the showmen :—

"There is to be no quarter at Mitcham in the dispute between the Conservators of the Common and the showmen who hold their annual fair on that pleasant spot. In spite of prohibitions and threats of injunctions, all the fun of the fair was in full swing yesterday, and it is understood that it will be allowed to run its three-days' course this year without any serious interference.

"The Common Conservators, on their part, decline to submit. Yesterday morning Mr. Alfred Ball and other leading showmen called on Alderman Fosse at Croydon, and offered to him, as chairman of the Conservators, the amounts usually paid as tolls; but he refused to accept the money, and declared that the Conservators intend to proceed against the showmen for trespass. The showmen are prepared to fight the case, and a fund is to be opened for that purpose. Meanwhile, they decline to suspend the fair, which is now in full swing. About two hundred booths of various kinds, big and little, are now erected on the Fair Green—which is no longer green—on each side of the main road, and yesterday the proprietors found no lack of patronage.

"All Mitcham was palpitating with eagerness yesterday over the opening of the fair. Every variety of entertainment common to such institutions was to be seen on the grounds.

"Merry-go-rounds abounded all over the fair, and were patronised by all the young people of the village, and some of the 'grown-ups' as well. The ancient and the modern met curiously in the steam 'horses' and the ancient contrivances worked by hand; but each seemed to be equally popular. Machines for testing strength were set up in various parts of the ground, and budding marksmen tried their skill at shooting glass balls dancing on the apex of a spray of water.

"Over one booth was displayed the golden, or rather gilt, 'key' of the fair, which, although it has never opened anything, is yet preserved as a relic of bygone days. The real excitement and joy of the fair did not begin until the evening, and many of the bigger booths, in fact, did not throw open their doors until the village population had finished their day's toil, and were ready to indulge in a few hours' genial, if somewhat rollicking, amusement. Then, indeed, the fun became 'fast and furious,' but it was quite free from any objectionable elements, and could hardly have been objected to, even by fastidious conservators of commons.

"Like many of our English fairs, that at Mitcham is an inheritance from ancient days, and it is pleasant to hear a showman like Mr. Alfred Ball, or 'Professor' Ball, as his fellow-showmen call him, enlarge upon the honourable lineage of the present-day institution. Mr. Ball is a well-preserved man a little over middle-age, and, like so many of our legitimate showmen, his business was handed down to him from his father, just as he expects to pass it on to the son who is now assisting him.

"'Yes,' said Mr. Ball, to a Daily Chronicle representative, who caught him on the fair ground, 'this is a very ancient fair. It goes back to the days of Queen Elizabeth, although there was no charter then. That came later. I have attended this fair for twenty-six years, and my father was a showman here and at other country fairs before me.'

"Naturally Mr. Ball is full of interesting reflections about the past and present of English fairs. He has travelled pretty well all over England with his bioscope and variety entertainment, and he asserts with an air of conviction that the tone of English fairs has greatly improved.

"'Years ago,' he said, 'they were merely freak shows or some kind of catch-penny entertainment. Now better ideas prevail, more mechanism is used in the production of shows, and a great deal more money is expended by showmen in seeking to meet the public taste. To-day many more thousands of pounds are laid out on a good travelling show than used to be spent years ago when I came into the business. It has become an organised, legitimate, and respectable industry, and I hope also a respected industry.'

"In support of his last remark Mr. Ball produced an interesting letter which he received recently from the Curate of St. John, Tilbury Docks, the Rev. F. W. King. He regards it as a complete vindication of the showman's answers, and all answers to those who look upon shows and fairs as vulgarising influences in public life. In the course of his letter, Mr. King says :—

"'Speaking as a clergyman and from personal observation during the period for which you have been here, I am perfectly satisfied that your stay has been beneficial to us. At the best of times this is the dullest of dull places, and a well-conducted show, run on good and healthy lines, renders a useful service to our people. That you have done so is quite certain, because you have maintained a high character and a good tone throughout your performance. Indeed, the only grumble I have heard—and heard with considerable satisfaction—is that the public-houses in Tilbury have had to complain of a slackening in business while you have been here.

"'I should like to add, if you will allow me, that the general influence exerted by yourself and by your company in this neighbourhood has been of the best.'

"On the question of fairs generally Mr. Ball draws a sharp distinction between those at which horse dealers are present. 'These,' he said, 'are always more or less rowdy and noisy, but at Mitcham, for instance, there are no horses, and the fair is as quiet and well-conducted as it could well be.'

"Local authorities apparently deal with showmen in widely different fashions. At Oxford, for instance, Mr. Ball explains, the fair is right in the centre of the main road, and with the sanction of the authorities of St. John's College traffic is stopped for two days from ten in the morning till midnight, and generally speaking every facility is given to the showmen to pursue their calling. After this revelation it would be unfair to speak again of Oxford as 'the home of lost causes.'

"'Till we get to within sixty or seventy miles of London,' said Mr. Ball, 'we are treated as proper tradespeople, but as we get nearer the capital, and especially near the suburbs, things are different. The Middlesex County Council treat us very well and give us the privilege of removing the gipsy people fifty yards from our show ground.'"

Besides reporting the speeches at the Sunday demonstration, the Standard said :—

"More than the usual interest was attached to the preparations on Saturday for the annual fair at Mitcham. It was known that the Conservators of Mitcham Common and the owners of the franchise had circulated notices to the effect that no sites for shows, etc., on the Fair Green would be let for the present year, and that proprietors of shows had been warned against pitching on the green or on any other part of the common. But the showmen had avowed their intention of defying the Conservators and franchise-holders. About mid-day on Saturday a long line of caravans entered the town, and their appearance was the signal for loud cheering by sympathisers. Police were present in large numbers, but the showmen entered the Fair Green and set to work to rig up their attractions. Crowds and police looked on quietly for some time, till at length two officers commenced a tour of the shows, and took the names of the intruders.

"Later in the afternoon, the Rev. Thomas Horne, hon. Chaplain of the Showmen's Guild, issued on behalf of the showmen a printed appeal to the 'men of Mitcham' to defend your ancient fair rights and franchise.' In this appeal it was said :' Before Mitcham Fair can ever be abolished the people have a right to be heard and a vote taken.' The position the showmen take up is that the franchise entitles the holder to exact tolls, and not to decide whether there shall be or shall not be a fair. They complain that their offer to pitch on a quieter part of the common—near the pond on the Croydon-road—has not been accepted by the Conservators. The fair usually commences on August 12, but that day falling on Sunday this year, the fair has been fixed to commence to-day.

"A demonstration was held on the Fair Green yesterday, when a crowd numbering about 5,000 attended."

Thus the Daily News :—

"When Queen Elizabeth, according to the traditional story, declared Mitcham Fair to be open 'for ever,' she evidently reckoned without the Conservators of Mitcham Common.

"The 'fun of the fair' has entertained thousands of pleasure-seekers since the spacious days of Elizabeth, but even ancient charters cannot prevail against the growth of London suburbs and the inevitable electric tramway. The small area of waste land at Mitcham, bounded by London-road, Western-road, and Broadway, is now obviously unfitted for the purposes of a fair ground. The Conservators, who last year endeavoured to banish the fair, rest their right on the fact that they have purchased from the holder the right to levy tolls (and therefore to accept or refuse applications for space for booths) on the fair ground. On the other hand, the inhabitants deny that this overrides their right, under charter, to hold a fair.

"Interviewed shortly after the meeting, Mr. Grange told a Daily News representative that he strongly resented the attempt of four men to overrule the wishes of 4,350 inhabitants. It was immaterial to him personally whether the fair was held or not, but he was fighting for the rights of the inhabitants and for the enjoyment of the poorer people. Out of four hundred of the better-class inhabitants he had canvassed, not one had objected.

"The fair was the means of circulating money in Mitcham, being visited by thousands of people for miles round.

"'We are all sportsmen in Mitcham,' said Mr. Grange, 'but they have already stopped our football on the common. I am seriously thinking of calling a meeting to consider whether golf on the common is not far more dangerous, especially since the introduction of the tramcars.'

"Mr. Ball, the leader of the showmen, who has waited on the Home Secretary with the Rev. T. Horne in reference to this matter, said that if the present Fair Green was considered unsuitable for a fair owing to the growth of traffic, the showmen were quite willing to pitch their booths on Three Kings' Common, where there was plenty of space. He had taken good care that the showmen were thoroughly respectable men, all members of the Association. He had himself attended the fair for twenty-six years. The showmen were, he added, fighting to protect themselves and their children, as it meant a three-days' living for them.

"Our representative also interviewed one of the Conservators, Mr. Deputy Millar Wilkinson, C.C. of Seatonross, Sutton. Mr. Wilkinson, though declining to enter into details, admitted that the Conservators had ordered the names and addresses of the showmen to be taken, with a view to taking further proceedings. They had, he said, no desire to prevent the enjoyment of the people, but they wished to consult the wishes of the majority of the inhabitants, who considered the noise and drunkenness which accompanied the fair to be a nuisance. The Conservators had, therefore, bought out the rights of levying tolls, and intended to do their best to put a stop to the fair."

The Morning Leader brightly summarises the meeting as follows :—

"Was Mitcham downhearted? No!

"Not a little bit of it; and the great fair is to be held this year as per usual, notwithstanding a determined stand by the Board of Conservators, who refused to grant the use of any land under their control for the purposes of the fair.

"But the Home Secretary has been appealed to by the showmen, and red tape—for once—has been cast to the winds, and, after a fair consideration, the Home Secretary has decided that the fair shall remain.

"It was generally believed that there would be—well, a little disturbance at the meeting yesterday; but no, Mitcham was in a very good temper, and crowded in its bronzed-faced thousands round 'the platform of the people,' Messrs. Alfred Ball and Son.

"There was a beautifully draped blue table, covered with a white damask cloth, upon which Mitcham gazed in reverence. There were curtains beyond, which were subsequently raised, to "discover" well-known showmen, who were cheered to the echo.

"Mr. Grange, a member of the Mitcham Parish Council, presided, supported by the Rev. T. Horne, chaplain of the Showmen's Guild, Mr. T. Watson Wright, the Guild's solicitor, Mr. A. Ball, and Mr. R. Clasper, two of the leading showmen of the fair.

"There was an air of expectancy about everyone. But there was neither trouble nor a row; and the big crowd listened quietly to Mr. Watson Wright, who said that the owners of the right of tollage must not think that because they had bought the franchise they could do as they pleased. The holder of a charter did not hold his charter for his own benefit. (Deafening cheers from Mitcham.)

"Then arose the Rev. T. Horne, who thought there were many people who, seeing a man enjoying himself, thought he must, of necessity, be doing wrong.

"'I don't believe in moaning and groaning,' said this broad-minded son of the Church.

"Then came the appeal—

"'Hands up for the fair.'

"There was a maze of bronzed hands.

"'Against?' Not one!

"So that the fair starts again to-day, and will be even more popular than ever."

The Daily Express :—

"The annual fair on Mitcham Common, which is to open to-day, promises to provide more excitement for the inhabitants of the town and district than ever before. This is because it will be held against the orders of the Common Conservators.

"The fair was first held in the reign of Queen Elizabeth. She granted a charter to the villagers, giving her Royal assent to a fair which should be held annually; but when the last owner of the franchise died it was sold by his widow to certain people in Mitcham who desired to abolish the fair.

"They appealed to the Home Secretary to do so, and when he refused notified showmen that the fair would not be held. The amount paid for the franchise was £930.

"When the long lines of caravans began to arrive in Mitcham on Saturday the excitement was intense. The people were plainly delighted at the arrival of the showmen, and the latter as they passed were cheered again and again by hundreds of people, who accompanied them to the fair ground.

"The police were in unusually large numbers, but they did not attempt to prevent the erection of booths, shooting-galleries, 'penny gaffs,' and merry-go-rounds. But afterwards they made a tour of the caravans and took the names of the owners.

"The showmen held a demonstration yesterday on the Fair Green, and every available inch of space around the caravans was occupied by interested spectators. The crowd when at its height numbered about 5,000."

And the Daily Mirror :—

"Mitcham enjoyed 'all the fun o' the fair' yesterday, despite the dark threats of the authorities.

"The trouble that threatened arose from the fact that the Conservators of Mitcham Common have recently acquired, by purchase, the charter, granted in Elizabeth's reign, to control the annual fair.

"The Conservators said there should be no fair, the showmen arrived in swarms and said there should be one.

"With their solicitor they had concluded that an Act of Parliament was needed before the four-centuries-old merrymaking could be abolished, so the fair proceeds.

"The Conservators maintained a dignified attitude yesterday, and refused to accept the fair tolls offered to them at Croydon in the morning.

"Crowds of people flocked into the little lavender suburb, to the huddled crowd of tents, merry-go-rounds, swing-boats, and cocoa-nut shies on Fair Green.

"Business was brisk, and one old showman, who has been present at Mitcham Fair for the last thirty-five years, told the Daily Mirror that there was a better attendance than usual."

Lloyd's News, in an illustrated article, remarks :—

"Mitcham fair-ground, a triangular piece of waste, practically in the heart of Mitcham, was yesterday the scene of what at one time threatened to be 'lively times' between the showmen and Common Conservators on a question of rights. At the last moment, however, peaceable counsels prevailed, and the showmen, after being legally warned off, were allowed to take up their stands without being stopped by the use of physical violence. In anticipation of a scene, a vast crowd had gathered round the Fair Green some time before the showmen were expected, a prominent figure parading the centre of the road being ex-Sergeant Lawson, of the W Division, who was for many years warrant officer for the Croydon district. He represented the Mitcham Common Conservators, and, on the arrival of the showmen, formally forbade them to camp on the ground.

"The leading vans, belonging to Mr. Alf. Ball, who has taken an active part in fighting the showmen's battle, were being drawn on to the ground by a traction engine, when a couple of small caravans, one being driven by a woman, made a dash for the honour of being the first to brave the wrath of the Conservators. A ringing cheer from the showmen and the crowd of sympathetic onlookers greeted this performance, and willing hands at once helped to unload and to commence to build up the fearful and wonderful parts that go to constitute a stand of swing-boats.

"Once the Conservators had been publicly defied, a host of vans had invaded every corner and available space on the Fair Green, and it seemed a puzzle to the casual onlooker where the promised roundabouts, swings, and cinématograph shows were all to be pitched. Showmen, however, seem born organisers, and in less than half an hour—almost before the crowds had finished cheering on the last van—the early arrivals had got swings, roundabouts, and shooting-galleries in position and effective working order."

Mitcham Fair has been served with more high-class show and amusement this year than ever before. The attendance of the people has been the greatest on record. Not only the poor hard-working man and his family, but also the rich and well-to-do have visited the fair—some driving to the fair in their carriages and enjoying the sights, and taking home fairings for their family. Owing to the widening of the Croydon-road for tramways, the lower green was much smaller than before, with the result that Mr. Alf. Ball could not build upon his old ground. He was therefore obliged to occupy the capital pitch owned for many years by the Bailey family—the centre position on the larger portion of the green. Here we saw the Royal Bioscope and theatre of varieties—a splendid show both inside and out—in full swing of popular favour and patronage on the first day of the fair. Mr. Ball is to be heartily complimented on the capital company of Paraders he has with him. We have seen nothing better on the road. A word of sincere praise is also due to Mr. Ball for the excellent range of up-to-date films he exhibits to his delighted patrons.

An equally fine show is Mr. Wm. Biddall's cinématograph and electric coliseum of varieties, with a good range of living pictures and variety company.

Prof. Sol Elliott's School of Boxers, Prince Pereira, the conjurer from the east, the lady athletes and wrestlers, and the fine art shows of Messrs. Bailey and Knighton were the popular side shows, and all did good business. The roundabouts, swings, and other machine novelties were in their accustomed positions—these were provided by Messrs. C. Hill, T. Pettigrove, H. Taylor, Sanders, Lang, Hardy, and Mrs. Bird; swings by Messrs. Knighton, Pettigrove, Stenning, and Bird. A most pleasing object and a big attraction to the latter ones were the gem motor-cars and juvenile horses and swings. Mr. Brooks's photo saloon as usual did good business. The throwing games in wonderful variety occupied every inch of a valuable space—there were also shooting galleries and bottle batteries. All these were provided by the old tenants of the fair green, and amongst them were found Messrs. Manning, Peters, Stenning, Wilson, Edwards, Mayne, Clarke, Bond, Matthew, Lang, Bailey, Hardy, Pettigrove, Knighton, and Bird.

We recognise that the London show people have rendered loyal help to the old tenants of Mitcham Fair by abstaining from attending the fair this year and thus giving preference to the tenants who had a prior claim by the length of years they have attended Mitcham. When the time comes to properly move the fair to a larger ground—then the general body of London travellers will have a fair chance of ground at the fair.

On the opening day of the fair Messrs. A. Ball and R. Clasper interviewed Alderman Foss—chairman of the Board of Conservators, and the purchaser from Mrs. Bailey of the tolls—and offered to pay the accustomed tolls and dues, according to the charter, but we regret to say that this offer was refused. How the matter will be settled is in doubt—all that the showmen can do is to be ready to defend their just right to attend and hold the fair.

For some years past at Redditch Fair the showmen have given their takings on each Wednesday evening of the fair, after 9 o'clock, to the local hospital. This year was more successful than any former year, viz., £35 0s. 6d. The Hospital Committee have acknowledged their kindly help in the local Press.

HOSPITAL SATURDAY COLLECTIONS.

Sir,—Will you kindly allow us space to express the best thanks of the committee to the proprietors of the various stands for their generous contribution of £35 0s. 6d., realised on the fair ground on Wednesday night; also to the public, who, by their combined support, made the undertaking so successful, exceeding all previous records by more than £5? The following are names and amounts subscribed :—Mr. T. Clarke, £22 13s. 6d.; Mr. J. W. Chipperfield, £8 19s.; Mr. Mander, £2 11s.; Mr. R. Chipperfield, 5s.; Mr. Goodwell, 8s.; Mr. Ingram, 2s.; Mr. Gess, 2s. On behalf of the Hospital Saturday Committee, yours truly,

JONAH WARNER, Chairman.

SHOWMEN VINDICATED AT MITCHAM FAIR.

Despite the notice of the Conservators of Mitcham prohibiting shows, roundabouts, and stalls pitching on the Fair Green, when the proper time arrived the showmen did draw on and did fix up. The only thing done by the Conservators was to send an agent of theirs to take the names of the daring vindicators of the right to maintain the fair.

For the information of our showman readers in all parts of the kingdom we wish to carefully indicate where Mitcham differs from the great number of other places that have succeeded in either removing or abolishing their fairs. The local authority drew no rent, derived no profit from the revenue of the fair. This, as showmen know to their cost, is always a point against the continuance of fairs. Especially is this so, when, as at Mitcham, there arises a strong and influential body of property owners and speculative builders who wish to do away with the pleasure fair, under the erroneous impression that it vulgarises the place, and depreciates the value of villa property.

At Mitcham there is, in addition to the Parish Council, a public body known as the Conservators of Mitcham Common. The abolitionists are very strong on both the Parish Council and the Board of Conservators. Naturally the Fair Green was by the Local Government Act under the control of the Parish Council, and kept by them for the benefit of the people of Mitcham.

The first step in the scheme to abolish the fair was to remove the control of the Fair Green from the Parish Council—a democratically-elected body—to the more privileged and select body, the Board of Conservators. This was done some few years ago, and, utterly regardless of the historic fact that the Fair Green was the people's fair ground for ever, the Conservators planted trees and shrubs, and enclosed the growing trees and shrubberies with huge iron railings, cut a wide road through a portion of the green, and in other ways reduced the already too straitened area of the ground-space for the annual fair.

The late Frank Bailey, the then owner of the Fair Franchise, in order to prove his individual rights tore up one of the trees and challenged the Conservators to take action against him. This, at the time, they were too wise to do.

The next step was to widen the main roads that abut on the Fair Green, and to permit the double line of rails for electric trams to still further take from the green.

We have detailed these particulars, because they expose the hollowness of the glib argument of some of the abolitionists, "See how dangerous it is to the safety of the public. A fair in the heart of the town, at the junction of four roads, and two double lines of tram-cars." If the Parish Council had kept the people's Fair Green whole and entire, and under their own control, they could have insisted upon the exchange for it of a better and less dangerous site. It is, however, one of the legal points in the showmen's case, and one that weighs heavily in their favour, that the Home Secretary suggests that he will hear with favour any practicable scheme to remove the fair to a more commodious site. In every possible way the executive of the Showmen's Guild endeavoured to meet the views of the people opposed to the fair, and we know that amongst many who were either indifferent or neutral in the matter this reasonable attitude of the Guild has aroused interest and made friends. The whole body of the workers, and almost the entire shop-keeping class, are in favour of retaining the fair, and we have hopes that a mutual arrangement may yet be made, and the fair remain better than ever before, and held upon that portion of the Common that by universal acclaim is admitted to be the best site for it.

Various misleading paragraphs that have gone the round of the London and provincial Press need to be corrected. Many of the newspapers said : "Showmen defy the police, and move on the Fair Green." Nothing of the kind took place. The police knew their duty too well to attempt any interference without the order of the Home Secretary abolishing the fair. Throughout the whole course of the proceedings to maintain the showmen's rights in Mitcham Fair the police have been most fair and courteous; and showmen, as a class, are most law-abiding. Had there been an order abolishing the fair not a single concern would have drawn on the Green; but we doubt not that at Mitcham, as at scores of other places, when narrow-minded prejudice and class intolerance succeeds in abolishing the old Charter Fair, another fair would have arisen upon private land for the amusement of the people.

In order to test the popular feeling in the matter, and to set before the people of Mitcham the showmen's case, a mass meeting and demonstration was called. The following is the manifesto drawn up and issued by the Rev. T. Horne in the name of the showmen attending the fair. Within a few hours of issue it was eagerly read in every home in the village :—

MEN of MITCHAM Defend YOUR Ancient
FAIR RIGHTS and FRANCHISE.

You have Rights and Privileges that cannot be sold nor yet given away without your free will and consent. Before Mitcham Fair can ever be abolished, the People have a right to be heard and a Vote taken.

The Fair does not belong either to the Board of Conservators, or to the Owner of the Right to collect Tollage from the Occupiers of the Fair Green during the legal days of the Fair, Aug. 12, 13, and 14.

The "Franchise," or right to collect tolls, has become a marketable property; but it does not follow that because the Lord of the Manor, many years ago, sold his birthright, that the purchaser bought with it the birthright of the People of Mitcham.

The Fair is Your Fair, Held upon Your Ancient Fair Green, and until you surrender by your own free will your right to have and to hold your Mitcham Fair, it remains yours.

There is both law and justice for the poor of Mitcham as well as for the rich. The cottager has as much right to his recreation at the annual Pleasure Fair as the villa resident has to enjoy amusements — say, golfing — on the People's Common.

This is a free country, and within the sanction of just and equal laws every man may live his life in his own way. It is a narrow creed which denies workers a day or two's recreation and pleasure at the Time of the Fair.

Men of Mitcham, there are men amongst you who have tried to abolish Your Fair. They made their appeal to the Home Secretary. After considering all the facts of the case, their request was refused by the Secretary of State, acting as the Sole Authority Empowered by Statute to abolish a Fair.

These defeated abolitionists still persist, and want now to gain their end and purpose, by assuming authority and power, to do what they will with the People's Fair.

The Friends of the Fair and the Showmen have saved the Fair. It is Not Abolished. Come in your thousands to the Fair Green on Sunday at three in the afternoon, and enter your orderly and just protest against this high-handed and arbitrary invasion of your Ancient Fair Rights and Privileges.

Signed on behalf of the Showmen attending the Fair,
THOMAS HORNE,
Hon. Chaplain, the Showmen's Guild.
Aug. 10, 1906.

The good people of Mitcham began to assemble before Mr. Alf. Ball's Royal Bioscope Exhibition an hour before the time fixed for the meeting, and some time before three o'clock a huge crowd occupied the centre of the ground, and spread itself out into all the side avenues.

Punctually at three o'clock the chairman of the meeting, Mr. J. Grange, a member of the Parish Council, accompanied by the Rev. T. Horne, T. Watson Wright, Esq., and Mr. A. Ball, with other prominent showmen, came on the front of the concern, and the meeting began amid the cheers of the vast crowd. Amongst the showmen and their many friends we noticed Mr. F. H. Pedgrift, of The Era, and Messrs. Biddall, H. Bailey, Stroud, Hastings, and Whayman, Wilson, Hill, Pettigrove, Stenning, Manning, Knighton, Mayne, Clarke, H. Taylor, H. Bond, H. Peters, Long, Hardy, Matthews, Sanders, Elliott, and Brooks.

Mr. Councillor Grange, in a brief but telling speech, told the story of the local opposition to the petition to abolish the fair; that he and his colleague, Mr. Councillor Parker, had petitioned the Home Secretary in favour of retaining the fair, and that they had received the following reply from the Home Office:—

With reference to your letter of the 26th inst., relative to the proposed abolition of Mitcham Fair, I am directed by the Secretary of State to say that he has decided not to interfere with the holding of the fair this year. Mr. Gladstone will inquire further into the matter, and will be glad to consider any objections, in writing, to the abolition of the fair, or any evidence that it is practicable to move it to a more convenient site.—I am, sir, your obedient servant,

W. P. BYRNE.

In the face of the notice issued by the Conservators, he had written again to the Home Secretary only yesterday (Saturday), and had received another official letter, telling him "that the Home Secretary had issued no order to abolish the fair." He presided at that meeting in order to preserve the people's right in their fair. He then called upon Mr. Watson Wright, solicitor to the Showmen's Guild, to address the meeting.

Mr. Watson Wright began by claiming for the show people that just treatment that was the birthright of every Briton. He insisted that showpeople as a class were as honest, as industrious, as law-abiding, and as moral and cleanly in their lives as any other class in the community. He told how that for seventeen years they had been organised as a body of traders, and had their trade protection society known as "The Guild"; that in the defence of their business they had fought public bodies and corporations all over the kingdom; that in Parliament alone they had defeated some sixty Bills that aimed at penalising their business interests, or at abolishing the trade interests of their industry and the equally important fair rights of the people.

Not the least important of their work he maintained was this preservation of the fair rights and privileges of the masses of the people. They had to recognise that in every community there were faddists, who formed themselves into a "killjoy committee," in order to curtail the amusements of their poorer neighbours, and to dictate what they shall have or not have with regard to necessary means of relaxation after toil. The showpeople, in fighting for their means of livelihood, were also fighting for the liberties of the common people.

The showmen had not taken the decided line that they had done without exhausting all possible agencies of agreement and compromise. It was the primary principle of a showman's success to carry all classes with him in his business enterprise. To make an enemy was to lose a customer.

The Guild had tried all means of conciliation. The offer had been made to remove the fair to a safer site, to undertake all the responsibilities of orderly maintenance, and to guarantee the high-class nature of the entertainments. All this had been done, and then, at the eleventh hour, came the prohibition notice. Well, they disregarded that notice, and he was there to warn the Board of Conservators that they could not lightly override the expressed decision of the Right Hon. Herbert Gladstone, His Majesty's First Secretary of State for Home Affairs, and that until the order abolishing the fair was received by the Parish Council, that the showmen were well within their legal rights in using the fair for the purposes of their lawful trade and calling.

He would show them from the highest authorities that so long as the fair remained a legal fair, it was the bounden duty of the grantee of the fair to provide ample space for its continuance. He would show them that the right to hold a fair, and to take tollage also, bore with it the legal responsibility of providing a fair ground large enough for all its purposes. The purchasers of the Fair Franchise had not the power to do as they pleased with the fair. The original grantee held his Royal privilege, not for his own benefit, but for the benefit of the people. According to the cited cases, the owner of a Fair Franchise was liable to be indicted for a misdemeanour, and to be sued for loss and damage, if he did not provide a fair ground for the carrying out of the liberties inseparable from the fair.

They would find that right and justice was the very foundation of English law and jurisprudence, and that every Royal privilege (the direct grant of the prerogatives of the Crown—such were the Charter rights of fairs) carried with them serious and urgent responsibilities, and that no individual or public body can enjoy a special privilege without fulfilling its relative duties. With the right to hold the fair and the right to draw the tolls there must be inevitably the duty of providing a fair ground. Having thus defined the law of the matter as regards the traders using the fair and the owners of the Fair Franchise, there yet remained the equally important question— the rights of the people in the fair. They had a right to use the fair, and any attempt to deprive them of their right of user was an invasion of their Charter privileges. The showmen as traders had their business interests and rights to defend; but they, the people of Mitcham, must see to it that their ancient fair rights were not taken away. He still hoped that reason and conciliation would prevail, and that the voice of that magnificent meeting would be heard, and that wise counsels would prevail, and that Mitcham Fair might continue its time-honoured record of popular favour.

When the hon. chaplain to the Guild (the Rev. T. Horne) rose to speak, the audience numbered between four and five thousand people—such a crowd as is rarely witnessed in towns like Mitcham.

We are here to-day, he began, to vindicate the rights and liberties of the people of Mitcham in their ancient charter fair, and at the same time to protect the business and avocation in life of a respectable and industrious class of workers and traders—the itinerant entertainers and showmen of the Empire. He felt sure that in coming there on that work and mission he was best serving his Divine Master, who, at the beginning of His work on earth, worked a miracle to add to the enjoyment of His people at the marriage feast in Cana of Galilee. He believed that in ministering to the people there was a place for the showman, who provided, as at Mitcham Fair, for the amusement of the toilers after weary work. There were people who thought that man ought ever to be serious and sad, and that when a man was merry he must be wrong. He did not believe in any such narrow view of life; "the doleful pieties" and "the knights of the rueful countenance" were travesties of that Christianity taught by Him who was ready in teaching the Gospel of the full life to "pipe to the children dancing in the market place," and to break bread with the common people. Why should not the people have the perfectly harmless amusements of their popular fairs? He knew that their better-to-do neighbours could enjoy themselves in their own way; they could go to the grand opera, Covent Garden; to theatres and high-class variety palaces; to the seaside, and enjoy their own amusements. Why take away the amusements of the people who cannot afford these higher forms of recreation? He could well imagine that to the cultured lover of the best music, or the man who could easily obtain any relaxtion his heart desired, skirting the border line of the fair on his way home, hearing the friendly rivalry of half a dozen mechanical organs, and catching the wonderful medley and jangle of sounds from thousands of people at play—that to such a man the fair may seem an undesirable sort of thing. To such a man he said, "Have the common humanity to remember that the poorer people have only this one time of utter change and lively abandon of recreation in the whole round of a year's crowded and anxious toil." What would the Conservatives have the people to do? He could imagine a stern and determined abolitionist saying, "Why don't they go to the grand opera, the chamber concerts, to the seaside? Why don't they buy motor-cars, or join the golf club? Why don't they save their money, and buy marbles and play like good dear children, or, better still, improve their shining hours by watching their betters play golf on the people's common?" Well, he thanked God for a sense of the humorous, and he trusted that the would-be reformers of the amusements and pleasures of the people may in time be blessed with the power of getting out of themselves, and see their folly as others see it, and, having a good hearty laugh at themselves, cease to trouble their poorer neighbours. In pleading for the rights of the travelling showmen he also championed the rights of the people of England to the full enjoyment of those all too few opportunities of cessation from hard, grinding toil. With the abolition of the fairs would inevitably go the holidays of the people. He told the men of Mitcham that their fair rights and privileges had been handed down by their fathers, and that it was their duty to hand these privileges down to their children. Why should the children of Mitcham be robbed of their free sight pleasure fair? What possible harm, intellectual or moral, could come to their children by the varied and up-to-date entertainments of the fair? None whatever. What other entertainment could possibly take the place of the fair? He knew of none. A fair was the most suitable, the most social, the most ready and accessible form of popular amusement known to them. With or without the ready penny, it was free to all. It catered for all kinds of people. A modern fair was a veritable commonwealth or co-partnership of fun, frolic, and amusement. Fairs had changed and had grown with the growth of the Empire. He warned would-be abolitionists of fairs that the showmen were well organised and banded together. The showmen had taken the advice that he invariably gave to newly-wedded couples in the marriage service. By way of parable, he sometimes told the married the story of a young husband and wife, how that on the day of the marriage the husband told his wife to go to the other side of their cottage and to pull over the roof of their home a rope that he had cast across it. The story says that the obedient bride exclaimed, "I cannot pull it over, love, whilst you are pulling against me on the other side." "That is true, my dear," answered the husband; "I will come to your side, and we will both pull together." "Pull together. Do you see the point of the parable, men of Mitcham? The showmen are organised, and they pull together. What are you going to do? Will you pull together, and save your fair rights?"

Mr. Horne then took a vote of the meeting—at this time five thousand in number. "Hands up for Mitcham Fair." A forest of hands followed this appeal—an unanimous vote for the retention of the fair. "Now," he proceeded, we will take the contrary opinion. "Those in favour of doing away with the fair, hands up." Not a single hand was lifted, and the crowd, with one voice, cheered the speaker, who concluded a speech that occupied over forty minutes with another parable of humorous illustration to enforce the burden of his argument, and then resumed his seat amidst a deafening roar of applause.

Mr. Alf Ball (very diffident on public platforms, as most showmen are), in a modest speech, thanked the people of Mitcham for so enthusiastically rallying round the showmen. He had attended their fairs for twenty-seven years, and in the name of the old tenants he could assure them that everything that they could do would be done to maintain the fair. He, for one, was quite ready to remove it to the Three Kings' Common, away from the busy traffic of the road. He had always brought them a good show, and he and his fellow-tenants of the fair were willing to pay their accustomed tolls to all things lawful and honest, and to do all they could to improve the character of the amusements at the fair. As to the part he had taken in preserving the fair for the people, he was already rewarded for that in the approval and the warm friendship of Mitcham men for himself and those for whom he acted. As in the past he had striven to do his best, so in the future nothing on his part would be lacking to preserve the fair at Mitcham.

The Rev. T. Horne proposed, and Mr. J. Watson Wright seconded, a vote of thanks to the chairman, which was unanimously accorded, and the meeting terminated by singing "God Save the King."

C. HEAL'S steam roundabouts were at Nunney (Somerset) Horticultural Show on Thursday.

CARMARTHEN August Pleasure Fair was held on the Corporation Fair Ground on Monday. The weather was very boisterous, rain falling in torrents in the morning which to a very great extent affected the attendance at the fair. In the evening the weather cleared up, and good business was done. The chief attractions were Messrs. Henry Studt and Son's electric zoological roundabouts and Messrs. Haggar and Son's electric bioscope, while the others in attendance were Mr. E. Booth's shooting saloons and swings, Mr. D. Boswell's cokernut shies and swings, Mr. Marshall Evans' juvenile roundabouts and swings, &c.

MESSRS. DARTER AND SON'S roundabouts, shooting saloons, &c., did good business at Llanstephan Fair this week, this Carmarthenshire favourite seaside resort being crowded with visitors.

THE attractions at Astwood Bank this week include Mr. Thomas Scott's new steam galloping horses, park swings, bottle battery, cokernut sheets, etc., and Mr. C. Herbert, with pony roundabouts, park swings, shooting saloons, pipe smasher, cokernut sheets, and stalls. At Astwood Bank Flower Show were Mr. C. Herbert's roundabouts, park swings, bottle battery, cokernuts, stalls, etc., and varieties by Messrs. Smith and Lewis.

AT Harvington, near Evesham, was Mr. H. Ayers with steam roundabouts, park swings, shooting saloons, bottle battery, cokernuts, etc.

AT Redditch Fair Ground a benefit was given for the local hospital by Messrs. T. Clarke (motor cars), James Manders (menagerie), John Cordwell (cinematograph), J. W. Chipperfield (ditto), Ingram Bros. (Italian circus), Frank Gess (assault-at-arms), R. Chipperfield (hall of laughter). The handsome sum of £35 0s. 6d. was realised.

MISS ROSEE HEATH.

TO THE EDITOR OF THE ERA.

SIR,—Permit me through The Era to thank the proprietors and managers of the various variety halls throughout the metropolis for the kindness they have shown my daughter during her stay at home during the past ten months. I am deeply grieved, however, to announce that she has had a relapse, and has been obliged to return to the asylum. Her illness has now extended over a period of fourteen years, but Dr. Forbes Winslow,

Jerry Dobbs ..... MR. AUSTIN LENTON
Martha Dobbs ..... MISS VI HAMILTON
Martha Dobbs ..... MISS GLADYS GASTON
Mary White ..... MISS AGNES LANE
P.C. Nab'em ..... MR. ROBERT PEALER

A gentleman with an eye to the main chance who bears the classical Christian name and cognomen of Jerry Dobbs is the unfortunate possessor of two wives. It is with Martha, the second Mrs. Dobbs, that he is living. There is good reason for his attempted undivided attentions upon Martha, for Martha has money and Dobbs has none. Now, these two people are well enough content—Jerry especially—to coo sweet things into one another's ears, and to let the outside world look after itself. No doubt the outside world would be equally content to do this were all things fair and square, and were it not for the fact that the outside world contained two intimate acquaintances of Jerry—his first wife and her child. In short, Lucy Dobbs has run her faithless spouse to earth, or, rather, to the domain which belongs to the lady who has, unwittingly, usurped her pride of place in the Jerry heart. Naturally, it is not a very pleasant and amiable creature who now, carrying a miniature member of the Dobbs species, confronts the gentleman who led her—then a blushing, guileless, and unsophisticated maiden—to the altar, and who promised to worship her with his body and to bestow upon her all his worldly goods. Sad to relate, she soon discovered that Jerry's worshipping was about on a par with his worldly wealth—it didn't exist. But she will be revenged. He deserted her, and he will now have to take care of the child, while she goes and enjoys herself with another man. And in order to make certain as to the self-enjoyment the discarded Lucy compels Jerry to part with all the money he has about his person, and then leaves the baby in his arms. The poor man is in a quandary. What will Martha say when she sees the child? A milliner comes in with a bandbox containing a hat for Mrs. Dobbs, and the latter's husband endeavours to persuade the girl to say that the baby is hers. But milliners' assistants are not, as a rule, given to acts of such childish innocence, and, of course, the young lady refuses straight away. In her temporary absence a bright idea strikes Dobbs. He flings the new hat upon the floor and places the baby in the box. The child's screams attract the attention of Martha on her return, and she tries hard to discover their origin, for Jerry has previously hidden the baby under his coat, and its presence had then been discovered. After having failed to persuade the milliner to take the box away, Jerry places it in the hands of his wife, who is in great spirits over what she believes to be a beautiful confection from her husband. After the presentation, and before his wife has had time to open the box, Jerry rushes out of the room with the new hat upon his own head. The surprise of Martha at the sight of the baby can be better imagined than described. And here Mary White, the pretty milliner, acts as a wicked little schemer. The five pounds paid for the bonnet is in her safe keeping, so a little intrigue can be indulged in without fear of retribution following by way of an unsettled account. She begs Martha to reflect what might be the consequences if her loving and true and tender Jerry were to find her with a baby in her arms! Would he not have good cause for anger? Finally, she works Martha up to such a pitch that the poor woman herself tries to hide the baby under her skirts on the sofa as her lord and master enters. Then there is more fun, but the end of it all is not so funny for the bigamous Jerry, for he makes the acquaintance of a policeman who requires his presence elsewhere. The sketch causes roars of laughter. Mr. Austin Lenton, whose company it is, is excruciatingly comical as Jerry Dobbs, and Miss Vi Hamilton as Martha gives a rather clever character-sketch of a staid middle-aged woman. Miss Agnes Lane is refreshingly saucy as the milliner, and Miss Gladys Gaston is amusingly revengeful as the first wife.

ON Monday last, August 13th, at St. Matthias' Church, Upper Tulse Hill, Brixton Hill, the Rev. A. H. T. Clarke solemnised the marriage between Mr. William Redfern, of the London Hippodrome, and Miss Marie Ann Nicee Kearley, daughter of Mr. George William and Alice Victoria Kearley, of Elm Park, Brixton. The bridesmaids were:—The two Kays (Madeline and Fedora), Miss Camilla Feo, sisters of the bride, and Miss Mary Jones; Master George Jones was train bearer; both devoted friends of the bride. The happy pair are passing their enjoyable honeymoon at Brighton.

SHEPHERD'S BUSH EMPIRE ANNIVERSARY.

The Shepherd's Bush Empire—a palace of smoke and song that has enjoyed the steady patronage of variety lovers from its opening night—celebrated its third birthday on Tuesday, when the fine hall was crowded in every part at both performances, hundreds having to be satisfied with standing room—and very little of that. The programme was of the usual festival proportions, and included many entertainers of the front rank, so many "extras" being in attendance that few of the artists in the regular bill were called upon to answer to their numbers. Amongst the volunteers who appeared at the second house, few were accorded a heartier welcome than Miss Lottie Collins, the popular comedienne, singing with all her well-known archness and vivacity "The Little Widow." Applause was also lavished on her daughter, Miss José Collins, for her tuneful selection; and Miss Alice Hollander's fine rendering of "The Lost Chord" gave evident delight. The many humorists appearing included Mr. Tom Woottwell, with his quietly droll ditty, "The little shirt my mother made for me"; Mr. Arthur Lennard, who gave his familiar and funny "Cigar" song; Mr. Walter Emerson, whose mirth-moving selection was "Here's another one off to America"; Mr. Tom Leamore, with his quaint impersonation of a County Council parkkeeper, with much droll patter; Mr. Wilson Hallett, who scored with his funny and truthful mimicry of children; and Mr. Alf. Lester, in his laughter-compelling and original interlude, The Scene-shifter's Lament, one of the most enjoyable items in the programme. Percival submitted clever imitations of a musical box and organ on the piano; Dunningarto was watched with interest and loudly applauded for some smart conjuring and neat card-palming; the difficult pas de deux of Espinosa and Neilson was acclaimed at its proper value; and Miss Hettie Chattell, looking very smart in male evening dress, contributed an appreciated song, "That's what I call love." Miss Ethel Netherton, who has recently seceded from comic opera in order to delight variety audiences, also figured as a male impersonator. She made a "fetching" appearance in her smart attire, and scored an unmistakable hit. This clever and attractive comedienne sang with capital effect "Don't believe it" and two other numbers. Miss Netherton made an excellent "boy." Miss Nina Martino was loudly cheered for her pleasing rendering of "Eyes of blue"; Maud and Sydney Wood, who evidently possess much of the family talent, were seen in a very attractive and well-executed song and dance, and the Three Cairo Girls gave a spirited number, "Have you seen my soldier boy?" Miniature Marie contributed some life-like impressions of George Lashwood and 'Gene Stratton in one of his coon songs; and Miss Ena Richards, Miss Daisy Davidson, and Miss Beatrice Edwards were all responsible for numbers that contributed to the enjoyment of the audience. Mr. John Le Hay, the versatile and clever actor, was the central figure in a humorous playlet, Poor Beggar, and the popular Brothers Horne also appeared with success in a funny interlude.

The programmes at the two houses also included such well-known artists as John L. Shine, Jack Lorimer, Rose Hamilton, Griff, May Henderson, Annie Purcell, Mamie Cannon, George French, Sylvia Du Barri, Fred Herbert, Clive Watts, Hal Forde, the Brothers Lang, Lottie Lennox, R. H. Douglass, Nelson's Newsboys, Ernie Mayne, the mysterious Mr. "E.," Gwennie Hasto, G. H. Elliott, Nat Clifford, Clarice Netta, Dolly Harmer, Clark and Hamilton, Percy Honri, Harry Grey, Arthur Royd, Miss Tree, Virginia and Piccs, and others. Time alone prevented many artists who were in waiting from showing. The working of the stage was particularly smart, and in this direction Mr. Will Collins, Mr. Bertie Sheldon, and Mr. Ernest Aplin, amongst others, are to be complimented. The band, under the direction of Mr. George Richardson, who specially composed and arranged for the occasion the overture, "Echoes of the Empire," are also to be congratulated on their arduous evening's work. Every courtesy was extended to the visitors by Mr. Will A. Bennett, Moss and Stoll's Press representative.

THE LATE FRANK WEEKS AND THE M.H.B.F.

TO THE EDITOR OF THE ERA.

SIR,—As announced last week in The Era, at the date of Mr. F. Weeks's death his pence box in aid of the fund contained £5 8s. His constant solicitude for the pensioners on this fund, and the poor music hall artists who apply every week for aid, was beyond estimate. It was strong in his last moments, when between the intervals of pain he would ask his wife, "How is the box going on?" His constant efforts were the efforts of a good man labouring to advance the cause of charity. In a genuine case of distress his first thought was how best to assist the applicant, and no pains or trouble were spared to accomplish that end. He was fully aware that many came for assistance who had never done anything to deserve it; but he would always stretch a point to try and lift them up to better things. It may be truly said that he was fully imbued with the "business of charity," and his grasp of the whole thing was what might be expected of one who had the spirit of discipline in his nature.

His attendance at weekly meetings of the committee were punctual and regular, and both as member, vice-chairman, and chairman (which latter position he held when he died) he brought to bear the experience of years of military order and precision. He was rapid in forming his decisions, and of the thousands of cases that came before him he was rarely, if ever, wrong. By the death of Mr. Weeks the poorer members of the music hall profession have lost a real friend. The results of his pence-box collections are well known, and if other managers would only follow his example, it would be unnecessary for the fund to go further for support.

Mr. Frank Weeks, always enthusiastic, collected over £50 a year. If from the other halls a point were made of collecting only £10 each in a like period this object would be gained. No one would object to subscribe if asked in return for a gratuitous seat. What Mr. Weeks has so nobly done can be done, and, in the interest of the poor, should be done, by others, and the thanks of those relieved would be the reward. Let us hope that the good he has done will not die with him, but lead others to follow his example, and so bring help to those who cannot help themselves. We none of us know what is in store for us, and the query, Who shall be the next to ask for aid? may well suggest itself.—Yours truly,

A MEMBER OF THE COMMITTEE.

"HER LAST DANCE."

TO THE EDITOR OF THE ERA.

SIR,—Will Mr. Norman Harvey, who claims the right to the above title, kindly inform me, where and when he produced his piece, Her Last Dance, twelve years ago; also, where he acted the play on August Bank Holiday, Aug. 6, 1906. Until such proofs are forthcoming, I shall consider the title, Her Last Dance, to be my exclusive property by right of public performance at the Empire, New Cross, July 17, 1906.—Yours faithfully,

ROLAND OLIVER.

"WHEN IT WAS DARK."
Manager Fred Morgan, of the Theatre Royal, Norwich,
says:—
As good a play as "The Sign of the Cross." There is a fortune in it. I cannot see how it can fail.

This unsolicited expression of opinion comes from a manager who for over a quarter of a century has been associated with the highest forms of dramatic art, and whose wide experience and vast knowledge make his opinion of great value.

Is Higher Praise Possible?

Manager Francis Laidler, of the Prince's Theatre, Bradford,
said:—
"A fine play. Will make a lot of money."
Manager C. Imeson,
of the
Theatre Royal, Middlesbrough,
said:—
"Delighted with it. A great play."
Manager E. Shirrah, Theatre Royal, Manchester,
said:—
"There are great moments in the play."
Manager Eastwood,
Colosseum Theatre, Oldham,
said:—
"A fine play. Beautiful."
Manager Hardy,
Theatre Royal, Rotherham,
says:—
"Not only my circle, but my pit and gallery have been alike in their verdict. It is one of the most interesting stories they have ever had the pleasure of witnessing."

But One Opinion
in all Classes of Theatres,
"A great play."

Bristol Magpie:—
"When it was Dark" is a play in ten thousand."
Independent.
A play equal to "The Sign of the Cross."—Sheffield.
Mercury.
Its conception is clever and strikingly original, and the experience is a tense revelation in dramatic art.—Bristol.
The Magpie.
To those who would acquire the beauty of a great thought, "When it was Dark" will supply it.—Bristol.
The Times.
It is a play that is bound to make one think. It has a wonderful depth, a wonderful hold upon the audience, and it was set forth at the Theatre Royal last night with such a completeness and vividness of colouring that, whilst it was at times weird, it at others inspired awe. The acting and mounting reaches a standard which has never been excelled, and rarely equalled, at the Theatre Royal, for many years at any rate.—Bristol.
The Guardian.
It cannot be seriously urged that there is an ground for an opinion other than that the play is a most remarkable one, and that it is admirably conceived, and is as educative as it is interesting.—Crewe.
Midland Telegraph.
A more remarkable, brilliantly-conceived, interesting, and, in a great measure, educative play one has not seen for many a day.
Further expressions from the Press of
Oldham, Bolton, Bradford, Chatham, Middlesbrough, Burton, &c., &c.
A great thought.
A play which will live for years.
A bold, but meritorious effort, to lift dramatic art to its true level.
All should see this wonderful play, which will do much good.
Appeals with intensity to all sections of the community.
Nothing so daring, so original, so enthralling, has been seen on the stage before.
Other plays dealing with religious questions have been written before, but none have approached this in grandeur of conception.

Extracts from Hull Press: Patrons of the Alexandra Theatre have not for a long period been afforded an opportunity of witnessing a drama of such exceptional merit as that entitled "As Good as Gold."—Hull Daily News, Aug. 14, 1906. There was no doubt whatever at the Alexandra Theatre last night of the great grip "As Good as Gold" gained upon the audience. . . . Certainly every art of modern stagecraft in portraying sudden destruction seemed to have been used with thoroughness and ingenuity.—The Daily Mail, Aug. 14, 1906. Murmurs of pleasure were heard on all sides last night as each new scene was presented, and a large audience was delighted with the whole production. . . . The piece was throughout an unqualified success.—Eastern Morning News, Aug. 14, 1906. Mr. Barnard saw the production and booked Aston, Smethwick, and Chatham. THE ERA ANNUAL, 1906.
"The Era" Annual, 1906, is welcome as containing carefully compiled lists of the pieces produced during the past year in London, the suburbs, and the provinces, in Paris, and in Berlin. The rest of it is curious and entertaining reading. There is the almanack with its "memorabilia of theatrical events occurrences, &c." There are besides a score of stories and other articles contributed by theatricals a very good one being Miss Louie Freear's set of verses, "'Boy Bob' at Sea," which has humour, feeling, and swing. The book contains many theatrical portraits. As a book of reference the Annual is of great use and value, and while some of its contents doubtless appeal more keenly to the professional than to the outsider, any thoughtful person may derive from its study much amusement and no little insight into the conditions, the magnitude, and the complexity of the English theatre of to-day.—Morning Post, Jan. 22.

RE APPLICATIONS FOR ENGAGEMENTS

All applications by either Artists or their Agents must be made to the Head Office.

Lowest terms must be stated, and distinction made between salaries required for larger and smaller towns.

Vacant dates should be stated. If a list of existing bookings be sent, it will render selection easier.

Artists employing Agents should accredit one only at one time, as the friction arising when several Agents are employed at the same time, all expecting the one booking to go through each of them, often renders it expedient to avoid that booking altogether rather than give undeserved offence to several Agents.

New Acts seeking engagements, or turns not rebooked (possibly because they have played a series of dates without introducing new business), will facilitate matters by having their acts seen by our District Managers. Their Districts and Postal Addresses are as follows:—

MANCHESTER, LIVERPOOL, AND DISTRICT.
MR. ALAN W. YOUNG,
Empire Theatre, Liverpool.

EDINBURGH, GLASGOW, NEWCASTLE, AND DISTRICT.
MR. S. GETHING,
Empire Theatre, Glasgow.

LEEDS, SHEFFIELD, HULL, BRADFORD, AND DISTRICT.
MR. T. GERALD MORTON,
Empire Palace, Leeds.

BIRMINGHAM, NOTTINGHAM, LEICESTER, AND DISTRICT.
MR. HATTON WHARTON,
Empire Theatre, Nottingham.

SOUTH WALES DISTRICT.
MR. W. LEA,
Empire Theatre, Cardiff.

LONDON DISTRICT.
MR. WILLIAM COLLINS,
The Empire, Shepherd's Bush, W.

N.B.—Mr. OSWALD STOLL or Mr. FRANK ALLEN can be seen by appointment on all matters arising out of the above, and for the discussion of entirely new Numbers.

All Artists or Agents who communicate with our District Representatives must have made definite applications, in accordance with above directions, to the Head Office, at the same time, or just previously.

THE GREATEST LIFE ILLUSION OF THE AGE.

"THE CHRONOPHONE."

A marvellous adaptation of modern mechanism, by the means of which the movements and gestures of the artist thrown upon the screen are made to perfectly synchronise with the sung or spoken sounds of a talking machine, the action and sound being in such perfect harmony, that the eye and ear are appealed to at once, and the life illusion is complete.

Professional Outfit, consisting of an Elge Chrono-Bioscope, complete Synchronising Apparatus, including Switchboards, etc. Extra accessories, including Reproducing Diaphragm; Needles; Shutters, etc. Price complete as above, £160.

The Latest Chronophone Subjects.

These subjects are destined to be great successes, and Showmen will do well by being in hand with their orders.

"HOME TO OUR MOUNTAINS."
From Verdi's "Il Trovatore."
By Miss Edith Albord and Mr. Frank Rowe, of the Lyric Theatre, Shaftesbury Avenue, London.

"THE MISSERERI."
From Verdi's "Il Trovatore."
By Miss Edith Albord and Mr. Frank Rowe, of the Lyric Theatre, Shaftesbury Avenue, London.
The above subjects are beautifully staged. The soprano and tenor duets are very fine.

"THE LORD HIGH EXECUTIONER."
From Sir Arthur Sullivan's "Mikado."
By Mr. George Russell, and gentlemen of the Savoy Theatre, London.
A fine male voice chorus. Beautifully staged with Japanese costumes, etc.

"ANIMAL IMITATIONS."
By Mr. Gilbert Gerard, of the Alhambra, London, etc., etc.
A very fine rendering by this well-known artist in his own inimitable style.

BLACK BEAUTY.

A gentleman leaves his house for a ride in the country, mounted on his favourite horse. He passes through some very fine scenery. While riding through a lovely wood, he is suddenly attacked by two tramps, who have been lying in wait for him in the undergrowth. The sharpness of the attack overpowers the man. He is dragged from his horse and relieved of all his valuables. The two plunderers leave their victim in a semi-conscious state. The injured man, upon reason gradually returning, calls his companion to him, and with a knowledge of the animal's wonderful powers tells him to return home for aid. Black Beauty, with almost human understanding, races back to the house, and taking the handle in his mouth pulls the bell. His mistress coming outside views with dismay the riderless horse, and quickly mounting allows him to take her to where his master lies. Dismounting, she soon realises her husband cannot possibly be moved without assistance. She takes from his pocket pencil and paper, scribbles a short note, asking for help to be sent immediately, and attaches the note to the steed's saddle. Then talking to the animal, she instructs him where and how to go, and the intelligent creature dashes off. Tearing along he goes to the Police Office, walks into the courtyard, gains an entrance, and the Inspector on duty soon discovers the note. He quickly grasps the situation, and calling a constable explains what is required. A stretcher is obtained, and following in the horse's steps they are soon brought to the scene. Lifting the poor man carefully on to the stretcher they take him home.

Length 475 feet. Price £11 7s. 6d.

LATEST FILM.

THE WORLD'S WIZARD.

The earth, revolving in space, meets with a tremendous upheaval. Every continent splits apart from the world in a holocaust of flame and smoke, and the "World's Wizard" rises like a phœnix from its ashes. Taking each separate continent in his hands he transforms them into smaller globes, which he throws from him. Each globe as it falls bursts open, and a symbolical figure emerges from each shattered ball. Having produced five charming feminine forms, representing Europe, Asia, Africa, America, and Australia, our Wizard changes each one into articles typical of the country. Asia is transformed into a large ivory tusk, and into this he throws the cotton of America, the gold of Australia, and the diamonds of Africa. These commodities mysteriously change to stars, which float into the sky from the tusk, each star containing the face of one of the maidens. Blowing through the tusk, the magician sends out a mystic vapour which condenses into a moon. Showers of streaming ribbons flutter from the edge of the moon as it makes a revolution, and then parting, disclosing fair Luna, Goddess of the Night. At the Wizard's command the moon changes to the crescent, and Luna disappears within the mysterious tusk, but quickly floats out again as the Wizard breathes through the magic horn. Placing the crescent under the recumbent goddess, the "World's Wizard" and the lovely Luna float off on their "honey"-moon through space.

THE ERA ANNUAL, 1906
"The Era" Annual again makes its welcome appearance. I say welcome because, as a work of theatrical reference, it is always handy to have in the house—or office. In this connection I am glad to note that the lists of play-productions for the past year are given in better type and altogether in a much clearer manner. As of yore, there are sundry stories in prose and verse. The best of these include "Stage Superstitions," by Charles Warner; "Boy Bob at Sea," a poem by Louie Freear; "The Last Muster," a weird tragic military story, by Mr. Joseph Wilson, who has been a soldier himself; and "Nellie Bligh's Notices," a capital theatrical story, by Mr. Frank Desprez.—Referee, Jan. 28, 1906.

THE ERA ANNUAL, 1906.
"The Era" Annual for 1906, published at a shilling from 5, Tavistock-street, Strand, combines utility and entertainment. Its former aspect is exemplified by the record of the plays produced last year in London, the provinces, Paris, and Berlin; it also includes an obituary for the year, and lists of the United Kingdom's theatres and music halls. The attractive side of the Annual comprises numerous stories by stage celebrities, whose portraits illustrate the text. It is a delightful budget of good things. Mr. T. P. O'Connor's appreciation of the late Sir Henry Irving is brief, but tender and impressive.—Financier, Jan. 23, '06.

THE ERA ANNUAL, 1906.
"The Era" Almanac and Annual for 1906, is not only a valuable collection of information and a history of the dramatic and musical year. It is also a very amusing and entertaining shillingsworth It contains contributions from many well-known actors and actresses. Mr. Frank Desprez, the editor, ocntributes a delightful story about an actress who sold her collection of Press notices in order to help a colleague in distress. There are numerous portraits. The lists of English, French, and German plays produced during the year are very useful. Altogether, "The Era" Almanack is indispensable to all interested in the stage.—The Star, Jan. 24, 1906.

THE ERA ANNUAL, 1906.
"The Era" Annual, 1906, is welcome as containing carefully compiled lists of the pieces produced during the past year in London, the suburbs, and the provinces, in Paris, and in Berlin. The rest of it is curious and entertaining reading. There is the almanack with its "memorabilia of theatrical events occurrences, &c." There are besides a score of stories and other articles contributed by theatricals a very good one being Miss Louie Freear's set of verses, "'Boy Bob' at Sea," which has humour, feeling, and swing. The book contains many theatrical portraits. As a book of reference the Annual is of great use and value, and while some of its contents doubtless appeal more keenly to the professional than to the outsider, any thoughtful person may derive from its study much amusement and no little insight into the conditions, the magnitude, and the complexity of the English theatre of to-day.—Morning Post, Jan. 22.

AUTUMN TOURS.

WE ARE NOW VERY BUSY CLEANING DRESSES FOR AUTUMN TOURS, but have plenty of room, and, like Oliver Twist WE ASK FOR MORE.

We are also very busy Cleaning and Renovating Tableaux Curtains and Draperies from London and Country Theatres and Music Halls.

We still hold the field as Cleaners and Dyers to the Theatrical and Music Hall Professions. This fact is clearly proved by the unsolicited testimonials we are continually receiving.

Professional work takes precedence over all other orders.

BY ALBERT A. STRONG, LL.B.

"The Law of Copyright for Actor and Composer," by Albert A. Strong, LL.B., solicitor, author of "Dramatic and Musical Law" ("The Era" office), seems to be the one compendious and indispensable authority on the subject, as vexed as the "Bermoothes" and as tortuous as a Chancery suit, that has long been wanted. It is in every essential a text book for the perplexed layman, and no solicitor or barrister worth his salt ought to think of taking or appearing in "proceedings" without consulting its pages. It must suffice, after what has been said, to state little more than that the contents include five chapters, respectively named "Copyright as Opposed to Performing Right," "Performing Right," "Infringement and Remedies," "Musical Copyright," and "International and Colonial Copyright." The work, for all its precise authority, is not dry reading. The statutes, with the elucidatory notes, necessarily impose a task on the reader which takes some tackling, but they had to be there. The cases adduced, however, are full of interest. Certain of them might fitly find a place in the romance of copyright. There was the fight of Charles Reade with George Conquest over "It's Never Too Late to Mend," for instance, and the equally interesting conflict of Mr. J. A. Cave with Chatterton over "The Wandering Jew." The latter was a famous battle. Chatterton took it to the House of Lords, and was finally beaten, to the unspeakable relief of Mr. Cave, who is never weary of relating the story. Had the result been otherwise, it would have meant his ruin. I well remember meeting him on the day of his victory and "crashing a cup with him" in honour of the same. "The Law of Copyright" is dedicated to Mr. A. W. Pinero.—Sportsman.

Mr. A. A. Strong has published a book on "The Law of Copyright for Actor and Composer," which should be in the hands of everyone who is obliged to know about this perplexing subject. Dramatic copyright in England is in a particularly unsatisfactory state, and it is much to be hoped that ere long some more rational method of securing protection for a play may be devised than the slovenly and sometimes costly "production for copyright purposes," which is at present required.—St. James's Gazette.

(FROM OUR OWN CORRESPONDENTS.)

ACCRINGTON.—PRINCE'S THEATRE.—Proprietor, Mr. J. B. Ormerod; Acting-Manager, Mr. J. E. Barnes.—Mr. Mark Blow's company opened here on Monday with At Cripple Creek. Mr. Stanley Bedwell gave a manly performance of Joe Mansfield; Mr. J. G. Mayne made a capable Manuel Alvarez; Mr. Charles H. Lester was distinctly good as Martin Mason; Mr. W. Hook was a breezy Reggie; Mr. S. Benson gave an excellent delineation of Ben White; a clever performance was that of Dynamite Ann by Miss Agnes Verity; Miss Daisy Carlton achieved success as Maggie Mason; and Miss Lily Beagle acted Belle Gordon with great charm.

HIPPODROME.—Proprietors, Messrs. Willmot, Vandy, Potter, and Weisker; Acting-Manager, Mr. L. Campkin.—An excellent bill here this week includes Creamer and Braun, in their great racing act, Horse versus Cyclist; the Brothers Lillian, society acrobats; Rose Waller, vocal comedienne; the Bohemians (Will and Madge), in a clever musical turn; Harry Claff, with well-rendered numbers; Stave, a versatile and comic instrumentalist; J. W. Foster, a quaint comedian; and the Society Quartette. Some good pictures are shown on the bioscope.

ALDERSHOT.—ROYAL.—Lessee and Manager, Mr. Clarence Sounes; Acting-Manager, Mr. G. Williams.—The sensational drama The Branded Woman is being played here this week by Messrs. Stillwell and Teulon's company, and obtains a very hearty reception. As Philip Maurice Mr. James Stillwell appears with decided effect, his powerful acting and resonant voice being well suited to the rôle. Miss Zana St. George scores a complete success as Genevieve; Mr. Harry Liddle is a loquacious and ludicrous representative of Brown; Mr. Edwin Turner does well as Leon; and as the French Anarchist Mr. Paul E. Teulon is successful; whilst Mr. D. Bell as Zarka is well placed. Marie is ably played by Miss I. Marte; and as Rudolph Miss V. Barley-Clarke is good.

ASHTON-UNDER-LYNE.—THEATRE ROYAL.—Sole Owner and Manager, Mr. Chas. Revill; Acting-Manager, Mr. Armstrong Fairbairn. — For Wakes week the Theatre Royal re-opened its doors with a performance of the stirring American drama, entitled A Fight for Millions, Mr. Robt. Perris's company being responsible for its interpretation. There are numerous effective situations in the piece. In the second act the progress of the play is arrested for a space, and a song is sung by Mr. Perris, "Pal of Mine," illustrated with coloured pictures. Mr. Jno. C. Carlyle, as the hero, an inventor of the wireless ocean telephone, plays with manly vigour; Mr. Robert Perris is a gentlemanly villain; Miss Eva Purcell as Pearl Rivers appeals very forcibly to the sympathies of the house as the heroine; Miss Elma C. Turner as the deserted wife of the principal villain also touches many hearts; Miss Doris Howe is also very lovable as Little Madge; and Miss Lottie Pearce does good work as Betty and Mag Brady. Miss Nora Kingsley cleverly represents the anxious and self-sacrificing mother; and Mr. Karl H. Edwards is very funny as the Jew accomplice of the villain.

EMPIRE HIPPODROME.—Proprietors, Messrs. W. H. Broadhead and Sons; Manager, Mr. W. B. Broadhead; Acting-Manager, Mr. Percy B. Broadhead; Resident Acting-Manager, Mr. W. Leech. — A number of "star turns" have been secured here. Bernard Katz, who is billed as the great Hebrew basso, possesses a voice phenomenal in depth and pure in sonority of tone; Frederica's toy terriers and well-trained pony, "Dot," display great intelligence; Anna Kenwick is an extremely prepossessing and well-dressed young lady; Espinosa and Edwards, in The Coon's Holiday, give pleasing examples of violin and banjo playing; the lady, Mlle. Judith Espinosa, from the Alhambra, London, adding an extraordinary exhibition of terpsichore; the Frantz Family are remarkably expert as creators of fun in their act, Happy School Times, their acrobatic exercises being very neat; May and Eugerie introduce an attractive "turn" in their Anglo-French quick-change singing novelty; The Land Grabbers is a funny parody; and Will Freedo and George Edney are two able entertainers. The Bioscope shows a series of amusing pictures.

ATTERCLIFFE.—THEATRE ROYAL, LIMITED.—Managing-Director, Mr. F. Macnaghten. — Drama supersedes pictures here for one week, the boards being occupied by Messrs W. Alexander-Dallas and Hubert Carson's company in a picturesque American drama, The Great Wilderness. The principal parts in a lengthy cast are sustained by Messrs. Leonard Williams, Edward Leroy, C. M. Davidson, Theodore Hill, Arthur Lowry, J. Woods, Robert A. Earl; Misses Blanche Leroy, Kitty McPherson, Hazel Dent, and Miss Eva Leyton.

PALACE THEATRE OF VARIETIES.—Proprietor, Mr. T. Allan Edwardes; Acting-Manager, Mr. J. Lacy Lyne; Assistant-Manager, Mr. S. H. Laycock.—A strong and diversified programme is submitted here this week, and meets with hearty approval. A welcome turn is furnished by the Regal Operatic Quartette, who give selections from Maritana in costume, Mr. Edward Wynne as Don Cæsar de Bazan, Mr. Albert German as Don Jose and King of Spain, Mlle. Adele Prescott as Maritana, and Mme. Marie Burnett as Lazarillo, all render their songs in faultless style. Miss Ruby Bijou is a dainty dancer in charming costumes; the Prinellas are most acceptable in A Country Flirtation; Picitt and Lizette, in a pantomimic episode, The Demon Chef, introduce some remarkably clever and novel conjuring illusions; Mr. E. C. Clayton's popular pictures on the Attergraph are as heartily received as ever; and other turns are provided by Toney, society silfleur; Vincent, acrobatic table expert; and Mr. George French, comedian.

AYR.—NEW GAIETY THEATRE.—Managing-Director, Mr. R. C. Buchanan; Acting-Manager, Mr. Harry W. Day.—The theatre is occupied this week by Miss Alice Chaplin's company in A Pantomime Rehearsal. Mr. Harry Welchman makes the most of the character of Jack Deedes; Mr. Malcolm J. Cumming is particularly good as Sir Chas. Grandison; the Lord Arthur Pomeroy and Captain Tom Robertson of Mr. Fredk. Park and Mr. Harold Chapin are made excruciatingly funny; and Tompkins, the footman, is well played by Mr. Clifford Standing. Miss Alice Capin is well placed in the part of Lady Muriel Beauclerc. The Pantomime Rehearsal is preceded by a two-act comic opera, A Knight Errant, in which Mr. Frederick Park as Duke de Cabreau and Mr. Harry Welchman as Captain Perdre particularly distinguish themselves. Some rather pretty songs are introduced, for which Mr. Harold Chapin and Miss Alice Chapin are responsible.

BARNSTAPLE.—THEATRE ROYAL.—Proprietors, the Bridge Trustees; Manager, Mr. Harry Ashton.—San Toy paid another visit here this week, and that its attractiveness has in no way diminished was proved by the reception given to Mr. Robert Macdonald's company, who presented the piece for two nights. In her impersonation of the title-rôle Miss Mora Hersee embodied qualities of good acting and brilliant singing, and deservedly merited the unstinted praise accorded; Miss Maud Lucy, as the vivacious lady's maid, secured many encores for her songs and dances; Miss Althea Hyde made a distinctive hit as Poppy; Mr. Victor G. Huntley possesses a fine voice and uses it to great advantage in the part of Captain Bobby; Mr. Harry Turner contributed many bright moments with a humorous rendering of the irascible old Consul, Sir Bingo Preston; the evergreen Chinaman is always sure of a welcome, and Mr. Bert Barton added appreciably to his reputation in the part; as the Emperor, Mr. Fred Storrie gave an admirable likeness of the sensual potentate; Mr. Grahame Herrington did ample justice to the part of the imperious mandarin, Yen How; and Mr. Scott Rae gave full effect to the vindictive intentions of the Chinese student. One of the cleverest items was the pas seul of Miss Ethel Twitchen.

BARROW-IN-FURNESS. — ROYALTY THEATRE AND OPERA HOUSE.—Lessee and Manager, Mr. Hugh Robertson; Resident-Manager, Mr. George Stone.—Mr. Dickie Clare's company is here with Lucky Liza. He himself as Silas Slim creates much fun; Mr. Dan Ryan also is accountable for much laughter as William Biffins; Mr. Leonard Maitland is capitally suited as Paul Pettitoe; and Miss Vesta Brownie makes an interesting and pleasing Virginia Blatherwick. In the title-rôle Miss Madge Brownie is a great success.

HIS MAJESTY'S THEATRE.—Lessees and Managers, Mr. and Mrs. Calvert Routledge.—Miss Loie Esmond's company is here this week with The Sorrows of Satan. As prince Lucio Romanez Mr. Edward Neville fills the rôle capably; Mr. W. H. Wilson gives an excellent impersonation of Geoffrey Tempest; Miss L. Esmond as Diana Cheaney is clever; Miss Flora Leslie as Lady Sibyl Elton leaves nothing to be desired; and Miss Rosa Neville as Mavis Clare makes the most of the part.

TIVOLI.—Sole Lessee and Manager, Signor Pepi; Stage-Manager, Mr. T. Whitney.—At the top of the bill here are Barney, Burk, and Bray, another performing pony, who creates a deal of laughter. The Jackley Trio are responsible for a refined and humorous acrobatic drawing-room entertainment; Mdlle. Rénee is a most delightful musician, and her selections on the ocarina are exceedingly clever; the Sisters Wingrove are exceedingly clever dancers and duettists; and Raglas is distinctly good in the manipulation of tennis balls.

BATH.—PALACE THEATRE.—Proprietor, Mr. Frank Macnaghten; Manager, Mr. Chas. Schubert.—Davis and Gledhill's novel and ingenious bicycle act is drawing crowds here; George Bastow is popular; McCann's performing Irish terriers and wonderful leaping hounds are received with loud applause; Florence Yaymen, coon singer and agile dancer, wins applause; and the Jalvans, Oriental entertainers, and Downes and Langford, comedians and dancers, are each on successful return visits. W. B. Raby, comedian, also appears. Raymond's Bio-Tableaux are showing amusing films.

BEDFORD.—ROYAL COUNTY THEATRE.—Lessee and Manager, Mr. E. Graham-Falcon; Acting-Manager, Mr. Walter R. Wilson.—The boards are occupied this week by a vaudeville company. Miss May de Freece's songs and dances are highly appreciated; and Miss Ella Rose proved herself a charming vocalist; Mr. Harry Carter causes much amusement as a character comedian; the Sisters Cleave, as duettists and dancers, leave nothing to be desired; and Mr. Bernard Bransby acquits himself satisfactorily in his songs.

BELFAST.—THEATRE ROYAL.—Managing-Director, Mr. Fred W. Warden; Acting-Manager, Mr. James M. McCann.—Mr. William Greet's No. 1 company opened here on Monday in The Sign of the Cross, which met with much success from a capital audience. The acting calls for special praise, chief honours being due to that clever actor, Mr. Frank E. Petley, for his skilful impersonation of Marcus Superbus. Miss Marie Leonhard furnishes a sweet and sympathetic impersonation of the pure-minded Mercia, and the craftiness of Tigellinus is realistically portrayed by Mr. Charles Aldred. Mr. C. Yorke's impersonation of Nero is perfect; and much amusement is created by Mr. Frank Wood, who appears to advantage as the bibulous Glabrio. Miss Effie Dare must be congratulated on her striking impersonation of Stephanas. The rôle of Berenis is ably sustained by Miss Gertrude Price; and a dignified impersonation of Poppœa is furnished by Miss Mary Newcombe. Miss Cissie Carlton's Dacia has much to commend it, being quite a charming interpretation; and other rôles are admirably sustained by Messrs. Walter Fleet, George Stanton, J. Weatherall, H. Thurston-Harris, and Roy Cushing. The songs by Miss Beatrice Felsted and the dances by Miss Gladys Gordon are features of the production.

PALACE THEATRE OF VARIETIES.—Proprietors, Warden, Ltd.; Managing-Director, Mr. Fred W. Warden; General Manager, Mr. J. de Frece; Resident Manager, Mr. George Harris.—Another fine company is provided this week, and this beautiful theatre is securing vast patronage from all classes of the community. Mr. Herbert Darnley's company of comedians appear in two mirth-provoking sketches, The Skirmishers and Moving In, which have been most successful, the large audience being kept in perfect shrieks of merriment. The Poluski Bros. uphold their reputation as fun-makers, appearing to much advantage in their entertainment entitled Laughs, and a good reception has been extended to Mr. Michael Nolan, the famous Irish entertainer, whose songs have been enthusiastically received. Mr. Harry Carsdale's mimicry is certainly realistic; and the dancing of Doyle and Marney has been voted first-class. Also appearing are Mr. Alf. Barton, raconteur; Miss Edie Rivers, comedienne and dancer; Mr. Arthur Croxon, comedian; Little Olga Keen, juvenile comedienne and dancer; and the Palace Pictures, which are very interesting.

EMPIRE THEATRE OF VARIETIES, LTD.—General-Manager, Mr. Frank Allen; Acting-Manager, Mr. John S. Walker.—The star here this week is Mr. J. W. Rickaby, whose comic songs have been hugely enjoyed. A good reception has been extended to the Russian Imperial Troupe of singers, whose dancing is first-class. Orpheus furnishes a capital turn in his entertainment entitled A Solitary Rehearsal, phonograph effects being supplied by the Edison Bell Company. Walton and Lester evoke much merriment with their funny act, their burlesque conjuring being exceedingly smart; and the sweet vocalisation of Miss Edith Courtney has been enthusiastically received. Frances and Alfred, comedy jugglers; Dot Harvey, comedienne; and Miss Georgina Leonard, burlesque actress, complete a fine programme.

NEW ALHAMBRA THEATRE OF VARIETIES. — General-Manager, Mr. Henry T. Downs.—The success of the dramatic season here continues to be unabated, and this week the Alhambra Dramatic company (under the direction of Mr. M. Montgomery, jun.) produce the fine drama, A Woman's Redemption. The rôle of Bernard Sutcliffe is cleverly sustained by Mr. Herbert Cecil, capital in every rôle he undertakes; and nothing but praise must be accorded that talented emotional actress, Miss Nina Blake-Adams, for her sympathetic impersonation of Mary Griffiths. Mr. Horace Denton is an admirable Jem Lee, his acting being worthy of high commendation; and Mr. J. F. Pearce makes the most of his opportunities as Farmer Griffiths; Mr. Cyril Grier deserves credit for his skilful impersonation of Mr. Lowe; and Miss Lina Nazeby fills the difficult rôle of Ruth, the gipsy, with distinction. The humour of the piece is sustained by Mr. W. G. Wesley as Claudius, and Miss Effie Macintosh as Sally, and they succeeded in creating much merriment. Mr. H. Arnold Allen as Rev. John Ganthony, and Mr. J. M. William as Harris completed the cast. Mr. Herbert Cecil is responsible for the admirable stage management.

BILSTON.—THEATRE ROYAL.—Lessee and Manager, Mr. H. Battersby; Manageress, Miss Grace Battersby.—The chief attraction here this week is formed by a series of animated photographs, depicting the great glove contest for the light-weight championship of the world between Jimmy Brett and Battling Nelson, on Sept. 9, 1905. Other interesting items are songs and dances by the Friscoe Girls, and an exhibition of ball-punching by Kid Gwynn.

AL-FRESCO, PAVILION. — Proprietor, Mr. H. Battersby.—A novel feature this week is the presentation by the Imperial Pierrots of a pantomime sketch of Aladdin. Miss Edie Sinclair makes a charming and winsome boy; Mr. Alf. Brookes does well as Abanazar; and Mr. Syd Bazley convulses the audience as Widow Twanky.

BIRKENHEAD.—NEW THEATRE ROYAL.—Lessee, Mr. W. W. Kelly; Acting-Manager, Mr. Charles Bell.—Mr. J. Bannister Howard's No. 1 company in the popular musical comedy Florodora is again proving an irresistible attraction here. On the present occasion Mr. Alf. E. Passmore assumes the rôle of Tweedlepunch, and right well does he acquit himself, the impersonation being brimful of humour. Mr. Allman Morris is an excellent Frank Abercold, displaying considerable vocal ability; Cyrus W. Gilpin is capitally played by Mr. Stanley White, and Mr. H. St. John is well suited as Captain Donegal; Miss Josephine Sullivan gives a fine and telling rendering of Dolores, which is received with evident delight; Miss Kate Leicester displays exceptional ability as Lady Holyrood; Miss Lily Gullick scores many points as Angela Gilfain; and a numerous cast contains many competent artists. The chorus is a prominent feature, and the comedy is staged with commendable liberality.

ARGYLE THEATRE OF VARIETIES.—Manager, Mr. D. J. Clark.—An excellent all-round company is headed by Mr. Percy Honri, who by his skilful manipulation of the concertina and amusing witticisms, easily constitutes himself first favourite. Conway and Leland, one-legged artistes, are also comedians of the first water, and Miss Bertha Duckett, a clever coon vocalist, has made a hit. Johnny Alexander and company in the well sustained sketch, Our Lodger, are a decided acquisition; and a diversified programme is also supported by Mr. A. G. Spry, comedian; Mr. James Lowery, the singing furnaceman; Mr. Peter Barman, Scotch comedian; Miss Rose Finnetti, top-boot dancer, etc., and Burns's Royal Bioscope. Mr. Ernest Denney is musical director.

BIRMINGHAM.—THEATRE ROYAL.—Managing-Director, Mr. Tom B. Davis; Acting-Manager, Mr. Philip Rodway.—Two Little Vagabonds, well presented by Messrs. Hardie and Von Leer's company constitutes the attraction here. Mr. William Fazan is eminently satisfactory as the hero, George Thornton; Mr. Henry Watson depicts the villainous nature of Capt. Darvillo with clever tact; Mr. John F. Traynor makes the utmost of that amusing reprobate, Bill Mullins; and his associates, Dido Bunce and the Cough Drop, are cleverly enacted by Messrs. Ernest K. Nelson and Fred Archer; Mr. Edmund Cuthbert does good work as John Scarth, and Mr. Marston Moor as Hargitt and Mr. Hugh Holliman as Joe Gargoyle act well; Miss Laura Hanson gains instant sympathy with her truly fine emotional acting as the wife, Marion; Miss F. Russell Spiers acts agreeably as Barbara Scarth; Miss Muriel Clay is successful as Nurse Randall; Miss Marie Pritchard cores as Biddy Mullins, and the Misses May Hart and Margaret Nybloc as Dick and Wally thoroughly earn their popularity by their clever pathetic acting.

Prince of Wales's Theatre.—Lessees, Messrs. Rodgers, Ltd.; Manager, Mr. J. F. Graham; Acting-Manager, Mr. Henry Johnston.—A Girl on the Stage, which contains most that is brightest and best in The Little Cherub, besides many new and striking features of its own, is presented here to large houses by Mr. George Edwardes's company. Mr. Lennox Pawle in the character of the Earl of Sanctobury is the quintessence of drollery; Mr. J. Robert Hale spares no pains and makes every effort tell as the son, Lord Congress; Mr. Arthur Longley, as Algernon Southdown, adds well to the merrymaking; Mr. Colin Coop contributes a clever character study of the Alderman; Mr. John Humphries sings his songs with much point and acts well as Shingle; Mr. Edwin Rutland, as the hotel proprietor, disports with clever agility and volubility; and Mr. Nelson Keys is successful as the page boy, Ethebert. Miss Queenie Leighton, with her fine shapely figure and rich musical and histrionic talents, fills the rôle of Molly Montrose splendidly; Miss Fanny Dango appears with exquisite charm as Isabel, and Miss Valli Valli as Lady Dorothy and Miss Hazel Saqui as the maid, Letty, are both charming and clever.

Alexandra Theatre.—Proprietor and Manager, Mr. Lester Collingwood; Acting-Manager, Mr. Chris. Felton.—The French Spy, a most enthralling and exciting drama, presented by Mr. Fred Benton and company, holds the boards this week. Mr. Benton is himself a popular character in the piece, looming large as Fritz, the strong man; Mr. Richard Fulton does exceedingly well in the rôle of Captain Somers; Mr. L. Chaseby fills the part of Lieut. Maxwell adequately; Mr. Max Coutts is an able representative of Count Romanoff; Mr. George Sherraton acts cleverly as Petroff Romanoff; and Mr. Lincoln Calthorpe as General Trepoff, Mr. Charles Digby as Viscount Alexis, and Mr. Claude Aymond as Lord Aynsley are meritorious; Miss Gertrude Evans engrosses the audience with her brilliant acting as the Countess Andre, and praise is due to Miss Harrison Tate and Miss Cissie Cleveland for their splendid efforts as Olga, the fast woman of society, and Julie, the music-hall girl, repectively; Mr. Seymour Perry is the cause of much diversion as Knipps, a waiter.

Metropole Theatre.—Proprietor and Manager, Mr. Andrew Melville; Acting-Manager, Mr. J. Hendle Taylor.—The Biggest Scamp on Earth is seen here with Miss Frances Delavel's company. Mr. Cecil Gray portrays the machinations of the villain, Derrick Knight, in a cleverly comprehensive fashion; Miss Delavel's impersonation of the music-hall star, Naomi Belvedere, is distinguished by fine pathos and passion; Miss Clare O'Sullivan creates an agreeable impression as Irene May; Mr. Geo. Lyttleton, jun., gives finish to the part of Sir Aubrey; Mr. G. Osmond Tearle invests the rôle of Napoleon Hawke with many excellent points; Mrs. Edmund Lyons submits a clever characterisation of Mother Hawke; Miss Carrie Johnson places a smart study of the disowned Bobby to her credit; Mr. Fred Lillywhite acts and declaims the part of Vivian Wakefield in a highly creditable style; and much mirth attends the love-making of Joe Piper, played by Mr. Tom Otley, to Molly Sterling, a rôle in which Miss Nell Ingram distinguishes herself. Another humorous character is that of Rufus Liggins, played by Mr. Horace Buckley.

Carlton Theatre, Saltley.—Owner and Manager, Mr. Arthur Carlton; Resident-Manager, Mr. James Alexander.—The Streets of London is represented here in an able manner by Mr. Eade Montefiore's company. Mr. William Rokeby gives a particularly clever and exciting portrayal of the all-important part of Badger; Mr. R. Robinson acts the character of the unscrupulous Bloodgood with the utmost success; Mr. John Richter proves a popular representative of Mark Livingstone; Mr. Ian Lloyd Mackenzie gains a sympathetic hearing as Paul Fairweather; Miss Edith Goodall acts with charming grace and modesty as Lucy; Miss M. Kynnersley is successful in delineating the hard, unsympathetic character of Alida Bloodgood; Miss Marion Armitage acts smartly as Dan Puffy; Miss Adelaide Gracey indicates the kindly nature of Mrs. Puffy with every success; and Mr. Clifford Bown scores as the good-humoured and good-natured Mr. Puffy; Master Harry Moorehouse and Miss Rosie Townshend shine as a couple of street urchins.

Theatre Royal, Aston.—Lessee, Mr. Charles Barnard; General-Manager, Mr. E. Hewitson; Acting-Manager, Mr. Frank Whittles.—The Still Alarm is running successfully here with Messrs. Glenville and Osmond's company. Mr. Mathew H. Glenville assumes the part of the hero, Jack Manley, with satisfactory results; Mr. Fred Osmond diffuses a pleasant flow of humour in the rôle of Doc Wilber; Mr. Goerge Arthur plays the villain, John Bird, in a most resolute and convincing style; and Mr. Lewis Gordon acts creditably as Frank Fordham; Miss Maud Warburton gives a pleasing impersonation of Elinor Fordham; Miss Mabel Veriton wins much favour as Mrs. Manley; Miss Hetty Zillwood, as the exponent of music-hall art, Carrie Wilber, acts and sings vivaciously; and Mr. J. Sutton Pateman as Joe Jones, and Mr. Tom Beasley as Willie Manley are the cause of much cleverly contrived mirth. The Lyric Comedy Four are in attendance, and the specially-trained horses, Pegasus and Bucephalus, excite due admiration.

Empire Palace.—Resident-Manager, Mr. A. W. Matcham.—The Three Olympiers in their artistic entertainment, Beauty in Bronze, is an important item in this week's programme. Alice Pierce gives a clever impression of several actresses; the Casino Comedy Four are always a big attraction; and other popular turns are Signor and Madame Borelli, Kitty Wagner, Francis and Melli, Melba Sisters, Aucillotti with his thought-reading dog "Pilu," and Fred Poplar.

Gaiety Theatre.—General-Manager, Mr. Albert Bushell.—Imro Fox, the well-known illusionist, is mystifying good audiences here, and the Ten Dixie Girls, in "The Silver Coon," are a big attraction; the Callcotts have a smart musical entertainment; the comedy element is provided by the Three Missouris (Dan Conroy, Stewart, and Morgan); ermette and Dionne are clever bar gymnasts; Alma Gray is loudly applauded for her songs; and Herbert la Martine is an excellent vocalist and dancer.

Hippodrome.—Managing Director, Mr. Thomas Barrasford.—The Three Rainats head a strong bill, which includes the Lowenwirth Bros., the Bensons, the Shelleys, and the Narrow Bros., who keep the audience in a happy humour; Bayne and Hope have a good sketch, An Emperor's Divorce; Rita Bell is applauded for her songs, as also is Miss Mollie Doon and Miss Maud Preston; Frances Haskell, vocalist, and Joe Reichen with his performing dogs, are also good turns.

Bordesley Palace.—Resident-Manager, Mr. Edward Foster.—One of the finest coon comediennes we have seen is Ella Shields, who is delighting large houses here. The Remingtons are a clever troupe of acrobats; the banjo is well mastered by the Clarkes; Jack Lane is a most eccentric comedian; and other well-known turns are the Caselli Sisters, Howard and St. Clair, and E. J. Sheldon, who come in for a good share of applause.

BISHOP AUCKLAND. — Eden Theatre. — Lessees, Messrs. R. Addison, Ltd.; Managing-Director, Mr. R. Addison; Acting-Manager and Secretary, Mr. John Huntley.—Patrons of this place of amusement are this week being treated to the drama Under the Czar, presented by Mr. Fred Jarman's company. As Nicholas Yeroslaff Mr. Livingstone is manly; the tyrannical Zakhar Rovesky has a powerful exponent in Mr. W. H. Riley; the part of Michael Granovisky is well handled by Mr. R. Merrin; Sonia Gregorovitch is sympathetically played by Miss Francesca Strickland; and Miss Nancy Newell is responsible for a clever rendering of the part of Zara Buhra. The fun is provided by Mr. Louis Weston as Paul Ignat, Mr. John Levey as Alexis Petroff, and Miss Linda Riley as Siomka.

BLACKBURN.—Theatre Royal.—Proprietor, Mr. Harry Yorke; Manager, Mr. Reginald C. Yorke.—Mr. Howard Cochrane's company in The Marriage of Kitty is paying a return visit to Blackburn this week, and the comedy has been warmly welcomed by good houses. Miss Aida Venoure gives a clever representation of the lively Kitty Silverton; Mr. Howard Cochrane plays well as Sir Reginald Belarge; and as John Travers, Mr. Cecil Wilford is good; as is Miss Betty Castle as Madame de Sewiano, the Peruvian widow. The comedy is preceded by a very interesting curtain-raiser, entitled The Proposal, in which the characters are sustained by Mr. Colet Dare and Miss Gladys Dare.

Palace Theatre.—Proprietor, Mr. Frank Macnaghten; Manager, Mr. Will Murray.—The Savonas in their famous musical show and the Elliotts in their cycling entertainment are the chief artists in an excellent programme, which also includes: Barton and Ashley, in their comedy sketch, Canal Boat Sal; Herbert Shelley, in a quick-change act, entitled Dan, the Outlaw; the Franko Midgets; Wat Tyler, character vocalist; Sisters St. Julian, harmonising vocalists and dancers; and Charles Sloman, comedian.

BLACKPOOL.—Her Majesty's Opera House.—General Manager, Mr. J. R. Huddlestone.—Mr. William Greet's company is still in possession here with The Earl and the Girl, and drawing crowded houses. The lion's share of the work is done by Mr. W. Stephens in the part of Jim Cheese.

Grand Theatre. — Owner and Manager, Mr. T. Sergenson.—Veronique is once more the attraction here, and on this occasion Mr. George Dance's company is responsible for a capital representation of this dainty opera. As Florestan de Vallancourt Mr. Roland Bottomley scores a great success, both as actor and vocalist; Mr. Fred Lyne is well suited to the part of Mons. Leustot; and Mr. Courtney Comber gives complete satisfaction as Seraphin. Mons. Coquenard is well represented by Mr. Leslie Holland; and Mme. Coquenard is faithfully attended to by Miss Ethel Negretti. Veronique is in the very able hands of Miss Ruth Lincoln, who uses her pleasing and tuneful voice with good effect; the Countess de Champ Azar is suitably portrayed by Miss Jessie Browning; Miss May Leslie leaves nothing to be desired as Aunt Benoit; and Miss Gracie Sinclaire plays Denise with decided ability.

Palace.—General Manager, Mr. G. H. Harrop; Acting-Manager, Mr. Fred Waller.—Yukio Tani, the Japanese wrestler and exponent of Ju-Jitsu methods, tops the bill here this week. Other clever turns are contributed by Dolly Moore, male impersonator; the Eight Sunrays, vocalists and dancers; Gilbert Girard, animal and instrumental mimic; Horace Wheatley, the deservedly popular Irish comedian and dancer; Gipsy Woolf, with her charming company of girls, in a picturesque scena, entitled Fun in a Forest; Mike S. Whallen, vocalist and raconteur; Tacius, female impersonator and double-voiced vocalist; Arthur Rigby, comedian; Wyndham and Kitty, in a wire act; and Vernon's Imperial Bioscope.

Hippodrome. — Lessees, Messrs. Whitehead and Ramsden; General Manager, Mr. T. P. Dulgnan.—A long and varied programme is submitted here this week. The Karno Trio, in a sketch entitled The Traveller's Rest; and F. V. St. Clair, the up-to-date singer, are chief favourites. Besides these are Percy Curry, an eccentric comedian; Flo Schubert, ballad vocalist; Frank Maura, an equilibrist of great skill; Beattie Foster, comedienne; the Florodora Girls; Wallace Whitney, comedian; Miniature Florry, child vocalist; Rita and Roma, speciality artists; Lillian Warren, vocalist; and the Revell troupe of eccentric pantomimists.

Winter Gardens Pavilion. — General Manager, Mr. J. R. Huddlestone.—There is no change whatever to record here this week, the grand spectacular ballet, In Sunny Spain, and Paul Cinquevalli, remaining the chief attractions. Two shows are given daily to packed audiences.

Tower Circus.—General Manager, Mr. G. H. Harrop.—The "house full" notice is now in daily use here. The bill this week boasts the names of the Kellinos, Risley performers; Jack Higgins, the champion jumper; Bros. Artois, comedy bar performers; the Musical Johnstons, xylophone artists; August and September, comedians; Keen and Waller, novel eccentrics; the Avolos, acrobats; the Novellos, in an equilibristic act; Klein Family musical cyclists; the Finneys, in a swimming act; and Professor Duncan, with his performing dogs.

BLYTH.—Theatre Royal.—Lessee and Manager, Mr. A. C. Moody.—Mr. Arnold Bell and company opened here on Monday in the presence of a large audience with Ben-My-Chree. Mr. Bell, in the rôle of Dan Mylrea, was seen to great advantage, and was much applauded; Mr. John Belton gave an admirable impersonation of Ewan Mylrea; and the Deemster of Mr. W. G. Gregory left nothing to be desired. Mr. Cuthbert Imril submitted an able and well-studied portrayal of the Bishop of Mar; and to Miss Frances Campbell every praise is due for a finished performance of Mona Mylrea. Hoodman Blind and Lost in London have been staged on other nights, and have met with equal success, the staging and mounting of each drama eliciting the highest enconiums.

Tudor's Circus and Hippodrome.—Mr. George E. Good, the erstwhile lessee of the Theatre Royal, has provided an excellent programme, consisting of a fine collection of electric animated pictures interspersed with attractive variety turns; Mlle. Tosca, the artist's model, gives a pleasing display of living statuary. Lynn, the famous Tyrolean vocalist and character comedian; and Sid Downs, the juvenile comedian, both have a most enthusiastic reception. Good audiences have rewarded the efforts to provide a pleasing entertainment.

BOOTLE.—Muncaster Theatre. — Proprietors, Messrs. Pennington; Manager, Mr. H. Pennington; Acting-Manager, Mr. Harry Young.—On Monday Fritz was presented here by Mr. Phil Herman and company. Mr. Hugh Carmichael plays Colonel Crafton with power; Mr. Edward Cudd is good as Gregory Graham; Mr. Phil Herman as Fritz the Dutchman is a host in himself, his songs and patter being received with well-merited applause; Miss Adeline Yohle makes a charming Katrina; and Mr. Sam Foster is seen to advantage as Sambo Squash; Mr. Fred Cherry gives a good performance of Bowery Bill; and Lena is sweetly portrayed by Miss Loue Langley. The singing of Little Doris Middleton as Little Schneider is deserving of special mention.

BOSTON.—Palace Theatre.—Lessee and Manager, Mr. Geo. Saphrini.—On Monday night this popular place of amusement was again packed to enjoy a high-class variety entertainment, including Chevalier Cliquot, the famous sword swallower, in his unique performance, concluding with swallowing an electric light, which is plainly visible in the performer's throat. Turle and Turle do a very daring act on the double bar and trapeze. Lily Gaston, male impersonator and dancer, wins much applause. Jessie Hart, comedienne; Fred Terry, comedian; Diamonde and Rube, jugglers; Winnie Loftus, burlesque artiste; Bosco Bros., and Saker Harlow, complete a very good programme.

BOURNEMOUTH.—Theatre Royal and Opera House.—Sole Proprietors, David Allen and Son; Sole Lessee, Mr. Mouillot; Manager, Mr. Rowland Stewart.—It is an excellent company which Mr. Mouillot has recruited for the exploitation of the second edition of The Geisha, which opened here on Monday. Miss Louie Collier, whose beautiful voice is heard to advantage as O Mimosa San and Mr. Edward Carlton as Wun Hi, received several calls from a crowded audience, and right well they deserved them. Miss Florrie Saunders as Molly Seymour plays the part excellently; and as Reginald Fairfax Mr. Cyril Thompson is quite successful; whilst Mr. Lionel Braham, an old favourite here, is exactly suited in the character of the Marquis Imari. Miss Violet Kenyon as Juliette, Mr. S. Lockridge as Dick Cunningham, and Mr. Mansell Stringer as Capt. Katana are, among others, worthy of mention.

BRADFORD.—Theatre Royal.—Lessee, Mr John Hart; General Manager, Mr. T. F. Doyle; Acting-Manager, Mr. J. Richardson.—On Monday last Mr. Lewis Waller's company presented for the first time here A. Conan Doyle's grand soldier play, Brigadier Gerard, which was represented throughout with a fine spirit and dash. Sentiment and humour are admirably blended in the story, which has a peculiar fascination for all parts of the audience, and Mr. Loring Fernie, in his impersonation of the brave but hot-headed Captain Gerard, was not long ere he established himself a favourite. As an ally he had Miss Beatrice Lindley, who acted throughout with skill and winsome grace as the Comtesse de Roquelaure. The Napoleon of Mr. Arthur Somers was a fine conception; the cunning Talleyrand had an able exponent in Mr. George Mallet; Mr. Alfred Hilliard bore himself with dignity as General de Calaincourt; there was a lot of the fire-eater in Mr. Reginald Mason's Colonel Guerin; as Major Olivier, the swashbuckler, Mr. Elliot Ball was forcible and effective; Mr. Arthur Bowyer was good as the faithful Papilette; the part of Agnes fitted Miss Gertrude Beattie well. The gentlemen filling the parts of the Hussars of Confians made a brave show; Talleyrand's subtle and cunning agents were represented effectively. The play was very finely staged, and the applause which greeted it was hearty and enthusiastic.

Prince's Theatre.—Lessee and Manager, Mr. Francis Laidler; Acting-Manager, Mr. N. Hepworth. — Crowded audiences and much enthusiasm greet the return here of M. S. McLellan's play, Leah Kleschna, and Messrs. H. Armitage and Arthur Leigh's company give a representation of the piece which is brimful of dramatic skill and excellence. We have seen nothing more powerful or convincing than Mr. Paul Belmore's acting as Kleschna, and Miss Bessie Rignold's intensity and emotional power in the part of Leah is positively thrilling. Mr. W. F. Grant's Paul Sylvaine is an admirable effort of suppressed power, and he is convincing. Schram is played with real earnestness by Mr Campbell Goldsmid, Mr. Hamilton Deane acts with force and skill as the roué Raoul Berton, Mr. Max Alison is earnest as the General, Madame Berton is in the capable hands of Miss Ethel Russell, Miss Helene Belgrave is a satisfactory Claire, and Mr. Roland Daniel is good as Valentin Favre.

The Empire.—Moss' Empires, Ltd.—Resident Manager, Mr. Percival Craig.—A very hearty reception has been accorded that "genial philosopher" and inimatable comedian, Mark Sheridan, on his welcome return visit here this week, and Jacques Inaudi, "the man of figures," is once more interesting and astonishing the audiences with his prodigious feats of memory and calculation. Acrobatic feats by Les Bastiens are novel in character and cleverly executed. In a special scena, My Bungalow in Borneo, Miss Lilian Lea, a charming vocalist, is particularly bright and effective. In their turn as three animated dolls the Three Sisters Sprightly, comediennes, on a return visit, are bright and popular; some smart dancing and good whistling by the Brothers Dean win favour; Flo Esdaile, a charming vocalist, contributes good songs; a very clever performance is accomplished by the Clement Trio of flying gymnasts; Will Poluski, jun., a very quaint comedian and dancer, contributes some capital songs; and some very fine and up-to-date pictures are exhibited by the American Bioscope.

Palace Theatre.—Lessee, Mr. Frank Macnaghten; Resident Manager, Mr. H. C. Arnold, Jun.—The programme provides plenty of variety and amusement here this week. Billy Howard and Kathyrn Harris in their speciality, The Adventures of a Happy Tramp, are clever and vastly entertaining; Kavados, the juggler and "Cannon Ball King," is an expert; Baroux and Bion are very eccentric acrobats; Mark Leslie, "the Dusky Prince," gives a very entertaining and acceptable comedy turn; as a comedienne, Alice Ormond appears to advantage; an acrobatic and equilibristic turn by the Three Seabournes is smartly and cleverly accomplished; Flo Melville, comedienne, renders her songs with pleasing effect; Fred Earle is very quaint with his "Seaweed"; and some excellent pictures shown by Raymond's Bio-Tableaux find favour.

BRIDLINGTON.—Spa Theatre.—Manager and Secretary, Mr. Henry Hague.—Mr. Edward Terry and his talented company appeared before a large audience on Monday in K. C. Carton's fine play, Liberty Hall. Mr. Terry gave as fine a representation of the innocent old bookseller as it is possible to conceive, and was heartily recalled after each act. Mr. Allan Pollock as Mr. Owen gave just the requisite tone to the part, and his admirable acting stamps him as an artist of great merit. Mr. Frank Cellier, jun, was a well-set-up Gerald Haringay; Mr. William Dexter a right blustering Briginshaw; and Mr. E. W. Thomas an excellent Mr. Pedrick. Hickson was in the capable hands of Mr. G. Howard; and Mr. C. E. Wallis played his part well as Luscombe. Miss Fyfe Alexander was at home in the character of Blanche Chilworth, and her reading was all that might be expected from so finished an actress. She was ably seconded by Miss F. Glossop-Harris, who showed great ability as Amy. Miss Eugenie Vernie as Crafer portrayed the vagaries of the "second-class housekeeper" effectively. On Tuesday Mr. Terry presented The Magistrate, in which he gave a very amusing representation of Mr. Poskett, and the part of Mrs. Poskett was capitally played by Miss Agnes Knight. Wednesday night's performance was that charming play, Sweet Lavender, in which the inimitable comedian was seen as Dick Phenyl.

Royal Prince's Parade.—Manager, Mr. Charles Palmer.—Miss Ethel Hirschbein, a fine contralto, is the vocalist this week at the promenade concerts in the Floral Pavilion. On Wednesday there was a grand gala on the parade, which proved very attractive, and in addition to the coloured electrical illuminations, Messrs. Wilkins and Brothers gave a fine show of aerial fireworks. The Flockton-Foster entertainers and the Loyal Dominion Animated Picture Company are still drawing crowded audiences to their capital entertainments in the Grand Pavilion.

The Spa.—Manager, Mr. Henry Hague.—Mr. Sydney James's clever company of entertainers have received several additions this week, including that charming vocalist and dancer, Miss Madeline Rossiter, and their programmes are amusing thousands of visitors. Madame A. Radford, an excellent soprano, delights with her well-rendered songs; and Mr. Nelson Hardy, a capital ventriloquist, causes great fun. Wednesday was a special gala night, when the grounds were beautifully illuminated.

The Palace.—Manager, Mr. A. Hubner. — Mr. J. W. Delmar gives capital conjuring and ventriloquial turns; Miss Amy Townsend is an excellent vocalist and dancer; Le Brun and Irene, jugglers and equilibrists, do some clever feats; Trick and Trixie give a good musical show; and the Misses Lemande are clever duettists and dancers.

Summer Gardens. — Lessees, Messrs. Beanland, Bath, and Danton; Manager, Mr. Charles Beanland.—The variety turns at this popular resort are always well received, and the various members of the company of Waterloo Pierrots give some well-arranged programmes. Mr. Joe Bath (Johanna), who is such a favourite with the visitors, took his benefit on the 16th inst., when there was a monster programme. The Flockton-Foster Costume Comedy Company gave some of their best items; Mr. Jack Graham in his character songs and Mr. Will Mason in coon songs were excellent; and Miss Lily Norbury proved herself a smart comedienne and dancer. Mr. Chas. Beanland gave one of his amusing items, "The Chef"; Aoda and Benn, in a very comical musical act; Chas. Danton in a clever song and dance; Jack Sydney, "one of the Upper Ten"; and George Hyam in a laughable ventriloquial turn, were all good; and the "Fun at the Piano," by Chas. Watkins, as well as Ernest Benn's harp solos were capitally done. The bénéficiare gave a new turn, including conjuring, paper manipulation, and lightning sketching, which was loudly applauded; and Mr. Bath was the recipient of several presents from his many friends and admirers.

BRIGHTON.—Theatre Royal.—Lessee and Manager, Mr. H. Cecil Beryl; Assistant-Manager, Mr. Harcourt M. Beryl.—Messrs. Silvanus Dauncey and M. V. Leveaux's company is here this week with The Walls of Jericho. Mr. Herbert Bunston gives a very fine impersonation of Jack Frobisher; Miss Florence Jackson makes a charming Lady Frobisher; Mr. George A. Brandram is admirable as Hankey Bannister; Miss Lydia Busch is very effective as Lady Westerby; Miss Molly Carter acts brightly as Lady Lucy Derenham; Mr. Cyril Bayleine submits a capital portrayal of the Marquis of Steventon; and other parts are ably sustained by Mr. Alexander Cassy, Mr. Sydney Hamilton, Miss Edith Cuthbert, and Miss Rita Milman.

Grand Theatre.—Managing-Director, Mr. Ernest Carpenter.—In Sight of St. Paul's occupies the boards here this week. Mr. Ernest R. Allen presents a finished impersonation of Tom Chichester; Mr. Edward Valentine is well suited as Blidstein; Mr. Arthur Armfield is excellent as Mr. H. Chichester; Mr. F. R. Gwyn-Richardson does well as Harry Chichester; Mr. George Daiper acts powerfully as John Gridston; Miss Lallah Davis is forcible as Cynthia Dell; and the humour of the play is ably submitted by Miss Amy Randolph as Becky Vetch and Mr. Wilton Bedford as Jim Palfrey.

Alhambra.—Managing-Director, Mr. J. L. Graydon; General-Manager, Mr. Ernest Lepard.—An excellent company is here this week. Chanti, the protean artist, achieves distinct success with his electrical and mechanical transformation novelty; Bert Danson is a very amusing comedian; Winnie Derson is a dainty comedienne; Busie and Hurst are entertaining in their comedy duologue, The Wrong Flat; George Lennard is heard to great advantage in his latest successes; Queenie Lawrence is warmly received; Harry Anderson is a capital vocal comedian; James Willard and company acquit themselves admirably in the sketch, Did He Deserve It? Avon and Crest are clever comedy artists; Bert Earle is a highly accomplished banjoist; and the Alhambrascope Pictures are amusing.

Hippodrome Theatre of Varieties.—Proprietors, Messrs. Barrasford and Smith; Managing-Director, Mr. Thomas Barrasford.—A capital programme is sustained here this week. George Abel, Ethel Arden, and company achieve great success in Three of a Kind; Daisy Jerome is a versatile and popular comedienne; F. de Marce wins hearty applause for his equestrian novelty, Jocko and Kocko; Leo Tell is a smart imitator of animals; Cribb and Cribb are capital in Idle Fellows with Idle Thoughts, their patter being very amusing; B Troba is an excellent juggler with heavy weights; the Lurins prove very enjoyable in their Cinderella extravaganza; Mamie Iris, comedienne and buck dancer; Ada and August, in a comedy act; and Marie Wilton, a charming comedienne, also contribute good turns; and the Barrascope Pictures are entertaining.

West Pier.—Secretary and Entertainment-Manager, Mr. A. D. Norman.—Miss Emma Hutchison and Mr. Percy Hutchison's company is here this week with A Country Mouse. Miss Annie Hughes is delightfully winsome as the "Country Mouse"; Mr. Charles Esdale makes an excellent Hon. Archibald Vyse; Mr. Evelyn Vernon as the Duke of St. Kitts; Mr. Thomas A. Braidon as Lord Robert Wyckham; and Mr. William Calvert as Mr. John Bowley, M.P., merit warm praise; Miss Frances Davies as Violet Aynsley, Miss Moyra Creegan as Lady Bowlby, and Miss Ida Laurie as Mrs. Cooper also add to the great success of the performance. The play is preceded by A Bit of Old China.

New Palace Pier Theatre. — Miss Ida Molesworth and Mr. Mark Blow's company is here this week with Under Two Flags. Mr. Mark Blow's portrayal of Bertie Cecil Royellieu is a capital piece of work; Miss Mary Thorne makes an admirable Cigarette; Miss Mabel Ormonde is successful as Princess Venetia Corona; Mr. Arthur Elwyn's Colonel Chanteroy, Mr. Wellesley Draper's Lord Rockingham, and Miss Fay Garnet Vayne's Lavinia also merit praise.

Aquarium.—Lessee and Manager, Mr. J. J. Sallmayer; Acting-Manager, Mr. Henry de Groot.—A capital variety entertainment proves attractive here this week. Wisper, a clever juggler, is well received; Knottella, comedy leg-mania artist and boneless wonder, submits an interesting turn; Li Chang Hi provides mirth, music, and mystery; Bettie Bloom is a charming comedienne; Arthur Blount is amusing; and Paul contributes pleasing songs and dances.

BRISTOL.—Prince's Theatre.—Proprietor and Manager, Mr. James Macready Chute.—Mr. Charles Macdona's company is here for the week with Mr. Hopkinson. The farce attracted a good attendance on Monday evening, the audiences being still larger later on in the week. Mr. Arnold Lacy is decidedly good as the Duke of Braceborough, sustaining the part throughout in capital style; Miss Alison Alexander makes a charming Duchess of Braceborough, always cool and collected, and with a nice aristocratic tone; Mr. Shirley Lea presents an amusing study of the Earl of Addleton; Miss Gladys Jesson is decidedly pleasing as Lady Tyra Egglesby; Miss Kathleen M. Romsey hits off Eliza Dibbs very well; Mr. Reginald Dane and Mr. C. M. Heslop make the most of the parts of Lord Cawthorpe and the Hon. Otho Dursingham; Mr. George McCloskie is sufficiently grave and stately as the solicitor, Mr. Smethurst; the small parts of Parbury and Blisset are satisfactorily taken by Mr. Vincent Galley and Mr. J. G. Lowther; and Mr. Frank Stanmore causes much merriment as Samuel Hopkinson, though his exposition of the part is certainly very near the border of burlesque, particularly in the first two acts. The performance commences each evening with an interesting duologue, The Snowstorm, the two parts of Henry Fenton and Edith Kingsley being nicely taken by Mr. George McCloskie and Miss Dolly Chard.

Theatre Royal.—Managing-Director, Mr. Ernest Carpenter; Resident-Manager, Mr. W. F. Crowe.—This week The Love that Women Desire is staged here in a liberal manner, the drama being well played by Mr. G. Carlton Wallace's company. Miss Lalla Stanhope acts in a pleasing and interesting manner as Sybil Thornburn; Miss Alice N. Livesey displays considerable power as Madge Abingdon; Mr. Fred Lloyd acts in good manly style as Philip Carnaby; Mr. Alfred Grenville is both effective and consistent in the heavy part of Richard Abingdon; Mr. Charles Herbert does well as Squire Abingdon; and the comic parts of Denis O'Rourke, police Constable Sowerberry, and Pattie Swift are taken in good style by Mr. John Hignett, Mr. J. W. Wilkinson, and Miss Helen Richmond.

Palace.—Resident Manager, Mr. Horace Livermore; Treasurer, Mr. F. V. Welchman.—Eugene Stratton is attracting large audiences at each performance, giving an entirely different selection from his répertoire each night; the Four Madcaps present an exceptionally pleasing turn as vocalists and acrobatic dancers; Marie Gibson is a successful vocalist; Alfred Hurley amuses with song and patter; Charles Matthews (assisted by Miss Doris Reece) obtains much applause for his clever jumping act; Fred Moule and company amuse with their sketch, The Battle of the Belles; Charles Williams, black-faced comedian and dancer, obtains applause; Vi Carlyle has a pretty scena, My Mountain Maid; the Sages (Will and Jenny) are smart comedy artists and dancers; and the entertainment concludes with a good display of Vernon's animated pictures.

Empire.—Proprietor, Mr. B. Pearce Lucas; Resident-Manager, Mr. Sid Macaire.—Apollo is appearing successfully here in his Japanese wrestling entertainment, he being assisted by Miss Moza San, Japanese champion of the art of ju-jitsu. Much interest is evinced, and substantial money prizes are offered to local competitors. Alice Raymond, conducted by John Kurkamp, displays her skill as a cornettist and bugler; Daisy James, comedienne, presents a pleasing turn; J. W. Rowley, comedian, is eminently successful; Barratt and Knowles, patter comedians, obtain applause; Florence Inman, descriptive vocalist, has considerable ability; Johnny Fuller, does some good acts, including a smart act on the wire; and Millie Denham, comedienne, is attractive. The performance concludes with new animated pictures.

BROMLEY.—Lyric.—Lessee, Mr. A. Carlton; Resident-Manager, Mr. H. Strong.—A successful three nights' visit was paid by Mr. Bannister Howard's company in Oliver Twist. The Fagin of Mr. Stanley Drewitt is a splendid piece of work, grim and realistic; Mr. James Skea is well placed as Bill Sikes; Mr. Charlie Clark makes an alert Artful Dodger; Charlie Bates and Tom Chitling receive good interpretation at the hands of Mr. R. C. Hunter and Mr. J. Johns; Mr. W. H. Rotherham doubles the characters of Mr. Grimwig and Monks, and undertakes besides the arduous duty of stage-manager, coming through the ordeal with honours; Mr. Paige Lawrence is an ideal Harry Maylie; and a charming and pretty Rose Maylie is presented by Miss Dorothy Mayhew; Miss Edith Anton Laing played with undoubted skill the part of Nancy; and a sympathetic Oliver was that of Miss Dorothy Marsdin. The play was excellently mounted, the scene of London Bridge calling for special mention.

BROUGHTON.—Victoria, Ltd.—Manager and Licensee, Mr. J. Fred Watson.—The Manxman drew a very good house on Monday, when Mr. Alfred B. Cross (who has sustained the character over 1500 times) had a flattering reception as Pete. Miss Minnie Watersford rendered able support as Kate Cregeen; Philip Christain was finely played by Mr. Frank Liston; Miss Christain was charmingly portrayed by Miss Mona Spearing; Mr. James Dillon acted the sanctimonious Cæsar Cregeen with effect; and the other characters were well presented.

BURNLEY.—Victoria Opera House.—Lessee and Manager, Mr. W. C. Horner.—For the re-opening after the recess Mr. Samuel James' company is here in an excellent drama, As Good as Gold, in which Mr. H. H. Barrington achieves success as Mark Williams. Mr. Lewis Gilbert gives a masterly performance of Sir Richard Wharncliffe; Mr. Leonard Lawrence is seen to advantage as Jack Stanton; much humour is infused into the drama by Mr. F. Thorpe Tracey as Timothy Lia and Mr. Norman Hall as Horatio Spanker; Miss Florence Lovell is good as Anna Lias; Miss Irene Ross gives a sympathetic rendering of The Kipper; Miss Ella Seton makes an excellent Madge Merry; and Miss Marie McAuley is much at home as Kate d'Arville; Miss Gertrude Bonsor gives a womanly performance of Nora Williams.

Empire Theatre of Varieties.—Lessee and Manager, Mr. W. C. Horner.—The Holloways, acrobatic wire artists, head the excellent programme here this week. Florence and Lilian, with various instruments provide a musical treat; the Cotton Blossom Quartette submit a most diverting turn; and the Three San Remo Girls do some clever dancing; a clever trio of athletes are the Schaffers; Walter Ray is a good comedian; the Wheelers give a funny cycling act; and Cecilia Maude is welcomed for her charming singing of "Such a dear old sweetheart."

Mechanics' Institute.—Pringle's North American animated pictures are doing excellent business here with a collection of very fine films, including "A Miner's Romance," "Living Flowers," and "The Terrible Twins."

BURTON-ON-TRENT. — Opera House.—Proprietors, Messrs. Bennett and Bennett; Acting-Manager, Mr. John Waller.—The attraction here this week is Mr. and Mrs. William Maclaren's company in the romantic costume play Proof. Miss Beatrice Shirley displays considerable ability as Adrienne, and Miss May Grimshaw acquits herself admirably as Valentino. Miss Nita Ashby is praiseworthy as the Duchesse D'Aubeterre, and Miss Phena Powell is excellent as Madame Deprets. Pierre Lorance is ably portrayed by Mr. Gerald Kennedy. Mr. W. J. Butler as Lazare is satisfactory, and Mr. Carl Beechey as the Duke D'Aubeterre, and Mr. Arthur St. Aubyn as Victor de Laugney do well. Mr. Wilford Bailey is very amusing as Chamboran. Miss Ellen Morris as Julie and Miss Ellina Turner as Little Adrienne are also deserving of mention. The play is well staged and dressed.

BURY.—Theatre Royal and Opera House, Ltd.—General Manager, Mr. Otto. C. Culling.—Mr. Bert Coote's company is appearing here in The Fatal Wedding. The piece has proved itself very popular in Bury, and with Miss Marjorie Lawrence's charming performance as the Little Mother the popularity is not likely to wane. Miss Madge Haines, Miss Gertrude Harrison, Mr. Ernest Owttrim, and Mr. S. Herbert Humber are also deserving of mention. A great amount of variety is introduced, including songs by Master Frisby, Miss Ethel Press, Miss Marjorie Lawrence, Miss Hetty Kelly, Miss Shirley Sparks, and speciality dances by Master J. Grice and the Misses Nora and Essie Herbert.

The Circus of Varieties.—General-Manager, Mr. Otto C. Culling.—A fine programme includes Radford and Mdlle. Valentine in a highly amusing turn; the Villions, acrobatic cyclists; Thos. E. Finglas, who sings excellent coon songs; Davenports, lightning magicians; Ross, Taylor, and Elvio, knockabouts; the Howards, comedians; Sisters Poole, vocalists and dancers; and Jessie Albini, vocal comedienne.

Archibald Brown Tee is very amusing; an able interpretation of Jean Berand is given by Mr. F. Marriott Watson; Miss Minnie Lisle gives a piquant and vivacious impersonation of Bessie Blazer; and the winning way in which Miss Annie Hylton plays her sympathetic part of Agnes Weyland is deserving of high praise. Mr. James Chippendale makes an effective Zorak; and Miss Judith Ansell scores a success as Sarah Barnstein.

HIPPODROME.—General-Manager, Mr. Thos. Mattinson; Business-Manager, Mr. S. Smalley.—A capital variety entertainment is given here. Kloof and Ramsey, in their musical sketch, are very amusing, and prove a strong attraction; the Great Carls are smart acrobats; the Two Roses, coon vocalists and dancers, are well received; Seth and Nellie, in their comedy act on the triple bars, win much applause; George Le Wist is a capital ventriloquist; Miss Cissie Ford has a remarkably sweet and pleasing voice; Brookes' Bioscope is an attraction; and other turns are given by Miss Rosie Carlo, vocalist, and Henry Reno, conjurer.

CHATHAM. — THEATRE ROYAL. — Proprietors, Messrs. C. and L. B. Barnard; Acting-Manager, Mr. Lionel Barnard; Secretary, Mr. Geo. G. Ridley.—Once again we have The Gay Parisienne here. It is played by Mr. Chas. Macdona's company, and has lost none of its attractiveness. In the title-rôle Miss Evelyn Hughes gives a refined performance; Mr. Will Harman is amusing as Ebenezer Honeycombe; Mr. T. Gideon Warren makes a natural Major Fossdyke; Miss Holford Beringer as Mrs. Honeycombe renders in telling style a ditty on "Man"; Miss Ethel Ivimey is a pleasing Norah; whose fiancée, Tom Everleigh, has an easy representative in Mr. Edgar Ashwyn. Mr. Clifford Seyler is a hard-working Pompier; and Miss Madge Soutter makes the most of every opportunity as Ruth. The Imperial Glee-singers are frequently encored.

GAIETY THEATRE OF VARIETIES.—Proprietor, Capt. H. E. Davis; Manager, Mr. Frank E. Donne.—Maudie Ford, a neat sand-dancer, opens the ball, and is followed by Will Farrell, comedian. Then comes Ada Martine, whose songs are principally of the coon order. The Two Anartos next score with a comedy skit, The Morning Mail, an enjoyable contribution; Paul Martinetti and company are immensely popular in the play without words, A Duel in the Snow, in which Paul brings down the house by his skilful representation of Morice Landrel. Fred Collins gives Scotch songs; Rosie Lloyd is on a return visit; and the Edisonograph has a new series of pictures.

BARNARD'S PALACE OF VARIETIES.—Sole Proprietor, Mr. L. B. Barnard.—Lovely Lily Burnand, who is starring here, is a prime favourite, and sings in fine style, "Stowaway," "She's My Lady," and "Man"; Percy Dalton is effective as a comedian; Adams and Rouse score in The Lady and the Page; Henry Carlton and company create roars of laughter in their scena The Window Cleaner; Les Belles Americaines are a quartette of lively vocalists and dancers; and Cullen, Carthey, and Cluley have some quaint sayings. Lacey's Erascope continues to interest.

CHELTENHAM.—OPERA HOUSE.—General-Manager, Mr. H. Oswald Redford.—Mr. Arthur Law's new play, Three Blind Mice, was presented on Monday to a highly appreciative audience. Miss May Palfrey has a delightful part as Marjorie Lovell, and wins golden laurels; Miss Granville cleverly presents the rôle of Lady Richard Marrable; and Mr. Frederick Kerr's conception of the part of Julian Shuckburgh is a delicious piece of acting. The "three blind mice," Mr. Lavender, Mr. Guest, and Peter Ricketts, are respectively represented by all requisite point by Mr. Compton Coutts, Mr. Frederick Lloyd, and Mr. Max Leeds; Miss Annie Hill fills a small but effective part as the formidable governess; Miss Mary Barton is languidly amusing as Lady Clarisforde; while smaller characters are brightly sketched by Miss Dorothy Edwards, Miss Florence Harwood, Miss Sheba Brozel, and Mr. Duncan Druce.

MONTPELLIER PAVILION.—Manager, Mr. Alfred W. Newton.—Mr. Herbert Fordwych, of Aldwych, on Monday presented his amusing Drolls. Mr. H. Pegg Carr is an excellent baritone; Miss Dorothy Carr a soprano of ability; Miss Phyllis Beadon a bright and animated actress-danseuse; Miss Esse Prenton an acceptable "coon"; Mr. Jno. T. MacCollam a humorist; and little Marjorie May accompanist.

CHESTERFIELD.—THEATRE ROYAL, LTD.—Managing-Director, Mr. Frank Macnaghten; Resident-Manager, Mr. Richard Ralli.—Messrs. Little and Darcy's company is appearing here in the sensational drama, The Executioner's Daughter. Mr. Stanley Radcliffe is an admirable Roche, the executioner; Miss Nelly Howitt gives a fine rendering of the title-rôle; Mr. W. Ruddle Brown is very good as Paul Rovel, the hero; Mr. W. S. Stevenson gives a good portrayal of Kretch; and Miss Marie Ada Browning makes an excellent Christina.

CHORLEY (Lancs.). — GRAND THEATRE. — Proprietor and Manager, Mr. G. T. Santé; Secretary, Mr. A. Hemmingway.—Miss Evelyn Moore's company is here this week with The Crimson Club. The drama is well staged and a most realistic fight is given in the last act. Mr. Percy Shaw as Reginald Adolphus Garside is a decidedly clever whistler; Miss Florence Delmar is exceptionally strong as Julia Marsden; and Muriel Lockwood is capitally rendered by Miss Sydney Barrasford. Miss Kitty Elliot is good as Sophonisba Garside; Mr. Fred G. Kay is well suited as Sir Philip Garside; and Mr. Clifford Wright capably enacts Richard Fenton.

CLACTON-ON-SEA. — PALACE-BY-THE-SEA. — Proprietors, Palace, Clacton-on-Sea, Ltd.—This week the Harvey Boys top the bill, and have been extremely well received; Edwards and Dacre, comedy duologue artists, are funny and smart; the Solario Duo are fine vocalists and instrumentalists; Miss Daisy Rhyl is a dainty comedienne; Hughman has some laughable farmyard imitations; and the Brothers Risto are smart eccentric acrobats. Ruffell's Bioscope shows some fine films; and Mr. G. S. Thomas's band is all that can be desired.

WESTCLIFFE GARDENS.—In spite of opposition, nothing seems to stop the famous trio, Graham, Russell, and Bentley, who are stil very successful here. This week they are helped out by Miss Winifred Siddons, a charming vocalist; Mr. James Davis, a fine bass; Miss Ethelle Stapley, a clever violiniste; and Mr. Kit Keen, the coloured comedian, a great favourite here.

OPERETTA HOUSE.—Lessee and Manager, Mr. Ch. Macdona; Acting-Manager, Mr. T. H. Rhodes.—During the first three days of the week Mr. Harold V. Neilson's company presented The Light that Failed, A Maker of Men, and A Debt of Honour. On Thursday Mr. James Welch was announced.

PIER PAVILION.—Mr. Digby Dent, manager for Messrs. Ashton, has a fine company here. The Vagabonds, under the direction of Mr. Haroid Montague, are both amusing and clever; and fine turns are given by the following artists: Misses Belle Green and Merita Leclair, and Messrs. Ernest Devereux, David Morton, and Percival Mackenzie.

COATBRIDGE.—THEATRE ROYAL.—Proprietors, The Coatbridge Theatre Co., Ltd.; Managing-Director, Mr. R. C. Buchanan; Resident-Manager, Mr. John Commins.—This popular resort is now in full swing, and this week the attraction is Mr. P. Howard Sturgess's company, with A Queen of Villainy. Mr. Gordon Carnegie as Sir John Desborough proved a highly capable artist; Mr. Alfred E. Calfer as Alec showed ability; Mr. Lawrence Stevenson scored greatly as Kit; as Stephen Faucit Mr. Edward Heanley was a huge success; and as Dick Leinster Mr. Owen Harris provided an excellent portrayal. Miss Edith Blande is the great attraction, and in the rôle of Cora Granville showed considerable power; Miss Amy Ross Clyde was admirably cast as Sally Chimes; and Mollie Maggs was cleverly undertaken by Miss Jessie Crammonde.

COLCHESTER.—THEATRE ROYAL.—Sole Proprietor, Mr. Charles Macdona; Resident-Manager, Mr. F. C. Upton.—Mr. Charles Harrington is here this week, with his company, in Sailors of the King. He himself does well in the part of Admiral Drake; Mr. Frank admirably portrays the heroic qualities of Dick Drake; the heroine is faithfully represented by Miss Madge North; Mr. R. F. Stacey is a powerful Orrel Drake, and is ably assisted by Miss Sylvia Stella as Rebecca Crosby. Considerable humour is infused into the piece by Barnet Fair (Mr. Kenneth Black, jun.) and Penelope Penn (Miss H. Hathaway).

HIPPODROME. — Joint-Proprietors, Mr. Fredk. Mouillot and Mr. Walter de Frece; Resident-Manager, Ben de Frece.—Harry Roche's circus heads the bill here, and his horses and dogs perform many clever evolutions; Henry Anthony conjures in a delightfully easy manner; and two turns which are loudly applauded, and deservedly so, are Mark Tapley and J. C. Callaghan. Rosa Adams reappears, after a brief interval, with her father's songs; and Florrie St. Clair, with her little doggie pet, is most welcome. The pictures conclude the programme.

CORK.—OPERA HOUSE.—Manager, Mr. John Horgan.—Miss Madge McIntosh and Mr. Lumsden Hare's company, in Mollentrave on Women, is here this week, and is enthusiastically received. The company is an exceptionally clever one. Mr. Michael Sherbrooke, a finished artist, fills the part of Mr. Mollentrave, and is a great success; Mr. E. A. Warburton makes an excellent Sir Joseph Balsted; Miss Madge McIntosh takes the part of Lady Claude Derenham, and acts with great skill; Mr. Murray Carrington as Everard Swenboys is sufficiently ardent; Miss Ada King as Miss Treable is successful; and Miss Belle Donaldson scores as Mrs. Martelli. The play was preceded by a cleverly written sketch, entitled Bob's Mrs. Kenningham, in which Miss Madge McIntosh acted with great power. Friday was set apart for the benefit of Miss McIntosh.

COVENTRY.—OPERA HOUSE.—Proprietor, Mr. Wm. Bennett.—Adria Hill and Robert Ayrton's company in the stirring Anglo-American play, A Gambler's Daughter, is attracting considerable attention at the above house this week. Mr. Robert Ayrton makes a very fine Irish emigrant as Desmond O'Dare. Mr. Alfred Sanders is an amusing rascal as Solomon Solomons; Mr. Richard Pitt performs creditably as John Grant, a gambler; Mr. Martin Sands makes an imposing character as Ralph Gillman, the capitalist; and Mr. Howell Trairs is successful as Captain Stanhope. Miss Adria Hill gives a very fine rendering of the dual character of Mildred Grant and Miriam Grant; Miss Harriett Loydall is amusing as Auntie Zeb, a negress; and a host of other characters are suitably represented.

THE HIPPODROME.—Manager, Mr. T. M. Sylvester. The Six Brothers Luck with The Demon of the Cellar are the star turn, the audience being kept in a continued state of merriment. Dan Gantry's Electric Grotto is another capital item, some of the effects produced being very fine; Walter Munroe, the popular Irish comedian, is heartily received; Arthur Reece is very entertaining; Russell Carr is a polished ventriloquist; Nellie Sheldon is a capital comedian and dancer; and the usual set of animated pictures conclude.

CREWE.—LYCEUM THEATRE.—Lessee and Manager, Mr. Henry Taylor, J.P. — An attractive variety programme is provided here this week. Kennedy's Komiks prove an entertaining troupe of artists; the Cedrics, equilibrists, are clever and smart; Mons. Vela, on the wire, is a good turn; the Sisters Godfrey are expert dancers; Sandes and Vincent, the comedy couple, are effective; a sketch by members of the troupe is well done; and some excellent pictures are shown by the Teatrograph.

CROMER.—TOWN HALL THEATRE.—Sole Lessees and Managers, Messrs. Baring Bros.; Acting-Manager, Mr. C. H. Locke. — The Elizabethan Stage Society presented their revival here of Oliver Goldsmith's comedy, The Good-Natur'd Man. Mr. William Poel, to whom the work is very evidently a labour of love, has made a special version, with the result the piece plays closer than in the original. The audience quickly grasped the plot, and as the situations were unfolded were not stinting in their applause. The staging and costumes, eloquent of the period, in which the influence of Hogarth's pictures could be traced, is another triumph to the enterprise of Mr. Poel and those who work with him in these grand revivals. The Croaker of Mr. Shakespeare Stewart was a fine piece of work; Mr. Honeywood, "the good-natur'd man," was admirably represented by Mr. Lewis Caston; Miss Muriel Currey did well as Miss Richland; and Miss H. B. Potter made a charming Olivia; Sir William Honeywood was ably sustained by Mr. Henry Doughty; and Mr. Ben Field won a fresh triumph by his humorous conception of Lofty; as Leontine, Mr. Edwin Coates was a success; Miss Clara Greet appeared very naturally as the affectionate mother, Mrs. Croaker; and Miss Helen Vicary as the Landlady, acted piquantly. The minor characters, particularly the Bailiffs, played by Mr. W. M. Mayne and Mr. E. H. Wynne, did their work well. There was no music. On Wednesday Miss Marie Hall paid a visit, and the Bioscope finishes the week.

CROYDON.—GRAND THEATRE. — Manager, Mr. Lawson Lambert.—Hardie and Von Leer's company is winning approval in the realistic play For Life; and After. Mr. Vernon Sansbury is excellent in the rôle of Richard Grey; Mr. Charles Osborne is commendable as Rube Hexham; Mr. Henry Hare acts with care as Jim Huggett; Mr. Chris Mason gives a careful impersonation of Joe Grimper; and useful services are rendered by Messrs. Sidney Vautier and Henry Hare as Gilbert O'Neil and Jack Huggett. Miss Grace Heywood deserves praise for her portrayal of Marion Grey; Miss Muriel Dean is persevering as Dora Grey; Miss Rosslyn Vayne is efficient as Loo Hexham; Miss Edith Barwell is invaluable in the rôle of Mrs. Grimper; and Misses Marion Fawcett and Sissie Murdock are adequate as Jenny Huggett and Liza Jones. The drama is creditably mounted.

THEATRE ROYAL.—Managing-Director, Mr. Samuel James; Acting-Manager, Mr. Charles Herrick.—Messrs. Alfred Paumier and Walter Howards company in The Midnight Wedding is proving attractive here this week. Mr. Alfred Paumier, who plays Paul Valmar, is a capable actor; the Crown Prince Leopold finds a powerful exponent in Mr. Fredk. W. Freeman; Mr. Ulick Burke as Lieut. Eugene Von. Streslburg is excellent; the villain, Capt. Rudolph Von Scarsbruck, is impressively presented by Mr. Clinton Baddeley; Mr. James E. Page as Sergeant Max does well; Mr. Percy Compton as Corporal Ottu is very good; and Mr. Algie Spalding is responsible for the humorous part of Private Bobs, and deserves praise. Miss Ada Champion as Kathie is commendable; Miss Florence Hunt as Rozel appears to advantage; and Miss Annie Saker in the dual rôle of Second Lieut. Karl Helsburg, and Princess Astrea Von. Streslsburg is particularly good.

EMPIRE PALACE OF VARIETIES.—Proprietor, Mr. Walter Gibbons; Manager, Mr. Eustace H. Jay.—A palatable bill of fare is presented at this comfortable theatre. Sid Bandon, comedian, sings his songs with expression; Dale and Vale are singing and dancing specialists of no mean ability; Clarice Mayne is a smart vocalist and mimic; Joe Archer is a popular comedian and patterer; the Sisters Reno are untiring transformation and acrobatic dancers; very funny is the sketch The Water Cure as played by Chas. Stuart and company; the Musical Schafers are great in a novel and invigorating instrumental act; the Ongars are neat and vigorous dancers; and Irma Lorraine is picturesque in her representations of pictorial art. A tremendous hit is made by Mooney and Holbein, irreproachable eccentric vocalists and legmania dancers. Mr. A. Hugh Emmett is a courteous acting-manager.

DARLINGTON.—THEATRE ROYAL AND HIPPODROME.—Licensee and Manager, Mr. James Bell.—The Breed of the Treshams is here this week. As Lieut. Keresby (the Rat) Mr. Tripp Edgar acts the reckless cavalier to perfection; Mr. R. A. Greene as Colonel the Hon. Clement Hungerford is a typical villain. Miss Florence Tresselian is a charming Margaret Hungerford, and Miss Celestine Bertram makes an attractive Batty.

DARWEN.—THEATRE ROYAL.—Lessee, Mr. A. M. Loader; Acting-Manager, Mr. F. J. Robinson.—R. A. Cuthbert's company is here this week with The Black Bishop. Miss Jeannie Marquise displays remarkable dramatic power in the two parts, Marion Strathcoat and Kate Marleigh; the title-rôle is admirably interpreted by Mr. Norman Clarke, who is accorded unstinted applause; Miss Norah Caronne as Ruth Oldbury supplies the pathetic element; and Mr. Alf. Collingham acts with great care as Simeon Strathcoat. Mr. J. W. Rider as Captain Keilcrirt, and Mr. Arthur Danville as Brank Buttlebut, are all that could be desired. The child part is admirably sustained by Little Dolly Collingham; and the part of Hannah Bruttlebut, acted by Miss Grace Garside, commands instant admiration.

DERBY.—GRAND THEATRE AND OPERA HOUSE.—Sole Proprietor and General-Manager, Mr. T. Allan Edwardes; Acting-Manager, Mr. Chas. Denley; Assistant-Manager, Mr. Albert Orton. — Mr. Walter Melville's company is here this week with the melodrama Her Second Time on Earth. Miss Hilda Beverley plays Dora Grey in a convincing manner, and is to be congratulated upon her excellent depiction; Jack Carlton has a manly exponent in Mr. Frank R. Robertson; and the Laura Norman of Miss Dorothy Hildebrande is very acceptable. Guy Brand is successfully portrayed by Mr. W. H. Porter; the characters of Captain Norman and his son Tom are in the capable hands of Mr. John Noland and Mr. Cyril Vernon respectively. Much amusement is caused by Mr. Willie Reid as Teddy Butterfly and Miss Marie Kildare as Kitty Rosebud. Two other parts deserving of special mention are those of Beppo, the Italian, undertaken by Mr. Leonard Aardale; and Elizabeth Burke, cleverly enacted by Miss Polly Marsh. The play is well staged, and the company a very capable one.

PALACE.—Lessee and General Manager, Mr. T. Allan Edwardes; Assistant-Manager, Mr. H. Taylor.—The principal attraction here this week is a dramatic scena entitled The Fight in the Forge, presented by C. Wordley Hulse and Co., which proves eminently successful; another good turn is that of the Merrions, who appear in an amusing comedy sketch In the Shops, and meet with a good reception; Sibb and Sibb provide an excellent trapeze performance; W. H. Downs, coloured vocalist, is well worthy of mention; Sisters Brooklands are charming duettists and dancers; Devereux's performing dogs are very entertaining, and their cleverness is duly recognised; Charles Clark is an amusing comedian; and the Palace Bioscope is responsible for several acceptable films.

DEWSBURY.—THEATRE ROYAL.—Lessees, the Northern Theatres Co., Ltd.; Resident-Manager, Mr. J. H. Asquith.—The programme here this week includes the Brothers O'Brien, who give a unique performance on the three bars; the vocal work of the Herald Comedy Four, vocalists, dancers, and entertainers, is of so excellent a quality that their services are eagerly redemanded; Maggie Rimmer proves an attractive comedienne and dancer; Texas Hattie, who can apparently accomplish anything she wishes on the tight-rope, dances, reclines, balances, and executes many other smart things with the greatest ease; in the knockabout act, Everyday Cyclists, Messrs. Frank Reegan and Co. can certainly claim that they add "to the gaiety of the nations," for peals of laughter followed their extraordinary antics and escapades; Francisco, without doubt, deserves great praise for his skilful work as an equilibristic and novelty juggler; so accomplished a piccolo soloist as May Moodie is rarely heard, and her skilful playing on that instrument is greatly enjoyed; Mr. Charley Craston acquits himself with infinite credit as an eccentric comedy vocalist; and Harry Morris is worthily acclaimed for his abilities as a comedian and mimic.

HIPPODROME.—General-Manager, Mr. George Weldon.—A variety programme sufficiently varied and entertaining pleases the palates of the public here. Edgar Forrest's comedy sketch, My Friend the Enemy, is interpreted with spirit; Arthur Wallace, the Anglo-American entertainer and dramatic monologue artist, shows talent in the scena The Stampede of the Steers; the Three Tivoli Girls go with a swing and heartiness in their songs and dances; Miss Lottie Bray, described as the champion clog skipping-rope dancer of the world, also displays skill as a banjo, song, and dance artist; the Maros, three in number, prove adroit and amusing in their gymnastic work; Evansio is a very smart conjurer, and is expert in the art of spinning plates and basins; Salida and Vone, Creole ragtime dancers; and George Prince, the crazy comedian, complete a very satisfactory bill.

DONCASTER.—NEW THEATRE AND EMPIRE.—Managing-Director, Mr. J. W. Chapman.—Messrs. Dottridge, Longden, and Elliott's company on Monday presented A City of Sin. Mr. Conrad Heywood as Paul Torrains did ample justice to the part; Mr. H. W. Hatchman was vigorous as Mortain; Mr. Charles H. Longden made an effective Zip Barzon, known as the "Red Rat"; Messrs. Wilfred Grahame and Val. W. Gully ably impersonated Bebe Lebveuf and Titi Culotte, getting good support from Mr. H. Fiske as Iolet; Alice Bartrand was effectively played by Miss Edith Wallis; and Miss Jenny Weston as Ilma did well. Misses Polly Denville and Elvira Stuart were unaffectedly bright and breezy in their parts.

DONCASTER GUILD HALL.—Mr. Joshua Dyson's dioramas and gipsy choir drew a crowded house on Monday. This is the eighth visit, and it may safely be said that the combination has grown in popular esteem.

THE PAVILION.—Lessee, Mr. Baker.—The popular summer resort, the Hexthorpe Flatts, is crowded with visitors, all anxious to witness the excellent bill of fare provided this week by the popular lessee. The company includes Lilian and Frances, Scotch artists; Hilda de Gray, soprano; Frank Royle, comedian; Grace Lade, character dancer; Ada Clair, comedienne; Will Sullivan, quaint comedian; Bob Pearson, vocal comedian; the Izons, song and sketch artists, and others.

DOUGLAS.—GRAND THEATRE.—Proprietors, the Grand Theatre Company, Ltd; Managing-Director, Mr. Alfred Hemming; Acting-Manager, Mr. T. R. Wood.—The Little Michus, one of the most entrancing operas ever seen in Douglas, is being played here by Mr. George Dance's company. Mr. Foster Courtenay is responsible for a droll impersonation of General des Ifs, evoking screams of laughter; Miss Alice Coverick plays Marie Blanche with much charm, and singing her music most daintily; Miss Ethel Bryan as Blanche Marie is an excellent foil; the dancing of Mlle. Marjorie captivates the house; Mr. William Everard is effective as Gaston Rigaud; Mr. H. Harcourt does well as Aristide Vert; and Mr. Gilbert Child's impersonation of Bagnolet and Mr. Leon Simkins' Pierre Michu are truly admirable.

GAIETY THEATRE.—Proprietors, the Palace and Derby Castle, Ltd.; Manager and Secretary, Mr. Charles Fox, jun.; Acting-Manager, Mr. George Gray.—The Blue Moon was presented here on Monday. A crowded house witnessed the production, which was under the direction of Mr. Robert Courtneidge. Miss Florence Smithson as Chandra Nib looked picturesque and sang charmingly; Mr. Edward Lewis as Moolraj was decidedly funny; Mr. Bert Gilbert was a droll Private Charles Taylor; Mr. George Mudie made an effective Bobbie Scott; and Mr. J. Edward Frazer as Captain Jack Ormsby presented a delightful hero. Miss Olive Crellin, a native of Mona's Isle, impersonated Oma from the Far East with delicacy and charm.

THE PALACE. — Proprietors, The Palace and Derby Castles, Ltd.; Manager and Secretary; Mr. Charles Fox, jun.; Acting-Manager, Mr. Arthur Brittain.—Audiences at the Palace have been most enthusiastic. The large Ball Room has been packed, and the Opera House crowded. Mr. Ernest Shand has made a huge popular success in Douglas; Viviana, the dancing girl, has pirouetted herself into the affections of the Douglas visitors, her graceful turn evoking applause; the Viola's White Mahatmas astonish everybody; and the Selbinis' trick cycling riding is not only daring but graceful.

DERBY CASTLE.—Proprietors, The Palace and Derby Castle, Ltd.; Manager and Secretary, Mr. Charles Fox, jun.; Acting-Manager, Mr. A. J. Kelly.—To the Douglas visitor there is only one Florrie Forde—she of the "Old Bull and Bush" fame. The greetings this artist receives should entirely satisfy her. There is no mistake about it. They are hall marked with sincerity. She is a public favourite. When she appears the people applaud with all their might. They shout the choruses with unsophisticated exuberance; and after endless encores she disapears in a furore of enthusiasm. Mr. Loudon Cameron is a smart ventriloquist; and Miss Madge Grey, a real mimic, can tell anecdotes with verve. The delineation of the idiosyncrasies of children has fidelity to nature. Miss Mona Edwardes is a capital ventriloquist; and Mr. Ben Albert a quaint comedian. The Castle Bioscope is highly appreciated.

THE HIPPODROME. — Proprietor and Managing-Director, Mr. F. J. Connor.—The programme here contains clever and novel turns. Hoppet, Tony, and Terry, in their coster circus, cause the children to shriek with laughter; Victor Dagmar on the horizontal bar is gracefully effective, being assisted by the very talented clown Myers; Herr Addison, with his troupe of toy terriers, causes enthusiasm; the Lizettes give a performance worthy of the best traditions of the arena.

DOVER.—THEATRE ROYAL, LTD.—Chairman of Directors, Mr. B. Carter; Managing-Director, Mr. Fred C. Dew.—An enthusiastic welcome was accorded The Duchess of Dantsic on Monday. The musical play was presented by Mr. George Dance's company, and was, as is usual with this gentleman's productions, elaborately staged and dressed. To Miss Mary Young was entrusted the part of Sans Gêne, and a most fascinating Duchess she made, while her admirably-rendered songs were received with rapturous applause; Mr. C. Burrunston Williams made a gallant soldier and an ideal lover as Francois Lefebvre; a powerful impersonation, and one which showed a decided touch of individuality, was the portrayal of Napoleon by Mr. Frank Bradley; and a really cleverly humorous characterisation was the Papillion of Mr. Frank Attree. Mr. S. H. Curzon, the possessor of a rich baritone voice, made a gallant and debonair Vicomte de Bethune, and deserves a special word of commendation for his admirably rendered song in the first act. Miss Gipsy Dale, a delightfully sweet and piquant Renee de Saint Mezard, charmed all by her winsome ways; and Miss Ethel Bradley gave the necessary touch of dignity to the rôle of Empress Josephine. Misses V. Kennerley and M. Eastland were excellent as Napoleon's sisters, and Miss Isabel Vivian was successful as Lisette. On Thursday Miss Emma Hutchison and Mr. Percy Hutchison's company opened with The Freedom of Suzanne, with Miss Mabel Love and Miss Templer Powell in the principal parts. The comedy was preceded by a little play entitled Mary's Secret.

THE PAVILION, PROMENADE PIER.—Lessees, the Dover Theatres, Ltd.; Managing-Director, Mr. Fred C. Dew.—A bright and varied evening's amusement is contributed this week by a concert party who call themselves The Motorists, under the direction of Mr. Griffiths Humphreys. Miss Madge Nicholson has a fine soprano voice and a charming selection of songs. Some excellent musical sketches are given by Miss Edith Eatherley, and Miss Kathleen Cardigan's items are received with much favour. Mr. Harry Halstead's tenor voice has won him many admirers; Mr. Lester James causes much hilarity with his humorous songs; and Miss Muriel Lee, besides being a sympathetic accompanist, proves herself an intelligent and talented soloist.

TOWN HALL.—Some wonderful pictures have been shown here during the week by Jury's Bioscope, under the management of Mr. Egerton Burnett. Much interest is excited, and a capital evening's amusement is provided.

THE EMPIRE PALACE.—Manager, Mr. B. H. Harland; Secretary, Mr. Charles R. Stanfield.—A most successful turn is given by Gus Dallon, who deserves unqualified approval for his highly-amusing and clever performance; Sam Ives is accorded a tremendous reception, and Grove and Chalmers are also talented artists. The programme also includes Will Colley, Gertie Grace, and Brian and Lawrence.

DUBLIN.—THEATRE ROYAL.—Managing-Director, Mr. Mouillot; Resident-Manager, Mr. George Parrington.—Mr. Charles Frohman is presenting Miss Ellaline Terriss and Mr. Seymour Hicks here for two weeks in The Catch of the Season. The management are to be congratulated on their attractive engagement, and on Monday night, the musical comedy gave the greatest enjoyment to the large audience present. Miss Terriss made an agreeable impression with her charming manner and great abilities as a comedienne and vocalist, the audience being completely carried away with enthusiasm over her portrayal of Angela. Mr. Seymour Hicks as the Duke of St. Jermyns exerted a similar effect, and both these popular artists were heartily applauded throughout. Lord Dundreary had a capital exponent in Mr. Lawrence Caird; and Miss Florence Lloyd was charming in the rôle of Lady Caterham; Master Louis Victor was intensely amusing as Bucket, and met with well-deserved applause; and as Lady Crystal Miss Belle Napier played with care and finish; the parts of Higham Montague, Lord Yatton, and Sir John Crystal were cleverly enacted by Messrs. A. R. Boielle, Arthur Hope, and Julian Cross, respectively; and the Misses Margaret Fraser and Maudi Darrell were all that could be desired as Sophia and Honoria Bedford; Mr. Alfred Lloyd was exceedingly good as William Gibson; and Miss Barbara Deane scored successfully as Miss Caw. The Gibson Girls, Society Girls, and Lucille Girls, with their clever dancing and singing were a very pleasing feature of this delightful musical comedy; and the orchestra, under the direction of Mr. J. A. Robertson, was excellent.

GAIETY THEATRE.—Managing-Director, Mrs. B. B. Gunn; General-Manager and Secretary, Mr. Charles Hyland.—Mr. Lewis Waller and company are paying a welcome return visit this week, and on Monday night Brigadier Gerard was presented to a packed house, and met with an enthusiastic reception. Mr. Lewis Waller's artistic rendering of the title-rôle is thoroughly enjoyed, and the favourite actor scores heavily throughout the piece. Miss Evelyn Millard's finished performance of the rôle of the Comtesse de Rouqelaure is equally fascinating, and both artists win most enthusiastic cheers. Mr. Edward O'Neill displays much ability as Talleyrand; and Miss Helen Leyton wins general admiration by a careful and complete rendering of Agnes. Mr. A. E. George is well-suited as Napoleon, Mr. Owen Roughwood as Major Bron, and Mr. Frank Woolfe as Major Oliver, both acquit themselves well in their respective parts. General de Caulaincourt is played in an admirable manner by Mr. J. N. Irvine; and Mr. Eric Scott sustains with credit the rôle of Colonel Guerin. The other parts are also in capable hands, and the staging and scenery are excellent. The one-act play, Fortune's Fool, in which Mr. Waller also appears, precedes.

QUEEN'S THEATRE.—Lessee and Manager, Mr. J. W. Whitbread; Acting-Manager, Mr. John M. Dawson.—Mr. Geoffrey Fulton's company occupies the boards here this week, presenting the domestic drama, The Poor Must Live. Mr. S. Burnard impersonates very creditably the part of Clifton Manville; and Miss S. Carmichael acts with marked ability the rôle of Olga D'Eyncourt; the Earl of Marwood is played in a capable manner by Mr. Charles O'Connor; and Miss Violet Hammersley submits a careful study of the rôle of Dorothy Murdock; Mr. Harold C. Macartney makes a capital Donald; and Sal Darling is successfully played by Miss Marguerite Thorne. The humour of the piece is well sustained by Mr. Shaun Glenville as Hooker Holdsnitch; and Miss Dora Hilstrom is excellent as Moya Darling; Mr. Arthur Trail as Sam Sully and Mr. Frank Dale as Dick Sully are both good in their respective parts, and receive material assistance from Mr. George Mour as Bertie Miggs, Mr. Albert Spencer as Jack O'Moode, and Mr. William Myers as James.

EMPIRE. — General-Manager, Mr. Frank Allen; Acting-Manager and Secretary, Mr. George H. Marsh.—A varied and attractive programme is presented here this week, the top-liner being Bob Hutt and company, in their pantomimic absurdity, Welcome Home, which causes roars of laughter; Messrs. Sandford and Lyons are highly humorous comedians, who achieve conspicuous success; and Miss Marie Reeve sing and dance herelf into great favour; the Norman Leonard Trio, in their musical sketch, The Itinerant, are well received; and Mr. Harry Hayton is an acceptable comedian; Brown and Robinson create a fund of merriment in their sketch, Harmony in the Kitchen; and James H. Jee in a marvellous wire act merits applause. As a comedian and dancer Albert Le Fre makes a decided hit, and the Empire Pictures are also interesting.

TIVOLI.—General-Manager, Mr. Charles M. Jones; Secretary, Mr. H. A. Murphy.—This week's excellent programme is headed by Herman Melot, a remarkably clever conjurer, who is accorded a hearty reception; another very acceptable turn is that of Bosanquet, a capital violin virtuoso; and Harry Conlin, an entertaining comedian; Jimson's novelty sketch, The Burglar's Surprise, is eminently successful and comical; Walker's parody acrobats cause much merriment; the efforts of the Two Dixons, banjo song and dance artists, are duly recognised; and Ailsa Douglas, vocalist; Harry Morris, comedian; Mons. Reklaw, globe performer; and the Bioscope complete the bill.

PAVILION, KINGSTOWN.—Manager, Mr. C. Irvine Bacon.—An attractive programme is presented here this week, the principal item being the singing of the Maori Chieftain Ranginia, who possesses a good tenor voice, and is loudly applauded. Graham's human marionettes are highly amusing, and the sketches, musical monologues, and songs contributed by Miss Mollie Seymour, Mr. Lawrence Derrick, and Miss Marion Brereton are well enjoyed and highly appreciated, and the entertainment concludes with a good display of animated pictures.

ROUND ROOM, ROTUNDA.—The Irish Animated Photo Company entered on their second week here on Monday. The continuous change of pictures and the variety turns provided continue to attract large audiences.

WORLD'S FAIR AND MUSIC HALL.—Proprietor, Mr. C. A. James.—The artists engaged here include: Rex and Graham, living marionettes; Little Dandy, character, comedian; Louie Rex, serio and dancer; Rex Graham, comedian and dancer; Alice Ashworth, soprano vocalist.

SAMUELS' EXHIBITION PALACE.—Proprietor, Mr. S. Samuels.—The following are appearing here:—Prof. Robert Davison, ventriloquist; Lead and Lead, comedy duettists; Mabel Welfore, serio and dancer; Harry Balfour, eccentric comedian; and Will Kerr, conjurer.

DUDLEY.—OPERA HOUSE.—Proprietor and Manager, Mr. J. Maurice Clement; Acting-Manager, Mr. J. W. Tilley.—The Woman Who Gambles is paying a first visit here. The piece is powerfully presented. Mr. James Duncan as Count Otto Steinbach acts in excellent style; Miss Gertrude Hunt as the Countess Natalie plays with power and pathos; of the Baron Cratzlaw Mr. Horatio Sinclair gives a forcible rendering; and Mr. Reginald Fox is effective as Lieutenant Karl Ctzarteryski. Mr. J. O. Stevenson as the Hon. Bertie Bray, and Miss Florrie Hall as Mlle. Zila, are conspicuous in the lighter vein. Miss Rhoda Clighton, well gowned, plays Stella with thorough abandon; and Miss Flora Halton is refreshingly sweet as Cora.

EMPIRE.—Managing-Director, Mr. Fred H. Anderson.—The feature of the programme this week is Fred Fuller and company in The Miner's Dream, a varied and most entertaining turn. Another notable contribution is that of Zaid, in an Oriental speciality, wherein he performs some marvellous contortions on the "rings"; Charles Chard is a comedian with good songs; Vesta Fay, a male impersonator of good style; the Bros. Newport are clever ring and trapeze artists; and other attractions in the bill include Annie Casey, comedienne; Mark Lane, quaint comedian; and the Empire pictures.

DUMFRIES. — THEATRE ROYAL. — Lessee, Mr. W. E. Potts; Manager, Mr. Seddons.—This theatre was opened for the season on Monday with Mr. Charles Carey's company in After the Ball. Mr. Algernon W. Lee as Haliwell Menit was very successful; Mr. Percy Baverstock made a capable Colonel Joseph Menit; Miss M. Sadie was very charming as Nancy; Mr. Norman Bower played the part of Dick Seymour with great ability; Miss Queenie Finnis as Nellie Mather was very sweet and winning; Miss Eva Ellis was a very attractive Ruth Gay; and the rest of the company, which is a large one, lent good support. The scenery is effective, and capital houses have been secured.

DUNDEE. — HER MAJESTY'S THEATRE.—Managing Director, Mr. Robert Arthur; General Manager, Mr. Louis Karpe.—Well-acted and cleverly staged, Life's Sweetest Sins has drawn good houses during the week. As Doctor Colbrooke Mr. Oswald Douglas simply revels in villainy, and plays his part particularly well; his brutal confederates, Mr. Robert Sawin and Mr. Clem Horlock, give a good account of themselves; Mr. T. Arthur Jones as Captain Harold Marston makes a manly hero, and Miss Marie Daventry as Doreen Rivers a pleasing heroine; in lighter vein, Mr. Edgar Morgan as Bob Tanner and Miss Elsie Walton as Bess Grayson, treat the audience to some smart dancing and singing. The minor parts are each evening by His Landlady. Mr. Percy Hutchison himself undertook the part of Arthur Frederick Adolphus Taunton with highly successful results; while the special engagements of Mr. George Mudie and Miss Lilias Earle for the respective parts of John Gripleigh and Charity Concannon were other specially prominent features in a performance of all-round excellence. These three artists were supported by Messrs. Ernest Cox, whose Gerald Marvel left nothing wanting; Frank Hill, in a richly humorous sketch of Peter Concannon; Charles Bedells, an appropriately melodramatic representative of Denbigh Thraile; S. Irwin Barrett, J. Mitchell, Misses Margaret Marshall (excellent as the typical open-air girl Mary Concannon), and Hilda Honise (a truly charming Norah Concannon). The business management is vested in Mr. F. C. Dee.

Pier Pavilion.—Manager, Mr. G. Hayes.—Mr. Mouillot's company, managed by Mr. Frank Pemberton, opened a three nights' engagement on Monday in The Toreador. Mr. Fred Fowler's Pettifer was a highly praiseworthy assumption, conspicuous ability being displayed in acting, singing, and dancing; Mr. Howard Cridland's impersonation of the typical Johnnie, Sir Archibald Slackett, merits warm commendation, as also does the very excellent portrayal of Augustus Trail by Mr. Atheling Farrar. The name-rôle of Carajola was a distinct vocal success in the hands of Mr. H. M. White; Mr. Harry Buss was a tower of strength to the performance as Sammy Gigg, a part played to the accompaniment of incessant laughter; and smaller male parts were capitally undertaken by Messrs. Alfred H. Majilton, Alick Macmillan, and A. Finch, Misses Vera Vallis (a delightfully vivacious representative of Susan), Katie May (a bewitchingly dainty and unaffected Dora Selby), Zoe Gilfillan (admirably cast as Mrs. Malton Hoppings), Florence Burdette (a satisfactory Donna Teresa), and Rose Helene (histrionically a truly admirable Nancy Staunton) were the chief lady artists. The musical direction was in the hands of Mr. George Saker. Mr. George Dance's company in The Cingalee is completing the week.

Hippodrome.—Managing-Director, Mr. Sidney W. Winter; General-Manager, Mr. Harry Day; Resident-Manager, Mr. Walter Smith.—Bert Williams, in a very clever, original, and amusing ventriloquial act, heads the bill, and is scoring a gratifying success; Regan and Ryan excel as cross-talk comedians and dancers, and their turn is keenly enjoyed; the Evalos, amusing burlesque conjurers, clever hoop-rollers, and smart gymnasts; Patty Yole, a talented comedienne and dancer; and Mr. Ein, an amusing joke-picture act; together with Miss Cordite, assisted by Wild Buffalo, in a rope manipulation turn; Charles King, the possessor of a phenomenal tenor voice; and Dora Lyric, a refined comedienne, also figure in the programme, which is completed by the Hippodrome pictures.

Devonshire Park.—Managing-Director, Mr. A. Standen Triggs.—Mr. Norfolk Megone's Devonshire Park Grand Orchestra is continuing its successful engagement. Miss Eleanor Felix is this week's vocalist, and Miss Dorothea Walenn was the solo violinist at the Thursday symphony concert.

ECCLES.—Lyceum Theatre.—Lessees, Messrs. Wardle and Potasch; Manager, Mr. P. Potasch.—Watson Mills' company is here this week with A Wrecker of Men. Miss Dora Price as Risca Mallison, the adventuress, gives a clever impersonation, deserving great credit; Mr. Frederick Biron as Jim Murley undertakes the part of a criminal in a masterful way; Mr. Milner Noble as Pharosophus acts a mysterious Egyptian creditably; Mr. Millar Anderson plays admirably as Railton; as Guise Strange and the Hon. Reggie Verincourt Mr. Holland Day and Mr. Lancelot Usher take their respective characters in a pleasing manner. Miss Cissie Podmore is applauded repeatedly in the part of Doris Melville.

EXETER.—Theatre Royal. — Chairman and Managing-Director, Dr. Edward J. Domville, J.P.; Acting-Manager, Mr. Percy M. Dunsford.—Mr. E. Lockwood and Mr. R. Crossman's company is appearing here this week in Sergeant Brue. Mr. E. Russell in the title-rôle is a capable actor; Mr. T. A. Shale as Crookie Scrubs, the "ex-lag," brings down the house with his songs and jokes; Mr. J. H. Goldsworthy is excellent as Michael Brue; and Mr. Arthur Stroud ably sustains the part of Gerald Treherne. Mr. Henry Chichester is good as Mr. Crank; Miss Lily Lingard smart and bewitching as Lady Bickenhall; Miss Kitty Dale winning as Aurora; and Miss Aileen Macdonald piquant as Mabel.

FALKIRK.—Grand Theatre and Opera House.—Managing-Director, Mr. R. C. Buchanan; Resident-Manager, Mr. Horace W. Ebbutt.—Mr. Fredk. Melville's stirring drama, The Beast and the Beauty, filled the bill for the first half of the week. Mr. Milton Rosmer as Jack Barrymore (the beast) proved himself an actor of great ability, giving an able and artistic presentation of a difficult part; Miss Alice Bowes as Violet (the beauty) filled the rôle of the innocent and pure-minded flower-girl with winsome grace and irresistible charm; as the Earl of Loman, Mr. Wm. E. Passmore was very successful; Mr. Eric Campbell seems designed by nature for the part of Ned Sampson, the fighting man, looking a perfect gladiator in the ring; Mr. Harry Talbot as Tom Chicken, in conjunction with Miss Mollie Williams as Clarice, provided the bulk of the humour of the piece; Miss Daisy Gwynne fulfilled all the requirements of the thankless and unpopular part of Delilah Vane. The piece was received with acclamation by well-filled houses.

FLEETWOOD.—Queen's Theatre.—Licensee and Manager, Mr. H. J. Snelson.—The United English Opera Company, under the direction of Mr. F. S. Gilbert, is appearing at the Queen's Hall this week. In Monday night's performance of Maritana Miss Elsa May as Maritana and Mr. F. S. Gilbert as Don Cæsar de Bazin were excellent, and delighted with their fine singing. Miss Kate White and Mr. H. Blagrave as the Marchioness and Marquis de Montefiore respectively took their parts effectively. Miss Clairette Florence gave a good representation of Lazarillo; and Mr. J. Kneale Cambell appeared to advantage as Don Jose. The King of Spain and Alcade were ably represented by Mr. W. Newby and Mr. Fred Featherstone respectively. The Daughter of the Regiment was given on Tuesday, on Wednesday Faust, on Thursday Maritana, on Friday Il Trovatore, and The Bohemian Girl is billed for to-night. The principals are assisted by a capable company, and the singing throughout is very good.

FOLKESTONE.—Pleasure Gardens Theatre.—Manager, Mr. H. W. Rowland.—Mr. George Dance's company in The Orchid was here the first three nights of the week. Miss Dorothy Firmin made a charming representative of Lady Violet; Miss Emily Stevens played the part of Caroline Vokins with success; Miss Florence Wakeman was a vivacious Zelie; and Miss Constance Hamilton was effective as Thisbe. The Countess Anstruther had an able exponent in Miss Ethel Holdsworth; Miss Gladys Ward did full justice to the part of Josephine; Mr. Sinclair Holden as the Hon. Guy Scrymgeour was all that could be desired; Mr. J. Bullock Webster acquitted himself well as Dr. Ronald Fausset; Mr. Stenson Liddard as Aubrey Chesterton, and Mr. Edward Nainby as Comte Raoul, took their respective parts in an able manner. Mr. John R. Val as Zaccary sang well; and Mr. Colin Campbell was the cause of much merriment as Meakin. Mr. George Dance's company in Veronique occupied the boards on Thursday.

Victoria Pier.—Lessees, Messrs. Keith, Prowse, and Co., Ltd.; Local Manager, Mr. J. Fenton Walsh.—An interesting programme is provided here this week. On Wednesday Mrs. Langtry and company gave two performances, and were accorded a big welcome. The Sabots still retain their popularity, their concerted numbers being very smartly rendered. The Blue Viennese Band, under the direction of Herr Moritz Würm, commenced a month's engagement on Monday.

Leas Pavilion.—Manager, Mr. A. Sitter.—Miss Marion Pilcher, contralto, is on a return visit here this week. Mr. George Robins is an excellent entertainer; and the Ladies' Blue Salon Band render acceptable items.

Bathing Establishment Grounds.—Mr. George Ellis took a well-deserved benefit on Wednesday, and was seen at his best in several songs. The solos and concerted items by "The Cadets" meet with enthusiasm.

GATESHEAD.—King's Theatre.—Lessee, Mr. M. S. Hammond; General-Manager, Mr. Joe May.—Heading a very strong programme here are Alma, Abdullah, and La Superbe in a magnificent illuminated spectacle named Electra's Dream. The Eight Lancashire Lads, a very smart combination of singers and dancers, get rounds of applause; Dusty Rhodes described as a comedy merchant, has a host of racy stories to tell, and also distinguishes himself as an impersonator; Madame Collard's trained boarhounds go through their performance with remarkable aptitude; Bromley and Fontein present a pleasing musical turn, the gentleman of the twain being also a very clever comedian; the Trio Alskarno submit a skilful Risley act; the Three Sisters Hayden, character comediennes, get well-merited applause; Fred Hallam, comedian, and the Venola Bros., comedy gymnasts, complete the "show."

Queen's Theatre.—Proprietors, Messrs. Bolam and Bacon; General-Manager, Mr. Sidney Bacon; Acting-Manager, Mr. Stephen Smith.—Starring here are the Marcellas in a comedy juggling act, which creates boisterous laughter. Very popular are Corman's Juveniles, whose scena, entitled Xmas Eve, is excellently done; and another turn which hits the popular fancy is that of the Two Downs, speciality dancers. Ethel Payne, a ballad vocalist of merit, delights her hearers; and Vere and Royal submit a very amusing comedy act; Claremont and Victor, comedy acrobats, and Downey's Living Pictures make up a very entertaining programme.

Metropole Theatre.—Lessees, Messrs. Bolam and Bacon; General-Manager, Mr. Sidney Bacon; Acting-Manager, Mr. Thomas France.—This house has been packed throughout the week, the attraction being Auguste Van Biene and company in The Broken Melody. Van Biene acts excellently as Paul Borinski, and delights the audience with his fine 'cello solos. Miss Lena Burnleigh makes a very pathetic Mabel, and Miss Rosemary Lees is well suited in the part of the Duchess. Mr. Henry Ludlow does well as Ivanoff; whilst Mr. T. G. Haynes is a very amusing Mortimer. Mr. Archie Selwyn playing with effect as the Hon. Richard Spinnaker.

GLOUCESTER.—Palace.—Proprietors, Messrs. C. W. and J. R. Poole.—Wizard and Irene Stone are topping the bill this week with a motor-cycle sensation, "The Globe of Life." Will Souls, laughing comedian; Winnie Cottrell, male impersonator; Parker and Parr, novelty duettists; Eunice Bell, ballad vocalist; J. H. McCann, comedian and roller skater; Alec Thomas, negro comedian; Max Merlin, the contortionist; the Bioscope, with new pictures; and the Mezzettia, on the triple bars, also contribute to the entertainment.

GREAT YARMOUTH.—Royal Aquarium.—Proprietor and Manager, Mr. J. W. Nightingale.—Mr. George Dance's chief company is here this week with Lady Madcap. In the title-rôle Miss Isabel Dillon sings delightfully; Susan is brightly played by Miss Ethel Beech, whose dainty dancing wins much applause; Mr. Jules Charmettes is excellent as Count de St. Hubert, his French version of popular songs gaining for him encores nightly; Mr. B. Russell as Bill uses his fine voice to the best advantage; Mr. Harold Parkes contributes a clever character study of Oroya Brown; and Mr. Geo. Whillis is exceedingly comical as Corporal Ham.

Theatre Royal.—Proprietor and Manager, Mr. J. W. Nightingale.—Miss Emma Hutchison and Mr. Percy Hutchison's company occupies the boards this week with Public Opinion. The testy Spencer Traughton is a clever characterisation by Mr. Charles Harley; the pomposity and querulousness of the Hon. Mr. Justice Mulley are capitally depicted by Mr. Fred Lewis; Mr. Douglas Greet is exceedingly comical as Viscount Poffley; Mr. Percy Marshall is excellent as Horace Wibsey; and Lord Percy Kilgour is well played by Mr. Ashton Pearce; Miss Connie Dene is natural and charming as Phyllis Dagenham; Miss Nancy Beresford is effective as Pansy Bligh; Miss Violet Harley is very successful as the aggressive Charlotte; and the good-natured, effusive Lady Dina Caldershaw is an enjoyable interpretation by Miss Florence Hamer.

Britannia Pier Pavilion. — Managing-Director, Mr. J. W. Nightingale; Acting-Manager, Mr. Edward Gray.—Mlle. Lumier, in her fine spectacle The Fairy Grotto, and kaleidoscopic dances, is greatly enjoyed; Rappo and Ella, in their wonderful equilibrist act, gain enthusiastic applause, Kate Gourlay, character comedienne and buck dancer; the Llewellyns, Australian operatic vocalists; Aline Sudbury, a dainty little ballad singer; Miss Eva Kelland, the Australian girl in song scena, Farewell, my little Bushmate; Hal Brough, the Antipodean comedian; and A. B. Houghton, trick pianist, also contribute pleasing items to a capital programme.

Wellington Pier Pavilion. — Proprietors, Great Yarmouth Corporation; Manager, Mr. Harry Tunbridge.—Emlyn Jones and his quartette of ladies provide a most enjoyable international vocal scena; Frank Royce succeeds as a character comedian; Grace Logan sings and dances charmingly; Helen Charles provides a pleasant drawing-room entertainment; Gus Hindell interests with song and story; Welda and Wynne give an amusing juggling act; Cinizelli evokes laughter as the silent jester; and Vernando contributes a novel ventriloquial act.

The Hippodrome.—Proprietor, Mr. Geo. Gilbert.—The newcomers for the week are Pietro, the human serpent, an extraordinary contortionist; the Barbusio Bros., who give a clever show as hand and head equilibrists; Miss Fanny Wentworth, the society entertainer; and the John Bristons, comedy acrobats and cyclists. Other participants in a capital programme are well received.

GREENOCK. — Alexandra Theatre. — Proprietors, The Greenock Theatre Co., Ltd.; Managing-Director, Mr. R. C. Buchanan. — Mr. Eugene C. Stafford's company is playing The Private Secretary here this week. Mr. Donald Price-Evans is very amusing as the Rev. Robert Spalding; Mr. W. Hargreaves is an entertaining Mr. Cattermole; and Mr. Randolfe Reade is well suited as Douglas Cattermole; Mr. W. T. Elworthy makes an excellent Marsland, and Mr. James P. E. Hussey ably fills the rôle of Harry Marsland; Mr. Vivian Gilbert, as Gibson, deserves praise; Mrs. Alfred Davies enacts Miss Ashford successfully, and the part of Mrs. Stead is nicely taken by Miss Cecily Wade; Miss Beth Elliot is a charming Eva Webster, and the same may be said of Miss Dora Gray, who plays Edith Marsland as well as ever.

Empire Theatre of Varieties.—Lessee and Manager, Mr. H. L. Skivington.—The above theatre reopened for the season on Monday evening. During the recess the house has been entirely overhauled, re-decorated, re-seated, and now presents a very handsome appearance. The Four Burnells appear in an amusing act, entitled On the Links, and other good items are Will Rayne & Co., in an act entitled The Motor Maniac; Sisters Lytton, vocalists; R. T. Meikle, baritone vocalist; Brothers Onda, in a triple bar act; Selbo, juggler; and Ewart and Bryan, song and dance artists. The entertainment is concluded by a cinematograph display.

Pavilion Theatre. — Lessees, The Greenock Pavilion, Ltd.; General-Manager, Mr. Samuel Lloyd.—The principal turn here this week is given by Lily Morris, who sings very pleasingly. Other good turns are Sterling and Love, in a Domestic Musical Squabble; Raie Walters, comedienne; Helms and Cozens in a comedy sketch, entitled The Doctor and the Patient; Annie Laurie, comedienne and dancer; and Nat. Watkins, comedian. An excellent Pavoscope exhibition is also given.

GRIMSBY.—Prince of Wales's Theatre.—Managing-Director, Mr. J. H. Curry; Assistant-Manager, Mr. Sydney Tolfree.—As Midnight Chimes, which has appeared here, is a drama of the domestic order, but nevertheless embraces many thrilling scenes. Special interest is taken in the appearance of the well-known comedian, Witty Wattie Walton, who represents the comedy character, Tat Spavvin. His droll style is admirably suited to the part. As the gentleman smuggler, Luke Dezzard, Mr. Eric Hudson fulfils all requirements, and his unwilling accomplice, Ezra Gamble, is satisfactorily portrayed by Mr. Herbert Belmore.

The Palace.—Managing-Director, Mr. T. A. Edwardes; Resident-Manager, Mr. T. W. Moyes; Assistant-Manager, Mr. A. V. Allton.—Two exceptionally good acrobatic turns have been seen here this week. The Four Cattaneos gave a very smart display, and are particularly agile performers; and Wild, Willie, and West introduced gymnastics in novel style. Attired as navvies, and with appropriate scenery, they cause much amusement. Harwood's Juveniles, a talented troupe of youngsters, appear with success in The Children's Christmas Eve; the programme also includes Mark Merry, comedian; Violet Morgan, impersonator; the Sisters Edwardes, vocalists and dancers; Whimsical Walker in Captain Hamilton, V.C.; and Ernesto, juggler.

The Empire, Cleethorpes.—Proprietor, Mr. J. Carter-White; Manager, Mr. W. M. Baker.—Miss Billie Barlow has more than delighted audiences this week with her up-to-date songs and engaging style; Miss Jennie Sydney, a vocalist and dancer, also scored a success; and the musical turn of Mdlle. Josephine is highly appreciated; Barney Vox gives a distinctively original ventriloquial turn; Carl Vernon presents new feats of magic; Signor Spes is an expert cyclist; the Sisters Selwyn submit pleasing songs and dances; and Harry Bickley is a successful eccentric comedian.

HALIFAX.—The Grand Theatre, Ltd.—Managing-Director, Mr. Wm. Robinson; General-Manager, Mr. Otto C. Culling.—After a brief absence, the versatile character-actor, Harry Starr, has returned with the ever-popular comedy-drama, Otto the Outcast, which is doing capital business here this week. Mr. Starr acts and sings buoyantly, and gives remarkable impersonations of Napoleon and Nelson. His efforts are well succeeded by Mr. Edwin Firth in the villainous rôles of the detective and quack; Mr. Wm. Miller plays the character of Daddy Bruneau with his old vigour; and the quips and gags of Mr. Fred W. Graham are funny.

Theatre Royal, Ltd.—Managing-Director, Mr. Wm. Robinson; General-Manager, Mr. Otto C. Culling. — This week the bewitching American comedienne, Miss Lil Hawthorne, is making her first bow before a Halifax audience here, and, judging by the tumultuous applause she evokes by her delightful singing of "Don't cry, little girl," "My Cosy Caravan," and "Take it and give to the baby," we should seen much of this popular artist in the near future. Mr. Edward Cranston is making his initial appearance with the racing sketch, Terry, in which he gives a most praiseworthy representation of the title-rôle; Mlle. Olive is particularly clever in a juggling turn; a very diverting episode is entitled Fun in a Chinese Wash-house, in which Ah Ding and Ah Did cleverly participate; Chas. Norton vividly mimics the stars of the variety profession; Chas. Diamond and Miss Beatrice are exceptionally brilliant instrumentalists; and the Dorian Trio are favourably received for their acrobatic feats.

HANLEY.—Royal, Limited.—Managing-Director, Mr. Chas. Elphinstone; Manager, Mr. Douglas Elphinstone.—Mr. Bert Coote's company is paying a welcome return visit in The Fatal Wedding. The piece is nicely staged and cleverly enacted. Miss Leah Marlborough plays with power and telling effect as Cora Williams; as Mabel Wilson, Miss Katherine Clarke proves most acceptable, her portrayal of the wronged wife being all that could be desired; Miss Madge McCalla, as Jessie, acts the part delightfully, and her general impersonation is admirable; Mr. Guy Hastings makes the most of the part of Robert Curtis; Howard Wilson finds a capital representative in Mr. W. Howard; Mr. Edward Morgan as Tolo causes roars of laughter; Miss Blanche Stanley makes a most desirable Bridget, and, as O'Reilly, Mr Jack Waring is particularly clever. The juveniles travelling with the company are seen in many specialities. Miss Madge McCalla sings nicely; Miss Ivy Westaby's rendering of a ballad is excellent; Miss Dolly McCalla also sings well.

The Grand, Limited.—Managing-Director, Mr. Charles Elphinstone; Manager, Mr. Alfred Edwardes.—A capital programme is submitted to the patrons of this comfortable house this week. The Six Brothers Luck are seen in their screamingly funny sketches, Blazes and Demon of the Cellar, which are much appreciated. The Brothers Martine, in their comedy acrobatic act, contribute a turn of much excellence; Miss Daisy Dormer returns, and scores in her usual dainty and artistic manner; David Poole, in his ventriloquial entertainment, is always warmly welcomed; Wyndham and Waters are seen in a good sketch—viz., The Professor and His Pupil; the Four Jumels present a pretty musical turn, which proved most pleasing; Charles Russell sings his naval song well; Urbanora shows excellent moving pictures.

HARROGATE.—Grand Opera House.—Managing-Director, Mr. William Peacock; Acting-Manager, Mr. C. Fielding Smith.—For the first three nights of this week we had Mr. Chas. Macdona's company in Mr. Popple (of Ippleton), and a very large audience welcomed it on Monday night. Mr. Morris Harvey gave a good performance as Mr. Popple; Mr. Herbert Dickeson made the most of Norman Popple; Mr. Augustin Symonds and Mr. Fred Allen were amusing as George Hennay and Henry Doring respectively; Mr. Fred Maguire sang well as Jacques Kenyon; and Mr. Tom May as Platt, and Miss Lulu Louden as Louise were both excellent. As the two wives (Mrs. Doring and Mrs. Hennay) Miss Louie Rene and Miss Stella St. Audrie both deserve especial commendation; Miss Brickwell as La Bolero gave a creditable performance, and the smaller parts were suitably filled. The scenery was greatly admired. For the rest of the week The Blue Moon fills the bill.

HARTLEPOOL.—Empress.—Proprietors, Councillor Everton and J. W. Cragg; Manager, Mr. Harry Burns.—The programme this week gives first place to the Martelloni Troupe of lady acrobats, whose performance is excellently done, and suitably appreciated; Mabel Thorne, a favourite low comedy artist, gains a host of new admirers; the novelty of the performance by Bros. Zampah, the one-legged acrobat marvels, is equalled by the dexterity with which it is carried out; Warren Doyle, a juvenile artist, excels in dance; the absurdity, Sally's Dilemma, by Bensley, Evans' London Sketch Co., with Miss Olive Lanty as Sally, keeps the audience in mirthful mood; Kendrick and Laura, vocalists; Arthur Gill, a yokel comedian; and some Bioscope pictures are also on the programme.

HASTINGS.—Gaiety Theatre.—Manager, Mr. H. W. Rowland; Resident Acting-Manager, Mr. Charles E. Scutt.—For the first half of the week we had Mr. George Dance's company in The Cingalee, and soon after the performance commenced on Monday "House full" was announced. Miss Georgina Middleton filled the name-rôle very pleasingly, and sang acceptably; Mr. Cyril Dane played and sang well as the Hon. Harry Vereker; Mr. Jack Crichton fully deserved the applause he gained for his excellent work as Chambhuddy Ram, in which he was cleverly assisted by Miss Gladys Guy as Peggy Sabine. Mr. Hellier le Maistre as Boobhamba was thrice encored for his topical song; Mr. Ethelbert Edwards was in every way satisfactory as Bobbie Warren; and Mr. Carlyle Pritchard deserves notice as Myamgah. Mr. Grafton Williams was effective as Sir Peter Loftus; Miss Marjorie Clark was a pleasing Lady Patricia, her singing being very good; Miss Essie Perrin danced a graceful pas-seul in Act II., and filled the rôle of Angy. The Misses Kitty Stephens, Marie Hayden, Blanche Alleyne, and Laurie Lindsley were very commendable as the Tea Girls; and an emphatic word of praise is due to the excellent chorus and also to the orchestra, directed by Mr. Peter Fletcroft. The scenery is gorgeous. For the remainder of the week The Orchid paid a return visit

Hippodrome, Theatre of Varieties.—General-Manager, Mr. Albert Mathams.—With Hastings full of visitors, crowded audiences fill this efficient theatre, where the programme is pleasingly varied. A good vocalist is found in Mr. Victor Crawford; Messrs. Hans and Lux are college chums of the cross-talk comedian type; Miss Marie Blythe is a pleasing contralto vocalist; some excellent pictures are shown by the Hippodrome Bioscope; Fred Keeton is extremely comic in both song and patter; very pretty dancers and duettists are the Sisters Cora; Mr. Fred Herbert, a topical vocalist of marked ability, is very poular; Fred Karno's Troupe of comedians introduce their laughable sketch, Saturday to Monday, and are most successful.

Beach Concert Pavilion. — Manager, Mr. Geo. Blackmore.—The Wallis Arthur company attract large audiences to listen with delight to the well-rendered ballads by Miss Ada Gaskill and the humorous patter and topical songs by the comedians, including Miss Winnie Harbor and the Messrs. George Blackmore, Bert Meredith, and Harry King.

Public Hall.—Mr. Charles Harrington is paying a welcome return visit with Uncle Tom's Cabin. Mr. J. Carr makes an ideal Uncle Tom; and the part of Phineas Fletcher could not be better portrayed than by Mr. J. H. Renney; Mr. Leslie Beaufort gives a manly representation of George Harris; and Mr. Walter Langford is very good as Lawyer Marks; Mr. J. Henry Rogers is a strong and brutal Legree; Miss Hettie Johnson enacts the part of Eliza Harris with spirit and refinement; much amusement is caused by the mixture of shrewdness and cunning which Miss Annie Watson throws into the character of Topsy. Aunt Ophelia is well entrusted to Miss Jennie Malcolm; and Mrs. Carr makes a capital Aunt Chloe; Little Eva is very prettily taken by Little Minnie; and Miss Ethel Mildmay is very natural in the part of Cassy. The troupe is large, and includes cake-walkers, and bone soloists, and banjoists, and the whole performance is very popular.

A matinée concert took place at the Pier Pavilion on Tuesday, Miss Zena Dare and Miss Alice Holkander being the principal vocalists. Miss Dora Eshelby sang, and the programme also included Mr. Stanley Adams, a Canadian baritone, and Miss Cathleen Mayer, who introduced musical sketches at the piano.

Hastings Pier Pavilion. — Pier-Master, Mr. R. Turner; Entertainment-Manager, Mr. J. D. Hunter.—The programme here is opened by H. B. Fernie's amusing comedietta, The Fatal Bag. The little piece hinges upon a case of jealousy, in which the three talented comedians, Mr. J. D. Hunter and the Misses Bayley create great amusement. The vocalists are Madame Annie Grew, contralto, and Miss Nellie Ganthony, the latter introducing some of her popular sketches at the piano. Mr. Charles Coborn, the famous comedian, is much applauded for his character songs. Miss Mabel Mavis is very expert on the musical glasses; an illuminated transformation dance is given by Miss Maud May Murray; Mr. Walter Payne's Photo-Bioscope concludes an excellent entertainment.

St. Leonards Pavilion Theatre.—Pier-Master and Entertainment-Manager, Mr. Elvey Thomas.—Mr. Henry E. Leigh and company are occupying the boards here with The 'Varsity Belle. The piece is extremely farcical, but Mr. James Danvers, as Professor Septimus gives an admirable character sketch; Theocritus Ward, as played by Mr. Edward Chester, is appropriately resolute; the two undergraduates are well represented by Messrs. Harley West and Roy Barraclough; a good rendering of Runyard is given by Mr. Frank Lilliput; Miss Josephine Ellis in the title-rôle is very dainty and charming; and Miss Nellie Dent, Miss Beatrice Egerton, and Miss Nellie Beacon all contribute to the success of the play.

HUDDERSFIELD.—Theatre Royal.—Proprietors, Messrs. Milton Bode and Edward Compton; Resident-Manager, Mr. W. J. Andrews.—Mr. John F. Preston's company opened on Monday for the week with a performance of Lady Godiva. The well known version was on the whole well done. F. B. Woulfe gave a fine presentation of the part of Tom, of Coventry, and Miss Hilda Shirley played with much success as Lady Godiva. Nell Gwynne and Jane Shore are also down for performance.

Hippodrome.—Proprietors, The Northern Theatres Co., Ltd.; Resident-Manager, Mr. N. M. Robinson.—The bill here includes Newhouse and Ward, a pair of highly diverting and daring cyclists; Miss Blanche Holt, comedienne; Halter and Ray, in a duologue; the Three Sisters Kilner, smart acrobatic dancers; the Brown and Kelly combination, in a screamingly funny sketch, The Butler Knows; Guy Ryder, whistler; Mdlle. Eldee, in a beautifully artistic performance, "Poses Plastique"; Boswell's circus, introducing some clever animals; and amusing pictures on the Biograph.

HULL. — Theatre Royal.—Sole Lessee, Mr. W. Morton; Resident-Director, Mr. W. F. Morton.—Mr. Wm. Mollison achieved an instantaneous success in the rôle of Cyrus Blenkarn in the revival of The Middleman on Monday evening. The famous workshop scene was given its proper proportion, and Mr. Mollison's acting in it reached the highest points of art. The Middleman found an excellent representative in Mr. John Clyde, who presented the transition of character with much skill. Miss Evelyn McNay won the sympathy of the house by her reading of the part of Mary, and admirably seconded Mr. Mollison's efforts. The Middleman should meet with an equally good reception in all cities that it will visit, the presentation possessing so much merit.

Grand Theatre and Opera House.—Managing-Director, Mr. John Hart; Resident-Manager, Mr. Wynn Miller.—Hall Caine's striking play, The Eternal City, is being enacted again at the Grand this week, and the company is well worthy of the play. A new Roma is presented in Miss Sara de Groot, who proves herself to be an artist with strong emotional bent. She quite caught the temperament of the ill-fated girl, and in her great scene aroused the enthusiasm of the house. The Baron Bonelli of Mr. D. Lewin Mannering was cast in conventional lines, and therefore met approval. The David Rossi was a picturesque conception in which dignity was not its least distinguished feature. The play is elaborately mounted.

Alexandra Theatre.—Proprietors, Mortons, Ltd.; Manager, Mr. George Morton.—Sutton Vane's famous play, The Span of Life, is making its first appearance at this house, though by no means new to this city. The house applauded to the echo Miss Kitty Russell's Shrove Tuesday, and Mr. Walter Dale as Nutty Brown shared in that appreciation. The hero found a fine representative in Mr. Kyburn-Dellar, whilst Mr. Sanderson Moffatt acted the part of Dunston Leech in proper sardonic style. Miss Ella Wilmer was a typical heroine, and was well received. The human bridge, formed by the Almo Trio, an intrepid gymnastic troupe, created great excitement.

The Hippodrome.—Lessee, Mr. Alfred Graham; Manager, Mr. Tom Lunn.—Dutch Daly, concertina soloist and funny story teller, and Rumbo Austin, with his amusing troupe of nippers, are the two principal turns here. Geoffreys and Benson, in a comedy sketch, Spoofed, create much amusement. Other good artists include Flo Wood, Harry Nelson, Ted Cowan, and Emil Amiel.

The Palace.—Proprietors, Moss' Empires, Ltd.—Vesta Tilley is responsible for many people being turned away nightly. She is singing four songs at each performance, but still the audience demand more. Albertus and Jessie Millar appear in a comic sketch, A Scene at the Fair Grounds; O. K. Sato is a really funny comedy juggler; Ian Colquhoun is possessed of a fine voice; Marie Weston is a nice singer and dainty dancer; McKinnon's Scottish Meisters make a welcome return visit, and Woodhouse and Wells (singers and dancers) and Myra Stanfield (comedienne) make themselves popular. Grais' Baboons complete the programme.

HYDE.—Theatre Royal.—Sole Lessee, Mr. Fred Granville; Acting-Manager, Mr. A. R. Feather.—Mr. Frank Bertram's The Convict's Daughter company is attracting large and enthusiastic audiences here this week. The artistic efforts of Mr. Frank Bertram as Michael Graham, Miss Nellie Clyde as Edith, and Mr. George Nelson Wallace as Frederick Neville are very highly appreciated, as testified by frequent outbursts of applause. Mr. G. Morton Williams as Jasper Thorn makes a capital villain, bringing out the darker shades of character vividly; Mr. Herbert M. King as Harold Trevelyan has a fine voice and bearing which are well suited to the portrayal of manliness and honesty; Miss Rose Carew, as Marion Thorn, depicts her part with fine judgment. Other praiseworthy impersonations are given by Mr. Sam Roberts as Patrick O'Laragan; Mr. Ashmore J. Vincent as Frank Harper; and Miss Phyllis Gibbon as Betty Hyne. The play is admirably staged.

ILKESTON. — Theatre Royal. — Licensee and Manager, Mr. L. F. A. Rogers. — A Woman's Past is seen in Ilkeston for the first time this week, through the medium of Mr. H. F. Housden's company. To the pathetic part of Bessie, Miss Dorothy Wallace does justice; David Heath is capably presented by Mr. J. Myron-Howard; Mr. Housden himself is quite at home in the rôle of Clement Harper; Mr. David Phillips gives a good representation of Frank Dellanney, and with Miss Doris Cameron, as Dorothy Heath, introduces acceptable comic relief; Miss Irene Carrington exhibits ability as the adventuress, Clara Darrel; and Mr. Clifton Earle is effective as Uriah Craven.

INVERNESS.—Theatre Royal.—Manager, Mr. Cameron Burgess.—Mr. George Stephenson's company opened here on Monday for three nights in The Night of the Party. Mr. Sebastian Smith as Mr. Crosbie is very successful; Mr. E. T. Sayers as the Alderman is clever and original; Mr. Flambert has just the right exponent in Mr. Douglas Munro; the part of Mr. Frank Frayne is well played by Mr. Frank H. Denton; Mr. Ernest Rivarz is good as Mr. Bogie; Miss Evelyn Howard acts well as Lady Hampshire; and other parts are adequately filled by Misses Stanley Ronalds, Maud Linden, Lena Graham, Marion Lewis, and Gertrude Manners.

IPSWICH.—Lyceum Theatre.—Manager, Mr. Leonard Grey.—On Monday Billy's Little Love Affair, presented by Miss Katie Johnson and Mr. Frank G. Bayley's company, commenced a six night's engagement. Miss Johnson was seen to great advantage as Wilhelmina Marr; Miss Gladys Bartle Frere was of great assistance in the character of Lady Duncan; Mr. Frank Bayby as the sweetheart of Billy was earnest and effective; Mr. Orlando Barnett scored in the rôle of Jim Greaves; and the same may be said of Mr. Lemmon Warde as Sir Harry Harmon.

Hippodrome.—Proprietor, Mr. E. H. Bostock.—The revival of the system of two performances a night since Bank Holiday has resulted in success, in spite of the sultry weather. This week's bill of fare keeps up the high standard of the Hippodrome. The Ando Troupe of Japanese head the bill, and their marvellous juggling and unique acrobatic feats evoke loud applause; Franco Piper executes some surprising musical and juggling feats with four and five banjoes, a really clever and wonderful performance. Other turns include Jock Rae, a droll gymnast; Arthur Stacey, an eccentric vocalist; Carney and Armstrong, a couple of comedians in droll sketch called Nero; Arabella Allen, described as "The Dickens Girl"; Maxwell and Frances, who contribute a comedy act; and Agnes Molteno, a refined vocalist.

JARROW.—Theatre Royal.—Lessee and Manager, Mr. Hugh Robertson; Acting-Manager, Mr. Jerold E. Reed.—Mr. F. Wybert Clive's company is here with The Conscript. Mr. Harry Cullenford gives a manly rendering of Karl Truevitch; Mr. W. Steele is well placed as Ivan Manloff; Mr. Johnson plays with force as Paul Hardiski; Mr. William Head is good as Doggervitch; Mr. Tom Breen causes amusement as Tretch Trotoff, being ably assisted by Miss C. Meadows as Wanda Khoval; Mr. F. Bellwood makes a capable Maxim Fedka, alias The Ferret; Miss Lillian Ross gives a charming rendering of the part of Nadia Truevitch; Mrs. Chas. Wood is quite at home as Dame Katinka; and Little Karl is in the safe hands of Miss Cissie Reenan.

JERSEY.—Opera House.—Lessee, Mr. C. Robert Perkins.—The Moody-Manners Opera company received an enthusiastic welcome here on Monday night, when Gounod's Faust was presented. The performance was admirable in every respect and the chorus is particularly deserving of praise for the intelligent suggestion of life and reality they supplied to the scenes in which they took part. Miss Euriqueta Crichton has a fine voice, and her Marguerite was a careful and conscientious study; Mr. John Child, who is an old favourite, was never in better voice, and his Faust was an artistic triumph; Mr. Marshall Vincent's Mephistopheles was a strikingly fine display of sardonic humour; Mr. Frederick Erle was an excellent Valentine, and Miss V. Neville did well as Martha; whilst fascinating Miss Rosina Benyon received quite an ovation as Siebel, both her songs being tumultuously encored. Mr. Harrison Frewin is the conductor. The other operas being given this week are Carmen, Cavalleria Rusticana with Pagliacci, The Bohemian Girl, La Traviata, and Lohengrin.

Springfield Grounds.—Mr. Victor Stevens and his Premier Pierrot Party have now reached the sixth week of their engagement here. Mr. Alfred Cheesman, who has a fine tenor voice, is now with the company, and Mr. Alfred Harris presides at the piano in the place of Miss Neville.

Triangle Park.—The popular White Coons conclude their engagement here this week. Miss Carrie Tubb took a benefit on Wednesday, and Mr. Johnny Osborn's bespeak was set down for Friday night.

People's Park.—The attractive Stars of the West are still successful with their enjoyable and refined nightly programme.

KIRKCAL

vocalist; there is a novel specialty by Edgar Rudden; and Pauline Zaro, comedienne, and Chas. Fanning, comedian, are other prominent names in a long and strong programme.

CITY VARIETIES.—Proprietor, Mr. Fred W. Wood; General-Manager, Mr. J. C. Whiteman; Acting-Manager, Mr. S. Jones.—Belle Davis is again at this hall with her clever juveniles, and the entertainment is much enjoyed. Another popular line is Addie Dorina, whose impersonation of six characters in a comedy sketch is a remarkable example of quick-change business; Chas. R. Whittle figures among the purveyors of comedy; Denby and Dent are smart and amusing; and the ventriloquial entertainment by Gillin is on humorous lines and goes well. George Adams is a fine baritone vocalist; whilst Gena Manon, vocalist; and Ariel and Astarte, in a novel pot-pourri act, are amongst the best things in the programme.

LEICESTER.—ROYAL OPERA HOUSE.—Proprietors and managers, Messrs. Milton Bode and Edward Compton; Business and General Manager, Mr. Henry Dundas.—Mr. Walter Melville's company is presenting the drama, A Girl's Cross Roads, here this week, the opening night being under the patronage of the Warwickshire and Leicestershire county cricket teams. The play, as is usual with Mr. Melville's productions, is staged and played in good style. Miss Beaumont Collins deserves high praise for her delineation of Barbara Wade; Mr. Wilson Gunning makes an excellent impression as Jack Livingstone; Mr. Gerald Jordan as the evil genius, Cuthbert Lumley, is seen to advantage; Mr. Charles Franmore is especially good as Farmer Meadows, and Miss Nannie Meade as Nellie Meadows acquits herself admirably; Miss Jessie Black is to be complimented on a portrayal of great merit as Constance Cornell; Mr. Fred Ingram as Toby Turvey and Miss Lena Delphine as Tilly are both popular and clever in their respective parts; Mr. Charles Kean is good as Dr. Weston.

THEATRE ROYAL.—Sole Lessees and Managers, Messrs. Milton Bode and Edward Compton; Business Manager, Mr. E. R. Beaumont.—An excellent reception is being accorded here to Mr. J. A. Campbell's capable company in the moral drama, The Sin of Her Childhood, which is well staged. Miss Florence Creagh is very successful as Mary Haysel; Mr. Frederick Loyd shines with an excellent impersonation as Captain John Thornton; Miss Jennie Douglas-Hicks plays well as Maria Haysel; Little Dot Moss, a versatile little lady, cleverly enacts the part of Hannah Spry, and Little Ivy Rocheforte is also praiseworthy as Eric Dugdale; Mr. Austin Milroy does full justice to the part of Stephen Haysel; the Rev. Alan Grey is in the safe hands of Mr. E. E. Clive; and both Miss Nellie Hook as Eliza Muggins and Mr. Hugh Brady as Barney O'Reilly score a success in the comedy parts.

PALACE THEATRE, LTD. — Managing-Director, Mr. Oswald Stoll; District-Manager, Mr. Hatton Wharton; Acting-Manager, Mr. George Andrews.—The bill is topped here this week by the Ten Loonies in the mirth-provoking musical eccentricity, Dotty, which keeps the house in the merriest of moods. A charming comedienne is Miss Winifred Hare, who is possessed of a good voice, splendid costumes, and an attractive stage presence, which, combined with a delightful style, ensure for her a warm reception. Minnie Cunningham is another comedienne who deserves unstinted praise for a turn of exceptional merit. Rich and Rich are comedians who are always heartily welcomed, and their clever and amusing turn proves entertaining. Drew and Alders in their comedy bill-posting turn, evoke hearty laughter. Elsie Roby, "the slavey at the piano," is amusing. The Leonards are comedy duettists and dancers whose bright turn is well received. The Zanettos, oriental jugglers, do some very clever tricks. The Goltz Trio of globe and wire equilibrists give an excellent performance. The Sisters Pine are also entertaining as duettists.

PAVILION THEATRE.—Proprietor and Director General, Mr. Frank Macnaghten; Acting-Manager, Mr. Walter Lapworth. — Lily Lena, a smart comedienne, heads th bill here, and is accorded an excellent reception. The Athlones in their classical poses and unique speciality act, are deserving of the highest praise. Playfair and Nikola are remarkably clever papierographists; and others who add to the enjoyment are the Cameroons in their comedy sketch, The Lady Tourists; the Dewars, comedians and dancers; Harry Roxby, a popular one-legged dancer and comedian; Kitty Willis, serio-comedienne and dancer; and Walter H. Pallister's Bioscope, with the usual excellent films.

LEIGH.—THEATRE ROYAL AND OPERA HOUSE.—Proprietor, Mr. J. W. Cragg; Resident-Manager, Mr. Harry Rousby.—After a lapse of years, we again renew acquaintance with Driven from Home, a drama that was accorded a hearty welcome on Monday. Mr. Felix Pitt cleverly depicts the callous and selfish nature of Anthony Raybrook; Mr. Percy Dawsone plays throughout with distinction as Willie, an outcast; Mr. Clement Wakefield, as Walter Hatherleigh, acts in manly style; Mr. Fred Sandy presents a good study of the rascally nephew, Geoffrey Waring; Mr. Harry Cornwall gives a convincing assumption of Jabez Thomas; the trials of Laura Raybrook do not fail to elicit sympathetic appreciation; Barbara Ashdown is well represented by Miss Florence Trevoir; and comedy relief is well supplied by Mr. A. E. Mann, who makes a happy-go-lucky sort of stable boy, and by Miss Evelyn Marrable.

LEITH.—NEW GAIETY THEATRE.—Managing-Director, Mr. R. C. Buchanan; Resident-Manager, Mr. John Darlison.—The talented actors Mr. and Mrs. Chalmers Mackey and their well-selected company are here again with the entertaining Irish musical costume-play The Wearin' of the Green. In Barney O'Hea Mr. Mackey finds a congenial rôle, which he fills with easy grace and rollicking good humour; and Mrs. Mackey as Norah McGrath plays with judgment and artistic reserve of power. The songs introduced by Mr. Charles Hanes in his personation of Shamus McDermot find great favour; the part of Mrs. McDermot is sympathetically rendered by Miss Adele Liddon; and Biddy McGinn is well portrayed by Miss Nina Flensberg, who sings and dances in a very bright and charming style. The bibulous Sergeant Yorke is capitally represented by Mr. John Neville; Connor Martin and Michael Kenny are cleverly characterised by Mr. David Macfarlane and Mr. Haughton Macaulay; and the Courtneys, father and son, have good exponents in Mr. H. Sainsbury and Mr. John Stuart. For Mr. Mackey's benefit on Friday evening The Colleen Bawn was on the bill.

LINCOLN.—ROYAL.—Sole Owner, Mr. Frank King.—When It Was Dark attracted a good audience on Monday. Mr. Cyril Austen Lee plays the Rev. Basil Gortre finely and Mrs. Morton Powell must be commended as the vicar's daughter Helene. Mr. Morton Powell as Llewellyn and Mr. G. H. Pitt as Schwabe play the evil characters of the piece with great power; and Miss Laine Walker gives a brilliant performance as Gertrude Hunt. Mr. H. Heller is good as the Vicar; Mr. M. Wilson is amusing as Gadly; and Mr. G. Rammell makes an interesting figure of Spence.

PALACE.—Sole Proprietor, Mr. Frank Macnaghten; General-Manager, Mr. Sydney Arthur.—The Juggling Geraldos furnish a smart turn; the Vandinoff's sketching is exceedingly well done; and entertaining turns come from the Sisters Chester, T. B. Fayme Mabel La Blanche, Lambert and Glover, A. E. Clifford, and Raymond's Bio-Tableaux.

LIVERPOOL.—ROYAL COURT THEATRE.—Managing-Director, Mr. Robert Arthur; Acting-Manager, Mr. Arthur Lawrence.—Under the direction of Mr. M. Russell Rosse an able company have this week revived the time-honoured Our Boys, and to the old comedy much patronage has been given. The Perkin Middlewick of Mr. Thomas Thorne was as fresh and delightful as ever; Mr. James Geldard's Charles was an eminently satisfactory portrait; Mr. Horace Pollock's Talbot proved particularly funny without the slightest approach towards burlesque; the Sir Geoffrey Champneys of Mr. Norman Clarke was carefully drawn; Miss Madge Flynn proved a pleasing heiress; the Mary Melrose of Miss Ida Phillips was marked by tact; and Miss Edith Hesketh made a humorous maid-of-all-work. The comedietta, A Happy Pair, rendered by Mr. Geldard and Miss Flynn, was the curtain-raiser.

SHAKESPEARE THEATRE, LTD.—Manager and Secretary, Mr. John Gaffney.—A return visit of The Christian has proved a good draw here during the week. Mr. Wentworth Croke's company presenting it was an excellent all-round one; Mr. Frank Tennant gave a brilliant interpretation of John Storm. A Glory-Quayle, full of charm and versatility, came from Miss Grace Chalmers, who did every justice to that exacting rôle; Mr. George R. Mountford was a success as Lord Robert Ure; the impersonation of Horatio Drake by Mr. Jackson Wilcox could hardly be improved on; Miss Vashti Wellbourne made a most favourable impression with her Polly Love; and a carefully-drawn Parson Quayle was submitted by Mr. Charles Hill. The production was marked by very elaborate scenic effects.

ROTUNDA THEATRE.—Manager, Mr. M. Montgomery.—The Worst Woman in London, presented by Tom H. Taylor's company, has held the stage here this week. Miss Florence Dalton played with much effect in the title-rôle; Mr. George Gaisford as Jack Felton was conspicuously successful; Miss Elizabeth Watkins was winsome in the character of Ruth Milford; Mr. Paul Barry Lewers made the most of Vincent Lyle; the James Milford of Mr. C. R. Stone was deserving of praise; Mr. Willie Garvey caused a deal of fun with his Bob Goldfinch; a somewhat powerful type of ruined gambler was Mr. Leonard Booker's Philip Armstrong; and Miss Emily Kelsey made a good Matilda Parker.

LYRIC THEATRE OF VARIETIES.—Lessee and Manager, Mr. Henry C. Arnold; Directors of Entertainments, Messrs. T. Barrasford and F. Willmot; Acting-Manager, Mr. Fred Coles.—Well-filled houses have nightly been attracted here by the varied and attractive programme. George Leyton occupies first place in a scena, entitled Nelson's Name, which wins the sympathies of the audience, and evokes rounds of applause. The Boccaccio Trio are undoubtedly clever instrumentalists and artistic songsters; Alma Obrey as a character comedienne instals herself immediately as a favourite; The Hunt, a comedy sketch play by Terry and Bentley, creates roars of laughter; Musical Silvio is original; and Bob Baxter is laughable; the Four Hearnes are clever gymnasts as well as being amusing; the Harrison Bros. have a deal of original patter; Minnie D'Aubyn is pleasing; and the Lyrioscope has some good pictures.

STAR THEATRE. — Proprietor and Manager, Mr. Harris Fineberg. — Hill-Mitchelson's The Assassin, here this week, has received a large measure of public patronage. Mr. Augustine Knight, who brings the company, undertook the rôle of Prince Demetri, which he handled with skill; Miss Ella Vane in the name part was a complete success, her work being followed with the closest attention; a pathetic Ivan Ipanoff was offered by Mr. Edward E. Ashby; Miss Frances Waring showed much tenderness and discretion with her Nita; Mr. Georgina Hamilton made a hit as Connie Johnathan; Mr. Theo Balfour did well as Duke Carl; Mr. Jack Smith was a quaint Evangie; and Mr. Edward Jenner presented a manly Captain O'Neil.

QUEEN'S THEATRE.—Proprietor, Mr. Lingford Carson; Manager, Mr. Fred L. Arthur.—A well-balanced company, sent by Dottridge, Longden, and Livesey, has given a delightful presentation of The Village Blacksmith, which comes here for the first time. The work has proved a great draw. Mr. Sam Livesey offered a picture of the title part, which it would be difficult to surpass; Mr. Joseph Carter made the character of Captain Leo as villainous as possible; Miss Maggie Edwards is deserving of much credit for her sweet Kate Strong; Ruth Parkins was most sympathetically portrayed by Miss Cassie Le Grande; Jeremiah and Sal Parkins were capitally undertaken by Mr. Thomas E. Marshall and Miss T. C. Livesey; and Mr. George V. Campbell proved particularly humorous as Billy Twigg.

ROYAL HIPPODROME. — Managing-Director, Mr. Thomas Barrasford.—At the top of the bill are the Cratons, with humorous business that has provoked endless laughter; Rosina Casselli and her Mexican dogs make a most acceptable turn; Joe Peterman's musical production, King of Sahara, is eminently pleasing in his new creation, The Synagogue, Gus Harris, the Hebrew character delineator, is seen to much advantage; Tony Iveson as a comedy pianist and vocalist meets with a flattering reception; some smart work as an equilibrist and balancer is shown by Lombardy; the only Zarmo executes some clever and humorous juggling; Frank Leslie, Johnny Danvers, Fred Laud, and Frank Cass are also in the bill.

NEW PARTHENON. — Proprietor, Mr. Edwin W Smith.—The Tuesday matinees here still prove very popular. Foremost on the bill this week is Arthur Elvey, a smart comedian, who, on this, his first appearance at the Parthenon, had a most cordial reception. His "up-to-date tipster" song caught on. Joe Humphreys pays a return visit, and makes a good impression with his latest ditty, "Actions speak louder than words"; the clog dancing of Young Igo calls forth great applause; Gladys Christoe is a sweet comedienne and vocalist; as comedians and dancers the Mountelds (Alf and Will) appear with distinction; and Alice Dainton dances in grand style.

ROYAL PALACE OF VARIETIES.—Manager, Mr. M Montgomery; Acting-Manager, Mr. Frank O'Toole. This week the "Royal" Stock company produced the detective sketch Under Remand, from the pens of Reginald Stockton and Eric Hudson. Mr. Percy Boucher was the Captain Mortimer; Mr. Sydney Grant displayed much ability in the "double," Sergeant Luke Holt and Jean Leroy; Mr. E. D. Allen did justice to Ben Burleigh; Ned Trueman was well handled by Mr. Harry Tresham; Mr. Cecil Ravenswood proved excellent as Mike Doolan; Leary Bob found in Mr. Robert Wilton an able exponent; Miss Sara Blumenthal, an experienced actress, was a finished type of old woman with her Biddy Higgins; Miss Florence Palmer played sweetly as Nellie Trueman; and Miss Beryl Ravenswood was eminently satisfactory in the rôle of Daphne Houghton.

PARK PALACE, LTD.—Managing-Director, Mr. Walter de Frece; Director of Entertainments, Mr. Fred Willmot.—At the popular Southend resort this week the bill is headed by the Royal Tokio troupe of performers, whose turn is well appreciated; Little Tina comes in for much applause by reason of the ability she shows in her entertainment of song, story, and mimicry; Master Joe Conway for a juvenile comedian does well; some smart dancing is provided by Lillie Lassah; Cavalli gives an interesting ventriloquial show; and Stave's work as an eccentric musician is a good item.

WESTMINSTER.—Lessee, Mr. Fred E. Weisker; Acting-Manager, Mr. G. Montgomery.—Success has followed the new management of this popular hall, due undoubtedly to the fact that good programmes are submitted to the public. Heading that of this week are the Two Macs, a couple of particularly lively comedians, patterers, and dancers. Another attractive line is the smart boxing, wrestling, and club swinging show provided by Thompson's Topweights; Boden and Bell are a pair of taking juvenile vocalists and buck dancers; Charles Danks, an able comedian, with his dog "Woof," submits a pleasing turn; some well rendered songs come from the Sisters De Lacey; and others in the list are Flo Warner, burlesque artiste; and the Sisters Dorrel, duettists and dancers.

OLYMPIA, LTD.—Manager, Mr. A. W. Young.—Hackenschmidt, the renowned wrestler, is in big type here this week, and has proved a great draw; Hal Godfrey and Co. have a merry sketch, entitled A Very Bad Boy, which has caused roars of laughter; the Ten Genis are admirable risley performers; George Formby, "the odd fellow from Lancashire," is a comedian with some excellent points; Ethel Walker, seated at the piano, displays great powers as a mimic; Starr and Leslie's turn with clever juggling, smart repartee, and neat vocalism, is well worth listening to; some popular songs come from James Toner, "the Belfast singing newspaper boy"; William Lee, Helen Bentley and Co., have an amusing sketch, Mabel B.; and some neat work as acrobats is performed by Pit and Cute.

ROSCOMMON.—Lessee, Mr. Fred Willmot.—Good business continues to follow Mr. Willmot's new management of this house. At the head of the bill this week is H. O. Wills, a comedian who scores with many taking songs; Walter Emmerson, standing six feet, keeps his audience in the best of humours, his "Another one off to America" provoking great laughter; some excellent singing comes from Renson and Waite, a comedy duo; Mdlle. Zelda shows remarkable expertness as a performer on musical novelties; Edwin Lambert and Emmie Hands go through a pleasing vocal scena; some smart singing and dancing emanates from May Zant and her juveniles; and the Bioscope has several excellent pictures.

PADDINGTON PALACE.—Mr. M. Montgomery, of the Rotunda and other theatres, opened this place under a lease on Monday last. The old style of variety entertainment has been abandoned, and in future the "Royal" Stock Dramatic Company will produce sketches twice nightly. The subject this week was Her Wedding Day, from the pen of E. T. de Banzie. The theatre has recently been thoroughly cleaned and decorated, and presents a pretty appearance. The scenery is entirely new, and the company an able, all-round one. Consequently Mr. Montgomery should do well with his new venture. This is the second Stock Combination now in Liverpool.

LLANDUDNO. — GRAND THEATRE. — Manager, Mr. A. G. Pugh.—On Monday, for three nights, Mr. Robert Courtneidge's company produced The Blue Moon. Mr. Alfred Clark in the part of Major Vivian Callabone was excellent; Mr. Alec Fraser did well as Capt. Jack Ormsby; Mr. A. Wykes Ashdowne was effective as Bobbie Scot; Mr. Alfred Beers in the comical part of Moolraj caused roars of laughter; and Mr. Reginald Switz as Private James Taylor was far above the average. As Chandra Nil, Miss Clarice Lockstone won laurels, her voice being greatly admired; Miss Florence Imeson as Millicent Leroy showed marked ability. Mr. Martin Harvey and company appeared on Thursday.

PIER PAVILION.—Secretary, Mr. S. Hughes.—A record season is being experienced here, thousands attending nightly to hear the famous orchestra, under the conductorship of Mr. A. W. Payne, A.R.C.M., Miss Effie Thomas being warmly received as the vocalist.

MESSRS. PERRY'S MINSTRELS are well patronised, a bone contest, which has attracted much attention, resulting in A. Stern taking first place and Billy Richardson being second. G. Codman was disqualified by the judge, Mr. Percy Parr.

HIPPODROME.—Proprietors, Messrs. Selwyn and Hermann.—The Pigmies are the chief attraction here, and, with a varied programme, concluding with dancing, the Hippodrome finds much favour.

LOWESTOFT. — MARINA. — Managing-Director, Mr. E. A. Smith.—Large audiences are this week welcoming the return visit of Mr. Wm. Greet's company in The Earl and the Girl. As the dog-trainer, Jim Cheese, Mr. Wm. Cromwell gives a delightful sketch; as the American heiress, Elphin Haye, a capital performance is submitted by Miss Gertrude Simpson; Dick Wargrave finds a good exponent in Mr. Robt. Hyett; and equally successful is Miss Florence Wix as Liza Shoddam. Miss Nellie Grant is well placed as Mrs. Shimmering Black; and good sketches of character are presented by Messrs. Stanley Harrison (the Hon. Crewe Boodle) and A. E. Coleby (A. Bunker Bliss).

THE HIPPODROME.—Mr. Geo. Gilbert.—The bill this week includes Bonnie Goodwin and her Apollo piccaninnies; Geo. Antell, comedian; Hinton and Wooton, in a football match on bicycles; the Humels, riders; Iona Ginnett; H. Sims, vocalist; the Clayton twins; Silent Tate, and the Pygmies from Central Africa, &c.

MACCLESFIELD.—THEATRE ROYAL.—Proprietor and Manager, Mr. W. K. Gatley.—The boards are held this week by Miss Rose Faith and company, in No Cross, No Crown. As Clare, Miss Faith has a part well suited to her talents; Mr. W. Carriden as Sir Francis Luttrell is eminently successful; Mr. H. De Vilie as the villain Austen Blake plays effectively; Mr. H Chapman as Professor Nebb, and Mr. F. Gresham as Dr. Ashby, are responsible for some funny scenes; Mr. C. George is capable as Haines; Miss Gwen Stewart as Mistress Gray gives a finished impersonation; Miss Rita Rosslyn as Priscilla is good; and Miss Ruby Sutherland as Doris efficient.

MAIDSTONE.—HIPPODROME.—Lessee and Manager, Mr. S. Baskerville.—The patronage at this popular house has been excellent this week, and the management are to be congratulated upon the excellence of the bill. Gertrella gives her speciality new act, In Cupid's Garden, to the delight of the house; the Three Prestons provide a comedy sketch full of humour; Tom Fancourt and Jennie Rubie are successful in their musical comedy duologue, Nursery Pets; Harry Thurston, impersonator, hits off his characters to a nicety; Charles Clifford, the popular harpist, is excellent; Frank Sylvo, the tramp juggler, gets a good reception; and Frank Leo, the tired comedian, is literally carried off amid great applause. The Bioscope pictures are interesting. Rose Elliott, vocalist, was billed, but was absent through indisposition.

MANCHESTER.—THEATRE ROYAL. — Lessees, the United Theatres Co., Ltd.; Acting-Manager, Mr. Edmundstone Shirra.—This theatre re-opened on Monday after complete re-decoration, which has been carried out in elaborate style in a scheme of cream and gold, backed by walls and draperies of rich crimson. Tip-up seats in the pit are also introduced, and the fireproof curtain has been embellished by pleasing decorations. The theatre is now up to date in every way, and can claim to be one of the most handsome in the country. Mr. Walter Maxwell's principal company occupy the stage in Charles Klein's The Lion and the Mouse, a clever and engrossing play, admirably presented by the cast, and as admirably staged. The principal part—that of the "Lion"—is played with wonderful vigour by Mr. Leslie Carter, and the corresponding rôle of the "Mouse" is rendered so well—especially in the great third act — by Miss Christine Silver that she brought down the house on Monday, and made altogether a memorable success. Mr. Stephen Wentworth as Jefferson Ryder scores a distinct achievement, presenting the part quite naturally; and good performances are added by Mr. Richard Norton, Mr. J. W. Mackie, Mr. George Lyttleton, and Mr. John Wheatman. Among the ladies, Miss Dorrie Roberts is very pleasing as Kate, and Miss Elspeth Dudgeon acts cleverly as Mrs. Burkett Ryder. All the remaining rôles are in good hands, and the play as a whole is thoroughly enjoyable.

PRINCE'S THEATRE.—Proprietors, The United Theatres Co., Ltd.; Acting-Manager, Mr. George Lee.—A very pleasing, but sparsely attended, performance of J. M. Barrie's play, Alice Sit-by-the-Fire, was given here on Monday by a company headed by Mrs. Russ Whytal in the title-rôle. Mrs. Whytal's depiction of the lively humours of Mrs. Grey was capitally done, and very highly appreciated; and her unforced efforts were ably assisted by Mr. J. J. Bartlett as the Colonel; Miss Beatrice Bramah as Amy; Miss Lucy Verrier as the conspiratorial Leonora; Mr. Claude King, whose Stephen Rollo was a clever and unassuming piece of work; and Mr. A. W. Baskcomb, who gave an amusing idea of Cosmo Grey. The remaining parts were filled with proportionate success by Miss Ada Marius, Miss Ninon Dudley, and Miss Lilian Locke.

GAIETY THEATRE. — Proprietors, The United Theatres Co., Ltd.; Acting-Manager, Mr. H. M. Thorbarn.—This theatre re-opened on Monday with Messrs. Lockwood and Crossman's company in Sergeant Brue. Mr. Arthur Reynolds gave a very entertaining impersonation of the title-part, and was admirably assisted by Mr. E. Percy Rogers as Michael, and Miss Mary Hay as Aurora. Mr. Charles McLagan was also particularly amusing as Crookie Scrubbs; Mr. Cecil Burt made an excellent Mr. Crank, the magistrate; and Miss Hebe Bliss as Lady Bickenhall was very well received. All the songs and dances were well rendered, and the entire company combined to make a bright and entertaining show.

ROYAL OSBORNE THEATRE.—Manager, Mr. W. B. Broadhead; Acting-Manager, Mr. P. B. Broadhead.—An old favourite, The Indian Mutiny, is here this week, played by Mr. Frank E. Burdett's talented company. Mr. Villiers Stanley is seen to great advantage as Nebu Singh, and Miss F. Melrose Millet presents a fine deniction of Ghuz-Nah, while Mr. George Steel is bold and soldierly as Lieut. Manley; Mr. Cyril Harrison makes the most of his chances as Captain Manley; Mr. John Davidson is satisfactory as Major Ingleby; and others worthy of praise are Mr. G. Birch as Ensign Blake, Mr. Cecil Morand as Terry O'Brien, Miss Lillie Grey as the Major's wife, and Miss Agnes Kingston as their daughter Kate. The play is full of excitement, and admirably staged.

METROPOLE THEATRE.—Manager, Mr. W. B. Broadhead; Acting-Manager, Mr. P. B. Broadhead.—A capital programme here this week is headed by Emina Don and Ernest Munro, assisted by a black and white comedy team, in an excellent and amusing act; Laura Lorne and Nell Rene give a Lancashire singing sketch, Capital v. Labour, with success; the three Corpers are seen in a couple of well-chosen and effective song scenas; Ranji Sinji and Valeria present a series of Indian illusions; Kiaro gives a clever Continental speciality; Wallace Muirhead, the singing boiler-maker, is enjoyable; Ward and Davies offer a smart musical duologue; Earle and Melville are a pair of smart comedians; and Mike Cray submits a very good exhibition of eccentric juggling.

ST. JAMES'S THEATRE.—Lessee, Mr. R. Flanagan; Manager, Mr. Gus Flanagan.—Messrs. Beresford and Moore's company occupy the stage here this week in an acceptable drama, entitled A Rogue's Daughter, which is not unknown to local playgoers. The principal parts are in the safe hands of Mr. Ray Gordon as Sir George Mynard; Mr. Frank V. Fenn as Frank Tyler; Mr. Richard Ferris as Colonel Foster; Miss Gertrude Stirroll as Lady Mynard (the title-rôle); and Miss Madge Devereux, who is particularly pleasing as Letty Grey. Miss Florence Gomer is also commendable as Dicky, the waif; while plenty of humour is provided by Mr. Robert W. Lynn as the unscrupulous Jew; Mr. E. Hall-Eldon as Dunnem; Mr. W. H. Moore as Gibbs; Mr. Eric Hargreaves as Crummles, the showman; and Miss Becky Ellister as Priscilla.

GRAND JUNCTION THEATRE.—Manager, Mr. W. B. Broadhead; Acting-Manager, Mr. P. B. Broadhead.—A good old play, The Trumpet Call, is offered here this week by Mr. Charles F. Cooke's company. Mr. Leonard Yorke is admirable as the heroic Cuthbert Cuthbertson, and Miss Elsie Evelyn Hill acts with fine discretion and sympathy as Constance, his wife. Mr. John Dennys plays the villainous Featherstone with skill, and is well supported by Miss Doris Gilham as Astrea. Others who figure to advantage in the course of the story are Mr. Charles F. Cooke, who is fine as Sergeant-Major Milligan; Miss Helena Rigby as Mrs. Wicklow; and Miss Nellie Lomas as Little Cuthbert. Excellent fun is contributed by Mr. Joe Bracewell (an old Manchester favourite) as Ginnifer, the showman; Mr. Freddie Bentley as Tommy Dutton, a very smart impersonation; and Miss Phyllis B. French as Levinia.

QUEEN'S THEATRE.—Manager, Mr. R. Flanagan; Acting-Manager, Mr. W. Berry.—Mr. Lingford Carson's principal company are here this week in the well-known attraction, The Drama of Life. Mr. Edward M. Hamilton and Miss Kate Hallam have the heroic parts in hand, and present them to perfection, while Mr. John J. Hooker is vigorous as the villain, and Mr. Edward Van Biene presents a typical impersonation of the Count de Foi. The remaining parts are all well filled, and the staging is elaborate and satisfactory.

EMPIRE.—Managing Director, Mr. Oswald Stoll; Acting-Manager, Mr. H. Hall.—The top sensation here this week is provided by the Three Small Heads, a curious exhibition of humanity. The Max Messaby Troupe of comic jugglers are marvellously expert; J. W. Hall, comedian, is highly popular; Gertrude Bradshaw sings well; the Tally-Ho Trio of comedians are a great vocal success; Edna Aug, American comedienne, adds to the entertainment; and other good turns are those of the Tupps, eccentric acrobats; Frank Darwin, actor vocalist; and Leonard and Francis, comedians. The Bioscope presents "The Prospectors," a story of the goldfields.

PALACE. — General-Manager, Mr. Walter De Frece; Secretary, Mr. Peter Watson; Acting-Manager, Mr. Nelson Barry.—An interesting and instructive exhibition of Ju-Jitsu is given here this week by Raku, said to be the "greatest exponent of the Japanese art of self-defence," and Miss Moto. Arthur Conquest appears with great success as "Chadi," the ape in a sketch entitled The Sioux; and a really smart acrobatic turn is given by the Pasquali Brothers, whose tricks are performed with neatness and finish; Alf Gibson, the immobile one, scores, as usual, with his quaint songs; the Carina Sisters offer a delightful artistic musical mélange; the Three Pirmans are clever and amusing on the triple bar, and the Haytors (Edie, Arthur, and Frank) present their oddity, A Hot Time. Other enjoyable turns are those of Tom Lloyd, comedian; Selby and Myers, comedians and dancers; and Natalia and Diana, aerial gymnasts. The Palace pictures complete.

HIPPODROME.—Managing-Director, Mr. Oswald Stoll; Acting-Manager, Mr. E. P. Morgan.—Arthur Roberts and company are to the front here this week in that laughable sketch, The Importance of Being Another Man's Wife. Another excellent turn is that of the Griffiths Brothers, whose burlesque wrestling is wonderfully well thought-out. Millie Payne, the new low-comedy Queen, makes a hit with quaint songs, very much on the lines of Sam Mayo; Fred Elton in his scena at the piano, On Board an Ocean Liner, is very clever and is well received; Tatten Hall sings some very funny songs, and Tilbury and Ford, in a musical sketch, are entertaining. "The Wreck of the Hesperus" (illustrated) is rendered in fine style by the choir and orchestra under the bâton of Mr. Alfred Haines, the musical director; the American Bioscope shows up-to-date pictures; and Sullivan's "O Hush thee, my baby," is sung by the choir. From last week the Four Lecussons, including Chris Lecusson, the Continental jockey, remain, their wonderful horsemanship being something to marvel at.

TIVOLI. — Managing-Director, Mr. Charles A. Wilkes; Acting-Manager, Mr. Arthur B. Wilkes.—Doody and Wright, the Australian comiques, head the bill here this week, and meet with a hearty reception, their performance, especially the dancing, being particularly good; Les Rubens are excellent singers, and are much appreciated; Lottie Siegenberg is a pleasing singer and dancer; Grant and Allen are capital comedians; Flo Cecil is a first-rate dancer; Ouda and Astell go through an exceedingly clever and neat gymnastic performance; Maude Beaumont, burlesque actress, sings "Have you seen my soldier boy" with plenty of "go"; Frank Crouch, as an Hotel Manager, is very good; and Massona does some smart juggling. Animated pictures, as usual, complete the show.

KING'S, LONGSIGHT.—Manager, Mr. W. B. Broadhead; Acting-Manager, Mr. P. B. Broadhead.—Mr. Lingford Carson's striking play, The Power of the Cross, is the attraction here this week. Mr. Hartwell J. Kirbv as Baron Cuzola is excellent, and Messrs. Harry C. Rutland and Royce Castleton are as good as Gerald and Leslie Fairfax. Miss Cissie St. Elmo plays well as the Adventuress; a pleasing performance is given of Blanche Kingsley by Miss May Grazer; and others who distinguish themselves are Miss Etta Turner, Miss Stanley Burt, and Messrs. Richard E. Eugent and J. Fred Tehaur. The staging is good.

QUEEN'S PARK HIPPODROME.—Manager, Mr. W. B. Broadhead; Acting-Manager, Mr. P. B. Broadhead.—Stanley's Urchins are a good combination of talented juveniles, who meet with much success here this week. Mdlle. Du Roche sings ballads and operatic selections pleasingly; Major Thurgate's combination appears in an uproarious miscellaneous act entitled Mystery Fair; Permane's Bears are cleverly trained; an exhibition of surprising flexibility is given by Mdlle. Florizell; Bruce and Ross offer amusing patter and dances; Vere Brothers are very graceful and finished acrobats; Cailler exhibits wonderful strength in various feats; Bill Bailey sings comic songs; and the Bioscope pictures are interesting.

HIPPODROME, HULME.—Manager, Mr. W. B. Broadhead; Acting-Manager, Mr. P. B. Broadhead.—Leoni Clarke heads the bill here this week with his wonderfully well-trained animals and birds. Claude Felmen's Beau-Ideal Juveniles are excellent in song, dance, and mimicing, and are well received. Calile and Walker are good comedy artistes; the Three Panamas are smart acrobats; the Dancing Gilberts are first rate; Blarney and Kennard cause much merriment with their cross talking; and other good turns are Florrie St. Roy, comedienne; Amy Elcock, comedienne; and Polo and Florence, society acrobats.

RUSHOLME PAVILION. — Proprietor, Mr. Harry Leslie; Acting-Manager, Mr. Charles North.—A strong programme is provided here this week, and crowded houses are the rule. Sammy Shields, a capital Scotch comedian, heads the bill; Teddy Whittle, the Lancashire comedian, is deservedly a great favourite; Peggy Lyndon is a delightful musical entertainer; and good singing is contributed by Gertrude Fraser, contralto; Giovanni Raffo, the well-known tenor; Charles North, baritone; and W. H. Jackson is good at the piano.

MARGATE.—THEATRE ROYAL.—Exclusive-Manager, Mr. Edward Michael; Business-Manager, Mr. A. Austin Leigh.—Mr. Mouillot's company played here the first three nights of the week, in the gaiety burlesque, Faust Up-to-Date. Miss Mimi Fisher was seen to advantage as Young Faust, and Miss Daisie Irving made a very captivating and piquant Marguerite, singing the numbers allotted to her charmingly, while encores were frequent. Miss May Davis was excellent as Siebel, Marguerite's would-be lover, and Miss Masie Riversdale was capital as Martha, her love-making with Mephistopheles, effectively represented by Mr. Roland Henry, being particularly funny. Mr. F. W. Bowes as Valentine was a decided success, and Mr. A. Gambier Melford as the Lord Chancellor was admirable. In their topical songs they created roars of laughter, and their re-appearance was repeatedly demanded. Other characters in the cast were satisfactorily sustained by Mr. Eric Stevenshier, Miss Nita Owen, Miss Lorrie Bacchus, Miss Vera Golda, and Miss Beatrice Menzies. For the rest of the week The Duchess of Dantzic was billed.

THE HIPPODROME.—Joint Sole Proprietors, Messrs. F. Mouillot and W. de Frece; General-Manager, Mr. J. de Frece; Resident-Manager, Mr. C. F. Bawtree.—The leading turn this week has been Marie Lloyd, who has nightly received a tremendous ovation from crowded and enthusiastic audiences. Her songs have been vociferously encored, her contribution being at least four turns at each performance. The Four Olympian Stars supply an excellent turn, their efforts receiving due recognition, whilst May Martin, comedienne, has been remarkably well received. The Morton Comedy Trio elicit plenty of applause, and other entertaining contributors include Ella Lane, comedienne; Edgar Romaine, comedian; Sidney and Maud Wood, clever dancers and duettists; and an entertaining series of pictures.

HALL-BY-THE-SEA.—Sole Proprietor, "Lord" George Sanger; General-Manager, Mr. Chas. Evans.—The programme at this place of entertainment is again a good all-round variety one, and the artists appearing have individually met with a most flattering reception. Horace White gives quite a novel and refined ventriloquial and musical act, which has been much appreciated. The Jansons are clever gymnasts, and Mario, a youthful juggler, is good. Miss Billie Burford is a smart comedienne, and the Casino Girls are a quintette of brass instrumentalists who play well. Hughes and Elliott are up-to-date duettists and dancers, and Winona and King, American speciality artists, are here once more. Winona proves herself as expert as of yore with the rifle.

MERTHYR TYDFIL.—THEATRE ROYAL AND OPERA HOUSE.—Sole Proprietor and Manager, Mr. Will Smithson.—Messrs. Hardie and Von Leer's Two Little Vagabonds company is again appearing here to crowded houses. Dick and Wally, the two vagrants, are cleverly played by Miss Jessie Zatman and Miss Violet Bazalgette; Mr. Henry Hare displays ability as George Thornton; Mr. Edward McLean is well suited as Captain Darville; Mr. Lionel Ellis presents a characteristic portrayal of Bill Mullins; Miss Violet Vivian gives due emphasis to the character of Biddy Mullins; and Miss Valerie Crespin acts in a sympathetic and pleasing manner as Marion Thornton.

MEXBOROUGH.—PRINCE OF WALES'S THEATRE. —Manager, Mr. W. H. Melton.—Mr. Fred Granville's company is this week playing here in the drama For Better or Worse. Mr. Geo. E. Clive gives a thoughtful rendering of Capt. Hilliard; Mr. Scott Leighton is a callous Major Crawford; as Ned Earnshaw Mr. Carthage Caldcleugh plays a difficult rôle with skill; Mr. Willie Black presents a droll character study of Horatio P. Ranter; Mr. Owen Redmonde is an interesting Lieut. Dalrymple; Miss Marriott Watson a charming and sympathetic Olive Heathcote; Miss Chrisaie Dunbar a powerful Belle Baverstock; and Miss Nellie de Lacy a successful Dolly Delaney. Specialities are given by Miss Jennie Hallworth, Miss Nellie de Lacy, and Mr. Willie Black.

MIDDLESBROUGH. — THEATRE ROYAL.—Proprietor and rôle of George Madison gives proof of ample histrionic ability; Mr. Kenneth Black is markedly good as Sir George Lancaster; Chas. Devereux has an apt exponent in Mr. Louis Hector; Miss Isla Garnet Vayne gives a capable rendering of sweet English girlhood in the opening scenes; the Lady Lancaster of Miss Octavia Noel is carefully impersonated; and the Mother Superior of Miss Barbara Gott calls for special mention. Welcome comedy relief is provided by Mr. Fred de Vere and Miss Denny Fitzherbert in their respective rôles as Timothy Tuttutt and Patty Lovejoy. The scenery and effects are exceptionally good.

NEW BRIGHTON.—Grand Tower Theatre.—An exceptionally attractive programme this week includes Miss Marie Riviers, Queen of Song; Duncan, great international club manipulator and juggler, who proves himself a master of his art; Miss Alma Curzon, comedienne and burlesque actress, and Marie de Paso, lightning clay modeller, who exhibits considerable skill, combined with marvellous speed. Lovers of the wizard's art find satisfaction in the performance of M. Henri Sardou and Mdlle. Sardou in their marvellous mystery entertainment. Zavan, the original comedy lamp-post man, causes much amusement, and the Towerscope shows a couple of capital new films.

NEWPORT.—Lyceum.—Lessee and Manager, Mr. Sidney Cooper.—Miss Hetty Jeffries' company in The Curate is appearing here to enthusiastic houses. Mr. Geoffrey Broughton as the Rev. John Audley is the central figure, and makes a stalwart representative of the Church militant. Miss Hetty Jeffries makes a roguish little Dick, and sings sweetly. Mr. Whitmore Ledger ably sustains the part of Gilbert Westward, and as Katina Vodski Miss Winifred Stuart presents a very fine picture of the Russian adventuress. Mr. Harry Edlin as Simon Peter Muggs and Miss Agnese d'Aragon as Mrs. Muggs are responsible for the comedy, in which they are supported by Mr. Frank Stuart (Sergt. Snipe). Miss Annie Stuart makes a capital May Verner, and a particularly good performance is that of Mr. T. Handley as Gregory Verner. The Bells was billed for Wednesday and Friday.

Empire.—Moss' Empires, Ltd.—Managing-Director Mr. O. Stoll.—Herbert J. Lloyd (the Diamond King) is the star turn here, and sings and juggles, and indulges in amusing antics; Brown and Le Clerq in Black Justice are popular; Sims and Sims are amusing musicians; Spot with his "Cake Walk Craze" is entertaining; Techow's Cats provide a smart performance; Helene and Emilon give a gymnastic turn that is novel and daring; the Glenroy troupe are smart dancers; and Edie King as Cinderella sings a dainty little song.

NORTHAMPTON.—Opera House.—Sole Proprietors and Managers, Milton Bode and Edward Compton; General Manager, Reginald Taylor.—The Golden Ladder is presented this week by Miss Mary Austin and Mr. E. Vivian Edmonds, and as it is over seventeen years since G. R. Sims and Wilson Barrett's drama was played here, it has the freshness of novelty. Miss Mary Austin acts with natural grace and feeling as Lillian Grant, and is intensely sympathetic in the prison scene; Mr. William Clayton plays with dignity and earnestness as the Rev. Frank Thornhill; Mr. J. Milne Taylor as the refined villain, Michael Severn; Mr. E. Vivian Edmonds as the Greek villain Peranza; and Mr. Fred Acton as the low villain, Jim Dixon, are clever and varied impersonations. Mr. Eric Thompson is good as the Malagasy servant Rao. Miss Nellie Graham as Mrs. Peckaby, and Mr. Joseph Rowlands as her loving husband, are most amusing. Miss Teresa Haynes as Mrs. Dixon, and Miss Fanny Williams as Prisoner No. 2, deserve commendation.

Palace of Varieties.—Proprietor and Manager, Mr. Fred H. Anderson.—Miss Lillie Soutter, the famous character comedienne, who heads the bill this week, has achieved a deservedly big success here, her merry, piquant style and funny songs pleasing the audience, from stalls to gallery. Celeste repeats his wire and bâton-flourishing act; the Sisters Stratton gain applause as burlesque artists and dancers; the Two Kays, clever and pleasing vaudeville artists, are well received; Nelson and Thomas provide an amusing comic sketch, On the Ra-Ta; Walter Wallis, comedian, meets with a good reception; the Three Sisters Grosvenor furnish operatic selections; and the Palace pictures, with some good comic films, complete the programme.

NORTH SHIELDS.—Theatre Royal.—Lessee and Manager, Mr. Arthur Jefferson; Acting-Manager, Mr. Horace Lee.—The Trail of the Serpent has been presented here this week by Mr. A. Campbell-Kelly's company, and has had a cordial reception. The Sir Gerald Kingston of Mr. Henry P. Kenn is a good performance; and Mr. Bradford Crosby gives a satisfactory study of Gerald Kingston; Mr. A. Campbell-Kelly as Ralph Hammond gains well-merited applause; Mr. Vincent Kelway is clever as William Higgins; and Mr. Booth Conway makes a hit as Gipsy Jake. Miss Gladys Newcombe gives a capital impersonation of Rose Wilson; Miss Marie Barrett is well suited as Ethel Maynard; and Miss Nana Cameron gives prominence to the rôle of Rachel.

Central Palace.—Lessee and Manager, Mr. Wm. Mould.—Mr. Will Goodwin, with Repentance, tops the bill here, and has had a hearty welcome. Messrs. Curtis and Vanity, the American comedy duo, present a smart act; the Saletos, acrobats and equilibrists, introduce a very clever performance; and the Sisters Redfern, vocalists, banjoists, and dancers, are well received. Miss Marie Yorke, comedienne, gives an enjoyable turn; Mr. Harry Walker, vocal comedian, goes well; and the Bio-Photoscope is always an important item on the bill of fare.

NORWICH.—Theatre Royal.—Manager, Mr. Fred Morgan.—Mr. Norman V. Norman and an excellent company are appearing here this week to manifestly delighted audiences. On Monday evening The Adventure of Lady Ursula was rendered in a masterly manner. Mr. Norman appeared as Sir Geo. Sylvester, and acted with consummate skill; Mr. Francis Hope was admirable as the Rev. Mr. Blimboe; Mr. Dennis Cleugh was successful as the Earl of Hassenden; Mr. Ernest Cossant was good as Mr. Dent; Mr. Norman Leslie equally so as Mr. Castleton; and Mr. Charles Redforth as Quilton. Mr. Howard Brenan as Mr. Devereux, Mr. Chas. Casson Freer as Mr. Ward, Mr. Chris Curtis as Sir Robert Clifford, Mr. S. Wilkinson, jun., as Mills rendered able assistance in their respective characters; Miss Beatrice Wilson enacted the part of Lady Ursula exquisitely; Miss Sybil Ruskin deserves every praise as Dorothy Fenton; and the same may be said of Miss Hilda Gregory as Mrs. Fenton. The same piece was presented on Tuesday and Wednesday. David Garrick was announced for Thursday and Saturday, Nell Gwynne of Drury Lane for Friday, and As You Like It is to be presented this afternoon.

Hippodrome.—Proprietors, Messrs. E. H. Bostock and F. W. Fitt; Manager, Mr. F. W. Fitt.—Mr. W. J. Churchill makes his initial appearance here, and has a capital reception; Margaret Broadfoote, comedienne, is also well received. Professor Fuller and his aerial wonder Astarte give a sensational performance; the McConnell Trio present a pleasing musical sketch; the Odeyne Spark is a pretty comedienne and dancer; the Zampas proves attractive as duettists and dancers; and Elly Adair as a soubrette and dancer is successful. Charles Gardiner scores as an eccentric comedian; and the Hippodrome Bioscope exhibit pleasing pictures.

NOTTINGHAM.—Theatre Royal.—Managing Director, Mr. Robt. Arthur; Acting-Manager, Mr. Howard Finney.—A well-filled house on Monday laughed immoderately at the comicalities of The Spring Chicken, and gave Mr. George Edwardes's company a warm reception. Miss Gertrude Glyn as Rosalie combines a pleasing voice with a vivacious manner; Miss Gertrude Gilliam gives a charming impersonation of Dulcie Babori; Miss Nellie Lonnon is a lively exponent of Emmy Sou; a humorous Mrs. Girdle is seen in Miss Irene Verona; and Miss Nancy Langtyre is altogether charming as the Baroness. Foremost among the fun-makers comes Mr. George Gregory, whose witticisms and antics as Mr. Girdle are a never-failing source of amusement; Mr. John Brabourne adds to the fun as Gustave Babori; and Mr. Harry Adnes offers a smart portraiture of a head waiter. Good work is also shown by Messrs. Frank Hector and Adrian Beaumont. The play is finely staged and dressed.

Grand Theatre.—Manager, Mr. Chas. P. Cooke.—When London Sleeps is capitally presented by Mr. Lester Collingwood's company this week. Mr. C. P. Wentworth endows Rodney Hayes with a rascality that is sufficiently pronounced; the David Engleheart of Mr. Louis Norman is a thoroughly earnest and manly portraiture; Mr. Chas. E. Sutton is an impressive solicitor; and in Mr. F. R. Thomas is seen an amusing Bob Jones. Mr. Frank Howard making a hit as Bertie Broomhead. Miss Mabel Scudamore plays Queenie Carruthers with the requisite pathetic touch; and Miss Bessie Frank acts charmingly as Carrie Jones. A powerful rendering of Hilda Carode is furnished by Miss Maud Yorke; and Miss Daisy Clifford earns distinction as the good-hearted Maudie.

King's Theatre.—Proprietor, Mr. Frank Macnaghten; Manager, Mr. Edgar O. Waller.—The Raymond Animated Picture Co. gives a fine series of films, being ably assisted by the singing of Mr. Lester King.

Empire Theatre of Varieties.—Managing-Director, Mr. Oswald Stoll; Acting-Manager, Mr. Chas. H. Bowmaker.—Mr. Frank Danby is presenting here the musical comedy sketch The Chauffeur, in which he is assisted by Messrs. W. J. Manning, Walter Nugent, and Russon, and Misses Ethel Bryant and Esme Edwardes and a capable chorus. There are plenty of opportunities for fun, of which Danby makes the most. Described as the curious comic card, Carlton well deserves the description. Miss José Collins, who looks charming, possesses a sweet voice and is a pretty dancer; the Olive Trio succeed in imparting to the conventional song and dance turn something original and attractive; Josef Adelmann is a clever performer on the xylophone; Barnard's mannikins are a considerable improvement on the old style marionette show; the Bros. Durant are a comical pair of acrobats; Professor Therese, the comedy hypnotist, is to be highly commended; Fred Lincoln is a comic singer of ability; and some good films on the bioscope complete an excellent programme.

NUNEATON.—Prince of Wales Theatre.—Prince of Wales Theatre and Entertainments Co., Ltd.—Managing Director, Mr. A. F. Cross; Acting-Manager, Mr. Walter J. B. Bryan.—Mr. Julian Malvern's company occupies the stage this week with I Defy the World. Mr. Percy Ballard gives an excellent interpretation of Leon Darville. The part of the Count de Beaulieu is capably presented by Mr. Chas. Wilton; Mr. Chas. Conway is responsible for a well-conceived study of Laroche; and Mr. Arthur Chisholm is good as Andre; Miss Violet Crauford submits a truthful portrayal of the faithless wife, Blanche Darville; Miss Rosie Dane plays well as Fauchette; and Miss Beatrice Sinclair's Pauline Delaporte is exceptionally well portrayed. The comedy element is well sustained by Mr. Chas. M. Julian and Miss Maud Lilian as Samuel and Maria Woozle.

OLDHAM.—Empire Theatre.—General Manager, Mr. E. Dottridge; Assistant Manager, Mr. J. Hulme.—A large audience assembled on Monday to witness the opening performance of The Grip of Iron by Messrs. E. H. Knight and George Denham's company. Mr. Fred Powell again sustained the part of Jagon in a powerful manner; Mr. G. Denham was successful in the humorous part of Loustalot, creating much merriment; as Paul Blanchard Mr. Wallace Curnock was excellent; and Mr. A. G. Polson Turner played Lorentz de Ribas in capital style; Mr. T. Renaud Lockwood as Alphonse de Coucou, and Mr. J. Brittain as Dodot, are funny as the two detectives; and Mr. Norman Tracey is good as Robert de Belfort; Miss Muriel Inglis as Sophie Blanchard gives a capital representation; Miss Violet Ingram is capable as Marie Guerin; and Miss Rosabel Dodd is forcible as Cora Simmonet.

Colosseum.—General Manager, Mr. W. Eastwood.—Her Luck in London is being performed here by Mr. G. Kirk and Miss Mary Neil's company. Mr. C. A. Leicester plays the part of the Hon. Fitzgerald O'Connor in good style; Mr. Douglas Tremayne is mercurial as the Rev. Lionel Strong; Mr. G. Langdon is well suited to the part of Richard Lenowen; Mr. Tyrone Power is most effective as Stephen Harborne; and Mr. Bruce Clapham is a capital Algy; Mr. J. Telly Dillsen is responsible for the comedy as Jerry, and he is ably assisted by Miss Florrie Groves as Maud; Miss Mary Neil is delightful in her rendering of the part of Nellie Harborne; and Miss Frances Bruce is attractive as Lillian Harborne.

Hippodrome.—General Manager, Mr. E. Dottridge; Assistant Manager, Mr. Nuttall.—Collins and Rice, comedy artists, head the bill with song and dance; Miss Flo Hilton is well received in her latest successes; and Maude Mortimer renders her songs in a capital manner; Baker and Balfe are good in operatic selections on the xylophone; Kyoto is a weird contortionist; Miss May Geraldine a capable comedienne; Victor Travers an amusing comedian; and J. Hegarty a good whistler. The Dottoscope completes the programme.

PAISLEY.—Paisley Theatre.—Sole Proprietor and Manager, Mr. J. H. Savile.—In possession here this week is Mr. R. A. P. Williams's company in Les Cloches de Corneville. Mr. Michael Kemble impersonates Gaspard in a thoroughly realistic manner; to the Marquis de Corneville a spirited rendering is given by Mr. Piercy Watson; Mr. G. Edward Hall as the Baillie is intensely amusing, as is also Mr. Richard Martin as Gobo; Mr. Percy Martin essays with considerable success the part of Grenicheux; and Miss Mabel Spencer makes a sprightly Christophe; as Serpolette Miss Adela Harvey distinguishes herself by clever and vivacious acting; and Miss Kathleen Emmett as Germaine plays intelligently and sings delightfully.

PENZANCE.—St. John's Hall.—Mr. Inez Howard's company, under the direction of Mr. Henry Chatiell, are presenting The Worst Woman in London here this week, and attracting full houses. The play is capitally staged and remarkably well dressed, the many stirring scenes comprised in the four acts calling forth loud and enthusiastic plaudits. Miss Grace Murielle as Frances Vere acts the arduous rôle with the completeness of a finished actress; Mr. Ernest Hartington proves himself capable as Jack Felton; and Mr. Arthur Knight, in addition to the duties of business and stage-management, is successful as Phillip Armstrong. Ruth Milford is pleasingly portrayed by Miss Edith Knight; Mr. Sydney Claydon as Bob Goldfinch, and Mr. Fred L. Robinson as Jerry, supply the comedy element, in conjunction with Miss Marion Lawrence as Jane Nogood, and their combined efforts are provocative of much hearty laughter.

PERTH.—Theatre Royal.—Sole Lessee and Manager, Mr. J. H. Savile; Acting-Manager, Mr. Frank Aldridge.—The Fair City is having a return visit this week of the famous comedy Charley's Aunt, and its success is more pronounced than ever. The rôle of Jack Chesney is probably the one which appeals more forcibly to the audience, and Mr. Hastings Lynn is excellent in his impersonation. Mr. Stanley Cook, who assumes the rôle of Lord Fancourt Babberley, is a continual source of amusement. Mr. Richard S. Mason is well placed as Charley Wykeham; Messrs. C. B. Leston and Walter Beaumont are suitable exponents of Colonel Sir Francis Chesney and Stephen Spettigue, and a more sedate college scout than Mr. Sydney Compton's Brassett could not be expected; Miss Lena McNaughton plays the stately rôle of Donna Lucia D'Alvadorez with pleasing effect; Misses Lillian Lait and Kitty Carew are seen to considerable advantage as Kitty Verdun and Amy Spettigue, and Miss Gladys Storey is a charming Ela Delahay. Fourchette & Co., a one-act play, is effectively rendered as a curtain raiser.

PETERBOROUGH.—Theatre Royal.—Manager, Mr. A. Darville Vernon.—Mr. Herbert Hollister's company in The Lights of London occupies the boards here this week. Mr. G. Montague Lane is responsible for an excellent impersonation of Harold Armytage; Mrs. Jeannie Burgoyne does well as Bess; Mr. Raymond Thomas as Clifford Armytage shows marked ability; Mr. Sidney N. Hallows appears as Squire Armytage; Mr. Herbert Lewis is most amusing as Jarvis; and Mrs. Violet Temple is good as Mrs. Jarvis. Miss Renee Douglas as Shakespeare Jarvis; Mr. F. Dalton as Jim; and Mr. George Wallace as Philosopher Jack are also excellent.

PLYMOUTH.—Theatre Royal.—Lessee and Manager, Mr. C. F. Williams; Acting-Manager, Mr. J. Langdon Lee.—The Shulamite is being staged at the Royal this week with Miss Lena Ashwell in the title-rôle. Miss Ashwell's powerful emotional acting appeals with irresistible force to all sections of the audience, and wins her the highest encomiums. Mr. Charles Weir as Simeon Krillet, the fanatical and bigoted Boer farmer, is superb; Mr. W. T. Lovell as Robert Waring gives a finished rendering of a man of honour wavering between love and duty; Mr. Reynolds Denniston as Jan Vanderberg makes a manly young farmer; Miss Mary Griffiths as Tante Anna Vanderberg undertakes a part requiring delicate and careful treatment with marked ability, and Miss Beryl Mercer as Memke, the Kaffir girl, evinces a close acquaintance with South African habits. The piece is preceded by a witty little curtain-raiser entitled The Widow Woos, in which Mr. Charles Weir and Miss Mary Griffiths had to bow their acknowledgments three times—a most gratifying reception for a curtain-raiser.

Grand Theatre.—Lessee and Manager, Mr. C. F. Williams; Acting-Manager, Mr. Percy Williams; Assistant Acting-Manager, Mr. Ernest Grant.—Mr. Percy Williams's company is appearing in Mr. W. T. McClellan's drama entitled A Woman Adrift. Mr. Alfred Brandon as Sir John Ingleby, Lord of the Manor, acts with becoming dignity; Mr. Walter Terriss is very good as Dr. Cameron, the family physician; Miss Ethel Kay as Cora Leigh, a released convict, is pathetic in the extreme, and Mr. Cecil A. Collins as Jibbs, a young coster, is well acquainted with the requirements of a low-comedy artist.

Metropole Theatre.—Manager, Mr. Mitchell.—Fred Karno's troupe of comedians in His Majesty's Guests are an attraction different from that generally offered Metropole patrons, but the great success of the show amply justifies the experiment. Mr. George Hester as Sergeant Lightning causes roars of laughter; Mr. Frank Newton as Lord Basem is the possessor of a fine musical voice, and was heard to advantage in some good songs; and the Six Little Foreign Princes and Six Little Burglars bear no small share in an evening's hearty enjoyment.

Palace of Varieties.—Manager Mr. Jack Field.—An audience on the tip-toe of expectation illustrates the fact that John Lawson's Humanity sketch has lost none of its attractiveness. The Rohda Bros. are a pair of gymnasts of exceptional daring and ability; Allis and Cassati have a vocal act of distinct originality; Lilian Lowe is a ballad vocalist of magnificent range and power; Martin Conway takes well with the popular parts of the house; the Sisters Bartholomew are much above the average first turn; Miss Florence has a novel Dutch item; and Vernon's Bioscope presents an amusing film entitled "Mrs. Brown's Misfortunes."

Promenade Pier and Pavilion.—Manager, Mr. J. Higson.—Fresh from a great success at Torquay, Mr. Ernest Lord's Excelsior Opera Singers are earning fresh laurels at Plymouth. Miss Ona Ashton has a bevy of catchy songs; Miss Gertrude Grant has a very attractive style and manner; Miss Alice Singleton is a graceful performer; Mr. G. Harker Holt is a conspicuous success, particularly in a duet with Miss Ashton; Mr. Frank Quinn is possessed of a fine voice, and Mr. Tom Heyworth is a very good comedian.

PORTH.—The Palace.—General-Manager, Mr. C. W. Poole; Acting-Manager, Mr. W. Bynorth.—Another great success is scored at the above this week. The Bouncing Dillons, in their comedy gymnastic performance, richly deserve commendation; Maddison Brothers, quaint American eccentrics, are great favourites, and keep the house in continuous roars of laughter; Zenora, equilibrist and hand jumper, is greatly appreciated, and well merits the applause he receives; Funny Beans, with his comical mechanical donkey, is exceptionally smart; Lack and Ford, comedy acrobats, give an excellent performance; Sisters Le Bas, a delightful pair of duettists and dancers, are well received; the Two Daniels are most amusing negro comedians; Frank Coyle scores a distinct success, his catchy songs being much admired; and some excellent pictures are presented on the Bioscope. During the week a bouncing competition is taking place, for which substantial prizes are offered.

PORTSMOUTH.—Theatre Royal.—Licensee and Manager, Mr. J. W. Boughton; Acting-Manager, Mr. Armstrong Bell.—This week we have here Mr. George Musgrove's well-selected company with The Prince of Pilsen. Miss Millicent Marsden is well suited to the part of Mrs. Madison Cröker, singing her numbers with a go that is much appreciated; Miss Isa Bowman makes a dainty Nellie Wagner; Miss Nell Emerald is an exceedingly capable Sidonie, her singing and dancing gaining much applause; and Miss Lulu Evans charmingly plays Edith Adams. Mr. J. B. Fox, in the name-part, is most successful, his voice being heard to advantage; Mr. Martin Adeson is highly diverting as Hans Wagner; Mr. G. Villiers Arnold plays and sings with success as Lieut. Tom Wagner; and Mr. Lawrence Wensley is most amusing as the Earl of Shimpton.

Prince's Theatre.—Licensee and Manager, Mr. J. W. Boughton; Acting-Manager, Mr. T. E. Agate.—Miss Winifred Chalmers and her company, including Mr. Henry L. Osmond, are here for the week, playing The Master Criminal. Mr. Henry L. Osmond acts powerfully in the title-rôle; Mr. Alexander Haviland spiritedly depicts the persecuted hero, Philip Manners; Ben Beaudy, of Scotland Yard, is successfully taken by Mr. Dunlop Stewart; Mr. Harry Cooke as the music-hall comedian, Tommy Dale, and Miss Mabel Tremere as Peggy Perks, are responsible for the lighter side of the drama; Mabel Manners is well impersonated by Miss Kate Blair; and Miss Winifred Chalmers gives an exceedingly clever portrayal of Cecile.

Empire Palace.—Secretary, Mr. W. Pratt.—An excellent programme is again submitted by the management here for this week. The Five Bogannys score immensely in the comedy acrobatic act, The Lunatic Bakers; Idalia May is very smart and versatile in her transformation dancing; George Rapley, burlesque comedian, meets with approval for his songs and patter; Ford and Hanson are most entertaining, and show much ability in their eccentric musical act; Alice Maple is a pleasing soubrette and dancer; Raynor and Reece are well received in their humorous singing and dancing; Effie White, kaleidoscopic dancer, gives an effective display with electrical effects; Professor Albini, with his mechanical musical talking head, creates much wonderment and amusement; the Sisters Tinsley are a capital pair of duettists and dancers; and Payne's Bio-Photoscope, with up-to-date amusing pictures, completes a capital bill.

PRESTON.—Theatre Royal.—Manager, Mr. Stephen Pritt.—Mr. Gilbert Heron's company is here this week with The Superior Miss Pellender, which has met with cordial approval. Miss Jessie Danvers is seen to advantage as Mrs. Pellender; and in the title-rôle Miss Jessie Belmore is distinctly successful; Edith has a good representative in Miss Enid Emilie; and Miss Muriel Meek makes a lively Nancy; Mr. Geo. Belmore as Noel is full of mischievous fun; and Mr. Gilbert Heron gives an admirable impersonation of Mr. Fisher. Kit's Atonement, a play in one act, by Gilbert Heron, precedes.

Prince's Theatre.—Proprietors and Managers, Messrs. Sawyer and Woodruff.—On Monday Mr. Jack Haddon's No. 1 company presented to a large and appreciative audience Mr. Walter Howard's drama Under the Russian Flag. Mr. Haddon admirably portrays the character of Captain Demetrius; and Mr. Cecil Melton as Ivan and Mr. Edward Avinal as Michael are excellent; Mr. G. Herbert plays the rôle of General Romanoff in a creditable manner; and Mr. Charles Liddon is popular as Wolf Marischia, the escaped convict; Miss Marie Rayner is a clever actress, and is all that could be desired as Luka Marischia; whilst Miss Elaine Vanbrugh makes a delightful Vera Vassiloff; Mr. Fred Haming as Alexis, Mr. Hal Forde as Peter Pouleki, and Miss Violet Lytton as Ogarita, contribute the humorous element, and received much applause; Mr. William Parkin as Nicholas, Mr. J. H. Ward as the Sentry, and Mr. F. Watson as the Orderly, capably fill their respective parts.

Royal Hippodrome.—Proprietors, Messrs. W. H. Broadhead and Sons; Resident-Manager, Mr. E. J. Linedell.—At the head of the bill this week is the Silbon Family, whose miniature circus greatly pleases the audience; Gracie Graham makes a big hit with her cleverly-rendered songs; the Three Richards provide a skilful acrobatic act; the Rushworths gain hearty applause for their illustrated songs; and the Sisters Valli, instrumentalists and top-boot dancers, are accorded a good reception; Sheila McNeil is a pleasing Scotch comedienne, and King Leo a capital ventriloquist; Alfonzo the Tranka wonder uses his feet dexterously; and other good turns are those of Harley and Hardon, eccentric dancers, and Sonny Moss, comedian.

RADCLIFFE.—Grand Opera House.—Sole Owner and Manager, Mr. Geo. T. Sante; Acting-Manager, Mr. Jas. Boofman.—A very large audience welcomed Mr. J. Hare's company in A Destroyer of Men. Mr. Hare as the exile has a character that suits him admirably; Mr. H. B. Lewis as the villain acts very impressively; and Mr. C. Bickell does well as the exiled son. Miss Irene Clifford, a talented actress, acts powerfully as the countess, and Miss M. Walsh ably takes the part of Vida, the rightful heiress. Miss A. Buckland and Mr. Ross Warner do well in humorous parts.

RAMSGATE.—Sanger's Amphitheatre.—Lessee and Manager, Mr. H. Bowman.—Large audiences assembled at Ramsgate's old-established playhouse on the first three evenings of the week to witness performances of The Freedom of Suzanne, by Miss Emma Hutchison and Mr. Percy Hutchison's talented company, the chief star of which is Miss Mabel Love, who, in the part of Suzanne Trevor gave a brilliant impersonation. Mr. Templar Powell made a capital Charles Trevor, and Mr. F. G. Thurstans did admirably in the part of Uncle Harding; Miss Annie Slaiman filled the rôle of Lady Trevor in first-rate fashion, and a similar description befits the manner in which Miss V. Ley played Lady Isabel. Miss D. Lart Mrs. Tustail, and Miss C. Mead Miss Minching. The other parts were carefully sustained. On Thursday Mr. Mouillot's company commenced a three nights' engagement in the musical play, The Toreador.

Royal Victoria Theatre and Pavilion.—Proprietors, Ramsgate Corporation; Lessee, Mr. Jules Richeux; Secretary, Mr. G. Tyler.—At the palatial Pavilion the boards have this week been occupied by Mr. Hy. Swinerd's company in Dare-Devil Dorothy. There have been big and appreciative audiences. Mr. Arthur Verne, a clever comedian, is a big success as Silas Crump; Miss Dorothy Desmond is a charming Dorothy Montrose; Mr. Walter Ashley makes an effective appearance as Capt. George Fielding; Mr. H. C. Ward contributes to the excellence of the reproduction as Capt. Edward Dudley; and Miss Marie Vere is admirable as Ruth Montrose. Musical specialities are introduced in the course of the show, and some good acrobatic dancing is introduced by the Misses Lillie and Mabel Blake.

RAWTENSTALL.—Grand Theatre.—Lessee and Manager, Mr. Arthur De Frece.—Another capital house witnessed, on Monday night, a fine presentation of Rogers's £1,000 Reward, by Messrs. Frank J. Pitt and Charles Halling's company. The play was beautifully staged, the scenery and dresses being particularly good. As Madam Sanson Miss Daisy Halling gave a fine portrayal, her acting being full of power and pathos in the necessary passages. Miss Lyna Darlington was very good as Meg, and her fine voice was heard to great advantage in her two solos, which were vociferously encored. Miss Cissie Francis made a sprightly and thoroughly acceptable Kitty; and Mr. Chas. Rogers, jun., was equally successful as Dick Springthorpe, his acting being marked by refined comedy. Mr. Chas. Halling as Vincent Rainsworth was very good, his interpretation being exceptionally clever; and Mr. Frank Dallas also scored as Inspector Gilbert. Mr. John B. Murray made an excellent villain as Gilbert Lisle, his impersonation being very clever. Mr. C. Newton Cowling and Mr. Frank J. Pitt were quite up to the standard as Fred Ingleford, sen. and jun., and Mr. Edward De Vere was most amusing as Fighting Jeffs. The subordinate characters were all well sustained, and a very fine performance was thoroughly enjoyed by the crowded house.

READING.—Royal County Theatre.—Proprietor and Manager, Mr. Milton Bode; Acting-Manager, Mr. W. B. Barnett; Secretary, Mr. Reginald Taylor.—Miss Blanche St. Albans and Mr. J. Leicester Jackson's principal company is appearing this week in Her One Great Sin. The leading part of Grace Warhurst is effectively handled by Miss St. Albans, and Mr. J. L. Jackson represents Arnold Thornhill in able style; Mr. J. Beresford Innes gives a good rendering of the part of Reuben Warhurst; Miss Maudie Lambert is attractive as Little Gracie; Miss Phyllis Damain submits a life-like impersonation of a London flower seller; Mr. Fred Hodson is highly amusing as Jerry Jumble; and Miss Nellie Lambert as Nancy Winpenny also contributes to the comedy element.

REDDITCH.—Public Hall.—Manager, Mr. W. Treadgold.—The season opened here on Saturday the 18th with The Silver King, under the direction of Mr. J. Bannister Howard. The performance was repeated on Monday evening. The artists gave the greatest satisfaction.

ROCHDALE.—Theatre Royal.—Proprietors, The Northern Theatres Co., Ltd.; Managing-Director, Mr. W. Robinson; General-Manager, Mr. Otto C. Culling; Resident-Manager, Mr. J. Hague.—Lingford Carson's No. 1 Répertoire company is here with a round of plays this week. On Monday A Modern Adventuress was given before a good house, the play proving interesting throughout. Mr. Morley Carroll was heard to advantage as William Delby; the persecuted hero, Harry Delby, was capitally impersonated by Mr. Sydney C. Cranston; Mr. Ernest J. Fare cleverly filled the part of Wallace Danton; Mr Charles Draycott made the most of Pietro Donelli; and Mr. Arthur Byron submitted a typical portrayal of the bluff and genial Yorkshireman, John Crompton; Miss Daisy Norman was a vivacious Sally Hodges; Miss Marie Robson infused much pathos in the part of Vivette Delby, and Miss Muriel Thompson acted with stirring effect as Violet Meredith. The Ticket of Leave Man, The Octoroon, and The Heart of a Hero are billed for production during the week.

Empire Theatre of Varieties.—Proprietor and Manager, Mr. Thos. Hargreaves; Acting-Manager, Mr. Frank Hargreaves.—A strong programme is presented here this week. Jack and Evelyn top the bill with a cleverly acted sketch, Come Into the Office. Oliver Conroy has established himself a favourite comedian; and other turns are submitted by Cyrus and Maude, musical comedians; Vekeys, banjoists; Edie Gray and White Coons, vocalists; Reays, athletic equilibrists; Joe Oliver, the singing coon; and the Empire Bioscope.

ROCK FERRY.—Olympian Gardens.—Manager, Mr. Maynard Dakin.—The Adeler and Sutton pierrot entertainments are in the height of their popularity. This week Mr. Lauri Wylie displays his versatility in his mannikin impersonations of variety stars and presents a novel and acceptable item of the programme; Mr. Arthur Allrige, a tenor vocalist of more than average ability, has many admirers; Mr. Alec Kendall, a droll comedian, and Tom Percy, a humorous raconteur and vocalist, are among the principals; Mr. Jas. Lowe manipulates the Erard very skilfully, and Mr. Maynard Dakin, in addition to holding the managerial reins, contributes several popular numbers from his refined and inexhaustible repertory.

RUGBY.—Theatre Royal.—Managing-Director, Mr. A. F. Cross; Acting-Manager, Mr. Drew Mackintosh.—This week a good variety company is appearing. Mlle. Florence, the famous globe-walker, gives a clever exhibition; Abex well justifies his title of the Miniature Hercules; the Brothers Arnold are smart in their cabinet mystery; Hoozel is a smart ventriloquist; the Bendons are clever in their sketch; Alvar is a daring and able gymnast; Dale and D'Argan, comedy acrobatic conjurers, are good in their novelty act, Le Café Magique; and Harry Keeble, comedian, does well.

RYDE.—Theatre Royal.—Lessees and Managers, J. Bannister Howard, Ltd.—Ryde has received this week a visit from Mr. Bannister Howard's company, which has given a brilliant representation of the popular musical comedy Florodora. Mr. Howard V. Cropton is especially to be commended for his bright acting in the part of Frank Abercoed, his singing being in every way admirable. Miss Daisy Lake is very successful in the part of Dolores; and Miss Dorothy Dempster makes a graceful and charming Angela Gilfain. The Lady Holyrood of Miss Rosa Sullivan is a delightful performance. Mr. Gus Danby takes the house completely by storm with his interpretation of Anthony Tweedlepunch; and Mr. Colin Johnstone draws a clever and amusing picture of Cyrus W. Gilfain.

Pier Pavilion.—Lessee, Mr. J. Herbert Jay; Manager, Mr. F. T. Studd.—Mr. Robert Ganthony's company has been here during the opening portion of the past week, and has submitted a capital entertainment to excellent audiences; and The Follies paid one of their welcome visits on Wednesday; and the remaining nights of the week were occupied by The Gaieties.

The Grosvenor Ladies' Orchestra continue to appear to advantage in their open-air engagements throughout the week.

SALFORD.—Prince of Wales's.—Proprietor and Manager, Mr. E. B. Goulden; Acting-Manager, Mr. Harold Goulden.—The Traitor, one of the latest dramas by Mr. B. Hill-Mitchelson, is this week being presented to good houses by a capable all-round company. The General-Manager, Mr. Stephen Scanlan, effectively sustains the title-rôle; Prince Rudolph is well played by Mr. H. Bonhote Wilson; Miss Ruth Sheppard as Zula, Miss Gertrude Bardsley as Countess Zeika, and Miss Katherine Vere as Elise Dupre are each excellent in their parts; Miss Isabelle Hunt makes a good impression by her portrayal of Lieut. Nicholas; and Mr. T. W. Hurst is a capable Captain Ross, R.N.

Regent Theatre of Varieties, Ltd.—Managing-Director, Mr. W. Turner; Manager, Mr. Herbert Raymond; Secretary, Mr. J. C. Porthenson.—Miss Dolly Harmer, who is a great favourite here, has had to respond to frequent recalls; Hallam and Stanton (Henry and Josephine) have an enjoyable sketch, A Broken Journey. Some comical juggling is cleverly done by Bonnetti and Corrie; The Little Charwoman is an amusing sketch by Hollos, Goldman and Company; and equally entertaining business includes Nellie Nora, society musical entertainer; Kate Lynd, comedienne; Akbar, expert on silver rings; Charley Dixon, comedian and dancer; Lillian Elfreda, clever mimic of well-known variety artists; and Marcus Boyle, comedian.

Royal Hippodrome.—Manager, Mr. W. B. Broadhead; Acting-Manager, Mr. Percy B. Broadhead; Resident Acting-Manager, Mr. C. H. Wentworth.—Le Diabelo looping the Devil's wheel on a bicycle is a sensational piece of work in a programme full of interesting items. The marvellous feats by the Pichels in their Risley act are much applauded. Mary M. Glenn sings well; Monty Walker, comedian, is well received. The other items are by Leon and Williams, in their comic act; Bonanzas, hand-balancing acrobats; Ariston Girls, vocalists and clever acrobatic dancers; Zano Bros., in comedy bar act; Weimars in amusing singing, musical, and speciality act, and Elge Monte, comedian.

SALISBURY.—County Hall.—Proprietor, Mr. A. Whitehead; Business Manager, Mr. T. Brinsmead.—Mr. Arthur Bourchier's company opened here on Wednesday to a large and delighted audience. Mr. Wallace G. Court gives a powerful impersonation of Jack Frobisher; as Hankey Bannister Mr Lionel Gadsden masters his part well; Mr. Martin Pedler as Harry Dallas makes the most of his opportunities; Lord Marchmont has a capital exponent in Mr. Christopher, and Mr. A. Collyn Rolfe is conspicuously good as the Marquis of Steventon; Miss Maud Stuart gives a charming delineation of Lady Alethea Frobisher; Miss Bertha Francis as Lady Lucy Derenham is bright and girlish; as Lady Westerby Miss Olive Elton deserves much praise; Miss Kitty Lofting as Miss Mornington, Miss N. Blackford as the Duchess, and Miss Edna Earl as Lady Parchester all play with excellent effect.

Victoria Park.—Director of Entertainments, Mr. J. D'Alton Tebby; Manageress, Miss Jessie D'Alton.—The good programme presented here has been well varied again, the company being well received by large audiences each night. Miss Beattie Witham has made another hit with her rendering of "When there isn't a girl about." Miss Ramsdale, as usual, works hard and is most successful with her illustrated songs. Mr. Skidmore furnishes an abundance of mirth, his comic songs being high and the Pupil; Mr. Alf. Holt, American entertainer; Mr. Will Cornish, a talented comedy and instrumental performer; and Miss Sybil St. Elmo, a cultured soprano vocalist. In addition to these there is the American Bioscope with new pictures.

GRAND PALACE.—Proprietor, Mr. Frank Macnaghten; Manager, Mr. Richard Ralli.—To the great satisfaction of his many local friends, the genial Mr. Ralli has returned to the Grand as Resident-Manager, and he received cordial greetings on Monday night. The company engaged this week includes Miss Jessie Elvin and her sketch troupe, in The Gipsy's Vengeance; Miss Leah Arden, ballad and operatic vocalist; Mr. Baker E. Belphor, vocal comedian; Miss Maidee Scott, vocalist; Dick and Dorothy, duettists; and the Pallister Biograph, with comic and fanciful films.

CENTRAL HALL.—Animated pictures still continue to please the patrons of this hall, who are further entertained by the efforts of several variety artists.

SHREWSBURY.—FLORAL AND MUSICAL FETE.—The colossal open-air fête annually held in the beautiful Quarry Pleasure Grounds attached to the old town of Shrewsbury took place on Wednesday and Thursday last, and proved as successful as it has done for so many years past. The weather on Wednesday was charming, and the varied programme was carried out with the greatest possible success. The variety performances were first-class. Don Juan A. Caicedo, king of the high wire, paid a welcome return visit, and his wonderful feats were as skilfully executed as ever; the Wartenbergs, double foot jugglers and equilibrists, gave an effective and accomplished performance; the Gargani Trio, comic eccentric acrobats, worked hard and merited high praise; Mdlle. Rosa's admirably trained dogs were a pleasing feature, an amusing football match being a novel and popular item; the Cee Mee Troupe of flying trapeze artists gave a graceful and smart exhibition; the Bounding Pattersons, bar gymnasts, were remarkably smart, and the introduction of spring matting enabled them to contribute some clever novelties. Conn and Conrad are old favourites here, and their fun on the balanced pole vastly amused the crowd; Hardeen, the "Handcuff King," was here on a first visit, and he released himself from handcuffs, corded cabinet, and strait jacket in remarkably quick time; the graceful and wonderfully well-trained Kaufmann cyclists came on a return visit, their bright and highly attractive show having gained by the addition of one or two exceptionally clever feats; and the four Uniques gave a particularly smart perpendicular ladder show. Messrs. Spencer Bros. made successful balloon ascents—one of the "captive" ascents being in fact too successful, the breaking of a rope involving a fairly long journey, happily accomplished without mishap. The charming grounds, encircled by the finest avenues of lime trees in the kingdom, make Shrewsbury Quarry a capital place for pyrotechnics; and Messrs. Pain and Sons, of London, gave beautiful displays. Messrs. Anger and Bauer, London, who have given so much satisfaction in the past were again agents for the performers; Mr. E. R. Hollie acting as stage manager with his accustomed courtesy and efficiency. Messrs. Adnitt and Naunton, the general secretaries to the fête, may be deservedly congratulated upon its increasing success.

SMETHWICK.—THEATRE ROYAL.—Proprietor, Mr. C. Barnard; Manager, Mr. E. Hewitson.—Human Hearts forms the attraction here this week. Mr. Sydney Sarle acquits himself creditably as Titus Eels. The part of the hero is ably filled by Mr. George Rowlands; villain and villainess are ably sustained by Mr. Williams and Miss V. Fordyce; and Mr. Arthur Estcourt and Misses Minnie Silvester and Barbara Bateman are capable exponents of the other principal rôles. The Bioscope Pictures still continue their successful run, being both interesting and amusing.

SOUTHEND-ON-SEA.—EMPIRE THEATRE.—Empire Theatre Co., Ltd.; Managing-Director, Mr. Geo. Conquest; Acting-Manager, Mr. A. Lingham Power.—Capital patronage is being given to the excellent Chinese musical comedy, San Toy, which is being presented by Mr. Mouillot, with a strong and capable company. Singing and dancing alike prove most exhilarating, the choruses being rendered in pleasing manner. Miss Bessie Allayne, in her rôle of San Toy, gives a talented portrayal, and her singing merits praise; Mr. Arthur Cartwright, too, sings well, and well impersonates Captain Bobby Preston; Mr. Hugh Webb is humorous as Yen How; the Emperor has in Mr. Percy Stevens a capital interpreter; Mr. Bert Edwardes as Li leaves nothing to be desired, his singing and dancing creating continuous applause; Miss Maude Rundell dances exceedingly well, and is admirable in her characterisation of Rose Tucker; and Miss Grace Rosaire, chief of the six little wives, is successful. All the remaining characters are well sustained.

THE KURSAAL.—Secretary and Manager, Mr. R. T. J. Bacon.—A capital programme is being submitted in the variety theatre. Professor Horace's troupe of performing dogs show careful and clever training; Ida Katrina, in her pretty song-scenas, meets with a good reception; as also does Ethel Dove, comedienne and clever dancer; the Kimberley Boys prove themselves to be talented eccentric comedians; Mlle. Lucretia is a capital burlesque artist, and dances exceptionally well; the studies from nature presented by La Diana meet with a distinct reception; and the Bioscope completes a capital entertainment. The Hippodrome still retains Lorenzo's Miniature Circus; while the Café Chantant programme is contributed by the Kursaal Koncert Kompany, both having good support.

PIER PAVILION.—Sole Lessee and Manager, Mr. H. E. Angless; Acting-Manager, Mr. Stanley E. Angless.—This week's attraction is proving most popular, Mr. Charles Macdona presenting the charming musical play, The Toreador, with complete success. The company is a strong and powerful one, all working with ardour, and throughout enchant appreciate audiences. The dresses and scenery are alike tasteful and magnificent. Singing and dancing both merit comment; whilst the choruses are rendered in capital style under the direction of Mr. Lin. Levalion. Mr. Harold Batt, who takes the rôle of Pettifer successfully, gains enthusiastic recognition for his singing and dancing; Mr. Ralph Lynn is good as Sir Archibald Slackett, being well supported by Mr. George Anstin as Augustus Traill; Messrs. Sydney Grenville, Henry Arthur, and Charles W. Anson all deserve mention for their respective portrayals; Mr. Walter Champney is a comedian who knows how to please, and his characterisation of Sammy Gigg is faultless; Miss Leah Howard is pleasing as Susan; Miss Eliza Earle well interprets Dora Selby; Miss Beatrice Grosvenor as the widow, Mrs. Malton Hoppings, is good; and Miss Nina Carlton is popular as Donna Teresa, singing with marked ability and power; Miss Mary Lewis is well suited as Nancy Staunton, and gives a dignified impersonation; and Miss Norah O'Neil's solo dance is well received.

AL FRESCO THEATRE OF VARIETIES. — Lessee, Mr. H. E. Angless; Manager, Professor Vincent.—The management are to be congratulated on producing such excellent entertainments, which are immensely enjoyed by huge crowds daily. The Urban Bioscope is one of the chief attractions; whilst the Bijou Orchestra contributes to the evident satisfaction of all. Last week's artists have been retained, and every item is deservedly applauded.

PIER HILL BANDSTAND.—Lessee, Mr. H. E. Angless.—The support so liberally given by large and representative audiences to these refined entertainments is gratifying to Mr. Ballard Brown and his capable company, who are ardent in their endeavours to please. Mr. Findlay Dunn, who proved so successful earlier in the season, has been engaged for this week, and meets with a hearty reception.

THE HAPPY VALLEY.—Manager, Mr. Charles Osborne.—Chirgwin's Concert Party continues to draw enormous crowds here twice daily; Miss Beatrice Varley, Messrs. F. Harris, Harry Rose, Bert Dansie, Charles Wood, Charles Osborne, and Little Thomas are all huge favourites. Mr. Osborne's benefit on the 17th inst. was a great success.

SOUTHPORT. — OPERA HOUSE, WINTER GARDENS.—Proprietors, The Southport Winter Gardens Company, Ltd.; Acting-Manager, Mr. R. Singleton.—A more than usually attractive entertainment is provided at the Opera House this week by the engagement of Mr. George Dance's principal company with The Spring Chicken. Miss Crissie Leonard is delightfully piquant and graceful in the part of Rosalie; Mr. Fred Payne in the character of Mr. Girdle has plenty of scope for comedy, scoring a notable success; Mr. J. S. Durant is highly diverting in the character of Barbori; Mr. Edwin Dodds as the head waiter is exceedingly amusing; Miss Nellie Kavanagh's interpretation of the cockney matron Mrs. Girdle leaves little to be desired; Miss Florence Lee is a vivacious exponent of Dulcie; and Miss May Gould dances a pas seul with exceptional grace.

ALBERT HALL, WINTER GARDENS.—Lessee, Mrs. Charles Parker; Acting-Manager, Mr. J. H. Mertz.—One of the most interesting items here is the gymnastic performance of the Five Lios Alfa Sisters. Other turns of exceptional merit are supplied by Carter Livesey and Lillian Rosebery, in their highly diverting sketch, entitled The Would-be Actors; and Harry Weldon, swell entertainer, a capital turn. The bill also includes Cissie Curlette, mimetic vocalist; Jack Pleasants, comedian; Hurman, juggler and hoop manipulator; Cyrus Dare, child mimic; Elton and Edwin, banjo duo; and the Bioscope, with the latest films.

PIER PAVILION.—Proprietors, The Southport Pier Co.; Manager, Mr. Charles F. Johnson.—The following excellent combination of variety artists is here:—The Three Zaracs, in their amusing triple horizontal bar sketch, entitled Mashing the Barmaid; Little Rose Pink, dainty comedienne; J. S. Scatter, comedian and dancer; the Katos, in their automatic theatre sketch; G. W. Nicholson, humorist; the Ladderites, in their marvellous ladder act; Ferris and Farnley, eccentric patter comedians; the Whitworth Cycling Girls, and Campkin, the tramp cyclist.

SOUTH SHIELDS.—THEATRE ROYAL.—Lessees and Managers, Messrs. J. and F. Coulson.—The latest American success, Alaska; or Life in the Frozen North, is being played to good houses by Mr. Hilliard Vox and company. The part of the heroic Skookum Jim is played by Mr. Vox in a breezy and forceful style; Mr. C. D. Pitt is seen to advantage as Ned Larson; and the half-breed, Baptiste, is capably performed by Mr. H. Grimson; Mr. Albert Rogers is responsible for a good deal of broad humour as Pompey Cæsar, and is ably supported by Miss E. Clarke as Topsy Samarintha, and Miss Leslie Wynne as the Widow Casey; Alaska, the faithful Indian, is powerfully portrayed by Miss G. Hastings-Walton; Jess Dalton is charmingly enacted by Miss E. Rainforth; the Widow's Mite has a clever exponent in Little Baby Rosie; and Mr. J. Ford is good as the Malumite Kid.

EMPIRE PALACE THEATRE.—Proprietor, Mr. Richard Thornton; General-Manager, Mr. Frank Allen; Resident-Manager, Mr. Geo. F. Thompson.—Capt. Bevan's Gordon Highlanders in lightning drills display wonderful precision in their marvellous evolutions; Binns and Binns, the musical vagabonds, are very successful comedians; as an illusionist Spearman Potts scores heavily; Lord, Murray, and Lord, punch-ball artists, make a palpable hit; and the coon songs of Esta Stella are rendered in good style; the remaining enjoyable turns are those of Sam Dalton, comedian; Johnny Gilmore, Australian comedian; Lilian Travelli, comedienne and dancer; and the ever-popular Bioscope.

SPENNYMOOR.—CAMBRIDGE THEATRE.—Lessee, Mr. Harding Thomas; Resident-Manager, Mr. Herbert Vere.—The five-act sensational drama, What Men Dare, dealing with phases of Russian life, is being presented here this week by Miss Douglas and company. Miss Maud Buchanan in the rôle of Olga Levin displays sterling ability; Mr. Percy Norman as Fedor also scores heavily; Mr. Alfred Burrows as the imperturbable clerk, Nickolai, renders a good account of himself; Mr. A. Balfour Mackay as Ivan Boutoff displays skill as a delineator of character; Miss Douglas as Duba, the dumb woman, makes the most of a short part; and a sprightly Irish maid, Mary O'Brien, is well depicted by Miss Ida Mackay. Mr. E. A. Edwards is droll as the simpleton.

STAFFORD. — LYCEUM THEATRE.—Lessee and Manager, Mr. James Elphinstone.—An excellent all-round variety programme is presented this week. La Belle Lily and Albert top the bill, and give a clever and original gymnastic show; Miss Bessie Willow is an able vocalist; Nellie Dunbar sings and dances well; the Two Wambas give an amusing musical turn; Babs Lloyd, the child artist, is a distinct success; Rene and Smith are an acceptable turn; Alex. Fox, ventriloquist, and Nellie Van, comedienne and dancer, ably contribute; and the dancing of the famous Lennons receive a big ovation.

STALYBRIDGE.—GRAND THEATRE. — Lessee and Manager, Mr. Frank Mundill; Acting-Manager, Mr. J. D. Oswald.—Dolly, Agnes, and Maud, the factory nightingales, have been retained from last week, and are as heartily encored as ever; the other items on the programme include the Sisters Brenton, comediennes and dancers; Friscary, the hatter; Master Harry Butt, boy vocalist; Dene and Dawson, in the sketch Stage Aspirants; J. H. Greene, descriptive vocalist; Lillian Sivado, the aerial queen; the Dunlops in their cycling act; and the American Bioscope.

ST. ANNES-ON-SEA.—PIER PAVILION THEATRE.—Lessee, Mr. Harry Leslie.—Mr. Thomas McKenzie presents Mr. E. Lockwood's company in the successful musical comedy Sergeant Brue of the C Division here this week, and a capital house welcomed this charming comedy on Monday. Mr. J. Harold Carson makes a capital Sergeant Brue, and Mr. Robert Selby does well as his son, Michael; Mr. F. Laceby makes the most of the Crawlborough magistrate, Mr. Cranky; and Mr. Albert James as Crookie Scrubs, a criminal, keeps the audience roaring at his funny sayings and antics. Miss Florence Spurgeon is a charming Aurora Brue, winning applause for her song "Under a Panama"; Miss Dora Taylor is a sprightly maid Daisy, and Miss Reydon Dallas completely captivates her listeners by her sweet voice and charming acting as Lady Bickenhall. Mr. H. Gedwin makes a typical Inspector Corringe; and the other parts are in capable hands.

ST. HELENS. — THEATRE ROYAL AND OPERA HOUSE.—Proprietors, The St. Helens Theatre, Ltd.; General-Manager, Mr. McLeod Loader.—We are favoured this week with Mr. Frank Bateman's company in the interesting play, No Wedding Bells for Her. Miss Lizzie Montague, in the arduous rôle of Lola, displays much histrionic ability; Mr. S. Lomath makes a manly Frank; Mr. Harry Belfort is good as Horatio; Mr. Albert Guyon is well suited as the wastrel Abney; and Miss Louie Adair could not be improved on as Doris Fane, an actress. The remaining characters are in safe keeping, and the play is well mounted.

HIPPODROME. — Proprietors, Messrs. Barrasford, Will Sley, and Fred Wilmott; Resident-Manager, Mr. A. V. Carnell.—At the top of the bill here are Les Montaldos, exceedingly clever equilibrists, with some highly trained parrots and cockatoos. Others appearing are Fred Curran, comedian (an old favourite); Barrington, a good musician; the Three Royal Temples, who achieve a distinct success as operatic vocalists; the Sisters Silcott, very good vocalists and talented dancers; Dale and O'Malley, who cause much hilarity as comedians; and Mr. C. Once, who is again mystifying.

STOCKPORT.—THEATRE ROYAL AND OPERA HOUSE.—Sole Owner and Manager, Mr. Charles Revill; Acting-Manager, Mr. Wm. Revill.—Mr. James Willard has presented Messrs. Dottridge and Longden's company in The Midnight Mail with marked success. Mr. Alfred Goddard gave an excellent portrayal of Harry Steyne, an engine driver; and Billy Brewer, a drunken stoker, was admirably given by Mr. Fred G. Evison. Mr. Robert Greig capably filled the part of Leonard Royle; and Mr. Arthur Gilroy impersonated Hassan Padisha most effectively. Mr. H. Dobell Lyle as the signalman, Jasper Thornleigh, acted realistically; Miss Ada Oakley pleasingly presented the character of Mary Steyne; Lady Phyllis Eustace was charmingly played by Miss Phyllis Dailley; and Miss Nellie Sheffield was amusing in the character of Mary Brewer.

EMPIRE. — Proprietors, the Stockport Empire Theatre Co., Ltd.; Acting-Manager, Mr. W. Black.—A company of all-round excellence is appearing here this week. The premier position is occupied by the Columbia trio in their operatic and humorous absurdity, which commanded much appreciation; Henderson, the blind musician, made a distinct hit, captivating everybody with his concertina solos; and the Brothers Obo, comedians, caused abundant laughter and achieved great success; a most pleasing act is that of Ara, Zebra, and Vora; and Carl Lynn gave some realistic imitations of animals. Fred Horsfall is a delightful Tyrolean vocalist; Minnie Fenton, Scotch comedienne, was very pleasing; and Will Letter's songs were greeted with gratifying applause.

STOCKTON-ON-TEES.—THEATRE ROYAL.—Sole Lessee, Mr. Fred Granville; Acting-Manager, Mr. J. L. Barry.—Mr. Ernest R. Abbott and his powerful company are appearing here this week in A Wife's Triumph and Sapho. Both plays are nicely mounted and excellently staged, and the artistes are deservedly applauded. Mr. Ernest R. Abbott and Miss Ada Abbott, in the leading parts, each submit a fine piece of acting.

GRAND THEATRE.—Proprietor, Mr. John Batty; Manager, Mr. Walter Batty.—Florrie Gallimore is the star turn this week, and her reception is enthusiastic. Verno and Voyce win enthusiastic applause; Sid Cotterell and company in a sketch, entitled The Substitute, cause roars of laughter; the Baltus Troupe perform some marvellous acts; and Kahn and Kahn, magicians; Prof. R. Dunning, ventriloquist; Harry Wenburn, comedian; Josie Delaine, vocalist and dancer; along with the Bio-Photoscope, complete a good race-week programme.

HIPPODROME.—Proprietors, George and Robert A. Nicholson; Manager, Wm. Ainsworth.—Harry Cadle's Casey's Court tops the bill here, and the singing and antics of the company are greatly appreciated by crowded houses. Evelyn Taylor captivates her audience and wins enthusiastic applause; Maggie Walsh, the Lancashire mill girl, is in capital voice; the Seltina Troupe of acrobats give a good show; the Hartley Wonders, in a jumping speciality, are attractive; and Angeline, juggler; the Brothers Levett, vaulters, along with the Pictoscope, are included in a really good programme.

STOKE.—HIPPODROME.—Proprietor, Mr. T. Allan Edwardes; Manager, Mr. H. Miller.—A pleasing programme is submitted this week. The Bob Hanton Troupe head the bill in their clever acrobatic sketch, viz., Jinks in the Jungle; Wee Jessie sings and dances admirably, and on Monday met with the heartiest reception; Bugler Carr as an equilibrist is capital, several of his feats being new; Jack Crawley tells his stories well, and is a pleasing comedian; Jack Camp is excellent in his items; Maxford and O'Neill in their patter turn meet with a good reception; the Adderley Bros., instrumental mimics, etc., provide an interesting turn; the Sisters Brookes are a smart pair of comediane; and the pictures are good.

STOURBRIDGE.—ALHAMBRA THEATRE.—Manageress, Miss Maud Lynton.—For this week we are favoured with a visit of Mr. Frank Ayrton and company with the drama, The Power of Gold. Mr. Charles Whitlock as Hadji Zambra gave a skilful impersonation; Mr. Albert Sefton as Mark Harley is capable; Mr. Frank Holyoake as Dr. Stephen Saunders is effective in his impersonation; and the same can be said of Mr. Frank Ayrton as Sammy Smudge, who, together with Miss Madge Seymour as Nora Donnelly, provides much of the humour.

SUNDERLAND. — AVENUE THEATRE. — Proprietors, The Sunderland Theatres, Ltd.; Managing-Director, Mr. Charles E. Machin.—Mr. F. Douglas Wentworth's company is appearing here this week in The Bauble Shop. The central figure of the play (Lord Clivebrook) is in the able hands of Mr. Frederick Annerley, and his rendering of the part is a complete success. Mr. J. W. Henson gives a commendable impersonation of the Earl of Sarum; Mr. John Cecil capably fills the detestable character of Stoach, M.P.; and Mr. R. E. Evans is seen to advantage in the somewhat irresponsible rôle of the Hon. Charles Teviot; Miss Lily Bertram gives a refined rendering of Jessie Keber; Miss Renee De L'Estrode is a commendable Gussy; Miss Mary Cleveland is a pleasing Lady Kate Fennel; and the remaining characters are all ably portrayed.

THEATRE ROYAL.—Proprietors, The Sunderland Theatres, Ltd.; Managing-Director, Mr. Chas. E. Machin; Acting-Manager, Mr. Jas. Hemingway.—Messrs. Garside and Knowles's company in The London Fireman is drawing crowded houses here this week. Mr. J. Forbes Knowles gives a masterly impersonation of Hal Curtis, and Mr. Oliver Birrell infuses considerable power into the rôle of Viscount Fleming; as Ratty Mr. Edward L. Garside leaves little to be desired; Miss Nellie Shirley gives a refined and pathetic rendering of Ida Curtis; and as Grace Curtis Miss Florence M. Daly is excellent; Miss Nellie Waddington is pleasing as the Countess Fleming.

PALACE THEATRE OF VARIETIES.—Proprietors, Messrs. Rosen and Bliss; Acting-Managers, Messrs. A. Browne and Syd B. Stringer.—The well-known protean actor, Mr. R. A. Roberts, heads the bill here, and is as popular as ever; the Pender Troupe in absurdity; Robb Gilmore, comedian; Reed Oetzmann Troupe, in amusing knockabout turn; De Nere and Kenwick, burlesque pictures on popular songs; the Continental Stiltwalkers; Les Valdos, in absurdity; and May Fallowfield, soubrette, complete the programme.

SWINDON.—QUEEN'S THEATRE.—Proprietor and Responsible Manager, Mr. Alfred Manners; Musical Director, Mr. Fred Lucas.—Messrs. Arthur Shirley and Sutton Vane's latest drama, The Spider and the Fly, opened a first visit to this town on Monday, being smartly presented to a crowded and enthusiastic audience by Messrs. E. Carpenter and Sydney Cooper's company, under the business direction of Mr. A. H. Hill. A strong feature of this production is the excellence of the scenery and staging, under the care of Mr. Fred Terriss. The part of Cyril Girdlestone is capably undertaken by Mr. Stanley Gordon; Miss Nina Vaughton must be commended for her delightful representation of Edith McAllister; Mr. H. C. Lansley is seen at his best as the village pastor; and the well-conceived part of David Strong is admirably presented by Mr. Frederick Ross. Villainy is well brought out by Mr. Ellis J. Preston as Welby Girdlestone and Miss Amy Venimore as Stella Gray. The comic relief is entrusted to Mr. Fred Terriss and Mr. Charles A. Preece, who, as Romulus Roe and Remus Roe respectively, succeed in keeping large houses in roars of hearty laughter. Miss Lucy Murray deserves special mention for her good work as Molly Blake.

TORQUAY. — THEATRE ROYAL. — Licensee and Managing-Director, Mr. W. H. Mortimer; Secretary, Mr. Arthur Pearse.—Mr. Edward Graham-Falcon's company in Bluebell in Fairyland opened a week's engagement on Monday. Miss Lily Eyton in the name-part sings very sweetly; and Mr. Lawrence Emery is a commendable Dicky. Mr. Frank Lennard does well as a city merchant and the Sleepy King; and Miss Nell Raymond is a stately Queen and a charming Water Lily. The comic element is well sustained by Mr. Herbert Clark and Mr. Will L. Clement. Miss Haidee Fitch makes a capital Will-o'-the-Wisp; the Misses Maud Harris and Winnie Bronte are much applauded for their coon song and dance; and little Albert Mack's singing is received with great enthusiasm. Mr. Frank Coston is a typical King, and mention may also be made of Mr. Harold Goodman, Miss Dorothy Harcourt, Miss Lois Bernard, Mr. W. Leo, and Mr. Edgar Plinge.

PRINCESS PIER CONCERT HALL.—Proprietors, The Torquay Town Council; Manager, Mr. A. T. Tremlett.—The Royal Strolling Players are the holiday attraction here this week, and are drawing packed houses nightly. Mr. Sydney James is an entertainer of exceptional talent, and his performance is marked by repeated applause, his ventriloquial interlude being very fine; Mr. G. W. Desmond does well in his coon songs, and introduces some clever step-dancing; and Miss Seymour James is very popular, her American clog dance with Mr. Desmond being encored at each performance. Mr. Alfred Wootton has a rich tenor voice, and renders a good répertoire of suitable songs in a very acceptable manner. Miss Clarice May is an efficient accompanist, and her solos are much appreciated.

TUNBRIDGE WELLS. — OPERA HOUSE. — Lessee, Mr. Charles Carey; Manager, Mr. L. J. Gunnell.—Mr. George Dance's company in Veronique has been doing good business this week. Miss Nellie Wigley makes a great success of the title-rôle, and Mr. Douglas Phillips renews the excellent impression he made as Florestan. Mr. Ellis Holland and Miss Agnes Tandy display excellent comedy talents as the Coquenards, as does Miss Edith Devonshire as the Comtesse de Champ d'Azur. Mr. Tom Seymour as the bailiff and Miss Maud Leonard as Aunt Benoit; Miss Neste Laurel as Denise and Mr. Scott Cullen as Seraphim fully shared the favour of the audience; and the other minor characters were very creditably sustained by the Misses Ruth Messina, Lilian Chappell, Beatrice Maude, Pattie Hanbury, Mollie Windsor, Nancie Edwards; Messrs. Jack Kelly, Basil Reynold, Ben Barnes, Harry Gilpin, and James Davies.

TYNEMOUTH.—PALACE AND WINTER GARDENS.—Proprietor, Mr. J. H. Graham; Manager, Mr. Lindon Travers.—The season here is now at its height, and the vast and commodious auditorium is packed to its utmost capacity nightly. The bills are this week headed by Madame Marie Goodall, who proves to be a soprano of exceptional merit, her various renderings being heartily appreciated; Gale and Frank St. John provide another excellent turn, their clever versatile entertainment winning round after round of applause; Mdlle. Haydee's miniature theatre is both ingenious and clever; Tomps and Wells please in an amusing musical comedy act; Aileen and Doris Woods score by their duets and dances; and John Rose, double-voiced vocalist, also appears; Stanley's giant fountain and the Casino orchestra remain under engagement; and the evening's entertainment winds up with an admirable show of pictures.

WAKEFIELD.—ROYAL OPERA HOUSE.—Proprietors, Sherwood and Co.—The drama Life commenced a three nights' engagement on Monday. Mr. Herbert Barrs gives a manly rendering as Jack Lockhart; Mr. E. Cheetham as Zac Crabbe, and Mr. Alf. Schwood as P.C. Nabbs provide humour. Mr. Ronald Grahame is highly successful as Sir Horace Lester, and Mr. H. Ashe is capable as Detective Blake, and Mr. A. B. Lyons does justice as Joe Pippel; Miss Dorothy Oswald portrays the part of Beatrice Ferrars capitally, and is ably supported by Miss Edna Hana as Ruth Thorpe; Miss Maidee Vincent is good as Jess; and Miss Ethel Bateman proves effective as Agnes Moslyn.

HIPPODROME.—Lessee, Mr. Alfred Selwyn; Manager, Mr. Henry Lucas.—The Five Musical Palmers are paying a return visit, and win well-merited applause with their clever musical performance; Rena and Rex are a smart comedy couple; Kid Johnson and Maisie Pelham give a good comedy pot pourri act, The Lady Caddie; the Straus in a novelty perch act are very successful. Other items are Alf. Bishop, grotesque dancer; Miss Kathleen Kildare, Irish singing flower girl; and Miss Daisy Almer, dancer; and Miss May Francis, comedienne.

WALSALL.—HER MAJESTY'S THEATRE OF VARIETIES.—Proprietors, the Walsall Theatres Co., Ltd.; General Manager and Secretary, Mr. W. H. Westwood. An attractive programme is submitted here this week. Lottie Lennox heads the bill with her popular chorus songs; Shawlene is a capital effleur and mimic; Alice Blanford, "The Australian Nightingale," is very successful; O'Malley and Brown, comedians and dancers, meet with a good reception; Mdlle. Vonetta, quick-change artist, submits a most satisfactory turn; George C. Doughty and company are seen to advantage in their comedy sketch Captain Cupid; O'Gust proves himself remarkably clever; and the American Bioscope pictures are most interesting.

GRAND THEATRE.—Proprietors, The Walsall Theatres Co., Ltd; General Manager and Secretary, Mr. W. H. Westwood.—Miss Winifred Maude and company opened here this week with The Sins of a City. Mr. William Vane makes a capital Sandy McDonald; Mr. Leonard Harrison is well placed as Donald McIvor; Mr. Maurice Drew cleverly depicts the dual rôle of Joe Woodleigh and Jasper Woodleigh; Miss Jenny Hackett makes an amusing Midge; and as Seaweed Miss Winifred Maude is all that can be desired.

WARRINGTON. — ROYAL COURT. — Proprietors, Messrs. W. Johnson and J. Potter; General-Manager, Mr. J. Potter; Acting-Manager, Mr. Fred J. Prece.—The Milton Ray's company is here this week in a triple bill. In A Rough Diamond Mr. Arthur Milton gives a faithful portrayal of Cousin Joe; Mr. Harry Marlow is a dignified Sir William Evergreen; Mr. Fred Russell acts with restraint as Captain Blenheim; and as Lord and Lady Plato Mr. Joseph English and Miss Edie Dawson are well placed. Miss May Mulvie is a charming Marjorie. In the farcical episode, Other People's Babies, Mr. Harry Marlow as Mr. Poppleton and Miss May Manton as Mrs. Poppleton are responsible for convulsive laughter. The musical farce, The Cruise of the Calabar, is a conspicuous success, and Mr. Arthur Milton as Cherrible Chickington makes a big hit. His versatility knows no bounds, and his witty sayings and delightful singing win for him the highest encomiums. Especially successful is Miss Minnie Mulvey as Mrs. Chickington, a remark which also applies to Miss Hettie Lind as Maude Chickington. Mr. Fred Russell as Captain Fairweather and Mr. Joe English as Peter Pauley prove themselves accomplished comedians.

ROYAL THEATRE OF VARIETIES.—Proprietors, Messrs. W. Johnson and J. Potter; General-Manager, Mr. J. Potter; Director of Amusements, Mr. Fred Willmot.—One of the most wonderful turns here is Lady Julia, "the ape with the human hair." Kioto, Japanese equilibrist, wins many friends; and the Musical Keiths score well in their musical entertainment. Grace Bard is a really clever juvenile, and Liggins and Murlone are smart coloured entertainers; Percy Harman has a rich baritone voice; and Bishop and Hanlon are an original pair of comedians. The Royal Bioscope pictures are excellent.

WEDNESBURY.—THEATRE ROYAL.—Lessee, Mr. Harry Battersby; Manager, Mr. W. J. Cranston.—Mr. Carr Loates's company in At the World's Mercy is doing excellent business here. Mr. H. W. Grant as Captain Frank Manley and Mr. Arthur L. Read as Jabez Barber both prove themselves capable artists in their respective parts; Morris Goldstein is ably sustained by Mr. Carr Loates; Mr. W. G. Irving is warmly appreciated for his capital rendering of Charlie Smart; Miss Isabel Singleton plays admirably the part of Alice Lloyd the heiress; and as Kitty Knott Miss Annie Hunter makes the most of her opportunities; well-merited applause is accorded to Miss Minnie Dallow in her portrayal of Rosie; and the part of Mrs. Rouke is well played by Miss Jennie Gilmour.

WEST BROMWICH.—THEATRE ROYAL AND HIPPODROME.—Manager, Mr. J. P. Moore.—The great attraction here is Ahrensmeyer, whose feats of hypnotism are extraordinary. Tokio is a Jap with unique powers of mimicry; Bertha Stuart sings Scotch character songs to perfection; Nellie Chandos is a dainty dancer; Arthur Boyne keeps the audience in good humour with his witticisms; and Linton performs some daring equilisbristic feats on the cable. Ruffell's pictures complete the programme.

NEW HIPPODROME.—Managing-Director, Mr. T. M. Sylvester; Manager, Mr. H. W. Player.—The new place of amusement at Carter's Green has decidedly caught on, and is drawing crowded houses each evening. Atlas and Vulcana, with Misses Gwen and Maud Atlas, give a most interesting and artistic performance, Miss Vulcana's poses being very striking; Geo. Brooks sings with great success, "The Captain told the Mate"; Nellie Farrell gives delightful renderings of Irish songs; Emmie Ames is a comedienne of much ability; Burley and Burley are funny comedians; Tom Collins and Tom Hughes sing capital songs; and Otto and Olga also provide a capital turn. The Hippodrome pictures are up-to-date and excellently produced.

WEST HARTLEPOOL.—GRAND.—Sole Lessee, Mr. Fred Granville; Manager, Mr. J. A. Lewis.—A return visit is being paid with The Days of Cromwell, and presented as it is, by Messrs. Beaudyn, Livesey, and Hardy's company, is having a favourable reception. Mr. Henry Belding undertakes the rôle of Ironhand, and discharges his responsibility realistically; Sir Marsden Mardyke is represented by Mr. Robertson Foulis, in a manner which calls forth expressions so dear to the "heavy man"; a charming Ruby Avondale is depicted by Miss Gertrude Gilman; and the remainder of the cast is entrusted to capable artists.

PALACE. — Proprietor, Mr. Frank Macnaghten; Manager, Mr. Julius Simpson.—To judge from the reception accorded the talent here at both houses on Monday, good business was assured for the remainder of the week. The romantic episode, My Lady Betty, is one of the most successful sketches we have had here for some time, the representation of the characters being excellently carried out by Mr. Frank Elliston's company, which includes Mr. Elliston as Sir Geoffrey Warrender, Mr. Edward Morton as Mr. Beaufort, and Miss Nellie Stevenson in the dual rôle of My Lady Betty and Captain Montague. A sketch, Ye Brown Cow Inn, forms the medium for the introduction of some amusing comedy by Burgh, Hand, and Wise; an absurdity, The Manager's Lunch, by the Ringling Trio, causes the audience to roar with laughter; Tate and Tate, comedy Trampolin acrobats, perform some marvellous feats in somersaults; Arthur Slater has a pleasing reception on his return visit; Oakley and James give "a tit-bit of everything," which is well received; and Raymond's Bio-Tableaux are thoroughly interesting.

WESTON-SUPER-MARE. — GRAND PIER PAVILION.—The Dandies are paying another return visit here, and opened on Monday to a crowded house. Miss Lucie Caine was heard to great advantage in "Poor Wand'ring One." Miss Queenie Essex gained a decided encore for her rendering of "Why." Mr. Henry J. Corner's fine voice found plenty of scope in "All My World." Mr. H. Russon, a comedian of rare ability, brought down the house in his very comical scene, entitled Hamlet. Miss K. Augusta Davies proved an excellent accompanist. The picture shown by Mr. Frank Lens on the Bioscope met with approbation.

KNIGHTSTONE PAVILION AND OPERA HOUSE.—Manager, Mr. W. Payne.—Mr. Chas. W. Poole's Myriorama is paying its annual visit here, and has been drawing large audiences nightly. Of the pictures it is impossible to speak too highly. Miss Daisy Graham's trained birds are marvellously clever and warmly received; Little Doretta, vocalist and acrobatic dancer, is a good turn, so, too, is Mr. Harry Stewart as a protean change artist; Kitty Woodford's American songs went well, and the Avondale Quartette deserves commendation; Leonard and Mac, two eccentric comedians, evoked much laughter with their songs and patter; Miss Woodford's Canine Circus and Orchestra is a turn out of the common; Messrs. William Stewart and Alfred Leonard proved excellent guides.

WEST STANLEY. — THEATRE ROYAL. — Proprietors, The Stanley Theatre Co.; Managing-Director, Mr. Mark H. Lindon.—Messrs. Beaudyn and Livesey's company, in the Russian melodrama, A Beautiful Fiend, are paying a welcome return visit. Miss V. St. Lawrence fills the title-rôle in an able and expressive manner; Mr. Montague Beaudyn creates an impression by his commanding presence as Ivan Paulovitch; the part of Count Fedor Harateff is finely presented by Mr. Tom Robertson; Mr. Albert Wray makes a decided hit with his pathetic representation of Sergius Strogoff; Miss Irene Munro renders the part of Nadine Karateff in a sweet and pleasing manner; Mr. T. Byron gives a fine touch to the rôle of Malachi; and much laughter is created by Mr. H. Oates and Miss Blanche Hill as Christopher Crackles and Patty Woodlands.

WEYMOUTH.—ROYAL OPERA HOUSE.—Lessee and Manager, Mr. H. J. Nobbs.—Mr. Geo. Dance's company was appearing for the first three nights this week in The Orchid, and was heartily received. Miss Poppy Wilkinson was successful as Lady Violet, and her song, "Little Mary," was loudly encored; Miss Hilda Vining was particularly good as Caroline Vokins; Miss Susie Brand and Miss Clara Beck as Zelie Rumbert and Thisbe were capital in their respective parts; and Miss Kitty Smythe was effective as the Countess. Mr. Harry Walsh was an irresistible Meakin, and kept the house in roars of laughter; and Mr. Charles Seymour as Mr. Chesterton played carefully and well, as also did Mr. Clifford Bing as Mr. Chesterton's nephew. Mr. Frank Manger as Dr. Faussett, Mr. Len Neville as Comte Raoul, and Mr. Geoffrey Berwick as Zaccary were all good in their respective parts. The scenery was remarkably fine, the piece was well dressed, and the chorus strong and capable. For Friday and Saturday The Cingalee was billed.

WIGAN.—ROYAL COURT THEATRE.—Managing Director, Mr. John Worswick.—Mr. and Mrs. H. B. Levy and Mr. J. E. Cardwell's juvenile musical comedy, or fairy spectacle, Beauty and the Beast, has been presented here

LONDON & SUBURBAN THEATRES.

THE MARLBOROUGH.

On Monday, August 20, the Comedy, with Music, in Three Acts, written and composed by Paul A. Rubens, and entitled
"MR. POPPLE (OF IPPLETON)."

"The comfort and convenience of the theatre's patrons will be a primary consideration, and no effort will be spared to reach and maintain the highest degree of efficiency in this respect." These wise sentences are to be found in the "foreword" issued by the directors of the Marlborough to the inhabitants of Holloway and its vicinity, and those gentlemen can trust their able representative, Mr. Murray Herriot, to see that their behests are carried out. He has made strenuous efforts to cool the atmosphere of the house during the prevailing torrid weather, and has succeeded beyond expectation. It was refreshing, indeed, to note on the night of our visit a big block of ice immediately in front of the stalls, and during the entr'actes an outdoor balcony overlooking that busy thoroughfare, the Holloway-road, provided a most agreeable smoking lounge. But the play's the thing; and here again it is pleasant to observe that the directors have made a wise choice of attractions. During the week large audiences have become acquainted with Freddy Popple, the protagonist—if we may use the term—in Mr. Paul A. Rubens's comedy, with music, Mr. Popple (of Ippleton). The piece is being presented to great advantage, the services of Mr. G. P. Huntley being available in his original part. Dear, good-natured, stupid, clumsy Freddy stumbles across a good deal of philosophy in his speeches, and an evening in his company is a most exhilarating experience, even with the thermometer at something over 80deg. in the shade. Mr. Huntley is responsible for a line of character that convinces us by its truth to nature, and which has nothing of the obvious exaggerations of the dude, of which theatrical audiences are so heartily sick. The naïve simplicity of Freddy is delightful, and the complete unconsciousness of the comedian is delicious. An excellent representative of La Bolero is found in Miss Millie Legarde, who has been flitting lately from theatre to music hall, but now returns to musical comedy, with decided success. Miss Legarde sings charmingly, and not without a touch of sentiment, the song to Freddy in the second act, but wins her greatest triumph in "Ho, la, la, la!" to which tuneful and inspiriting number new topical verses have been added. Another number that roused the house to enthusiasm on the night to which we are now particularly referring was the duet between Platt (Freddy's groom and valet) and Louise (maid to La Bolero). The former character found a decidedly able representative in Mr. C. M. Daly; and Miss Nellie Hodson, by her piquancy and daintiness in her impersonation of Louise, added to the success of the comedy, not only by her valuable aid in this number, but in her "messenger-boy" song, which went exceedingly well. Miss Eva Kelly as Violet Brinton gave "O man from America" successfully; and Mr. Arthur Grover, with a voice of good quality, sang Jacques Kenyon's love-song in the last act with much fervour, but with indifferent enunciation. Mr. Sydney Young and Mr. James Stevenson do all that is possible with the poor parts of George Hennay and Henry Doring; Mr. Sydney Courtney is amusing in the part of Lord Downe; Miss Kate Forster emphasises quite artistically the severity and matronly astonishment of the much-shocked Mrs. Doring; Miss Ella Daincourt is effective as Mrs. Hennay; and Alfred finds a capable exponent in Mr. J. Dauncey. The comedy is mounted in a most lavish and tasteful manner, and the performance goes with great smoothness under the musical direction of Mr. Julian Rutt and the stage-management of Mr. Maxwell Stewart.

KING'S THEATRE, HAMMERSMITH.

On Monday, August 20,
the Drama, by Lillian Clare Cassidy, entitled
"IN HOLY (!) RUSSIA."

The affairs of Russia are so much to the front in these troubled times that a play dealing with life in the Muscovite empire is quite seasonable. In Holy (!) Russia is a very powerful and thrilling production, the interest being maintained from beginning to end. Mr. J. Rice Cassidy's company is in all respects competent, which is an obvious advantage in a play requiring quick and decisive action. Mr. Arthur Stratton as Colonel Richard Forrest provides a good picture of the English Guardsman who is rushed into convoying the Nihilist Renee Rubinoff into Russia as his wife. Count Gregori Petrolski, the people's friend, is ably rendered by Mr. Horace Butler; and Mr. Robert Cockcroft makes a presentable counterfeit Czar of Russia. The villainous Captain Michael Natolski is realistically played by Mr. Terence Nerney, and no one regrets that in the end he meets with his deserts in being deported to the salt mines of Siberia. The Nihilist leader, Lauria Steragoff, is performed with much dignity and manliness by Mr. Carl Rovinelli; and the Baron von Pleve, the Chief of the Russian Police, is undertaken with exceeding distinction by Mr. Joe Cuthbertson. Mr. Frank Copeland as Sir Harry Beresford, of the English Embassy, acts with refinement; and Mr. George Allen ably fulfils the part of Captain Walker. Mr. J. Rice Cassidy reserves for himself the character of Mickey Nolan, the Colonel's servant, in which he creates roars of laughter by his clever acting. As Catski Lavotski, the Russian Police spy, Miss Mavis Lee Anderson displays exceptional skill, and scores very highly. Mrs. J. Rice Cassidy as the heroine, Renee Rubinoff, creates a favourable impression, her versatility being well defined both as the escaped Nihilist and afterwards as the pseudo-American wife of Colonel Forrest. Mme. Natolski and Natalie Natolski are capably handled by Miss Alice Marsden and Miss Evie Norman. Miss Annie Dudley furnishes amusement as Mrs. Richard Forrest. The scenery and dresses are quite in accordance with the surroundings of the play.

THE CAMDEN.

On Monday, Aug. 20,
the Drama, by G. R. Sims and Henry Pettitt, entitled,
"MASTER AND MAN."

Good audiences continue to be attracted at this theatre during the season of melodrama, and of the many thrilling plays that have been presented here of late few have proved more popular than this stirring drama above named. It is a consistently strong piece throughout the four acts, and the scene at the ironworks is quite as effective as any devised recently in drama of this type. The company engaged is an able one, and includes several well-known names. Mr. Horace Hunter appears as Jack Walton, and plays in a breezy and manly fashion that carries all before him. Walton's wife, Hester, is charmingly portrayed by Miss Jessie Walter, who acts in a natural and earnest way, and compels sympathy by her gentle but forceful handling of the character. That capital actor, Charles Garry, as Jim Burleigh, submits a finished piece of work that calls for the highest praise. The villain of the play, Robert Carlton, is admirably handled by Mr. Alec Bradley, who is in fine form, his admirable embodiment adding greatly to the success of the play. A clever bit of character-drawing is that of Humpy Logan, which, as played by Mr. Joe Monkhouse, stands out prominently as one of the best things in the play. Mr. Jack Alcock is most amusing as Tom Honeywood, and another cause of hilarity is Mr. C. Lilly, who cuts a very droll figure as the dude Crispin St. Jones. Letty Lightfoot is brightly played by Miss Frances Day, and Miss Hazel Wood scores a distinct success as little Johnny Walton; Keziah Honeywood has a most acceptable representative in Miss Thalma Archer, who makes full use of her opportunities. The old acrobat and his partner are well represented by Messrs. C. Groce and Tom Stevens; while Mr. A. Burgess is good as Robins, the gamekeeper. Mr. H. Atkinson does well as Inspector Willett. The staging is quite adequate, and the scene at the forge very realistic. The orchestra, under Mr. G. F. Ford, were much applauded for their selections on the evening of our visit, and the applause was well merited.

KENNINGTON THEATRE.

On Monday, Aug. 20,
the Musical Comedy, entitled
"THE LITTLE MICHUS."
